What Would 'Kung Fu' Do

by Betsy Woolridge

Imagine bringing your date back to the dorm. Suddenly, you are confronted by two guys looking for a fight. While you are involved with this pair, your girl calls the campus police. What do the campus police say, "We'll have a man up in about fifteen minutes." By this time the attackers have introduced a chain and crowbar into the fight.

Fortunately, when an incident of this kind occurred last weekend no one was injured seriously, other than a possible broken jaw and the loss of a little blood.

Why couldn't the campus police get to the dorm sooner? Simple - a poor communications system.

The portable radios used by the college police are dependent on receiving and sending through the maintenance radio. They can not transmit directly to each other. Therefore, when the administration building which houses the maintenance radio is locked up at 4:30, the police are left with telephone communication.

Consequently, if a problem needing the attention of the law enforcement personnel should arise after four-thirty, well, tough luck. You may have to wait a good 30 minutes to see if any problems have been reported. Then it might take another five or ten minutes to get to the problem itself.

How long does it take to smash someone's head in with a chain or crowbar, break into a car or rape a girl.

The College Law Enforcement and Safety is attempting to secure a more reliable system. One fundamental improvement would be their own 24 hour base station along with a mobile unit. This would cost approximately $3,500. However, even this minimal change can only be dreamed due to the cutbacks in college funds caused by the Shapp Administration.

Many of the students felt the pinch these cutbacks in their scholarships, work-study programs and faculty. But should the actual health and safety of students be threatened by lack of appropriated funds?

If you've heard "I've Got Plenty of Money," it's probably being sung by a member of the Student Cooperative Council. Unfortunately for the SCC, they must also be a "Big Spender."

Although song titles may describe the SCC, their Voter Registration is being held today in Bently Hall Lounge from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Anyone may register, but students are particularly urged to do so.

Would all students who have motorcycles on campus please bring them to Gross Hall parking lot Sat. Sept. 29, at 1 p.m. for some yearbook pictures. Make yourself famous (Afterwards we'll ride around and beat upon people.)

Queen For a Day

Five girls were nominated yesterday to the 1973 Homecoming Queen Court. Elections will be held on October 18 to choose either Karen Benton, Patti Dengler, Georgette Rolley, Karen Rothermel, or Chris Schleiker as Homecoming Queen.

One of these five girls will be crowned at the half-time of the Homecoming football game against Edinboro on October 20th.

There will be an organizational meeting of All Sociology - Anthropology majors Tues. Oct. 2, in Raub 307 at 1:00 p.m.

job is no song and dance routine. The demanding work on this year's budget was finished and the budget approved last April.

Approval came after meetings of the Senator's Appropriation Committee, and finally a Senate vote.

This year's budget of $226,450.00 is greater than last year's because increased enrollment brought more activity fee revenue.

The following charts give a percentage breakdown of the SCC's revenue and expenditures.

To the Editor:

It's a sad situation when administrators feel their time is sacred, and that the student's time is valueless. This concept is not unique to LHSC. It's a bureaucratic "way of life". What I am about to relate is just one small incident, which illustrates the non-functioning and non-serving administration in its true light. Haven't you had a similar experience?

Much money and time is spent in securing a degree at any educational institution. Classes consume the greatest portion of the day, and further studying takes up a large amount of the night. On occasion a student has a few minutes between studying and attending classes to seek out certain information vital to the student, but "academic" to administrators in "high places". When these few minutes are eaten up by "administrative juggling", I think something should be said and DONE about it.

My simple question related to the requirements of the General Education art-music-theatre option. Did you need three credits in two of the three areas, or could you take all six credits in one area? My advisor thought you needed three credits in one, and three credits in another, but she wasn't sure. It seems that the channels of communication between various echelons on campus have a number of holes in them. When the information finally reaches the chain-of-command-following peasant (student) it is contorted. My advisor said that I'd better check with people in "high-places" to make sure. This I did.

The reception secretary sent me in to see Dr. Robinson's (Dean of Academic Affairs) secretary. She told me that "they" were always sending people to her, but I really wanted to see either Dr. Klens (Dean of Art & Sciences), or Dr. Stanton (Dean of Teacher Education). I went upstairs to an office with two empty desks. In a side office, with a door marked importantly "PRIVATE", two men chattered away. I waited and waited. Other students came by, but tired of waiting and left. After about twenty minutes, and after one of the chattering men looked out at me and then resumed chattering, I too got tired of waiting.

I went back downstairs to Dr. Robinson's secretary, and I explained to her the situation. I must admit that about this time a certain amount of irritation entered my voice. She told me that the secretaries were probably out for coffee, and that they'd probably be back in ten minutes (10:35), because they were due to be back at 10:30. I asked her if there might be someone else who could help me get an answer to my very short question. She told me that Dr. Williamson (Dean of Admissions) might be able to help, but that he too was out at the moment.

"Why can't Dr. Robinson help me? He's in!" That was what I asked, and she answered that he was a very busy man, and that he could not be troubled with every student that came in with a question. Of course I'm not busy at all! I only have classes to attend and studying to do, but I asked to see him anyway. He told her to refer me to the two empty desks that I had just left. My dander was up, and I be-

Consider. . . .

To the Editor:

A particular situation has been developing during the past few semesters which can use some consideration. It would seem that the intramural council and the phys. ed. department have been collaborating to eliminate the majority of the students at LHS from the "less popular" activities. (I use the term "less popular" with the connotation of least publicized.) This includes men's intramural tennis and hand ball.

There are two methods in which to assure victory for yourself and/or your "select group": 1) be good enough to beat the competition or 2) if you lack the confidence and ability to accomplish the first method, you can "choose" your opponents via deception. The second method appears to be the option utilized by those who coordinate the two said activities.

Intramural tennis is scheduled in the fall so I awaited announcement in the two most utilized means of communication, the Eagle Eye and the antiquated Daily Bulletin, but to no avail. I also looked on walls, doors, and in elevators for the usual posters informing the student body of extracurricular activities, but also without satisfaction. Finally I found it, an 8½ by 11 inch piece of paper on the bulletin board in the second floor hallway of Zimmerli Gymnasium. Yes, it, one lone announcement which read, "Sign-up sheet for men's intramural tennis."

Now I realize that according to the phys. ed. department at Lock Haven, the only curriculum offered is physical education, and every self-righteous Joe reads the second floor bulletin board; therefore an announcement placed in this location reaches all the "men" on campus. After all, surely anyone who thinks from his shoulders up can not also be expected to have the strength and endurance to compete in such a rigorous activity as tennis.

The only conclusion that can be drawn is that the phys. ed. department must be afraid that if nonmajors are allowed to participate in these activities, some phys. ed. major may lose to a punky science or English major. Oh, heaven forbid!

Eagles to Attempt a First

Lock Haven State will be seeking its first football victory of the season this Saturday when the Bald Eagles host a surprising California State team.

California, 2-0, opened the season topping Frostburg State, 14-6, and last week handed Cheyney State its first loss by a score of 3-0 in a tough defensive battle. Lock Haven is now 0-2 following the 14-13 loss to Bloomsburg. The Bald Eagles won the battle of the statistics with 313 yards total offence to 241 for the Huskies, but lost in the final score.

Last year the Bald Eagles won a 39-35 thriller when defensive halfback Steve Glass returned a kickoff 88 yards to score in the final minute of action. Lock Haven after a 14-13 loss to arch-rival Bloomsburg State Saturday night are winless at 0-2.

Since 1926 the Pennsylvania Conference Western Division rivals have played 29 games with Lock Haven holding a slender edge in wins 15 to 14. Bloomsburg broke a 7-7 tie late in the third quarter with a TD and the perfect placement by Bob DeCarolis won the game.

Lock Haven came right back and marched 67 yards to score on a brilliant 25 yard run by Wingback Mike Lang (Huntington) but the extra point attempt failed.

Sophomore Quarterback Dave Bower (Montoursville) scored the other Eagle touchdown on a one-yard plunge in the second quarter. Bower lead Lock Haven on offense with 86 yards rushing. He also completed 10 out of 18 passes for 84 yards.

The young Eagle defensive unit played another fine game. Freshman linebacker Scott Boschetto registered 13 tackles with Senior linebacker Mel Abel tacking on another 10.

For the second straight game Lock Haven was missing both regular offensive guards, Terry Szcus and John Buckley. But head coach Bob Weller expects Szcus to be in the lineup for the California tilt. Game time is scheduled for 8:00 p.m. at Painter Memorial field.

The following rule changes and clarifications have been released by Mr. Black, the new Men's Intramural Director.

1. Football games will start at 5:30 and 6:15.
2. Only two games will be played at once.
3. Check schedule for location and place.
4. No cleats are allowed on Herb Jack Stadium at any time.
5. The home is the first team listed on the schedules.
6. Home team managers are responsible for picking up the intramural football equipment prior to and afterwards for each playing date; the equipment is located at Zimmerli 109.
7. Each team must provide one official for each game they will be playing in; failure to do so will result in forfeit.

8. Report all results of games (final scores) to Zimmerli 109 after the contest.

The intramural Tennis (singles) schedule is posted on the bulletin board outside Zimmerli 109. The schedule for the doubles tournament will be listed in a few days.

Important Notice: An intramural football is missing from the first night of games, and unless this item is returned by Friday, Oct. 28, the remainder of the games will be cancelled. Also a penalty of $3.00 will be assessed against each team from their forfeit fees.

Booters Kick On

"It's good we had that game. It shows that you can't walk into any game and expect the opposition to give it to you."

These were the words of head Soccer Coach Karl Herrmann following Wednesday's match which saw the Eagles defeat Lycoming College 4-0. Despite playing flatly for most of the first half the Eagles managed to overpower a speedy Lycoming team in what proved to be their toughest game thus far this season.

"Much of our effectiveness is going for the ball," Herrmann added, "and our boys were just waiting a split second too long to do just that."

I also think many of the guys were looking forward to this Saturday's match with Shippensburg. They knew they were flat, but there are times when you can't do much about it."

Although outrun and outplayed at times in the first half LH still managed to record their 3rd shutout in 4 games this season.

At 14:45 of the first period Don Copeland scored on a 12-yd. penalty kick giving LH a lead they would never relinquish.

Despite missed shots by both teams neither team could score for the next 30 minutes. With less than a minute to go in the first half Copeland scored on a righted kick from 15 yds. out on an assist from Dave Chambers to give the Eagles a 2-0 lead at halftime.

The Second Period found LHS playing much better ball. They not only passed better but were going for the ball with less hesitation.

Bob Weaver scored at 2:50 into the second period from 4 yds. out, as Lock Haven capped their lead to 3-0.

Don Copeland made it 3 games in a row now that a LHS booter has scored 3 goals in 1 game.

Joining Bill Bush and Mike Seigfried in the elite group Copeland scored his hat-trick completer with 9:10 gone in the second period. A left-footed kick, 4 yds. from the left corner on an assist from Bill Bush, made the score 4-0 in favor of the Eagles.

This was the last of the ball either net would see. Coach Herrmann substituted with only 15 minutes gone in the second period and the "Super-Subs" of the Eagles held the Lycoming squad scoreless the remainder of the game.

Lock Haven rapped out 31 shots at the goal as opposed to 12 for Lycoming.

Special credit must be given to Bob Wright in playing another great game. Don Copeland had his bad moments also but managed to score 3 times. Dave Chambers and Tom Rowan each played well at the wings continued on page 4 gan muttering things under my breath.

After about five more minutes, Dr. Williamson came from the unknown. The secretary told him that I was here to see him. I was invited into his office, and I wasn't there long enough to get the chair warm. Fifteen seconds!

Administrators! If you are too important and busy to serve the students yourselves, please, help our faculty advisors, who ARE interested in serving the students, by getting the necessary information out to them. If you communicate adequately with our advisors, then we won't have to BOTHER you.

I don't want to hear anyone screaming about apathetic students. Not as long as this college's administration is apathetic toward the student's needs. We pay to come here. You administrators are paid BECAUSE we are here. I have run into some administrators at LHSC who are conscientious about their job, but those who are wrapped up in the "importance" of their positions are spoiling my educational experience and cheating the taxpayers of the Commonwealth.

The defense was super as usual with special recognition going to Steve Inner who did an outstanding job at goalie Wednesday and who has been doing a beautiful job all season. He has yet to give up a goal in over 315 minutes of seasonal plays.

will be put to the test this Saturday when they travel to Shippensburg to meet a tough Red Raider squad.

The Eagles have a 5-3-4 lifetime record against Shippensburg but have not beaten them in the past 4 years. Last year the Shippensburg squad defeated Lock Haven 4-2 in regular season play and 2-1 in the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference Playoffs. In '69, '70, and '71 the Eagles and Raiders battled to consecutive draws.

This year Shippensburg is 0-1-1. They lost to powerful East Stroudsburg 4-0, but then went on to tie last year's NAIA Soccer Champ Messiah College.
