

TKE hearing held before Administrative Board

By Matt Connor
Co-Editor

The future of Tau Kappa Epsilon may hang in the balance as a result of a hearing held last Friday to determine if a violation of alcohol policy occurred this summer.

Facing a board of six administrators, representatives of TKE pleaded innocent to the charges brought up against them by Associate Dean of Students Tim Susick, who represented the University at the hearing.

In testimony given by a witness called by Susick, Dave Frable, an 18 year old freshman, said he attended a social gathering at the TKE house over the summer, where he drank beer.

Questioned further by Susick, Frable said that he was asked to show identification at the door to the fraternity house, and that a dorm key was accepted as I.D.

Frable said that he was told about the event by a friend, who was not a TKE member, and that he was charged $1 at the gathering.

Frable was then cross-examined by TKE representatives Doug Napp, who is regional president of the fraternity, and Gene Veley, president of the local chapter.

During the cross-examination, Frable said that when he paid the $1, he was inside the house, not at the door, and that he was then given an empty plastic cup, which he handed to the bartender to fill.

Asked if he knew that the people at the gathering were TKE brothers, Frable said that some were wearing TKE sweatshirts, but that he "didn't know them very very well."

Procedures set down in the Student Life Handbook were the basis of three objections made by the representatives of Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Their first objection concerned the procedure used to pass amendments to the Student Life Handbook.

Napp and Veley argued that several amendments which were significant to the hearing were adopted over the summer, and that few students were aware of the existence of these amendments.

The TKE representatives also objected to the testimony of Susick's witness, since they said they were not notified that Frable would be present.

Napp and Veley's final objection was that there were no students on the board which was hearing their case.

The TKE representatives said that the Student Life Handbook gave them a choice of an Administrative Board or a board of their peers.

Susick responded to these objections by saying that the 1985-86 Student Life Handbook no longer applied and that the new amendments were made accessible to those students who wanted to see them.

After closing statements were made by both sides, the hearing was adjourned.

Written arguments, or briefs may be filed by Tau Kappa Epsilon by the end of the week, at which time Susick has one week to file his own briefs.

The final decision will be made at that time.

ΣΠ hearing draws wide controversy

By Matt Connor
Co-Editor

Controversy surrounded Sullivan Hall last Friday as the second dramatic hearing involving a fraternity was held within three hours of the first.

The second hearing was convened to determine if Inter-Fraternity Council alcohol policy violations occurred at the Sigma Pi house this summer.

Almost immediately following the opening remarks made by Associate Dean of Students Tim Susick, who represented the University at the hearing, Sigma Pi's Attorney Michael Salsbury, suggested that George Rhodes, the Dean of Students, step off the Administrative Board (which must decide guilt or innocence in the case) due to the appearance of a conflict of interests.

Since Susick is Rhode's assistant, Salsbury said there was the "appearance of impropriety."

Attorney Wayne Richardson, who presided over the hearing, said the board would decide after the hearing whether or not Rhodes should step down.

Susick's first witness was University police officer Dennis Grenninger, who testified that he had driven Lisa Adams, an 18-year-old freshman to and from the hospital for a leg injury.

In the report made out by Grenninger, he said that Adams "still smelled of alcohol at 10:04 a.m."

During the cross-examination by Salsbury, Grenninger testified that he had not read Adams her rights or given her a sobriety test.

Later, when Adams was called to the stand as a witness, she repudiated what she said in a written statement earlier submitted to the board, concerning alcohol she said she thought she drank at Sigma Pi. (see accompanying story)

Attorney Salsbury then called Sigma Pi president Joe Ferrari as a witness.

Ferrari testified that he did not live in the fraternity house over the summer and that the two Sigma Pi brothers living at the house at that time were not given the authority by him to have a party.

When cross-examined by Susick, Ferrari said he told the two brothers living in the house to "try to be quiet and keep things under control."

When further questioned by Susick, Ferrari testified that he neither had a license, nor was it his custom to sell alcoholic beverages.

Salsbury's next witness was John Theriot, a fraternity brother who said he was living at the Sigma Pi house during the summer.

Theriot said that there was a function held on July 3, at the Sigma Pi house which he and about 40 or 50 other people attended.

Theriot further testified that he was the only Sigma Pi brother at the function, and that although there was a keg of beer on the floor, he did not specifically offer anyone alcohol.

When cross-examined by Susick, Theriot said he had taken no precautions to make sure no one under 21 was drinking alcohol.

When the Administrative Board was given the opportunity to question Theriot, they asked him if it was a policy for people to come in and take beer from the keg.

Theriot answered by saying it was customary "for people to come in if they know them."

In his closing statement, Susick said he thought it was a shame that "two brothers took it upon themselves" to throw a party.

Salsbury, in his closing statement, said he thought the "burden is on the University to prove the events the Fraternity has been charged with actually occurred."

Each side has a week to submit their final briefs, or written arguments, to the board before the board decides whether the Fraternity is guilty or innocent of the charges made against it.

Student says cops force statement

By Matt Connor
Co-Editor

At the center of the controversy surrounding the TKE and ΣΠ hearings held last Friday at Sullivan Hall is Lisa Adams, who says she was threatened and pressured by Lock Haven University Police into signing a written statement.

In the statement, submitted to the Board of Administrators before the Sigma Pi hearing, Adams said she paid $2 to get into a party at the Sigma Pi fraternity house.

At last Friday's hearing, however, Adams testified that she "didn't remember" whether or not she paid to get into the party.

When questioned by the board as to the discrepancy between the written statement and her oral testimony, Adams said,

"He [the campus police officer who was in the room with her when she signed the statement] said 'If there's a chance you paid $2, then go ahead and say it because it really doesn't matter'"

When questioned further as to whether University Police had threatened or pressured her, she said,

"Yes. He said if I didn't sign a statement I'd be in big trouble and brought up on charges of underage drinking."

In an interview shortly after her appearance in the hearings, Adams said she felt that Law Enforcement had taken advantage of her youth and inexperience.

"I was worried that my parents would find out and I'd get kicked out of school," she said. "But he told me that as long as I signed the statement, nothing would happen to me."

When Director of Law Enforcement and Safety Richard Hepner was asked about Adams' testimony, he said he had been the officer present at the time Adams made her written statement.

"There was no pressure or threats," he said. "I simply asked her what happened."

When asked whether Adams would have been brought up on underage drinking charges, Hepner said,

"If any charge would have been made against her, it would have been public drunkenness."

"But we didn't charge her with that because it was six or seven days after the incident when she signed the statement," he concluded.

WELCOME LOCK HAVEN UNIVERSITY STUDENTS!

After a summer busy with conference groups and athletic camps, we are happy to have our own LHU students back on campus!

Orientation 1986 brought record numbers of freshmen out to participate in everything from Elbow Tag and Giants, wizards, to swimming, movies and our annual Orientation Dance. Let's hope that the energy and enthusiasm displayed by the freshmen throughout the Orientation weekend continues to grow during their years at Lock Haven University.

The University Convocation is a new tradition that will commence each new academic year. The Convocation officially recognizes the many student organizations, and student and faculty achievements offering a positive start to the new year.

Lock Haven University offers our students a great deal of extracurricular activities to supplement academic pursuits. Many clubs and organizations will be visible to students at the 15th Annual Activities Fair to be held on September 22, 1986 from 11 a.m. - 2 p.m. in the Bentley Hall Lounge. Take a look at the groups available and become involved. Extracurricular activities can serve to broaden your horizons, expand on your academic interests, and improve your interpersonal skills.

The entire Lock Haven University community will want to join together to welcome back our alumni as we all celebrate, HOMECOMING 1986, from September 26-28. "Oldies but Goodies" is the theme of this year's celebration, and events include a bonfire, fireworks, the annual parade, and a 50's and 60's dance. Make this a special homecoming celebration --gather a group together, build a float, and join the fun!

In October, you can invite the entire family for a visit on Family Day (Scheduled for the 25th). Join the Residence Hall Association in all the special activities of that weekend.

This semester promises to be an active and exciting one. I challenge all of the Lock Haven University students, faculty, and staff to make this semester special.

Faculty and staff members --get to know the students, take the time to listen, offer a hand for support, and a kind word to show you care. Strive to improve your skills, strengthen your area of expertise, and do your job a little bit better!

Students --make your academics a #1 priority, study hard, put forth extra efforts in and out of class, get involved in campus activities, clubs and organizations, make new friends, and get to know your faculty and staff members.

To ALL - keep a smile on your face and a positive outlook in life.
Have a great semester!

Experience is the key for Taylor's drive to playoffs

By Joselle Melito
Sports Reporter

After a successful season last year, the Lock Haven University Women's Field Hockey team is looking forward to an even better year.

For the past two years, the Lady Eagles have been ranked 14th in the nation and are presently ranked 16th.

Head coach Sharon Taylor said the team's goal for the year is to try to make it to the playoffs.

This past weekend, the Lady Eagles had their first two games of the season. Both games were played at the University of Toledo.

On Saturday, the Lady Eagles were victorious over the University of Toledo by the score of four to zero. Sunday, the Lady Eagles were defeated by the University of Iowa. The score was two to zero.

Taylor said, "I feel the team played well, especially since they usually do not play their games on turf, and the sixth ranked University of Iowa team does."

The game against the University of Toledo was the Haven's opening game, except for an earlier scrimmage against Purdue, which ended in a scoreless tie.

"We are still a little shaky in some areas. Our varsity defense looks pretty settled, but we are still working on organizing the forward line," said Taylor.

Returning lettermen are: Goal keeper - Lori Sannella; Forward line - Doobi Caprio, Heidi Firth and Paula Stephens; Sweeper and Backs - Diane Lokey, Laurie Cartwright and Kim Hasson; Midfielders - Karen Fry, Tammy Flowers and Ginny Neiss; and Forward Lisa Coppock.

According to Taylor, the Lady Eagles have a very tough schedule this year. All but one of the teams they play against are ranked higher than the Haven.

"We have a lot of experience this year, it's just a matter of having the players feel comfortable and find which girl fits best in which position," said Taylor.

The Lady Eagles next game will be against rival Penn State, on Wednesday, September 10th at Penn State.

Soccer team shares crown at tournament

By Bill Hunter
Co-Sports Editor

Following a 9-8-2 season record last year, the Lock Haven University soccer team has come back with a bang.

Lock Haven has 11 returning letterman, including: Doc DuMars, Rob Eaton, Brad Evans, Dimitrios Frangiadis, Pat McKenna, Roy Mehl, Ron Minges, Andrew Monteith, Steve Paguia, Sean Pery and Phil Stephenson.

After a successful pre-season record of 2-0-1, the Bald Eagles have opened the regular season with an impressive 2-0-1 record.

Lock Haven opened the season with a 1-0 win over State University of New York at Oneonta. The goal, coming at the 47:57 mark of the first half, was scored unassistedly by Haven midfielder Rob Eaton.

Lock Haven was credited with 12 shots, three corner kicks and eight saves by freshman goalkeeper Warren Westcoat.

Coach Lenny Long said, "Warren played probably the best game I've seen a Lock Haven goalie play."

Oneonta registered 12 shots, eight corner kicks and three saves by goalie Tony Carmichael.

Following the one game homestand, the Haven traveled to Glassboro, New Jersey for a tournament against West Chester, New Jersey Tech and Glassboro University.

Lock Haven opened the weekend contest with a win over West Chester by a score of 1-0 in overtime.

The Bald Eagles then moved on to the finals to face division three fifth ranked Glassboro. After two 45 minute periods and overtime, the game ended in a scoreless tie. This gave Lock Haven the co-champion title.

On Saturday the Bald Eagles will face Trenton State in an away match.

When asked about the upcoming match, Long said, "They are a tough team and they will be ready for us."

The Bald Eagles will return home on Sept. 17 to challenge the Huskies of Bloomsburg University.

Women's X-C place 4th at Millersville Invitational

By Dan Hanson
Sports Reporter

In their season openers at the Millersville University Invitational on Saturday, the Lock Haven University Men's and Women's Cross Country teams faced powerhouse teams such as St. Joseph and Shippensburg Universities.

In the Women's meet, senior Pam Noll was timed at 20:24 to finish ninth in a field of 91 runners and paced the Lady Eagles to a fourth place overall finish.

Senior Sue Kutz came in 16th in 20:51, and freshman Jill Baumgartner finished 25th in 21:19 to round off the top three Lock Haven finishers.

Leroy Straley, in his tenth year as coach, viewed the meet and the rest of the season with optimism.

Straley said, "We have a chance to be one of the top three teams in the conference. This year we have more depth and we're in a touch better shape."

After a 7-1 record and a fifth place finish in the PSAC conference last year, the Lady Eagles lost only two runners to graduation, and return seven.

Men harriers start slow

In the Men's meet, the Lock Haven harriers finished tenth overall, but first year coach Kurt Smith was not worried.

Smith said, "We finished tenth, but every veteran ran a personal record."

The main task for the 1986 season was filling in the gap left by the loss of the top four runners, but coach Smith is filling the holes.

"The returning runners seem to be moving in pretty well," Smith said.

The runners that will be filling the gap are Brad Seth, Dan Sheredy, Joe Madrak, and John Widl.

Smith did not think the tenth place finish was a preview of the season to come.

"We have a fair shot at the PSAC championship in November," Smith said.

The Haven's home opener will be this Saturday at 1 p.m. against the Vulcans of Clarion University.
