Each Woman's Hall Elects Own Officers

The newly elected LHS women who have been chosen as officers for the individual residence halls will assume their duties next week.

The officers for Woolridge Hall include Ruth Carlson, president; Eva Muffley, vice president; Rosemarie Dino, secretary; and Marilee Scott, activities chairman.

Russell Hall's officers include Beth Alberano, president; Kathy Bennetti, vice president; Sue Payne, secretary; and activities chairman Gretchen Rearick.

The new officers for McEntire Hall are Jane Rossell, president; Judy Dobbs, vice president; Patty Prostat, secretary; and Valerie Copenhaver, activities chairman.

Selecting a council for each individual dormitory is a new concept this year at LHS.

Each governmental group will work under the general direction of the Women's Residence Hall Association and will be responsible for the social programming of the various dormitories on campus, according to recent reports.

The president of the individual councils must be upperclasswomen with at least a 2.0 cumulative average. The president is responsible for conducting all of the council's meetings and for supervising the activities of the council.

The vice president must also be an upperclassman with the same cumulative average as the minimum for the president. She is charged with recording infractions of the dormitory rules.

The secretary may be a freshman coed. She is supposed to keep the minutes of all council meetings and residence hall meetings.

The activities chairman may also be an underclassman. She is responsible for programming all of the social activities and for working with the treasurer and wing representatives in purchasing equipment for the residence hall.

The purpose of this new system is reportedly to better coordinate residence hall activities and to make the LHS coeds residing on campus a part of their government instead of being mere observers.

LHS students who are candidates for law schools throughout the United States may take their admission tests, which will be given at more than 250 national centers, on November 8, 1969, February 14, 1970, April 11, 1970, and July 25, 1970.

The educational testing service, which administers the test, advises interested persons to make separate application to each law school of their choice to ascertain whether the law school admission test is required. Those planning to enter law school next fall are urged to take either the November or February test.

The morning session of the test measures the ability to use language and to think logically, and the afternoon test measures writing ability and general background.

A registration form and a Bulletin of Information may be obtained from Law School Admission Test, Box 944, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N.J. 08540. Registration forms must reach ETS at least three weeks before the testing date.

Further information may be secured at the office of placement and career information which is located in Bentley Hall.

All Eagle Eye 'Bitch Forms' must be returned to the publications office in the student union no later than 3 pm this afternoon. Additional forms are available for LHS students who have not yet filled them out but who still wish to do so. A report of the returns, which at this time number more than 600, will be included in tomorrow's issue of the student newspaper.

Losers of Grandeur Chosen Homecoming Theme

Losers of Grandeur has been chosen for the 1969 Homecoming theme. All placements will be built around the idea of an all time loser, be it Charlie Brown or Custer. The weekend events start at a pep rally on October 16 and the pace picks up on Friday night with the movie "The War Wagon" at 7:30 in Price Auditorium and various fraternity nouse parties. At 10:30 Saturday, October-18 judgement of the placements will begin. The football game against Edinboro and the announcement and crowning of the Homecoming Queen will be the highlight of the afternoon. Saturday night a semi-formal dance will be held in Thomas Fieldhouse from 9-12.

The Homecoming Concert on Sunday will feature Little Anthony and the Imperials at 1:30 and 4:00 shows in Price Auditorium. Tickets will be available at the PUB reception desk on October 6, 1969 for $2.00 for LHSC students and $2.50 for the general public.

Sailing Club

Under the advisorship of Mr. John Bilski the first Lock Haven State Sailing Club has gotten off the ground. Last Tuesday's meeting included the elections of officers. Roger Allen was voted SCC representative; Sherry Hartle, treasurer; John Woolridge, vice president; and Bill Thorpe as president.

The club is currently working on a constitution and recognition by the student government. Sailing excursions are planned every Saturday for October.

The purpose of the organization is to popularize sailing and to teach those interested in the sport. The club has a current membership of 21 students, and is open to anyone. Experience in sailing is not required.

At the end of a college art class, my young instructor was returning a woman's skeleton, used as an anatomical model, to a store-room. As he walked down the hall, carefully holding "her," he met a girl who fixed him and the skeleton with a curious stare. He shrugged apologetically. "Well," he said, "you know how it is with these blind dates." Reader's Digest

A series of flu shots at $2 a shot will be given at the Glenn Infirmary. The first shot will be given Wednesday, October 8 from 12 noon until 1pm. Anyone desiring the shots must sign up at the infirmary no later than Friday, October 3rd. All students, faculty, and staff are eligible.

Girls' Hockey

Girls' hockey intramurals began last week with over 100 girls participating. There are seven teams; 3 in League A and 4 in League B. A champion will be decided on the point system. Five points will be awarded to a team for a win, 3 points for a tie, and none for a loss. Total points at the end of the season will decide the champs.

High scorer in last week's games was Bonnie Statler, a sophomore, who plays on team 3 in League B. She scored 4 goals in one game and 2 goals in another.

The schedule of games and the team standings are posted on the bulletin boards in Bentley Hall. Hockey intramurals are sponsored by the Women's Athletic and Recreation Association.

Local AAUP Approves Motion Concerning Student Press Rights

Freedom and responsibility of the student press was one of the topics at a recent meeting of the LHS chapter of the American Association of University Professors.

The local AAUP last week approved a motion to "affirm its commitment to the principles regarding student publications" which are contained in a two-year-old statement on rights and freedoms among college and university students.

"Student publications and the student press are a valuable aid in establishing and maintaining an atmosphere of free and responsible discussion and of intellectual exploration on the campus," the statement read.

"They are a means of bringing student concerns to the attention of the faculty and the institutional authorities and of formulating student opinion on various issues on the campus and in the world at large."

The 'principles' referred to include three main points:

1--that the student press should be free of censorship and advance approval of copy and that its editors and managers should be free to develop their own editorial policies and news coverage;

2--that editors and managers of student publications should be protected from arbitrary suspension and removal because of student, faculty, administrative, or public disapproval of editorial policy or content;

3--that all college-published and -financed student publications should explicitly state that the opinions contained within the publication are not necessarily those of the college or of the student body.

"...the editorial freedom of student editors and managers entails corollary responsibilities to be governed by the canons of responsible journalism, such as the avoidance of libel, indecency, undocumented allegations, attacks on personal integrity, and the techniques of harassment and innuendo."

The statement drafted by the local AAUP warned that "any violation of these principles will be viewed by the local chapter as cause for immediate response."

To the editor:

After reading the letter to the editor the other night in the Lock Haven Express, regarding Dr. Parsons' relationship with the students throughout the years, I couldn't agree more. I have been here twelve years as Business Manager and prior to that time as a student. In all the time I have been here and in talking with those with longer service, we all agree that with Dr. Parsons it was always the students' welfare which was uppermost in his mind.

I don't believe there is a college in the State whose President is more sympathetic with student causes. We were the first State College in which the Student Government had so much power to run their own affairs.

I and all other staff members I have talked with feel that it is ironic and sad that a man who has always been on the student's side must be subjected to the most vicious attacks in print from students who scarcely know him.

It seems to me that if more people, both faculty and students, would listen with open minds and honestly try to understand both sides instead of following the lead of dissidents in other institutions of higher learning, we would all be better off.

Believe me, I know Dr. Parsons' feelings about the students. His whole life has been devoted to helping them. Would he change now, a short time before retirement? Quit crucifying him! If there are problems, and there always will be, in any organization, bring them to the President in a mature and intelligent way. His door is always open to you.

I would like to see Lock Haven State College stand out as a model of student, faculty and administration, cooperating in solving the problems of the day. Let us be the leaders of the times, not just followers.

is partially financed by taxes find it necessary to "bitch."

His argument is a familiar one. Students should not be so ungrateful as to protest the conditions of the world in which they find themselves. He would prefer that they express their gratitude.

Gratitude that they live in a country based on the rights of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, a country which asks these very students to be willing to die in Viet Nam to sustain a government which denies those rights to its own people.

Gratitude that they must live in a society that still makes a murderer of each citizen every time a capital sentence is carried out.

Gratitude that they are the inheritors of a system that requires that the ethnic minority and the poor resort to violence before they can obtain their own rights to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

Gratitude that their society is motivated by violence and competition rather than by love and cooperation.

Gratitude that they are asked simply to accept the values of their parents rather than to discover sound bases for building their own sets of values.

I, for one, would find such gratitude to be the rankest ingratitude. For the best testament to a society built on the concept of the freedom and dignity of the individual is a willingness constantly to re-examine the society in the light of that basic concept.

I feel a profound optimism when I see students engaged in that re-examination, as were those students at last Friday's "Bitch-In." The price of their freedom, and mine, is eternal vigilance, and I am grateful that they are not asleep at their posts.

To the editor:

I wish to take this opportunity to thank our students for the splendid way in which they conducted themselves during the two days on which yearbook pictures were taken. On September 29 and again on September 30, the PRAECO staff had professional photographers on campus to take undergraduate pictures, senior make-up shots, and organization groupings. At no time, even though some groups were inconvenienced by a slight delay in the schedule, was there any evidence of rudeness or impatience. On the contrary, our students were so well-mannered and so cooperative that even our photographers commented on the fine spirit here at LHSC. I personally wish to thank all students, faculty members, and especially the PRAECO staff for a job well done.
