

Scottish-Irish Music Highlights Gaelic Program

By Loretta DeLong

Strains of authentic Scottish-Irish music, merriment, and sadness were exceptionally well-delivered in a crowded Price Auditorium last evening by Glann Gafl, a Gaelic musical troupe.

The entire program was interspersed with dances and songs. After a slow start, the program really began to move with a dance called "Scottish Country Dance." Attired in highland plaids and tartans, the high-stepping dancers added a beat all their own to the lilting tones of the bagpipes.

Then, in a tribute to Ireland, Frank Patterson, a tenor, sang "Roisin Dubh (Little Dark Rose)" to the accompaniment of heavenly sounding harps and a soft piano.

Fifteen-year-old Brian O'Connor and his 16-year-old twin sisters, Breda and Anne, drew great applause and cheers from the audience when they danced "Hornpipe."

One of the highlights of the performance, sponsored by the assembly committee, occurred when several members of the troupe sang stirring toe-tapping ballads of Ireland.

Also on the program was "Tribute to Robert Burns" which included such songs as "Ye Banks and Braes," "Comin' Thro' the Rye," and "My Love is Like a Red, Red Rose."

Other segments of the musical program were devoted to Bonnie Prince Charlie and to the Golden Years of Percy French.

SCC to Meet Tonight in PUB

The board of directors of the LHS Student Cooperative Council will meet this evening instead of tomorrow evening, according to Mike McLaughlin, SCC president.

McLaughlin said the meeting had been re-scheduled because of the Vietnam moratorium observance activities tomorrow evening.

By changing the meeting time, it was pointed out, SCC directors and members of the executive board of the council will be free to participate in the peace and anti-war events downtown.

The meeting will be held in the regular place — the north lobby in the student union at 7:30 pm, McLaughlin pointed out.

The SCC president also reminded council directors to bring a copy of the "Compass" with them to the meeting.

Nationwide Participation Set For V.N. Moratorium

By Rick Fitch
College Press Service (CPS)

WASHINGTON: With Oct. 15 less than a week away, the nationwide moratorium against the Vietnam war planned for that date promises to be the single largest anti-Vietnam War protest to date.

At schools across the country student organizers have scheduled moratorium day marches, rallies, teach-ins, and class boycotts, sometimes with administration and faculty support.

The board of trustees at Newark State College in New Jersey have agreed to suspend all classes so students and faculty "may observe a day of solemn commemoration for those who have lost their lives in the Vietnam conflict." Poetry recitals, guerrilla theater performances, and a reading of the names of New Jersey men killed in Vietnam are planned.

Rutgers President Mason Gross, who also serves as a director of the American Council on Education, has said no classes will be held moratorium day; he will conduct a discussion with students on the Vietnam War.

At Cornell College, in Mount Vernon, Iowa, a private liberal arts school with an enrollment of about 1,000, the president announced participation in the moratorium would be a matter of "individual choice." Classes will be held, he said, but a student will not be penalized for not attending classes.

About 250 faculty members at the University of Minnesota have signed a document calling for a cessation of "business as usual" on campus tomorrow. Students plan to march to the Federal Office Building in downtown Minneapolis in the morning and stage a rally at the state capitol at night.

Students at the University of Maryland plan workshops on "US Imperialism Around the World," militarism in the university and in the country, and the effects of the war on the nation during three days of moratorium activity beginning yesterday.

The moratorium at the University of Colorado plans to have students canvass the community and boycott all stores. The British anti-war film "The War Game" will be shown. Students at the University of Oregon are asking shops to close all day, and townpeople are being asked to fly their flags at half mast.

The University of North Carolina will regard any disruption of classes as a violation of school policies and faculty members will be allowed to participate in the moratorium activities on their own time "so long as participation does not conflict with the performance of validly assigned duties."

And Chancellor Glenn Dumke of the California State College System has issued an executive order, apparently aimed at the moratorium, that dismissal of classes at any of California's 19 state schools in support of social or political causes is "a violation of professional ethics."

University of New Mexico students have obtained approval from the regents and president to hold a "day of discussion" Oct. 15. Though classes have not been cancelled faculty members are being asked to devote part of their classroom time to debate on the war.

The University of Pennsylvania's Plenum or general meeting of students voted overwhelmingly to support a boycott of classes; only 30 of the approximately 1,000 attending dissented. The administration refused to suspend classes but will allow faculty members to call off classes and students to miss them "as their consciences dictate."

More than 1,000 students at Lehigh University, a men's school in Bethlehem, Pa., have signed a petition calling on the administration to cancel all Oct. 15 classes. The student government requested professors not to schedule examinations that day and allocated $100 to the local moratorium organizers.

Smith on TV for Moratorium

Appearing on educational television station WPSX last evening, Ron Smith, chairman of the Vietnam moratorium committee at LHS explained the events scheduled for tomorrow's peace and anti-war observance here and discussed the movement to end the war.

The program, entitled "NOW," featured Smith as a member of a four-man panel discussion involving the possible positive and negative effects of the moratorium. Sponsored by Penn State's division of National Educational Television (NET), the discussion was broadcast at 10:30 pm last night. It will be shown again tonight at 7:30 pm.

John Balaban, who has served with a medical evacuation group in South Vietnam, discussed the events scheduled at the PSU campus. He is a member of the English department there and is assisting the moratorium committee in arranging for speakers.

A history teacher at Tyrone Area High School and a state director of the American Independent Party, panelist Larry Mundis said he disagreed with the idea of a moratorium. He said he favored escalating the war to win an American military victory.

Tom Goss, an ex-marine who served 11½ months in Vietnam — 7½ of these in actual combat, earning for himself a medal of bravery — claimed that "student and hippy demonstrations" including violence only serve to demoralize the men fighting in Vietnam.

When Smith pointed out that this moratorium involved not only college and university students but Americans from all walks of life, Goss conceded that if the moratorium affects the men at all, it will probably help to boost their morale.

The discussion also concerned the motives behind the moratorium.

SMITH HALL SWEETHEART: Valerie Copenhaver, a freshman liberal arts social science major from Mt. Union, Pa., has been elected Smith Hall sweetheart. She was chosen from a group of four candidates who were introduced to the Smith Hall men on October 6. The other three candidates were Kathy Parson, Barb Boyer and Sherry Hartle. Susan Frye, last year's sweetheart was also present. Miss Copenhaver will represent Smith Hall in the homecoming activities.

Mansfield QB Leads Conference Statistics

Stu Casterline is one reason Mansfield is still in contention for the Eastern Division championship of the Pennsylvania Conference.

The senior quarterback leads the 13-member conference in rushing, passing, scoring and total offense (not including this weekend's games). He even has a 50-yard punt to his credit.

"Casterline is a natural leader and a natural athlete," says his coach Bernie Sabol. "He's a little small (at 5-11) to make it in the pros as a quarterback but I'm writing to some guys I know with the idea of getting him a tryout as a defensive man. He can run the 40 in full dress in 4.9 or 4.8. And he's quick."

Riding on the unerring wing of their co-captain, the Mountaineers have won their last three games and match West Chester with a perfect 2-0 mark in the Eastern Division.

Casterline was only the third best passer in the conference as a junior when he hit on 45.2 percent of his throws. But with more experience and a flock of good receivers he is now hitting at a 56.6 clip.

"He puts it right there nine out of ten times," said Sabol. "He's right up there with Dukett and the rest of them."

Casterline is not only up with Billy Dukett, he's slightly ahead of them defending pass champ from East Stroudsburg in yardage--- 605 to 597. Stu is way ahead in total offense --- 819 to 626.

As a runner, the rollout artist holds a 214 to 209 edge on defending rush champ Phil Anthony of Kutztown. And his 36 points on six touchdowns is double what anybody else has in the league.

Stu's favorite target has been tight end Paul Gates who leads the conference with 18 catches. But the haul is well spread out between Don Ottaviani (11 catches), Ray Hipp (11) and Tom Ellsworth (12).

Bald Eagles who are among the top ten in individual statistics are Denny Rhule and Mike Packer in total offense. Rhule is rated fourth and Packer is ninth.

Both quarterbacks are also among the leaders in forward passing with Packer rated fifth and Rhule seventh.

Split end Sam Vaughn is fourth in pass receiving with 11 receptions good for 174 yards and two touchdowns.

Freshman punter Jeff Knarr is tenth in punting with a 32.7 average on 11 punts with the longest boot going 40 yards.

Tri-Captains Lead Eagle Soccer Team in Statistics

Co-captain Jim Sleicher once again leads the LHS Bald Eagle booters in scoring according to statistics released yesterday by head coach Karl T. Herrmann.

Sleicher who set all kinds of scoring records last season as a sophomore with 17 goals started the season slowly but with his two goals against St. Vincent took over the team leadership with five. He also has one assist to his credit.

Right behind Sleicher are Don Fay and Mick Minchoff with four goals a piece. Fay noted for his outstanding wrestling ability also has four assists to his credit while Minchoff has one. Co-captain Jack Infield follows these two in scoring with three goals.

Of the Eagles' five victories three have come as shutouts showing that All-American goalie Bruce Parkill is again in top form. Parkill who has been having tendon trouble in his left foot scored his third shutout on Saturday against St. Vincent.

The Eagles have outscored their opponents 21-7 in seven contests averaging three goals per game while allowing the opposition an average of only one goal per game.

The booters sport a 5-1-1 record and get their big test Friday afternoon when they entertain tough East Stroudsburg State.

Prof Speaks On Russian Tour

A small but interested group attended an informal lecture presented by John Bilski, associate professor of history, and four of the students that accompanied him on a sixteen day tour of Russia from Aug. 21 to Sept. 7.

Dan Sheets narrated many slides of the sights they saw while in the Soviet Union. Following the slides Bilski, Dan Sheets, Kay Martin, Bob Rose and Ann Heckel answered the questions of the group. Through their answers a picture of the life and customs of the Russian people was presented.

When asked what was the most worthwhile aspect of his trip, Bob Rose said that he felt it was the opportunity he had to meet the Russian students. Mr. Bilski was most impressed with the seemingly poor management of the country and the reluctance of the Russian people to work.

A Georgia State professor was surprised when he called on a male student in his Corporation Finance class and a female voice responded. The part-time student, an insurance salesman, had sent his secretary to take notes. Reader's Digest
