Swisher Sweet In Capturing Two State Tennis Championships

By Chris Fischer

Autumn Swisher won a spectacular and unprecedented two Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference (PSAC) tennis championships last weekend in Hershey, PA.

The Lock Haven University women's tennis team, as a whole, also turned in their finest showing ever in the history of the PSAC by finishing second.

The highest finish up to this point had been 5th.

Coach Carol Ritter's netters earned two titles and two second place finishes while compiling 18 points. Bloomsburg University won the 14-team championship with 27 points.

Ritter said, "I was really pleased with our performance, it was a real team effort."

Swisher, a sophomore from Selinsgrove, PA, led the LHU effort by winning the No. 1 singles crown and teaming with senior Holly Reitzel to capture the No. 1 doubles competition.

Swisher is only the second LHU woman to ever win the prestigious No. 1 championship. The previous champ was Kathy Peterman in the late 1970's.

Ritter wasn't positive, but she believes Swisher is the first woman to ever win both the No. 1 singles and No. 1 doubles competition in the history of the PSAC.

The runner-ups for the Haven include top freshman Lisa Stopper in the No. 2 singles and Reitzel at the No. 3 position.

Swisher seeded third in the event, opened with a 6-1, 6-2 victory over Joelle Guiles of West Chester. She then topped Kori Morrissey of Shippensburg 6-3, 6-4, before upsetting No. 1-seed Meg Heard of Bloomsburg, 6-1, 6-0.

In the finals Swisher had to go three sets before triumphing over the fourth-seeded Kathy Torch of East Stroudsburg.

Swisher said, "I didn't expect to do that well. I thought we'd probably win in the doubles, but not in the singles. After I got into the finals and even lost the second set, I knew I would win the championship because I had beaten the girl before."

Swisher added, "My forehand was the best I've ever seen...you could hear it echo!"

Stopper, the top seed at No. 2 singles, pulled a first round bye before topping Amy Stratton of West Chester by a score of 6-4, 6-3. In semi-finals competition, Stopper came up with a 6-7, 6-2, 6-4 victory over Clarion's Lynne Fye.

In the finals, however, the freshman lost a tough 1-6, 1-6 match to second-seeded and eventual champion Jennifer Neatrou of Shippensburg.

Reitzel, who was seeded first in the No. 3 singles, opened her competition with a bye before shutting out Heidi Woods of Kutztown 6-0, 6-0. Next she beat Jen Clark of Shippensburg, 6-3, 6-2 in the semi-finals before bowing to Megan Clarke of Bloomsburg in the title match 0-6, 6-2, 3-6.

In other singles matches, No. 4 LHU player Collen Werkheiser lost her first match to Gail Casterlin of East Stroudsburg 6-4, 4-6, 5-7.

Kim DiCesare, playing at the No. 5 spot, beat her first opponent, Diana Ryder of Mansfield, by a score of 6-4, 6-2, but then was ousted by Karen Gubicza the number No. 1 seed and eventual winner. The final of the match was 6-0, 6-1.

In the No. 6 single competition, LHU's

Karen Merlie lost her first match 4-6, 6-7 to Millersville's Tracey Smoyer.

Swisher and Reitzel showed why they were seeded first in the tournament by going 3-0 in the competition.

After a 6-4, 6-1 win over Amy Stratton and Guiles of West Chester, the top LHU team recorded a pair of 6-3 wins over Bloom's duo of Megan Heard and Kathy Marsh.

In the finals, LHU's dynamic duo topped No. 2 seeds Morrissey and Neatrou of Shippensburg, in three exhausting sets, 6-7, 6-4, 6-2.

Swisher said, "We've beaten that team in doubles before, but the doubles wasn't as climactic as singles."

"During the last set of doubles, Holly and I were talking about what and where we were going to eat tonight!"

At No. 2 doubles, Stopper and Werkheiser went into the tournament seeded second. After their first match, which was a bye, they topped Millersville's duo of Heidi Lahm and Tina Rauch, 1-6, 7-6, 6-4. Unfortunately, they lost their next competition by identical 6-4 scores to the eventual champions Linda Ghery and Missy Wellington of Edinboro.

The Lady Eagles No. 3 duo of Jean Vuk and Beth Donovan came up victors in their first match with a 6-1, 6-2 win over Ryder and Esther Kennedy of Mansfield, 6-1, 6-2. However, they then lost to Bloomsburg's top seeds of Gubicza and Chris Tegge, 4-6, 6-2, 1-6. The Bloom duo then went on to win the title.

Swisher ended the '85 season with a 12-4 record, and Stopper concluded with an outstanding 15-1 record plus one invitational title.

Enthusiastic Crowd Of 400 Turn Out For Rock Group A.D.

By Sue Berger and Carol Stokes

A.D., a Christian group featuring former KANSAS members, Kerry Livgren and Dave Hope, performed in Price Auditorium on Sunday evening.

Approximately 400 persons heard the band perform according to Jeff Lewis, the man that brought A.D. to LHU.

Livgren wrote such top hits as "Dust in the Wind" and "Carry on Wayward Son" for KANSAS, which A.D. also performed Sunday night.

The crowd stood and clapped as A.D. started to rock with their opening number, "Leave Me to Reason," featuring a spectacular flute solo.

The audience danced, sang and rocked with the screaming guitars and drums of the band throughout the entire concert.

"Da-kine!" said one Penn State student about the concert. He then elaborated that da-kine means #1 Cool in Hawaiian.

Warren Ham, a multi-talented musician and the lead vocalist, blew a mean harmonica, flute, saxophone, and clarinet to tunes such as "Be New" and "Slow Motion Suicide."

Other members of A.D. are Mike Gleason who played bass and Dennis Holt, who sat in beach shorts behind the drums.

"A.D. has some of the best guys, talent wise, in the world, and they really put on a good show," said Lewis, Director of the New Student Life Fellowship.

"I wish more people were open-minded to this kind of group. The word 'Christian' scares them away," he added.

The group sang songs from each of their albums including "The Only Way to Have a Friend" from their first album Time Line.

Livgren then told the audience how "Dust in the Wind" originated and how he got interested in Christian rock.

"That song 'Dust in the Wind' bugged me after I wrote it. I knew there was something more to life than coming from dust and going back to it after death," he explained, "Now we find much more meaning to our lives singing about the Creator of that dust."

Livgren added that he found Jesus and he then realized that he had a choice as to whether or not he was dust in the wind.

He also realized that his house, his money, his car, and all of his material goods that he had after college, were not the important things in life.

A.D. concluded the concert with an encore performance of "We are the Men" preceded by a spirited drum solo.

EDITORIAL

No more bitchin'

First, let me get something straight, the following is not an apology or an excuse. It is simply a statement of fact.

The Eagle Eye is a student newspaper. It is staffed entirely by students. These students receive no college credit, yet a few spend as many as 25 hours a week at the office. Some (the editors) do get paid, if you can call it that, because after the hours are divided into the pay, it comes out to an average of about $.17 per hour. The reporters are all unpaid and write for their own personal reasons.

The Eagle Eye can only come out with four pages on Tuesday and eight on Friday because we rely on The Lock Haven Express to print the paper and that is the most they can handle.

We are constantly trying to improve the Eagle Eye. We've added a few new columns, such as Fashion Line, Dorm Life, Meet the World, and Sports Line. As the year goes on we will be trying new and modern things.

In the future we will continue our coverage of the news of the "Haven." There isn't exactly an over abundance of mass murders and hijackings that go on on this campus. So the news that is in our paper isn't as sensational as that of other papers.

To summarize, we are doing the best we can. If you have a complaint, problem, suggestion, or responsible comment, bring it or mail it to the Eagle Eye. If you feel that verbal abuse is absolutely necessary then come see Matt or me at the Eagle Eye office. We are in charge of the whole operation. I do not feel that any other member of the staff deserves to take any abuse from anybody but myself.

Please feel free to express constructive criticism. We really want to improve this paper.

Battle Of Defenses is Lost by L.H.U.

By Dave Walters

The Lock Haven football squad lost a battle of the defenses, as Slippery Rock shut out LHU 10-0 in Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference action at Slippery Rock Saturday.

Head Bald Eagle coach Jack Fisher's wishbone offense has been steadily improving week by week, but the Rockets shut it down by only allowing LHU 124 yards in total offense.

The LHU offense only accumulated six first downs throughout the entire game and didn't get any in the second or third quarters.

LHU's defensive unit played another physical game, with Stan Allen leading the way with 13 tackles, bringing his yearly total to 73. Todd Ritter was next with 11 and Steve Suriano showed his presence with 10 tackles and two quarterback sacks.

On LHU's offensive side, quarterback Pat Cahill led the Bald Eagle rushing game with just 36 yards on 15 carries. Last week's PSAC Western Division player of the week, Rosey Brown, had a difficult day and was held to 27 yards.

Cahill completed four of nine passes for 29 yards and no interceptions. Cahill hit his usual target, John Klacik with three passes for 21 yards and Gary Simpson with one for eight.

With 55 seconds left in the first period, Slippery Rock's , quarterback Shawn Morton, hit slotback Wade Acker for the games sole touchdown. Morton, at the beginning of the season was a fourth string quarterback.

The Rock threatened to score early in the second quarter, as the Rockets moved the ball to the LHU 26 yard line. Bald Eagle cornerback Hank Boyd moved in the path of Morton's pass to make an interception.

Both teams gave their punters plenty of playing time as LHU punted the ball 10 times and the Rock booted it six times.

Late in the game, the Rockets moved the ball up to the LHU 11 yard line and brought in kicker Mike Hudak, who kicked a 27-yard field goal.

LHU will host the Indians of Indiana University of PA at Hubert Jack Stadium for parents weekend. Kick off will be at 2 p.m.

Greber to Box on International Team

Lock Haven's boxing team captain, Steve Greber, a two-time National Collegiate Boxing Association (NCBA) runner-up, has been selected to box on the 1985 NCBA International All-Star team that will travel to Brunei in Southeast Asia November 24.

A delegation of eight boxers along with a faculty advisor and a coach will fly to Brunei to compete in three exhibitions against collegiate boxers at Institutes of Physical Education and Sport in Brunei and Borneo. Greber, a senior communications major from Philadelphia, will box in the 147 pound division. Dr. Fred Miller, a professor of mathematics at Central Connecticut State University has been designated as the team leader and Billy Taylor, veteran boxing coach at Central Connecticut has been selected as the team coach.

The NCBA has also announced that Lock Haven's outstanding, 172 pound freshman, Eric Gravely will box Dick Hoffman of the U.S. Naval Academy in the eighth bout of the ninth annual "Salute to Champions" event at the prestigious Downtown Athletic Club in Lower Manhattan, New York City November 25. Hoffman is the 1985

NCBA, 165 pound champion. Gravely a freshman from Washington, D.C., is looking extremely impressive in preseason workouts and was extremely impressive in sparring session at Bethune-Douglass Community Center.

Donald Scanlon, Jr., the Downtown Athletic Club (DTAC) matchmaker, has announced that the honored guest of the evening will be former world champion, Sugar Ray Robinson, considered by most boxing experts to be the most outstanding world champion ever. The has also announced that it will also honor LHU's Dr. Ken Cox, along with Robinson. Cox was selected for his many contributions to amateur and collegiate boxing. Last year the DTAC honored former Heavyweight from the professional ranks and professor Emerson Smith, USNA, from the collegiate ranks. This will be the eighth year LHU has had one or more boxers elected for this gala event.

The Bald Eagles are currently ranked fourth in the nation in the preseason poll. They will host the ninth annual LHU Invitational Collegiate Boxing Championships at Thomas Field House December 7.

Lady Eagles Veto Senators

An unassisted goal by Paula Stephens in the second half earned the Lady Eagles field hockey team a victory over the Lady Senators of Davis & Elkins College 2-1 Sunday.

Head coach Sharon Taylor's ladies are currently 11-4 on the year. This game was the teams final home game of the season.

On Thursday they will take on West Chester and then travel to Philadelphia to face Old Dominion.

The Lady Eagles out shot D&E 32-12. The Lady Senators led in penalty corners 6-5.

Senior Niecy Huston put the Lady Eagles on the board with a strong penalty shot past goalie Donna Burns at the 20:00 mark of the first half.

Davis & Elkins knotted the score, as Marie Polyak put an unassisted goal past LHU goalie Lori Sannella with 26:15 remaining to play.

Stephens put the game away nine minutes later with her fourth goal of the season.

L.H.U. Defeats Macon In Soccer

By Bill Hunter

It took 110 minutes, but the Lock Haven University soccer team eventually got the winning goal and knocked off Division II 14th ranked Randolph Macon.

LHU went to Virginia Sunday knowing that a win against such a high quality team would increase their chances for an NCAA bid, and they responded with a solid victory.

The game started off with an early goal by Randolph Macon coming with only 11 minutes gone from the game.

Seeking the equalizing goal, Andrew Monteith passed the ball forward to Kevin York who found the back of the net tying the score at 1-1.

These goals were to be the only points scored during the first half.

The second half started off slowly, but became intense as the end of the period approached.

With 17:23 left in the game, Lock Haven was awarded a penalty kick because of a foul committed by Randolph Macon. Doc DuMars took the kick and gave LHU a 2-1 lead as he shot the ball past Macon's goalkeeper.

However, the scoring was not over. With :02 remaining in the game, Randolph Macon was awarded a penalty kick. Forward John Tyler beat LHU keeper Rob Cocker for the goal, bring the score to 2-2.

Regulation time came to a close and the game was forced into two 10 minute overtimes.

The first of the two periods was when Lock Haven would make it's strike.

Terry Flynn, Team Captain

With an assist from Terry Flynn, Andrew Monteith got the game winning goal.

The second of the two periods came without the scoreboard having to change.

Coach Lenny Long said, "It was a complete team victory with everyone playing well."

Lock Haven dominated the game with 17 shots and 11 corner kicks. Macon could only get four shots and two corner kicks directed at Cocker.

Three of the next four games that the LHU booters will encounter are conference games and according to coach Long, "Each game will be rough and they will all be looking to knock us off."

Lock Haven will face Western Division conference rival Indiana University of Pennsylvania at home on Wednesday at 3:00 p.m.

Talk Given On Acid Rain

By Lori Budinger

The most recent Faculty Lecture Series featured a discussion by Professors Scherer and Hoberman on the effects of acid rain. According to both professors, the greatest cause of the problem is sulfur dioxide (SO₂) and nitrogen dioxide (NO₂) being put into the earth's atmosphere by the burning of fossil fuel, and by energy producing power plants, cars and homes.

SO₂ and NO₂ are being released into the atmosphere, and slowly being absorbed into the clouds. SO₂ and NO₂ are then being mixed into the rain and falling back to earth. Through the natural process of run-off these acids are going into our streams and altering the natural pH balance. The neutral level of pH is 7, acid rain causes the streams pH to drop to 5.5 to 5.7. This level can cause acid shock, which results in the death of vegetation and fish.

Professor Scherer gave a statistical figure estimating that the United States introduces 53 million tons of sulfuric and nitric acid into the atmosphere every year. These amounts have a direct effect on our environment.

Professor Scherer added that one of the possible ways to reduce acid in streams and return them to their natural pH was to introduce limestone into the streams to work as a buffer. This in turn would filter out the acids.

Professor Hoberman thinks that the problem should be taken on at a corporate level. He believes that by the use of low sulfur coal, and the pre-treatment of coal and oil would eliminate much of the sulfuric and nitric acids that are causing the problem. Professor Hoberman also feels that other fuel options such as nuclear, hydro and solar could be utilized.

When asked their opinion on the success of the lecture, both professors Scherer and Hoberman thought the lecture went well. By splitting the hour between them, they felt the lecture was more appealing to the audience. Both professors were very pleased with the turnout and the interest of the audience.

Irwin Gives Talk On Financial Aid

By Michelle Trevena

Mr. William Irwin, Director of Financial Aid at Lock Haven University, gave a talk on how students can obtain money for tuition last week.

The first method is a tuition waiver. This is available to one percent of the University's student body, or 26 in the case of LHU.

Other forms of financial aid include campus employment, a few sports scholarships, an alumni scholarship, and a community sponsored scholarship.

The alumni scholarship is based primarily on academic record, while the community scholarship "leans more toward need," according to Irwin.

For U.S. citizens there are Pell and State grants, work/study programs, and Guaranteed Student Loans.

In addition to these, most civic groups give scholarships to students with good academic records and/or their financial need.

For students whose parents' incomes are over $30,000, there are Help Loans and Supplemental Loans.

For Education majors, the State Education Association offers scholarships or loan forgiveness, if the student teaches for a specified time in the state, usually 2-5 years.

Additional information can be found in Himes Hall.

Haven Singers To Attend Choral Festival

Thirteen singers of the Lock Haven University Choir have been selected to attend the Pennsylvania Collegiate Choral Festival to be held at Delaware Valley College in Doylestown PA.

The Festival will take place on Oct. 31, Nov. 1 and 2.

After three days of rehearsal, a concert will be presented by the 150-voice choir at 7:30 p.m. on Nov. 2, on the Delaware Valley College Campus.

This concert will be open to the public with tickets available at the door.

Twenty colleges and universities are represented in this year's Festival.

The conductor will be Jon de Revere of New York University, New York City. He is also the conductor of the de Revere Singers, a professional choir.

The concert follows a theme of American music, ranging from Barbershop to the 20th century music of Norman Dello Joio.

This will be in tribute of the start of American Music Week, Nov. 4-11.

The singers from LHU are Lisa Ansell, Perry Bartlett, Laura Bickel, Jim Blachek, David Foley, Molly Grill, David Hixon, Christian Holland, Cathie Houseknecht, Suzanne Raugh, Paula Schall, Darrell Scott, and Roberta Selleck.

Professor Gary Renzelman, LHU's Choir Director, will accompany the students to Doylestown for the Festival.
