Registration Will Continue As in Spring

Dispelling rumors concerning a charge in the registration ireedoms for next semester, the Registration Committee decided during a recent meeting to continue with the same system used for this semester. This will allow students to once again chose the instructors and times for their classes. Upperclassmen will have preference as to the choice of courses. Hopefully registration will begin on the day following Thanksgiving vacation and will be completed before Christmas vacation.

Pollution Termed Greatest Problem

Early this fall the Pennsylvania Collegiate Press Association conducted a survey of Pennsylvania collegiate editors to determine "the greatest problems and challenges facing America today," Each editor was given a list of 30 items and asked to select five areas which they considered "most important" and the areas "least important".

Fifteen of the 25 editors votfor Pollution-environmental health as the most important of current American problems. The topic was also selected in the 1970 survey in the first ranking position.

Race Relations, Wage and Price Controls, and Welfare Policies tied for the second place with nine votes each. Race Relations moved up a notch its third-place 1970 rank. The voting indicated that the Vietnam War dropped from second place in 1970 to fifth place in this year's Pornography and General Morality and Religion's Decline got the top two slots in the "least important" listing. The same areas lead this category last year in reversed positions.

Robert F. Stein of Clarion State College supported his selection of Pollution as the leading problem in America by saying: "Our nation, and the rest of the world for that matter, is on the road to ecological disaster. It is true that people are more concerned today with the woes of the earth than just a year ago, but our government seems unconcerned not willing to make the effort to save the land or just unaware of the magnitude of the problem. But something has to be done soon."

LHS Freshman Overcomes Handicap Despite Setbacks

Imagine, for a moment, that you are a typical, happy-go-lucky eight-year-old boy. Occasionally, you hear your parents talking about a "polio epidemic." You don't know exactly what it means, and you don't care either. Then, one morning you wake up with a sore throat. You grow progressively ill. After a prolonged stay in the hospital, you learn that you will never walk again. What do you do-resign yourself to the life of an invalid or fight back?

This was the dilemma faced by Frank Hammersley, a freshman this year at Lock Haven State, when he was hit by the 1958 polio epidemic. Hammersley spent the first nine months after his attack in Mount Sinia Hospital in New York City. There, he learned to adjust to a whole new life style. For a young boy, accepting a wheelchair as the only means of getting around is not an easy task.

Upon returning home, Ham-They are to debate with mersley attended a local school physically handicapped and Saturday. Tentatively sche- children. Everything went smoothly for awhile. Everyone at the school was handicapped; so there wasn't the usual pointing of fingers and whispering. Then, one rainy March day, Hammersley was leaving the school gymnasjum wheelchair accidently slipped and Hammersley fell. The result was a broken leg, just above the knee. Once again, Hammersley had a golden opportunity to give up on life, and once again he he didn't "take advantage" of

> Instead, he spent the long, hot summer in a leg cast and returned to school in the fall. After attending school for a few more years, Hammersley learned from his doctors that if he would undergo a series of operations, he might be able to walk again. After his experience at Mount Sinia, Hammersley was not everly anxious to spend several more away from home. However, he decided that the possible reward was worth the sacrifice.

> The next three years at the Children's Hospital in Elizabethtown, Pennsylvania were not the

in an attempt to straighten the spine. Every facility in the hospital was used to find a way for Hammersley to realize his dream of walking again. The attempts were to no avail; the legs simply were not strong enough to support the now husky body. What would Hammersley do now

At home, Hammersley went to a local public high school which was all on one level. This came as a great relief to him since he feared that he would have to complete his education through home tutoring. He was only the second student ever to go through the high school in a wheelchair.

After attending high school for only a few months, fate struck once again. One day while going to his bus, Hammersley slipped and broke his knee in three places. As he spent a second long summer in a leg cast, he often wondered why someone had never thought of inventing an air-condition cast. Never-the-less, the fall Hammersley was buck school, and he went on to goal uate in June, 1969.

How, Hammersley college freshman, and he has the typical fresh high hopes. Midway through his first semester of college, he is contemplating going on for his Masters and doctorate degrees. Yet considering most pleasant in his young life. his past, maybe these hopes Two were spent in a body cast aren't so far-fetched after all.

Ex-Peace Corps, Vista Volunteers To Visit LHS Campus

A returned Peace Corps volunteer and an Ex-Vista volunteer will visit the Lock Haven State campus Monday, November 1. They will come as representatives of Action, the New Federal Volunteer Umbrella Agency which combines Peace Corps, Vista, and a number of smiller and lesser known agencies.

Janet Simoni, who served two years as a Peace Corps volunteer in Sierra Leone, and Barbara Cantor, who served one year as a Vista volunteer teacher in Kansas City, Missouri, are anxious to talk with students who might wish to learn more about either pro-

Miss Cantor, who taught in a Montessori pre-school in Kansas City after graduating with a Fine Arts Degree in Pratt Institute, says "service domestically or internationalto is basically the same, for the volunteer in either case is helping needy people to help themselves. Where the individual wishes to serve is up to him, the point is he should get out and serve somewhere, anywhere, where people need help."

As in the past, a Peace Corps volunteer serves for two years. While a volunteer, he is paid a living allowance to take care of his daily needs. Each volunteer receives a monthly allowance which is paid upon his return to the states. Vista volunteers also receive a livingallowance as well as a fixed fee upon completion of service. Action programs need individuals who have many different backgrounds. LHS seniors who have majors in education, the scimathematics. economics, or foreign languages are especially well prepared and needed applicants for Action programs.

conditions similar to what the Eaglettes play on at home.

The first half started out slowly with each team testing the playing surface and seeing how the other team played. East Stroudsburg scored the first two goals of the game, but LHS came back to score with 10 minutes left in the half; making the halftime score ESS 2, LHS 1.

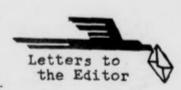

East Stroudsburg scored again at the start of the second half. The game came to somewhat of a stalemate as neither team scored, but both teams were constantly pressing for a score. The Eaglettes' spirit never died even though they were down by the score of 3 to 1. Then Bonnie Groff scored for the Eaglettes. This was the turning point of the game, as LHS quickly picked up momentum and with a never give up attitude turned a somewhat contented East Stroudsburg team and rooting section into havoc as Kelly Cromer tied the score with eight minutes remaining. Many scoring opportunities went by for

Now with the victory alon Tuesday. The game was played most in the bag, the Eaglettes on a muddy, wet, grassy field - settled down to prevent any further scoring by East Stroudsburg. And so it was, LHS came from behind late in the second half to win; the final score was LHS 4.

The offense was aggressive and always pressing despite the constant challenge of getting the ball through the mud to the goal. The defense, realizing the offense's difficulty moving the ball, played even harder, making many interceptions and clearing the ball to the offense.

The junior varsity squad had somewhat harder time. The entire first half was played with neither team scoring but each team constantly applying pressure to the

To the Editor:

Regarding my letter of 26 October, I stand corrected with regard to my classification of Mr. Heilemann's article as strictly a "news item". May I assure all concerned that the oversight on my part was purely unintentional and I make full apology to Mr. Heilemann for unjustified criticism in that respect. I retract all of my second paragraph of the aforementioned letter, with the exceptions of the last two sentences. I still feel that he lacked self-control in making some rather harsh criticisms (e.g. referring tothe official as "Edinboro's 23rd man"), However I fully acknowledge his right to make such comments within the protective confines of his "column". I also feel that he should not manufact-East Stroudsburg scored the ure excuses for a loss, no matter Respectfully.

Booters Bow To York

Lock Haven State booters fell to defeat at the hands of York College on Tuesday afternoon with a close score of 4-3. Yet LHS dominated the game and lead in shots 14-12.

It is difficult to say what would have happened had the field been in better conditionit was muddy and covered with puddles--and had there been two officials instead of one. Still, both teams played an excellent game of soccer, playing to their capabitities.

The Eagle booters put on their usual show of team work, aggressive play, good ball movement and passing and mainly, all out running. They controlled the ball at midfield and the fullbacks did an outstanding job in the backfield.

Dave "Chicken Little" Chambers had his first opportunity to play the majority of a game and effectively proved his worth. He did an outstanding job on both defense and offense, and assist-

Podgajny Runs Extra 100

LHS Stomps Juniata

Lock Haven State's finest distance runner ever, added another course record to his list as the Bald Eagle cross country team trampled Juniata 19 to 42 yesterday. For LHS, it was their fifth consecutive victory, raising their record to 5-1.

Podgajny led from start to finish over the hilly 4.8 mile course, and, even though he took a wrong turn and ran an extra 100 yards. Steve won his sixth straight dual meet and set his sixth straight record. Steve's time of 24:13.8 broke the course record held by Dan Supulski of Penn State by 13.2 seconds.

The Bald Eagle victory was not entirely due to Podoutstanding run, gajny's though. LHS placed 9 out of the first 11 runners. Steve Harnish ran an excellent race, and George Bower, Reed Humphrey, and Make Gaige gave the team excellent depth. Carl Klingaman, Larry Wise, Dave Ritter, and Lloyd Peters completed the thrashing by finishing before Juniata's third runner.

Commenting on the meet, Coach Jim Dolan said: "We really looked good today. Everyone ran well. Mike Gaige slowed temporarily by a side pain, and with him moving up, we will have a good chance on Saturday. Podgajny, Harnish and Bower ran usual races, and Reed Humpshowed spirit by out hrey sprinting a Juniate runner at the finish."

The Lock Haven State harriers travel to Millersville on Saturday to take on the powerful Mararders of Millersville led by Jeff Bradley and Scott Mellinger.

To the Editor:

Dear Mr. Aston;

I am sorry I have offended your sense of fair play by knocking an official. However, I feel that it is my duty to inform the public of some facts that you seem to skip. I will quote the Official Collegiate NCAA Guide Rule 9, Section 3. page R28. (Rule on Roughing Kicker or Placekicker holder).

"The same stiff penalty protects the punter and kick holder from rough treatment as they concentrate on their demanding assignment. However, contact with the kicker is forgiven when a punt or placekick is blocked, since this is attacking the ball rather than the man.

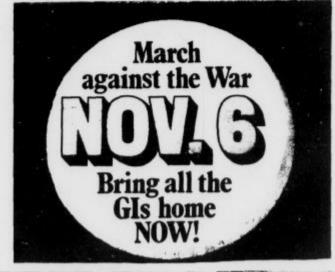

This rule is self-explanatory, but some more facts can be brought to light which make the call even more unbelievable. I printed on Monday that the second man through had hit the kicker. This was what the official had said. He then pointed to Bob Seale and said he was guilty of the infraction. The facts now are clear that Bob Seale blocked the punt. If you can explain to me how Pob Seale can block the punt and be the second man through, I will be eternally grateful. One possible explanation comes to mind, but a quick check of the Lock Haven roster shows that there is just one Bob Seale on it. Therefore, there could not have been two different kids named Bob Seale playing for Lock Haven on Saturday.

Your high regard for my journalistic ability touched me deeply. I will try in the future to live up to your standards. However, when a call of an official is completely wrong and decides the outcome of a ballgame, I will continue to report it as such.

Sincerely, Bill Heilemann
