CAS backs Reibman in bid for Senate

The Commonwealth Association of Students, a statewide student association representing the interests of the 80,000 college students in the Pennsylvania State Colleges and University, voted to endorse State Senator Jeanette F. Reibman in her bid for the United States Senate. The unanimous vote took place during the Association's second statewide conference of the 1975-76 academic year, held November 21 and 22 at Edinboro State College.

When asked why the CAS voted to support Senator Reibman, CAS Executive Director responded that "Senator Reibman's contributions toward the maintenance and upgrading of the Pennsylvania State Colleges and University are unmatched throughout the Commonwealth. As Chairperson of the Senate Education Committee, Senator Reibman has worked diligently to help the state college student. Her sponsorship of the PHEAA Program is just one of her many accomplishments. Certainly, she deserves our support."

During their statewide conference, the CAS also laid the groundwork for a tuition strike. Participating students are depositing their Spring tuition into an escrow account as part of their plan to bring attention to the plight of the state colleges that has resulted from the retrenchment and cutbacks initiated by the Shapp Administration.

"We are in an intolerable situation. Student services are being cutback and academic programs are being curtailed, yet the state continues to raise the cost of a public higher education. We hope to bring attention to our needs through this tuition strike," stated Carroll.

Vandalism forces rec room, elevator closing

By PHIL BURLINGAME
Ast. News. Editor

Vandalism in the two men's residence halls has forced the closing of Smith Hall's recreation room and High Hall's elevator.

"Hall council met last Monday night and made a decision regarding the condition of the recreation room," said Smith Hall President Lou Fiorillo. "The decision was made that we would close it for the rest of the semester."

"The condition of the room and the attitude of the students using the room," Fiorillo added, "was the reason the recreation room was closed."

Student dissatisfaction prompted the Smith Hall wing representatives to consult their constituents on Wednesday night, November 19, and another vote was taken the following night. One representative voted to leave the room opened, four voted to close it and one student abstained. The deans of student life were consulted and generally agreed with the council's decision.

In related action, the Smith Hall council decided to impose 24-hour quiet hours in Smith Hall from 7:00 p.m. on Sunday to 6:00 p.m. on Friday. Several students objected to both actions by the council but Fiorillo reported, "The council's power was delegated through the student life office to make those decisions."

The broken elevator in High Hall has been repaired, and it should be back in use before the close of this semester.

Current student enrollment shows increase this year

Lock Haven State was one of nine Pennsylvania state colleges which experienced an increase in student enrollment for the current academic year.

According to figures recently released by the Office of Information, Pa. Department of Education, the 14 state colleges posted an overall 2.4 per cent increase in enrollments over last year. Following a major drop-off in the total rate of growth for the state colleges in 1970, growth has been slower but steady, claims the Dept. of Education.

Colleges showing an increase in enrollment include Bloomsburg, Cheyney, Clarion, Edinboro, Indiana University, Kutztown, Lock Haven, and Slippery Rock. West Chester posted the largest increase over last year with 746 additional students.

Enrollment at LHSC is currently 2,436 students, as

One act 'Shelley' opens Thursday

By LARRY SCHMIDT
News Editor

When someone from within the college community writes their own play, it's worth looking into.

Last week I had the opportunity to see a preview of "Shelley," an original one-act play written by student Dan Keefer, which will be presented later this week. "Shelley" impressed me because it is done so completely by students (as both performers and playwright). Equally impressive, however, is the simple fact that it's done well!

"Shelley" revolves around the mental breakdown of a young girl in the midst of a reader's theater performance. Shelley, played by Evelyn Evans, haunted by memories of the past through her alter-ego, played by Donna Hazen.

Eventually Shelley consults a psychiatrist, played by Jolene Borgese. This brings into action Shelley's mother, Ann Aycock, an old high school chum named Phil, played by Chuck Andrus, and two other high school friends from the past, Joe Pagana and Lori Jordan. David C. Heverly makes an appearance as Shelley's drama coach.

What makes the play a success is the balance it strikes between what is told to the audience, and what is left to the imagination. "Shelley" is neither confusing nor too self-explanatory.

"Shelley" has what is fast becoming a distinctive quality: it is worthwhile following the play's action to its conclusion.

Particularly effective is the multi-leveled dialogue going on between Shelley and her psychiatrist, and that of Shelley with the characters in her own imagination. The interchanges reflect the dual world Shelley is living in.

"Shelley" is being directed by Lawrence Lebin. Bev Ungriet is serving as stage manager, while Joe Pagana and Gary Mazzu have designed the lights.

Performances are scheduled for Thursday, Friday, and Saturday evenings at 7:00 p.m. in Sloan 321. No admission is being charged.

Fraternity to sponsor memorial social

The Sigma Pi Fraternity will sponsor their third annual social in memory of Mark Manahan, a former brother, this Friday.

Manahan was killed in a tragic plane crash three years ago coming back from Thanksgiving vacation along with two other members of his family.

Because Manahan was an active participant in the College Players while attending Lock Haven State College, all proceeds from the gathering will go to the College Players in his memory.

The social will be held at the Sigma Pi house beginning at 8:30 p.m. with admission of $1.25 per person.
