Ford, Man of Many Achievements, Speaking TONIGHT in Fieldhouse

Tonight at 8:15 p.m. in Thomas Fieldhouse, the students of Lock Haven State will be able to hear a man of great achievements. Representative Gerald R. Ford from the fifth Congressional District of Michigan, will be speaking as part of the Cultural Affairs Committee's lecture series.

Ford, a 1935 graduate from the University of Michigan and a 1951 law graduate from Yale University law school, has a twelve consecutive term span as a member of Congress since January 3, 1949.

Ford was chosen Minority Leader of the House of Representatives at the opening of 89th Congress January 4, 1965. He has also served as a member of the Republican Conference of the House during the 88th Congress (1963-64) and has been a member of the House of the Republican Policy Committee for over nine years.

During his first term he was named to the House Public Works Committee. In 1951, was assigned to the Appropriations Committee where he served on the Army Civil Functions Subcommittee. During the 83rd and 84th Congresses, was a member of the Subcommittees on Foreign Operations and the Department of Defense and was on the Army Panel, serving as Panel Chairman in the 83rd Congress. During the 84th Congress, was appointed to the lect Committee on Astronautics and Space Exploration. Remained a member of both the Defense and Foreign Operations Subcommittees of the House Appropriations Committee throughout the 85th, 86th, 87th and 88th Congresses. Was senior Republican on the Defense Subcommittee before becoming Minority Leader.

Ford's sport record is also very impressive. He won all city and all-state football honors in Grand Rapids during high school. While earning three varsity letters, he was a member of the University of Michigan's undefeated national championship team of 1932 and 1933. He was then named Michigan's Most Valuable Player in 1934. In 1959 he was selected by Sports Illustrated to receive its Silver Anniversary All-American Award as one of the 25 football players in the preceding quarter century who had contributed most to their fellow citizens. In 1972, he was awarded the National Football Foundation's gold medal for close association with the game.

His military service consisted of a 1942 entrance in the U.S. Navy. He also served 47 months on active duty during World War II. He was released to inactive duty with rank of Lieutenant Commander in January 1946.

Following service duty, he returned to Grand Rapids and resumed his law practice. Ford then received the Grand Rapids Jaycees Distinguished Service Award in 1948 for work in various community projects. The following year he was named one of "America's Ten Outstanding Young Men" by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce, receiving its Distinguished Service Award.

Ford also has various other honors. In 1963, he was named by President Lyndon Johnson to the Warren Commission and was the co-author of the book, "Portrait of the Assassin". He then served as permanent chairman of the 1968 Republican National Convention. He was lauded as a "Congressman's Congressman" by the American Political Science Association when it conferred on him its Distinguished Congressional Service Award in 1961. Ford was presented the George Washington Award by the American Good Government Society and was chosen by the American Academy of Achievement to receive its Golden Plate Award as one of fifty "grants of accomplishment". When selected to receive the AMVETS Silver Helmet Award in 1971, he received that group's highest recognition of congressional service.

Truly a man of vast achievements, Gerald Ford is a man who cannot be passed by.

Editor's Note: The following letter was sent to Dr. Robert Kidder, Chairman of the Theatre Department; Dr. Marcus Konick, Chairman of the Department of Humanities, and The Student Body of Lock Haven State College. It came from James Symmons, Director/Williamsport Drama Workshop.

February 9, 1973

On behalf of the Williamsport Drama Workshop and myself I express my sincere apology for the circumstances of Thursday evening by which the Workshop was not able to fulfill its scheduled commitment in presenting the two one act plays. I also regret the circumstances that forced me to be absent from the workshop at the time of its commitment, but the emergency situation was beyond my control.

However, I would like to re-schedule the performance of "The Zoo Story" as soon as possible without admission charge. I trust that this will be in agreement with you and the student body.

Again, my sincere apology.

Sincerely yours,
James Symmons

Note: After consideration of the situation, it was decided that time does not allow for the play "The Zoo Story" to be rescheduled within the near future. It was felt, nonetheless, that the students should have the opportunity to read Mr. Symmons's letter.

Press Competition Open

The Department of Journalism at St. Bonaventure University announces its sixth annual COLLEGE PRESS COMPETITION for collegiate newspapers. More than 2,500 entries were submitted in individual and publication categories last year. The entries represented more than 100 campuses throughout the country.

The Department's desire to recognize outstanding collegiate newspapering is part of its dedication to college journalism and journalism education, which includes the Department's "Mark Hellinger Award" and the founding of the New York Collegiate Press Association.

Winners will be announced on Press Day, May 14, a Monday, on the University campus. Press Day is the largest national program of its kind for secondary schools and for the past five years has offered a special program for college journalists. Press Day participation is not a requisite for entering the competition.

Entries will be judged by professional newspaper men and women.

The postmark deadline is April 2, 1973.

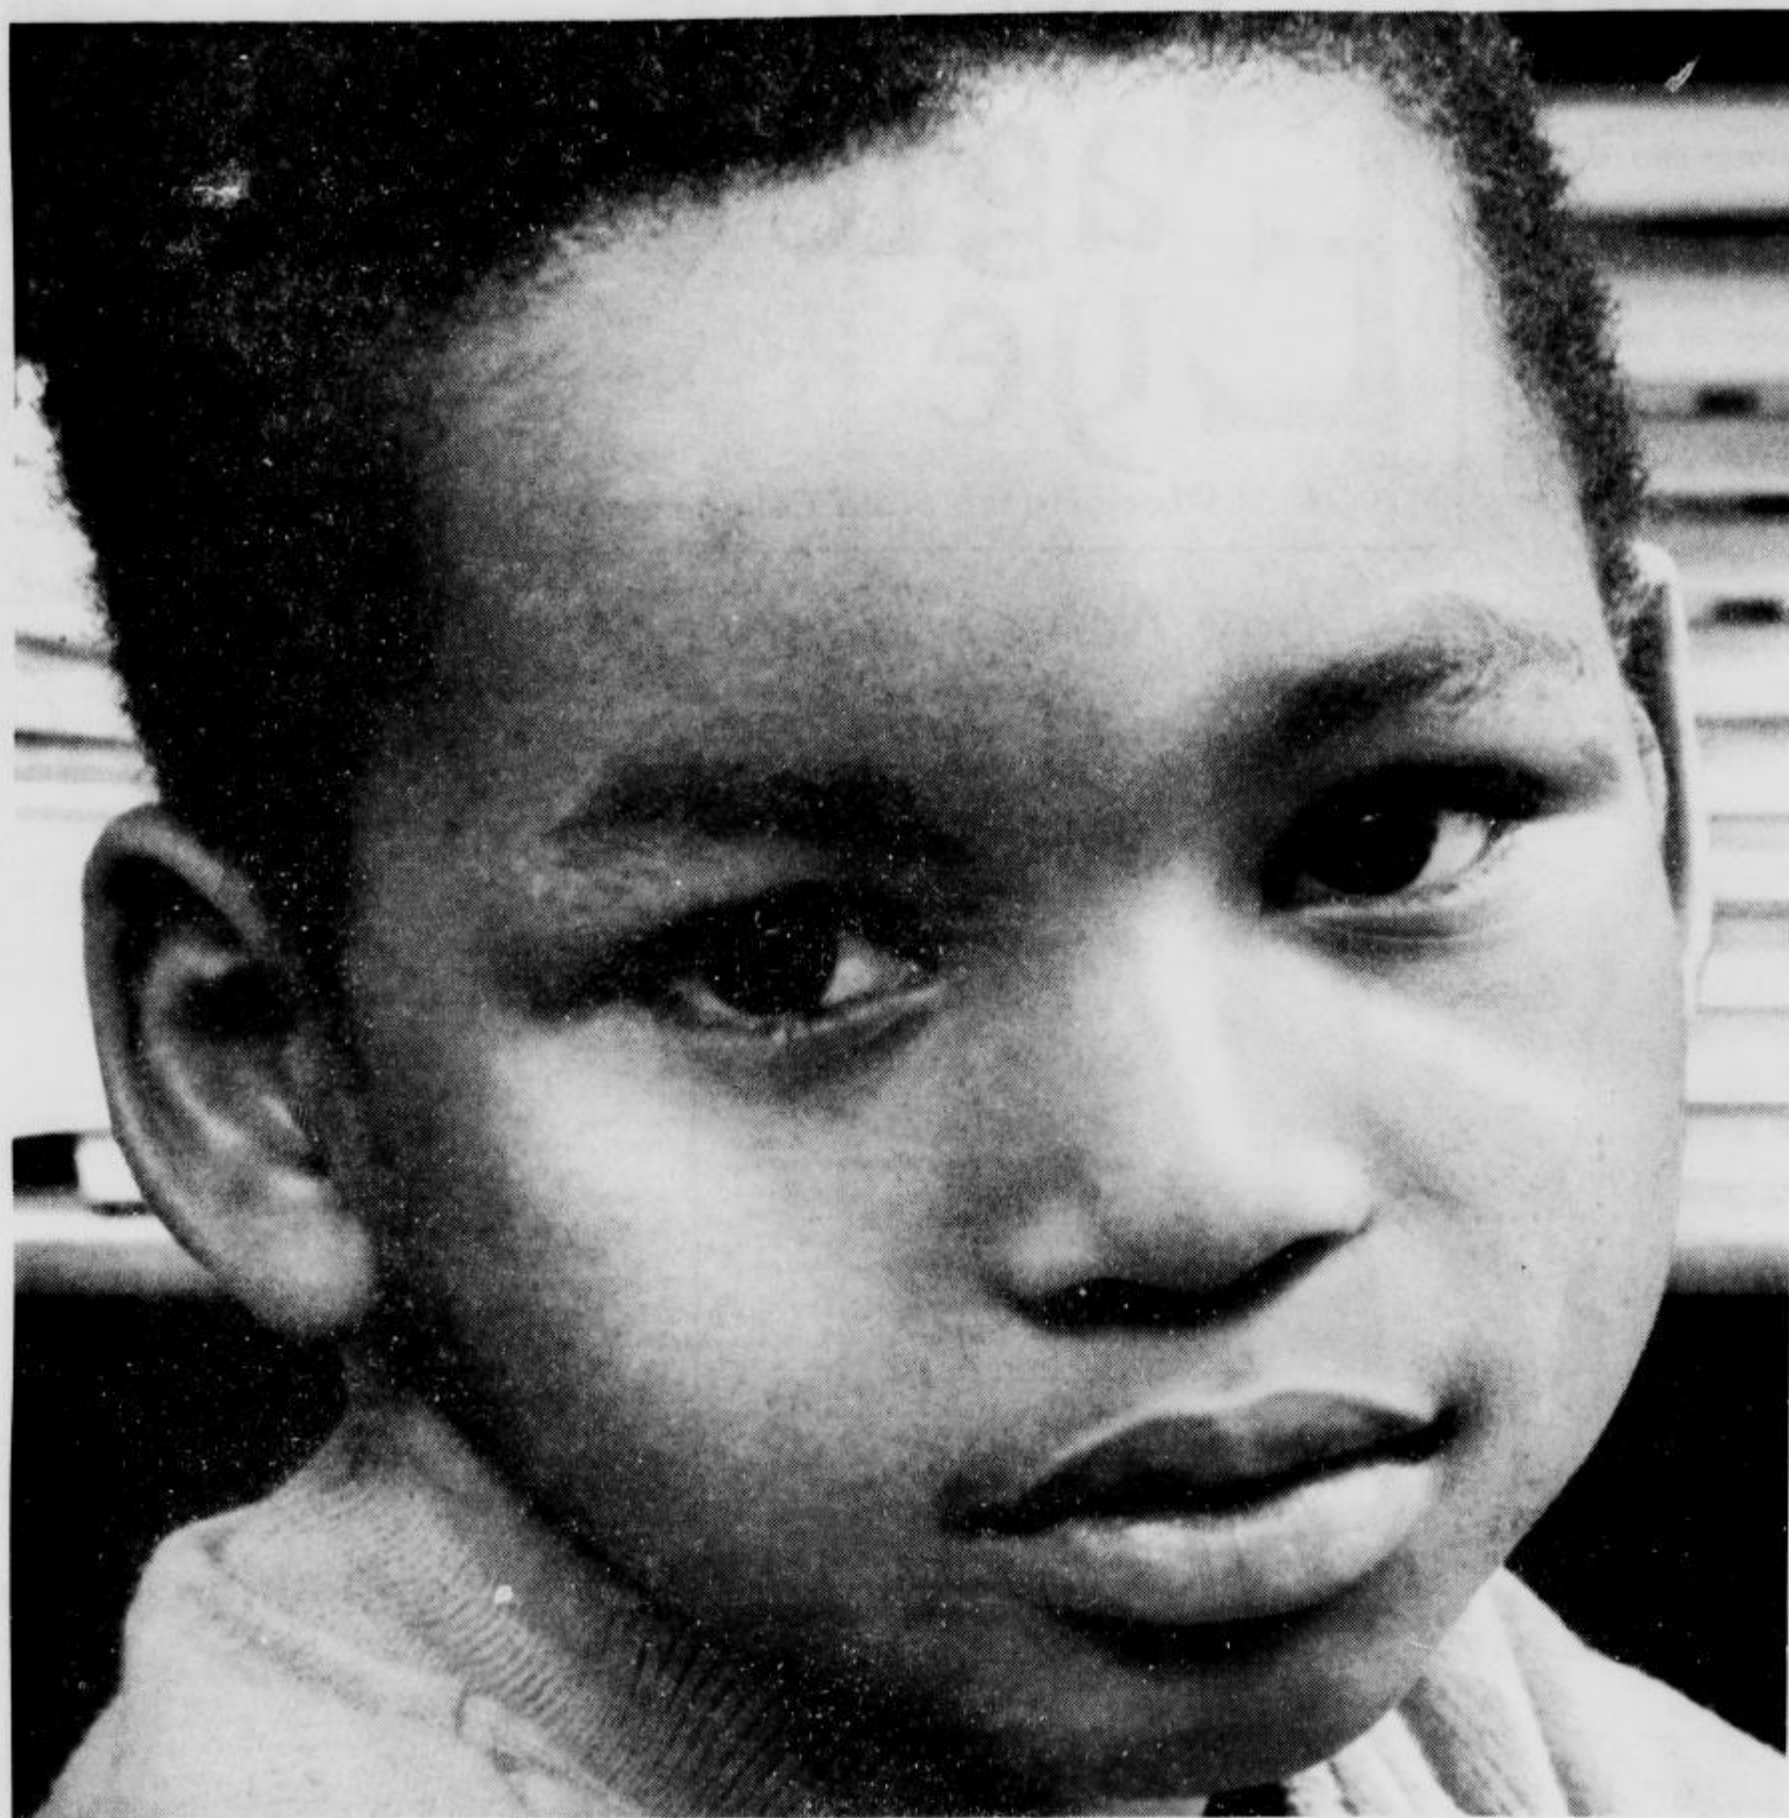

Entries may be submitted in two classifications: (1) Individual and (2) Publication. INDIVIDUAL CATEGORIES

Pictures talk. Some little boys don't.

Some inner-city ghettos have special schools. For little boys who don't talk.

Not mute little boys. But children so withdrawn, so afraid of failure, they cannot make the slightest attempt to do anything at which they might fail.

Some don't talk. Some don't listen. Most don't behave. And all of them don't learn.

One day someone asked us to help.

Through Kodak, cameras and film were distributed to teachers. The teachers gave the cameras to the kids and told them to take pictures.

And then the miracle. Little boys who had never said anything, looked at the pictures and began to talk. They said "This is my house." "This is my dog." "This is where I like to hide." They began to explain, to describe, to communicate. And once the channels of communication had been opened, they began to learn.

We're helping the children of the inner-city. And we're also helping the adults. We're involved in inner-city job programs. To train unskilled people in useful jobs.

What does Kodak stand to gain from this? Well, we're showing how our products can help a teacher—and maybe creating a whole new market. And we're also cultivating young customers who will someday buy their own cameras and film. But more than that, we're cultivating alert, educated citizens. Who will someday be responsible for our society.

After all, our business depends on our society. So we care what happens to it.

Kodak
More than a business.
