Larson conducting career planning seminar

By WENDY AKELEY
Staff Reporter

A series of Career Planning and Placement Skills Seminars is being offered during the Spring semester each Thursday from one to two p.m. in Raub Hall Lounge, conducted by Herbert Larson, Jr., Director of Placement.

The first of the Skills Seminars was held last Thursday, February 5. College Placement Annuals for 1976, free to all arts and science seniors, were passed out. They include alphabetical, geographical, and occupational listings of advertising employers; letter and resume writing tips; and pointers on how to conduct oneself at an interview.

Along with discussion of the College Placement Annual and the "So You're Looking for a Job?" booklet, dealing basically with interview technique, a record was played that detailed steps in the job search.

First a student must establish the goal of how many job offers he would like to receive and set a definite date for his/her decision between them. The student should then begin writing letters of investigation that will hopefully lead to a positive "initial contact" and a dialogue with an interested company. After this the applicant should follow an "initial interview," and if he/she has made the proper impression and is likely to get the job, a "follow-up interview" will be given where the prospective employee will spend the better part of a day at the firm's site.

Mr. Larson sees this series of seminars which is similar to the series last semester, as valuable to all seniors because, "No matter what kind of career you're thinking of, you're going to be selling yourself all the time." He realizes that students need help in finding careers for themselves, and pointed out

Zimmerli pool opens to Keystone Central students

By WENDY AKELEY
Staff Reporter

Junior and senior high school students from Keystone Central now have the chance to use Zimmerli facilities from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon on Saturdays, supervised by high school and college faculty and students majoring in recreation.

Dr. Matthew Maetozo, head of the committee for the College-Community Recreation Program, which includes Donald Keener and William Burdett, explained that because the four-week program last semester worked well, this semester it was expanded to five weeks.

It offers badminton, volleyball, swimming, and gymnastics as available activities. The high school students can move from one activity to another and receive instruction if they request it. The response so far has been very good with 129 students participating in the first session on January 31.

The program's "ultimate purpose," as Dr. Maetozo put it, is "The beginnings of a college, community, and public school education program." It is meant as a supplement to the local physical education facilities offering good supplies, equipment, and personnel.

It is hoped by those con-

Symposium ends in self-defense lesson

By FRED SCHULTZ
News Editor

Last Tuesday evening's session of the Rape Symposium held in Ulmer planetarium turned out to be one of great interest. A demonstration of self-defense techniques, a talk on how the Pennsylvania State Police handle rapes by trooper Daniel C. Wilt, and a film entitled "How to Say No to a Rapist ... and Survive" highlighted the evening.

Starting off with the self-defense portion of the session were Barbara Beck-Ramsay and Mark Silvestri. Beck-Ramsay stated, "The reason that every female should know something about self-defense is simple. The only weapon against attackers that a female is allowed to have is a hat pin. I've never seen any parents teaching males to fight with a hat pin."

"The most useful and easy weapon available to the victim is a set of house keys or car keys. These are very effective in slashing the face and punching eyes out," added Beck-Ramsay. As the demonstration went on, the two showed various simulated situations in which self-defense techniques could be used.

Beck-Ramsay emphasized, "Self-defense can be used in all situations. It becomes harder when the attacker is armed. A club is easier to stop than a knife." She went on to show the moves that can be made against these weapons. She then stated, "The only thing you can't fight is a gun. Anyone with a gun cannot be stopped."

Beck-Ramsay seemed to be against trying to get the attention of other people by yelling and screaming try to scream and nothing comes out of their mouths. Also, screaming usually makes the attacker

Activities Fair awards Explorers first place

By BONNIE CORSIC
Staff Reporter

Capturing the first place prize of $25 at last Thursday's Activities Fair was Explorers Post 555. The International Club received $15 for their second place entry. The Alpha Sigma Tau Sorority came in third place and received $10. The Zeta Tau Alpha and Tri-Sigma Sororities both received honorable mention.

"Community organizations are not eligible to win because the prize money comes from student organizations," stated Ed Dennis, Activities Fair coordinator. "We invited the community so the students could see what the town offers," continued Dennis.

Displays were judged on how well the club informed the students of their activities and on how the materials were arranged.

Explorers Post 555 was showing narrated slides from the Pa. Fish Commission dealing with projects that club members will be working on.

Also featured at the booth were mounted trout, including lake trout and rainbow trout. Models of stream improvement projects were made and placed on display. To show some social activities club members participate in, photographs from the camping trip they took at Raymond B. Winters State Park were on exhibit.

Rounding out the display were pamphlets on wildlife, copies of Exploring magazine, and membership applications.

One of the more unusual items at the Activities Fair, elephant hair, was on display at the International Club booth. One of the students at the booth was wearing clothing from Arabia. Money from Malaysia, postcards from around the world, a miniature flag from Nicaragua, and various articles from Cameroon, Tanzania, and Malaysia were arranged on the table. Hanging in back of the booth were brightly colored shirts from Cameroon and a Yukata from Japan.

From the community, McDonald's, the Lock Haven Express, the Dept. of Public Welfare, Lock Haven Hospital, and Lock Haven Jaycees participated in the Activities Fair.

"I would personally like to thank all the people from the community who participated. I'm sure everyone benefitted from their involvement," Dennis added.

Orange drink and McDonaldland cookies were given away by McDonalds at their booth. A map of McDonaldland and various posters ad-

Haverlin music collection displayed

From 1947 through 1963 Carl Haverlin served as president of Broadcast Music, Inc. (BMI). In 1949 the first purchase was made toward what is now known as The Carl Haverlin Collection/BMI Archives, a culmination of 6,000 items relevant to the musical heritage of America. The collection preserves mementos, letters, and manuscripts from the days of George Washington to today's Neil Sedaka.

This month, portions of the Haverlin Collection comes to the John Sloan Fine Arts Center. The exhibit, presently in the Sloan Gallery with the Krissi Strump show, will appear for two weeks; both weeks offering different items. Additional items appear in the Stevenson Library.

Among the items to be on display in Lock Haven are presidential letters-origins from James Madison, Ulysses S. Grant, Roosevelt, Wilson, FDR, Truman, Eisenhower, and JFK. Famous American documents from Alexander G. Bell, Thomas Edison, William Penn, and Ralph Waldo Emerson will also be shown, along with original manuscripts of "Yankee Doodle", "Columbia the Gem of the Ocean", "The Star Spangled Banner" and many, many other pieces from 1776-1976.

The LHSC Symphonic Band has a number of musical activities on their schedule this semester and one of them takes place this week.

Thursday's Winter Band Concert features the Aaron Copeland composition, "Lincoln Portrait", readings of some of Lincoln's speeches by Dr. Robert Kidder, and a selection of numbers from the musical "Caberet".

On tap for later this semester is a Percussion and Brass Ensemble Concert in April and a Presidents Concert in May.

vertising McDonalds made up the rest of the display.

Various stages of the printing of a newspaper, from Scanner Copy to Press plate, were presented by the Lock Haven Express. Mr. Wright, Circulation Manager, was there to answer any questions. Thursday's copy of the Express was there for the taking.

The display by the Alpha Sigma Tau Sorority depicted a "Garden of Roses." Paddles, awards the sorority has received, and stuffed mice were also included in the presentation.

Twenty-eight organizations participated in the Activities Fair. Receiving, the Aquafins, the RHA, and the Varsity Club were some of the other organizations which had displays.

Haven netmen score first win over 'Rock' in 5 years

By MIKE CROSBY
Staff Reporter

Before a near capacity crowd Saturday night at Thomas Fieldhouse the Lock Haven cagers held off a late Slippery Rock surge to win their first game over Slippery Rock in five years.

Lock Haven came out and built up a quick eight point bulge 14-6 with 13:49 remaining in the half. At this time Co-captain Mike Bergeron entered the game to see his first action since December 8, when he was sidelined by a knee injury.

The Rock started coming back and tied the score at 16-16 with 10:30 left in the half. From that point on neither team could get any kind of a rally started, and with 4:50 to go Slippery Rock took a 25-24 lead.

Both teams exchanged the lead several times in the resuming minutes, but with only :03 to go until halftime

Tom Huff hit a 15 foot jump shot to give the Haven a 38-37 halftime lead.

The second half started out slow; Slippery Rock tying the score at 43-43 with 15:35 remaining to be played.

On consecutive baskets by Bill Vassallo, Dave Hendershot, and Mike Bergeron the Haven took a commanding six point lead. With only 11:31 to go the Haven had built a 55-45 lead on two quick buckets by Hendershot.

The Haven kept building its lead and with only 7:35 showing on the clock, Lock Haven had a 63-50 lead - the

Eaglette B-ball team defeats Millersville

By MARY FEUSNER

The visiting Millersville Marauderettes met defeat at the hands of the Lock Haven Eaglettes, on Friday afternoon. Carol Eckman's squads managed to hand 96-47 and 100-48 losses to them.

Deb Schlegel's scoring punch midway through the half was all the Haven varsity needed, to be well on their way to their third win of the season. The Eaglettes jumped to an 8-2 lead within 3 minutes. Fast break was the name of the game as Millersville was unable to contain the Lock Haven offense.

Mary "Skeeter" Fleig and Deb Schlegel shared first half scoring honors with 8 and 11 points respectively. At the half, the Haven had collected 41 points compared to Millersville's 23.

Within 2 minutes of the second half, the Eaglettes score was double that of Millersville's, 46-23. With 10:15 left to be played, the score had mounted to 71-31.

Millersville players got in foul trouble and as three players were forced to leave the floor.

The contest ended with the scoreboard showing 96 home 47 visitors. The score was proof of an all out effort, offensively and defensively, by the Eaglettes.

The Eaglettes who hit double figures included Deb Schlegel with 21, Barb Hudson with 17, Mary Fleig with 12, and Patti Cunningham who had 11. 11 of Hudson's and all of Cunningham's points came in the second half.

The Marauderette's Deb

Hudson who had many fine outside shots ended the day's work with 23 points. Teammate Looker tallied 15 points.

The junior varsity Eaglettes, paced by freshman forward Maureen Brady, came off the court with a decisive 100-48 win.

From the opening jump, Brady drove to the hoop for 2, while drawing the initial foul of the game. She converted the foul shot and from that point on the Eaglettes never fell behind.

With 13:30 to go the Eaglettes were leading 14-2. Rebounds were pulled down by Sandy Kotecki and Maureen Brady at both ends of the court.

When the buzzer sounded for the half, Lock Haven had nothing to worry about. They were carrying a 52-19 lead.

Second half play saw the Haven pacing the game, not employing the fast break as they did in the first half. Scoring was scattered among the players. Guard Denise Gobrecht was credited with six assists.

Guard Terry Flannery put the ball through the hoop for the 100th point, with only 30

Bald Eagles 'Dunn' in by Pittsburgh wrestlers

By BILL STERNER
Staff Reporter

Referee Don Dunn awarded a controversial default to Pittsburgh heavyweight Milt Schuler, capping a 14 point comeback and enabling the nationally ranked Panthers to slip by Lock Haven State 23-21 on Saturday at the Fitzgerald Fieldhouse.

"We were shocked by the call," stated a dejected Dr. Ken Cox from his home yesterday. "Schuler wanted to wrestle, but the attending physician and the coach (Dave Adams) said no." The call came in the second period of the bout, with Bald Eagle big boy Jim Schuster leading 5-1. Schuster drove in on the Pitt wrestler at the edge of the mat, and came up standing, holding an ankle. At that point Schuler fell to his back, contorting his face in evident pain. Referee Dunn stopped the match, and, much to the surprise of the small crowd ruled that Schuster had "slammed" the Panther to the floor. "It is a judgement call. The official had the last say there. But I know that Jim didn't try to hurt anybody," stated Cox. After a long conference on the mat, the default, and the match was awarded to Pittsburgh.

Lock Haven was in control the entire afternoon. The Eagles jumped out to a quick 8-0 lead after the first two matches. Carl Lutz wrestled a superb match at 118 pounds against Pitt All-American Kevin Nellis. Lutz jumped out to a 2-1 lead, but Nellis knotted the match in the second stanza by escaping. With Nellis controlling in the last period, Lutz escaped to lead 3-2. The Bald Eagle lightweight then countered Nellis to hang on for a 4-2 win.

In the 126 pound match, Tommy Parker upped his record to 10-3 by defeating Craig Phillips of Pitt, 14-2.

The two demonstrators pointed out that there are two very vulnerable places to immobilize an attacker. These two are the nose and the groin area. "Don't try to hit the attacker in the chin. Just drive the heel of your hand right up through the nose. Also, you'll either have at least one hand loose or one foot. Grab and twist with the hand to the groin or just kick. Kick hard!" Beck-Ramsey said.

The object of the demonstration was to let people become aware of the different techniques used by women now. The main point brought out was, "Make the move, and get out of there."

Trooper Daniel C. Wilt of the Pennsylvania State Police spoke on the duties of the police in rape cases following the demonstration. He stated that last year, five rapes were reported in Clinton County. Of those five, one was thrown out of court for lack of evidence and the other four saw convictions. He also said that national statistics show that less than 33% of all rapes are reported.

Parker simply outclassed the hapless Phillips (0-10) for a five point superior decision. That gave Lock Haven an 8 point bulge.

Pitt broke the ice at 134 pounds when Rande Stottlemyer (12-1-1) defeated the Bald Eagles' Tim McCamley (13-3) by the score of 8-2.

The Panthers were their counting on Bob Bailey at 142 to put them back in the match. Bailey, a 13 match winner for Pitt tied up with Lock Haven's Mike Moore in what proved to be the wildest match of the afternoon. Ahead 5-4 in the third period, the aggressive Moore matched Bailey point for point to come away with an 11-9 victory. That win notched the Eagles to an 11-3 lead.

The Rock started forcing many mistakes and with 2:36 left, they pulled within four at 69-65. The Haven came down and scored a basket, but the Rock scored five straight unanswered points and with :25 to go the score was 71-69 in favor of Lock Haven.

At this point the Haven missed several clutch free throws and with :10 left Slippery Rock called time out to set up for one last shot.

Slippery Rock set up their play and threw the ball inbounds, but to everyone's surprise Bill Vassallo came out of a pack of players with the ball, and drove in for a layup only to be fouled. The foul was never called.

The Haven picked up the loose ball and with :03 to go Joe Sain hit a pair of free throws to give the Haven a 73-69 victory over the Rock.

The 150 pound match marked the start of the night-mare in the ancient ruins of Fitzgerald Fieldhouse. The Bald Eagle's Greg Hackenburg was seriously injured in the second period of his match with Bill Korth. The Eagle ace suffered a severely dislocated left elbow, which could shut the door on further action for him this year. "The injury to Hack is a grave loss to us," related Cox. "It is very doubtful that he will be back. He may have an outside shot at the Eastern finals but we'll just have to wait."

Lock Haven's lead was cut to 11-9. However, the injury seemed to incense the Eagle matmen. George Way convincingly hammered Pitt's Jim Gordon at 158 pounds by the score of 12-3, and Al Fricke continued his assault on the Eastern wrestlers by pinning Ray Dallatore in the first period.

Leading scorers for Lock Haven included Maureen Brady 22, Peg Wild, Terry Flannery, Deb Stopper, and Denise Gobrecht with 12 points each, and Lois Kapp with 10. Kennedy of Millersville had 14.

This Tuesday the Eaglettes take to the road for contests with Ursinus. Game time is scheduled for 3:15.
