SCC discusses Rogers Gym referendum

by Masahiro Ueda
Eagle Eye News Editor

Anyone who works out at Rogers Gymnasium realizes that the building needs some sort of renovation. No wonder. After all, it is the oldest and also one of the most used buildings on campus.

At its Thursday night meeting, the Student Cooperative Council (SCC) discussed the possibility of a future student referendum to ask students whether they feel the renovation of the gymnasium is necessary and, if so, to what extent students should cover the price.

The discussion began when a bill named the "Rogers Gymnasium Ballot Question Proposal Act" was introduced by Senator Lori Packer.

University President Craig Dean Willis, who was present at the meeting said, "It's a good idea to have a referendum on this matter because this will test the will of the students."

If renovation is to be done on the gymnasium, it would cost approximately $2.5 million, according to a feasibility report presented by Vice President for Student Affairs Dr. Linda Koch.

If the renovation plan is to be done, it would be financed through a 20 year bond, but whether the students have to pay the fee through an increased student activity fee is still undecided.

"It might be a better idea to run a student survey to see what the students need," Willis said.

According to Willis, a big renovation on a campus building used to be initiated by the state. Beginning in the early 1980s, however, "the Commonwealth began to get out of the school building," and the decision was instead made by the student body as to whether a campus building needs renovation.

John Pellock, Parsons Union Building (PUB) administrator asked whether a historical building such as Rogers gymnasium can be qualified as a registered historical building and be entitled to some kind of state subsidies.

"We wish, but the building is not registered as such," said Willis. But if the state is to give a subsidy, money will not be given, but rather, a restriction, Willis said.

The SCC voted to discuss this issue in the future. "This is the project for the students who will be here in 2020," Koch said.

Wonder who caught this?

CLASS gives students an outlet

by April Miller
Eagle Eye Editor in Chief

"Many students of Lock Haven University and numerous other schools are faced with the rising cost of education," said Jaime Pirano, SCC Corresponding Secretary, in a letter to all student leaders. "Most legislators now feel that decreasing funding and cutting taxes are pivotal. Should it be education that receives the blunt end of these measures?"

Students who are concerned with the rising costs of education at state universities now have an outlet in the form of an organization named CLASS (Committee of Legislative Affairs for State System Schools).

"The BSGP [Board of Student Government Presidents] of the SSHE [State System of Higher Education] schools have a goal to make students more politically aware," Pirano said. "They want the students to tell the legislators they can't keep decreasing our funding."

CLASS is a lobbying group that will deal with the legislative affairs of the state universities, Pirano said.

Pirano hopes to get students from the SCC clubs and organizations involved. Every student is eligible to join, he said.

"Don't stop Investing in the Future" is the message CLASS would like to send to the public, according to a letter written by Jeremy Haugh, BSGP Chair. "We feel that this message gives people the idea [of] how important the State System is to Pennsylvania and how important it is to continue investing in the education of Pennsylvania's students."

The first goal of CLASS at the University is to get 35 percent of the campus registered to vote. On Feb. 27 and 28 the SCC set up tables in Bentley to get students to register to vote. As a result of the voter drive, roughly 25 to 50 students were registered to vote, according to Pirano.

State Legislator's Day has also been organized to give students a chance to voice their concerns to legislators. Students will be given this chance today at 8:30 a.m. in the PUB Meeting Room 2. Two of the legislators who will be present are Mike Hanna, state representative for the 76 district, and Doyle Corman, state representative for the 34 district, according to Douglas Bicket, SCC vice president.

"We were the first [university in the State System] to start Legislator's Day," said Jason Cristofaro, SCC president. "In that aspect, we are ahead of the other SHEE schools."

State System Rally Day will be held in April. This day will allow the 14 SSHE schools to go to Harrisburg to show legislators that students care about the rising cost of education, Pirano said.

Students will be allowed to visit legislators and voice their concerns. They will also be asked to follow this up by writing a letter to their legislator, he said.

"It will benefit students to get involved," Pirano said. "It will determine their educational future. Student don't have a big voice like big business or older people. But if we get together we can influence the legislators."

Job Fair '95 to be held soon

Job Fair '95, a program for college freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors, will be held Tuesday, March 28, from 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. in the ballroom of the Kehr Union Building at Bloomsburg University.

The program is sponsored by the Northeast Pennsylvania College Consortium (NEPCC), which consists of 12 Pennsylvania colleges and universities.

The NEPCC features four State System of Higher Education universities, including Bloomsburg, East Stroudsburg, Lock Haven and Mansfield universities.

The fair provides an opportunity to all levels of undergraduate students.

Seniors looking for an entry-level position upon their graduation, juniors who plan for a co-op or internship to strengthen their related experiences and build on their resume, sophomores interested in developing a network in their chosen field through an internship, co-op or summer position, and freshmen interested in gaining experience through a quality position are all welcome to attend.

Employers look to job fairs as a cost-effective way to meet their entry-level position hiring needs.

In addition, employers are looking for quality students to fill internship, co-op, and summer positions.

In the competitive job market of today, students can use this opportunity to meet with a number of employers at this fair.

As of early March, over 65 employers were scheduled to attend.

Since the fair is only open to students and alumni of the 12 participating schools, an admission ticket is required.

A student must stop by the Career Services office to register for the event.

Here a student can also work with the staff to develop an appropriate resume, discuss appropriate dress and discuss fair expectations.

If transportation is a problem for a student, notify Career Services to see if a solution can be found.

The outcome of this fair will determine if the event will be held again in the future, according to Joan Welker, director of Career Services.

Driving courses to be offered

If you are interested in gaining Pennsylvania Teaching Certification in Safety/Driver Education, the University is offering a convenient summer 12-credit program which will help you reach your goal.

The program will be directed by Lew Magent, associate professor of special education and coordinator of the Safety/Driver Education program at the University. The following courses will be offered:

June 26-July 12

DRIV 416, Introduction to the Driving Task, 9 a.m.-noon

DRIV 417, Driver Education: Curriculum and Methodology, 1 p.m.-4 p.m.

July 13-28

DRIV 418, General Safety Education, 9 a.m.-noon

DRIV 429, Psychology of Accident Prevention, 1 p.m.-4 p.m.

Certification could provide new opportunities for people serving as recreation directors, for job advancement opportunities in private industry as a safety administrator or for a person interested in a new private enterprise such as starting a driving school.

Registration for the program continues through May 1. Course offerings are contingent upon class enrollment. For enrollment information, contact Magent at the University at 893-2338.

Police Beat

Theft -- March 9: Five hundred and twenty-six dollars worth of sporting equipment was stolen from a locker in the Zimmerli Gymnasium locker room.

Hit-And-Run -- March 6: Damage caused by a hit-and-run was noticed by the owner of a vehicle parked in the Zimmerli Gymnasium-staff parking lot. The damage, of which an estimate of the amount has not yet been received by Law Enforcement, was to the driver's side of the vehicle.

Minor Drinking -- March 3: A resident assistant (RA) called the Law Enforcement office at 3:45 a.m. after finding an unconscious female in the hallway in one of the residence halls. Law enforcement officers responded, the individual was taken to Lock Haven Hospital and was later cited for minor drinking.

Alcohol Incident -- March 2: Law Enforcement officers were called to one of the residence halls at 10:35 p.m. regarding possible marijuana use. Upon investigation, the officers saw alcohol in plain view in the room. All persons in the room were over 21 years of age and were referred to Student Life. The alcohol was confiscated, and no marijuana was found.

Alcohol Incident -- March 2: The Law Enforcement office received a call from the emergency room at Lock Haven Hospital at 2:31 a.m. concerning an intoxicated student. The student, who had turned 21 at midnight, had apparently drank 21 shots of alcohol in approximately one hour and 20 minutes. The student will be referred to Student Life.

PICK THE MUSIC YOU WANT TO HEAR! ENTER TO WIN A STEREO SYSTEM

Enter and be eligible to win a portable AM/FM stereo with CD and cassette. Bentley Dining Hall is sponsoring a contest to allow the student customers of the Upper Deck to select the radio stations to be played over the Upper Deck's renovated sound system.

On the form below (sorry, no copies will be accepted), list the top three stations you would like to hear during the meal hours. All entries will be entered in the grand prize drawing for the portable stereo. Entry forms can be submitted in the comment card box at the Upper Deck checkers station in the dining hall and will be accepted through Tuesday, March 21, 1995.

The three most requested stations will be put on a six-day cycle alternating with the video jukebox each day. This contest is the answer to all of those persons who submitted comment cards to food service concerning the music choices that have been played since the system became operable. Those who have concerns about what is played in the Upper Deck should be sure to enter. The last time we ran the contest only two entries were received. Should a few people make the decision for the rest of the dining customers? Do your part and submit your entry today!

Sexual Harrassment Policy up for review

To the Editor,

Below is a copy of the Gender Discrimination/Sexual Harrassment Policies and Procedures for Lock Haven University. When approved, these policies will replace the policy now in force.

I would like to request that these policies and procedures be published in the Eagle Eye so that all students have the opportunity to review them. Any comments should be given in writing to Dr. Karen Harvey, associate professor of history, Dr. Karen Elias, assistant professor of English, or to me by March 31, 1995.

Sincerely,

Craig Dean Willis
President, Lock Haven University

GENDER DISCRIMINATION/SEXUAL HARASSMENT POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

GENDER DISCRIMINATION/SEXUAL HARASSMENT POLICY STATEMENT

Lock Haven University is committed to providing a learning and working environment that enhances the dignity and worth of every member of its community. To this end, the community must be free from discriminatory conduct of any kind. Thus, because such conduct subverts the well-being of the college environment, abuse, discrimination or harassment of any individual will not be tolerated.

Gender discrimination/sexual harassment in any form is not only contrary to University policy but also morally reprehensible because it undermines the dignity of community members and often represents an unfair exploitation of power.

As a university, we take seriously our responsibility to educate all members of the community about the nature of gender discrimination/sexual harassment, its effects on both individual and communal well-being, and the steps necessary to combat it. Lock Haven University is committed to equality of opportunity and freedom from discrimination for all of its students, faculty and staff.

Gender discrimination/sexual harassment and all forms of sexual intimidation and exploitation are of concern to the University. Governed by Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 which prohibits sex discrimination in education, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 which prohibits sex discrimination in employment, and the Pennsylvania Human Relations Act of 1955 (and their amendments), the University seeks to prevent and correct such actions. Gender discrimination/sexual harassment is unacceptable conduct and will not be tolerated in any context at Lock Haven University, whether it be in a faculty/student, faculty/faculty, supervisor/employee, student/student, worker/co-worker, or other relationship regardless of the formal status of the persons involved. Individuals who engage in such behavior are subject to appropriate corrective action which, when warranted, may include termination of their relationship with the University. In addition, such persons may be held personally liable to the target of such behavior and be subject to sanctions independent of those imposed by the University.

Under Title IX, an individual is the victim of gender discrimination if he/she is, on the basis of sex, excluded from participation in, denied the benefits of, or subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity operated by the University. In addition, under Title VII an employer commits gender discrimination if it (a) fails or refuses to hire, discharges, or otherwise discriminates against any individual with respect to his/her compensation, terms, conditions or privileges of employment, because of such individual's sex, or (b) limits, segregates or classifies its employees or applicants for employment in any way which would deprive or tend to deprive any individual of employment opportunities or otherwise adversely affect his/her status as an employee, because of such individual's sex.

Sexual harassment, which is a form of gender discrimination, occurs in a variety of situations which share a common element: the inappropriate introduction of sexual activities or sexual comments into the work or learning situation. Though not limited to the following circumstances, often sexual harassment involves relationships of unequal power and contains elements of coercion, for example suggestions that academic or employment reprisals or rewards will follow the refusal or granting of sexual favors. For purposes of this Policy, sexual harassment is defined as unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature occurring when:

1. Submission to such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly a term or condition of an individual's employment, or of a student's academic status or treatment;
2. Submission to or rejection of such conduct by an individual is used as the basis for academic or employment decisions affecting such individual; or

3. Such conduct has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's work or academic performance or creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive working or academic environment to a reasonable person.

Types of behavior which may constitute sexual harassment include, but are not limited to

- *Sexist, sexually suggestive or intimidating remarks or behavior;
- *Inappropriate and offensive uninvited sexual advances;
- *Solicitation of sexual activity or other sex-linked behavior by promise of reward;
- *Coercion of sexual activity by threat of punishment;
- *Sexual assault.

SUPERVISORY CAUTIONS

Faculty and supervisors should be aware that amorous or sexual relationships with students or subordinate employees are strongly discouraged at Lock Haven University. Due to the inherently unequal nature of a relationship in which one party supervises, advises or evaluates the other, the apparent consensual status of an amorous relationship between such parties is suspect even when both parties have given voluntary consent. In such a situation, it is the ethical and professional responsibility of the person in the position of power to relinquish decisions regarding the subordinate and to remove him/herself from the supervisory role. In sum, such relationships have the potential for adverse consequences, including the filing of charges of sexual harassment, and thus any person in a supervisory capacity enters at peril into amorous or sexual relations with a subordinate.

PROCEDURES FOR RESPONDING TO GENDER DISCRIMINATION/SEXUAL HARASSMENT

All parties involved must clearly understand that gender discrimination/sexual harassment is not only a violation of University Policy, it is a violation of state and federal law. As a result, the complainant may proceed in one of three ways: (1) through the University procedure (described below), (2) through the legal system (state and federal agencies and/or the criminal justice system), or (3) through a combination of both. The complainant should inform the University if s/he intends to proceed through the legal system. Following the University procedure does not preclude pursuing the complaint through the legal system.

The University policy seeks to encourage students and employees to express freely, responsibly, and in an orderly fashion their opinions and feelings about any problem or complaint of gender discrimination/sexual harassment. Deliberate or malicious false accusations of gender discrimination/sexual harassment will not be tolerated. However, any act by a student or University employee of reprisal, interference, restraint, penalty, discrimination, coercion, or harassment--overtly or covertly--against a student or employee for responsibly using this Policy and its Procedures may itself be a violation of the Policy subjecting the perpetrator to disciplinary action under this Policy if appropriate.

PROCEDURES FOR RESPONDING TO GENDER DISCRIMINATION/SEXUAL HARASSMENT:

The University endorses a strong, widely disseminated and consistently enforced policy against gender discrimination/sexual harassment. As such, each University dean, director, department chairperson, search committee chairperson, administrator and supervisor is responsible within his/her area of jurisdiction for making appropriate referrals of complaints to the individuals identified in this policy. The University will annually publicize this policy in the Student Handbook; forward copies of it to all department chairpersons, deans, managers, and labor union leaders; and make announcements of any new procedure(s) in the campus newspaper and other means of existing communication.

THE UNIVERSITY PROCEDURE

Volunteers from the faculty and staff (representing bargaining units, including AFSCME and APSCUF) and student body will be recommended by their respective constituencies and appointed by the President or his/her designee to constitute:

- a seven-member Gender Discrimination/Sexual Harassment Board of Advisors
- a five-member Panel on Gender Discrimination/Sexual Harassment (in addition, the Panel will have a non-voting Chair as detailed below)

New members appointed to either group will undergo a mandatory training program, including sensitivity to issues of confidentiality as well as listening and communication skills, before assuming their responsibilities. Names of members of both groups will be publicized widely by the University. Members of both groups shall be recused from acting in a given matter when appropriate for conflict-of-interest or prejudice.

A. Gender Discrimination/Sexual Harassment Board of Advisors

Membership on the Board of Advisors should include faculty, staff, and students, and should represent bargaining units including AFSCME and APSCUF. The terms of membership will be as follows: three members of the Board will accept an initial three-year term; the remaining four members will accept a two-year term; thereafter, the term of membership will be two years. The tasks of the Board will be as follows:

1. to implement a program to educate the campus about sexual
2. to ensure that the institution's policy and procedures are widely publicized;
3. to offer informal consultation and information to employees or students of the University who believe they have been sexually harassed or discriminated against because of their gender;
4. to outline procedures that might be employed against an alleged harasser or alleged discriminator if the employee or student does not wish to institute a formal complaint.

The second half of the Sexual Harrassment policies and procedures will be published in next week's Eagle Eye.

Master Schedule mix-ups

Due to misinformation many students went to the Bookstore this past week expecting to find the Master Schedule there. These students left very disappointed and the matter was brought to my attention several times during the course of the week. Since the beginning of the semester Dr. James Smalley, associate dean of academic administration, and the Eagle Eye planned to have the schedule in the Bookstore by the beginning of next week. The Master Schedule will be in the Bookstore on Tuesday, March 21 and that is information you can count on!

Folk sound of the '90s hits the PUB

The musical talents of "new folk" guitar player Karen Goldberg will be coming to the University's Parsons Union Building (PUB) Multi-Purpose Room on Thursday, March 23 at 8 p.m.

Goldberg's gifted guitar playing and her sultry voice, along with her own unique compositions, create a blend of '70s acoustics and '80s electronics which is the forefront of the "new folk" sound of the '90s. She is a nationally known recording artist with Corbett Records and released her fifth album "Secrecy" in May of 1994 to rave reviews. Her previous albums, "Slipping Thru the Cracks," "High Contrast," "The Lion in Me," and a live recording "Solo," also received the same grand reviews.

An experienced performer Goldberg has appeared with such artists as 10,000 Maniacs, Leo Kottke, The Dregs, as well as appearing at numerous performances all over the United States and Europe. Goldberg, who is also an avid animal rights activist, has recently returned from her fourth European tour.

Goldberg, who grew up in Pikesville, Maryland, described her singing style to writer Don Stevens as being "smooth and kind of silky." Her primary interest did not lie with music, however, sports was Goldberg's thing. "I was captain of basketball and volleyball teams," Goldberg said. "I went to Towson State and got my degree in physical education."

Goldberg's musical career began during her third year of college when she was asked one night by another guitarist to play a song or two. The owner of the club liked what he heard and offered her a job. "It got me a lot of attention," Goldberg said.

"New folk" singer Karen Goldberg will be displaying her musical talents in the PUB Multi-Purpose Room on Thursday, March 23.

"And someone paid me for playing my guitar. I couldn't believe that!"

After playing in local bars and pleasing her audiences, she began to compose her own music at the urging of fans. "That (writing music) was my therapy," Goldberg said. "I looked inside and wrote mostly about relationships."

In 1981 Goldberg released her first album titled "The Lion in Me." While the album did well, the record companies in New York felt she should be "more rock oriented, like Pat Benatar." "I got my Spandex clothes, my electric guitar and went through a serious identity crisis," Goldberg said. She felt this was the most difficult time in her life.

After this identity crisis, Goldberg decided to do her own thing and went to record her second album titled High Contrast. In 1989 she recorded a live collection titled Solo. After that release Goldberg got more into college touring and then scheduled tours outside the country.

Her latest album titled Secrecy is what she considers to be her "best group of songs." Goldberg is most proud of the fact that she has been able to stay in the music world for so long.

Tickets for Goldberg's performance are $3 for the public and free, with valid identification, for students, faculty and staff. For more information, call the University at 893-2756.

Upcoming events

"Sexpert" to speak at University

Jay Friedman, a professionally certified sex educator, will be delivering his Sex Matters lecture in the University's Parsons Union Building's (PUB) Multi-Purpose Room on Sunday, March 19 at 8 p.m.

Subtitled Insights and Outbursts on Love, Sex and Dating, Friedman's lecture entertains and educates his audience about important and timely sexual issues. With a little help from Wayne and Garth, Seinfeld and other pop culture icons, he also offers his audiences tips on building healthy relationships.

Friedman is certified by the American Association of Sex Educators, Counselors and Therapists (AASECT) and has spoken throughout the United States, Canada, Europe and New Zealand. He is an award-winning writer who has been featured in a number of national publications. Friedman is also a former disc jockey and radio talk show host.

The lecture is being sponsored by the Student Cooperative Council (SCC) and Residence Hall Association (RHA). The event is free and open to the public. For more information, contact Wendy Walsh at 893-2270.

Young pianist concert slated

A young pianist concert will take place at the University on Sunday, March 19 at 3 p.m. in Price Performance Center.

Supported by the LHU music club and the University's music department, five students from Lock Haven High school and two students from the University will participate in the event.

The students were recommended by their teachers to take part in the annual event. Conducted by Mary Renzelman, professor emeriti, this year will mark the fourth year of a young pianist concert at the University.

The students participated in a workshop on campus on Feb. 19, when they were given the opportunity to play the Baldwin grand piano in Price Performance Center. They were allowed to practice and share their talents with each other.

The students will perform some of the world's popular works by Bach, Brahms, Beethoven, Mozart, Chopin, DeBussy and Billy Joel.

The concert will incorporate solos and a duet. Anna Barbender, Siberia, and Jason Robbins, Greensburg, Pa., will represent the University. Robbins, a sophomore, has composed his piece for the piano with strings as background. Admission is free to the public.

Silkscreening and computitive art on display

Bloomsburg University Art Professor Stewart Nagel is currently presenting his personal works at the University in Sloan Gallery. The exhibit will display some of Nagel's most recent pieces in silkscreening and computitive art.

Nagel received his bachelor of fine arts degree from the Cooper Union and a masters of fine arts degree from Pratt Institute in the 1960s. He taught at Howard University for four years prior to traveling to Bloomsburg University in 1972. He had served the department as chairman for five years until 1990.

Nagel has published a book titled The Collagraph: A Study of Process and Form and has produced two limited addition hand-bound volumes of his photoserigraphic images. He has been involved with the Bloomsburg community as a member of the board of the Theater Ensemble, The Greenwood Friends School and the Town Cultural Affairs Committee.

The exhibit, which runs from Feb. 27 to March 27, is free and open to the public.

Smith's past does not justify innocence lost for criminals. I know why it has come to be that this subject has resurfaced, and that reason is the topic of this week's column -- the pending trial of Susan Smith.

To refresh your memory, Susan Smith is the young woman from Union, South Carolina, who just four months ago murdered her two young children, three-year-old Michael and 14-month-old Alex, by strapping the youngsters into the backseat of her car and rolling it into John D. Long Lake. If you will further recall, Susan Smith then stood before the nation and boldly lied that her children had been abducted during a car-jacking by a black man.

I remember the outrage I felt when the news reported that this woman had taken the life of her own two children. I believe my exact words were, "That b--- deserves to die!"

Once the media frenzy surrounding the case died down, I didn't think much about the incident anymore until last week when a picture of Smith appeared on the cover of People magazine. The rage I felt just four months ago resurfaced, and I thought to myself, "What kind of a woman could do that to her own children?" So, as it were, I decided to do a little reading about the case, and I came across a few interesting details about Smith's life.

Two weeks ago, Family Court documents were released detailing that at age 16, Smith was sexually abused by her stepfather, Beverly Russell. Undeniably something no one should ever have to endure. Afterwards I found an article concerning Smith's natural father's suicide when she was only six years old -- a horror and loss a child should never have to suffer. That event undoubtedly had a very negative effect on young Smith.

In fact, Smith herself attempted suicide on two documented occasions before her marriage at the age of 19. The marriage was no fairy tale either, with Smith and her husband David Smith constantly at odds over his continuous affairs.

After finding all these tragic facts, I thought to myself, "That poor woman." Then in the same instant, the haunting image of Michael and Alex Smith crept into my head, and I was reminded of who the real victims in this case were!

I am not heartless. In fact, my stomach turns when I think of the atrocities Smith suffered in her younger years, but you learn to cope, not kill your children! Undeniably, there will be those who say Smith did not know what she was doing, that the stress and horrors in her life drove her mad, and that when she committed this crime she was "temporarily insane." To that I say only this -- she knew.

She knew as she made the long drive to John D. Long Lake that she intended to kill those boys, and she did not turn back.

She knew as she stood on the shore and watched the car sink to a watery grave, with young Michael and Alex still strapped in the back seat, what was happening, and she stood by and did nothing.

She knew what she had done and what the consequences of her actions were, and she stood before the nation for nine days and lied about the whereabouts of her boys.

She knew -- and with that conclusion I come full circle and can honestly say without remorse, "Susan Smith deserves to die."

-- Jeff Reese

I'd like to begin this week with a belated welcome back. For me -- as I am sure for most -- spring break was a time of recuperation and preparation. This particular spring break provided me with a luxury I rarely have time to indulge in while courses are in session -- free thinking.

As I sat in my Lazy Boy recliner and let my mind wander, I found myself coming back to my column that appeared three weeks ago concerning harsher punishment

14 Athletes earn All-Conference honors

by Aaron Russell
Eagle Eye Sports Reporter

While most students headed for home or towards the Florida sun on March 3 for spring break, Lock Haven's finest men's and women's track athletes headed to Kutztown University in search of a different kind of gold.

Both squads were hoping to make a name for themselves at Kutztown, the site of the 1995 Eastern College Athletic Conference (ECAC) Division II Indoor Track and Field Championships. Both talented and determined, LHU was represented well. In all, 14 Lock Haven athletes were bestowed with All-Conference honors.

By far the most stellar performance for LHU at the meet belonged to freshman Amy Parkes. She won three of five events on her way to the pentathlon championship with 3178 points, 88 points better than second place.

In the second day of competition Parkes ran away with her second title of the championships in the 55 meter high hurdles. Her time of 8.61 seconds was more than two tenths of a second faster than the second place finisher.

Parkes finished the day by claiming runner-up honors in the long jump with a leap of 17 feet 9 3/4 inches.

Teresa Falcone placed sixth in the pentathlon with a score of 2815 points.

The women's distance medley relay placed second behind UMass-Lowell in a time of 13:03.34 seconds. Team members Amy Yarger, Brenda Trimble, Karen Thrapp and Tamara Vreeland finished less than five seconds out of first.

Trimble also ran well in the 5000 meter run as she finished in fourth place with a time of 19:07.35. Yarger's performance in the 800 meters was exciting as well. Her time of 2:19.06 earned her runner up honors in the event.

Holly Fantasky handled the pressure of her first collegiate championships like a seasoned veteran as she placed sixth in the high jump. Her height of 5'-1" was the same height that the second through fifth place finishers cleared but by virtue of fewer misses on previous jumps they finished ahead of her.

At this point in the meet Lock Haven was in sixth place in the overall standings with only the triple jump competition remaining.

Natalie Jackson took it upon herself to contribute to the team's successful showing. Her leap of 35'-7 1/2" placed her in second and vaulted the team into fourth place in the final standings with 58 points. This was not only the best overall showing in the women's history, but they were also able to defeat long time rival Millersville and the nationally ranked East Stroudsburg squad.

The men's team didn't have as much success in the overall competition but was able to exhibit some strong individual performances.

Neil Ramond placed fifth in the pole vault by clearing 13'-2", while Kyle Waite placed second in the shot putt with a hurl of 47'-11," just 2 1/2 inches out of first.

The men's distance medley relay team of Andy Welk, Jason Lloyd, Greg Rutz and Ben Steward finished sixth in a time of 10:55.34.

This past weekend Amy Parkes traveled to Indianapolis, Indiana for the NCAA Division II National Championships in Indianapolis, Indiana. Her time of 8.53 seconds put her in twelfth place behind some experienced competition. Parkes was the only freshman in the 55 meter high hurdles.

The track teams will take this weekend off to recuperate before beginning their outdoor season next weekend at Susquehanna University.

Baseball team wins first two

Who needs professional baseball when you can watch the Lock Haven Bald Eagles in action?

With a strong performance in Florida, baseball fans have a lot to look forward to. The team traveled to sunny Florida to face teams from several different states, most of them being nationally ranked teams. They left with a record of 6-2-1.

Coach Paul Stover believes his team has a real shot to compete for the PSAC title with Edinboro, Slippery Rock, and California this season.

He's getting strong innings from junior Jeff Book and freshman Scott Bennett. Marco Randazzo, second baseman, is leading the team in hitting as a freshman.

Stover is pleased with his team's performance at this point in the season. He said, "They left Florida at the top of their game."

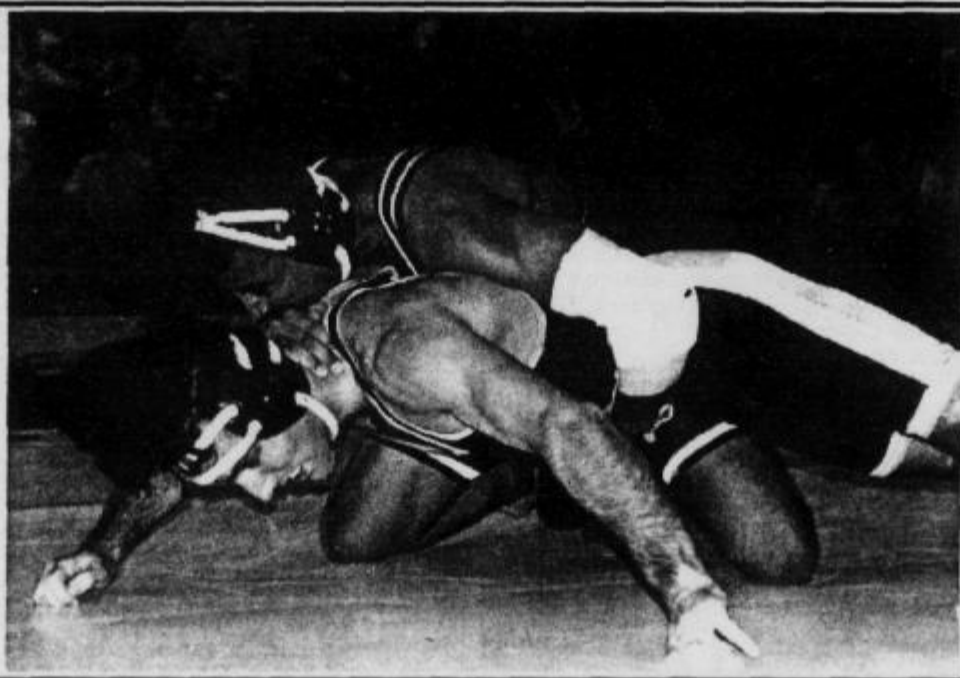

Each player is contributing in some way with hard work and dedication. "I have a bunch of guys that know how to win and have the motivation to win," Stover continued.

Lock Haven traveled to Bucknell on Tuesday, to capture a convincing 6-3 victory, boosting their record to 7-2-1.

Todd Stiner had two hits, going two for three at the plate. While pitchers Jeff Book and Grant Jackson were able to tame the Bison from the mound.

The team will be traveling to Virginia this weekend to face Long Wood in a doubleheader on Saturday and a nine inning contest on Sunday.

Lock Haven's home opener is March 25, against Juniata.

Kemal Pegram, 167, was one of three wrestlers who won their matches in the first round of the NCAA Championships in Iowa. Brad Silimperi, 118, won along with Mike Geurin, 177. Brian Leitzel, 134; Mike Rogers, 142; Pete Ventresca, 150; and Scott Goodale, 158 all lost their matches. Their hopes of going on in the championship rely on if their opponents wins their next match (photo by Karl McCollister).

Pletcher named "Outstanding Boxer"...

Eagles win three out of five

Boxing

by Todd Yocum
Eagle Eye Sports Reporter

In their final preparation before the Eastern Collegiate Boxing Association, Northeast Regional Qualifier, the National Collegiate Boxing Associations (NCBA) third ranked team, the LHU Bald Eagles, won three of five bouts at the Shippensburg University Collegiate Invitational on March 4. The 10-bout card was boxed before a standing room only crowd at the West Shore Boxing Club in Mechanicsburg.

Bald Eagle freshman, 156 pound Jason Pletcher, was voted the "Outstanding Boxer Award" for his Referee Stops Contest (RSC) win over VMI's Brian Hornaman. After scoring two standing eight counts in the first round, the referee, Dave Machamer, stopped the bout at 0:58 of the second round with Pletcher scoring with solid combinations and the Keydet boxer caught in the ropes. With the win, Pletcher, a Castanea native, upped his season to 5-1.

LHU's sensational 125 pounder, Josh Lander, also upped his season record to 4-1 with a 5-0 decision over Nithya Siew of VMI. Lander won all three rounds with a good jab and his own boxing skills. LHU's third winner was 147 pound Antwan Carson who decisioned PSU's Floyd Brown, 4-1.

The Bald Eagles heavyweight, Karl Fritz, lost a 5-0 decision to defending Regional Champion, Joe Povenski, Mansfield, in a good bout. The 220 Povenski scored a standing eight count in each of the three rounds against Fritz. It was Fritz's first loss after four straight victories this season.

Freshman Josh Lander, 125, was one of the three boxers who won their matches at the Shippensburg University Collegiate Invitational (photo provided by Todd Yocum).

Fritz is expected to drop to the 190 pound weight class for the Regional Qualifier.

LHU's promising freshman, George Conklin, lost a RSC at 1:18 of the third round to veteran Mike Ward of Shippensburg in a 180 pound bout. After an impressive first round, Conklin began to tire and the Ship veteran had Conklin in trouble most of the third round, forcing referee Joe Crockett to step in and halt the bout. Conklin, a former Lock Haven High School 3-sport star dropped his first open division bout of his career after two wins in the novice division.

LHU's sixth entry, Patrick Woody, 132, did not have a bout because his opponent from Central Connecticut could not box because of personal reasons. Woody has a career record and was the 1993 National Champion at 119 pounds and 1994 national runner-up at 125 pounds. Woody, a junior, will challenge at 132 pounds at the regional championships.

The five boxers performed well according to veteran Bald Eagle coach, Dr. Ken Cox. "We're on schedule. The week off for semester break will be good for us," he said. "We've been training since mid-September without much of a break."

"With Lander, Woody and Todd Stiner we'll have a super 1-2-3 punch at the regionals," he stated. "Actually, it is as good a threesome as any team in the nation."

The Boxers will be at Penn State this weekend for the ECBA-NE Regional Qualifier.

Lady Eagles win in home opener

by Amy Coles
Eagle Eye Sports Reporter

After posting a 1-9 record at the Rebel Springs Games in Florida over Spring Break, the Lady Eagles softball team rebounded on Tuesday by sweeping Kutztown in the home opener.

"I thought we'd play well against Kutztown, but I didn't know if we'd win," said Head Coach Kim Lindsey.

Some of Lindsey's doubt about her team stemmed from LHU's suspect defense. The Lady Eagles committed 24 errors in 10 games.

At Tuesday's doubleheader against the Lady Bears, however, the defense was very solid. Leading the way for LHU, with their gloves, were junior shortstop Tiff Amore and sophomore first baseman Amy Harris.

Amore was also a key contributor offensively in Tuesday's games. Her one-out single provided the spark that ignited a Lady Eagles' four-run fifth inning, breaking a 2-2 tie. The middle of LHU's lineup -- Harris, sophomore Robin Kumpaitis, and junior Jen Porter -- finished the job Amore began. Each contributed an RBI in the inning that helped put the score at its final mark of 6-2.

The second game of the afternoon, which LHU took 1-0, was even more of a defensive effort. With the score tied 0-0 in the third inning, Kutztown threatened to break the game open with runners on second and third with one out. Freshman pitcher Amy Markel registered her first strikeout of the game on the next batter, thereby reducing the Kutztown threat.

It was Amore, however, who kept the Lady Bears off the scoreboard by making a leaping catch of a line drive to end the inning.

LHU posted the only run of the game in the fifth inning when freshman Jess Baughman led off with a single. Freshman Danielle Drumheller's one-out double advanced Baughman to third base. A sacrifice fly by freshman Melissa Caldwell got the run across and ultimately gave the Lady Eagles the victory.

Lindsey admitted that the lack of errors was the difference between the team's performance on Tuesday and in the Rebel Springs games.

"In Florida, we lost not only because of physical errors, but mental errors too -- throwing to the wrong bases, missing the cut-off person and allowing runners to advance," said Lindsey. "The mental errors don't go on the record, but they're costly."

Due in part to their errors, the Lady Eagles lost six of their 10 Florida games by one run, and two games by two runs.

"The team that played against Kutztown was the team I know," said Lindsey.

The Lady Eagles are going to have to remain sharp if they hope to post a win or two in their next doubleheader. LHU is set to host PSAC-powerhouse Bloomsburg on March 28.

"Bloomsburg is tough, but they're very beatable," said Lindsey. "And the team I have this year is definitely capable of beating them."

Since the game is scheduled to be played on Lawrence Field, Lindsey is hoping that a substantial number of fans will turn out for the game. Game time on March 28 is set to begin at 3 p.m.
