CAS, radio among topics of SCC meeting

by Renny Miller

The CAS mystery is slowly being solved and the Student Co-operative Council is doing its part. First vice-president, Joe Eucularo explained the Commonwealth Association of Students (CAS) at the SCC meeting on Wednesday night.

The CAS is an organization of all the state colleges and Indiana University. Its voice is being heard and heeded in Harrisburg; Eucularo emphasized the importance of the organization and urged the SCC to accept it.

Each senator was asked to secure at least twenty members for the CAS. Students may purchase a membership for one dollar from any senator, in Bentley Hall, and the PUB.

RADIO REVIEW

Brian Stoppe reported progress on the radio station. Consultant Richard Ocko will be on campus in a few days to conduct a preliminary investigation. This will include topographic, legal, and technical feasibility studies, plus an equipment review.

The station will need a first class technician. Lock Haven employees, Leo Ritter and Arthur Reardon, who possess first class licenses said they would be glad to "do anything they can to help."

High Hall's third floor could very possibly be the location of the station. Plans are now being drawn up with the administration's backing for this location.

The following investigation will be for a station license application.

NSA president meets with CAS

by Betsy Woolridge

State legislation policies, a visit from USNSA (United States National Student Association) president, and membership drive plans were highlights of the CAS (Commonwealth Association of Students) meeting at Kutztown State College this weekend.

Larry Friedman, president of the USNSA, and several staff members met with CAS coordinators Saturday afternoon.

Outlining the history of the 27 year old organization, Friedman pointed out the USNSA is reflective of its constituents.

"The USNSA", said Friedman, "is striving to be on a national level what CAS is striving to be on a local level." He offered the USNSA services by providing lists of schools that have already worked out problems that state college student governments may encounter.

Following Friedman, Dan Allison, also of the USNSA, outlined an insurance plan book service and other benefits offered by the organization.

The CAS moved to promote USNSA, especially the insurance plan, on their individual campuses.

Membership Drive

A membership drive plan presented by Doug Dows, CAS Executive Director, was accepted with the provision that the student senates on the individual campuses accept the plan.

The plan provides for each student member to pay a $1 fee. Each student government would be assessed a quarter per student with the provision that for each student who joins, 50¢ will be refunded to the student government.

Dows, having consulted lawyers, recommended that the CAS incorporate. The recommendation was approved and the Executive Secretary was directed to have the necessary papers drawn up.

Dows reported that the CAS would be allowed two interns in the fields of media and research. Including the secretary to be hired, this would expand the staff to four in the fall.

Raising Tuition

Joseph Olimpe, Student Government Association President, Mansfield State College, and Rich DeBernardo, SCC President, testified last Thursday to a committee investigating tuition hikes at state colleges and its effect on the enrollment in private institutions.

Dows, who was present at the hearing but did not testify, commented that the committee "roasted Rich". He added that the congressmen were "ignorant of the state college system."

Lebin's 'Cowboys and Indians' will be staged Sunday

by Robin Platts

Cowboys and Indians, a play written by English professor Larry Lebin, will be produced in Price Auditorium Sunday March 24 at 8 pm.

The setting for the play takes place in a fashionable East Side Manhattan Apartment, where an affluent, sophisticated, chic couple find themselves hosting a cowboy and an Indian invited for a weekend party. The group becomes involved in a bizarre game with an unpredictable ending.

"There is a shock value in not knowing the entire plot of the play," said author Lebin. Lebin continued, "The play itself is an examination of certain contemporary values by making use of myth."

Peter Lesnick, a graduate student at Penn State, will produce Lebin's play. The play has four characters, all portrayed by undergraduate students at Penn State. The cast includes Walter Zimmerman as Mr. Jones, Kathleen McGrath as Mrs. Jones, Jack Hunter as the cowboy and Ed Craft as the Indian. The roles of the cowboy and Indian are stereotyped in the play, as they are supposed to be.

Cowboys and Indians was produced academically at Penn State's 5:00 Theatre, which is a playwright's, theatre for original productions of original plays. Their theatre is in the "round" meaning the audience is seated entirely around the stage. However, since it is to be produced in Price Auditorium, some parts must be rewritten for this production.

Mr. Lebin began writing plays 15 years ago but only last spring began to study formally under the direction of Mark Berman. Berman is a resident playwright now teaching at Florida State University.

This semester, Lebin is studying with Slawomir Mroczek, a Polish playwright and author of Tango and Richard Benner, script supervisor for Canadian Broadcasting Company. Both men are visiting professors at the University of Pennsylvania.

Trip to New Orleans-

'Misuse' or 'Worthwhile'?

by Mike Holter

How does Spring in New Orleans sound? Three officials of the Womens Dorm Council see such a trip as a worthwhile experience. They are willing to spend about nine hundred dollars of their dorm council funds to attend the Association of Women Students conference to be held in New Orleans this April.

In a conversation with Ron Vance, the SCC treasurer stated, "I see this as a misuse of student funds". He continued, "They will spend a thousand dollars to find out how to spend eight thousand". Vance said "I just don't see that great a ratio of return for such a large expenditure".

A contrasting view comes from Ellen Lambert, president of the Womens Dorm Council. She stated, "We feel that this is a worthwhile experience and that all Lock Haven women will eventually profit from the information and ideas that our delegates bring back to Lock Haven".

Mike Bradley, president of Gross Hall and a member of the Womens Dorm Council, said, "I question the necessity for the trip". According to Mr. Bradley, "The fact that the dorm councils could be integrated within a month if approved by the mens and womens dorm councils makes it seem even more ridiculous".

For comparative convention and dues expenditure figures, the Mens Dorm Council has allotted two hundred and fifty dollars for dues, workshops and conventions. The executive committee of the SCC permits itself only eight hundred dollars for such activities. This money includes expenses incurred by the group to attend CAS meetings held on a monthly basis, in addition to the cost of dues, fees and conventions.

The funds for the trip now in question were part of a revised Womens Dorm Council budget approved by the senate appropriations committee on Oct. 23, 1973.

At present it appears that the request by the dorm council to attend the conference will be approved in practice and not in theory. The budget with such an expenditure request had been approved by the senate appropriations committee. Again Vance stated, "I feel that the money could be spent to benefit more women students. The thousand spent for the conference could be used to finance the Womens Swim Team."

Streaking facts are bared

To the Editor:

In response to the article on streaking, we think that some vital facts were left out. Not all the men (boys? No, they were definitely men!) involved in the activities were indecent. Nor did they all look like circus performers. In fact, the girls who enjoyed the scene from the windows didn't even seem to mind that what the guys were doing couldn't technically be called streaking.

We think these men should be applauded for their initiative in introducing streaking to Lock Haven. It's unfortunate that not all the members of LHSC have enough balls to join in the fun themselves. Can you imagine the impact of one thousand streakers racing through the streets of Lock Haven?

Since the ladies of the "largest female dormitory on campus" got so few thrills from the bungled party-raid, we're looking forward to the day when the fraternities take to cross-country streaking.

You may say what you will about streaking being indecent and exhibitionist. However, we feel that it takes a lot of courage to show oneself in the skin, and in effect say to the rest of the world: "To hell with you and your inhibitions."

President Hamblin explores Greece in lecture

"Greece: Apple of Discord" is the topic to be presented by Dr. Francis N. Hamblin, President of Lock Haven state, on Monday, March 25.

Dr. Hamblin's lecture which will be held at 8 p.m. in Ulmer Planetarium, is the fifth in the current Faculty Lecture Series, entitled "To the Ends of the Earth."

Dr. Hamblin lived in Greece from 1953 to 1955 while serving as executive director of the U.S. Educational Foundation in Athens and working with Fulbright scholars doing research and archeological exploration. While in Greece, Dr. Hamblin gained insight into both historical and modern development of the country.

After giving birth to the foundation of modern Western civilization, Greece suffered occupation by Rome, Christian Crusaders, Mongolian hordes, Turks, Venetians, and the British. All were influenced by the charm and beauty of this rugged country and all left marks of their own culture. Dr. Hamblin will deal with these developments.

Using color slides to illustrate his talk, Dr.

Hamblin will speak of the sea-kings of Crete whose realm was destroyed by volcanic eruption, of Crusaders who never returned to their homelands, of the last great knightly tournament in Europe, of pirate marauders, the castle created by Ludwig, mad king of Bravaria, and of modern political and economic developments. However, Dr. Hamblin will center his talk on the people and their customs.

Dr. Hamblin began his career in education as a teacher of English and history. Following service in World War II, he was registrar of the University of Vermont. After serving in Greece, he was appointed dean of education at Ohio University and then at George Washington University. Before coming to Lock Haven, he was academic vice president of Northern Arizona University.

His interest in international education has led to extensive travel all over the world. In addition to Greece, he has travelled in Cambodia, Laos, and South Vietnam on educational assignments. Dr. Hamblin made numerous trips to Africa to supervise teacher training programs in Nigeria and the Republic of Cameroon, and to conduct an inspection school of all U.S. schools in Africa for the State Department. He has also travelled extensively in Europe and South America.

CAS membership

underway

by Betsy Woolridge

Ten thousand members is the goal of the first membership drive of the CAS (Commonwealth Association of Students) which officially began this week.

The CAS is a student organization made up of the student government presidents and student representatives from the 14 state colleges. The organization acts as a go between for the students of the commonwealth colleges and the Department of Education, the legislature, and the Governor.

To become a charter member until August 1975, a student must fill out an application form and send the form and $1. fee to CAS in the self-addressed envelope provided. A misprint in the membership form indicates that the membership fee is $3. It should read $1.

Members will receive a membership card, charter member certificate, and CAS pin.

Doug Dows, CAS Executive Secretary, indicated that a newsletter informing students about what's happening in CAS and in Harrisburg will be provided in the future. In addition, certain benefits may be offered such as discounts on insurance, travel, hotels, and tires after sufficient membership is obtained.

"This is the students' opportunity," said Dows, to get a young organization off the ground."

Dr. Klens : from administrator to teacher

Dr. Paul Klens, dean of Arts and Science at Lock Haven State College for the past eight years, will at his own request return to full-time teaching status in Sept. 1974. Dr. Francis N. Hamblin college president, made this announcement Monday.

Dr. Klens will rejoin the faculty in biology where he taught prior to his appointment as dean in 1966. During his tenure as dean he has continued to teach part-time.

Prior to joining the faculty of Lock Haven State in 1958, Dr. Klens served as chief of the microbiological laboratory for the Research and Development Division of the Nuodex Products Co. in Elizabeth, N.J. He had previously been chief of the fungicides and germicides unit, U.S. Army Quartermaster Research and Development in Washington, D.C.

Dr. Klens earned his degrees in botany and microbiology at Syracuse University, where he also taught for six years. He was awarded his PhD. in 1951. He was promoted to full professor at Lock Haven State in 1961.

Dr. Klens was chairman of the committee which developed the original liberal arts curriculum at Lock Haven State in 1961. The program went into effect in September 1962. The school of Arts and Science currently has an enrollment of 900 student out of a total student body of 2400.

President Hamblin had this to say about the Dean, "Dr. Klens has been an unusually imaginative and effective dean. While the college will greatly miss his services as an administrator, it will be at the same time most appreciative of the continuing contribution which his return to full-time service as a teacher in biology will bring."

In addition to his professional duties at the college

Adult education expands with Lifelong Learning

New types of adult education courses for Lock Haven State, called Lifelong Learning programs, are being offered for the first time by the college's Office of Continuing Education, according to Dr. Marcus Konick, Director.

The first program to be sponsored by the Center for Lifelong Learning is the eight-week session on "Basic Legal Knowledge," arranged by request of the Lock Haven chapter of the American Association of University Women. Members of the Clinton County Bar Association conduct the program, which meets Tuesdays from 7:30 to 9:30 pm.

Other programs are being developed by the college in cooperation with community organizations, business, and industry to meet the general needs and interests of the community, according to Dr. Konick. They include workshops, institutes, seminars, and conferences.

Some programs are aimed at answering the needs of business, industry, and the schools by improving employee efficiency or by providing training for new careers. Other programs will be concerned with such things as historical restoration, philosophy social and government problems and other areas in which people might like to increase their knowledge and satisfy their intellectual curiosity.

Comm. Orchestra entertains

by Michael Shriver

"And to our benefactor, whoever he may be, thanks for the flowers", remarked Mr. Robert D. Lynch, conductor of the College Community Orchestra, at the Orchestra's sixth Anniversary Concert.

The concert, presented on March 5, started out on a slow pace with an "Overture and Allegro" from La Sultane Suite. This selection was followed by the Dances from a New England Album, 1865, which perked up the enthusiasm of the audience.

As the concert progressed, a number of varying pieces were played, which livened up the crowd. Among them were a Student Concerto with Robert Singer playing a viola solo, Folk Tune for Piano, with Dorothy Wanner as piano soloist, and Music for Orchestra, with Gladwin Yerra as Timpani soloist and Eugenia Matz as violin soloist.

With the piece Music for Orchestra, the general reaction of the audience was that of satisfaction. It was a quite lively piece flowing along at a rapid pace with no rhythm, using lots of percussion such as kettle drums, snare drums, the triangle, and cymbals.

The second part of the concert consisted of three choral pieces. They were three poems written by Ralph Knevet and Anon, both 17th century poets. Their poems were, The Burden, The Mistake, and My Wishes. The choral group was accepted warmly by the audience with rounds of applause after each piece.

The third and final part of the concert was done by the College Community Orchestra finishing up with the Harlem Nocturne, another favorite of the audience. My Fair Lady and Oliver were the closing pieces of the evening.

SCC Meeting

taken the job, which as De Bernardo explained, could become a very important one. Voicing his concern for food quality, the SCC president suggested considering other food services, or renegotiating the cost of the present one.

ALSO ...

The Boys of the Lough concert has been cancelled. It may be rescheduled for April.

Credit for SCC senators was discussed. The motion granting senators credit was approved and if all other parties approve it, the motion will take effect for Fall semester 1974.

Student Evaluation of Faculty forms were also discussed. SCC members feel that a report of the results should be filed with the SCC for student examination.

The Concept Document was finished Thursday. It will now be sent to Harrisburg. The document outlines the future concept of LHS concerning changes in programs.

Local politicians may be on campus for questioning in a 'Candidate's Day Program'. Dr. Donald Day is in charge of the program which has the endorsement of the SCC.

The Wilderness Club was granted approval as a college organization. The SCC may purchase equipment for the PCCEB which would in turn be made available to the club.

An amendment to strip the SCC parliamentarian of his voting power was presented. A committee was formed to study the matter.

Fall of '75 sees stadium

by Ernie Cavagnaro

The earliest the Hubert Jack Football Stadium will be finished is the Fall of 1975, according to Dr. Russell Milliken.

The administration at Lock Haven State College is attempting to get the stadium finished as soon as possible. However, as Dr. Milliken stated, the processing of the stadium request is long and complicated.

Permission to build a stadium was granted by the Department of Education, the Governor's Office, and then by the state legislature. The request was then sent to the General State Authority, the building agent for State Colleges, and they too agreed.

The General State Authority sent their architect to the Property Supplies, the funding agency. However, this group denied the request for the stadium to be completely finished. The reason given for the denial is that the General State Authority and The Property Supplies have not reached an agreement on certain terms.

Annoying situation -toilet paper

To the Editor:

An annoying situation has been brought to my attention due to my necessary use of the bathrooms in Smith Hall. Within the past month the regular toilet paper has been replaced by paper similar to that in which lunchmeat or fish are wrapped. This is definitely not in the best interest of the students.

We are not able to have a college community in which the best interests of the students are determined by those students. No, our best interests are determined by the administration through such things as book lists, from which we are required to read 40 books to help "make us well-rounded people." "Manufacture" well-rounded people may be more accurate terminology. We are also required two or more years of General Ed requirements many of which we are totally unconcerned with, before we are allowed to delve into our major.

The best interests of the students are also controlled by the security police, who, faithfully each night patrol the dormitories to detect incense, candles and God-forbid, marijuana. A student "flipping out" on LSD will not go to the security police for help, even though they are here in our best interests, because the student realizes that he will be busted and possibly kicked out of school. These are the same security police that assisted in the bust of several students earlier this year.

After visiting other schools in Pennsylvania I know that there are schools where the police do not search for people breaking rules. In fact, some schools while recognizing the existence of the drug laws and drinking laws in the state, do not take a stand in the support of these laws or otherwise. Students are able to determine what is right or wrong for them; what they will or will not do, i.e. their own existence. The schools to which I refer are quite reputable universities and colleges.

I don't believe it was mere coincidence that Marat/Sade was the College Players production this spring. That asylum represents any institution which holds captives, any institution which determines the rights of its inhabitants, which determines what is in their best interest. This institution is wrong when it ends up manufacturing "well-rounded" individuals; people all the same way, allowing little or no individual expression or self determination.

Danish Gym Team to perform Monday

The Danish Gymnastics touring team will perform at Lock Haven State College's Thomas Fieldhouse on Mon. March 25 at 7:30 pm.

The great 1974 Danish tour has been brought to the United States through the combined efforts of the Dept. of Education, The Country Dance and Song Society of America, an interested member of the American Danish Cultural Exchange and the national organization of athletics and youth in Denmark.

The March-April tour of Danish gymnasts will be hosted by colleges in West Virginia, Maryland, Virginia and Pennsylvania.

The Danes will conduct workshops and present performances in modern Danish Gymnastics and traditional folk dances from Denmark.

The program is a revelation to audiences accustomed to viewing competitive gymnastics. The men present their work using mats, mini trampoline and international horse, while the women's routines include the use of balls, ropes and hoops.

For the folk dance portion of the program, the Danes wear traditional garb from their own villages. The repertoire includes regal court dances as well as lively spirited peasant country dances.

Tickets at $1 per person are now available at Zimmerli Gymnasium state equipment room or at the door the night of the performance.

LHS swimmers to compete for title

March 22 and 23 will find the Lock Haven's Women's Synchronized Team at SUNY, Albany, New York in competition for the Eastern Invitational title. In competition will be schools from Vermont, New York, and Pennsylvania.

Competing in their first meet will be the trio of Marty Bryant, Betsy Matty and JoAnn Valentine. A group routine consisting of Beth Sigler, Jessica Swift, Karen Smithgall, and Lanette Potter will also perform.

Attention: Anyone interested in attending the 21st Olympiad International Summer Olympic games to be held in Montreal Canada from July 17 - August 1. Make hotel accommodations now by sending your name and address to Joseph B. Brown & Co. 640 Cathcart St., Suite 101, Montreal 111, Quebec, Canada. They will send you a free list of available hotel accommodations.

Golf team tees off

by Dave Williams

The LHS golf team, now warming up for the 1974 season, is looking forward to their greatest year. All but two of last year's lettermen are returning and there are four low scoring new comers, John Mazza, Jim Brungard, John Mintmier and Tom Getz.

Returning lettermen Don Vance, Tom Nasser, Dale Voorheis, John Thomas, Dave Kline, David Williams, showed much improvement throughout last year's matches, and have practiced hard for the upcoming season.

John Mazza was Bald Eagle Nittany High School's number one man last year and also played in the United Amateur Championship. John also won the Williamsport Invitational last summer. Jim Brungard was the number three man for Bald Eagle Nittany and won second place in the Belle Springs Junior Championship last summer.

John Mintmier is just out of the Service and has a low handicap of 8 or 9, while Tom Getz was the Willow Green Country Club's Junior Champ last year and qualified for the Lancaster City County Tournament but was unable to play because of a broken leg.

The team is hopeful that the students will come to some of the home matches at Belle Springs, and give them their support.

the Pennsylvania Academy of Science. He is listed in "American Men of Science" and in "Who's Who in Education."

Dr. and Mrs. Klens reside in Clintondale, RD 1, Mill Hill, and are the parents of four children, two of whom are students at Lock Haven State College, one at Williamsport Area Community College and one at Bald Eagle Nittany High School.

The Word from the Bird

Attention Ecology Nuts! Is your room cluttered up with old newspapers and magazines? Here's your chance to help the area Boy Scouts with their paper drive.

Due to the current paper shortage the scouts are holding the drive this Saturday, March 23. If you have any paper or magazines laying around, drop them off on the corner between Bentley Hall and Sullivan Hall before 1 p.m. Saturday. Bundle them up or put them in boxes so they can be easily picked up. Any contribution will be a big help.

Attention actors and crews for BRER RABBIT! The first rehearsal is Monday, March 25 at 6 p.m. sharp in Price Aud. Everyone is required to attend. Be prepared to work.

INTERNSHIP: Five students from Lock Haven will be selected for an internship working for pay in the state government at Harrisburg during the first semester, 1974-1975. Any upperclassman in any school or curriculum may apply or seek further information. Apply at Himes 106 immediately.

SPECIAL EDUCATION: All Secondary and Physical Education students who are also working for certification in Special Education should come to Himes 101 for forms. It is important that a record is kept of your work in Dr. Sterns office, Himes 106.

There will be a meeting of the SCC Social Committee Monday at 6:30 p.m. in the PCCEB office in the PUB.

Students having National Direct Student Loans (N.D.S.L.) this semester please come to the Financial Aid Office and sign for your disbursement. Please be prompt; these checks become void if not negotiated by March 30.

CAS meeting . . .

He suggested to the student government Presidents that they meet with DeBernardo and Olimpi to work out presentations.

Activity Fees

Two items in the Pennsylvania Commonwealth university act of 1974 were discussed in length by the CAS members.

Dan Bair, a Shippensburg student representative to the committee examining the act, said that the committee had asked him to report on suggestions that the CAS might have concerning the act.

CAS moved to suggest that the committee remove any hint of control of student activities fees from anybody other than students.

That added that the activity fee should be recognized as a college fee, that student governments should fix and supervise the retention and expenditure of the activity fee, and that the fees be subjected to federal and state loans.

This plan was suggested because it would allow for student control of activity fees while keeping it a mandatory fee for students.

The next CAS meeting is to be held at LHS April 19 - 20.
