Faculty Evaluation Coming Soon

by Dar Zeigler

Students at Lock Haven State College will soon have an opportunity to evaluate their professors. A group of administration representatives, faculty members, and students has been meeting periodically over the past six months to draw up the evaluation form. They hope to release it in the near future.

Formerly, each department had its own criteria for granting tenure and promotions. However, under the new contract with the Association of Pennsylvania State Colleges and University Faculty (APSCUF), all faculty members must be evaluated on the same basis.

Both students and faculty members will participate in the new evaluation program. One of the goals of the new system is to determine if a given professor discriminates against his students on the basis of sex, race, or nationality.

EDITOR'S NOTE: A correction should be noted pertaining to the SCC article which appeared in yesterday's Eagle Eye concerning the revised constitution. The paragraph which begins, "One change is directed toward Executive Committee elections" should be read as follows:

One change is directed toward all elections and referendums. The revised constitution states that if less than 33% of the student body votes in an election or referendum, and it is proven that the Election Committee has inadequately publicized the election or referendum two weeks in advance, the election will have to be run again. This provision was added in an attempt to inform students and thus eliminate all acceptable excuses for non-involvement.

Think About Job Goals; Specialization Is Not Cure-All

The recent down-trend in the job market for college graduates has resulted in a more careful appraisal by many students, parents, and counselors of the purposes and real values of a college education.

Serious questions are being raised concerning the desirability of extreme specialization in college and the assumption that the major purpose of a college education must be preparation for a job. Thoughtful analysis of one's goals and purposes is extremely wise.

It is doubtful, however, that college students should permanently reorganize their lives on the basis of current job market trends. There appears to be real danger that students will over-react to the supply-demand ratio of today and fail to make the most of their basic interest and abilities. It seems to this writer that they should emphasize in their studies those areas of learning which fit best into their long-range plans. If this requires specialization in some job-related field, so be it. In addition, however, it is important to include in one's program of studies courses that relate to other fields of work or to preparation for more general responsibilities. The old adage, don't put all your eggs in one basket, seems to make sense, especially in the present market for college graduates.

PHEAA Loans Will Now Be Based On Financial Situations

by Deb Zedreck
Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency (PHEAA) has changed the procedure for obtaining Guaranteed

Loans.

Previously, loans of $1500 or less could be received by anyone, regardless of financial status. The new law allows for the financial aid officer of the individual college to authorize the amount to be borrowed by the student. This will be evaluated by using information contained on the Parents' Confidential Form to be submitted by all students applying for the grant.

Students wishing to apply for the loan are advised to obtain the application from their bank, submit the Parents' Confidential Form, and take the completed application to the Financial Aids Office of the college.

Story of The Stoned To be Shown

by K. T.

You've all read about it in the campus news media. Now you'll have the exclusive chance to see this scourge on society in the epic film "Reefer Madness".

For those of you who already know the frightening effects of marijuana, you may not want to see this film because it will bring back horrible memories. For those of you who aren't familiar with marijuana, then come and see this film and witness the horrible things that this drug can make a person do.

"Reefer Madness" is the unabridged version of a 1934 film originally entitled, "Tell Your Children". Don't be misled by its early date, the message of the movie still holds true today.

Robinson Casts Roles of 'Wizard Of Oz'

by Gary Brubaker

Tryouts were held Tuesday and Wednesday, March 13th and 14th, in Ulmer Planetarium for the upcoming play, "The Wizard of Oz".

Many students tried out for parts in the play with the following people receiving the parts.

Dorothy will be played by Jan Foster; Howie Freiberg will play the Scarecrow; Ben Aptaker, the Cowardly Lion, and Howie Smith, the Tin Woodsman.

Pat Quinn will be playing the "great and powerful Oz" before his disclosure as a fraud, and Rich Wagner will play Oz after the discovery.

Kathy Correll has the part of the Good Witch of the North, while Chris Salidis plays Glinda, the Good Witch of the South. The Wicked Witch of the West will be portrayed by Kathy Gingrich. Helayne Macarthur plays Floria, with Cheryl Krause, Nancy Wiener, and Jody Blitz as the Munchkins. Guardian of the Gates will be played by Kevin Murphy, while Connie Lees has the part of Toto.

Gary Robinson, Director of the play stated that he would like to thank the many students that tried out, and that he wished that he would have had enough parts in the play for all of them.

Spotlight: 'Skip' Wolf Brings Appreciation to Team

by Ray Oberheim

Returning from six months of touring and teaching in Europe to resume his annual spring job as Eagle first baseman, is Karl Wolf III. He is better known to his teammates and friends as Skip.

Skip, the hard-working and dedicated co-captain from last season looks forward to this season as do the other Eagle veterans. In addition, he appreciates things in baseball unnoticed by others.

"Through my experience in baseball, I've found it to be both an exhilarating and a very humbling game, helping one to also cope with the ups and downs of life," he relates.

Skip mentions as his "greatest baseball thrill" to date as "just being fortunate enough to play each game," but goes on to say that if the team can capture the conference championship this year, that will be his new "greatest thrill."

In contrast, his biggest disappointment came at Shippensburg last season:

"We lost two one-run games to a Shippensburg team that went 10-0 in the conference. I personally let seven men remain stranded on base," he sadly recalls.

Karl is a Lebanon boy, having been born and still residing there, playing his baseball on its sandlots. He mentions that other than himself and his little brother, Peter, who plays baseball and soccer, there are no other athletes in his family.

Karl's all-time greatest baseball hero is Bill White, probably because both of them are left-handed hitting and throwing first basemen, while his favorite team is the Montreal Expos. As Skip puts it, "When I have grandchildren, I can tell them that I've been an Expos fan since the team was created."

Karl Wolf III concluded his remarks by describing the Eagle team and their chances this season:

"We are optimistic in looking forward to this season. The returning veterans have had good interactions, both this year and in the past. Hopefully, we can put it all together this year, but win or lose, we'll give it our best because that's what life's all about."

With someone like Skip Wolf on the team, one learns to appreciate things other than just winning or losing.

GREEK GROUNDS: PMD

The brothers of Phi Mu Delta are being kept busy with various Spring activities.

This semester we have eight new pledges. They are Joe Euculano, Jim Flinchbaugh, John Galascione, Bill O'Brien, Steve Orr, Dave Pavliko, Nick Spanos, and Lenny Zydel. These pledges have been busy at many tasks, such as selling popcorn at the SCC movie, holding a raffle, and co-sponsoring a slave sale with the pledges of Alpha Sigma Tau.

Earlier in March, the brothers and the pledges took part in our work program at Project Headstart. Our function there was to clean up, paint up, and fix up the school for the Headstart children.

Our social program got off to a good start last month with our "Spooky" presentation in Bentley Hall, followed by a masquerade party, which was quite a success. Currently, we are making final plans for PMD weekend, which will be the weekend of April 27-29.

The officers for 1973-1974 were elected by the brotherhood just recently. They are: President, Bill Barnwell, VP of Membership, Dave Drabot, VP of Finance, Dave Stroup, VP of Property and Records, Laird Shafer, and Secretary John Benson. Rush Chairman for the next year is Reggie Flowers and Pledge-master is Steve Hepler. We wish the new officers the best of luck in the year to come.

Our congratulations are extended to brother George Bower for a job well done in the SCC as President. Also our best wishes go to Brother Larry Briggs and his new wife Mary Ellen, who were married over semester break. Larry, along with Brothers Jan Cooper and Mike Kopp are commended on their performance in the Gym Team, of which Mike was captain.
