Students march to support of Pro-Choice

By Gia Sgrignoli
Staff Reporter

While supporters of the Pro-Choice Movement marched in Washington, another group of supporters marched here in Lock Haven to show their support for the Pro-Choice Movement.

The march, which was held on Sunday afternoon, demonstrated the support of the Washington March and the Pro-Choice Movement.

Fifty-five people participated in the march by carrying banners and marching from the circle in front of the Thomas Field House through town and back, said Dr. Sallie Sadler, who organized the march.

As they marched they couldn't believe the response they got from residence as well as students who clapped as they passed them said Shelly Latsha, one of the organizers of the march.

Male and female students, faculty members, and townpeople participated, but not one person was there to represent the administration and many students were disappointed, said Latsha.

They (the students) wanted to take a bus to Washington, but when they asked the University to sponsor them they were turned down, said Latsha.

"It was real exciting to see energy and commitment to a cause," said Sadler.

She said she was excited to see Bruce Skolnick, director of special services, participate with his wife.

Sadler said she is happy to see more enthusiasm and more social activism at Lock Haven. She feels it was highly demonstrated at the march against racism on Thursday along with the abortion march which was held on Sunday.

Other students involved in organizing the march were: Abby Brown, Megan Schaub, and Maureen Campbell.

"I am really pleased with the turn out and enthusiasm which was generated from the march," said Sadler.

Pro-Choice supporters join together in the field house circle to show their support for the march in Washington on Sunday.

Three LHU boxers bring home national titles

By Terry Day
Editor in chief

The boxing team came home with three national champions and a tie for second place this past weekend at the National Collegiate Boxing Association National Championships in Colorado Springs.

Brad Klein, 132 pounds, highlighted the weekend for LHU when he captured his third straight national title.

Klein won by a unanimous decision of the five judges in his bout against Ron Katz of Ohio University in the final.

"My opponent was better than I expected, Klein said. "I saw him on Friday and he didn't look good."

Klein said he thought he won on all the judges' cards.

According to Cox, Klein won it in the third round.

"The only different between winning this one and the others was the hostile crowd. The people didn't want to see Lock Haven win," Klein said of his third title. "It was a different experience to box in front of a crowd like that."

As far as winning his third straight title, Klein said, "I feels special. Only handful of people won it. It puts you in an elite group."

Paul Dooris
119 pound
National Champion

Paul Dooris took home his second straight national championship with a victory in the 119-pound class.

Dooris won his title in the second round of his championship bout when the referee stopped the contest against Jimmy Mann of Navy.

Brad Klein
132 pound
National Champion

"I wanted him to respect my punching power and make him think twice before coming in on me," Dooris said about his bout.

According to head coach Ken Cox, Dooris took total charge.

Dooris said he was more relaxed this time

Manny Rose
165 pound
National Champion

than when he went for his his first national championship. He added there was a lot of tension the first time.

In the 165-pound weight class, Manny Rose won the decision over Air Force's Tim Hogan.

Hess pitches perfect game...

Lady Eagles softball sweeps weekend doubleheader from Army

By Merritt La Porta
Sports Reporter

Continuing on their torrid pace, the Lady Eagle softball team won three out of four games this past week, highlighted by a perfect game from Sandy Hess on Saturday.

On Thursday afternoon the team traveled to Penn State to take on the Lady Lions. In game one, Hess showed why she is the most dominating pitcher in the PSAC West as she held PSU to just three hits over seven innings.

The Lady Eagles got on the board first in the first inning when Vicki DiVittorio drew a walk and scored two batters later on Kathy Wambold's RBI double.

In the third inning, DiVittorio again led off with a free pass and took second when Amie Zimmerman hit into a fielder's choice.

Jana Zimmerman walked to put runners on first and second, and Wambold reached base safely on an error by the shortstop to load the bases for Lisa Kostantewicz.

Kostantewicz drew the third walk of the inning which enabled DiVittorio to cross home plate with LHU's second run of the game.

Before PSU could retire the Lady Eagles, Karen Brown had driven in another run on an RBI fielder's choice to make the score 3-0.

The three runs were all that Hess needed as she fanned ten for her sixth victory of the season.

Game two, however, was a different story. LHU rapped out ten hits to no avail as PSU held on for the 2-0 victory.

All ten hits for the Lady Eagles were singles but the team left nine runners on base.

Freshman Ivy Dashkin took the loss despite striking out two and not walking a single batter.

DiVittorio had the hottest bat for the Lady Eagles, smashing three singles.

Saturday afternoon the team went up the road to Elm Park in Williamsport to play hostess to the U.S. Military Academy.

The Army women were apparently not ready for the awesome combination of Hess and Jana Zimmerman on the mound as LHU swept the doubleheader, 2-0, 2-0.

Hess (7-2) was flawless in game one setting the Army women down 1-2-3 in each of the seven innings.

LHU struck early in the second inning when Wambold singled and Amie Zimmerman sacrificed her over to second. Wambold took third on a wild pitch and cruised home on Hess' RBI single.

Wambold gave LHU an insurance run in the fourth inning when she doubled and pinch runner Ann Sabatini came around to score on back-to-back singles by Amie Zimmerman and Karen Brown.

Wambold finished the game with a single and a double while Hess and Brown each finished with two singles.

In game two, freshman Jana Zimmerman (6-1) took the mound and held Army to just four hits while striking out seven for the victory.

Once again LHU scored early in the match. Amie Zimmerman, Hess, and catcher Jennifer Huntzinger all singled to load the bases. Sue Weller hit a sacrifice fly to left scoring Zimmerman and the Lady Eagles had a quick 1-0 lead.

Sophomore Lori DiVecchio gave the Lady Eagles their second run in the third inning after she singled, stole second, went to third on a sacrifice bunt by Amie Zimmerman and scored on a wild pitch.

The Lady Eagles overall record now stands at 14-4 after the four game weekend. They next face PSAC rival Bloomsburg in a doubleheader starting a 2:30 p.m. Thursday.

LHU baseball sweeps two from Edinboro, splits with Slippery Rock

The baseball team moved to 7-5 on the season following a doubleheader split with Slippery Rock on Saturday and a sweep of the Fighting Scots of Edinboro on Sunday.

Chuck Boswell helped the LHU cause in the opening 5-3 victory over the Rock. Boswell had 3 RBI's on a double and two singles. Matt McGregor contributed two hits and an RBI for Bald Eagles.

Steve Lee pitched four strong innings to record the win while Chris Schell received credit for the save.

It wasn't to be for LHU in the second game as the Rockets pounded out 25 hits in a 23-5 rout in an error plagued game. Chris Schell went the distance, but was credited with the loss.

The Bald Eagles bounced right back on Sunday. Neil Emory blasted a homer and Mike Kramer added a double in the opening 8-4 victory. The win went to Ken Schultz while Mark Schilling got the save.

LHU came back from a 3-1 deficit in the second game with a two-run rally to tie it in the fifth. John Brown stroked one of his two RBI's in the bottom of the seventh to clinch the victory. Ray Brodzina and Schilling combined for the LHU win.

The Bald Eagles will take to the field again this Wednesday against the Clarion Golden Eagles in a doubleheader at Woolrich. Game time is 1 p.m.

"I knew I won the first round. The second was close. In the third around, I was deduced a point for slapping," Rose said.

"He (Hogan) was from the home town and everything he did the crowd went wild."

One LHU boxer who went into the finals came away a national runner-up.

Scott Nelson defeated Dave Machamer by a referee stopped contest at 1:26 in the second round of the 125 pound championship bout.

Cox said, "I thought Machamer was going to win. At times, he looked good."

"Honestly, Machamer went into the ring overconfident."

Doug Pavone (112), Joe Salluzzo (190), and Chris McCracken (heavyweight) all lost their semifinal bouts.

Pavone was defeated by Eric Mims of California-Berkley.

Navy's Bob Hoyt won a unanimous decision, 5-0, over Joe Salluzzo.

"Salluzzo went out with a bang. He boxed his best," said Cox.

McCracken lost a 5-0 decision to the eventual national champion Steve Laab of Navy.

The team tied Army with 27 points while the host Air Force Academy took the national team championship.

According to Cox, the team had lead up until the 180-pound bout and that it was the 190-pound bout that won it for the Falcons.

"We had a good tournament, a nice crowd and a nice atmosphere" Cox said.

Besides the Lock Haven trio, those fighters who captured national titles were: Yuh Huei-Wang, Virginia Military (112 pounds); Scott Nelson, Santa Clara (125 pounds); Dave Kohut, Air Force (139 pounds); Brian Newman, Army (147 pounds); Tony Fletcher, Army (156 pounds); Mike Hoos, Army (172 pounds); Vince Becklund, Air Force (180 pounds); Tony Barr, Air Force (190 pounds); and Steve Laabs, Navy (Heavyweight). The final team scoring was as follows: Air Force 33; LHU and Army 27 each; Navy 20; Virginia Military and Santa Clara 8 each; and California-Berkeley, Ohio, and Nevada Reno with 3 apiece. Schools represented but scoring no points were Penn State, Citadel, West Chester, and Texas A&M.

Lady Eagles lacrosse falls at home to Cortland State, 8-3

By Lisa Newmiller
Co-News Editor

The Lady Eagles Lacrosse team hosted the Red Dragons of Cortland on Saturday but fell short; losing 8-3.

The Red Dragons Annie Bolton made the first goal at the 15:45 mark of the first half.

Bolton went on to score three more in the half, leaving the Lady Eagles down 4-0 at the end of the first half.

Lady Eagle Head Coach Bridget Roun said the Lady Eagles inexperience was evident offensively but they had a nice midfield defense.

As the second half began, the Red Dragons of Cortland scored two more before Lady Eagle Peggy Buckmaster scored the Haven's first goal of the game at the 8:55 mark.

The Lady Eagles began to come to life after the goal. "We dominated the last 10 minutes of the game and played our strongest offensively," said Roun.

The Haven continued fighting back as sophomore Eileen McCoy scored her second goal of the season at the 8:06 mark making it a 6-2 contest.

The Red Dragons would not rest though; they scored two more before the Lady Eagles Bridget Gillespie scored the final goal at the :44 mark. Cortland would go on to win 8-3.

The Lady Eagles have a young team this season. Roun said she thinks their confidence is beginning to come together and she hopes they will continue to improve.

"The freshmen are starting to realize that they can go to goal and score," said Roun.

The Lady Eagles will be in action again Wednesday versus the Lady Marauders of Millersville University. The starting time is 4 p.m.
