KAP regains recognition from national

By John P Elder
Co-News Editor

After six controversial years of provisional status, KAP fraternity received national recognition from its Greensburg, Pa. headquarters last Saturday.

The fraternity had been on provisional status since 1982, when its charter was revoked by nationals for undisclosed reasons.

In order to regain national recognition, an alumni board was set up to help restore KAP's status. With the help of the board, the provisional fraternity was required to meet guidelines set by nationals and the University.

However, the fraternity again suffered a setback in October of 1986 when, after some additional undisclosed incidents, they lost university recognition.

Since the fraternity was on a provisional status, none of the members could be brotherized.

"They were never brothers, they were pledges to nationals," said KAP President Rich Fultz.

"We accomplished in two semesters what the old group couldn't in four years."

-Rich Fultz
KAP President

As a result of the lost recognition, the pledges were instructed by the national to vacate their fraternity house and remove all letters.

The fraternity again reorganized in 1987, and had been working to fulfill conditions set by nationals. According to a "list of stipulations" from nationals, the chapter was required to have 50 members and participate in four community projects per semester.

Although the fraternity has fulfilled its requirements for recognition, Fultz says that they intend to continue following some of the community service stipulations.

"I'm gonna see to it that we follow our community service stipulations," said Fultz.

With national recognition, all the fraternity presently needs to be fully recognized is approval from the administration.

"Right now we're recognized as a provisional chapter, but this week we are going to seek recognition as a chapter," said Fultz.

As a provisional chapter, the fraternity is recognized by the Inter-fraternity Council (IFC), but has no voting privileges. With their newly-established recognition, the fraternity plans to petition for voting rights.

However, Fultz does not believe that KAP will receive voting rights immediately.

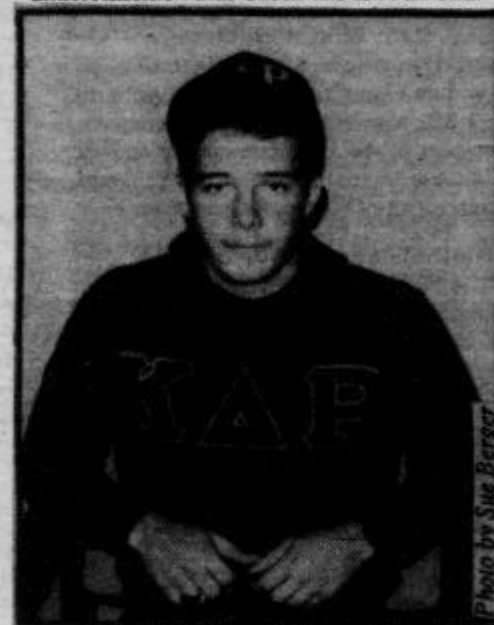

"I don't see any problem getting recognized, but I don't anticipate getting voting rights until next semester," said Fultz.

Despite not being recognized by the university for six years, Fultz said that KAP, established at LHU in 1958, is the oldest nationally recognized fraternity on campus.

Fultz added that he sees some good things happening to Greek life at LHU and hopes that they continue.

"I would like to see more things like the IFC fundraiser," said Fultz. "It makes for more unity among fraternities and it shows underclassmen that Greek life isn't all bad."

KKΨ to sponsor jazz festival

By Julie Kline
Staff Reporter

Soloists in jazz bands from four high schools will vie for top honors in the third annual Jazz Festival this Friday in Sloan Auditorium.

Sponsored by KKΨ, national honorary band fraternity, the high school competition will feature special performances by guest soloists, as well as a drum battle.

According to Dr. Florentino Caimi, Conductor of University Bands, the best soloists in each band will be selected by three judges. Caimi will judge brasses, and Dr. John McGowan, professor of music, will judge reeds.

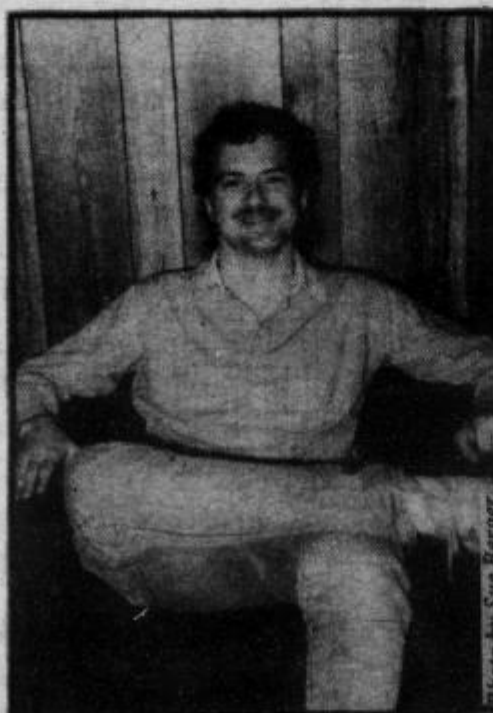

Judging the rhythm sections will be special guest Lou Feist.

"As we listen, we'll select each best soloist," said Caimi. "Each winner will receive an award."

According to Caimi, more than 100 people will participate in the festival.

Caimi, who calls the event "a learning affair," said, "Each band will be evaluated on fast-tempo and slow-tempo songs."

According to KKΨ brother Jason Plumlee, also chairman of the Jazz Festival Committee, each high school band will receive a certificate for their participation in the event.

After the bands are done putting on their individual concerts, Caimi said a "short learning clinic" for each section will be conducted. The clinic is designed to teach the students about jazz.

"One of the things we'll talk about is improvisation," said Caimi.

Along with the performing high school bands, performances by guest soloists will be presented.

With guest drummers Tommy McGhee and Lou Feist, along with saxophonist Jim Chapman, the soloists will perform duets and trios.

"There will be a sort of drum battle between Tommy McGhee and Lou Feist," said Plumlee.

According to Plumlee, the high school bands will perform at 3 p.m., with the clinics being conducted after the concerts.

Upon the completion of the clinics, the Lock Haven University Jazz/Rock Ensemble will put on an eight or ten tune concert starting at 7:30 p.m.

"I think it will be a night of good music," added Plumlee.

Number of LHU scholars doubles

By Kim Schmitz
Staff Reporter

A record number of candidates for the 1988-89 freshman class has been received by the Presidential Scholars program.

Elizabeth A. Thomas, assistant director of admissions, said that the number of students who qualified for the scholar program has doubled since last year.

"There are 45 students qualified now. Last year the number was in the twenties," said Thomas.

Thomas said those selected for the scholarships had to get a combined score of 1200 or better on their Scholastic Aptitude Tests.

She added that the scholarship students must have ranked in the top fifth of their high school graduating class.

Thomas said that out of the 45 students, five were senior class valedictorians.

"The Presidential Scholars program helps the University attract higher quality students," said Thomas.

Dooris and Klein grab National Championships in Virginia

Dan Hanson
Sports Reporter

Paul Dooris and Brad Klein turned in impressive performances over the weekend as they boxed their way to national championships in the National Collegiate Boxing Association championship tournament, held at Virginia Military Institute in Lexington, Va.

Dooris, a freshman, earned his victory with an 3-2 upset decision of two-time national champion Stephan Fernandez of Navy in the 119 pound finals.

After building up a slight lead through the first two rounds, Fernandez scored a standing eight count in the third which left Dooris with some doubt about the victory.

"I thought I had it but you don't know how the judges are going to score it," said Dooris. "I was really praying at the end."

Dooris made it to the finals with a 5-0 decision over Kelly Schatzer of Texas A&M and finished the season with an 8-3 record.

In the 139 pound match, Klein became the first two-time national champion in Lock Haven boxing history, finishing the regular season with a 11-0 record.

Klein, a junior, had very little trouble disposing of Talib Karim of Air Force in the 139 pound semifinals, earning a 5-0 decision and advancing to the finals against Andre Smith of Navy.

In the finals, Smith came out strong in the first round but Klein battled back in the latter rounds to grab a 3-2 split decision.

"I landed a couple of hard shots at the end of the second round and then he started to get tired. I could tell he was starting to gasp," said Klein. "When I came out in the third round, I knew I needed a big round. I landed a lot of clean shots and then I started picking my shots and hittin' him hard."

LHU's other finalist was a surprise in the form of 172 pounder Manny Rose.

Rose, a native of Harrisburg, clubbed his way to the finals with a second round knock out of Air Force's Jeff Hunt.

In the finals, he faced a tough Shaun Donnelly of Navy who earned a 5-0 decision over Rose.

Paul Dooris

"In the first round I did pretty good and I had him hurt," said Rose. "Then I tried to hit him harder than I should have and ran out of steam. I feel if I would have paced myself better in the beginning I could have lasted in the third round."

Despite the loss, Rose was pleased with his accomplishment.

"I was very suprised I made it to the finals," said Rose. "I didn't really think I was going to make it to nationals."

Rose finished the season with a 6-1 record.

Joe Salluzzo at 190 pounds and 119 pounder Doug Pavone were defeated in the semifinal round.

Salluzzo, a junior, won the first round on the judges cards but was caught with a hard right to the temple in the second round, causing the referee to stop the contest.

"I'm not pleased with how things went but I think he got a lucky punch," said Salluzzo. "That's the way things go. I'll be back next year."

Pavone was stopped by John Bell of Air Force in the third round.

All five LHU boxers earned All-American status.

Air Force captured the team title with 41 points, Navy grabbed the second spot with 35 points, VMI placed third with 28 points, and Lock Haven equaled last years performance with 24 points and a fourth place finish.

Head Coach Dr. Ken Cox was pleased with the team's performance at nationals.

"I think everybody boxed to their potential and gave 100%," said Cox. "This is my 32nd year of coaching and I would say that this is as good a group as I've ever worked with."

With the regular season over, Cox, Dooris, Klein, and Salluzzo will be traveling to the Soviet Union in May to box in three competitions in Leningrad, Moscow and Prague, Czechoslovakia. The competition is part of a "Peace Thru Sports" program set up by Dr. Cox.

The Boxers will train in Montreal, Canada for two days before departing for the Soviet Union on May 20.

Bald Eagle runners outdistance Bloom and Lyco at LHU Invitational

By Jeffrey Hilty
Sports Reporter

The Bald Eagle track team claimed first places in 10 of the 16 events in the men's competition (112-44) and 5 of the 16 events in the women's competition (95-70) to grab wins over Bloomsburg in the Lock Haven University Invitational held here last Saturday.

Two of Lycoming's members earned 8 points.

Carl Fisher contributed five first places finishes including firsts in the long jump (23' 1 1/4") the 110 meter high hurdles (14.9) the 100 meter run (11.31) and the triple jump (42' 1 1/2").

Fisher also combined with Tony Fleury, Waverly Pinkney, and Steve Reeser to win the 400 meter relay with a time of 43.3 seconds.

Additional first places in the men's competition included Reeser with a time of 50.1 seconds in the 400 meter run, Chris Cassel in the 1500 meter run with a time of 4:19.0, Scott Lockard with a throw of 42'6" in the shot put, and Brian Catherman with a height of 13' in the pole vault. Rob Hosier also had a 13' jump but had more misses and placed second.

Both Catherman and Hosier qualified for the PA conference with their finishes in the pole vault.

"I'm really glad that both Rob and I made it because its good to have someone to go with you to the conference. I also think that my greatest competition will be the five pole vaulters from Slippery Rock and the two from Shippensburg," said Catherman.

Also placing first at the Invitational were Joe Kravitz in the 800 meter run with a time of 1:59.8, Dave Leiby with a time of 1:00.73 in the 400 meter intermediate hurdles, and Pinkney in the 200 meter dash with a time of 22.37.

The five first place finishes in the womens' competition included Sonja Yingling with a distance of 15' 4 1/2" in the long jump, Julie Grasser in the 800 meter run with a time of 2:28.97, Ann Mullen with a time of 1:13.24 in the 400 meter intermediate hurdles, Vicki Sterner in the triple jump with a distance of 32' 4", and Sherri Bowen javelin with a distance of 105' 4".

In second place finishes, Brian Reeser placed in the 110 meter high hurdles (18.06 seconds) and the 400 meter intermediate hurdles (1:01.23) while Mike Drummond placed in the discus with a distance of 122' 6 1/2", Mike Bachman ran a 51.2 seconds in the 400 meter dash, and Hosier in the pole vault with a height of 13'.

Also placing second at the Invitational were Pinkney in the 100 meter dash with a time of 11.46 seconds, Jeff Jacobson with a distance of 6', Steve Reeser with a time of 21.46 seconds in the 200 meter dash, Dan Ledden with a distance of 39'6" in the triple jump, and Joe Raniero in the javelin with a throw of 164' 2".

In womens' competition, second places were gained by Angie Jones in the shot put (33' 8"), and the discus (121' 5"), Sonja Yingling in the 100 meter high hurdles (17.3 seconds,) and the high jump with a height of 4'10", and Antoinette Whittington in the 100 and 200 meter dashes with times of 13.17 and 26.69 seconds respectively.

Additional second places were notched by Kathy Stein in the 1500 meter run with a time of 5:21.3, Pam Yaroma with a distance of 15' 3 1/2" in the long jump, Karen Cole with a time of 65.4 seconds in the 400 meter dash, Kerry Shaginaw in the 800 meter run with a time of 2:31.09, Amy Caldwell with a time of 1:16.77 in the 400 meter intermediate hurdles, and Kristin Walters in the javelin with a throw of 97' 5 1/2".

Head Coach Stan Burke said that, at this point in the season, the team is basically doing what has to be done.

"As they say, the die is cast. The attitude and performances of the team is set and they know what they have to do [when it comes to practicing and competing]," said Burke.

He added that team members are coming to practice and committing themselves to their training.

"Two examples are Angie Jones and the pole vaulters because they, like everybody on the team, are committed to setting up for practice, practicing, and then putting things away without supervision. They are really dedicated to their work," added Burke.
