

Weinglass Tells Truth of Chicago Trial

Last evening Leonard Weinglass, defense attorney in the Chicago Conspiracy Trial, presented the "true" picture of the now famous trial before a city audience in Ulmer Planetarium.

Speaking on the topic, "The Deceit Never Rests," Weinglass considered the trial as "the grossest incident in recent American history." He laid the plea for a new trial is based on post-trial statements of chief prosecuting attorney Foran.

The young attorney started his speech referring to the recent incident on the campus at Kent State. Weinglass stated that this event was related to the conspiracy trial because it exemplified the attitude of the present U. S. administration. According to Weinglass, President Nixon's and Vice-president Agnew's actions have condoned rather than repudiated the behavior of the national guard.

Weinglass, in discussing the trial, related the frustrated attempts of Bobby Seale to obtain an adjournment since his attorney was ill. When an adjournment was denied, Seale asked the court for permission to represent himself. This request was also denied.

Seale was handcuffed to a chair and bound with a gag for three days after repeated attempts to represent himself failed.

Weinglass went on to explain the controversial "Rap Brown law," of the 1968 Civil Rights Act which prohibits the crossing of state lines with intent to incite a riot. It also defines "riot" as an assemblage of three persons who threaten a fourth person. He went on to add that there were probably a few "riots" going on in Lock Haven right now.

Weinglass went on to say that many stories were deliberately slanted in spite of the way the newspaper reporters sent them in. He especially cited the New York Times reporter, who constantly complained that some editor was distorting his stories.

The attorney stated that the defense was confident that they would win the case before it came to trial, using the findings of the Walker Commission report, the report of the President's council on crime and numerous witnesses as evidence. Weinglass stated that the defense was denied the use of the Walker report.

He also stated that the validity of the trial was questionable in the minds of the defense when the jury was picked in two hours and 55 minutes in comparison to the two or three weeks it normally takes to pick a jury for this sort of trial.

The questions asked in picking the jury was another point Weinglass reiterated upon. Judge Julius Hoffman only asked the prospective jurors their name, occupation, address, how many children they had, spouse's occupation and if they could be fair in coming to a decision on this case.

Weinglass related that witnesses on behalf of the defense included such noted persons as: a member of British Parliament, Julian Bond, former attorney general Ramsey Clark, the Reverend Jesse Jackson and singers Judy Collins and Arlo Guthrie.

He went into detail on the attempt to put the Reverend Ralph Abernathy on the witness stand. Abernathy since he had flown from Sweden to testify, was 17 minutes late and was denied the right to take the stand by Judge Hoffman. The Judge withdrew his denial the following day but Abernathy had already left Chicago for Mississippi.

Weinglass told of his high regard for Ramsey Clark for allowing the truth to be printed before the trial came to court. Even after Clark had left office as U. S. attorney general, he spoke as a witness on behalf of the defense at the trial against the persuasion of a few members from the justice department.

An interesting facet of Clark's appearance in court was that Judge Hoffman issued a court order stating that no one present in the room (the jury had been dismissed during Clark's testimony) was to mention the former attorney general's presence at the trial. Tom Hayden later received a six-month jail sentence for mentioning Clark's presence before the jury.

According to Weinglass, of the defense's 103 witnesses to take the stand the FBI produced at least one typewritten page on each individual called to the witness stand within minutes.

The attorney stated that their conspiracy sentence is presently being taken to an appeals court. He also confessed that contempt charges ran high throughout the trial as the eight defendants and the two lawyers combined received over 19 years on contempt charges. Weinglass himself faces 14 counts of contempt of court with a possible sentence of 20 months and 16 days in prison.

In concluding he expressed his desire that the truth and full information reach the people of America on all issues hoped and that the trial partially enabled that to come about.

Hadley, Sabatella and Yeager Awarded Gold Whistles

Betty Lou Hadley, Joe Sabatella, and Doyle Yeager were presented with the gold whistle signifying them as the outstanding physical education majors of the senior class, highlighting last evening's physical education program held in Thomas Field House.

A committee made up of senior physical education majors, presented a clinic on organizing a physical education demonstration. The committee, chaired by Hadley and Pat Selzer divided the "physicals" into 5 groups and put each group through a series of activities which are basic to a demonstration.

Synchronized movements were performed by the group to both music and song. The words,

"It works on paper" could be heard often throughout the fieldhouse and usually, although not always, things worked correctly.

The groups formed several types of pyramids and performed games and dances of foreign lands. The program concluded with all five groups marching around the gym floor performing intricate patterns.

SCC Agenda Announced

The following is the agenda for this evening's SCC meeting:

1. Call to order
2. Roll call
3. Approval of minutes
4. Correspondence
5. Standing committee reports
6. Special committee reports
7. Old business
 - a. approval of budget
 - b. bookstore decision
8. New business

10. Adjournment

Of prime importance this evening the executive board will present for discussion the idea of having a day off from classes in memorium for the four students killed at Kent State. Along with this they would like to have a forum or panel discussion concerning the recent actions of the Nixon administration.

The other matter of importance is that the board of directors will be asked to vote upon a decision as to whether they want to fire both Mr. Monroe Hurwitz and Mrs. Georgie Hartzell concerning the matter of the bookstore management which was under a committee study since last Oct.

The executive committee of the board of trustees has asked that both be fired while the SCC business operations committee had advised President Parsons that Hurwitz be given the chance to resign and no action be taken against Mrs. Hartzell.

Plays Presented

The Private Ear and The Public Eye, two one-act comedies by Peter Shaffer will be presented by the Lock Haven State College Players in Price Auditorium on May 7, 8, 9 at 8:15 pm.

Private Ear depicts a sensitive young man's efforts to entertain a young lady in his apartment for the first time, aided by a friend.

Everything goes wrong as the friend makes the better impression on the girl. The falseness of modern social values are revealed through Tchaik, the sensitive music lover, played by Mike Pachter. The vapid guest Dorcen is played by Cheryl Van Haelst and the man of the world, Ted, is played by Pat Quinn.

Public Eye depicts the consequences faced by Charles Sidley, played by Ron Herring when he has a detective spy on his wife, played by Neile Rastman. The detective is played by Joe Scott. Satiric comment on modern life is provided in the depiction of the marriage which is failing through a lack of communication.

Both plays are directed by Dr. Denys Gary of the college faculty. The set was designed by Maura Schuck, a student in the Stage Design class.

DID YOU KNOW THAT:

The first use of gunpowder in Western warfare allegedly occurred at the Battle of Bannockburn in Scotland in 1314.

Probably the world's first dictionary was published by Hu Shin of China.

Sarah Polk was her husband's confidential secretary, the first time that a President's wife had ever served in that capacity.

The number of "problem drinkers" in the U.S. is rising at a greater speed than the total population.

The term "boycott" comes from the name of Captain Charles Boycott, a ruthless land agent in County Mayo, Ireland, who was the victim of the first boycott.

SCENE By AQUARIUS

In I Seem To Be A Verb, the upcoming paperback on the career and thinking of R. Buckmaster Fuller, "Bucky" is quoted thusly: "Getting to the moon camouflages the real goal of the space program: construction of space stations from which the military could rule the universe." . . . Muhammad Ali—néé Cassius Clay, who's still the undefeated heavyweight champ—says, "I could be a big star in movies and television today, I've been offered various things. But they're all traps, I live in a world of truth. I won't get up on this show and dance or show my teeth like Negroes do or make love to a white woman. I respect myself. I'm a star all over the black world. I rely on my God. I don't need anything else." . . . To be seated in one Greenwich Village coffee house you just pull up a coffin . . . These observations come from Marshall (The Medium Is The Message) McLuhan: 1) The TV generation of students will continue to battle colleges (and the rest of the Establishment) until they rule them. 2) The real activists are only 14 years old now and have not reached the scene of action yet. 3) Mini-skirts are only the first step toward Instant Sex. 4) Experience is of no use in business, therefore look for a 20-year old president of IBM . . . The perfect button to give Pops or Uncle Bill: Dirty Old Men Need Loving Too! . . . Dotson Rader (Columbia '68) S.D.S. Activist, told Campus Radio Voice correspondent Dennis McCabe: "There is very little overt sexuality in the movement. It has a kind of puritanical caste, making it different from the French and German movements. The swearing, obscenity, long hair and worker's clothes are to protect yourself against selling out" . . . Momism in Pop: Mama Cass, The Mothers of Invention, Mother Lode, and Cat Mother and the All-Night Newsboys. And now, on their latest LP it's Peter, Paul and Mummy. Oh mother! . . . Hip that they're on to a good thing in pushing (at last!) super-cars, auto makers predict there'll be drag racing in midtown stadiums here within the next five years . . . Instant money can be made in short-order snacks with instant iced tea mixes, pre-sweetened and pre-flavored in lemon, lime and mint. Just add water, stir and add ice. Make grilled cheese sandwiches by wrapping the bread and cheese in aluminum foil and putting your iron, (set at 'wool') on top of each side for 1 minute . . . Peter (Easy Rider) Fonda posed for some nude shots but no longer speaks to the photographer-friend (female) who took them. She might at least have told him she was selling them to the New York Review of Sex. But then what's Peter got to hide? . . . Bob Downey, who wrote and produced Putney Swope, is having trouble raising bread for his next film project. The story's a contemporary re-telling of Jesus' return as James T. Chrysler. He speeds around in fast cars helping the poor and preaching against racial prejudice and the war in Vietnam. These actions make him many enemies. Betrayed by a follower, he's lured into a Los Angeles used car lot where he's hanged by a hate group . . . And what constructive thing will you be doing on the Great Day (October 15)? . . . Bumper sticker popular with hip westerners: Custer Asked For It . . . New look on a New York campus: Do-it-yourself poncho. Two bath towels, in a West Point-Pepperell jungle print, joined at the shoulders, (leaving room for your head), left unjoined at the sides, worn over a body stocking, in flesh or contrasting color. For faculty, or parents, sash it in a tie, or a chain worn low. For intimate friends, why bother? Original and easy to wash . . . no ironing . . . Nice in pairs.
