Schools exchange teachers

The Keystone Central School District and the Department of Experimental Education at Lock Haven State College are currently engaged in an exchange of teacher services designed to improve the development of educational ideas and techniques.

Two teachers from the local school district have assumed responsibility for instructing groups of children in the Akeley Campus School. In exchange, two college faculty members are serving as consultants and resource persons to the school district.

Ruthe Schaitkin, named an "Outstanding Elementary Teacher" for 1974, is teaching one of the intermediate levels at the campus school. She is from the McGhee School staff.

Ellie Zimmerman, formerly a teacher and director of Head Start, is on exchange from Robb School. She is working with children in one of the primary units.

Leroy Straley of the college faculty will be assisting teachers in the Mill Hall and Renovo elementary schools as they make the transition into the new open space buildings in the next few months. He will also be working with Keystone and college teachers in developing a model for a team approach to student teaching, plus other laboratory experiences in the public schools.

Gerald Cierpilowski of the college faculty will be working as a consultant to all the schools in the district, providing support for the implementation of teachers' ideas in their classrooms. Another responsibility will be to coordinate in-service projects in response to teacher needs, and to contribute to the development of a Professional Growth Center for educators in the community.

The exchange project represents a further step in the development of pre-service and in-service teacher education in the community. The exchange of educational ideas and techniques presented in two workshops this past summer at the college, "Planning and Producing Educational Materials" and "Alternatives in Learning," was met with great enthusiasm by the many area teachers involved.

SCC makes plans for upcoming activities

Bringing the new senate up to date on recent activities was a major portion of the first SCC meeting held Wednesday, Sept. 18th.

A letter of resignation from the former Second Vice President, Ron Palmer was read and accepted by the executive committee. Steve Stumpo was appointed by President Rich DeBernardo to replace Palmer. This appointment was approved by a senate majority.

Stumpo discussed upcoming activities of the PCCEB which include the following six tournaments; one-on-one, basketball, punt, pass and kick, ping pong, air hockey, and pool. A 20 mile bicycle race, rescheduled for Sunday Oct. 6, was also reported by the new second vice president. Interested participants must place a one-dollar deposit at the Receptionist's desk in the PUB.

Standing Committees were asked to report on activities for the semester. Highlights from the reports included an account concerning the 40 Book reading requirement for Liberal Arts students. As of the end of last semester, Dean Robinson and Dr. Klens were awaiting recommendations from students to suggest alternatives. New members were added to the Reading List Committee.

The Social Committee is preparing for Homecoming weekend, October 25, 26, & 27. Three concerts are scheduled Friday 8:30 pm Buoy's, Saturday at 8:30 pm, The Vogues,

Players present 'Oppenheimer'

by Jolene Borgese

The Lock Haven State College Players will present their first production of the fall semester October 17, 18, and 19. The play which will be held in Price Auditorium is entitled "In the matter of J. Robert Oppenheimer" by Henri Kipperat. Dr. Denys Gary is directing the play with assistant director Nilgun Dudaksizoglu, a student at L.H.S.C.. The set design is by John Gordon, with Felice Proctor designing the costumes and make-up. Vince O'Connor is the lighting designer. Stage manager is Jan Foster.

The cast includes John Peregrin as J. R. Oppenheimer, a physicist. Personal Security Board Members are portrayed by Howard Smith, James Biddles, and Mike Wampole. Taking the part of the counselors are Bernard R. Gillott, Steve Culp, Pat Quinn and Lawrence Evans. The following witnesses that testify are played by Vince Marvelli, Ben Aptaker, Gary Mazzu, Kim Koon and Joe Pagano. The guard will be played by Richard Mercury.

The play beginning at 8 p.m. will be staged in Price Auditorium. Admittance for college students will be an I.D., although the preview on October 16 will be free. Admittance for the general public will be $2.00.

The play is based on the security hearings of J. R. Oppenheimer which took place in 1954. The basis of the trial was the government's accusations of Oppenheimer being communistic because he would not give his assistance in the research for the atomic bomb. Oppenheimer felt it was morally wrong to kill senselessly. The main conflict in the play is the question of morality verses government orders.

Figures tell the story

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ranks third in gross production when compared to all other states, but ranks only 48th in aid to higher education.

There is almost $700 million in excess to collections existing in Harrisburg but things are not looking any better for the Pa. state college student. This figure is expected to increase to $1 billion by the end of 1974.

The state subsidy for full time students at state-owned institutions is $1,384 compared to $1,883 for the full time student at the state related institution.

State costs since 1958 have increased 200% for the state colleges while students contributions have increased by 700%. Appropriations to state-related institutions equal $177,987,000. State appropriations to state-owned institutions equals $104,791,000.

What does it all mean? Students at Temple, Pitt, and Penn State are receiving a larger share of the tax dollar.

dear editor . . . all the makings of meaningful pageant?

To The Editor:

RE: A "Meaningful" Pageant?

Regarding the E.E. article concerning our new style "professional, television-like pageant" for L.H.S.C. Homecoming Queen, I find this new proposition chauvinistic and degrading to male, as well as female, students.

How far into the Dark Ages are we going to allow ourselves to be pushed? Any person who has to prove themselves socially acceptable and representative by shuffling their feet or singing a few lines, has nothing really substantial behind such "talent". I feel a person's worth is established much more when they show they at least give a damn, whether to a friend or a stranger. Such "talent" often goes unnoticed. Is it better to be able to sing or dance or paint a little better than someone else? After all, we can all do at least one of those at least half decently.

Such a new pageant is to "cut down on minority monopolies"? Each organization allows for equal opportunity for membership. A person can "prove his worth (i.e. "talent")" (if such a need exists) to his peers, who in turn say "Here is someone representative" and give them to the school for decision, not to some Bert Parks or "minority group" of judges.

Such a pageant will eminate Queen candidates as "pretty faces with nothing behind them"? To what? Pretty faces with also pretty bodies, pretty voices, pretty legs???

Any girl who wants the thrill of a beauty pageant has all she can handle with our enduring MISS LOCK HAVEN STATE contest. How about the girl everyone wants to say "thankyou for just being you!"

Are we, the students of L.H.S.C. going to sit back and watch the world go by? Male students can accept females as persons -- how can they sit back and be part of such chauvinistic activities? And are we females going to allow ourselves to be degraded again by yet another parody on being a woman? Any girl who would enter such a contest would be representative of herself only and not the student body!

I may be blamed for being apathetic for not being at the meeting. I have an "extra curricular activity" a full-time job after classes. Gee, maybe I should be putting those 40 hours-a-week in at the beauty parlor or a health spa!

Defense outshines offense

Eagles throttled by Huskies

by Bill Sterner

The Bloomsburg Huskies "did it up right" in dedicating new Robert Redman Stadium by defeating Lock Haven State 7-0 Saturday. A drenched crowd of 6,000 braved the dismal afternoon to see the rain and cold wind combined with a sufficient Husky defense send the Eagles into a spiraling 0-2 seasonal record. Once again for LHS, the game was an instant replay of last week with the spot light on the defense, and the offense slinking away into the darkness. Just when the Eagles offense appeared as if it were about to click, untimely mistakes threw a rain soaked shroud over any hopes.

The first period ended in a scoreless tie, being dominated by the tenacious Bald Eagle defense. Led by the tremendous charge of defensive tackle Dan Engleman, LHS throttled Bloom by taking the game to the Huskies. However, the Eagle offense failed to give the needed rest to their anchor unit.

In the late minutes of the second quarter, Bloom quarterback Gene Markoski slowly drove the Huskies from their own 29 to the LHS 6. From there, Markoski lofted a pass into the left flat to tight end Mike Steigerault. Steigerault dodged the rain drops and danced unmolested into the endzone for the only touchdown of the game. Bob Hughes added the extra point, and Bloom enjoyed a 7-0 lead at halftime.

Early into the third quarter, the rains began to pound unmercifully on the Redman turf making footing treacherous and virtually shutting off the airplanes. Dave Bower began to move the Eagle offense, however the wet ball caused two costly fumbles while the drenched playing field played the best defensive game for Bloomsburg. The two teams battled continuously between the thirty yard lines. Late in the game, a last ditch attempt at a tie failed for the Eagles when Bower was intercepted.

For the last two weeks the Eagles have fooled alot of people, including me. This week, however, I'll go once again with Lock Haven to defeat California State on Saturday at Cal. State. This game should be an exciting affair between two evenly matched big clubs.

Pitt came the best of the Eastern independents last week, (standings wise, anyway) when they defeated Georgia Tech 27-17. However, the Panthers won't get by Southern California this week.

Penn State suffered one of the most humiliating upsets in their football history last week dropping one to Navy and the rain 7-6. Look for the Lions to get back on the winning route on Saturday against Iowa.

Here is how Lock Haven's opponents fared on Saturday.

Slippery Rock-31, Muskingum-0; Edinboro-21, Baldwin-Wallace-13; Indiana-7, Curtland-6; West Chester-9, Clarion-3, Millersville-40, California-0; Shippensburg-14, Kutztown-7; Mansfield-27, D.C. Teachers-6.

Ship, Clarion, and Bloom outrun Eagle harriers

The Eagle harriers lost their second, third and fourth meets of the year Saturday when they traveled to Shippensburg losing to Shippensburg 24-32, Clarion 20-36, and Bloomsburg 19-40 on Shippensburg's four mile course.

The winner of the event was Clarions' Jerry Buck who finished the course with a time of 20:29. The top placer for Lock Haven was sophomore Kip Fraass who finished sixth overall. Bill Landis was second for

Eaglettes win season opener

by George Morrison

In field hockey action this past weekend our Eaglettes scored an impressive 6-0 win over the Keystone Hockey Club.

The Haven led a 1-0 edge at half time on the lone score by Pat Ogle. Then in the second half the Eaglettes broke the game wide open, adding 5 more goals.

Playing an outstanding game for the Haven on offense was Pat Ogle with 2 goals and Pat Rudy with 4. Defensive standouts were freshman Wendy Keller and veterans Ronnie Lawson and Bev Garman.

The Eaglettes, now 1-0 on the season, travel to Slippery Rock Thursday for a 4 pm contest with the Rockettes.

the team and 15th overall. Behind Landis was teammate Eric Burkert. Dennis Hamon finished fourth for the Eagles and 19 overall. Freshman Paul DeWalt came in 22nd overall and fifth for the team.

Also finishing for Lock Haven was Lou Fiorillo (24); Tom Bush (31); Tom Getz (33); Bob Wagner (34); Matt Delfert (37); and Neil Mowery (38). The harriers next opponents are Clarion and California at California Saturday with a starting time of 11:00 am.

at which nominations for executive committee officers will be open, is October 2. The meeting, open to all students, will be held at 7 pm in the PUB lounge.
