The weather conditions did not stop the Lock Haven crowd from giving their support Friday night at the Homecoming pep rally in the parking lot of Jack Stadium.

The band played and the cheerleaders performed and led the crowd in spirit chants.

Following the pep rally, the fireworks display began. The Zambelli Bros. were the organizers for the fireworks display.

The next day's festivities began with the Homecoming parade, and were topped off by the crowning of the king and queen.

Matt Kitting and Sheri Gordon won the Homecoming King and Queen honors, and were crowned by LHU President, Dr. Craig Dean Willis.

Floats from various clubs, organizations, and residence halls passed by in review of LHU students and alumni on Saturday morning.

The winning float was made by Gross Hall.

Their theme was "Gross Hall presents a night at the drive-in."

Judy Cochrane, Gross Hall Coordinator for Student Life, said, "I think it's great that they received the recognition they did."

Vickie Laugalis, President of Gross Hall Council, said, "We didn't expect to win. It was a nice surprise."

Laugalis added that they went all over town gathering material for the float.

Laugalis continued by saying that the prize money will probably be added to the fundraising fund, but she said, "it will be discussed at the next council meeting."

She finished by commending the tremendous help given by exchange student Lutz Marshall.

Tabatha Margerum, a wing representative, said, "We worked on the float every night from 7-11 pm. We were up at 6 am Saturday working on the float to have it ready by 9:45 a.m."

Students evacuated twice...

Fire alarms heat-up McEntire

By Jeffrey Hilty
Co-News Editor

Last weekend, McEntire Hall experienced not one, but two fire alarm incidents.

Sunday morning at 1:05 a.m. the fire alarm on the seventh floor was pulled.

The bulletin board on the front men's wing was on fire, and someone put it out with a fire extinguisher.

The building was then evacuated.

Law Enforcement Officer Neil Lehman and Student Officer Brian Smith responded to the call.

Gale Kist, Head Counselor at McEntire, said, "Law Enforcement was called to determine whether or not the damage was enough to warrant clearing the floor for the night."

Everyone was permitted to re-enter the building within 25 minutes.

Students returned to their rooms by the stairs and the elevators.

However, 14 students who entered an elevator were trapped.

The officers said that the students were trapped because the elevator car could not handle the weight load.

Two other students trapped in the elevator saw that a girl seemed a bit scared so they started the whole group singing a chorus of "99 Bottles of beer on the wall."

The elevator car door was opened within 10 minutes.

Again at 2:50 a.m. the same morning, a fire alarm on a different floor of McEntire Hall, was pulled.

The building was emptied again and searched for any signs of a fire.

Students then re-entered the building.

Lt. Dennis Grenninger of Law Enforcement, stated that they have a possible suspect in the first fire alarm incident.

Grenninger said that they have no suspect in the false alarm of the second incident.

Mary Lou Case, McEntire Hall Coordinator for Student Life, had no comment other than to say that Law Enforcement has matters under investigation.

Community invited to 'quit tobacco'

By Sue Berger
Co-News Editor

Pipes, snuff and chewing tobacco are just as harmful as cigarettes, according to Carol Eaton, Nurse of Hope at the Lock Haven Hospital.

Eaton said that cancer caused by tobacco is the most preventable form of cancer.

The Lock Haven Hospital, the Lifestyle Improvement For Everyone (LIFE) organization at Lock Haven University, and the American Cancer Society are joining together to help people quit using tobacco and tobacco products.

These three organizations are presenting a Fresh Start Clinic called "Quit Tobacco for Life" which will be held at the Extended Care area on the ground floor of Lock Haven Hospital.

The first session will be held on Thursday from 7:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Five more sessions will be held on each following Thursday at the same time.

Eaton said that this is a progressive program, but interested people can still come if they miss the first session or two.

Dr. Bruce Bilder, of Lock Haven Hospital, and several doctors yet to be announced will speak at the sessions.

Eaton said that several of the nurses who work at the hospital and who have stopped smoking will give tips on how they succeeded in giving up tobacco.

Participants will be able to have one on one discussions with each other for support, and for ideas on how to quit.

Group discussions will also be arranged, and time will be available for question and answer periods.

The hospital and the Cancer Society will also have literature available on how to quit smoking.

The Cancer Society is sponsoring programs all over the United States on smoking, said Eaton.

She added that this is to help prepare people for the Great American Smokeout in November.

Senior Eve Benner, an intern at LIFE, said that the LIFE organization based at LHU is a health promotion agency.

Professor Terry Shultz of the Health Science Department is working with LIFE to promote health on campus.

Cindy Mengel, who received the three year state grant for the LIFE project, is promoting health in the Lock Haven community and industries.

Benner said that LIFE is working on other health programs as well as the "Quit tobacco for Life" sessions.

Some of these programs include a lower back workshop, a weight reduction program, a Nautilus program, and a walking club.

Complaining doesn't win SCC elections

Baseball? Football? Watching television? Which one of these would Americans say is their favorite pastime? My choice is none of the above. I say with much confidence, that America's favorite activity is complaining.

Sure, all of us here at LHU have made it through a day without playing baseball or football. Even though it is hard to believe that some people don't watch at least a little TV each day... it does occur. Can you really remember ever going a whole day without complaining? Even the happiest and most righteous among us find something to spout-off about during a day's time.

The most popular complaint topics on campus are of, course, various things about LHU. Popular quotes seem to usually be: "That lousy prof is too tough;" "Of course it's raining, we're in Lock Haven;" "This food is terrible;" and the ever popular "Why did the SCC do that, or why didn't they do this?"

Complaining is great, but at times it just isn't enough...you just have to act. Most of the time when people ask you to act, that means getting involved. I'm not pushing that; all I'm saying is that the students of LHU can at least do something about the last two complaints I mentioned above.

The next question is how, but that one is easy. Even though it was not highly publicized, today is the day for SCC elections. Get out and exercise your right and obligation to vote. Your one vote can make a big difference. Way too often in the political arena, a candidate (usually not the best one) will win due to an extremely small voter turnout. The majority of that turnout then, will be friends of the winning candidate who were pushed into voting.

Make a difference, and spare a couple minutes of your precious time to vote for the best SCC Senators. It wouldn't hurt to vote capable and intelligent people into the SCC, you would just have to find another topic to complain about.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Being a good friend of the Havoc residents, it was with great distress that I read Friday's Eagle Eye, where the headline screamed, "Cops raid Airport and Havoc last weekend." Was I upset at having missed a party? NO! The fact is, the Havoc was not--repeat not--raided last weekend, or any other time this semester. A little more emphasis on truth and a little less emphasis on going for the tabloid (read: trashy) headline and this problem could have been avoided.

As for the new "get tough" policy by police, "strong arm tactics" may be a better phrase for it. Earlier in the semester, the city police came to the Havoc on the morning after a party and told the residents, not in so many words, that if they had another party, they would surely get busted.

Threats? Before the fact? Are we college students to be found guilty, not even given a chance to prove our innocence, to prove that we can be responsible?

So it seems.

Bald Eagles booters flying high at 5-0-3

Can you remember the 1984 Homecoming soccer match when Lock Haven came back from a 2-1 deficit to win 3-2 over the Golden Knights of Gannon, with the final two goals coming in the last minute of the game?

The 1986 Homecoming game against Gannon sent some pleasant memories and hopes for a repeat performance through the minds of many fans, but this one was to end only in a 1-1 stalemate.

The game started off in Lock Haven's favor when forward Steve Pagula drove the ball into the Knights goal area and was fouled by a defender.

The referee awarded a penalty kick, which was taken by Haven midfielder Rob Eaton. Eaton lined the ball up on the mark and hit a line drive shot to the corner of the net, past a diving Gannon goalkeeper, Mike Celetti.

The remainder of the first half play was confined, for the most part, to the midfield area.

Bald Eagle defender Phil Stephenson described the game as being mostly "a midfield battle."

The early part of the second half seemed to be controlled by Gannon.

After being outshot 5-0 in the first half, the Knight's first strike on goal was to be the game tying element.

Gannon midfielders Hans van Rheenen and Wayne van DeMerwe combined for a goal with only 14:24 off the second half's clock.

In the following 31 minutes, neither team was to decide this relentless struggle.

The game, now 90 minutes old, was forced into two ten minute overtime periods.

Even though the game was long, it was not without its last minute excitement.

With only four minutes left in the second overtime period, Gannon caught fire. Four shots, one after another, came directly at the LHU net.

If not for the efforts of Haven goalie Warren Westcoat, and a kindly deflection from the post, Gannon would have been victorious.

The game ended without a winner.

Lock Haven took nine shots and eight corner kicks, while the Knights were credited with only six shots and two corner kicks. Celetti had four saves, and Westcoat had three.

Haven sophomore defender Andrew Monteith said, "We outplayed the second team in the nation (Division II), and deserved to win."

As of press time, LHU was ranked 13th in Division II. Due to the tie, LHU is expected to rise in the ratings.

Stephenson said, "This match serves as a warning to other teams. We've come to play!"

The Bald Eagles will be traveling to Bucknell for a 7p.m. match against the 3-4 Bison tomorrow. Last year Lock Haven was beaten by a score of 5-1 at Bucknell, and will be looking to settle the score.

X-C teams go 1-3 over weekend

By Dan Hanson
Sports Reporter

The men's cross country team split and the women's team got their first losses of the season in a tri-meet Saturday here at Lock Haven.

Brad Seth finished 12th in 27:47, and John Widl and Dan Sheredy took 14th and 15th to lead the Bald Eagles (2-2) to a 26-29 victory over the Huskies of Bloomsburg.

Coach Kurt Smith was not suprised with the outcome of the meet, but was impressed with freshman Widl.

"John ran a good race," said Smith, "he just gets tougher every week."

Jack Cuvo of East Stroudsburg, running in his first meet of the season, raced to a first place finish in 25:46 to pace the Warriors over the Bald Eagles 15-50 and the Huskies 15-48.

Cuvo, a sophomore, had missed the season up to this point because he was wrestling for a spot in the Pan-Am games in Budapest where he will be representing the United States next month.

In the women's meet the Lady Eagles (1-2) missed the services of Sue Kutz in losing to both Bloomsburg and East Stroudsburg by the score of 26-31.

"We ran excellent times," coach Leroy Straley said about the meet, "and with the talent we had, we ran the best we could."

Pam Noll finished third in 19:54, and Jill Baumgartner placed sixth in 20:25 for the Lady Eagles.

East Stroudsburg's Georgia Messenger crossed the line in 19:25 for first place as the Warriors edged Bloomsburg 25-30.

The meet also included some Lock Haven alumni braving the humidity to relive their college cross country days.

Alumnus Rick Blood had an impressive showing finishing second (Alumni didn't count in the scoring) behind Cuvo in 25:58.

Both the men's and women's teams are away this weekend at the Bloomsburg Invitational at 10:30a.m..

Field Hockey raises record to 3-3 with wins over Ball State and Bucknell this weekend

By Joselle Melito
Sports Reporter

The Women's Field Hockey team earned one of their two victories last weekend by scoring three goals in the second half to defeat Ball State University on Friday 3-0.

The Lady Eagles went into the second half at a 0-0 tie with Ball State. Ginny Neiss scored the first goal of the game at 9:20 into the second half off of a penalty stroke. The penalty stroke was set up by Karen Geremia, who took a shot in front of the cage and hit the sweeper back's body.

Three minutes later, Karen Fry stopped the ball and shot it. It deflected off of Doobie Caprio, who in return, scored the second goal for the Haven.

The third goal of the game was scored at 17:15 into the second half. Tami Flowers shot from the top of the circle and made the goal.

On Sunday, the Lady Eagles came away with a victory over Bucknell University, 1-0.

Ginny Neiss scored the Haven's only goal off of a penalty corner, at 21:08 into the first period.

The Lady Eagles missed three other open cage shots in the first period. "We pressured them but we just couldn't hit the cage," said Coach Sharon Taylor. "The whole game seemed to be played in slow motion. We didn't move the ball well offensively or defensively."

Early in the game, a very unusual save was made by the Haven's goalie Lori Sannella. Taylor said, "It was an excellent save. Even the official said that it was the best save she has seen a goalie make all season."

The Lady Eagles next game will be on Thursday at Ursinus College. "This is going to be a big test for us," said Taylor. "They always play us tough. They are a strong team all-around and have always given us tough competition."

Game 3: Red Raiders dampen Homecoming 17-7

By Bill Alexander
Co-Sports Editor

The Bald Eagle football team took another step backwards on Saturday as they lost to the Red Raiders of Shippensburg by a score of 17-7, dropping their season record to 0-3.

Ship drew first blood as the Raiders Kevin Mylett took a Matt Kitting punt at the Eagles 46-yard line and turned it into six points. Barry Jackson's extra point was good and the Red Raiders led 7-0.

It looked as if the Eagles knotted the score in the second quarter. On the second play, Eagle QB Pat Cahill had a 67-yard TD run called back on a clipping penalty and the Eagles were forced to punt.

On the next series, Cahill drove the Eagles 71-yards in five plays and hit

John Klacik with a 51-yard scoring strike. Mickey Miller's point after touchdown tied the score at seven.

Not to be outdone, Ship QB Bill Roth gave the Raiders the lead, with 36 ticks left before halftime, as he connected with Jeff Lucas for a 24-yard TD. Jackson's PAT gave the Raiders a 14-7 halftime lead.

The Eagles just couldn't get the offense on track in the second half and totaled only three first downs.

The final scoring of the game came with 1:51 left in the fourth as Ship's Jackson kicked a 26-yard field goal.

The Eagles had a chance to close the gap in the score, but the insuing kickoff was fumbled and Ship recovered and ran out the clock.

With their record standing at 0-3, the Eagles go on the road this Saturday to face the Vulcans of California.

Wide receiver John Klacik is ready to haul in a 51-yard TD pass from QB Pat Cahill. Unfortunately, this was the Eagle's only score on Saturday as Shippensburg defeated Lock Haven 17-7.

Alumnus dies after cancer battle

After a two-year battle with cancer, LHU Alumnus Troy Nelson Turner, 24, of 232 W. Church St., Lock Haven, died on Sunday in Geisinger Medical Center.

Born on August 19, 1962 in Altoona, he was the son of LHU's Head Wrestling Coach Neil Turner, and Marcella Elbell Turner of Lock Haven.

He was married to the former Beth Weigle.

A 1980 graduate of Clearfield High School where he participated in football and wrestling, Turner was graduated from LHU in 1984 with highest honors.

He was a member of First Presbyterian Church in Clearfield most of his life and was employed with Young Adults Campus Ministry through Great Island Presbyterian Church in Lock Haven.

Turner attended the Gardon Conwell Theological Seminary from 1984 until his illness forced him to return home in the fall of 1985.

He was a member of the Phi Kappa Phi National National Scholastic Honor Fraternity.

Turner was named the Outstanding Young Religious Leader in Lock Haven in 1986 by the Jaycees and was nominated this year for the Outstanding Young Men in America.

Surviving along with his wife and parents are two brothers, Thane Turner and Trent Turner, both at home, and a paternal grandmother, Lucille Turner of Frenchville, Pa.
