UPWARD BOUND BIG SUCCESS

Ninety high school students from a nine-county area in Central Pennsylvania completed eight weeks of study at this college on August 13, 1966. Certificates signifying completion of the course were presented by Dr. Gerald R. Robinson, Dean of Academic Affairs, at a closing exercise August 13.

The UPWARD BOUND Project sponsored by Lock Haven State College was funded by the United States Office of Economic Opportunity. Designed for youths with college potential from low-income families, the summer program provided students with eight weeks of intensive study in English, mathematics, science, social studies, art, music and physical education.

In addition to classroom studies, field trips offered educational and cultural experiences. On weekends, students traveled to Corning Glass Company, Corning, New York, the Pennsylvania Grand Canyon, English Center, Pine Creek Dam, Washington, D.C. and Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. The Lock Haven Express, Lock Haven Hospital, Piper Aircraft Corporation, and Hammermill Paper Company were among local industries toured by students. A tour of Cerro Corporation, Bellefonte, Pa. gave some of the boys insight into the non-ferrous metal fabricating industry.

A study of the principles of flight and topographic maps ended in an airplane flight over local terrain.

The teaching and counseling staff of the UPWARD BOUND Project believe the summer program has been successful and are looking forward to greater evidences of success in the coming academic year. These students will receive follow-up tutoring and counseling services in their home communities while completing their high school education.

Greetings From Dean of Men and Women

DEAN OF WOMEN

Dear Freshman:

It is with a great deal of pleasure that I welcome you as a member of the class of 1970.

I am looking forward to having the opportunity of sharing with you the many delightful social activities and rewarding educational experiences of the coming year. Sharing of enjoyable and profitable experiences through group living, the growth of individual social understanding and responsibility, and the creating of group spirit and loyalty to Lock Haven State are all goals that each of us will be striving for as we enter this college year.

You are now the member of a college student body. Each must attempt to have respect for and to encourage the best in other people, but in so doing, try not to lose your identity as an individual or your respect for yourself.

Best wishes for a highly successful year.

Very sincerely,

(Miss) Evelyn M. Nicholson
Dean of Women

DEAN OF MEN

Dear Frosh:

I extend to you a cordial welcome as a newcomer to Lock Haven State College.

Your first week on campus will be very important in determining the success of your college career. I would urge you to take full advantage of every opportunity to get acquainted with your classmates, the upperclassmen, the faculty and administration of our college. In addition, you should make every attempt to learn about the academic profession, and extra-curricular activities available to you. Our theme at Lock Haven is to feature a total education approach. I hope that you will be part of our program.

Going to college is a full time job that begins for you today.

I hope that by the conclusion of this week you will feel like a full-fledged campus citizen ready to assume the responsibility of furthering your own education.

The office of the Dean of Men exists for the purpose of serving you. Please feel free to stop at any occasion so that I may have the opportunity to meet you. Best wishes for a successful college experience.

Sincerely yours,
F. J. Cornelius
Dean of Men

Editor, IFC Pres.

THE EDITOR

The editor and staff of the Eagle Eye would like, by writing this editorial, to extend greetings and best wishes for a successful year to the incoming freshmen class. In one respect, beginning a college career is merely a continuation of a high school education on a considerably higher and more specialized level. This view of a college education has vestiges of pessimism because the four years you hope to spend at Lock Haven will be of utmost significance as you prepare yourselves for what you hope to accomplish in life.

The 1966-67 college year at LHSC promises to be the best ever. There have been many additions to the faculty. More and better social activities are planned. A new library and other educational buildings will be erected during your stay at LHSC.

Again, best wishes for a successful college career from the Editor and Staff of the Eagle Eye.

PRESIDENT, IFC

In behalf of the Inter-fraternity Council of Lock Haven State, I would like to take this opportunity to welcome the incoming freshmen men. I would urge all freshmen men to strive to attain at least a 2.0 average so that they will be able to pledge a fraternity the second semester.

I hope that your summer was pleasureable, profitable, and relaxing, and that you are ready to begin the serious business of a college career.

Fraternally yours,
Alex Morris
President, IFC

A Welcome From SCC Pres.

On behalf of the Student Co-operative Council I would like to take this opportunity, via the Eagle Eye, to welcome all incoming Freshmen, returning students, old and new Faculty members, and all staff personnel including non-instructional members. It is an honor and privilege when one has such an opportunity to extend this greeting.

Lock Haven State is a unique institution offering much opportunity to undergraduates to participate fully in governmental and non-governmental activities. It is the exception rather than the rule when an undergraduate is not afforded the chance to participate in some form of activity.

Students at Lock Haven have only to blame themselves when faced with a displeasing problem. Complacency, lack of participation, and general apathy have been detrimental in many areas of student endeavor, in past years. However, although the number is still small, there are enough students to carry on the business of the undergraduate programs.

In the preface of the 1966 Præco there appeared a definition for the initials L.H.S.C. Four basic principals are expanded in the preface. It is not for me to relate the preface verbatim, but it is note-worthy in that there is much truth in the passage.

The 1966-67 academic year will be one of transition for Lock Haven State. Extensive building programs, for example are indicative of the "growing pains" being experienced. A great challenge is therefore facing the Freshman class of 1970. The fact that you represent a new decade is in itself significant. You will be faced with many perplexing situations, but much can be accomplished through a co-operative effort.

We have an excellent administrative staff which is sincerely interested in you, the student. The student Personnel Staff endeavors to provide the most comprehensive and well-rounded Student Affairs program available. This staff is willing to do their part in providing the best for you; but the responsibility of having a successful year remains with all undergraduates. As the leaders of the next generation, it will remain your responsibility to accept and assume leadership now!

Best regards for a successful year, socially, culturally, and intellectually.

Sincerely,
Jon Masood
President, S.C.C.

Students Report on Teenage Drug Usage

NEW YORK — Drug usage among American teen-agers may not be as widespread as some fear, but it is not confined to the slums, or to a miniscule beatnik fringe.

According to a report in the September issue of Seventeen Magazine, based on 1,100 responses to a survey sent by publication to girls of 13 to 20, from every state in the union:

—5.5% surveyed (close to one out of every 18) have used drugs for other than medicinal purposes at least once;

—three out of 10 of these experimenters — one in every 61 girls studied — are still using drugs;

—more than eight out of 10 of the regular users smoke marijuana . . . more than a third swallow pep pills . . . almost a third take LSD — and most are involved with more than a single drug —these girls have little difficulty securing drugs through illicit channels.

A careful analysis of the teens' frank and anonymous answers to the four-page questionnaire also shows that:

Among girls who have tried drugs, half used amphetamides (pep pills); almost half, marijuana; one in five, LSD. About one in 10 sniffed glue or swallowed barbituates. Three-fourths of the girls who have tried drugs did so between ages of 15 and 17, but 18.0% were 14 or younger.

Almost half the girls in the sample have had at least indirect contact with drugs. 47.0% know a boy or girl who uses drugs, or know one they believe is using them.

Most teens have low opinions of other teens who try drugs, but most are highly curious about drugs. 95% have discussed the subject with friends, in school, with their parents, or in church.

WHAT THEY TAKE

Although most teens from average homes have enough knowledge of heroin to steer clear of it ("No kid in his right mind takes heroin," says one college freshman), Seventeen reports that some do not realize they are flirting with narcotics when they seek a drug high from non-prescription cough medicines.

Fewer than one in 10 of the surveyed teens who had tried drugs chose "goof balls" (teen vernacular for barbituated, prescription sleeping pills), but, the study shows, pep pills (amphetamines) are widely used by teens who underestimate their dangers. Some college students take them at exam time to keep awake for all-night studying and some mistakenly believe dexedrine (a full-fledged amphetamine) is free from hazard. One student, who had four finals in three days, took "dex" to help her stay awake to study, a friend reports. The result: "She thought she wrote a brilliant economic exam . . . found out later that she had just scrawled a single sentence — 'I am a sugar plum fairy' — all over the blue book."

Some girls who find it difficult to mix at a party take pep pills to get an exhilarating sense of hectic involvement, the article reveals. Others pop a few into their mouth before a date. One of these teens reported a "frightening reaction" — her mouth and neck became locked in a spasm, causing her to be hospitalized. The same girl tried a relaxant before a date and later "couldn't remember a thing that happened all evening." A minor cousin of the pep pills — a caffeine drug sold without prescription — is also popular with college students.

WHY THEY TAKE IT

A 17-year-old Virginian smokes marijuana ("blows pot") "because I enjoy it and don't feel it's wrong," a college freshman says, because "everything is very nice . . . you have a constant smile on your face."

Young marijuana smokers are in danger of moving on to the bigger bang of LSD and other drugs which alter the consciousness. These Hallucinogens have a sharp fascination for teen-agers, particularly those looking for a gimmick to self-understanding.

Alice Lake, who wrote the Seventeen article, and who interviewed teen-agers from all walks of life to supplement the survey, concludes: "The world of drugs contains every element appealing to youth's conforming nonconformity." A college freshman told her, "Taking drugs is the cool thing to do . . . It's in." Pressure from the crowd is another factor inducing teen-agers to try drugs. ("I couldn't say no, not be part of the group," explained a 15-year-old from Illinois.) In some schools, drug users form an exclusive clique ("It's something to do at a party and then brag about.")

Other factors: the fun of horrifying parents, the secrecy, the danger, the new "in" language — "joint" is slang for a marijuana cigarette, a "nickel bag" is five dollars worth of marijuana tobacco, an "acid-head takes a trip" and a "pot-head turns on."

Most of the teens who had tried drugs fall into the category of "fun users" and most are fairly casual about them. "My purpose in life is to experience as much pleasure and the least amount of pain as possible," said a 16-year-old. And a college freshman admitted: "I enjoy taking marijuana occasionally just as I enjoy ice-cream cones."

For others, drugs answer an inner need. "At times the world is just too much," one

This edition of the Eagle Eye marks a milestone in student journalism at Lock Haven State. The Eagle Eye has never been published before the second week in September in previous years. Early in August the Student Co-Op Council and the Eagle Eye decided to publish a Freshman edition for circulation September 6. Returning members of the Eagle Eye staff were contacted and later met to decide just what the freshman edition should include. Since most of the Eagle Eye staff were holding summer jobs, it became necessary to work on the paper at night. This edition represents many hours of voluntary work in order that we might better serve the student body of Lock Haven State.

girl wrote. Another, describing several friends who take mescaline and marijuana regularly, said "With them it's not just a healthy rebellion but a basic malaise . . . a feeling of helplessness, that everything is wrong with their world and there's nothing they can do about it."

IMPORTANT FRESHMEN SCHEDULES

The important schedules of the first two weeks of school are reproduced here for those Freshmen who have lost or mutilated their copy, and for the benefit of the Upperclassmen who wish to see how Freshman Week has changed.

It is suggested that you post this page in your room so that you have an easy reference handy at all times. Not only that, it would be nice if someone framed our newspaper for a change instead of using it for a floor mat. Of course you can always send this page home to confuse and bewilder your parents.

Booters Look Forward To Busy 1966 Season

According to head coach George Lawther, the soccer team plays one of the roughest schedules imaginable. The team did not report for practice until a date following press time; therefore, the caliber of the candidates and prospects for the coming season could not be determined. Coach Lawther mentioned that a quarter finalist in the NAIA tourney were included in the Eagle schedule. More on LHSC's always strong soccer team next week.

AN EARLY PEEK AT WRESTLING SCHEDULE

The sports department of the Express, the Lock Haven newspaper, has mentioned Lock Haven State's wrestling opponents for the 1966-67 season. New opponents include Springfield College, Lycoming College, and River Falls College, Wisconsin. All three have fine wrestling teams.

The Eagles, under coach Hubert Jack, the Dean of Pennsylvania state college coaches, recorded a 5-3 record last year, scoring 200 points to the opponent's 166. Coach Jack will begin his 21st year as head football coach at LHSC with a total record over the last twenty years of 95 wins, 71 losses, and seven ties. Below is the varsity schedule followed by the J. V. schedule.

Springfield has won the New England Intercollegiate Wrestling Association tournament team championship for 16 straight years. Springfield's record included victories over such teams as Harvard, (27-11), Brown, (26-6), Williams, (20-12), Franklin & Marshall, (20-13), and Wesleyan, (32-7).

The New England team has several first stringers returning, and they are headed by two conference champions. Springfield wrestles in LHSC's home opener and should provide plenty of excitement for the hometown fans.

Cross Country Team Looks To Fine Season in 1966

The LHSC cross country team under Coach Dave Beaver, by all indications, should have their finest season yet following the track team's 1966 undefeated season. Several LHSC runners have competed in tournaments and meets through the summer. The team was not on campus at press time so the returning lettermen and outstanding prospects along with an overall view of this season's outlook will be discussed in the next issue. Following is the schedule for 1966.
