Women's Dormitory Hours Policy Now Liberalized at LHS

In a major dormitory change during the summer, the Lock Haven State administration has approved a much more liberal women's hours policy than was previously in practice at the college.

An unprecedented privilege has been extended to juniors and senior resident women. Miss Evelyn M. Nicholson, LHS dean of women, approved a recommendation that these women be given permission for unlimited hours on Saturday nights.

The approved recommendation, passed by the Women's Residence Hall Association, also called for later sign-in times for all women students.

For the first time, freshmen coeds will have extended privileges. They will be permitted to remain outside the dormitory until 10:30 pm during the first nine weeks of the beginning semester. Following this time period, the women may stay out until 11 pm.

In 1967, freshmen women were required to be in the residence halls at 9 pm; last year the time was extended one-half hour.

However, if a freshmen coed receives any low mid-semester grades, these privileges will be restricted.

Upperclass women will also benefit from the new regulations. Formerly 10:30 pm was the curfew during the week. This year, sophomores have been given a midnight sign-in time; juniors are not required to be back in the dorm until 1 am.

Over the weekends, sophomores have even later hours - 1:30 am on Friday and 2:30 am on Saturday. Juniors and seniors living in the dorm must be in at 2 am Friday. Sunday hours are midnight for all women.

Senior women living off campus have unlimited hours for every evening.

Library Chaotic

Chaos still reigns at LHS libraries, however, there are certain procedures which can help the student withdraw books.

All reference books, reserved books, periodicals, and the card catalogue are still located in the old library. All other books are now in the new Stevenson Library.

The procedure for acquiring library books was outlined by Bruce Thomas, librarian. Students are to utilize the card catalogue in the old library and submit a list of books needed to the librarian.

Students can then pick up their books three times daily. If the list is submitted in the morning the students can pick up their books at noon. Those students who submit books by noon can expect delivery by three; three o'clock submissions by six; and those lists submitted after six can be picked up the next morning.

Library hours have also been extended this year. The library will be open from 7:30 am to 10 pm weekdays; 7:45 am to 4 pm Saturday; and 2 to 10 pm on Sunday.

State Decision Due Soon On Miller Reinstatement

No decision has yet been handed down by the Pennsylvania Department of Education regarding Harry I. Miller's hearing in Harrisburg yesterday. President Richard T. Parsons represented the college, and both he and Miller presented their cases to Dr. George Hoffman, assistant secretary of education.

The hearing was another step in Miller's fight to be reinstated on LHS's faculty from which he was dismissed last May for "immorality" and possible "acts in violation of law." When asked the basis of his case, Miller replied: "It is my contention that the charges against me have no substance. The procedures violated my constitutional rights and the rules of the college."

Dr. Parsons' stand has remained unchanged. He stated that "as a college president, I cannot permit a faculty member to get paid $1500 with no proof of doing

'I have no faith in the faculty's ability to stand up to Dr. Parsons. He spit in their faces, and they stood by giggling and waiting for permission to wipe the spittle off.'

any work. Furthermore, this faculty member teaches American government, and I don't know how any student could go to him for instructions when he received federal money and didn't do any work."

The department of education has heard the case, and the final decision will be rendered by Dr. Kurtzman, secretary of education.

The LHS board of directors, however, can overrule this decision.

Present at the hearing were Dr. David Kurtzman, secretary of education; Dr. Fred Miller, commissioner of higher education; Warren Morgan, deputy attorney general; an AAUP (American Association of University Professors) representative, and Ambrose Campana, Miller's attorney.

When asked about the possibility of faculty support in the event that the department of education upholds the decision of the local board of trustees and refuses to recommend his reinstatement, Mr. Miller said: "I have no faith in the faculty's ability to stand up to Dr. Parsons. He spit in their faces and they stood by giggling and waiting for permission to wipe the spit off."

BOOK RUSH: For the first time, a security guard will be on duty as students purchase new books this week. This measure became necessary because of the robbery which occurred this summer. Shoplifting was prevalent last year, said bookstore officials, and this was another factor for the guard's presence.

Two Held in Bookstore Theft

Two LHS students have been charged and released on bail in connection with the SCC bookstore robbery this summer.

Raymond Frank Zale, physical education major, was charged with burglary and William Frederick Carpenter, senior elementary major, was charged with receiving stolen goods. Both were arraigned before alderman Samuel Walker on the felony charges. There are approximately 12 other college suspects in the case. Richard Bressler, the county probation officer, took charge of the juvenile suspects.

According to Monroe Hurwitz, bookstore manager, approximately $300 in merchandise was stolen from the bookstore.

Entry to the bookstore was gained through the roof. Suspects climbed down pipes in the air conditioning system and lifted the tiles from the ceiling.

Several items such as gym bags, class rings, magazines, records, and a silver mug have already been recovered.

After LHS officials identified two students involved, the case was turned over to the state police for further investigation.

According to Francis Cornelius, dean of men, the students' parents have been notified. Cornelius stated that "I am also disturbed by the emotional impact this matter had not only on those involved, but also on the parents of the arrested, teachers, advisors, and others in close contact with them."

College officials will take no disciplinary actions until the court hands down its decision.

To discourage further incidents of this nature, Hurwitz has undertaken several preventive steps. Students must leave all outer wear, books, notebooks, and brief-cases outside the bookstore on the book racks and clothes racks provided. Also for the first time at LHS, security guards will be on duty in the bookstore during book rush.

Soccer Outlook Appears Bright

With ten lettermen returning and freshmen eligible for varsity competition, the outlook for soccer is definitely bright.

Better overall personnel and more depth has many people thinking the squad can improve on last year's 7-2 record, second place finish in the Pennsylvania Conference, and a third place ranking in the 20 team Area 6.

The squad has been working out for a week and a few members have suffered injuries, but according to Coach Karl T. Herrmann, "the injuries are all minor strains of the thigh and are all due to a week of hard work."

Commenting on Saturday morning's intrasquad scrimmage Herrmann stated, "We look pretty good and definitely have depth. We're moving the ball much better than we ever have and as a result we're getting better shots."

Attitude and team moral appear to be a big plus because each individual knows he is being pushed for his position. Last year's trio of captains return again to lead the Bald Eagle booters.

Halfback Jack Infield directs the attack and appears to be in the right place at the right time.

Goalie Bruce Parkhill is the most noted of the tri-captains, having been selected as the first-team goalie on the 1968 Coaches' All-East All-American team. Coach Herrmann, speaking of Parkhill, stated, "Bruce has all the qualities necessary to be an outstanding goalie: size, speed, quickness, a tremendous arm, and generous amounts of courage."

The third captain, Jim Sleicher, rewrote the Bald Eagle scoring books last year with a record 18 goals.

The Bald Eagles' opponents will provide the biggest and toughest schedule in LHS history.

Some of the best schools in the nation are on the schedule. East Stroudsburg, defending champion, and Davis and Elkins, defending NAIA champion are the most formidable foes the Bald Eagles will face.

The booters will open the season Saturday afternoon when they face an Alumni team composed of 18 or 20 former greats at LHS.

SOCCER STANDOUTS: The 1969 soccer captains include juniors Jim Sleicher, Bruce Parkhill, and Jack Infield. All three captains are natural leaders; both on and off the field. They lead by example.

Birth Rate Record

The nation's record birth rate occurred in 1957 when 4,308,000 babies were born.

Commuting Men Hope To Increase Role on Campus

Composed entirely of commuting students, the Commuting Men's Council of Lock Haven State College is looking for new members from the freshman class. The first meeting of the CMC will be held today, September 9, at 1 pm in the conference room downstairs in the PUB. All freshmen commuting students, including women, are urged to attend.

Rick Lingle, vice-president of the organization, has stated that the CMC intends to expand their membership, to increase their activity in campus and community service projects, and to help improve the image of the student body in the community. Lingle stated that "the image of the college can be improved in the community and this is the job of the commuting students. We know the town and we know the college, and it is up to us to act as liaison between them."

Lingle also announced that the CMC, under the direction of its new advisor, Mr. Ralph Dessenberger, will start a program of tutoring for commuting students, and eventually hopes to expand to include all freshmen students who wish to have help in their studies.

The CMC is recognized by the SCC as an official campus organization and wants to take a more active part in campus affairs, their main goal being service. The group plans to participate in this year's United Fund Drive and have already been of help in conducting campus tours for the incoming freshmen last week. Says Lingle, "This year, we want the commuters to have an organization with drive."

A college girl we know is still undecided about her future career. When a new acquaintance came up with the inevitable campus query, "What's your major?" she replied, "English." "Oh, do you plan to teach?" "No," she replied. "Then what do you plan to do with it?" There was a pause. "Talk, I guess." Reader's Digest

Editorial Correction: In yesterday's editorial entitled "Disaster or Growth," the statement was made that "He (Harry I. Miller) himself admitted that he did negligible work on the government project for which he was paid." In clarification Eagle Eye would like to substitute the word "contribution" for the word "work." Miller did admit that his actual contribution to the final report was "negligible," but it was further contended that he did do actual research work on the project itself.
