VOLUME IV

Class of Nineteen Seventeen

TO PROFESSOR NELSON P. BENSON, M.A.

HEAD OF DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH AND

DEAN OF SENIOR CLASS,

We Respectfully Dedicate This Volume of Praeco

PROFESSOR Nelson P. Benson received his early education in the public schools of Austin and Pittsburgh, Pa. He graduated from Mansfield State Normal School in 1899, being a commencement speaker and on the honor roll. He taught two years in the ungraded schools of Potter County, after which he became principal of the grammar school at Costello. Following this he became principal of the public schools of Austin in 1903, during which time the high school course was lengthened to three years and two assistants were added to the corps of teachers under him. It was also as a result of his effort that a library was established, which proved to be of great educational value to the town. In 1906 he resigned his position in order to complete his course at the New York University, having attended in the meantime Valparaiso University, Valparaiso, Indiana.

In 1908 he received his B. A. degree, and in 1914 he received his M. A. degree from New York University. He is at present completing his work in English and Education for the Ph. D. degree in the Graduate School of New York University.

Professor Benson is now head of department of English at C. S. N. S., which department owes its present degree of excellence to his superior ability and untiring efforts. He was also founder of Praeco, and it was through his valuable help and advice that the present volume was made possible. The class of 1917 extend to him their most hearty thanks and appreciation.

The memory of Professor Benson will always remain the brightest of all the pleasant recollections of our C. S. N. S. days.

FOREWORD

INTERESTED reader, it has been our earnest efforts to put into this volume not words of flattery and criticism, which might prove offensive to organizations, professors, students, alumni or friends, but attractive to all acquainted with Normal days and to those desiring to be acquainted.

Viewed from a literary standpoint, Praeco IV is not a masterpiece, but a true portrayal of the aims, activities and joys of student days. Moreover, it gives expression to those sentiments that unite us all in the capacity of trustees, faculty, alumni, students and friends of the institution we love and honor.

We trust that each individual who is remembered in any way on these pages will feel complimented, for everybody who received attention was prominent enough to receive honorable mention. Therefore, consider a joke as a favor, a hard knock as a courtesy, and a real hard tearing out as a necessity to develop your individual moral fibre. We have tried to remember all from the worthy faculty, the organizations, the dignified Seniors, the grinding Juniors, the carefree Sophomores to the innocent Freshmen.

We wish to extend our thanks to our principal, Prof. Chas. Lose, A.M., and the faculty and also to our class dean, Prof. Nelson P. Benson, M.A., for their untiring efforts in behalf of the class of 1917.

We now respectfully commend this annual volume of Praeco IV. into your hands, trusting that it will always be a priceless link in the chain of memories which bind us to our Alma Mater.

TO THE FACULTY

On the tablets of our memory,
For the good that each has done,
We shall treasure precious lessons
Of the path our feet have come.

We are grateful for your guidance,
It the distant years will prove;
'Tis our prayer and lofty purpose
To be worthy of that love.

When the future years us summon
To the spot love's altars burn,
Still to honor and to praise thee,
Alma Mater's pilgrims turn.

Classmates, we have reached the turning
Of our young life's little day;
But we'll ne'er forget our Normal,
Though we're leaving her for aye.

CHARLES LOSE, A.M., PRINCIPAL

PRINCIPAL CHARLES LOSE, A.M.

PRINCIPAL, PEDAGOGY, SCHOOL ADMINISTRATION, GENERAL METHODS.

PROFESSOR CHARLES LOSE, Principal of the Central State Normal School, began his career as a teacher in the public schools of Lycoming County in 1872. Following several years as teacher in the schools of the county, he was elected principal of the Montoursville High School. In 1881 he became principal of the Lycoming County Normal School, situated at Muncy, which position he resigned to become County Superintendent of Schools of Lycoming County in 1885, by appointment of Governor Hastings. To this position he was re-elected twice, retiring at the end of eight years, of his own volition, to take charge as supervising principal of the Philipsburg, Center County schools. During the three years that he remained at Philipsburg he had an opportunity to familiarize himself with graded school work. In 1896 he was elected Superintendent of Schools of Williamsport, where he served with great success for eighteen years. He resigned this position to accept the principalship of the Central State Normal School on June 29th, 1914.

Principal Lose was elected president of the Pennsylvania State Educational Association in 1909, and he has also served as chairman of the City Superintendents' Department. He is widely known as an institute lecturer, and he served as an instructor in the pedagogical departments of the Summer Schools of Pennsylvania State College and of Grove City College.

Principal Lose received his early education in the Montoursville public schools, attending afterwards in succession the Lycoming County Normal School, Lafayette College, Bucknell University and the Horace Mann School of New York City, now Teachers' College of Columbia University. In 1890 he received the A.M. degree from Bucknell University.

Charles Lose, for the past three years Principal of the Central State Normal School, is by birth a Lycoming County man. Mr. Lose has spent his whole life in school work—first as teacher, then supervisor, county and city superintendent of schools, and as principal of County and State Normal schools. There are very few who know the schools of the state and their needs so well as he.

As has been said, Mr. Lose is just concluding his third year in the C. S. N. S., and the Editors of Praeco IV, as well as the students of the school can wish him no better luck than a continuation of the success that is attending him.

SONG (Tune, "There's a Long, Long Trail").

Come now, classmates, stand together,
Come join our refrain;
As we laud our Alma Mater
Where our hopes remain.
Sing the praises ever due her,
Raise her to the sky;
In strength and truth and loyalty
Our gallant colors fly.

CHORUS

Hail the class of nineteen seventeen!
May we never more lack
The faith that now inspires us
To the Orange and Black.
Hail our flower of tranquil beauty!
May you jealously teem
With the glory of the classmates,
Of the good class "seventeen."

With earnestness we climb the pathway,
That leads us unto fame;
Knowing well whate'er befalls us,
We can always claim
Loyalty from all our classmates
To speed us on our ways;
Grasping hands of those we hold so dear
To meet in future days.

CLASS POEM

Four years the class of '17
Has fought the fight and won;
Tho' sometimes we grew tired and sad,
And wished our course were run.

But lab'ring we have triumphed,
After many well-spent hours;
Until finally we've reached the goal,
And victory now is ours.

With hearts sincere and words of truth
Now '17 bids adieu;
With mirth and cheer we go from here,
And leave our school to you.

Yes, gay we are, and happy;
For the cares of the world—a song;
We sing for the joy of singing,
And hurry the days along.

But sad our thoughts of leaving you,
There are some who wonder why;
And schoolmates, I will tell you,
We hate to say "Good-bye."

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

WHEN our class came here four years ago it was merely a promise. Today that promise has been fulfilled. For three years we have stood first among the classes in scholarship; we have been foremost in athletics, and, together with the quality, we have had the quantity.

During our Freshman year we were kept busy learning how to do things and to live down the green which seemed to belong to us by the ably filled the post. Here our athletic ability first manifested itself, when we beat the Seniors at basketball.

At the beginning of the Sophomore year some familiar faces were missing, and many new ones were added to our number. Nevin Grieb was again elected class president, and we entered at once into the activities of school life.

Our third year at school was very successful. The number in the class was increased by graduates of four-year high schools, and the class now contains a hundred bright, intelligent and noble young men and women, who are preparing themselves to meet the future in the best possible manner. Palmer M. Elfish was elected class president and the other class officers were carefully chosen, which aided in keeping the class together. We now devoted more time to social duties and showed our class spirit by tendering the Seniors a reception which will long remain a pleasant memory in the minds of all. We met the State Board without flinching and passed through the much-dreaded ordeal with a smile, and when we had finished we were very proud of the fact that we were now dignified Seniors.

Our class was increased at the beginning of the Senior year by a few new students. Palmer M. Elfish was elected president without one dissenting vote. His devotion to the interests of the class during our Junior year shows clearly that this year will be made a success. Social affairs began almost immediately for us this year in the form of a Senior corn roast. Other activities followed. The Juniors gave a reception to the Seniors, which was very successful and which all enjoyed greatly. King Winter gave us ideal weather for our sled ride, which was a notable success and will always be a pleasant reminiscence for the members of our class.

With our many social activities we did not neglect to uphold the excellent standard which we had gained. The annual State Board visit has come and gone, and we are now enjoying the last days of our sojourn at C. S. N. S. as a class. We have labored long to attain our present standing, and we have a right to feel proud of our position as the class of '17. This is our class history as far as facts are concerned, but the pleasant memories of the members cannot be recorded.

May the members of the class of '17 find their future paths as pleasant as those they have already traversed.

SARAH WHITMAN.

CLASS PROPHECY

*Friends all that listen here,
With eager eye and willing ear;
Prepare a simple tale to hear.*

*Long has paled our sunny sky,
Echoes fade and memories fly,
But friendships formed will never die.*

One thing was certain, that the white kitten had nothing to do with it—it was the black kitten's fault entirely. For the white kitten had had its face washed by the old cat for half an hour, so it couldn't have had any hand in the mischief.

But the black kitten had been finished earlier in the afternoon, while Alice was sitting curled up in a corner of the great armchair half asleep. The kitten had been having a game of romps with the ball of worsted that Alice was trying to twine. Picking up the black kitten, Alice said, "Oh, you naughty, naughty kitten!" And because it was sulky she held it up before the looking glass to see how sulky it really appeared. "If you're not good directly, I shall put you through the Looking Glass House and into Mother Goose Land." Alice leaned against the glass and—lo! it had melted away, and Alice had jumped down into the Land of the Past and Future, and was viewing the Present upside down.

Then came the Red King and the Red Queen, who, upon closer approach, proved to be her former classmates, Park and Mary. They were sitting on the edge of a shovel, but Queen Mary got excited and pushed her King into the ashes, from whence he jumped with his characteristic explosion.

However, accustomed to these outbursts of her Royal Host, and not desiring to intrude upon their domestic peace, she resolutely turned her back upon them and continued on down the path.

She came upon a large flower bed, containing flowers of various hues. Stopping for a moment, she perceived a stately sunflower of amazing beauty. She caressed the flower and said, "Oh Sunflower, I wish you could talk." "We can talk," answered the sunflower in a voice whose sweetness brought to Alice recollections of her old friend, Flora; for Flora, having become a missionary, had been devoured by the cannibals, and her sunny disposition was now impersonated in the sunflower.

But hark! Alice's attention was diverted, and she scampered down the path in the direction from which the bird-like strains issued. She came upon a cot overgrown with roses and honeysuckles. Upon her approach, who should appear in the door but Romeo, the caretaker of the garden, and Julliett, who assisted him in supplying the flowers with nectar. They welcomed her, and together the three strolled through the Garden of Living Flowers. The caretaker introduced them to American Beauty, the Rose Queen, in whom, of course, Alice was not surprised to recognize the regal dignity of Margaret Imler. At this moment, our happy little Kewpie, carrier of the spirits of the flowers, floated above the head of Rose Queen and piped out the following message from the Future World:

"Tweet! Tweet!"
Ethel and Zeke:
Don't jump at conclusions so soon;
For there's many a slip
Twixt the cup and the lip,
For daring Paul Smith is the groom."

A fluttering attracted her attention, and she saw a corps of messengers, each bearing a message from the Future. She recognized another dainty messenger as Mertie, who bore this message:

"Velma and Elma, and Mary so Smart,
All gifted with wonderful knowledge,
Were cherishing ideals in their hearts,
All teeming with thoughts of College;
But in a wonderful way (not strange to say)

They were drawn from their former ambition;
For contentment they find, and sweet peace of mind
In trying new home propositions."

Having seen so many interesting things, she decided to make a grand survey of the country. She ran down the hill, jumped over a brook, and entered a street car whose able Motorman was Archie Whamond. Bruce Stover, in his capacity of Conductor, collected the fares in a very capable manner, but for "Auld Lang Syne" Alice was the honored recipient of a free ride, given by the Carson Bros., joint owners of the Wonderful Traction Co.

She alighted at the Zoological Garden of the Looking Glass Country, and at the entrance to the ground, purchased a ticket from the Gnat, who, upon closer observation, bore a marked resemblance, both in appearance and characteristics to her old friend, Leo Donahue. He told her that he himself would escort her through the garden. Upon which she inquired, "Do you have the same forms of animal life that we have?" "Name some and let me see," replied the Gnat. "Well, there is the horsefly," volunteered Alice, counting off the name on her fingers.

"All right," said the Gnat, "half way up that bush you'll see a Rocking Horse Fly, made entirely of wood, and it gets about by swinging itself from branch to branch." "What does it live on?" Alice asked with great curiosity. "Sap and sawdust," said the Gnat. It looked so bright and sticky that Alice thought it had just been repainted, and then said, "Why, Leo Roffe, how came you here,."

"Then there is the dragon fly," began Alice again. "Look on the branches above your head, and you'll find the Snap Dragon Fly. Its body is made of plum pudding, its wings of holly leaves, and its head is a raisin burning in brandy. It lives on frumenty and mince pie and shares its nest in the Xmas Box with the Looking Glass Butterfly, whose wings are a sheeny copper and whose eyes radiate with the cheer of the Welshland." It was not surprising to the guest when the Butterfly answered to the name of Rachel, and the Snap Dragon Fly responded to the name of Jimmy. They enjoy unusual domestic felicity, for they are constantly heaping coals of fire on each other's heads. "But does the Butterfly eat frumenty and mince pie?" asked the visitor. "No," said Leo, scornfully, "do you not remember that back in '17 she had an astonishing propensity for weak tea with cream in it?"

Wandering on, she came to an open field, with a wood on the other side of it. "This must be the wood where things have no names," she said. Just then a fawn came wandering by. It looked at Alice with its large, gentle eyes. "Come, now, come, now," said Alice. They walked together through the woods, Alice with her arms clasped lovingly around the soft neck of the fawn, until they came to another open field. Here, the fawn gave a sudden bound and shook itself free from Alice's embrace. "I'm a fawn," it cried delightedly, and you are a human child." By the look of alarm that came into its beautiful brown eyes, and the way it bounded into the woods, Alice knew that it was the mysterious, dreamy soul of her classmate, Leo Lovett. She stood looking at it, lamenting at the sudden loss of her dear little fellow-traveler.

"Now, which way ought I to go?" she questioned. Then she went on a long way until she came to a sign bearing the following inscription: "To the House of Tweedledum and Tweedledee." They were standing under a tree with their arms entwined about each other's necks. She could distinguish them instantly, for one had "Dum," the other "Dee" embroidered on her collar. Their faces had the appearance of young thunder clouds, for—

Beryldum and Berthadee
Agreed to have a battle,
For Beryldum said Berthadee
Had spoiled her nice new rattle.
Just then down flew M. Bryerton,
Scowling at their peevance,
Which frightened both the twinnies so
They both forgot their grievance.

They both took hold of Alice's hand and greeted her as though they had been glad to see her in the first place. She said to Beryldum, "Won't you recite some poetry for me?" to which request Beryldum acceded with her usual graciousness:

"Marjorie and Vanny, side by side,
Were walking close at hand;
They wept like anything to see

The annex close at hand.
'If only this were screened,' they said,
'Oh, dear, it would be grand!'

If Maude and pop, with seven mops,
Were only seated here,
"Do you suppose," said Rachel Rohe,
"They'd be contented here?"
"I doubt it much," said Vanny,
And Marjorie shed a briny tear.

For Maude is right executive,
She lives in Terre Haute;
She'll never gaze on any man
Until she gets the vote.
For man is vile; sweet Maude has said,
"I'll not associate—
My duty as I see it,
Is to serve both church and state."

"A loaf of bread," our Nevin said,
"Would never be amiss,"
But Florence shook her head,
"I'd rather have a kiss."
"Lan', no," said Hester Heller,
And maliciously she hissed.
"I'd wait for you," our Jessie said,
To Mac, with thoughtful eyes;
"Ah, me," said he, "Would Dad object
If I'd take you for my prize?"
But, curses, no, 'twas not to be,
For her heart was lost to Athletic Lee."

The surprise and admiration of Alice can readily be foreseen in the discovery of the unusual poetic ability of her classmate, Beryldum.

It began to grow dark so suddenly that Alice thought that there must be a thunderstorm approaching, and she ran until she came to the funniest sight imaginable. Here was a colony composed of Mother Goose's children, presided over by dear Mother Goose herself, whose solicitous mien and attitude toward her children at once suggested to Alice those characteristics of Sara Whitman. The country seemed familiar, for who has not been acquainted with Mother Goose's little people since childhood, and here was our heroine in Mother Goose's realm, a land abounding in wonderful surprises, for here was the famous Soda Water Spring gushing forth from the Chocolate Mountain. Half way up this mountain was a house of glittering rock candy, with trimmings of red and white striped peppermint, where dwelt Bessie La Mona and Kathryn Bower. In front of their abode grew the Sugar Plum Tree, a marvel of great renown. A chocolate cat cavorted around in its branches, while below on the ground prowled a gingerbread dog. Neither were unknown to Alice, for since Aida and Dorothy had lived righteous lives on earth, Mother Goose had made for them a reality, that which had been their ideal of bliss, for Aida's love for sweets was portrayed in the role of the Chocolate Cat, while Dorothy's sweet disposition was evidenced in the imposing personage of the Gingerbread Dog.

Bess was in the garden
Picking luscious fruit;
Kate was in the kitchen
Dishing up the soup.

Dainty Gertrude came along
And entreated for a bite;
They all sat down together,
And ate with much delight.

From the rear of the house Alice heard a heated argument, carried on by familiar voices, for she learned that:

Ella and Anna,
Two friends staunch and true,

Till Anna told Ella
That Zimm loved her, too.
But Zimm now arose
In righteous indignation—
Maintaining that Hope
Was his only salvation.

Strange to tell, as she passed on, she recognized in Bo-Peep, the shepherdess of Mother Goose's sheep, Helen Burrell, whose gentle yet vivacious bearing had shown her to be well adapted as shepherdess of a flock.

On running down the lane, she encountered The Dish and the Spoon, equipped with suitable means for locomotion, to whom she needed no introduction, for she recognized them as Marion and "Rish."

She spied a great building, a beautiful mansion, easy of access for any kind of life. Above it, a sign bearing the words, "Private School, Adapted to the Needs of Mother Goose's Children. Terms Reasonable." This institution was conducted by the Mademoiselles Hildabus and Tildabus.

A little Dresden Shepherdess, who did nothing but comb her golden locks and tease Little Boy Blue, wandered here and there, still playing her pranks and being the most dearly loved of all of Mother Goose's children. Alice knew without doubt that this giggling, rollicking, teasing, unshepherd-like shepherdess would answer to the name of Elsie, and, of course, it would be known that the unfortunate Little Boy Blue was none other than Lewis Hourigan. But Little Boy Blue was not the only sufferer from her pranks, for Eddie, the Piper's Son, who had heaped parental wrath on his young head for attempting to present his ideal with a suitable gift, had suffered cruel persecutions.

Having seen the sights in Mother Goose Land, she entered an aeroplane run by a woman scientist who, before she was famous, was known to her classmates as Margaret Stevens. Marion Smith, another scientist of note, was her assistant. She was transported afar to Fairyland. There were many old friends in various guises. Winifred Miller and Betsy Marshall were running a poultry-farm and were acquiring untold wealth, for they had in their establishment the Goose that laid the golden eggs and the Little Brown Hen that had belonged to Jack the Giant Killer, and as a result were rushed with orders. Being charitably inclined, they used the bulk of their wealth in establishing a home for orphan cats, dogs and mice, which was presided over by Betty Wilson and Anna Brenholtz, because of their special affection for these animals, exhibited during their school days.

The highways of Fairyland, which had hitherto been infested with giants, had been rendered safe by the faithfulness and unusual military tactics of the Little Tin Soldier, Horace Duarte.

Prince Richard, with the characteristic boldness and bravery of the Vikings, had broken through the thickets that held The Sleeping Beauty captive, and rescued her, by which act of daring, he won the heart and hand of The Sleeping Beauty, Gertrude Zirm.

Alice heard a peculiar squeaking nearby, and turning to see the cause of the disturbance, she saw a little chap, not more than three inches high, girded with a miniature shield and armed with a pin fully an inch long, astride a white rat. This little chap Alice recognized immediately as little Melville Yarrison, as bold and reckless as in days of yore. While she was reviewing her acquaintance with him, three merry belles of Fairyland came tripping the light fantastic toe, nearly extinguishing the vital spark in Little Tom Thumb.

This trio she naturally recognized, for though they had assumed the forms of Red Riding Hood, Cinderella and Goldenlocks, they were still the gay, light-hearted butterflies of her Normal days, Bess Tibbins, Juna Ferguson and Mary Weidert. Entering into the mood of these fairies, she followed them. What was her surprise when, upon entering a fashionable dancing academy, she found there as the instructor, Helen Dill, assisted by Frances Baier and Esther Jobson. The receipts from this dancing school were so great that one would naturally suppose that it would require a skilled mathematician to keep the accounts, and so it is only to be expected that Idona Bartley, famed for her mathematical genius while at school, should be the successful applicant for this position.

It was getting late, and Alice decided that she must make haste if she would get home that evening, or at least get to the garden of the Red King and the Red Queen. Therefore she left this Hall of Fame and, being tired, she leaned against the trunk of a huge tree. Somewhere she heard voices, and lifting her head she saw that there was an open window above her. To the left of the window was a sign, "Tickets sold here to Wonderland via the Wonderland Ferry." She must look in, and whom should she see but Miriam Rhoades in the capacity of ticket agent. Miriam, of course, was delighted to see her, and immediately took from her pocket a gumdrop, of which she always had a copious supply, and offered it to her. She heard a ticking, and looking beyond Miriam, she saw a box, at which was seated little Stella Marr, who was typewriting tickets with unusual proficiency. Alice purchased a ticket and boarded the Ferry, with Lawrence Heddens. She attempted to engage him in conversation, but with a haughty gesture, he threw her overboard. Down, down, down she drifted, until she came to the bottom of the sea. There she was greeted by the beautiful Lorelei, who was really none other than Frieda Baumann. Around her gamboled water nymphs of amazing beauty. She called her nymphs by name, "Come, my nymphs, my sprites!" and they crowded up in a merry troop, Edith Lose, Marjorie Earon and Lorna Johnsonbaugh. "Come, let us go to the Hall of Neptune. Tonight he and his queen will give a great banquet in honor of his daughters' coming-out ball."

Merrily our Frieda, accompanied by her fair nymphs and Alice, floated toward the emerald palace of the king. He was seated on a throne made entirely of pearls, and by his side, on a throne of rubies, sat his queen. Both wore magnificent robes of intricately woven seaweed. Herbert Stover and Ruth Schandly, as rulers of the aquatic world, displayed their former unusual administrative ability.

Among other prominent guests were the athletic sharks, the Misses Julia, Charlotte and Jean.

The beautiful banquet hall was illuminated by an enormous sunfish, suspended from the ceiling and surrounded by myriads of glittering little starfish. The royal pair had arranged for ample entertainment for their guests. Presently, in came a gay bevy of court dancers, led by the light-hearted, carefree Lola Glossner, with Anna Shoemaker bringing up the rear. In her train were many familiar faces that would never fade from her memory, Myrtle, Blanche and Emma. The strain of the song to which the merry crowd danced was "Never trouble trouble till trouble troubles you."

A most delicious banquet was served by the court cateress, Mim Lucas, who was now initiating Adalene Knecht and Peg Walsh into the secrets of her profession.

Alice was next ushered by the dainty mermaids, Marian Whiting, Margaret Wetzel and Sadie O'Malley, to a passageway, which led back to the Looking Glass Land. Upon her return the Red Queen of Hearts, Miriam Loveland, who forthwith grabbed her by the head and shook her vigorously. Alice in turn grabbed the Red Queen and shook her backward and forward with all her might. The little queen made no resistance whatever, but kept on growing shorter—fatter, softer and rounder—and really it was the little black kitten after all, and Alice awakened from her dream.

And now my tale is o'er, it seems;
Our lives are oft revealed in dreams,
And then pass on to future scenes.
In a Wonderland they be,
Dreaming as the days go by,
Dreaming as the summers die.

Ever drifting down the stream,
Lingering in the golden gleam—
Life, what is it but a dream?

MARGARET WETZEL

HILDA BENNETT

P.D. McELFISH
PRESIDENT

JAMES MAY
VICE PRESIDENT

CLASS OFFICERS

FRANCES BAIER, K.K.K.

"DUTCH"
NISBET, PA.

Price; German Club; O. A. A.

"She's beautiful; and therefore to be wooed;

She's a woman, therefore to be won."

Just to hear Frances rattle off German makes the rest of us feel like the algebraic equivalent of zero. Her one weakness is making faces, which is quite unknown to her instructors. We think she expects to make use of her course in "Domestic Science" and we wish her success.

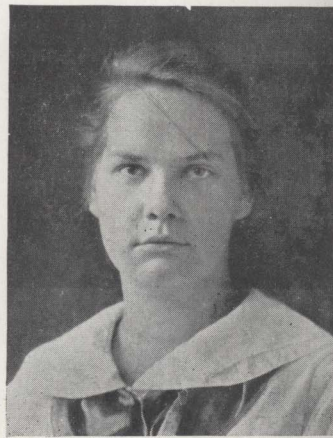

IDONA BARTLEY

"CHUBBY"
AVIS, PA.

German Club.

*"And to those who know her best,
A friend most true and hearty."*

"Chubby" started in as a Freshman and now has come to her Senior year. Judging from the letters she received bearing the postmark of El Paso, Texas, and her favorite expression, "Oh, for a soldier boy!" we would be led to believe that she will soon obtain the degree of M. R. S.

JESSIE BARTLEY

"MOX"
AVIS, PA.

Jessie entered the class of 1917, after graduating from Avis High School. Two things which distinguish this Avis lassie from her classmates are her German twang and her dignified bearing. But like Peck's bad boy, she is always up to tricks. If there is any mischief going on she is usually on hand to participate.

FRIEDA E. BAUMAN

"SKIN AND BONES"

LOCK HAVEN, PA.

German Club.

*"It takes fingers and toes
To count up Frieda's beaux."*

Frieda is one of our best students and very fond of her "Texts." She also has a good "Stan" in with her teachers. In fact, we have heard that she will make a mathematician some day. She spends most of her time haunting the mail man.

HILDA BENNETT, I.E.P.

"BEENIE"

MONTOURSVILLE, PA.

Y. W. C.A. Cabinet; Sec. Class (4); German Club (3-4); Price.

"She has hitched her wagon to a star."

This good little girl was the heroine the night of the flood in the girls' dormitory by saving a number of persons from drowning. She has a most sunny disposition, and a cloud was never known to cross her path. Her friends are many; her faults are few. Hilda has great ability as a musician and as an artist.

KATHRYN DIETRICK BOWER

"KITTEN"

WILLIAMSPORT, PA.

Y. W. C.A.; Shakespeare; Praeco Staff.

"I'm as contented as can be, Studying never worries me."

"Kitten" is a very congenial person and has won many friends by her charming personality. She is a "hale-fellow-well-met" in exams. She is very plain spoken and tells her opinions in very few words. Her many friends at C. S. N. wish her success in any line which she takes up.

ANNA BRENHOLTZ, U.P.A.

"ANN"

WILLIAMSPORT, PA.

Y. W. C. A.; German Club; Price.

"Never trouble trouble till trouble troubles you."

Looks are deceiving. You would think Anna was a saint. But she "aint." She hath a cloak of dignity handy, when needed. She is merry, care-free, and affectionate. Her temperament can be likened to the ripples on a river—now up, now down, but Anna once a friend always a friend.

ELLA BROSHA

ANTES FORT, PA.

"Eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow ye may die."

Ella joined the class of 1917 after graduating from the Jersey Shore High School. She has one of the most happy-go-lucky dispositions imaginable. Whatever Ella's prospects as a school teacher may be, we are sure of one thing—that her pupils will never suffer from the lack of a pleasant time.

MARY BRYERTON

LOCK HAVEN, PA.

"In the chain of memory consider her a link."

Mary entered our class as a Freshman in the year of 1913, after graduating from the Model School. Mary, with her sunny smile and a good word for everybody, won the good will of her classmates, and is liked by all who know her.

HELEN M. BURRELL, I.E.P.

"CAP"

SALONA, PA.

Y. W. C. A. Cabinet (1-2-3-4); Price.

"Art she hath, without desire to make known how much she hath."

Helen came to us at the beginning of her Freshman year, after graduating from L. T. H. S. "Cap's" room is always filled when she returns from her home each Sunday evening with a goodly supply of eats. She has made a host of true friends, who wish her the best of success.

ARDELL CARSON

"CHINK"

WATERVILLE, PA.

Shakespeare, Pres. (2); Varsity Foot Ball (2-3-4); Class Basket Ball (3); German Club.

"Ohne Arbeit kein Gewinn."

In 1913 Chink bade the old farm farewell and connected himself with C. S. N. S. During these four years of school life, he not only proved to be a good student, but also created for himself a record in football worthy of admiration and recognition.

CARL CARSON

"MOOSE"

WATERVILLE, PA.

Varsity Foot Ball (3-4); Varsity Basket Ball (3-4); Shakespeare.

"A successful man puts his trust in God and works like the devil."

Carl entered Normal during his freshman year, and through his cheerful demeanor and industrious attitude he won many friends and the faculty's "magna laude." Carl could never be "treed," even in Professor Benson's class, where his apt replies and deep knowledge caused our dean to wonder "how one head could carry all he knew."

BERTHA CLENDENEN, R.O.O.L.

"BUFF"

WESTPORT, PA.

Y. W. C. A. Cabinet; Price; O. A. A.

"Her brown eyes haunt me still."

"Buff" is one of our most popular girls. She is always surrounded by admirers, and we wonder how she manages to get such good marks in her studies with so many diversions. We wish her as much success in her future as she has had here.

BERYL CLENDENEN, R.O.O.L.

WESTPORT, PA.

Y. W. C. A. Cabinet; O.A.A.; Class Poet.

*"Witty they say
And as bright as day,
Well read is she
In poem and story."*

Look, readers, for there is no mistake and you are not looking at the same girl, but just the other one of "the Twins." Beryl has won many warm friends at C. S. N. S. and her departure will be regretted. May the best of luck follow you.

EZEKIAL CONFER, A Φ Θ

"ZEKE"

HOWARD, PA.

Foot Ball (3-4); Basket Ball (3-4), Captain; Shakespeare; Athletic Committee; German Club.

"A modest man, quite fair and tall, Plump things he loved the best of all."

This curly-headed youth joins in every sphere of Normal life with a will, and will always be remembered as a good sport. We expect great things from this noble and energetic youth.

RUTH CRIST, B.S.C.

"KEWPIE"

JERSEY SHORE, PA.

German Club; Shakespeare; O. A. A.;
Y. W. C. A.; Class Basket Ball (1-4).

*"If you were a jairy, a Kewpie or Elf,
My dear, you could climb to the treetops yourself.
If you were a monkey, think what you might do,
I am quite as well pleased, tho, that you are just you."*

It is sure that "Kewpie" resembles her namesakes in manners, glances and action. Her troubles began in 1913 when she entered Normal, though her future ambition lies in the direction of Bucknell. But, be it ever so humble, there is no place like Philadelphia—to "Kewpie."

HELEN DILL

WILCOX, PA.

Price; O. A. A.

"The virtues of modesty, candor and truth in women exceed all the beauty of youth."

Normal has been lively ever since Helen came. Even though she seems contented at C. S. N. S. still she must be missed at Wilcox (?), judging by her voluminous correspondence. We think she should study Domestic Science, for she will surely need it in the near future. The best wishes of '17 follow her in her future activities.

LEO DONAHUE

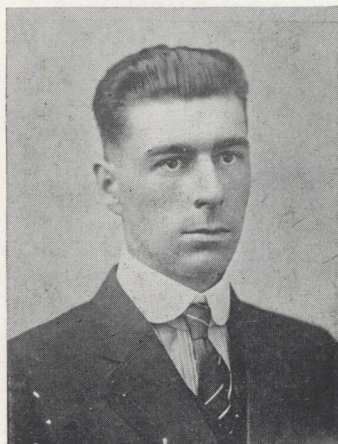

"DONNY"

LUTHERSBURG, PA.

Class Basket Ball (3); Varsity Foot Ball
(2-3-4); Shakespeare, Pres. (3).

"Frisch begonnen, halb gewonnen."

"Donny" entered C. S. N. S. in 1913, where he not only proved to be one of the Normal's most prominent football stars, but also through his honest and conscientious work made for himself an enviable record.

MARJORIE D. EARON

"MARGE"

LOCK HAVEN, PA.

Varsity Basket Ball (1-2-3).

"Malice toward none, charity for all."

"Marge" graduated from Model School, where she had completed kindergarten and all nine grades. She has shown great ability in both studies and athletics, having been a member of her class basket ball team in her Freshman year and of Varsity team for two years.

MERTIE E. ESPIGH, B.S.C.

"MYRTLE—ESPAGE"

LEWISTOWN, PA.

Shakespeare; German Club.

"To be little is to be loved."

Mertie joined us in the fall of 1915. She immediately attracted our attention by her sunny disposition. By her ardent admirers from Harvard, State, and C. S. N. S. we have come to the conclusion that others, too, have discovered her sunny disposition and her never-ending supply of wit.

JUNA FERGUSON

GLEN HAZEL, PA.

Price; German Club.

"Work while you work."

Juna came to us in the winter of '15 and has been a steady worker of C. S. N. S. Of course, she never breaks any rules. We can see Juna in the future, standing over pupils with hickory stick in hand, ready for business. Here's wishing her success.

FLORENCE FERRO

JERSEY SHORE, PA.

Dramatic Club; Expression.

It is hard to graft a nineteen-year-old bud on another bush, but that is the operation recently accomplished in transferring Florence Ferro from her native New York state to that of Pennsylvania. Her devotion to Expression reached its full flower in C. S. N. S., where "None knew her but to love her,"
None named her but to praise."

FLORENCE C. FOX, B.S.C.

"FOXIE"

LOCK HAVEN, PA.

Shakespeare; German Club.

*"And we find at the end of a perfect day
The soul of a friend we've made."*

"Foxie" came to us in our Junior year from Lock Haven High School. We were inclined to think she was a trifle silent, but silence gives consent, eh? Nevin. "Foxie" is the kind of friend that holds true in the old saying, "A friend in need is a friend indeed."

VELMA FRAPPIER, I.E.P.

"FRAP"

EMPORIUM, PA.

Price; Associate Editor of "The Normal Bulletin."

"Quality, but not quantity."

"Frap's" ambition is to become preceptress of a Normal School, but we feel sure that she has a higher calling, especially if the Democratic party remains in power. And when it comes to making noise, she has it over all the boys. In everything she's fine, but in Latin she shines.

JULIA FUHRMAN

"JULE"

WILLIAMSPORT, PA.

Varsity Basket Ball (2-3-4), Mgr. (3-4); German Club; Shakespeare; O. A. A.; Praeco Staff.

"Neither care nor worry e'er wrinkles her fair brow."

"Jule" dropped into Lock Haven Normal four years ago, when the roll was called. She is one of our star basket ball players, having played three years on Varsity. "Jule" also receives the latest news from the "Boys in the Trenches," El Paso, if you please.

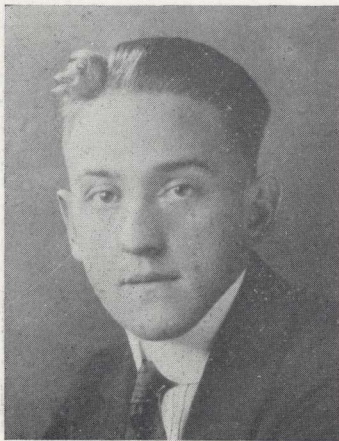

LOLA GLOSSNER

"GLOSSY"

LOCK HAVEN, PA.

German-Club.

Lola graduated from the Lock Haven High School and entered the Normal School in the fall of '15. Lola is a dear girl and has won many friends. She is a hard-working girl, and has been known to work until the wee small hours of the morning. German is her favorite pastime, and in this she particularly excels. We feel that she is abundantly prepared and will make a success of whatever she may undertake.

NEVIN GRIEB

"NEB"

TYLERSVILLE, PA.

Class President (1-2); Class Historian (3); German Club; Foot Ball (2-3-4); Varsity Basket Ball (4); Varsity Base Ball (3-4); Shakespeare.

"A great man is always willing to be little."

"Neb" entered C. S. N. S. in '14, after graduating from Muncy Normal at the age of sixteen. Being a nice youth at that time, he has displayed the results of how Normal School training aids in the preparation for life. The best wishes of the class go with him as he leaves us and is about to enter college, where he will take up the study of medicine.

RACHEL GWYN, I.E.P.

"REDDY"

PATTON, PA.

Price; Y. W. C. A.

"She laughs and shakes out sunshine from her hair."

At first appearance "Reddy" impresses you as one of the modest, retiring, clinging vine type; but looks deceive. She is the ring-leader of a trio of nuisances who belong to the second floor, but are found here, there and everywhere. Rachel is quite a poetess, although few have found it out. Ever ready, ever willing to help, a friend of all.

LEE HANNA

"SENATOR"

CASTANEA, PA.

German Club; Class Basket Ball (3-4).

"Never do today what you can put off till tomorrow."

The little town from which Lee hails is noted for its great number of C. S. N. S. students. He has done his share in making our class the champion in basket ball for four years. There is no doubt that his nickname will some day be his real title.

MARION HARPER, R.O.O.L.

IRVONA, PA.

President Y. W. C. A.; Assistant Editor Praeco IV; German Club; Price; Class Secretary (3); O. A. A.; Associate Editor of Normal Bulletin.

*"'Tis as easy for her heart to be true,
As the grass to be green or the skies to be blue."*

Marion, a pleasant, lovable girl, is liked by every one who knows her. Her little giggle, as well as her interest in "Rish," is known to all her friends. She is so jolly that she will succeed in whatever she may attempt to do.

JEAN MARIE HAYES, B.S.C.

BYRNEDALE, PA.

Varsity Basket Ball (3-4), Captain (4); O. A. A.; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet; Shakespeare, Praeco Staff; Dramatic Club.

"Happy am I, from care I'm free, Why aren't they all contented like me?"

Jean came to C. S. N. S. in the spring of 1914 and has been loyal to the class of '17 ever since. Her love of all athletics in general and basket ball in particular is well known, and she is one of our basket ball stars. She has a host of friends, who wish her the greatest success always.

LAWRENCE HEDDENS, A Φ Θ

"LOLLY"

WASHINGTONVILLE, PA.

Business Manager Praeco IV; Price, Pres. (4); Foot Ball (4); Varsity Basket Ball (4); Y. M. C. A. Cabinet.

Look him over, girls, and if your heart does not palpitate, it is impregnable. As a heart-breaker "Lolly" is a success, as a business manager he is a wonder. Bloomsburg made a strong bid for him, but he heeded the calling of C. S. N. S. and here he is.

HESTER EMMA HELLER

"PEGGY"

AVIS, PA.

Y. W. C. A.

"Order is Heaven's first law."

Hester came to us in our Junior year, having graduated from the Avis High School. Most people think that she is very quiet, but those who know her best think differently. She has always stood well in her classes, especially in mathematics.

HOPE HEVLY

"HEAVENLY HOPE"

RENOVO, PA.

Price; Y. W. C. A.

*"Lives of great men all remind us
We can make our lives sublime,
And, departing, leave behind us
Foot prints on the sands of time."*

With smiling eyes Hope honored our class after graduating from R. H.S. Before this no one had the pleasure of showing how much we can learn in the laboratory. Her good nature and willingness to help others is often shown by her letters to those who long to hear from her.

LEWIS HOURIGAN

WILKES-BARRE, PA.

German Club.

"Still water runs deep."

Hourigan, a graduate of Wilkes-Barre High School, came to C. S. N. S. from Stroudsburg Normal. Although he has not been with us very long, we are sure he has a host of friends, who wish for him all the success of the future.

MARGARET KATHRYN IMLER, R.O.O.L.

"MARG"

WOODBURY, PA.

Y. W. C. A. Cabinet; German Club; O. A. A.; Dramatic Club; Price.

"Fair of form and face and good to look upon."

"Where's there a mirror? Well, lead me to it." Whenever and wherever you hear that, you will know that "Marg" is "in der Nähe." Her popularity scarcely knows boundaries. She is also quite fond of "lanes," especially a certain "Lane" found in State College.

ESTHER JOBSON, K.K.K.

"ES"

LOCK HAVEN, PA.

Price; German Club; O. A. A.

*"She is our queen, our rose, our star;
And when she dances—oh, heaven, her dancing!"*

"Es" is a charming girl with pretty eyes and beautiful hair. She always says what she means, regardless of consequences. At times she is brilliant in her studies, but we think they worry her little. To know her well is to admire her more, and it is with much regret that we part from her.

ANNA JOHNSON

"ANN"

LOCK HAVEN, PA.

German Club.

"Never do today what you can yut off till tomorrow."

Ann entered our class as a junior from the Lock Haven High School. She soon distinguished herself as a translator of German and very often could be heard reciting German poems. Ann aspires to the position of the wife of a minister, and her willingness to do for others has won her a devoted following among those less talented.

LORNA E. JOHNSTONBAUGH

BEECH CREEK, PA.

"There is no substitute for thoroughgoing, sincere earnestness."

Lorna, the girl with the chestnut brown eyes, came to us from Beech Creek. She has been a bright, studious girl and will receive a well-earned diploma on June 28. She will surely accomplish her ambition, viz.—to drive a Packer(d).

FLORA M. KNAPP, I.E.P.

"KNAPPIE"

SALONA, PA.

German Club.

*"A staff in hand and a country road—
And gay as a queen am I."*

Flora came to us four years ago and since that time has never been known to have a case. I wonder why! You can find the answer by consulting the mail man, who daily brings a letter from the U. of P.

ADALENE A. KNECHT

"AD"

PARVIN, PA.

Y. W. C. A. Cabinet; Shakespeare; German Club.

"Quiet as quiet could be."

Adalene came to us from Dubois High School. She is the youngest member of the class, but far from the weakest. She is a quiet, demure, little miss, and has gained many friends, who predict for her a very successful future.

BESSIE MARION LA MONA

"BESS"

COLUMBUS, PA.

Price; German Club; Y. W. C. A.

"Good digestion waits on appetite."

To make a long story short, one might say that Bess is an all-round "jolly good fellow," ever ready to lend a helping hand to a needy friend. "Bess" was never known to refuse an offer of "eats" or to be absent when "the bunch" went to Ach's, even if it took her last "little red Indian."

EDWIN S. LAUBSHER

"EDDIE," "LOB"

AVIS, PA.

Price; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet; Class Basket Ball (3); German Club.

"Cheerful at morn, he wakes from short repose; Breasts the keen air and carols as he goes."

"Eddie's" two most striking characteristics are his fondness for Senior sleigh rides and his happy-go-lucky disposition. He will always be remembered by his schoolmates.

EDITH B. LOSE

"EDE"

LOCK HAVEN, PA.

*"I'm immune from the wiles
Of sweet Normalite smiles;
But I won't State the reason why."*

Such an easy-going girl! She never seems to study very much, yet she always knows her lessons. Ede's fate is settled and there's no need to mention any names. Best wishes to you, Ede, and good luck!

MIRIAM E. LOVELAND, B.S.C.

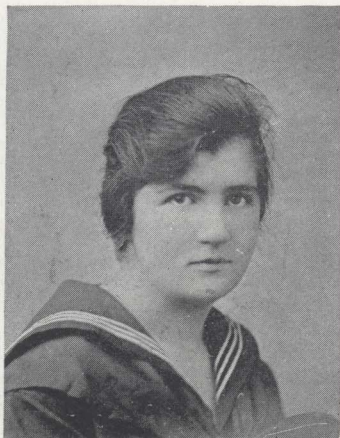

"TUBBY"

LOCK HAVEN, PA.

Shakespeare; Varsity Basket Ball (3-4); O. A. A.

*"To those who know thee not, no words can paint!
And those who know thee, know all words are faint!"*

"Tubby" joined our ranks in the Sophomore year, coming here from Williamsport High. "Tubby" was a boarding student for one year—but nuf said. Whenever anything is humming, you are certain to find "Tub" and Jean around. By way of introduction, "Tub" is vocalizing and we wish her all success possible.

LEO LOVETT

"LEEBO PUMPKINROLLER"

CASTANEA, PA.

Class Basket Ball (3-4); German Club.

"Think twice before you speak, then talk to yourself."

"Leebo," a rosy-cheeked boy from the wilds of Castanea, entered C. S. N. S. in the Freshman year and soon became a favorite of every one in the school, especially of the fairer sex. "Leebo" always loved to hear something great, until he was told to rub two bricks together.

ELMA WELLINGER LUCAS, B.O.N.

"BABE"

LOCK HAVEN, PA.

*"She is not very big,
Nor is she very small,
But in working mathatics
She can beat them all."*

"Babe" came from Lock Haven High, and is a regular "shark," especially in mathatics. She has been known to make 100's in Mr. High's exams. "Yet how she found it, caught it, or came by it" is yet to be learned, for she never grinds. Doubtless in a few years she will be a teacher of "math."

MIRIAM SUTER LUCAS, R.O.O.L.

"MIM"

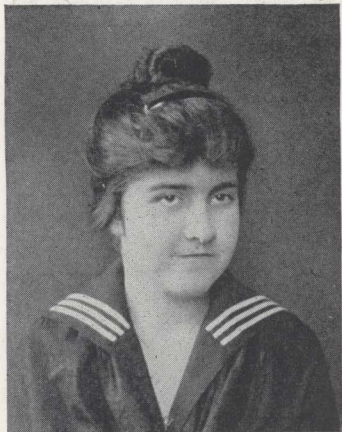

HOWARD, PA.

Y. W. C. A.; O. A. A.; Shakespeare.

"I just can't make my eyes behave."

Oh! those eyes! What would one not do for a smile from "Mim." It has been rumored around that she is going to India to be a missionary, but we think her fate will be America and a nice little bungalow. She can't resist backing in the electric light.

MARJORIE MAGUIRE, B. S.C.

"MARGE"

SCRANTON, PA.

Varsity Basket Ball (3-4); O. A. A.; Price; German Club; Dramatic Club.

"If you only had my disposition."

After graduating from Scranton Technical High School, "Marge" decided to come to C. S. N.S. She now has the reputation of being "one of the sweetest girls in the dorm," and has a host of friends who wish that

"Whither ye go and whither ye be,
'Tis great success that we wish for ye."

STELLA MARR

LOCK HAVEN, PA.

Dramatic Club; Commercial.

"Pretty as they make them."

After graduating from the Model, Stella decided to enter the Commercial department of C. S. N.S. Stella is a quiet, unassuming, tranquil maiden, but beware, for "still water runs deep." Although she is graduating with us we predict that she will come back next year in order to finish the regular Normal course.

SARAH MARIE MARSHALL, B.O.N.

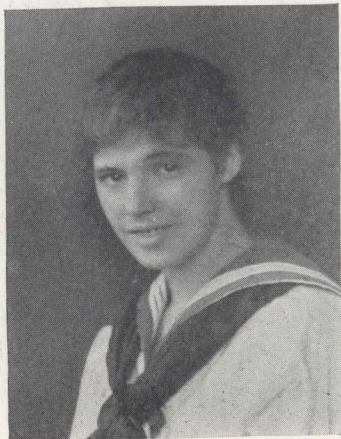

"BETSY"

LOCK HAVEN, PA.

Dramatic Club; Price; Praeco Staff.

"Persuasive speech and more persuasive sigh, Silence that spoke and eloquence of eyes."

"Betsy" came from Lock Haven High School, and therefore is a good student. Her strongest points are her knowledge of French and the use of a pair of brown eyes. She also shines in dramatic affairs of the school, and, if she chooses, would succeed in this line as she doubtless will at teaching school.

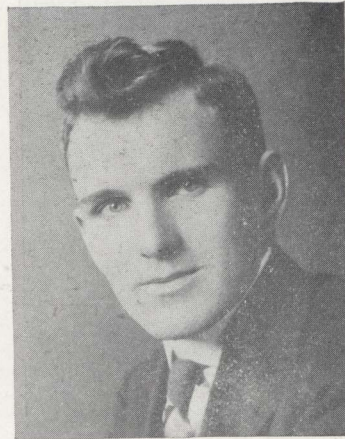

JAMES P. MAY, A Φ Θ
"JIMMIE," "COPPER"
WESTPORT, PA.

Price; V. Pres. of Class (4); German Club; Cheer Leader; Praeco Staff; Class Base Ball (3-4).

"If you want to know who the new dame in town is, ask Jimmie."

This boy from Westport has become one of the most popular fellows of the school. With his attractive face and winning ways, we predict that he will never lack plenty of friends to help him over the rough places of life.

DOROTHY McCLINTOCK
"DOT"

MILL HALL, PA.

"Always take things by the smooth handle."

"Dot," a graduate of Mill Hall High School, entered the Sophomore class at Normal in 1914. She is known throughout the school for her smiling countenance and congenial manner. We all wish her much success in her greatest ambition; namely, to become a school teacher.

AIDA McCLOSKEY
LOCK HAVEN, PA.

"Little—but oh my!"

After being faithful to the Model School for nine years, Aida entered C. S. N. S. in the fall of 1913 as a Freshman. During the four years she has been with us she has been a loyal student and has won many friends.

EMMA McCOLL, C.E.N.

"AMMIE," "EMMY"

SINNAMAHONING, PA.

Y. W. C. A.; German Club; Price.

*"I know her, the worst thought she has
Is whittier than her prettu hand;
She must prove true."*

Emma came to C. S. N. S. as a Freshman. She is always on hand for fun or a "feed." Emma is one of those fortunate mortals who can go through Normal with a fine record and never bother about studying. We all hope she will succeed as well in her chosen field of mathematics.

BLANCH McCURDY

"BOBBIE"

McELHATTAN, PA.

German Club.

"To know her is to love her."

Blanch came to C. S. N. S. as a Freshman in the year of 1913. She has shown marked ability as a student. Her splendid disposition has won for her a host of friends and admirers. Success is her's in whatever line of work she takes up.

PALMER D. McELFISH A Φ ©

"MACK," "P. D."

CHANEYSVILLE, PA.

Class President (3-4); Price Pres. (3-4); Mgr. Varsity Basket Ball (4); Class Basket Ball (3); Debating Team (3); Y. M. C. A.; Dramatic Club; Associate Editor Normal Bulletin; Praeco Staff.

"A hustler after he is pulled out of bed in the morning."

Mack, our class president, has proven himself not only a leader, but also a chemist of no mean ability. He has proven this ability by composing the following:

"Little drops of acid, little grains of zinc, Placed within a test tube, make an awful  odor(H₂S)"

ANNA MAUDE MIERLEY, I.E.P.

"MODEST"

PETERSBURG, PA.

Editor-in-Chief Praeco IV; Price; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet; German Club; Dramatic Club.

"The girl with a 'Will.'"

Maude arrived in the fall term of our Junior year and immediately settled down to work. She possesses the qualities of wit, sympathy and endurance; it is to her we go when in distress. We predict that Maude will take a course in Homology at Drexel Institute after graduating at C. S. N. S.

WINIFRED MILLER

"WINNIE"

LOCK HAVEN, PA.

Price; German Club.

"Let none falter who thinks he is right"

"Winnie" came to us from Lock Haven High with ideas all her own, and these ideas no one has tried to change. Some folks call her contrary, but her friends find her always reliable. "Winnie" believes that "Men are to one thing constant never." But to all present indications—all bluff.

NINA MILLS, I.E.P.

"FRITZ"

AUSTIN, PA.

Y. W. C. A. Cabinet; Price; Praeco Staff; O. A. A.

"Care and worry will never turn thy hair gray."

"Fritz's" one ambition before entering C. S. N. S. was to become a slum worker, but we feel certain that she has now changed her mind. "Y"? That's his initial. Did you ever see Fritz dance? Clogging and impersonating are her specialties. Fritz's life at Normal would be all sunshine were it not for Virgil.

RAY D. MITCHELL, A Φ Θ

"MITCH" "ROMEO"

BELL'S LANDING, PA.

Varsity Foot Ball (3-4); Captain (4); Varsity Basket Ball (3-4); Price; German Club; Athletic Committee.

"An' there, sez I to meself, we're goin' wherever we go, But where we'll be whin we get thair it's niver a know I'll know."

Here's a fellow in whom Irish wit and manly grit are blended in just the right proportions to make him desirable in all circles. Whether it be "fussing" or winning an athletic contest "Mitch" is "all there."

LILLIAN MOSHER

HILLSGROVE, PA.

Shakespeare; Y. W. C. A.; Class Prophet.

"I came, I saw, I conquered."

"Lillian, with her snapping eyes and black hair, promenades the halls with a fearless tread, stopping here and there, she hands a little chat together with a good supply of common sense which she is willing to share without expense.

CHARLOTTE MYERS

"ENOCH"

STRAIGHT, PA.

Secretary of Price (4); Varsity Basket Ball (3-4); Praeco Staff.

"Her wit is as keen as a knife."

"Enoch," possessing a loving disposition, has won the hearts of all her classmates. Quick! sure! she has often saved the honor of C. S. N. S. in basket ball. She comes from Straight, and her character is synonymous with this name. We all predict a very successful future for her.

SADIE O'MALLEY

SCRANTON, PA.

Varsity Basket Ball (3-4); O. A. A.;
Praeco Staff.

*"Sadie is liked by lots of girls,
She's liked by lots of boys;
She simply stars in Basket Ball,
She raises stacks of noise."*

Sadie is a good student and a pleasant girl with many friends. Her crushes are numberless, but she says she admires blue eyes and black hair. She is uncertain as to what she is going to do, but we know she will prosper in whatever she undertakes.

ETHEL FOX RAUP, U.P.A.

MT. CARMEL, PA.

German Club; Shakespeare; Y. W. C. A.;
Associate Editor of Normal Bulletin.

"What's in a name?"

Known and loved by every one, Ethel is one of the prominent members of the class. She is noted for her fondness for the Bible, particularly for one book, Ezekiel. She has a charming personality, and her whole character can be summarized in the statement that she is a good sport and a true friend.

MYRTLE REYNOLDS

"HALLIE"

LOCK HAVEN, PA.

Price; German Club.

"Anxious to learn and be friendly, Clever and willing to learn."

An all-around girl in every way you look at her—that's Myrtle. She is one of our faithful few who have been with us since we were freshmen. She is usually found in the library hunting recipes for something good to eat, which leads us to believe that she will some day make an excellent cook.

MIRIAM VIOLA RHOADS

"VIM"

CASTANEA, PA.

"There is a hint on her face which leads one to trust her."

"Vim" entered the ninth grade of the Model School when it was taught by 1913 Seniors. 'Twas here she met her affinity! She has always been faithful to her books and friends and bids fair to accomplish her favorite ambition; namely, to become the mistress of a Presbyterian parsonage.

R. HARRIS RISHELL, A Φ Θ

"RISH"

LOCK HAVEN, PA.

Business Manager Praeco IV; Varsity Basket Ball (3-4); Athletic Committee (3); Class Basket Ball (2); President Price (4); Vice President Class (2); Class Base Ball (3); German Club.

"He knew the stormy souls of womankind."

"Rish" is a graduate of our model school and has always shown marked ability as a student. With the "ladies" he is a "has-been," for the blind archer has made him immune to all except one. Best wishes, "Rish," for your future success.

LEO ROFFE

"YOCCO" "JACK"

MILL HALL, PA.

"Always laughing, always winking; Never learning, never thinking."

"Yocco" entered the class of '17 in the Sophomore year, after graduation from the Hill Hall High School. He proved himself worthy as a student, and is now, with the rest of the class, an alumnus of C. S. N. S. "Yocco's" main delight was being late for class.

RACHAEL ROHE

"KUTZ"

LOCK HAVEN, PA.

Price; German Club.

"Kutz" after completing her course in the Model entered C. S. N. S. in the fall of 1913. Her pleasing personality has won for her many friends. We are often confronted with the question "Why Kutz doesn't attend the doings at the Normal?" The answer you will find "L. H. High School for me."

RUTH SHANLEY, I.E.P.

"RUFUS"

HALLTON, PA.

Price; Y. W. C. A.

"None know her but to love her."

"Rufus" is a quiet girl, whose true worth few of us realise. She is always lending a helping hand. She expects to teach next year, and we know that any child under her guidance cannot help admiring and respecting her. Here's to her future welfare.

ANNA SHOEMAKER

LOCK HAVEN, PA.

Anna entered this Junior class after graduating from Lock Haven High. Those who are intimately acquainted with her, find in her a true friend, in whose kindheartedness and clear judgment they can rely for sympathy and aid in all difficulties. In short, she is an amica fidele, une bonne ecoliere und ein gutes Mädchen.

MARY SMART

"SMARTIE"

LOCK HAVEN, PA.

Price.

Mary is one of the bright and shining lights of our class. She graduated from Lock Haven High School in 1914 and entered our class in the fall of 1915. It is the general opinion among faculty and students that she is well named; but alas, we fear that she may soon change that illustrious name.

MARION LOVENIA SMITH

"SMITHY"

LOCK HAVEN, PA.

Price; German Club.

"As the melting stream runs down the mountain sides, so runs her tongue."

Marion graduated from L. H. H. S. and decided to honor C. S. N. S. by entering in the fall of 1915. One of the "sharks" of the class, "grindeth not neither does she cram," Marion is very fond of talking—and puts it to practical use. She is one that makes good, and we are sure of her future welfare.

PAUL B. SMITH

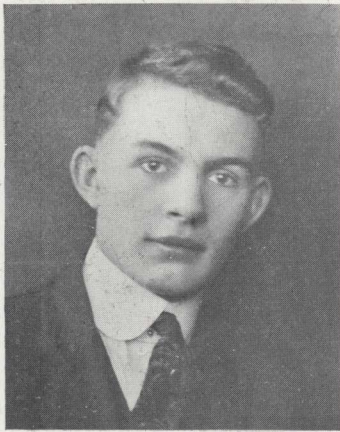

"ELMER"

LOCK HAVEN, PA.

German Club; Price.

"When you get through talking say something."

"Smithy" graduated from Salona High School in 1915. He was not satisfied with the knowledge he gained there, so he came to C. S. N. S. and joined the Sophomore class in the spring term. "Smithy" stayed with our class through the remaining years of the course and graduated in 1917.

JULIETTE SPARR, U.P.A.

"JULES"

ALTOONA, PA.

Y. W. C. A.; Price.

"Life is what you make it."

For those who know her, she is sweet and lovable, with a smile of welcome shining on her face, that sends the tears in disgrace. She has a sweet voice that I am sure we shall all recognize in the world beyond.

MARGARET STEVENS, B.S.C.

"MARG"

SHINGLEHOUSE, PA.

Assistant Editor Praeco IV; Associate Editor Normal Bulletin; Y. W. C. A.; Shakespeare, Secretary (4).

"But to know her is to love her Love but her and her alone."

"Marg" strikes you at first as being silent and dignified. Dignified she is, but surely not silent when called upon to recite. Her chief ambition in life is to teach mathematics and by her record made here has proved herself capable of doing so.

R. BRUCE STOVER

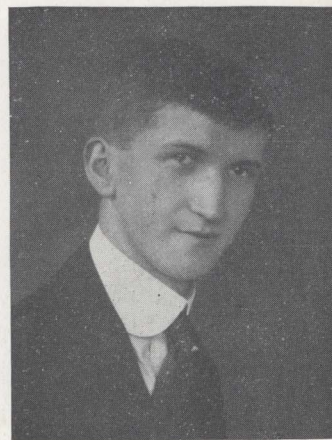

"JOHN"

LOCK HAVEN, PA.

Assistant Business Manager Praeco IV; Price.

"Shy, but O my."

Bruce, commonly called John, has been with us since 1913. He has always said he intends to be an instructor in history, but he must devote more time to his studies and less to the ladies, or he will never accomplish his ambition.

HERBERT E. STOVER

"BERT" "H. E."

LIVONIA, PA.

Shakespeare; German Club; Manual Training Instructor.

Stover, educated in Livonia, Rebersburg High School and Penn State summer sessions, was a principal in Huntingdon and Lock Haven schools before coming to C. S. N. S. He possesses a good firm character, and with his ten years' teaching experience, his Normal training, we predict for him a successful career.

ELSIE SWANSON, I.E.P.

"PINKY"

AUSTIN, PA.

Price; Y. W. C. A.; German Club.

"Laugh and the world laughs with you."

"These are my sentiments," says "Pinkie," but too often they have brought woe unto her blonde pate. Blondy has before her a most promising future—that of becoming assistant teacher of mathematics at C. S. N. S. This article is much after the order of "Pinkie"—brief and to the point.

RICHARD SWANSON

"DICK"

AUSTIN, PA.

College Prep.

"Dick" came to us as a Senior and was received with open arms for he is a fine fellow. In his studies he is very proficient, and his favorite occupation is "digging-out" Trig. Dick intends to make Penn State his Alma Mater and has the best wishes of all for success in his undertaking.

ALICE THIVIERGE, U.P.A.

"AL"

WILLIAMSPORT, PA.

Y. W. C. A. Treasurer; Price; Class Basket Ball (1);
Class Vice Pres. (1); O. A. A. ; Class Treas. (3); Praeco Artist

*"There is a girl in our class,
And she is wondrous wise;
She causes many a heart to start
With those bewitching eyes.
But Henry is the lucky lad,
Who has won this fair queen;
And though they both are very small,
Each to the other is great, I ween."*

BESSE TIBBINS, R.O.O.L.

BEECH CREEK, PA.

Y. W. C. A.; Shakespeare; O. A. A.

"Most dangerous are these quiet folks."

Yes, here's Bess. After graduating from "Beech Creek High," Bess determined to be a school teacher and therefore came to C. S. N. S. She has been very successful in her class work and has won a host of friends. We do not predict for Bess many years of school teaching. There's a reason.

MARY TIERNEY

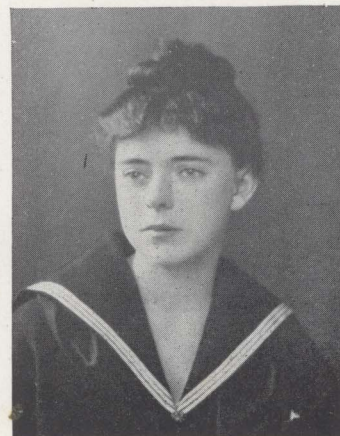

"TOPSY"

SCRANTON, PA.

Price; Dramatic Club.

"Cheer up."

Mary came to us from Marywood College in our Senior year. Although she has been with us for so short a time, she has gained a large circle of friends. Mary has a great talent for music and dramatics. Also a winning way around "Parks."

EUGENE B. VANATTA

"VAN"

Price; Varsity Basket Ball (4).

*"And still they gazed and still the wonder grew
That one small head could carry all he knew."*

"Van" came to us in our Senior year from Slippery Rock Normal. He is an enthusiastic athlete in every kind of sport, and in basketball has made a name for himself which will last for some time. His many friends wish him all possible good luck and success in the future.

GERTRUDE MARY VAN HORNE

"GOO"

WILLIAMSPORT, PA.

Shakespeare; Kindergarten.

"As merry as the day is long."

Everybody knows her. Who? "Goo." You can tell her by her smiling countenance. No one is quite as innocent as she. Wherever she goes her brilliance and wittiness win for her the friendship and respect of her many friends. One the whole, she's a good sport.

MARGUERITE WALSH

"DOLLY"

DUSHORE, PA.

Price.

"Long connected, complexion fair, Light brown eyes and curly hair."

Marguerite is a jolly good-natured girl who always knows the right thing to do. It is easy to get her excited, so be careful not to tell her the river is afire. She graduated from St. Basil's Academy in Dushore. Here's hoping that she will be smiling to the end of her days.

MARY WEIDERT

WILCOX, PA.

Price; German Club.

"Don't work when you don't have to."

Way back in the little town of Rasselas we see Mary packing her grip for C. S. N. S. No matter how difficult the work Mary always smiles and never shirks. Now we see her packing her grip for the "Little Red Schoolhouse in the Lane." Here's hoping good luck goes with you, Mary.

MARGARET WETZEL, I.E.P.

BEAVERTOWN, PA.

Corresponding Secretary of Senior Class (4); Y. W. C. A. Cabinet; German Club; Price; O. A. A.

"To be or not to be."

"Marg" is one of the most talented members of the Senior Class and a great future has been predicted for her. The greatest puzzle to her is "Which one shall it be?" She has won quite a reputation by her oratorical powers and musical ability. Her will is as immovable as a stone wall.

ARCHIE WHAMOND

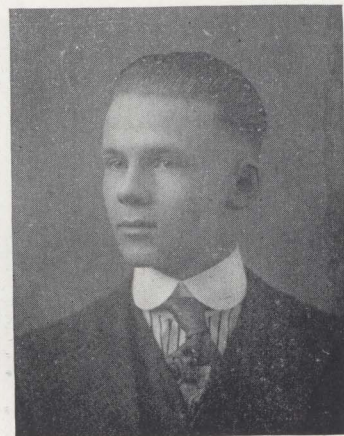

"ARCH"

BEECH CREEK, PA.

Y. M. C. A. Cabinet; Shakespeare.

"He is a very talkative Democratc (?)."

Archie graduated from Beech Creek High School in the spring of 1915 and joined our ranks as a Junior the following fall. He has proved himself to be an athlete of some repute, having thrown the binomial theorem three times out of five. We all hope that his cases will be successful.

MATILDA WHITEFORD, I.E.P.

"TILDY"

PATTON, PA.

Y. W. C. A.; Price; O. A. A.

"Heard an hour before she's seen."

In her Junior year this young lass was called the "Mischiefmaker of the Dorm," but for some unknown reason she has become very much quieter. She must have acquired the dignity of a Senior, for she goes quietly to bed at 10 P. M. and always rises early enough to get to Chapel in time for—the last song.

MARION WHITING, R.O.O.L.

"BILL"

STERLING RUN, PA.

Y. W. C. A.; Shakespeare Society; German Club; O. A. A.

*"Happy go lucky, gay and free;
Nothing there is that bothers me."*

"Bill" dropped in upon us from Indiana and joined us as Sophomore in the spring of 1915. "Bill's" only fault is procrastination. This failing has made her late for meals, classes and Chapel, but never at midnight feeds. She leaves with the best wishes of all.

SARA EDYTHE WHITMAN, I.E.P.

"TEDDY"

THOMAS, WEST VIRGINIA

Price; Class Historian (4).

"Early to bed, early to rise."

Sara came to us all the way from West Virginia and started in as a Freshman. She has been here ever since and never has she been known to go to Salona as many times as she has this year. Do you know the reason why?

ELIZABETH WILSON, U.P.A.

"BETTY"

ALTOONA, PA.

Y. W. C. A.; Price.

"Still water runs deep."

Who has seen the like of her? She who leads her life in her own sweet quiet way. "Betty" can be found most of the time in her own room, but where sympathy or consolation is needed she can usually be found lending a helping hand.

MELVILLE R. YARRISON

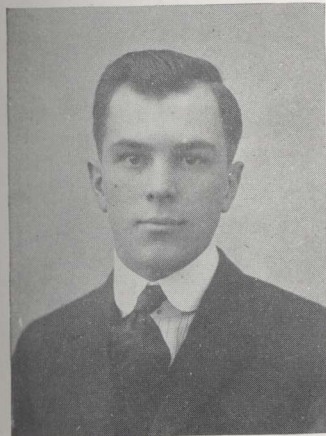

"YARRISON"

LOGANTON, PA.

Price President (4); Y. M. C. A Cabinet; Varsity Foot Ball (2-3-4); Varsity Base Ball (2-3-4).

"Truth is the summit of being; while justice is the application of it to affairs."

After completing two successful terms of teaching, Melville could not resist the good things of old C. S. N. S. and connected himself with the institution in the fall of 1915. Back of his work lies an unquestionable and untarnished record, worthy of the admiration and respect of his fellow classmates.

PARK ZELLERS, A Φ Θ

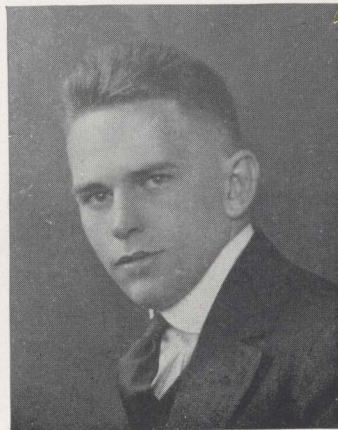

"PARKY" "SPARKS"

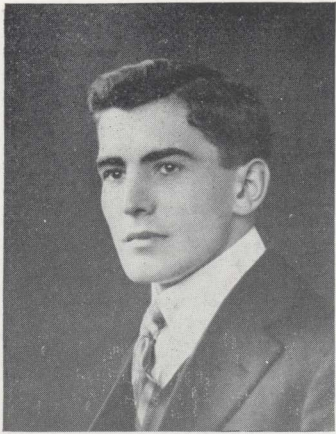

LIVERPOOL, PA.

Treasurer of Class (4); Debating Team (3); Vice President of Class (3); President Price (3); Varsity Foot Ball (3-4); Class Basket Ball (3); Class Base Ball (3); Y.M.C.A.

"A typical ladies' man."

"Parky" as a student is one of the best, and socially he is a wonder. One has only to look at his pedigree to learn of his many accomplishments. He is partial to the name of Mary, however. He has had two. Here's to you "Parky" for future success.

ELMER E. ZIMMERMAN

"ZIMM"

HELVETIA, PA.

Y. M. C. A.; Price; German Club.

"Things are not always what they seem."

Elmer, known as "Zimm," entered the class in the fall of 1913. He intends to go to N. Y. U. to specialize in grammar and later to become an instructor in that subject. But we fear for the worst if he doesn't keep from the Library.

GERTRUDE A. ZIRM, B.S.C.

"ZIRMIE"

LOCK HAVEN, PA.

Shakespeare; German Club; Dramatic Club; Varsity Basket Ball (4).

"To know her is to love her."

"Zirmie" came to us in our Senior year from Bloomsburg Normal. We call her "Zirmie," but she will answer to "Harold." Gertrude's winning ways, curly hair and pretty eyes have won for her a host of friends.

HORACE DUARTE

"HORATIO"

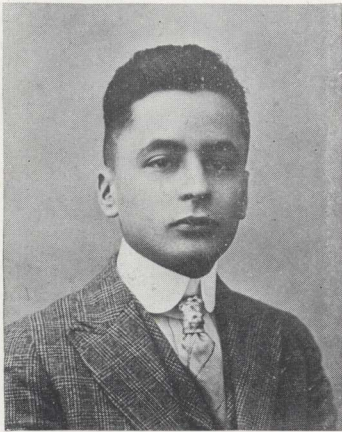

VENEZUELA, SOUTH AMERICA

Y. M. C. A. College Prep.

*"Come and trip it as you go,
On the light fantastic toe."*

"Early to bed, early to rise."

Horace received his preliminary education in Venezuela, but being an ambitious lad, he soon sought the advantages of the United States. He is a very quiet fellow, and is seldom heard from; but when he does speak you can expect to hear a great deal. Horace has many charms. His music, manners and dignity appeal to all who know him.

CARL A. RISHELL

"RISH," "CORKY"
EMPORIUM, PA.

Varsity Foot Ball (4); Y. M. C. A.

"With what attentive care Does he in method place each hair."

This fair youth is one of our Senior products, for he did not come to C. S. N. S. until the fall of 1916. He is quite popular with the fair sex, and is "some fusser." "Rish" intends making State College his Alma Mater, where we wish him the best of success.

CLEMENT SCARPELLI

"SCRAP"
GALETON, PA.

*Always up to something,
Although hard to get him down to work.*

"Scrap," who graduated in college prep. with the class of 1916, decided that, due to his sincere love for dear old C. S. N. S. and its memories of one now gone, he should graduate with 1917. In this we agree with him, for "Scrap" is a fine fellow, whom we are glad to call a classmate.

IN MEMORIAM

AMELIA BOYD, '17

Amelia Boyd was born at Morrisdale, Clearfield County, Pennsylvania, in the year 1897. After leaving the common schools of her native town she entered C. S. N. S. in the fall of 1913, with the expectations of graduating with the present Senior class.

While pursuing her studies diligently and near the close of her Junior year her health seemed to give way, and in spite of her heroic struggles against ill-health she was finally compelled to leave school. She was admitted to the Memorial Hospital, Johnstown, Penna. After the best administrations for quickening her convalescence, and after decided improvement, she was removed to a private sanitarium at Philipsburg, where death occurred in September, 1916.

Not only was our highly esteemed and cheerful classmate a student of ability, honored by all, and of excellent qualities of character, but she was a staunch and true friend to every one, and was ever anxious to lend a helping hand wherever possible.

With her ability as a student, Amelia possessed a strong personality, and was greatly loved and respected by all her fellow-students and friends.

In the death of Amelia Boyd Central State Normal lost a loyal and representative student, the class of 1917 an honored and respected classmate, and every student a true friend.

CLASS WILL 1917

Be it remembered that we, the class of 1917, C. S. N. S., City of Lock Haven, County of Clinton, State of Pennsylvania, being of sound disposing mind, memory, and understanding, do make, publish and declare this our last will and testament, in the manner and form of the following, hereby revoking and making void any and all wills of ours at any time heretofore made.

All our property, real, personal and mixed, whatsoever and wheresoever, we give, devise and bequeath to our executors, in trust, for the purpose and persons following, to wit:

Item I. We direct our executors to pay as soon as possible after our death the numerous debts incurred by us, and to pay all funeral expenses. All that property, personal, and not so personal, we bequeath, devise and dispose of as follows:

Item II. To the Junior class who must now strive to equal the high standard of dignified ignorance which we have always maintained, we bequeath:

1. That erect and noble posture of Lawrence Heddens, which, successfully emulated, will surely inspire a proper respect in the hearts of under classmen.
2. That your President may always make a good impression on the class, we give the ease of manner and freedom of speech which Palmer McElfish has developed to such a high degree.
3. That you may always agree upon all subjects, we bequeath that unity and oneness of spirit which the Senior class has displayed during the election of the Praeco Staff.
4. That your class day may in some way attain the excellency of ours, we bequeath the privilege of copying and remembering what you hear us say today.
5. That you make a success of your recitals, we bequeath those soothing and inspiring notes of Elizabeth Wilson.
6. To that very small boy of your class, Peter Berry, we bequeath some of the great height with which Ezekiel Confer has been especially blest.
7. To your classmate, Earl Davis, who says he has never had a "case," we devote the piano case in the hopes that he might be happy.
8. To the class we bequeath our front seats in chapel, to cherish, to hold and to reverence, with all the dignity of their position.
9. Last of all, we bequeath to your class as a whole our positions on the faculty of the Model School, which we hope you will occupy with the dignity of your predecessors.

Item III. To the Sophomore class, wise in its ignorance and too self-satisfied to appreciate the solemnity of this occasion, we bequeath:

1. The consolation of that oft-repeated statement, "when ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise."
2. Knowing that a Sophomore can never have too much "brass" in his make-up, we give to you all the jewelry found at our death.
3. To the slothful members of the class, we bequeath Palmer McElfish's improved and highly developed method of bluffing the teachers.
4. In order that you becomingly carry your dignity as upper classmen, we bequeath that unconscious grace that has made Helen Dill famous among the students of C. S. N. S.

Item IV. To those innocent, childish Freshmen, whose green color is rapidly turning to a darker shade, we bequeath:

1. To the Freshmen girls, the honor of keeping the girls' kitchen in proper condition, washing the dishes which the upper classmen have left behind, and keeping the match boxes filled so that they will not be delayed in the process of fudge-making to search for matches.

2. To your use we devote all those marbles, tops and toys which we, the "scrub faculty," have collected from our pupils during our brief sojourn in the C. S. N. S. Training School.

3. For your amusement, we bequeath any Ford cars found in our possession, that you might amuse yourself with horns and rattles.

4. To that very tall member of your class, Dick Cawley, we bequeath some of the brevity with which Eugene Vanatta has been blest.

5. In case your added responsibilities make your languages difficult for you, we devote to your use the horses in the gym.

6. To the class at large we bequeath all the rights and duties of Sophomores and the special instructions that you show the Freshmen their rightful place.

Item V. To the Faculty, we give our heartiest regards and thanks for the time and talent which they so liberally spent on us. We also express our deepest regret that your labors have met with such a small response. Finally we bequeath our sincerest sympathies that you are so soon to lose your best beloved class.

Item VI. To the girls of the school we bequeath the privilege of inviting fellows to all the formal dances.

Item VII. To the Normal School we bequeath Miss Balliet's collection of curious insects, and to the Model School, Miss Collins' collection of curious teachers.

Item VIII. To Belvy we extend the thanks of the entire Senior class for the way in which you have cared for those small infants, the Freshmen. Never were their bottles empty for longer than five minutes, and to his efforts is due the rapid growth of this, our youngest class.

Item IX. To our executors we will the coffin nails of the Senior boys, to be used in making our coffin.

Item X. Lastly, we hereby nominate, constitute and appoint Jack Mudpuddle O'Toole and Harry Nuisance Diehl to be the executors of this, our last will and testament, and trustees of our estate, with full powers to take entire charge of all property, real, personal and otherwise.

The foregoing instrument was signed, sealed, published and declared by the above named class of 1917 as and for its last will and testament in the presence of us.

KATHRYN DODDLESBUG BOWER,
JULIETTE ROMEO SPARR,
JAMES ALPHABET MAY.

Signed before me on this twenty-sixth day of June, in the year of Our Lord, nineteen hundred and seventeen.

ETHEL FOX RAUP, Notary Public.

My term expires June 27, 1917.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

One of the most progressive features of our school is the Music Department.

Steadily increasing in numbers and equipment, it has given us the most interesting year in its history.

Such attractions as the Kneisel Quartet, Russian Symphony Orchestra, Marie Stoddart, Soprano, and others, have appeared in the Normal Chapel.

A Faculty Recital, given just before the Christmas holidays, proved a most enjoyable event. The oratorios, "The Coming of the King," by Dudley Buck, and Gaul's "The Holy City," have attracted audiences which taxed the seating capacity of the Chapel to its limits, and maintained the usual high musical standard.

Gilbert and Sullivan's Opera, "The Mikado," appears during the Spring term.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

The Commercial Department, under the instruction of Mr. Henry, has been making rapid progress the last year, and even if there is only one graduate this year there are prospects that there will be more next year.

The Commercial Course includes bookkeeping, shorthand, typewriting, business, English and commercial arithmetic. Students thoroughly instructed in these branches are fitted to enter upon a successful business career. Stella Marr is the only graduate of this department this year.

THE KINDERGARTEN DEPARTMENT

ALTHOUGH the Kindergarten Department is a comparatively recent addition to the curriculum of the Central State Normal School, it has proved its worth by graduating a number of competent kindergartners. The Central State Normal School occupies the unique position of being one of the two Pennsylvania State Normal Schools that offer a Kindergarten course, affording thorough preparation for this important work in the plan of public school education.

The kindergarten room is one of the largest and sunniest in the Training School. It contains the regulation kindergarten tables and chairs, a sand box, a piano, and other articles essential to a kindergarten. One side of the room is devoted to blackboard space, on which the student teachers of the kindergarten place drawings appropriate to the season. The other walls are decorated with pictures which interest and educate the children.

As a part of this course an exhaustive study of Kindergarten Methods is made under the direction of Miss Leshner, the head of the department. This includes a separate study of each of Froebel's twenty gifts and occupations, Froebel's Mother Play, Madame Montessori and her methods, and the methods commonly used in a kindergarten. In connection with this there is a course in Child Study taken from a theoretical standpoint, which is made the basis for the practical work of the student teachers in the kindergarten. Special attention to this subject is also given to the student teachers in the course in History of Education, which is required of those taking the Kindergarten course.

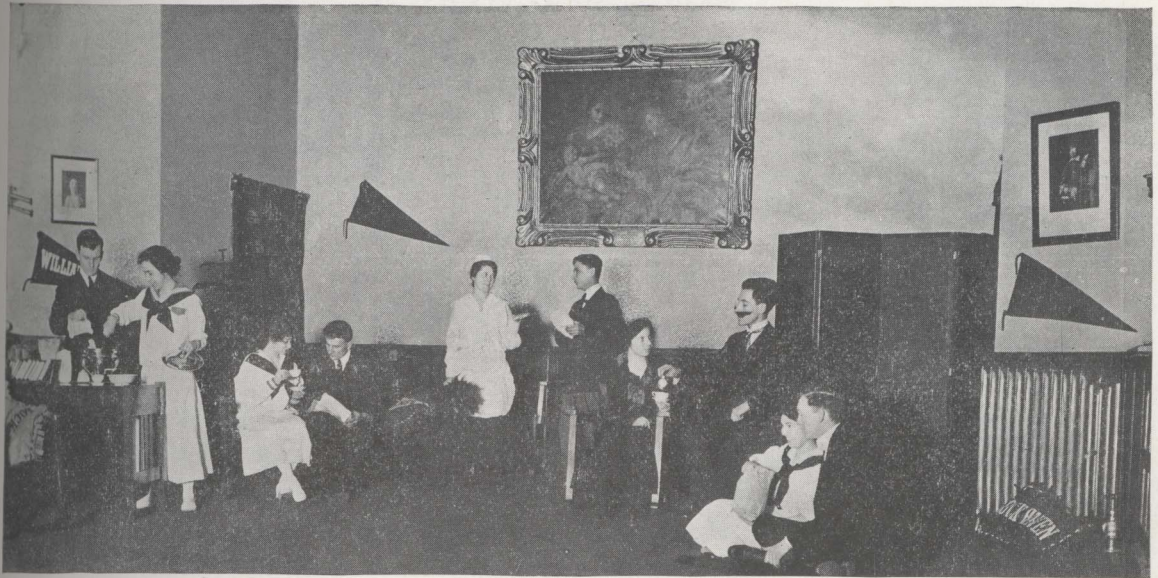

The actual teaching is both interesting and instructive, for it is here that the student's theories are found to be either practical or worthless. During the school year 1916-1917 the average daily attendance was about fifteen. The children, all of whom reside in the vicinity of Lock Haven, vary in age from three to five and one-half years, which is slightly under the usual kindergarten age. As they become more skilled in this work they are advanced to the first grade, thus proving the assertion that the kindergarten prepares children for the first grade.

It is, therefore, with pride that the kindergarten students point to the important place occupied by their department in this school, for without it there would be felt a need which no other course, however extensive, could fill.

EXPRESSION

The aim of the Department of Expression is to develop interpretive readers and strong teachers; to give the student the broadest possible understanding of human experience and emotions; to cultivate an appreciation of the beauty and power of our literature, and to develop ability to interpret artistically the masterpieces. Outward expression, the exponent of inward thought and emotion, is the principle upon which all the work is based. Training in Expression not only supplies the students with a good repertoire of readings, but makes the student able to interpret for himself. Individual needs are given special attention. The Department offers a regular course, covering a period of two years.

DRAMATIC CLUB

Dramatic training is offered in a club of limited membership. Every year a number of plays are studied and staged by the Club, and last year one play was taken to neighboring towns. The success of the undertaking and the enjoyment of the audiences was so marked that not only was the Club invited to return the following year, but other towns, hearing of our success, have asked for a presentation. This spring the Club is scheduled to appear in a number of towns and will start on their tour early in the spring term.

HOME ECONOMICS

THE Board of Trustees, realizing that today the home frequently affords no adequate domestic training for the young girl, instituted a course in Home Economics as part of the Normal School curriculum. In this way every student leaves the school in sympathy with the home, for it has been kept an object of thought in the school. To master the technique of the home is the trend of modern education. She who possesses good knowledge of any of the domestic arts has a most valuable means of making herself useful to others, not only in providing herself with a means of learning or a means of economizing in the spending of an income, but in acting in the capacity of promoter and preserver of the home.

The course in Domestic Science and Household Arts combines theory with practice. The student learns not only what to do, but also how best to do it. The course provides for a foundation in English, mathematics, science and pedagogy. All of the normal students have the opportunity to take up a part of the work in connection with the regular course for teachers. A class of five students entered in the fall of nineteen sixteen to pursue the regular course in Domestic Science and Household Arts.

A number of pleasant and profitable trips have been taken during the year to neighboring manufactories. The class in textiles visited the Woolrich woolen mills and the Lock Haven silk mills. The trip to the Mill Hall Condensary proved to be of practical value to the classes in cookery. Every effort is being made to give the students training and knowledge along all lines relative to the course, so that they may go out better trained to perfect the home and elevate the standard of right living.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

September 4th, 1916, marked the opening of a prosperous and successful school year, with a student body of approximately four hundred. Of all four classes the juniors, or class of 1918, was the largest, having an enrollment of one hundred and twelve students.

This group represented an energetic and enthusiastic number of workers who hailed from three states and twenty-two counties. In athletics and all associations connected with school life, they were quite prominent, having six of their members on the football squad of 1916, which was one of the strongest aggregations of its kind that has represented Normal for several years.

On January 20th, a memory that will go out as one of the pleasant occasions of our school, the Annual Junior Reception was held. In a decided degree, it was much enjoyed by every one present, and reflected worthy credit upon the class by which it was given.

As well as being represented in the athletics of the school, and conducting their social functions in a manner worthy of comment, the Junior Class has also entered their school work with equally as much vigor; and have always kept in mind the maintenance of the high standards set them by their predecessors.

Early in the fall term the class was organized. Red and white were chosen as class colors, the rose as the class flower, and "Virtus in actione consistit" was adopted as our motto.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

So pleasant, successful and triumphant has been the course of the noble class of 1919 that the flight of time has scarcely been noted, and it is almost with alarm that we stop for a moment to find ourselves near the close of our Sophomore year. Pleasant as our course has been, it is nevertheless with sadness that we write our class history and thus draw the curtain upon the last act of our Sophomore year—that year of all years to the Normal students, when they stand, as it were, bathed in the soft, mellow sunset glow of their underclass life and gaze into the broader and better realm of peace and culture which marks the closing period of their Normal course.

We can readily see now why the Sophomores thought we looked so green last year, but nevertheless we can look back with pleasure upon our exploits, and especially upon the many acquaintances we made. During the year we held our own in the athletic sports. Although we did not hold the honors of first place, we let them know that we were a coming class.

After a very pleasant summer vacation we returned in the early autumn of 1916 greatly strengthened by many new faces of persons who had decided to cast their lot with us.

During the second week of the term we held our class election, at which time John W. O'Toole was elected as president of our class.

We now find ourselves upon a solid foundation, and as Sophomores feel the responsibility now upon our shoulders of setting a good example for the Freshmen. In all our social activities we are living up to the high standard of the Sophomores.

By the time we have reached the year '19 we feel sure that we shall have the marks of a dignified Senior thoroughly interwoven into our personality.

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

It was the eighteenth of September when a great clamor was heard through the halls of dear C. S. N. S. The class of 1920 then made its debut. To be sure, they added to the jolliness of the school. There were short ones, tall ones, fresh ones, green ones, fat ones, and lean ones, in fact, and all kinds. Everybody was glad to see them, especially the draymen.

Although our ranks were very small, we kept in good cheer hoping for reinforcements to come October 1st. At first we did get confused going from one class to another, but with the help of our friends, the Seniors, we soon became as automatic as they in the daily routine of school life.

But after all these little tricks in the trade were down as a science, we organized as a class, choosing as our president, Richard Cawley.

Hush, Seniors, Juniors and Sophomores! We won't breathe a word about athletic ability, so as to save hard feelings; but we will whisper that Dick played on the varsity team in basketball and Black on the football team. Talk about bravery! We even have classmates who aided Uncle Sam in defending the border, Cary Alexander, of Troop K.

So with heads bowed in sorrow we bid adieu to the dear class of 1917, wishing them success in their future work.

THE TRAINING SCHOOL

THE Training School of the C. S. N. S., under the efficient management of Miss Collins, is the center of the work during the Senior year.

Special methods are taught in all elementary subjects. This work is made effective by weekly section meetings, when groups of Seniors are met either to consider the work in a special subject or of pupils in a particular grade. The training school of the Central State Normal School is greatly strengthened by a system of definitely written lesson plans. At the same time the student teachers are obliged to take the initiative and plan and conduct the school work for themselves. These plans are written in accordance with the latest and best productions on methodology. The students observe in the Model School during their Junior year and as Seniors they teach in the grades.

During the past terms many improvements have been made in the special subjects as well as in the regular elementary subjects. Each grade meets Miss Adams several times a week, and during these periods rudiments of music are taught to the pupils, while at the same time they prepare the Seniors to teach music later in their own schools. Under the capable direction of Miss Baldwin a period each day is devoted to drawing and manual training, basketry and other forms of art.

On all holidays delightful entertainments are given by the pupils, trained by the Seniors under the direction of the critic teachers.

Many of the Seniors taught in the Kindergarten, under the direction of Miss Leshner, who could not help but communicate some of her enthusiasm and understanding of the children to those teaching under her guidance.

Although the work was not accomplished without some labor and sacrifice, as we pass on toward our commencement, and have secured our hard won diplomas, we cannot help but feel saddened when we bid farewell to "Old Model." We hope that we will be an honor to C. S. N. S. and "Old Model," for it is really true that:

"Other's follies teach us not,
Nor much their wisdom teaches;
And most of sterling worth is what
Our own experience preaches."

THE FOOTBALL SEASON

Capt. R. D. Mitchell, '17

The football season of 1916 was one of the most successful C. S. N. S. has ever had. Of last year's Varsity, ten returned to school, which accounts to a certain extent for the success of the team this season.

The team scored a total of 132 points as against their opponents' 32.

The team defeated the following teams: Jersey Shore, State College High. Susquehanna University Reserves and DuBois High. We also played a tie game with Bucknell University Reserves. In the Bloomsburg game, which was played on their grounds, we had our opponents 13-0 until the last quarter, when they tied the score, due to some of our best men getting hurt. Several of this year's team will return next year, including Ganaposkie, Captain of the next year's team, and prospects are bright for a winning team.

We extend the good wishes of the class of 1917 to Coach Henry and Captain Ganaposkie for as successful a season as this one. Central State Normal has reached its former supremacy on the gridiron.

Praeco IV goes to press too early for a review of the baseball season, but all the indications are that the school will be represented on the diamond this year with a very strong team.

Of last year's Varsity, five are at school this year, namely, O'Toole (Capt.), Berry, Diehl, Grieb and Yarrison. The batteries are all experienced men, and that branch of the sport will be well taken care of. The pitchers have been showing excellent form and are in tip-top condition. Although we had a successful season last year, we are expecting to beat it this year. The schedule for 1916 is as follows:

April 19—Williamsport High	7	C. S. N. S.....	11

BOYS' VARSITY BASKETBALL

At the close of the football season, the attention of the Central State Normal School athletics was turned to basketball. A large number of men responded to the call for candidates, and since a number responded of almost equal ability, the competition for the team was very keen. Five of last year's varsity returned but only two succeeded in making the team, Confer and Mitchell. The rest of the team are new men who are exceptionally fast.

The season has been a successful one. The season, from the point of games won, has fallen below our expectations, but the boys have developed into a fast team, as was shown in the last games, in which the team defeated the strong St. Francis College team to the tune of 26-15, and Mansfield Normal by the score of 35-15.

Let us hope that C. S. N. S. will be represented with as strong a team next year.

1917 BASKET BALL TEAM—GIRLS

GIRLS' CLASS BASKETBALL

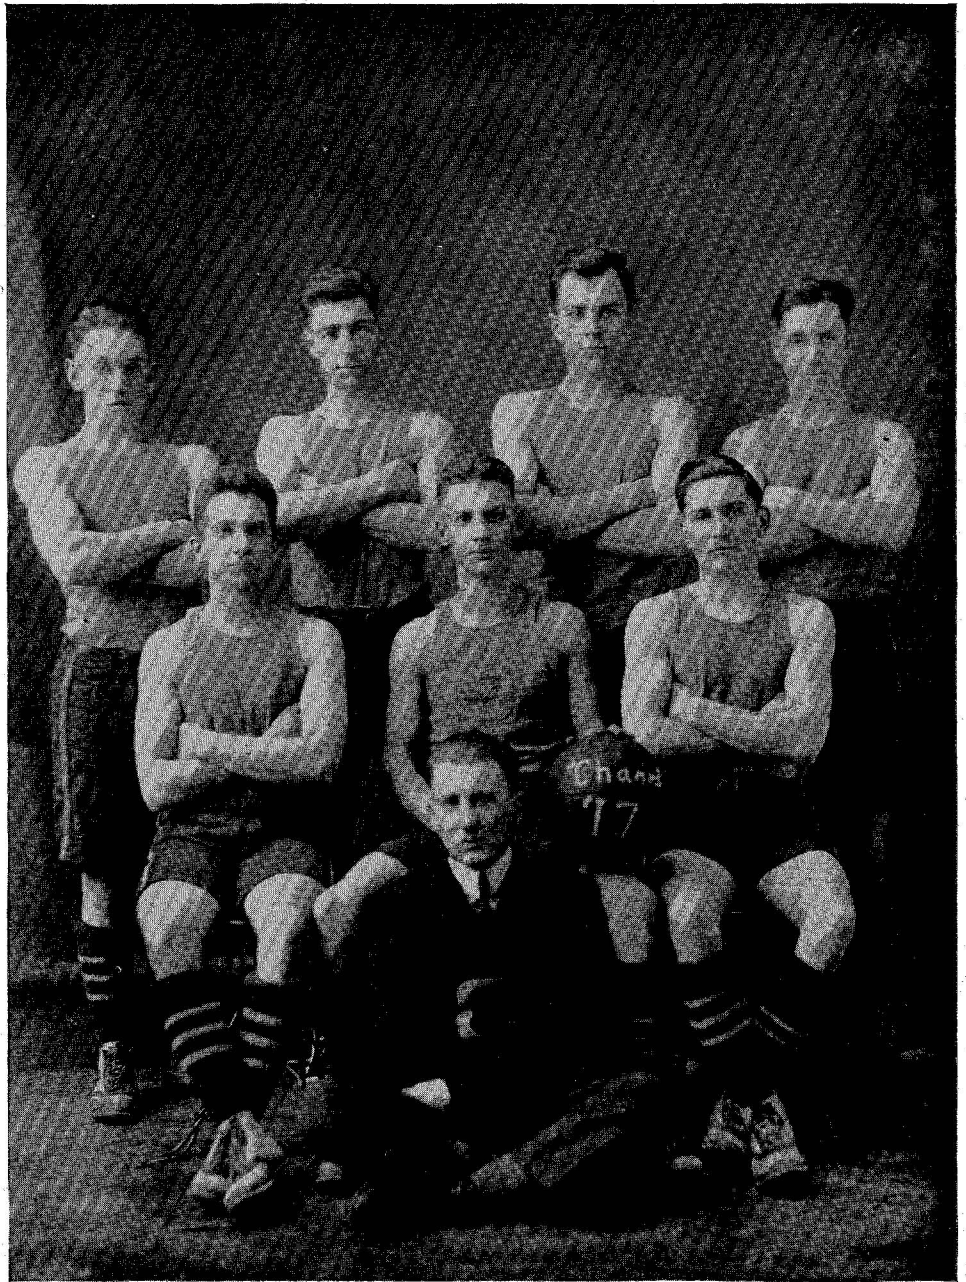

The Senior class has made a good showing this year by organizing a Girls' Basketball Team, thus proving that the girls are as capable as the boys in the athletic field.

The first game, played March 16, between Juniors and Seniors, was a decided victory for the latter. The final game for the championship took place March 20, Sophomores vs. Seniors. With true sportsmanship we acknowledge the victory of our underclassmen.

The Team is as follows:

RUTH CRIST	Left Forward
JUNA FERGUSON	Right Forward
FRANCIS BAIER (Mgr.)	Center
MARY WEIDERT	Left Guard
MATILDA WHITFORD (Capt.)	Right Guard
VELMA FRAPPIER	Substitute
MARGARET WETZEL	Substitute

1917 BASKET BALL TEAM—BOYS

SENIOR BOYS' CLASS BASKETBALL

During our four years' stay at Normal, we have had a victorious basketball team, winning every championship game since our Freshman year, when we lost to the "Preps" by a very small margin of two points in the last few seconds of play. However, our boys received the necessary amount of training in the art of basketball as to be the champions for all the remaining years, and at the same time giving the varsity team a majority of material from our class.

In our Sophomore year we completely awed the school by defeating the Juniors in the championship game by a score of 18-8. Our captain, "Zeke" Confer, here made his first appearance in the basketball world, and the next year was greatly honored in being elected to the position of captain of varsity five. Furthermore, our two forwards, Rishell and Carson, became two of the varsity stars. Mitchell, one of our guards, won his way to fame on the varsity team.

In our Junior year Leo Lovett was elected captain, and notwithstanding the fact that four of our men became members of the varsity team, we were still able to organize a team strong enough to defeat our old rivals, the Seniors, by a score of 24-10. Naturally the Seniors were feeling quite glum over the result of the game, and a class scrap was in progress for a few days, but finally the storm cloud blew over and the Seniors were reconciled to their fate.

In our final year we elected Harris Rishell to captain the team which again proved to be the winner. The class games started with the Freshmen being beaten by the Sophomores by a score of 12-10. On the following day the strong Junior team went down before our superior quintette to the tune of 22-12. Although our boys were nearly all in from the Junior game in the morning, they made short work of the Sophomores in the final game in the afternoon. The team was supported by loyal Senior rooters and the class song, "The Orange and Black," was harmoniously rendered. The final score was 14-10, which showed the excellent team work of our men.

GIRL'S VARSITY BASKET BALL TEAM

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

When the basketball season opened this year, a large number of girls responded to the call for candidates. It was not hard to pick a varsity team because so many old members were back in school. The vacancies made by Peck and Probst, last year's guards, were ably filled by Loveland and Myers, and that of forward, left vacant by Earon, was filled by Maguire.

The girls have had a very successful season this year. Out of nine games played, they have lost only three, all of these being away from home.

All of the team graduate this year, and prospects for next year are not so good as they were for this.

However, Miss Rich has organized class teams and so far they have been very successful. So we shall be able to depend on the class teams for varsity in '18. All the members of varsity hope the girls will work as hard as they did this year and keep up the good standard of sport that the girls have established.

The Olympian Association is composed of the girls of the school who are interested in the game of tennis. This organization in past years has fostered an interest in this game, and also helped to keep the courts in good condition. It is expected that the club will organize with the election of new officers as soon as the season is suitable for outdoor tennis. Tennis in the fall and spring terms should be a most popular game, and we hope the time will come when the Normal School will need double the number of courts it now has. The girls interested in tennis should organize a tournament of singles and doubles for the students in the school.

The game of volley ball was begun last year under the instruction of Miss Estella Armstrong. This year Miss Rich aroused considerable enthusiasm in this game. She selected the ground above the Normal School, where the old building stood, for the place to play the game. Some necessary apparatus was purchased, and a large number of girls were interested in the game.

SOCIAL NEWS

MARSHMALLOW AND WEINER TOAST

On the evening of September 23, 1916, the merry Seniors met on the front campus, and with class songs and yells proceeded along the Lusk Run road to the scene of activities.

Some of our members, who were, or claimed to be, skilled in the construction of campfires, soon had a huge bonfire blazing. Various amusements were enjoyed until the fire was ready. After the marshmallows and "weenies" had been toasted and properly disposed of, every one gathered around the fire and told ghost-stories. Then all returned to the dorm, voting that the initial social event of our Senior year had been a great success.

FALL TERM RECEPTION

The members of the Faculty entertained the students at a reception and dance September 30, 1916. The Gym was tastefully decorated in pennants and plants. Cosy corners were attractively fixed up with divans and cushions. The dance was a good representation of Faculty and students, only those who were absent having cause for regret. Dancing started at eight o'clock and at ten o'clock tasty refreshments were served. After a short intermission, dancing was continued until 11.30.

THE HALLOWE'EN DANCE

The Hallowe'en dance given by the boys October 28, 1916, was one of the decided social successes of the year. On entering the Gym one was met by all sorts of ghostly creatures, and the most weird sounds. After much bumping into ghosts, clowns and Indians, and falling of corn shocks and pumpkins, the lights were turned on, displaying the tasty decorations.

Dancing began at eight o'clock. At 10.30 a delicious luncheon of sandwiches, pumpkin pies, doughnuts, apples, candy, popcorn and cider was served. After this intermission dancing was continued until twelve o'clock. Every one was proud and happy and laughter reigned supreme. We all join in giving the boys a hearty vote of thanks.

SENIOR SLEIGHRIDE

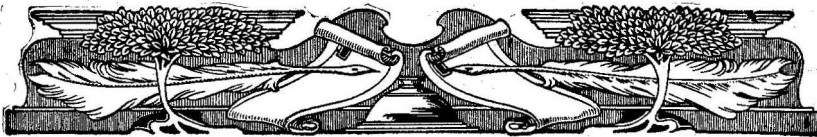

On Tuesday evening, January 2, 1917, the Senior class held their annual sleighride. The party went to Jersey Shore, where they were served with a delicious dinner, and they spent the remainder of the evening in enjoying themselves generally. The bunch was chaperoned by Miss Le Fèvre and Mr. High. All declared that they had the time of their lives.

JUNIOR RECEPTION

On January 20, 1917, the Junior class gave a reception in honor of the Seniors with the members of the Faculty and the Freshmen and Sophomores as invited guests. The gymnasium was tastefully decorated with pennants and the respective class colors. The evening was pleasantly spent in dancing, refreshments being served during intermission. The Seniors showed their appreciation of the jolly affair by a rousing yell for the class of '18.

VALENTINE DANCE

A Valentine dance was given to the boys by the girls, Saturday evening, February 17, 1917. The decorations were carried out in red and white. "Hearts" and "Cupids" were hanging at random through the Gym. One feature of the evening was a Serpentine Dance. The "heart" scheme was carried out in the cake and ice cream, which were served during intermission. Dancing continued until 11.30. All reported a very enjoyable time.

AMONG the many advantages for growth and development offered at Normal, we mention as one of the first the Young Men's Christian Association.

In the winter term of 1910 the late Doctor J. R. Flickinger, by the help of the State Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. work, drew up a constitution of this kind in the school—a constitution that stands for true principles of life. The aim of which was to foster the Christian life in school and instil in the students the principles of honesty, true nobleness, and above all, service to God and man. Since the establishment of this organization, it has been a strong factor in the school. Almost every young man who enters school becomes either an active or associate member. The Y. M. C. A. has always been a great help to the young men who come from Christian homes. It has made them stronger and better equipped for life's work.

Hearty co-operation has existed between faculty and students, which has made it possible for the success of the organization thus far.

We, the young men of the class of 1917, wish to say that while we have been here the Y. M. C. A. has been of great benefit and pleasure to us. We have received great benefit from the meetings. We wish the cabinet, which will succeed us, God-speed in their work.

May the Y. M. C. A. continue to be a strong factor for good in C. S. N. S., and as we leave the school we hope and pray that higher achievements may be attained in the years to come.

THE Young Women's Christian Association, to which we all look for spiritual uplift and guidance, has been strongly organized in this institution.

Nearly all the girls of the school have been enrolled as members and have contributed their aid in making it a success.

The work of the association is divided among various committees, each having its respective duties to perform.

The Social Committee, in endeavoring to unite the girls more closely in bonds of friendship, established lasting relationships by giving parties frequently throughout the year. At one of these interesting teas, we were especially favored by having as guest of honor Miss Ruth Lee Pearson, student secretary of the East Central field. A special feature of the work was the unique Japanese bazaar given before Christmas vacation, which was both a social and a financial success. Our Advisory Officer, Miss Anna Froelich, proved herself a charming hostess when she entertained all the girls in her rooms where they met and employed their time usefully in making dainty pieces of needlework for this bazaar, while listening to the music of the victrola.

The Devotional Committee has been none the less active in planning the prayer meetings for Wednesday evening and Sunday morning.

The Bible Study Committee organized a Bible Class, which met every Sunday evening during the fall and winter terms.

The Missionary Committee arranged for classes during spring term.

Among the other faithful committees are the Social Service Committee, which has given flowers to the sick, and the Conference Fund Committee, which has been kept busy raising funds whereby delegates may be sent to the annual conference at Eaglesmere.

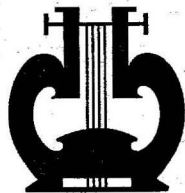

And now in looking back over the benefits and pleasures enjoyed in being workers and co-workers with the vast army, which is laboring for the Master; in having been given the opportunity to contribute in part to the support of those in foreign fields, experiencing the joy of giving. May those who succeed us derive the same benefits, which only those enjoy who find pleasure in the activities which pertain to that larger and nobler life.

GERMAN CLUB

THE LITERARY AND MUSICAL CLUB

THE DEPARTMENT OF GERMAN

On December eighth, the second, third and fourth year students in German organized for literary and musical exercises to be given each week by the members of the club. The following are the officers:

Instructor MISS ANNA FROELICH
President NEVIN GRIEB
Secretary FRIEDA BAUMAN
Vice President JAMES MAY Treasurer RAY MITCHELL
Pianist MARGARET WETZEL
Chorister BESSIE LA MONA
Chorus: JULIA FUHRMAN, MARY WEIDERT, RUTH CRIST, MARGARET SELLERS, NEVIN GRIEB, LAWRENCE HEDDENS, JAMES MAY, RAY MITCHELL.

Music was a strong feature of the club this year. There were soloists among the boys and girls, who appeared frequently. Many of the songs memorized are sung by the best singers for the red and blue seal records on the Victrola. These artists were valuable leaders for the class in chorus work. Some new records have been added and our repertoire has grown.

The annual drama given by selected members of the club will be displaced this year by scenes from Wilhelm Tell, given by all members in the second year course. This will give an opportunity to each for using this language in dramatic action.

Much interest is already shown in the study of the exposition of the play. The present senior class have done a high grade of work throughout the two year course, as well as through the three year and four year courses.

PRICE LITERARY SOCIETY

MOTTO—"Earnestness alone makes life eternal."

COLORS—Blue and Gold.

During the year 1877, while C. S. N. S. was still in its infancy, a body of students met for the purpose of forming a literary organization. It was named in honor of Philip M. Price, a great benefactor of education and also of this school, as it was thru him that this institution early received its part.

During latter part of Fall term and all of the Winter term Price society, with her sister, Shakespeare, held a series of joint meetings in chapel, presenting the Senior recitals.

These were thoroughly enjoyed by all, and showed the real value of society work and what it does for the individual. The valuable training one receives in society can be fully appreciated by Seniors.

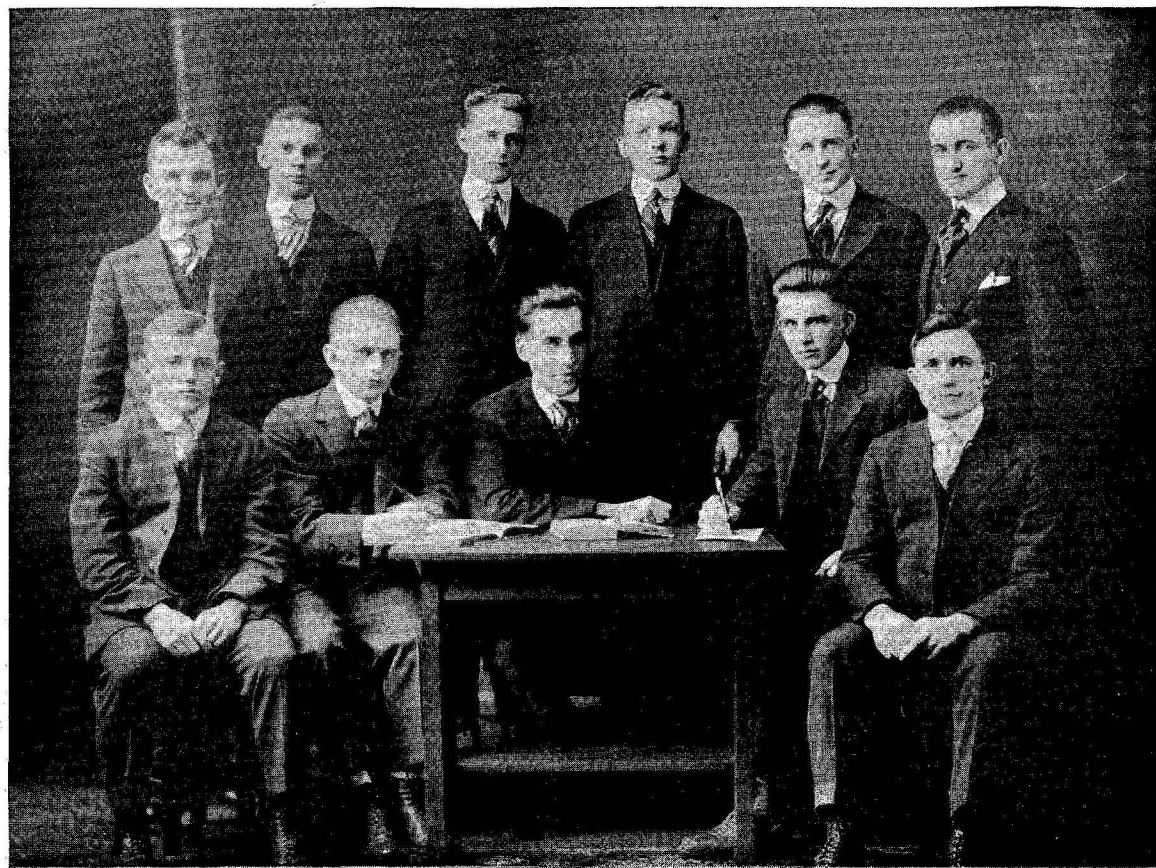

The objects of this society are to develop skill and power in debate, and to bring about a general acquaintance with the rules and usages of parliamentary practice.

Price Society is well represented in the Inter-Normal debate this year, as well as in previous years, for Price has always taken the lead on the debating team.

At the close of this year, 1916-1917, we Seniors, with sincere regret, must cease our active work for "Price," but may we never cease to wish for her a future career as successful as has been her past. To those who must now take up the work we are leaving, we extend our sympathy and the earnest desire that they may never falter from the paths and duties of a true "Pricite"!

ALPHA PHI THETA

"The Friends thou hast and their adoption tried, Grapple them to thy soul with hoops of steel."

Nineteen hundred and seventeen marks the fifth anniversary of the founding of the Alpha Phi Theta fraternity. Altho a young organization in the school, it has attained a position of which it can justly be proud—a position not gained by chance or other uncertain methods, but by the high standard of its membership.

Alpha Phi Theta stands for "a square deal to all." It is composed of an ambitious, industrious, and congenial set of students, who, by their loyal efforts in behalf of the best interests of the school, have gained the respect and true friendship of both faculty and students.

We hold that the talents of a man are never developed, unless he is asked to do his best. The number of our members taking an active part in all school activities, including athletics, clearly shows that we demand the best. Since Alpha Phi Theta will always stand for the good of the school and the individual—establishing support and loyalty to the school, and demanding that a man BE a man—may it ever flourish.

That the graduating members may remain true to our ideals of manhood, and that the cup of success may pour its richest blessing on our many friends is the earnest desire of the Alpha Phi Theta fraternity.

MOTTO—"Esse Quam Videre."

As we are drawing near the end of the second anniversary of the I. E. P. Club, which was founded for the purpose of bringing the girls into closer social relationship with one another, we find that our efforts in trying to carry out the high ideals set by our former sisters were not in vain.

During the past year nine active members from the class of 1918 were taken into our club. It is with deep regret that those of us, who will graduate with the class of '17, leave those associations which the many months at C. S. N. S. have made dear to us. However, may we all keep in mind "an effort made for the happiness of others lifts us above ourselves."

The R. O. O. L. Club was organized in the fall of 1915 by eight girls for the purpose of having jolly good times together and making our school life more enjoyable, which was surely accomplished, for we shall never forget the good times we have had at our meetings and feeds. When we came back in the fall of 1917, "we were Seven," for one of our members happened to be an unlucky Senior. But the seven of us continued to keep up the good times, and when we had our anniversary banquet, the entire original eight were present. In the winter term, six new Junior members were added to our number, and now we stand "The Lucky Thirteen," and with our blue bird of happiness we defy any one to show us a jollier bunch.

BITTER SWEET CLUB

B. S. C.

COLORS—Brown and Gold.

FLOWER—Brown-eyed Daisy.

'Tis joy to make friends with those worth while,
In ones whom we trust and love;
And these are the kind of friends we find
In the ranks of the "Bitter Sweet Club."

The "Bitter Sweet Club" was founded at the Central State Normal School in Nineteen Hundred and Fifteen by ten Senior girls, and in the Spring of Nineteen Sixteen seven Junior girls were taken in as active members. The Club was very successful, and during Commencement a banquet was held in the Normal dining room. This was an affair that will not be forgotten by those who participated in the joyful event. The purpose of our Club is to establish friendship among the members and loyalty to the school. Having this twofold purpose in mind, we feel that the members of the Club have made the name of "Bitter Sweet" worth while to attain. This year the Club's work has been carried on successfully, due to the efforts of the president and the faithful work of the members. Ideals have been established that we only hope to gain through earnest work. The benefits derived from this Club have become firm factors in the life of every one of its members. During the spring the Annual Banquet of the B. S. C. will be held, at which time every member will be present. Those of us who will graduate with the class of '17 go out with the firm belief that the "Bitter Sweet Club" will be as successful in the future as it has been in the past.

"Friendship is love without his wings."

These girls have been friends together in sunshine and in shadow, bound by a chain of three links—truth, sincerity and love. As some of us depart, "memory will take us to her caverns, pure and deep." But let each girl say, "Forsake not an old friend, for the new is not comparable unto him (her). A new friend is as new wine—when it is old thou shalt drink it with pleasure."

"He hath said men ought to remember those friends who are absent as well as those who are present."—Ibid.

JOKES

Our manager had a Thomas cat;
He warbled like Caruso;
One of our athletes swung a baseball bat—
Now Thomas doesn't do so.

Questions

Why did Heddens say he lost the key of his room?

Grieb—"Florence, something has been trembling on my lips for several months."

Florence—"I see; why don't you shave it?"

Park—"Now Mary, whom do you love best, Lolly, Eddie or me?"

Mary T. (undecidedly) says—"My mother told me to choose—"

Marg Imler—"Jimmy, what a red head you do have! How does that happen?"

Jimmy—"Well, you see; it's very wiry, and when I wash my head it rusts."

Carl Carlson—"What is a skeleton?"

Pupil in Model—"A skeleton is a man who has his insides out and his outside off."

Never mind, Seniors, if your shoes do squeak; don't let that bother you. Shakespeare says that every one ought to have music in his soul.

Juna—"Mary, Vannie had his tooth knocked out, but it wasn't his own."

Mary (surprised)—"Whose was it?"

Maude—"Matilda, which is correct, Robert or Bob?"

Matilda—"Why, Robert, of course."

Maude—"Then, if you saw a dog going up the street with his tail cut off, would you say, 'There goes a dog with a Robert tail?'"

Bessie Lamona—"What are all those photographs of young men you have?"

Helen Dill—"Oh, they're only my collection of souvenir spoons."

Acknowledged from the Trenches

I want to say I received your kit.
I'm down in the trenches doing my bit;
I wear one as a helmet and one as a mitt—
Where in the world did you learn to knit?

Heard in the Model

Eddie Laubscher—"Why should we take great care in eating peanuts nowadays?"

Bright Student—"Lest the shells might drop."

Julia Sparr—"Ray, do you know how many square inches there are in a waist?"

Ray—"No; but I know a swell way to find out."

"What did your father say when you told him that my love was like a broad and dashing river?" asked Rishell.

Marion—"He said, 'dam it.'"

Helen Burrell—"The hair of Aneas stood on end."

Teacher—"Please translate that more freely."

Helen—"Aneas had a 'Teddy Bear' haircut."

Seniors

Ever-ready lunches served in Room 113 by { Mary Tierney
Charlotte Myers

Nina—"Why do you say my face is like the Blarney Stone?"

Yarrison—"Because, like the Irishman, I'd travel hundreds of miles and hang by my heels to kiss it; then I would never get done talking about it."

Bruce Stover—"Why is love like chemistry?"

Leo Lovett—"The lower the gas, the greater the pressure."

German Teacher—"Will you decline 'Ein Glass Bier'?"

Hourigan—"I never have yet."

A Word to Ye Seniors!

To kiss a miss is more a miss
Than it would be to miss a kiss,
Provided that the kiss you miss
The miss herself would never miss.

Prof.—“Margaret, have you ever used that word ‘dear’ before?”

Marg. Wetzel—“Yes, indeed.”

Prof.—“I thought so.”

N. Grieb—“This summer I’m going to Sea Girt.”

R. Swanson—“Well, give Gertie my best.”

Mother—“And what book did you profit most by when you were at C.
S. N. S.?”

Heddens—“My check book, without a doubt.”

Prof. Benson’s Ideal Breakfast—Bacon and Eggs.

Little bits of blindness,
Little slips of pens,
Make us flunk a subject
And take it once again.

Tub Loveland—“I got 65 in my music test.”

Kewpie Crist—“That’s a rather low note, isn’t it?”

Tub—“Well, Kewp, not so low; I am a tenor.”

“There once was a pony named Jym,
Who was worked by a Senior with vym,
But a difficult lyme
He translated too fyne—
Now Prof. Gage is the master of hym.”

Sadie O’Malley (after the game)—“I looked up in the gallery; a fellow smiled at me.”

Marjorie Maguire—“Hard luck, Sadie; but how could he help it?”

Domestic Science Teacher—“Name three things containing starch.”

Sadie—“Two collars and a cuff.”

Mac—“That orchestra looks seasick. What are they playing?”

Instructor—“‘Return of the Swallows,’ sir.”

Miss Rich—“What cuts of beef do we get from the leg of beef?”

Ethel Raup—“The shoulder.”

A SEARCH

A TRAGEDY IN THREE ACTS

On the street in "Bill Town."

Just as happy spring began to awaken the buds on old mother earth, one of our classmates left for the navy. A search was planned and was carried out. Among the searchers were two of our classmates, Stover and Lovett. The mission carried them to the thriving city of Williamsport, where they enjoyed life for one whole day. After searching the most prominent places in the city, they found themselves on Third street. Now for a little pleasure trip. Lovett spies the car and, knowing the ways of the city, goes to the upper side of the street to catch the car. But Stover knows more about it than his friend, and stays where he is. The car rushes past Bruce and he attempts to catch it on the fly, but gets only half on and is used as a road scraper as a result. Lovett fishes him out of a mud puddle and rushes him to the hotel nearby, where he gets scrubbed off.

ACT 2

A Visit to the Oculist.

Next place of importance that the two lads visited was Doctor Ritter's office. Here Bruce had his glasses examined. When they entered the building they looked over the elevator, but, not knowing how to work the bell, decided to resort to the more laborious method of climbing the stairs. They emerged from the office when they had transacted their business and waited fully a half hour thinking the elevator would come for them. But alas! they would be there still if Bruce had not begun to explore the place. He pressed a button just as the elevator passed on a downward trip, and poor Bruce, thinking he had cut something loose, began to beat it. The first place he finds himself is in the hands of a cop, who is asking for an explanation, but in his excitement, poor Bruce could not utter a sound. But our brave Leo arrives in time to save Bruce's life and rushes him to a restaurant, where they feast on spaghetti and baked beans.

ACT 3

At the Movies.

Our young heroes decide that the trip will not be a success unless they take in a few picture shows. First they visited the Grand. After the first show they go down to the Family Theater. Here a little romance begins. They entered the theater by Market street entrance. The show is on, and Stover is mistaken for one of the troop by a pretty lass who plays the part of leading lady. She believes he is her old friend from Podunk, and takes him up on the stage with her, where he "kids" all the show girls and affords the audience a good time in general. Stover, still thinking of the fair show girls, is slightly rattled and becomes a little twisted as to the location of Park Hotel station, and, to bring him back to his right senses, Lovett has to get a full line of directions from a cop. After they once get in the car, Lovett has to bribe Bruce in order to get him off. When the train arrives, the poor boys crawl on; Bruce is ready for his daily nap and proceeds to take a snooze. When they reach Lock Haven it takes the whole train crew to waken Bruce. As he awakens, he cries out, "You are a perfect dear," and is astonished to find himself talking to Lovett instead of the fair one of whom he was dreaming.

The search was a great success, with the exception of one thing—They didn't find Hanna.

Curtain

Jokes

Prof.—“Does the moon affect the tide?”

Coed—“No, sir; merely the untied.”

“Why are all the girls interested in Archie?”

“I think he is the only fellow who still has his fraternity pin.”

Marian—“What is it you don't like about me?”

Rish—“Another fellow's arms.”

Freshman (entering library)—“Do you have a modern version of Shakespeare's “Romeo and Juliette?””

Miss Steward—“Yes; you will always find it in the annex.”

“I heard that Archie proposed to you yesterday while you were out canoeing.”

Ruth Shanley—“He did—but he spoiled it by getting on his knees and upsetting the canoe.”

Never carry quarters. You don't know when the gas may play out.

Park—“Didja notice the beautiful sunrise this morning?”

Mac—“Naw. I allus git in before that.”

We Wonder

How Jimmy May would look in a stag club?

How Vanny would look in Mac's clothes?

If Nina really means it?

Where Elsie gets her information?

How Zeke would look in knickerbockers?

Why Velma's smile took a leave of absence?

How Park would look in a stovepipe hat?

Where Maude's candy comes from—pop knows?

If Larry Heddens was a pretty baby?

Where Kate Bower gets her supply of “froth”?

If Bessie La Mona is really a man hater?

If Helen can give us any information about the “light that failed”?

Where Anna learned to swim?

How successful Grieb would be on a “fox” hunt?

Why Jules is always behind—doors?

Who can explain Betty Wilson's propensity for cousins?

Why Lillian has turned strictly anti-German?

Why Marg. Wetzel's “Honest to John” has changed to “Honest to Cecil”?

When Nina Mills and Elsie Swanson posed for “Dignity” and “Impudence”?

REPORT ON MEETING JAN. 1, 1917

The meeting was called to order by President Mitchell. The minutes of the last library confab were read (with exceptions) by Secretary May and hotly discussed. Several important business items were brought up, viz. :—

How to control Eddie's conduct, so as to render him worthy of retaining his membership in the Club—this being necessary, owing to Eddie's fickle disposition.

Whether Bruce's qualifications entitle him to a membership in the Club.

It was decided that Dick Swanson should go to the Faculty and propose that the library be vacated for the purpose of meeting of the Club members and their wives. The result was that the Faculty, not being able to understand the sentiments of the Club, most ruthlessly forbade them the use of the library at any other hours than 6 to 7 A. M. As they (the members) claimed that this would interfere with their own sleeping hours, the Club then voted unanimously to boycott the Faculty.

Prof. Heddens then rose to his feet in a most daring manner and proposed that the Green Parlor should be devoted to the use of the Club.

Commodore Grieb then said, "I see no reason why the Club could not get possession of the music box"—he thought he had some influence in that quarter.

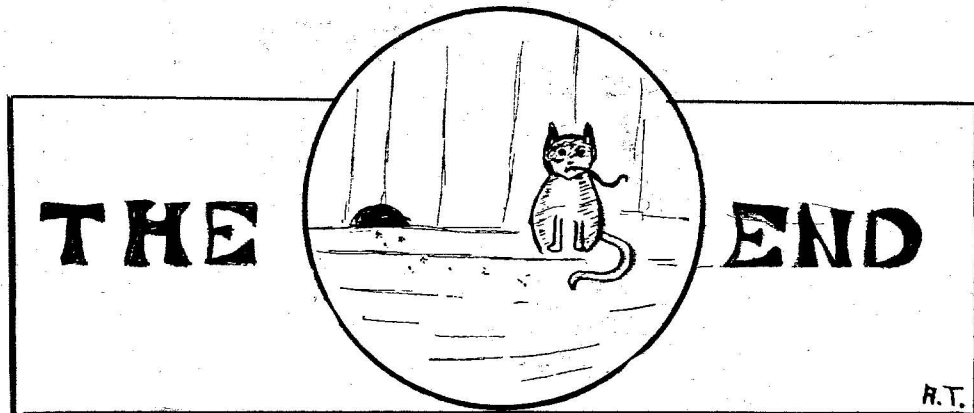

Colonel Harris Rishell then proposed that the Seniors should have a sleigh ride in the month of May, for the benefit of his cousin, Captain Carl Rishell, whose qualifications at the time of the last sleigh ride would not admit of his being a member of the Club, but who now deserves one of the foremost positions, for, altho a new member, he is not new in the business.

This proposal was objected to by our scientist, Dr. H. E. Stover, whose objection was on the grounds that there was not likely to be sufficient snow for the purpose of sleighing. But he added the suggestion that the Faculty could be relied on to provide a heavy frost for the occasion.

All these matters attended to, the meeting closed with a prayer for the "Celibates." The final number of the program was the "Club Song"—"There's No Place Like Home."

As a final word, we would say that the Club is thriving beautifully and our graduation will leave a number of widowers and widows, yet we hope that with Pete Berry as President; Cecil Davis as Vice President, and Paul Farren as Secretary of the M. M. C. of next year, its activities will be extended beyond the wildest dreams of the present members.

LOCK HAVEN, PA.

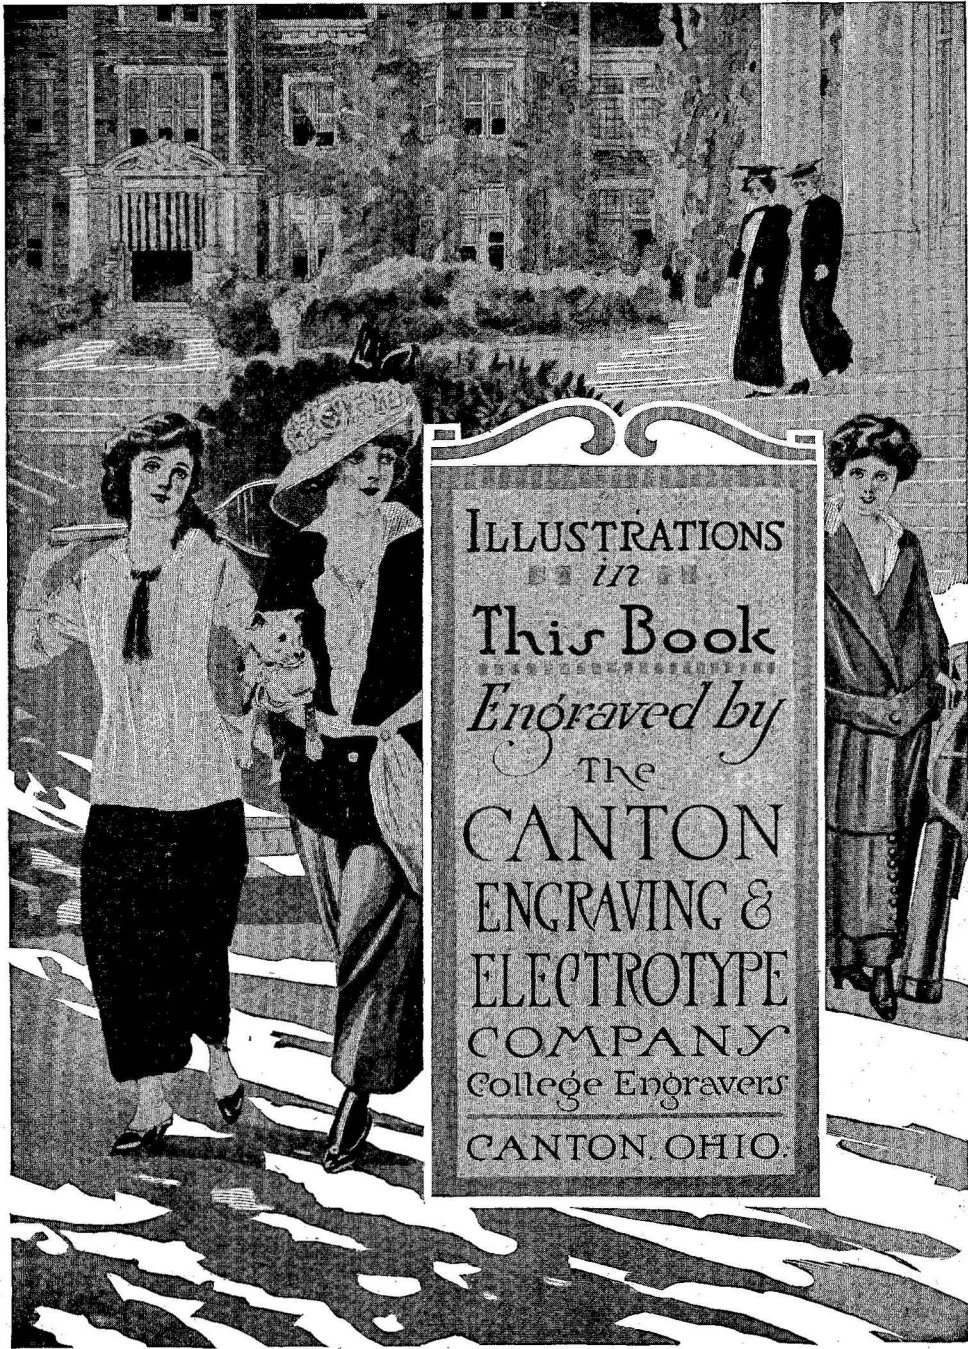

CHARLES LOSE, Principal

THE SCHOOL is now owned by the State of Pennsylvania and is under direct State control. It has a strong faculty, well-equipped buildings, a large athletic field and a beautiful campus. The atmosphere of the school is strictly moral and religious. The location is exceptionally beautiful. The preparation of teachers for their work is the great aim of the School and the regular requirements in the course in pedagogy are supplemented by much practical work on programs of study, class room instructions, school management, administration, etc.

Dress Well Your Part;
There Success Lies—

LOOKING THE PART has much to do with success; he who is well attired will be well received—but he who is shabbily clothed is denied an audience.

No sensible man believes that style is worthless, or that conservative adherence to style is not a prime necessity; and the men who denounce style are either foolish or insincere.

See us for the latest in clothing and shoes.
