Senior Class of Central State Normal School

LOCK HAVEN, PENNSYLVANIA 1921

Warren Nevin Drum, A. M.

ARREN NEVIN DRUM was born in Bloomsburg, Pa., where he received his elementary education. After graduating from the Bloomsburg High School, State Normal School and Lackawanna Business College, he entered Columbia University and graduated in 1914 with the degree of Bachelor of Science and in 1915 with the degree of Master of Arts. He has been a graduate student in Columbia University at various times subsequently.

Mr. Drum entered his career as a school man with the appointment as teacher in Dickinson Seminary, Williamsport, Pa., where he remained for two years. He taught in the high school at Flemington, N. J., and at Kingston, Pa. From 1914 to 1918 he was City Superintendent of Schools at Millville, N. J. He was later elected Superintendent of the Schools at Cliffside Park, N. J. Since August 5, 1920, Mr. Drum has been Principal of Central State Normal School at LockHaven, Pa.

This brief outline indicates that Mr. Drum has had wide experience in teaching and supervising. Since he has been at C. S. N. S., he has worked untiringly for the interests of the school and its students. One is impressed by his thorough knowledge and many sided interests which have been gained by deep study, much reading and contact with many people. Through his own application he has secured a background that is very essential to a successful Principal.

To Mr. Drum, who has been to us a friend, a loyal helper and a devoted Principal, we, the Class of 1921, dedicate this eighth volume of Praeco.

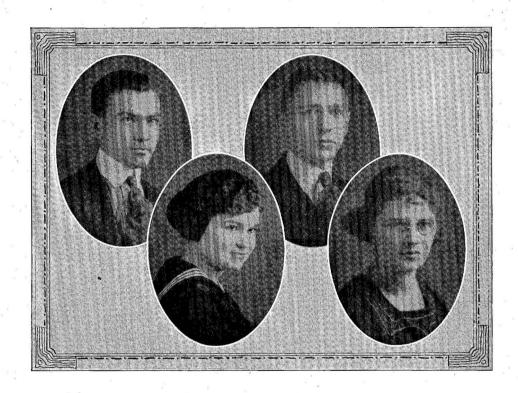

WARREN NEVIN DRUM, A.M.

FOREWORD

O touch it not with thoughtless hands
This little book of ours!
And scan it not with ruthless eyes
In the far distant hours!
For he who uses but his eyes
Has only faults to find,
But he who reads it with his heart
Will find the cause behind.

For 'tis a task of love, not art,
Of sympathy, not skill,
To show the place we soon must leave
Our thoughts are with it still.
So when you read, may you forgive
Because of the words above
And let our last attempt but give
A tribute of our love.

M. S. '21.

He had many accomplishments, especially his melodious voice—one of the nightingale type—has won him distinction. Indeed the rising bell was more tinkling as compared to it. "Charles" was always the first fellow up in the morning and as he slowly pondered through the halls, the resounding strain of "Sweet Alice Blue Gown" around the peaceful slumbers of second floor.

In Memoriam

"God calls our loved ones, but we lose not wholly, what he hath given; They live on earth, in thought and deed, as truly as in Heaven."

In the autumn of 1919, Frederica Green came to us from her home in Smethport, Pennsylvania.

After but a week's illness with pneumonia, just when her hopes were brightest and her future beaming with light, she answered the call to the Great Beyond and departed from us on February 7, 1920. But her sunny disposition and noble character shall remain with us forever. Always eager to help others, and with a pleasant word for all, she was loved by all her classmates. We shall always carry with us some sacred remembrance of her kindness and goodness cheerfully bestowed on all.

May her life inspire us to live nobly so that we, too, can cheerfully answer the last call, "Come up higher."

CHAPEL CHOIR

Class History

ARLY in September, 1917, there came to Central State Normal School about twenty-five shy, timid creatures who came to drink deeply from the cup of knowledge. Perhaps you have guessed who they were, but if you haven't, I shall tell you. Now listen, for I shall say it very quietly. They were the members of the class of 1921. We were here only a few days, or weeks when we began to feel at home and were really glad that we had come. The teachers and upper classmen were very kind to us and even though we sometimes couldn't find the dining room, or got into the wrong classroom, we did not despair, but kept bravely on. The Freshman class was soon organized with the assistance of our knd friend, teacher, and dean, Professor S. W. Furst. The class selected the following officers:—

President William Moore Secretary Pricilla Williams With the aid of our kind teachers we got through the school year successfully, and started for our homes to spend the summer vacation. Hurrah!

Our summer vacation soon passed away, and again the dear old halls of Central State resounded with the heavy, carefree voices of students reunited. We were Sophomores then and our number of students was twenty-seven. A few new students joined our ranks and some old students failed to return.

We had a class meeting and elected the following members for officers during the Sophomore year for the class of 1921.

President Burrell Herr Vice-President Carl Sager Secretary Florence Diehl Treasurer Anna Garth Athletic Representative William Moore

Everything was going along nicely when the "Influenza Epedemic came along. This frightened many who proceeded at once to go home, but a few of the faithful remained. Many who remained were infected but the school was carried on by the few who survived. Before Christmas, school was going well again, and every one was worrying about final examinations. Can you imagine the surprise and joy when the grand announcement of no final examinations greeted our ears? We returned after a delightful vacation and plunged into our work, and started the new year right. We all were sorry when the school year ended, and we had to leave our classmates and friends, but we expected to soon be reunited with many students added to our class of 1921.

Again we returned in September 1919 to old Central State. We were all very happy to be together again, and we welcomed with open arms a large number of students that enrolled in the Junior Class. It did not take long to get acquainted with the new students and soon were working together so well that it would have been difficult to see that we had become acquainted only a short time before.

We had our first class meeting and elected our officers of the class for the coming year:—

President William Moore Secretary Thelma Stewart
Treasurer Sarah Peterman

Everything was going along nicely when out of the clear sky came the Scarlet Fever germs. Several of our students contracted the disease, and were isolated from the very few remaining students for soon as we heard the news there was one grand for "Home Sweet Home". I suppose dear reader, that you think that we had a very pleasant, long vacation. But we did not. School was still in session for the few students that remained. The real reason for the continuation of classes must of been to keep us out of mischief, as we had a general review of all subjects after the other students returned.

The above is the only outstanding feature of our Junior year unless one be allowed to mention how dear to some Juniors heart's was the Opera House on Saturday nights, and Susquehanna Avenue on Sunday afternoons. But those who enjoyed those privileges decided that the campus of old Central State was really the best, so they decided to remain on home ground (for three weeks).

The school year passed away quickly, and again we packed up our troubles, and our belongings and started homeward. After many good-byes, kisses and handshakes we were off. Hurrah, hurrah, for a jolly vacation.

Well it was September again. The summer passed away so rapidly that

Well it was September again. The summer passed away so rapidly that none of us were ready to come back. But we were back again and I am sorry to say that the Seniors of 1920 forgot to leave their dignity behind for the class of 1921, and that is why we lack that quality, but we notice that the Juniors are beginning to acquire some, so by next year, we feel certain that the class of 1922 will have an ample supply of dignity.

When we came back this time we were greeted by our new Principal Mr. Drum, and many new faculty members, and we also found that the Model school was no longer the Model school but the Training school. We missed the Seniors of 1920 very much, and oh, how often we thought of our dear teachers who had left our halls of learning. We miss very much Dr. Benson's tales of Romance, and Miss Froelich's friendly greetings and also her polite invitations to stay out of the library for certain periods of time. We also missed Miss Adam's morning in Chapel when we sang one more song than we usually did. Those dear reader are just memories. Although we loved and miss our former teachers very much, we have learned to love and respect our new teachers that have come to us.

It was during this year that we began our teaching in the Training School. At first, I think we all found it quite difficult and unatural, but with the aid of our kind supervising teachers, we gradually became accustomed to our work. It is now about time to worry about State Board examiners. At last they came too, every one was excited and nervous especially after the examiner had left the room, and one was interrible suspense to know whether he passed. But all our worry was unnecessary, for we all passed. Of course not all of us had the distinction of being Honor Teachers, but we are proud of those who were.

Our class officers for the year were:-

Secretary Alice Bowser President ... Donald MacDonald Treasurer Rhoda McCartney

With the aid of these class officers, we feel that the Senior year of the Class of 1921 has been very profitable, and a year that we may look back upon as one of pleasure and friendly companionship.

At the close of the year we hated to leave our classmates, but duty called, and we could not always be idlers. So we bade farewell to dear old Central State and we all joined in wishing that many more students will enjoy the privilege of attending there.

Farewell, again dear Alma Mater, Farewell, Farewell.

Prophecy of the Class of 1921

AVING nothing to do but to sit on the deck of a modern fast ocean-going vessel which was pushing it's way to some foreign country, I wrote the following letter to Mr. Homer Sherman. Principal of the Vera Cruz High School, Vera Cruz, Mex.

Somewhere on the Atlantic,

Dear Homer:

June 15, 1931.

Your welcome letter received before I left the states, was certainly glad to hear from you. Your suggestion has set me athinking and I have as you have suggested, tried to find out what each member of our class is doing. It is certainly interesting how the class of 1921 is succeeding in the positions that it's different members hold. While on my way from San Francisco to New York, I had the pleasure of seeing Dr. and Mrs. Young. Mrs. Young, before her marriage, was Miss Pricilla Williams. Just as we were boarding our train for New York at Chicago, who should greet us but Clair Wandover, Superintendent of the schools of Potter County. He was on his way back to Potter County to resume his duties, after an extended trip around the world.

I have just finished reading Mercedes Burns' latest Novel, "Charles of Dushore", dedicated to her faithful suitor Charles Thall. Eva Belle Lovell has been appointed Editor-in-Chief of the Newberry Chronicle, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Marion Vanderbilt, who is soon to become a bride.

I spent a few days at C. S. N. S. about a month ago. While there, I learned that Barbara Pletcher is doing settlement work in New York City, that Inez Ricker has accepted the position of Post-Mistress of Mill Hall, and has selected Beatrice Roffe as her assistant. Bud Herr is Principal of the Altoona High School, while Ethel Casselberry is his assistant. Marion Schreckengast is doing Chatauqua work and spends her time in directing the Devereu Players. Helen DeGabriel is teaching French at C. S. N. S. Verna Dornblazer is teaching Domestic Science in Columbia University. I noticed in the paper that Mrs. Samuel Diehl (nee Ethel Vonada) gave a house party last Saturday evening to some friends.

I have before me a copy of the New York World of which Irene Burke is Editor-inChief. On the front page there is a picture of Joseph Rydesky and his chief body-guard Raymond Gawryla. They sailed recently for Poland where Joseph has accepted the Presidency of the Country.

The night before I sailed, I heard the Russian Symphony Orchestra. Blanchard Gummo was there which pleased all very much. The Orchestra is under the capable direction of Rhoda McCartney, while Bernice Barrett is accompianist. One of the selections played was Rhoda's "Ode to Faculty Government". It pleased the audience very much.

The Department of Public Instruction has recently appointed Elwood De Turk to the position of Supervisor of Rural Schools. Lina Stonemetz is his assistant. Mildred Moyer is teaching Rural Socialology in Columbia University.

Eleanor Troutman is telephone girl and is stationed at Jersey Shore. Florence Holmberg and Marjorie McCaw are directors of Aesthetic Dancing at Wellesley, and Malita Scherer accompanies them on the Ukelele. Charlotte Williams is a Missonary in China. Alice Lupold is censor for the Fox Moving Picture Company, while Rita O'Connor is starring for the same company. Helen Loose is designing gowns in New York. Mildred Phillips is training dogs for the Circus.

While in New York we met Mr. and Mrs. Lester Dively. Mrs. Dively before her marriage, was Miss Veronica Bradely, the noted art critic from Paris. Nelle Dick is Supertendent of the Training School at C. S. N. S. Madeline Fiedler is at the head of a beauty parlor in Washington, D. C. It is reported that she is to become Mrs. Darrell Michael. That reminds me, did you hear of Alice Bowser's Marriage to a young man from Madera? The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robt. Vindetta McKenzie of that place. They were attended by Miss Rachel Bowser, a sister of the bride. Helen Simmons is Dean of Women at State College. George Dively has been elected assistant in the Department of Science at C. S. N. S. Bill Moore is the newly elected Principal of that place. I forgot to mention these facts while speaking of C. S. N. S. before. Sara Peterman is helping her brother in his printing establishment at Jersey Shore. Nellie Dolan is giving a course of lectures at C. S. N. S. on the subject: "The Need of the Junior High School of Today". Anna Creighton has just received her appointment as Chauffer to Frank Dively, the new Secretary of State. Beatrice McClatchie is Ambassador to England where it is hoped she will settle the Irish Question. Margaret Pfarr is teaching in Johnstown High School.

There are a few teachers up in Alaska who are from the States and graduated in the same class we did from C. S. N. S. Grace Brooks teaches about twenty miles from the boarder of Alaska, while Teresa Yutz and Violet Smith are in other parts of Alaska. Dr. Donald MacDonald is Principal of Snow High School, Fort Yukon Alaska.

Torrence Lyons is President of the League of Nations, with Betty Young as his Private Secretary. Harriet Jones is doing very nicely as pilot in the airship "DID" mail carrier between Lock Haven and Washington, D. C. Martha O'Brien has just finished her latest Palmer Method Manuel. Mary Smith has been elected Supervisor of the Department of Health Education for the States of New York, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey. Beatrice Packer has become famous for her speech in the Senate, "Why Men Should Not Wear Red Neckties." Almeta Bixel is Professor of Music and head of the Department of Music at Cornell. Faith MacDonald is Business Manager of the new "Skipping Rope" factory in Ceres, N. Y. Pat Ott recently won the World's Championship of tennis.

Well Homer, I must close for this time as I am getting tired writing and 'tis most time to crawl in.

Your old friend and classmate,

JACOB W. GETZ.

Class Will

Is proven unlawful to print the last will and testament of the class of nineteen-twenty-one without first stating to mourning Juniors the following facts.

This last will and testament of the aforenamed class has been very seriously contested and the grounds of said momentous contestion being of the following doubts.

The sanity of the aforenamed class of 1921 has been questioned and proven balanced. The proven fact being that no class in its right mind and of sound judgment could possibly decide to leave C. S. N. S.

The above mentioned fact has been under the consideration of a famous and well-known specialist on insanity and has been sworn untrue, although not unfounded according to the diagnosis of Mr. Drum and his faculty. Therefore let it be known to all. We, the class of the Central State Normal School, of the County of Clinton, and the State of Pennsylvania, being of sound minds and bodies, do hereby make our last will and testament, and at the same time revoking all former wills made at any time previous to aforesaid diagnosis was made.

CLAUSE I.

As regards to the class of 1922, we do hereby appoint Mr. De Turk M. High as guardian of them until such time as they will be of age and able to take care of themselves and their own interests.

CLAUSE II.

To the class of 1922, we do give and bequeath:-

1. The dignity of the Seniors of this year as they will no longer need it.

Note:—Guard it well as it is our most beloved possession.

- 2. The duty of holding regular class meetings in the chapel.
- 3. The privilege of masking at Hallowe'en dances. The privilege of having invited guests at the receptions held at regular intervals during the school year.
- 4. Our heartfelt sympathy, also our increasing sympathy encouragement to do your best that you may at some time in the remote future attain the dignity of Seniors.
- 5. Lastly but not least. The privilege of going to all eight o'clock classes late, particularly if said class be Music.

CLAUSE III.

To the class of 1922 we bequeath:—

The honored name of Seniors, and this is our last warning be an honor to the name.

- 2. The pleasure of writing twenty-four lesson plans a week and of attending bi-weekly section meetings with your Critic teachers from four P.M. until six P.M.
 - 3. The honor of receiving a diploma tied with their colors.
 - 4. The privilege of being looked up to and honored by lower classmen.
 - 5. The enjoyable position of hosts and hostesses in the dining room.

- 6. The talent of the present Praeco Staff to be used in preparation of Praeco 9.
- 7. The enjoyment of the fine views from the front rooms, said views includes campus, training school, power house, and grandstand.

8. The privilege of serving on the student council

Note:—Said privilege includes the right to put all students to bed promply at ten P.M., seven nights a week, and of squealching each and every person regardless of cause, and also the right to campus any member of the school.

CLAUSE IV.

Special items:-

1. To Genet Paterson, some of Irene Burkes eye training.

2. To Gretchen Kliensorgen, Teresa Youtz, excessive height.

3. To Olga Neff, Eva Belle Lovells, ability to keep her complexion on

4. To Miss Warburton, all of the note-books so diligently kept by honorable members of the Senior class.

5. To Belvy, Florence Holmbergs, ability to shimmy.

6. To Hortense Hughes, some of Bill Moores love for the opposite sex.

7. To Lina Stonemetz, Herbert Neefes' fancy dancing.

CLAUSE V.

We hereby leave:-

To the school, the privilege of keeping up the present standard of the Price and Shakespeare Literary Societies.

2. To the incoming class of 1923, juniors, the freshness of last years Junior class, also the Dramatic ability that we didn't possess.

3. To the night watch, the pleasure of waiting for unfortunate skippers return, also the privilege of turning out the gymnasium lights at exactly 9:30 on Saturday nights.

4. To all students, the right to conduct barnyard choruses on nights preceeding vacation without being campused for it.

5. To the Junior class president, a Senior girl.

To Herbert Neefe, Geneva Stulls wonderful dancing.

To Eleanor Robb, Clair Wandovers stand-in with Sully. To Genet Rhoades, some of Beatrice McLatchies gift-of-gab.

9. To the girls, the use of the student kitchen located on the first floor. Note:—Please see that the screen is always in the window so as to keep flies out!

10. To the whole school, the privilege of going in and out of the front entrance, and the pleasure of walking on the front walk the day they graduate.

11. To Normal girls, entertaining brothers or cousins in the green parlor, the privilege of closing the door of said parlor.

12. To the entire school, the privilege of returning from vacation a day late without anyone saying anything about it. Besides these enforced gifts, we leave not of necessity but of our own free will, our blessing and a pledge of friendship from henceforth.

In witness whereof, we, the class of nineteen-twenty-one, the testators have, to this will, written on one sheet of parchment, set our hand and seal this fifteenth day of June, Anno Domini, one thousand nineteen hundred and twenty-one.

FAITH MacDONALD, '21.

Class Song

Farewell to thee, dear Central State,
Farewell to all thy pleasures great,
For now, with mingled joy and pain,
We must go forth life's prize to gain;
Dear Normal School, where friends we made,
We pledge thy memory ne'er shall fade,
And though we win to wealth and fame,
We'll still hold true to thy loved name.

From sunny plain and mountain tall,
We came with pleasure at thy call;
From city, town, and countryside,
Impatient we our time did bide,
Until, with eager hearts aflame,
We came to share our honored name;
And over land or on the sea,
We will hold true, dear school, to thee.

It may not be for us to rule,
Our place in life, the Public School;
Our task the wholesome truth to teach,
To guide to right, life's meaning preach.
Where Susquehanna rolls her stream,
We've labored hard and dreamed our dream:
For service, e'en to sacrifice,
We now go forth to join the strife.

And so to thee we bid adieu,
Our chosen task we've labored through;
We pledge thee that from year to year
Thy name shall ever grow more dear;
As thoughts shall often backward turn,
And oft for thee our hearts shall yearn,
We still shall carry on thy cause,
To spread the light, nor seek applause.

Girls' Basket Ball

Shortly after girls' basketball practice had begun, the announcement that Lock Haven had joined the State Athletic Association and that girls should play girls rules, came to our ears. Although this meant begin again, much enjoyment was taken in games and practice. Now we must leave wishing '22 much success with girl's rules en'everything, '21.

FOOTBALL

Owing to the scarcity of fellows at C. S. N. S. this year, not enough material was available to make up a team. Although captain Mullen and the candidates practiced a few weeks and kept up the spirit of the season's thrilling sport, no schedule was arranged.

BASKETBALL

The school athletic activities were centered in Basketball for this year. There were plenty of willing candidates, and under the coaching of Mr. Richard Seltzer, regular practice was held and a team selected.

Only six games were played on the schedule. The season fell short of our expectations, for Normal not once received the palm for victory.

The game with Dickinson Seminary was lost by one point, someone depriving us of a foul gail by stepping inside the ring, thus losing the game which should have been tie.

Our fellows are to be congratulated on their hard work and spirited playing against fast teams.

Price Literary Society

Motto:—"Earnestness alone makes life eternal". Colors:—Blue and Gold.

Price Society has done great things this year under the following efficient officers:—

Blanchard Gummo President
Mercedes Burns Secretary
Veronica Bradley Treasurer
Florence Holmburg Editor of Gazette
Jean Ingham Asst. Editor of Gazette
Priscilla Williams Critic

Owing to the ability of the Program committees, Price Society has entertained her members during the whole year with interesting meetings, containing much individuality and original performances.

The Price Society contains many members with dramatic ability which they exhibited in the play given on Feb. 7, 1921.

The proceeds from the play The Adventure of Lady Urssila were given for the benefit of Praeco.

On Friday evening, May 13, Price Society anticipates meetings the Shakespeare Society in a contest. Of all the material contributed by both societies the best original story and poem, the best reading, and the most original and interesting paper will be selected. We hope that Price Society will come out victorious in the contest as she did in Athletics and in every other undertaking this prosperous and successful year.

The Praecites are eagerly anticipating an hilarious time at their annual picnic to be held at Riverview in the near future.

To our Faculty advisers we extend our sincere gratitude for their advice and helpful suggestions in raising our standards.

Colors:-Crimson and Gold.

Seal:—Pen through the broken sword with capitals over all.

When the class of '20 passed out of our presence, it took with it all of our members with the exception of about a dozen, nearly all of whom returned to us this year. The society was without officers when the year opened. Mr. Lyons, being the vice-president for last year, took charge of the society until the nominating committee made it's report on an election. The following officers were elected to serve during the first semester:—

President Torrence Lyons
Vice-President Joseph Rydesky
Secretary Alice Bowser
Treasurer Homer Sherman
Pianist Margaret Farwell

At the beginning of the second semester the following officers were elected to serve for the remainder of the year.

President Jacob Getz
Vice-President Homer Sherman
Secretary Hazel Brown
Treasurer Nellie Dolan
Monitor Leymoune Cornely

We have had some very interesting programs this year.

The literary contest to be held between the two societies of the school is stirring up some enthusiasm in the school. Each society will select a contestant for each of the following:—Reading, Original Story, Original Poem, and the Society Paper. It is hoped to make this contest an annual event.

Our constitution and by-laws have been re-written and are at this writing in the printers hands. They will be printed in phamplet form.

About forty (40) new members were added to the society during the year, and all pitched right in to help what they could to prove to the world the "THE PEN IS MIGHTIER THAN THE SWORD".

"Brothers! here's to the love We bear for each other, 'Tis the love from above, The love of a brother."

Nineteen hundred and twenty-one marks the twentieth anniversary of the founding of $(\Omega \ \Pi \ \Omega)$. In the two decades of its existence its greatest inspiration has been in the ideals of manhood and in the promotion of these ideals through the ties of brotherhood and friendship set up by its charter members; men to whom we are proud to pay a sincere tribute of admiration and respect; men to whom we owe countless thanks for their far-reaching influence in the maintaining of the basic spiirt of $(\Omega \ \Pi \ \Omega)$ that its members be men, an din fellowship find that manhood grows in sincerity and power.

In this sentiment were echoing that love for $(\Omega \ \Pi \ \Omega)$ we have found in the hearts of as many of the one hundred and sixty-eight graduate members as we have been privileged to meet. For the influence of $(\Omega \ \Pi \ \Omega)$ is not temporary, but a love that will endure in our foundest memories.

 $(\Omega \ \Pi \ \Omega)$ has proved to the school the highness of its ideals, and the influence of its members has always been a valuable asset to the school life.

Alpha Phi Theta Braternity

"Those friends thou hast and their adoption tried, Grapple them to thy soul with hoops of steel."

Alpha Phi Theta Fraternity was founded in 1913 by six young men who met one evening and laid the foundations for the high ideals we now uphold, firmly believing that in union there is strength and the true friendship that only exists in such brotherhood is the most desirable. From the start Alpha Theta immediately plunged ahead, growing slowly in numbers but greatly in the intellectual, moral, and social activities of the school, until now it is unsurpassed by any organization of its kind in the school.

Litle did the brothers who founded Alpha Phi Theta think of the important part the fraternity plays in the lives of its members, while here in the school and in after life as well, such friendship as only an Alpha Phi Theta man can cherish.

Y. M. C. A. CABINET

Young Men's Christian Association

HE Young Men's Christian Association has been doing a great work in the school. Of course the small number of boys in school this year has been a very great and heavy draw-back to the work. We have held meetings every Wednesday night that it was possible for us to do so.

Up till Christmas time we held our meetings in Price Hall, then it was voted to hold them in the Y. M. C. A. Parlor. We had been holding them there until one day a sign appeared on the door "stay out this means you". Of course we knew that we were getting a new floor and furniture, so lately we have been holding our meetings in Price Hall again.

We have had some good meetings with students as leaders, all have conducted their meetings in a good manner.

We have had Mr. L. M. Miller as our guest twice this year so far. He is the Traveling Student Secretary of the state. He gave us very interesting talks both times he was here. Rev. Reese and Prof. Lawton, who were conducting Evangelistic campaigns in one of the down town churches, gave a very pleasing program one evening. Mr. Reese gave us a very instructive talk, his text from the fifty-seventh chapter of Acts and the seventh verse. Prof. Lawton sang us two very pretty solos which were enjoyed by all who heard them.

Prof. Ulmer, our faculty advisor, has lead the services several times. Mr. McCloskey, county superintendent of school, Miss Himes, Principal, Drum, Prof., of our own faculty, and others are scheduled to give us talks before the end of the term.

The following officers were elected for next year:

President Ivan Nechtly Vice-president

The boys have made quite a bit of money selling candy and peanuts in their own rooms.

Fred Remely, Hiedling Nelson and Torrence Lyons have rendered us music on their instruments on several occasions. Messrs. Moore and Getz have acted as choristers through the year, while Misses Berneice Barrett and Margaret Farwell have acted as pianists when we met in Price Hall. When we met in the Y. M. C. A. rooms we had no piano, we got along the best we could and when we could not carry the tune by singing it, we whistled it and thus got over the song. Most of the boys have proved themselves good whistlers.

There is a movement among the boys to raise money for the purchase of a victrola for our newly furnished room. Everyone seems to be enthusiastic over the idea.

Thus far the year has proven to be a very successful one in the history of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

HE Young Woman's Christian Association has been very active this year. We heartily welcomed Miss Blanche Speer as our advisor. She brought with her a store of valuable suggestions gained through her wide experience in Y. W. work.

One of the most uplifting events of the year was the visit of Miss Grace Richards, from the National Y. W. C. A. She told us of the work done by other associations and led us to see that we are only a part of a great international movement. We felt more keenly our duty toward the less fortunate members of our World Organization. Miss Richards has now gone to Chine with her message of good cheer.

Devotional meetings were held each Sunday morning and Wednesday evening. These meetings were planned and carried out by the girls. They were attended by the most of the girls and many inspirations for better living were given and received.

The Conference Fund Committee worked unceasingly so that a larger delegation of girls could be sent to the Eagles Mere Conference. We all realize the renewed zeal and new ideas which permeate the delegates on their return to the society.

A very fine cabinet for next year has been elected and we look for great things. They have already taken up the work with great interest and show unusual executive ability.

Carry on the work for the Master, dear Alma Mater!

GIRLS' COUNCIL

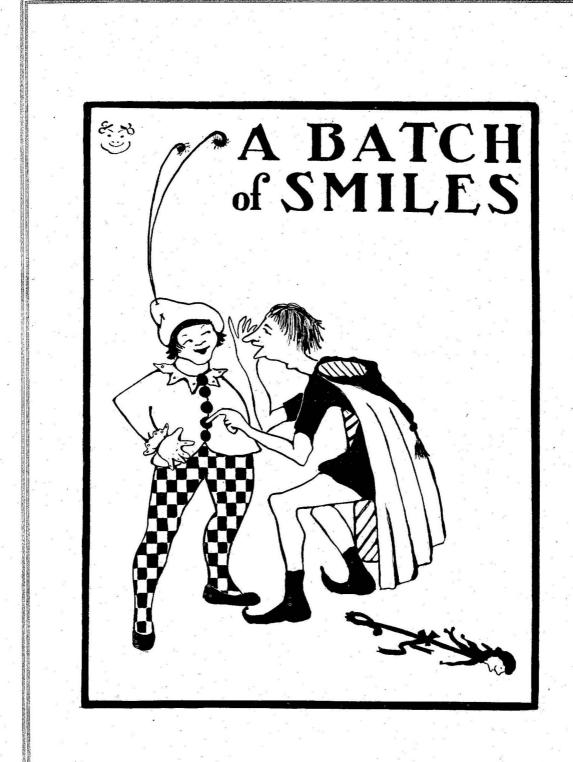

Class Poem

Through the years which have vanished like shadows, Like Ghosts that have glided away, We have lived; we have learned; we have struggled Toward the victory that now crowns our way. ·Dear Normal, our school days are ended; Thy portals now leave we for aye, Dear teacher, and schoolmate, and classmate, May good fortune 'ere smile on thy way! In the future while Life's book we are learning, We shall long for the years that have fled. And their memories and dreams we shall cherish, While we follow where Duty has led. Fare Thee well! Dear Alma Mater, Deep revered thy name we hold, As regretfully we leave thee, Leave thy gratious, sheltering fold.

CLASS STONES

Freshmen Emerald
Sophomore Blarney
Junior Grindstone
Senior Tombstone

There was a young girl called Dunn
Who was so very fond of fun
That she rapped on each door
Said "Two in or more"
How she laughed when the kids all run.

Now there was also a girl called Simmons
Who was Skinneyer than all skinny wimmens
I have heard it of't told
How once when 'twas cold
She hid in her prettiest dress trimmins.

J. Stull—What is Mr. Davison gonna be when he finishes school? Freshman—An old man I believe.

Mr. McDougal—The quality of mercy is not strained. Verna Dornblazer—How unsanitary.

There comes a space What shall we do? Oh deep and dark despair! We cannot even rhyme a fib In vain we've torn our hair.

We've tried to draw
We've tried to paint
We've almost tried to sing!
But now we've pulled you through the space
Forgive instead—this thing.

OWED TO A NOTEBOOK

Do you know the favorite phrase Of all our teachers dear? You don't? Then listen closely And I'll tell—that all may hear.

One day I went to Public Speaking Where Miss Clark had her domain The moment I got inside her door I thought it was going to rain, For looks as black as thunder Were rampant everywhere, For none of us had our note books So there was music in the air.

I at last escaped from that class
And to French I wandered in
No sooner did I hit that room
Than I heard an awful dinn
With a long and accusing fore-finger
Mr. Gage at me did shake
"Have you your note books" he fiercely said
(Now wouldn't that take the cake?)

Finally I escaped from that place
And to school efficience I went
But Mr. McDougal was as cruel as the rest
To my room, I was speedily sent.
And all for a bloomin' note book
Which wasn't any good whatever
And my connections with all these teachers
I'd certainly like to sever.

Next to psychology I peacefully went For Miss Warburton never had said "Have you your note books with you today?" And I called all the blessings down her head. But to my sorrow—you can imagine how I felt When I walked through the door that day, "Please pass your note books this way."

The motto, my dear readers, Of this short but true tale Is, "Always carry your notebooks If you don't want to weep and wail".

Paulin Ott.

OUR SENIOR YEAR

Oh Senior year—all our dreams of yesterday are over—never to come back to us; but because of those dreams we know that our tomorrows will be fuller of sentiment and devotion to our Alma Mater and she will know that those memories will fill our hearts with the enduring courage

"To set the cause above renoun

To love the game beyond the prize."

We pledge thee unfeigned loyalty Life's busy years will not erase Thy pleasant memory from our hearts One place therein enshrined for thee Is kept for all eternity.

A TOAST

Here's to the years before us
An here's for the strength to meet
What ever in Life may be bitter
What ever in Life may be sweet.
Our dearly bought successes
Our long-loved dreams that fail
With feet that shall not falter
And hearts that shall not quail.

Had old John Suckling been about; Today he'd written thusly; "Her little feet stole in and out Quite hippopotamously!"

-Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Johnny's drawing teacher almost Always would be nagging, When Johnny drew a horse, she said "Why don't you draw the wagon?" Then Johnny thought and did reply, "I aint exactly braggin' 'Tis I alone who drew the horse, Now let it draw the wagon."

WITH APOLOGIES TO THE GIRLS STUDENT COUNCIL

Proctorship comes but once a year And when it comes it brings much fear. There's list of rules half a yard long You can read them and read them, but still you go wrong.

There's the quiet bell ringing at seven fifteen When the girls to their rooms are supposed to convene But they linger and loiter and hang around Till you wish every one of them under the ground.

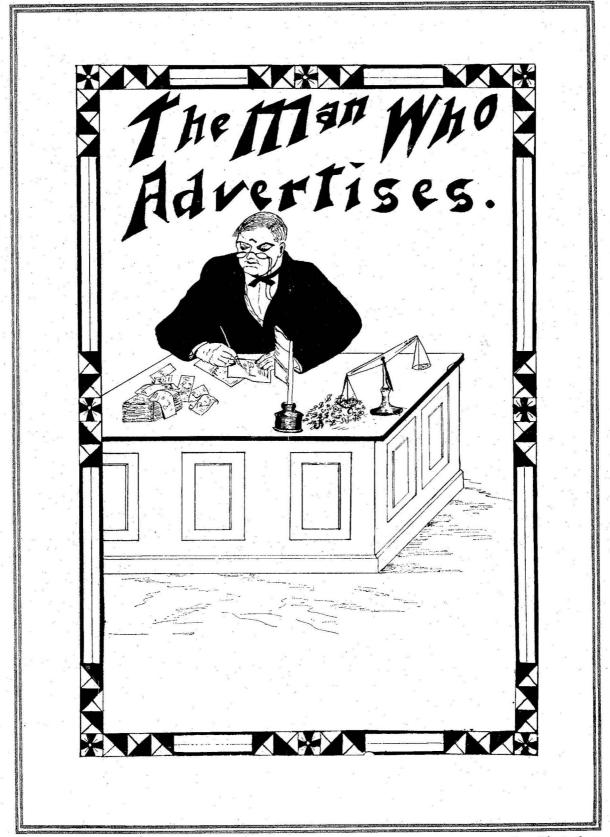

But the ten o'clock light bell's the worst part of all Instead of in bed, they're all out in the hall Making a racket of ten times their number Till the "Council" approaches, with a look like thunder.

When she reaches the top step, they're all out of sight Not a whisper, a murmur, not even a light, But of course there is someone who gets all the blame, It's the poor, shivering proctor, who has lost her good name.

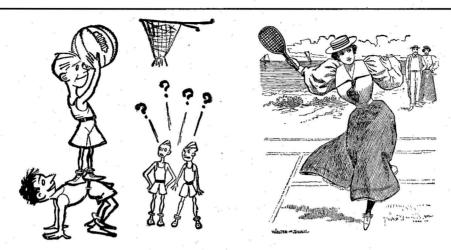

A NORMAL EVENT

Once on a snowy afternoon With hearts a flutter but thots atune A lass met a lad down the snowy walk And away they went and little thot That the D. R. F.'s could see and feel That little E. V. had captured her (i) Diehl Down to the movies they gaily went And a pleasant time I'll vouch they spent They had much in common to talk about Impressed with the movies I haven't a doubt Altho requested to tell of it later E. V. proved a reluctant relater. "Oh, girls I don't remember", she said. 'Twas plain the show hadn't gone to her head It was a youth's heart affliction, not easily cured Either outlived or for reasons endured That made the lass so timid and slow To tell of her Gallant and trip to the show.

FINIS The time is up! our task for now is o'er, For this, our book, we'll have to work no more We've shown but little that there was to see We can hope that you will happy be In looking o'er this book of wit and praise Of good old times, of all your Normal days We thank you one and all for help you've lent And hope that these long hours have been well spent Page Ninety-two
