UNVEILING — The pluque for the Five Friends Memorial is inveiled during a dedication cevenony on Friday, October 25. The memorial, consisting of five benches in a semi-circle, is located just east of the Andruss Library.

Memorial to 'Five Friends' dedicated

Five Bloomsburg University students who died in a fire on October 21, 1994, are remembered on a plaque in front of the "Five Friends Memorial,"

Kyle G. Barton, 21, of Staten Island, N.Y., son of James and Mary-beth Barton. A scholastre tennis star, he was heavily recruited by former Bloomsbirg tennis coach Burt Reese and was named NCAA Rookie of the Year in his freshman year. He was a Grateful Dead devotee and camping enthusiast. A fifth-year senior majoring in education, he died a week shy of his 22nd birthday.

Deburah J, Keeler, 21, of Milton, N J., danghter of Eugene and Elame Keeler. She worked at Berrigan's Sub Shop as a part-time sandwich maker and hoped to become a high school history teacher. A jogger, she would often run from campus and her sorority, Chr Sigma Rho, to the Bloomsburg Fairgrounds.

Derek J. Mooney, 20, of Downingtown, son of Robert and Maryann Mooney. A geology major, he hoped to work in environmental research. A scholastic soccer star, he played at BloomU until his interests expanded in his second year to include weekend hackpacking and hiking trips.

James R. Palmer, of Millville, son of Jim and Linnae Wintersteen. An undeclared first-year freshman, he also was a scholastic soccer star and all-state player at Millville High School. He was a volunteer at the Women's Center and worked with educational programs dealing with date rape and domestic violence. He enjoyed role-playing, working with children, and was considering an acting career.

Joseph P. Selena, 23, of Wyoming, Pa., son of John and Rita Selena. He worked as a short-order cook at Russell's Restaurant and had just returned to classes after taking a two-year break from school. He was a dozen credits shy of graduating with a degree in elementary education, earning the joking nickname of "Slow Joe" from Irriends. He appeared as the Crow character during the 4-Wheel Off-Road Jamboree held each summer at Bloomshurg Fairgrounds. A hiking enthusiast and also a fan of the Grateful Dead, Selena had moved into the house only a few weeks earlier.

Five alumni join Athletic Hall of Fame

The 15th BloomU Athletic Hall of Fame class was inducted on Homecoming Eve, Octoher 25, hringing the total membership to 62 The inductees were John Nemetz '55, Rich Budweg '78, Rob Vance '80, Don Reese '62 and Deb Long Stoudt '84.

Nemetz was a standout in Bloomshurg's strong defense in lootball. He placed on the 1951 Associated Press All-Teachers College lootball first team. He also earned second team AP All-Pennsylvama honois as an offensive tackle. Later in his career, he was All-East in 1953 and Little All-American in 1953-1954.

A 20-season coaching career began after getting his master's degree. His wrestling teams posted a 212-62-8 record, including 58 consecutive Shore Conference dual-meet victories. He has earned numerous honors as a result of his coaching success, including induction into the South Jersey Wrestling Hall of Fame in 1992, a year after being inducted into the Shore Conference Hall of Fame

Budweg was an eighth-found draft pick hy Major League haseball's St. Louis Cardinals in 1978, and then signed with the New York Yankees in 1983. Among his collegiate honors, he was a Mid-Atlantic Region second-team selection as a pitcher in his sophomore season and was a first team PSAC selection in both 1977 and 1978. In 1978, he ranked fourth in the NCAA with 11.7 strikeouts per nine innings. His 0.66 earned run average in 1978, which remains a school record, ranked him second nationally. He still holds 11 school records and was the first player in school history to throw a no-hitter with a 1-0 win over Shippenshurg on May 1, 1977. His career record at Bloomshurg was 8-8, a strong record considering Bloomshurg linished above .500 only once during his four years, and had seasons with 2-23 and 5-18 records. He also posted impressive career marks of a 2.52 ERA and 9.3 strikeouts per inne innings.

Vance was the first tennis player to reach 100 wins and finished his career with a singles record of 108-36, still fourth all-time in total wins. He was also the first player to win four consecutive conference titles in either singles or doubles. His two individual Pennsylvania Conference singles titles as the Number One player came in 1979 and 1980 as he helped the Hoskies to their first two PSAC team titles

Vance was the first player to advance to the NCAA tournament three straight years for Bloomshurg, twice as part of a doubles team and once in singles. Along with his four doubles championships, Vance also won two Eastern Intercollegiate titles with Nate Levine, and the pair is still regarded as one of the best doubles teams.

Reese is the only wrestler in school history to win an individual Eastern Wrestling League title in each of his tour seasons. Twice he won at 126 pounds and twic at 134 pounds. As a semor, he hecame the second athlete to advance to the NCAA Division I national championship match, fimshing as the runner-up at 134 pounds in 1982, earning All-American honors with the effort As a senior, he was a PSAC champion, an EWL champion, and the national runnet-up at 134 pointds. Following his senior season, he was named the Athlete of the Year at Bloomsburg State College. He is still one of the all-time winningest wrestlers in Bloomsburg history with a career record of 126-22-4

Studit was a member of the successful field hockey and soltball teams of the early 1980s. She was a three-time All-American field hockey performer who was on two national championship clubs. In the 1981-1982 school year, she was on the field hockey team which won the national championship in the fall and on the soltball team which did the same in the spring. Her field hockey teams posted a 59-16-7 mark, while ber softball squads registered a 114-21 mark and made four national tournament appearances.

Calminating her held hockey career at Bloomsburg, Deb scored the lone goal in both the PSAC and national title games, leading the Huskies to hoth fittes in 1983. In the suminer of 1982, she earned a spot on the bast team at the U.S. Sports Festival in Indianapolis, tanking her among the nation's top 65 performers. A year earlier, she became one of the youngest players to reach the Olympic trypht stage, performing at the USFHA National Tournament and competing for a spot on the U.S. Olympic squad

Archbishop Desmond Tutu meets young South African who came to Bloomsburg on Tutu Scholarship

By Di JACK MUŁKA '66 Dean, Academic Support Services

How did it happen? How were we able to attract one of the world's most respected humanitarians and advocates of peace as our December Commencement speaker? To answer these and other questions, we should go back form years to the time Lucky Lesiha Mabokela enrolled as a freshman at Blooinsburg University.

Or perhaps we should even go back further to 1984, when Bishop Desmond Tutu was awarded the Nohel Peace Prize for his "tole as a unifying leader... in the campaign to resolve the problem of apartheid in South Africa" and "to direct attention to the nonviolent struggle for liberation."

A year after winning the $193,000 Nobel cash award, Bishop Tutu established the Bishop Desmond Tutu Southem African Scholarship Fund for indigent South African blacks. He named his daughter, Mpho, as the program's director.

During the summer of 1992, Mpbo and two friends of the university — the late Richard "Dick" Benefield and Harold Hein — met with various university officials to explore the possibility of affiliating with the Bishop's program and having deserving students from South Africa enroll at Bloomsburg University.

Six months later, Lucky Lesiba Mabokela, a student from Kwa-Mblanga, arrived on campus, accompanied hy Harold Hein and Mpho. Lesiha, as he prefers to be called, came from a poverty-stricken family and was supported by grants and scholarships provided by the Tutu Fund, the Bloomsburg University Foundation, the Mitrani Family Foundation and the Institute of International Education.

After getting familiar with the campus, Lesiba started an exemplary journey as a student leader. He was elected president of the International Students Association, carned membership in Delta Mu Delta (Business Honor Society), and was chosen as a Husky Amhassador. He also served on the university's International Education Advisory Board.

As an accounting major, he achieved Dean's List status six semesters and graduated with a 3.45 grade point average. A popular student with a stellar record, Lesiba graduated in December and hopes to return to the United States to pursue an MBA degree.

So how was the circle completed with the selection of Archhishop Tutu as commencement speaker and recipient of an honorary degree?

During the fall of 1995, Lesiha and I were chatting about his plans after graduation. I was encouraging him to "tbink big," as I often do with student leaders who demonstrate tremendous talent and potential. We were discussing his return to the Republic of South Africa and making his mark in life, like Mandela and Tutu have done.

At that moment, it struck us. Why not try to secure Archbishop Desmond Tutu as speaker at Lesiba's commencement? Sure, it was a long sbot, hut worth a try. What were the chances that the Archbishop would be available to speak in Bloomsburg on Saturday, December 14, 1996? Our cunversation took place in early October 1995.

So Lesiba and I wrote a recommendation to Provost Wilson Bradshaw, which was then taken to the President's Cabinet. After approving the idea, President Jessica Kozloff asked Hein, a friend uf Tutu's and Bloomsburg University, to serve as her emissary in extending an official invitation to the Archbishop. And the rest, of course, is now history.

ARCHBISHOP Desmond fid is greeted by Dr. George Agbango, associate professor and chair of the University's political science department, while Prevident Jessica Kozloff looks on,

People bave asked, "What kind of person is the Archhishop?" I tell them he is like one of its. He makes people feel comfortable. He goes ont of his way to thank people like police officers, waiters, waitresses, chels and ushers He has a great sense of himmor

Here is an example. When the Archbishop was welcomed by Bloomsburg University officials at the Scranton/Wilkes-Barre Airport, he shared this story with us. As he was entering the terminal with the other passengers on the commuter flight from Boston, he overheard one of the passengers, who took note of the television cameras and reporters, remarked, "There is someone important here." When the individual discovered that the person was Arebhishop Tutu, she exclaimed, "I thought I recognized him!"

"This is a dream come true. This is the best graduation gift that I could receive. I can't believe it!"

How were others atteeted by his visit to Bloomsburg? The Archbishop's friend, Mi-Hein, remarked, "I sensed there was an air of excitement on campus from the time he came until he left. Although he and Mrs. Thiu were fatigued when they arrived after a long hight, then kindness, genuineness and warmth touched the people they met. And they enjoyed themselves, too."

Provost Bradshaw compared his perceptions before and after meeting the Arcbbishop. "Of course we were aware of his difigence and commitment to the pursuit of peace. But after meeting bim and listening to his commencement address, I was even more impressed. It was a wonderful event for all, and a very bright day for Bloomisburg University."

Two state policemen, Michael Tracy '72 and Kent Lane '89, were given the prestigious assignment of accompanying the Archbishop and his wife to all events held in conjunction with their visit. Trooper Tracy, who was chosen by the Governor's Office for this detail, called it ''one of the highlights of my career. The Archbishop and Mrs. Tutu are wonderful people. They are intelligent and easy to work with. It was turly an honor and privilege for me to have this assignment."

Tony laniero, vice president for advancement and charperson of the committee which planned the itinemry and special events for Tritn's visit, noted "It was an incredible experience to be with Archbishop and Mis. Titti He was extremely gracious, humble and receptive to all who met him. He inspired me, and others, with his comments and actions. If we can do just a portion of what he has advocated throughout his life, we can be successful."

While in Bloomsburg for their two-night striy, the South African couple was accommodated at the find at Turkey Hill binkeeper Andrew Pruden was delighted that the nurversity made reservations with his linu. "To have someone like Desmond Lota stay at the linu is a tribute and honor. The most impressive part of his stay was his genuine concern for others. He shook hands and thanked everyone who works at the linu. Treality appreciated his trethendous sense of humor. He made me feel countortable "

Reflecting on the importance of the Archbishop's presence on campus, President Kozloff said she continues to run into members of the faculty and community who say they were overwhelmed by the Archbishop's wisdom and warinth

"His presence touched many, many fives. Members of the University family and the community were brought together or a setting which enabled us to locus and think about issues and events far beyond Bloomsbing, yet relevant to ompersonal lives.

"I was so impressed by his continued optimism about the human spirit, and his helief that we have the ability as humans to overcome our Haws and differences to make the world a hetter place," she concluded.

And Ewiß always remember Lesiba's reaction when I told hun the Archbishop had accepted our invitation. The didn't speak at first, and then, with tears in his eyes, he said "This is a dream come true. This is the hest graduation gift that I could receive. I can't believe it!"

Veterans' Corner

By DALF A, KROTHE *60 Chaisman,

Acteraux Committee

We recently received several issues of the 1943 Naval 1 light Instituctor's School publication, "Straight and Level," from Walter A Zorn, Class of 1951, whose brother, Irv, was involved with the program at Bloomsburg Reading through the issues (written when we were 10 years old), we've enjoyed the trip down "memory lane". We thought on veterans and alumm of all ages unght enjoy a lew excerpts

August 10, 1943 — Things That Bore 185," a contributors' column, had the following "pet preves" sent inc. (1) the main in front of you who is always out of step, (2) the three-week period separating a change in bed spreads

August 10, 1943 "N 151 S. Rib Treklers" During an examination the question was asked, "Name the principal parts of a sentence." The answer was "solitary confinement and bread and water."

These publications, along with all items sent to our Alimmi Veterans Committee, will eventually find their way into the unversity arcluves, where anyone doing research can reconstruct life at Bloomsburg during the war years. Alimmi are encouraged to send historical data and photographis to the Alimmi Office at any time

Biographical forms for veterans can be obtained by contacting the Alumni Office at 1 800 526-0254. All veterans (or their relatives) are miged to complete a form for inclusion in the Book of Valor or the Book of Service which are kept in a Veterans' area inthe Feostemaker Alumni Honse.

The Veterans Memorial Scholarship for 1996-1997 was presented to Teresa Gremer, who also received the scholarship last year. This is the seventh scholarship awarded since 1990-1991

In order to increase the principal and interest in the Veterans Scholarship Fund, this guaranteeing the $1,000 annual award, our committee and the Bhoomsburg University Foundation will discuss tuture options and strategies which could involve a mini-

1996: A fine year for BloomU athletics

Bloomsburg University won the inaugural E. Eugene Dixon Trophy for the best all-around athletic program in the State System of Higher Education of Pennsylvama for 1995-1996. Dixon has served as chairperson of the State System Board of Governors since its creation in 1983

During 1996, 11 of the 18 varsity programs participated in NCAA post-season competition, and eight teams won or shared the Pennsylvama State Athletic Conference or Eastern Division title, with the field hockey team winning its fifth NCAA Championship.

The year began with the men's and women's basketball teams claiming the top spot in the PSAC Eastern Division, and each boasting the PSAC East Player of the Year in guard Mike Ellzy and center Kim Stamm.

In the 100th season of men's basketball, 25th-year head coach Charlie Chronister led the Huskies to their eighth trip to the NCAA Championships and the sixth 20-win season in school history. Bloomsburg finished with a 21-7 record (9-3 PSAC East), set a school record with 16 consecutive victories, and won all 15 home contests at Nelson Field Hunse. Lee Gump fimshed a fine career with 1,430 career points, good for sixth on the all-time scoring list. Ellzy led the Haskies in scoring with a 20.3 points per game average, talling just short of the school record for most points in a season.

The wimen's team was atop the PSAC East tor the first time in three seasons with a 17-11 season (9-3 PSAC East), and returned to the PSAC tournament after a one-year finatus. The Hinskies led national runner-up Shippensburg late in the PSAC semi-finals, but could not hold on for the victory. In addition to Stamm's award as Player of the Year. Erm Beggs was named the PSAC East Rookie of the Year. Stamm completed her career sixth on the all-time seoring fist (1,135) and third in rebounding (772).

A pair of freshmen highlighted the wrestling season, as the team finished with a 5-9 dualmeet record, a tourth-place finish at the PSAC Championships, and a titth-place showing at the Eastern Wrestling League meet At 126 pointds, Brett Tullo led the team in wins (26) and placed third at the EWL Championships to qualify for the NCAA Division I Championships. Classinate Justin Brinkley also earned a spot in the NCAA Championships at 167 and huished the season second on the team with 24 victories.

In women's swimming, the Huskies posted a top-15 finish at the NCAA Division II Championships for the seventh straight season, a 6-4 diral-meet record, and a fonith-place finish at the PSAC Championships. Heather Towne had six top-six place finishes at the PSAC Championships, including a runner-np finish in the 200yard breaststroke event. Meg Mikolaichick also had a second-place finish, in the 1650-yard freestyle, as did Heather Jones in the 100-yard backstroke.

Winning the most dual meets since 1983 1984, the men's swim team posted a 6-7 record and opened the season by wrinning the trist tonidual meets. At the PSAC Championships, the squad placed eighth and was paced by three-time qualitiers funathan Coughenwar and Allen Harton – During the season, seven school records were broken.

The Dixon Trophy

The men's termis team wan its 10th straight PSAC title in the spring, sweeping all nine Hights, and had a 15-8 dual meet record. In advancing to the NCAA Division II quarterfinals, Bloomsburg deteated West Texas A&M in the opening round before falling to national champion Gander. During the season, the doubles team of Marcus Nilsson and Rob Dixon climbed to third in the Division II rankings, and Kyle Richards was as high as eighth in singles The doubles team of Kyle Richards and Evan Rosen set a school record with 32 wins

Another streak was kept alive by the softball team, as Jan Hutchinson's team competed in the NCAA Division II Championships for the 14th straight season, the only Division II team to accomptish that feat, and was one base hit from advancing to the championship round for the srxth time in seven years. Bloomsburg (36-12, 19-5 PSAC) gave Hitchinson her 600th career softball win with an 8-4 win over Wayne State on March 12 - 1 ater that day. Christie Kittle jutched the 37th no-Initier in school history. Two-tune All American shortstop Ien Lefever timished her career with 13-school and six PSAC records more than any other player in school listory, and a -410 batting average.

For only the second time in school history, the men's baseball team had three straight seasons with 20 or more wins, as the team went 22-22, 10-10 in the PSAC Fast. With an 11-5 with over Mercylmist on March 23, Mait Haney became the winningest coach in school listory passing predecessor John Babb. Emishing the season with an 11-game hitting streak. Ben Henricle led the team in hitting, while John Stillo paced the squad in doubles and bomers, while Joh Entz had a team best 11 RB4

The women's lacrosse team split its last tom games to tinish the seasont with a 2-9 record Goaltender Betsy Roberge set a school record for save percentage in a season (-597) and another record with 23 saves against PSAC champion West Chester - Leading the Hoskies with 21 goals was Colleen Falme, while detender

Playing its NCAA season in the spring and its PSAC season in the fall, the women's tennisteam quafihed for its first NCAA Championships betth in the spring, but fell to national ranner-up Abilene Christian. In the fall, the Hirskies won flien second straight PSAC fitle, winning five of the six singles Highs and one doubles title. Freshman Damelle Faretta was named the league's Player and Rookie of the Year after winning the fost singles fitle, and Many Coyne was Coach of the Year. Another treshman, Cara Fore, did not lose a match, singles or double, during the fall.

The field bockey team won the sixth national title in school history, the first since 1993, with a 1-0 win at Lock Haven on November 10. The Hiskies finished with a record 19-2, including a perfect PSAC mark of 8-0, the 11th time in 16 seasons the team has had 19 or more wins in a season. Senior Michelle Martin was named the Division II Player of the Year and a first team All-American, along with seniors Tracy Barndt and Nicky Mowrer. On the second team was sophomore goaltender Bey Hartley.

Also earning a berth in the NCAA Division II Championships was the tootball team, which limisfied the senson with a 10-2 record and the PSAC East title for the third straight fall. Bloomsburg was in the NCAA field for the first time since 1985 and was named ECAC Division II Team of the Year following the season. Junior tuilback firm Sigler picked up the PSAC East Offensive Player of the Year honors, and Danny Hale was named Coach of the Year for the third straight firme. The Hinskies had the most PSAC East, All-Northeast Region and ECAC all-star selections of any school.

Making its first appearance in the NCAA Championships, the women's soccer team had its best fall in the history of the program in gaining the national quarterfinals. The Hirskies finished with an 18-3-1 record, the most wins in school history, and won their first-ever PSAC Championship. Sophomore Julie Bugg was a first feam All-American with senior Juli Fumi earning second team honors. Junior Kelly Conn was the Huskies' first-ever PSAC Player of the Year, and Chück Landermilch was Northeast Region Coach of the Year.

The men's soccer team advanced to the PSAC Champronship game for the first time since 1977 and finished the season with the second linghest win total in school history with its 12-6-1 season. The Huskies were second in the PSAC with a 6-1-1 league record and had the most wins in a season since 1979. Individually, Bloomsburg swept the major player awards in the PSAC with sophomore Neil Stoddart chosen Player of the Year and heshman Paul Yates the league Rookie of the Year.

Posting the best finish by a Bloomsburg runner in the NCAA Regional Champronships, junior Chris Moscatello placed litth in the meet to gain All-Region and All-ECAC honors. He paced the Huskies in all nine competitions during the fall season.

On the women's side, Iteshman Michelle UWolyniee won het first collegiate meet and led

PRIDE program receives two grants

Two grants totalling $36,500 have been pledged to the PRIDE (Personal Responsibility in Developing Excellence) program at Bloomsburg University.

The Whitaker Foundation of Mechanicsburg has pledged $30,000 over the next three years, while the Franklin H. & Ruth L, Wells Foundation, also of Mechanicsburg, has contributed $6,500 toward the 1997 program.

"Having this endorsement from the Whitaker and Wells foundations shows an understanding by the private sector of the influence education has on today's society," noted Dr. Mary Harris, PRIDE director, "Private funding is vital to the provision of resources that offer a challenging academic experience for PRIDE's teenagers. This program is an excellent example of the kind of activity that can channel the energy of youth into positive experiences which can lead to benefits for a hietime,"

Now in its sixth year, PRIDE enrolls selected seventh through twelfth grade students with the goals of having them eventually graduate from a program of higher education, become economcally self-sufficient, and be independent of welfare. Eighteen of the first class of 25 students graduated from high school in 1996.

The program is a partnership which includes the Harrisburg School District, the State System of Higher Education, Bloomsburg University, and business and industry.

LEGACY SCHOLARSHIP - The womer of the 1996 Alumni Legacy Scholarship was Andra Billet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Billet of Dauville Charles is a member of the Class of 1979. Hutchinson first woman with 1,000 wins

Already having coached her field hockey and softball teams to seven national championships, Bloomshurg University coach Jan Hutchinson gained a distinctive honor on April 20 by becoming the first woman to gain 1,000 career victories in NCAA competition. She is also the first coach to reach 1,000. career wins by combining her wins from coaching two sports on a full-time hasis

The subject of a New York Times feature story on that Snuday morning, Hutchinson has combined a record ad 1,0006-190-20 (836) with a record of 677-141 (828) in soltball over 20 seasons and a 329-49-20 (852) record in field liockey over 19 seasons

"To be the first woman to get 1,000 wins in the NCAA will always be something that is very special. to me," Hutchinson said. "This will certainly rank up there (in my career highlights). The other one that stands out to me is the year we won two national championships in the same year.

The landmark victory came in a 6-0 win over-Dowling in the final game of the Bloomsburg Invitational -barber in the day, the Huskies defeated Indiana (Pa.) 7-1 to set the stage for Hutchinson

Bloomsburg finished the softball season with a 44-7 record with no senior and one junior on the roster. This past fall, the field hockey team won its sixthnational championship

"It's kind of overwhelming, but I feel it's been a great accomplishment for the university because we've had so many great athletes and assistant. coaches over the years. It feels like it is a win for the university

Making her accomplishments more impressive isthe fact that Hutchinson's winning percentage coachmg two sports full time is so high, greater than that of more famous names such as Dean Smith (879-255, 77.5 percent) and Joe Paterno (289-74-3, 79.4 percent).

Entering the spring, there were 18 baseball coaches who have surpassed the 1,000-win mark, hut none has a higher winning percentage in that one sport as Hutchinson's combined record (or in either sport), and their average coaching tenure is 32.6 years.

The all-time winningest coach in Division II softball history, Hutchinson is also the winningest active. field hockey coach, just two wins shy of the all-time top spot

In the 1996-1997 academic year, she surpassed the 300-win mark in field hockey, and the 600-win mark in softball during the same year

Hutchinson's success has not been weighted towards one of her two sports, and the teams have heen equally recognized with individual honors. The field hockey team has had 27 players eam 47All-American awards, and 22 softhall players have gamed 37 All-American honors. Each team has been in the NCAA playoffs every year since the 1982-1983 season, and Hutchinson has been honored as national coach of the year in each sport.

Taking over both programs virtually from scratch-(field hockey had four previous seasons, softball one), Hutchinson won the national championship "double" in the 1981-1982 school year, claiming the field hockey title in the fall and the softball championship. that spring. That year was her fourth in field hockey and fifth in softball.

Bloomsburg has dominated PSAC competition in the two sports, winning eight field hockey titles and 12 of the last 14 softhall championships. The field hockey team won four consecutive league crowns to open the 1990s

In field hockey, the Huskies have won six national championships, the latest this past fall as Bloomsburg. capped a 19-2 season with a 1-0 win over Lock Haven in the NCAA title contest. Also national champions in 1993, 1987, 1984, 1983 and 1981, Bloomsburg has won 19 or more games in 11 of the last 16 seasons and bas fimsbed as the national runner-up eight times

Hutchinson has coached six field hockey players. to National Player of the Year honors, including this past season when Michelle Martin gained the award.

Bloomsburg had players so honored in four straight seasons from 1990-1993 with Gisela Smith winning back-to-back in 1990-1991, Denise Miller in 1992 and Shelley Miller in 1993

The softball team is the winningest all-time in Division II and has been to the NCAA Division II Champronships in every season since 1983, the only school to accomplish this feat. The Huskies have also played in more NCAA tournament games than any other Division II school and are second in wins

The Huskies have been to the championship round in five of the last eight seasons, with a fourth-place finish, two third-place showings, and twice finishing as the national runner-up with losses each time in extra innings in the national title game

Bloomsburg holds 16 NCAA Division II individual, team or championship softball records.

Hutchinson's coaching talents have not only helped young women as student-athletes, but several of hei former players have gone on to careers in coaching at the intercollegiate level. At Bloomshurg, she has former All-American performers as top assistant coaches in both field hockey (Alice Terrizzi) and softhall (Susan Kocher). Others have gone on to collegiate coaching jobs in either sport, such as Janelle Breneman (head softball coach at East Stroudsburg), Jean Buskirk (assistant soltball coach at West Chester), and Kathy Frick (head field hockey coach at Goucher)

Archives seeking historical material

By Robert Dimkelberger

University Archivist The University Archives is boking for material from alumni that tells something about then years at Bloomsburg and their life since graduation. Next year the Archives will be moving into the new Andruss Library, and we will have an excellent. taeihty for historical research. and the preservation of ourcollections. Lam hoping to continue building the research. potential of the Archives, and nerd your epoperation in order to do this.

Material to contribute can include (but is not limited to) letters, plutographs, scrapbooks, minites from student organizations, programs (from concerts, plays, athletic events, and commencements), university publications, biographical writings, films and vulcitapes

I particularly want to urge people who took photographs for The Maroon & Gald, The Vorce, and the Obter who still have copies to consider donating them to the Archives. These are some of the best sources for a visual history of the University. Any help in vient/lying and dating the photographs will also be most appreciated.

Although Lam interested in the activities of all our alumni, aluring and after their time. here, I want to fnens on two collecting areas at this time. Those with wartime experiences and those who hall athletic earcers as players or enaches. The wartime material can include letters in and from home, photographs, maps, reports, training manuals, newsletters and magazines, and anything else related to serving with the military. Photocopies of letters amf other documents are also acceptable if you want to retain the originals

Material relating to an athletic career can meltide letters, photographs, playbords and scorehooks, media and promotional publications, newspaper articles, films and videotapes, and anything else that describes your career.

Quay Hanna '92 has written a book, Bus Americo, Revelation of o Red Neck, in which he describes a three-month bus trip around the United States he undertook in 1993. In describing his experiences and the resulting book, he writes "I was born and raised in the small town of Strasburg, Pa, and I grew to be a racist over the first 23 years of my life. The hook tells of my journeys on the bus and in the bus stations, while an inderlying theme develops of how I ended my prejudice because of this trip. I had little or no interaction with minoritics before going to B.U., and once there — even though I had much contact with different races. I still held on to my racist ways. By the end of my Greyhound trip, though, things had changed

"Facing up to my shortcomings as a human being during this adventure pushed me to take more trips, and even more steps towards self-improvement. I traveled in Europe for nine weeks in 1994, spent time in Argentina and Chile during the end of 1994 and heginning of 1995, traveled the U/S for four more months with another B/U/grad in 1995, and have spept the last nine months living in Hollywood, doing a little acting (very little) and working on my book

"I was an English major at Bloomsburg, along with being captain of the soccer team, and would like my classinates and friends to know that the book I talked abont for so long will soon be available."

Hanna says the book, published by Middle Reliel Publishing, will be released on October 12 at a price of $13.95, including postage and handling charges. Anyone interested in pirchasing a book may contact Hanna at P.O. Box 7651, Lincaster, PA 17604-7651

Lori Clarke *97: From phonothon to career in development

When Forrentered Bloomsburg in 1993, who would have predicted the interpreter training major would find herself, tom years. later, embarking on a development career with an on the-spot job offer? During her sophomore and pintor years, I oreway a dedicated. student caller for the alumniand parent phonothous. One of the top callers, Forr discovered she really liked being on the phone and talking with prospective donors.

After decidning to become a communication studies major. 1 ort needed to identify an internship experience as part. of her academic program. Knowing the Development. Office's need for student phonothon and having a solidphonothon calling experience, the "fit" as a supervisor for the internship requirement was a natural for her. Because of the hiatus between Scott Righter's resignation and Ted Kocher's artival, Lon was given nearly full operational responsibility. for the 1997 alumni phonothion. In her new role, Lorradvertised for student. callets, interviewed the applicants, made the selections, and then scheduled the 44 caffers. She then participated in the development and delivery of the training program for them. Two or three of the five calling evenings each week, Lori independently supervised. approximately 14 students, maintained payroll data, and updated ealling statistics. nightly for i's cuthosiasin and effort. for this experience not only. served the development office. and imversity well, bitt alsoearned her a "A". By now Lorr knew that she wanted a career in development. She submitted her application for a development position at LaSadle University in Philadelphia -f-lated to be invited for an initial interview, Lott was in the climds when asked to return for a second interview and offered a position that day. Less than one month following hergraduation from BU, Lorieinbarked on her development. dream. The BU development office team is grateful for fierexcellent service and wishes. her every success.

Huskies repeat as Dixon Trophy winners

For the second time in as many years, Bloomsburg University has won the F-Eugene Dixon Jr-Trophy, signifying the best all-around athletic program in Pennsylvania's State System of Higher Education. Winner of the inaugural race last season, the Huskies outdistanced the other 13 members of the Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference

Bloomsburg gained the second highest total in both women's (65) and men's (53-5) sports and finished the competition with 118-5 points, two better than the f995-1996 total, one point ahead of second-place Shippensburg

By winning the Dixon Trophy, Bloomsburg will receive a $2,000 scholarship award from the Hall Foundation. Gerald Hall, chairman of the foundation, is a member of the System Board of Governors. The funds will be split, with $1,000 designated for women's athletics and $1,000 for men's athletics.

"To be recognized as the top all-around athletic program in the PSAC is a real tribute to the studentathletes, coaches and staff at Bloomsburg," said Dr Jessica Kozloff, president "Winning the Dixon Trophy for the second year in a row shows our commitment for a complete, well-rounded intercollegiate program."

The Huskies won conference titles in men's and women's tennis and women's soccer and finished atop the PSAC East in foothall and softball, while finishing second in the league in field hockey and men's soccer.

Bloomshurg finished in the top four in the conference in six women's sports and four men's sports, for a total of 10 top-four finishes out of 18 sponsored programs. The next closest school had six teams with top-four finishes.

"When you are able to repeat success, it makes a strong statement about the consistency of the athletie program," said Mary Gardner, director of athleties. "This is a nice award because it speaks to so many different aspects of our program, including the tremendous job done by our student-athletes and coaches."

For the 1996-1997 year, the university's 18 athletic teams combined for a record of 235-93-2 (.715) Seven teams represented Bloom in NCAA Division II championships – plus the wrestling team competed at the NCAA Division L championships and every team which competed in dual-match competition had a record of 500 or above

Bloomsburg has had eight players win PSAC Player of the Year honors in the 18 sports to hand out post-season awards thus far, and three others won the Rookie of the Year. In addition, Bloomsburg won five PSAC Coach of the Year honors.

"An all-sports trophy gives the PSAC an opportunity to recognize athletic achievement with attention to broad-based programming," said PSAC Commissioner Dr Tod Eberle. "The Dixon Trophy may not always he awarded to an institution, that wins championships in the higher profile sports, but rather to a school that competes at the highest levels in every sport in the conference."

The trophy is named after Dixon, chairman of the State System Board of Governors since the System was created in 1983. Under his guidance, the hoard is responsible for planning and coordinating the development and operation of the System, including fiscal, personnel and educational policies for the 14 System universities.

Kocher named to development team at BU

Theodore R. Kocher has heen appointed assistant director of development at the university. He previously served as director of alumni and parent relations at the University of Findlay in Ohio

Kocher (pronounced Coacher) is responsible for the annual fund solicitation which includes alumni, parents, and athletics (Husky Cluh) and the associated phonothon supervision

In addition, Kocher will travel to meet donors and prospective donors to Bloomsburg.

"I am thrilled to work for Bloomshurg University. The excitement on campus was evident during my interview, and when I started working, there was a caring staff," says Kocher.

"I look forward to the challenges of working for a public university in this era of shrinking allocations from the state, " he added

At Findlay, he managed a S100,000 budget, planned homecoming activities, directed the athletic hall of fame process and the graduating class gift project

Prior to that, he was director of alumni services for the Alpha Sigma Phi Educational Foundation

Koeher, 27, graduated from the University of Findlay in 1992 with a hachelor's degree in communications. While a student, he held positions in the office of alumni and parent relations and in the development office

He and his wife, Lisa, reside in Bloomshurg

Kocher replaces Scott Righter '84, who resigned last November to become manager of development at Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine

Affinity groups provide 'connection'

At a time when fewer alumni are identifying with their graduation year for reunion purposes, the Bloomshurg University Alumni Association is offering a way for alumni to "connect" with the university in other ways.

Like many other college and university alumni associations in the country, Bloomsburg has adopted a policy and guidelines for alumni to organize "selfdefined alumni affinity groups."

At the June 7th meeting of the Alumni Board of Directors, the first three such organizations were officially recognized after they submitted a constitution and a slate of officers

The first three affinity groups are the Wyoming Valley Chapter, the Lamhda Chapter and the Multicultural Chapter

Officers of the Wyoming Valley Chapter are Naney Dornheim Stalma '70 of Pittston, president; Henry (Hank) Hurtt '52 of Wilkes-Barre, vice president, and Nancy Swartz Lychos '52 of Forty Fort, secretarytreasurer

Leaders of the Lamhda Chapter (for gay, leshian and bi-sexual alumni and friends) are Ed Horvath '72 of Washington, D.C., John L. Haney '85 of Lancaster, and Charles (Chuck) Karnes II '82, Philadelphia

Temporary officers of the Multicultural Chapter are Mark Mosley '83 of Wilmington, Delaware, president, Alisesha Vaughn '94 of Philadelphia, vice president, Shalanda Gray '96 of Philadelphia, secretary; and John McDaniel '94 of Philadelphia, treasurer

The Association hopes to encourage other affinity groups based on extracurricular activities, academic major, athletics, fraternities, sororities, geographic location and place of employment

According to the introduction to the Policy and Guidelines, "The Constitution of the Alumni Association assumes that the dominant quality that binds us together in this common enterprise is our status as Bloomshurg University alumni. That shared quality has taken precedence over our differences, which have been secondary and usually unrelated to our efforts on behalf of Bloomsburg.

AFFINITY GROUPS RECOGNIZED Three affinity groups were recognized during the June 7 meeting of the Ahmini Board of Directors in Harrisburg. Representing the groups were (from left) Ed Jones '54 and John McDaniel '94, the Multicultural Chapter, Nancy Dornheim Stahno '70, president of the Wyoming Valley Chapter; and John Haney '85 of the Lambda Chapter

"However, we also realize that there are Bloomsburg University alumni for whom identification with a group or position related to undergraduate major or experience, ethnicity, religion, region, politics, sexual preference, race or some other aspect of their lives is of central importance and inter-related with their interests as alumni.

"These groups, within the Bloomshurg context as well as in society at large, define their own boundaries for membership and pursue agendas that are of particular interest to their respective constituencies, but which frequently serve the common good as well Some alumni who now feel separated from Bloomsburg perhaps would become involved as alumni were they able to relate to Bloomsburg through such "self-defined" groups."

The policy states that "the Board of Directors welcomes and encourages all alumini to join in the work and activities undertaken by the Alumni Association to foster the interests and continuing excellence of Bloomsburg University and to foster communication between the University and its alumni and among the alumni

"The Board recognizes that there are among the alumni those who feel bound together by common characteristics, interests and concems in addition to being alumni. The Board recognizes that such persons may wish to form groups for purposes that are consistent with those of the Association, but that may not all directly address the current operating goals of the Association in its service to Bloomsburg University.

"Therefore, the Board of Directors has established ways to be responsive to those groups and to enable them to affiliate with the Association within the limits defined by staff and financial resources. This policy and the following guidelines have been adopted to that end."

Anyone interested in organizing an affinity group may contact the Alumni Office for a copy of the guidelines and a sample constitution.

Alumni phonothon tops $150,000

Under the watchful eyes of newly appointed Assistant Director of Development Ted Kocher and student supervisor Fori Clarke, $154,053 was pledged by alumni, an increase of 23 percent from 1996

During the spring, eightweek phonothon, 44 studentemployee callers attempted to reach 15,000 alumni. Of this numher, 3,041 alumni pledged support with an average gift of $50

Approximately 14 students called Sunday through Thursday evenings from the Phonothon Center in the basement of Elwell Hall

In addition to asking alumni for financial support, callers also updated alumni records and provided news and information about campus events

Gifts for the Annual Fund received through the phonothon help to support a variety of programs and activities scholarships, including scholars and honors, academic equipment, seed monies for faculty and/or student research; Alumni activities such as homecoming, alumni weekend, chapter meetings, regional events, and alumni publications, and faculty and staff development

In addition, specially designated gifts for the Husky Club support scholarships for academically and athletically talented students.

Planned giving program formalized

"Planned giving is a wonderful way to achieve personal satisfaction and, at the same time, benefit others" says Susan M. Helwig, director of development. "It offers the creativity and flexibility needed to address individual situations."

Looking to the future, Helwig invites alumni and friends to explore the various ways they can help support the long-term needs of Bloomsburg University while still providing for their loved ones.

The initial step in formalizing the planned giving program was taken last year with the founding of the Legacy Society. Alumni and friends who have notified the development office that Bloomsburg University has been provided for in their wills or estate plans were given the opportunity to become Legacy Society members

Currently, 22 persons have chosen to be so identified. A few qualifying members have opted to remain anonymous.

The second step in the program, to inform alumni of planned giving opportunities at Bloomsburg, was taken with the mailing of a special letter from Bill Selden, '43, and the newsletter, Beyond Today, to alumni who graduated in 1964 or earlier. Each subsequent newsletter will focus on specific topics related to planned giving.

Looking beyond lifetime gifts of cash, appreciated property, or insurance policies, estate planning options include bequests (wills), gift annuities, charitable remainder trusts, charitable lead trusts, or deeds for charity

Most of these options can provide lifetime income for donors and one other beneficiary, either a spouse, family member, or friend. Ultimately, Bloomsburg University benefits

In addition to "feeling good" about consummating a planned gift, tax advantages can offer incentives now or later, depending on the option selected. In some cases, there may be opportunity to double or triple a gift if the donor or spouse works for a company which matches gifts to notfor-profit organizations Because tax laws may vary from state to state and federal tax laws are often revised, persons wishing to pursue a planned giving opportunity should consult a knowledgeable attorney, accountant, financial planner, or bank trust officer.

Persons wishing to discuss planned giving opportunities at Bloomsburg University may contact Susan Helwig by phone (717)389-4128, hy Tax (717)389-4945, by e-mail:

ALUMNI PLAYERS DO BRITISH FARCE - James Shoser, a long-time resident of Bloomsburg who eached a bachelor's and a master's degree at the university as a "non-traditional" student, loves theater and wanted to do something theatrical for the university and the community. So last year he approached the Alumni Office about finding space to stage a couple one-act plays by Chekhov. But with little publicity and a shoesteing budget, not many people saw the resulting production on the stage of Gross Auditorina in Carver Hall. Undeterred, he set about to do a full-length play this summer. With the backing of the Ahanni Association and the cooperation of Randall Presswood, manager of the university's theater facilities, the stage in Gross Auditorium was reserved foc several weeks in June for rehearsals and six performances. After selecting the play – Joe Octoa's comedic facee, What the Butler Saw - auditions were scheduled, and the six roles were filled by three alroom, two current students and a retired facility includes Then other alumn and former students were recrimted to help with the aspects of the production, including set design and construction, costinaing, publicity. With Shisser directing and Phyllis Meeker Beruatonis stage managing, the play opened on June 19. On stage were (from left) Dr. Craig Himes, faculty emeritus as Sergeant Match, Francine Bebenek Ashby '91 as Geraldine Barclay; Jesse Puterbaugh, a BU sophomore, as Nickolas Beckett, Dina Marie Fagliarone '96 as Mrs. Prentice; James S. Barry III, a semor, as Dr. Prentice; and David P. O'Brien '73 as Dr. Rance. Other volunteers helping with the production were Rebecca Ermisch '71, costnaning, Robert Fritz III '92, set design, the Rev. James II. Fetterman '78, production assistant to the director; Daniel Bayley, a senior, master builder, lighting and solaid, Brian K. Lupinski, a non-traditional student, dresser, make-up and assistant to the stars; and Betty Ruth Keller Luchak '68, publicity' Thanks also to the many patcons of the play, and to the theater-goers who saw the show. Any ahanni who woodd be interested in helping with next year's production – possibly a imisical – should contact the Ahinni Office.

MATH ALUMNI – Alumni who were math majors gathered on the Friday of Alumni Weekend to interact with current students and to mark the retirement of Dr. Hank Bailey and Dr. Jo Anne Growney. The group included (seated, from left) Dr. Growney, Erin Farr '94, Carissa Mazurick '94, Susan Dorneinan Sinallets '72, Kristen Curtis Warner '87 (holding Alliana Warner), Eileen Mecone Peluso '73, Carol Hetrick Doermann '87, (standing, from left) Dr. Bailey, Linda Brush Rodgers '91, Maria Barnes Sock '95, Karen Zaffiro '95, Carol Menig Cristiano '74, Michael Sinallets '72, Henry Kipp '74, Russell Warner '89, Dong Coup '86 and David Doermann '86

Bloomsburg is double winner at PBEA

A Bloomsburg alumnus and a Bloomsburg faculty member were honored as outstanding educators at the 1996 conference of the Pennsylvania Business Education Association.

James F Pegg '67, a teacher at Williamsport Area High School for 29 years, was recognized as PBEAS "I-ducator of the Year," and Dr. Donna Cochrane, professor of bosiness education at B.U., was honored as "Outstanding Post-Secondary Educator."

While serving as department chair at WAHS for 20 years, Pegg established two computer labs for the business department and initiated a husiness studentof-the-month program to honor business students. The also started the department's job placement service. Under his gindance, two levels of computer applications and computerized accounting were added to the school's listing of electives, as well as courses in personal typing and college notetaking

He has also been a part-time instructor at Williamsport Area Community College, now Penn College of Technology, for 12 years

He is a member of the Bloomsburg University Alumni Association Board of Directors, the National Education Association, Pennsylvania State Education Association, Williamsport Education Association, PBEA, Gamma Xi Chapter of Delta Pi Epsilon (vice president), and is a former member of the National Business Education Association.

A member of the National Honor Society he was part of Bloomsburg's World Championship Shorthand Team in 1967. He was nominated for Teacher of the Year at WAHS in 1995-1996. The is also an accom-presenter in 1989, 1990 and 1995. She has also presented at the regional Eastern Business Education conferences and the NBEA conferences. This year she hegan a three-year term as the eastern representative to the NBEA Executive Board. She has been a member of the Office Systems Research Association's Board and was the conference coordinator for the 1995 national conference

Locally, she is a member of the Bloomsburg Chapter of the Business and Professional Women's Club, She is a member of the Gammi Xi Chapter of Delta Pi Epsilon, the business education graduate honorary

Recent publication experience includes serving as consulting editor for a business English text and as a contributing author for a popular office systems text. She anthored a chapter for the 1992 NBEA Yearbook, and some of her teaching techniques have appeared in other NBEA publications. She is serving as a reviewer for two refereed publications in office systems and husiness education.

Although Dr. Cochrane is accomplished in the fields of research and publications, she says she has never lost sight of the true goal of an educator. "The most important contribution one can make at Bloomsburg University is in the area of teaching effectiveness." Her students can attest to this and have truly benefited from this fine educator.

Flyer visits families of Poles who hid him during WWII

David Jones '43 took a trip to Poland recently with a Global Volunteers service program which evolved into a touching journey of wartime remembrance.

Jones, a retired Air Force pilot who now lives in San Antonio, was part of a group of 27 North American volunteers who spent three weeks teaching English to schoolchildren in the eastern Polish city of Siedlee. In Jones' mind, it was a small way of saying "thanks" for acts of kuidness he encountered 53 years ago, during the dark days of World War II.

It was on December 17, 1944, while on a flying mission from Italy to attack a synthetic oil refinery in Bleckhammer, Germany, that Jones' plane was struck by anti-aircraft fire. Jones recalls the grin utoment: "All crew members were able to parachute from the plane when it became uncontrollable," he relates, "One crew member was reported unardered by a German policeman. The others were captured and sent to a POW camp. I was able to evade captare when I landed and, with the help of friendly Polish people, was directed to a temporary linding place in their village cemetery.

"Later, I was able to make my way nuto the Beskid Mountains of sonthern Poland, where I was sheltered and Indden by many Poles at great risk to their lives.

"In March 1945, I finally made my way through the advancing Russian Army lines. I was then repatriated and returned to my unit (the 301st Bowber Group of the 15st Air Force in Italy) via Odessa, Istanbid and Egypt."

This licky pilot, who went on to log 32 years of active duty in the Air Force and achieve the rank of licitemant colonel, never forgot the kindness of the Polish people.

When Jones signed up to participate in a Global Volunteers service project this spring, he said he way particularly drawn to the Stedlee, Poland, program as a way of making a "partial and far lrss risky payback" to the Palish people for their generosity. He also hoped at night afford him the opportunity to revisit the families who gave him refige during the war years.

"With the help of our team leaders, I was able to make contact with some of the surviving family memhers of the Polish patriots who helped shelter me," explains Jones. So after the completion of his threeweek Global Volunteers teaching assignment, Jones had "a wonderfid week of reamons in the Beskid region near Bielsko-Biala, Poland.

"This also gave me the opportunity to retrace and revisit some of the hiding places in conneteries, forests, fields, cellars and huts."

He also paid tribute to the one who wasn't so lucky. "A particularly moving part of my reunion was a visit to a cemetery memorial that local villagers had set up for the one crew member who was nurdered," says Jones

"The Germans had simply buried him in the field where he waskilled. But later, the villagers exhibited his body and gave him a proper brainf in their village cemetery. Although his remains were later recovered for a military burial in the United States, the memorial gravestane for him still is in place in the cemetery where the villagers buried him. They still visit his grave to place flowers in his memory."

In Poland, Jones came full circle – not only revivuing the past, but also torahing the future. This ruergetic retiree spent several hours a day teaching English to yoragsters in a rival elementary school, a role not unlike his volunteer dorent duties at the histitute of Texan Cultures in Son Automo.

And, in the process, he learned a lot – about the "great optimism of the Polish people for their fittae and the eigerness of the clubben to learn English."

"Notwithstanding the difficulties 1 encountered (lack of student textbooks, teaching aids and hhraries), I'm glad 1 had this experience and feel it was a high point of my voluncer service wark life in retirement," said Jones.

IIT alumni surprise Professor Hank Bailey

Believing he was attending only an open house for the HT (Institute for Interactive Technologies) corporate advisory council which was honoring his retirement, Dr Harold J. Bailey was surprised to find that 100 HT alumni had returned to join the celebration.

A professor of mathematies and computer science, Bailey was a department member for 28 years. In 1986, Bailey was instrumental in forming the IFT and implementing the instructional technology.

This cutting-edge, software technology program prepares graduates for careers in the field of multimedia

Guests at this very special reception, held April 27, 1997 at the Inn At Turkey Hill, contributed $3,080 m Bailey's honor, for the IIT program.

HEROES HEROINES '96 Honor Roll

Alumni, friends boost giving by 13%

"Every donor has a Bloomsburg story to tell," says Susan Helwig, Director of Development. She adds, "Often, it's the life-long friendships formed during their years on campus or the mentoring relationship of a special faculty member which alumni carry with them forever. University friends have developed a unique bond with Bloomsburg. Whatever the reason — a measure of gratitude or a commitment to developing the intellect — we are grateful to every donor."

Record gifts from 1996 heroes and heroines are helping assure that Bloomsburg University students continue to receive the "added value" that private sources provide. Alumni and friends contributed $1.69 million — 13 percent over the $1.5 million received the previous year.

Of the funds raised, approximately 50 percent, were alumni donations. Non-alumni, individual donors (parents, friends, and employees) accounted for an additional 25 percent. The remainder was received from businesses, corporations, organizations, and private foundations.

Of the $1.69 million received, $220,399 was unrestricted monies. These funds maintain the honors and scholars program, on-going scholarships, faculty and staff development, and alumni activities. The remaining funds were restricted by donors for a specific purpose, primarily named scholarships or special projects such as library construction or Mitrani Hall seats. Restricted gifts also included $100,000 designated for student-athlete scholarships.

VISA income of nearly $80,000 represents the one-half of one percent received from MBNA hank charges made with the Bloomshurg University affinity card which is held hy more than 8,150 alumni and friends. A variety of gifts in kind valued at $80,000 were received during 1996 and include a collection of antique postcards. featuring Bloomsburg University over the years, a student safety alarm system for McCormick Center for Human Services, 20 calculators for calculus classes, five serigraphs of the "American Diner" series by John Baeder, and a plasma instrument for the chemistry department.

The Bloomsburg University Foundation, which oversees the use of funds raised from private sources, approved nearly $30,000 for university faculty and/or student projects in 1996. These projects and activities included funding, in part, for the Summer Enrichment Program, faculty attendance at a workshop. on autism, developing a computer modeling and visualization of chemical systems, implementing the Covey (Seven Habits of Highly Effective People) leadership certification program, a two-year challenge grant to the College of Business Advisory Board to renovate three student computer labs in Sutliff Hall, and a guest appearance of violinist Timothy Durbin with

The Harvey A. Andruss Library will be ready for occupancy in the summer of 1998. The Tiffany windows from the old library are being refurbished for placement on the floor above the main entrance later this summer. Alumni and friends contributed over $3.5 million toward the project budget, which exceeds $10.5 million.

Business Education

Hometown: Southampton, Pa.

Homemaker and Christian Education Director

I have very fond recollections of Bloomsburg. I never thought I'd be able to go to college because of the cost, but I borrowed the money from relatives and then paid it back. Although I was removed from the protection of my family and was on my own, I hved in a private home the first year and cleaned for the people. Then I lived on campus and cleaned teachers' apartments to each money.

Elementary Education

Hometown: Zeighners (Fishing Creek Township)

Elementary school teacher and high school principal

Henry E. Crawford

I remember the cold, marning walks from the Market Street train station to Carver. Also, Dr. Harthme once took me to see a tree laden with samaras. His individual attention helped me to pass his science course.

Secondary school teacher and library technician

I have a soft spot for Bloomsburg. Everyone knew everyone on campus. I met the man who was to become my busband (Bernard), and we fell in love there.

Bloomshurg University gave me a good education a basis to pass the CPA exam and complete my MBA. I met some great people - faculty and fellow students - with whom I still am in contact. Professor Jim Creasy was so exeiting that he made accounting interesting. My desire is to help future students get a good education too.

HEROES AND HEROINES Community Sovernment Association

Bloomsburg University

Class of 1995

Kevin Lockwood, President, 1996-97 Hometown: Denville, N.J.

The Community Government Association has generously contributed to the library to both the endowed fund and construction of the new facility.

[This gift] was what the students wanted, what they felt was best at the time. Earlier, they wanted a place to go for release, so they supported the recreation center. With more new students coming, CGA saw the need to expand the academic base as well, and therefore, supported the library.

HEROINF Yoan 7. Lenterner Director of University Relations

Joan's commitment to a quality education runs as deep and wide as her penchant for the equality and well-being of everyone. As an employee and parent, Joan's philanthropy supports her commitment with gifts to scholarships and special projects, including the library and the Task Force on Racial Equity.

There is no greater cause to believe in or give to than education, which is the backbone of our constitution. I am proud of Bloomsburg University. This University is not only committed and dedicated to providing a quality education for every student but also to working together with the town to create an open community, one in which we all can live together and there resources and opportunities on an equal basis.

HEROES AND HEROINES The Whitaker Foundation Mechanicsburg, Pa.

Miles Gibbons, Jr., President

The Foundation's concern for keeping Harrisburg students in school was a direct match with the goals of PRIDE (Personal Responsibility in Developing Excellence). The Whitaker Foundation has made a three-year commitment to PRIDE.

It was Bloomsburg University's recognition of higher education's responsibility to reach out to public school partnerships in urban areas to assist children to achieve their potential that attracted our attention. The outreach is important.

the University/Community Orchestra.

The single, largest gifr, exceeding $317,000 was rhe hequest from Karleen M. Hoffman, Class of 1930, of La Jolla, California. An endowed scholarship bearing her name will be established.

In addition to the Annual Fund alumni phonothon and contacts by mail, special events throughout the year provided supplemental funding. Norably, the President's Spring Gala (formerly the President's Ball) and the Poinsettia Pops Concert support music and general scholarships. Golf ourings, the annual auction/dinner dance, and raffles increase athleric scholarship resources.

The library campaign, which initially brought in gifts and five-year pledges totaling $3.5 million for the construction of a new facility, shows that 76 percent has been received as of December, 1996. The campaign to replace seats in Mitrani Hall stands at nearly $160,000 raised toward a goal of $250,000. (A number of sears remain which may be underwritten. Please refer to the Mitrani Hall seat campaign pledge form found elsewhere in this publication.)

"As the need for private funding increases, the Bloomsburg University Foundation will continue its advocacy role for supporr," says Anthony M. Ianiero, vice president for advancement. "With many library campaign pledges soon to be completed, the Foundation's attention will be directed toward strengthening selected on-going projects and the development of new initiatives that are in keeping with the university's strategic goals."

As the region's supplier of electricity, PP&L is a leader in the support of higher education. In addition to matching the gifts of its employees who contribute to Bloomsburg, PP&L has contributed generously to the university's educational program.

Partnerships are important to us, and Bloomsburg University also serves a community that we support. Our interest is in having a healthy community, the same goal as Bloomsburg. We are very interested in supporting education, particularly the PP&I. 2000 initiative with younger students. PP&I is looking for partners and BU is a logical partner with which to work and to support.

hese two alumni have helped secure the future of Bloomsburg University by remembering their alma mater with a portion of their earthly treasures. If there were with us today, they could tell us why Bloomsburg was so special to them, but their stories will remain a mystery forever.

If you have made, or are considering, a commitment to help secure the future of Bloomsburg University, we'd like to hear from you. A number of alumni and friends who have already identified themselves as having included Bloomsburg University In their future plans are now charter members of the university's Legacy Society.

For more information on how you can support Bloomsburg University with you will, charitable trust, annuity, or insurance policy - and be counted as a charter member of the Legacy Society - contact:

Accounting faculty offers exam review

Alumni can prepare for the Certified Managerial Accountants exam and enjoy Homecoming on the same weekend this fall

Dr Michael Blue, chairman of the Department of Accounting, says the department will offer a 6-7 hour review for part one of the CMA exam on Friday, October 17. The review will begin at 9 a.m., with a break for lunch (on your own)

The course will be free to all Bloomsburg alumni

However, the department is requesting a donation of $150 to the Chairman's Discretionary Fund for Scholarships and Professional Development. If your company is a matching gift company, please let us know so we can take advantage of the match.

It you do not wish to make a donation, then you may want to register for it as you would for any other professional development program. This will allow you to charge it to your employer.

"No one will be turned away for lack of payment," said Blue

He said the department plans to offer similar review courses for the other three parts of the exam, as well as the fifth part which provides certification as a Certified Financial Manager Parts 1,3 and 4 of the CMA exam are applied to the CFM exam

Alumn interested in taking the examinist register with the IMA by calling 800-638-4427 Remember that registration must be completed prior to scheduling the examilat your own convemence

For more information, contact Blue at (717) 389-4519 or by e-mail-blue/a planets bloomu edu
