THE CAMPUS IN WINTER TIME

C. V. S. N. S.! What does it mean to you? What smouldering flames of ambition, pride, hope, or sorrow does it recall to you as an undergraduate? What fond memories, hair-raising pranks and debts of gratitude does it bring to your more or less mature mind? What has it meant? What shall it mean?

To those who have watched its gradual development from its "cradle days" to its present-day successful state, it has meant the unfolding and realizing of a dream. To those who have walked from its portals with the proverbial "sheepskin" it has meant the foundation of a life. To us, the present students, it means the acquiring of ideals, the graduating from youth and youthful thoughts into manhood and womanhood, and finally the stepping out into the "battle of Life."

Within these few buildings and on this broad campus all this has gone on. What will it mean to those to follow? That is for us, both Alumnae and undergraduates to decide. In that decision let us pull together. Let us make the old administration building, the girls' dorm, the training school, Dr. Lehman's home, the gym, and the beautiful campus, something of which the coming generations can dream and to which they can aspire.

All this can be done by advancing the work of Old Normal as it has been advanced in past years. Read the editorial of this number for what has gone before, and then determine what shall go after.

Eighteen in Row For The Reserves

Overwhelm Mt. Alto Scrubs

With a record of seventeen consecutive victories the Shippensburg Normal Reserves added their eighteenth game when they defeated the Mt. Alto Tossers by a 31 to 12 score at the Forestry School last Saturday.

Captain Kelly and his crew practically walked away from the Woodsmen. The game was fast but at times marred by unnecessary roughness, with very few fouls being called. The Reserves were on the long end of a 12 to 8 score at the end of the first half. The second period was a runaway for the C. V. S. N. S. bunch for they scored 19 points while the Foresters registered only two field goals.

Green and Kelly celebrated a field day with five two-pointers apiece. Bailey, who made his first appearance with the Reserves, showed up well with three field goals to his credit. Martin and McDermott are to be commended for their guarding for they allowed only six field goals to be scored.

Pyle put up a strong game for Mt. Alto.

The line-up:
Reserves—31 Mt. Alto Res.—12
Kelly F Pyle
Bailey F Sabring
Green C Fuibril
Martin G Deihl
McDermott G Switzer

Field Goals—Kelly 5, Bailey 3, Green 5, Martin, Pyle 3, Sabring 2, Diehl.
Substitutions—Shull for McDermott, Smith for Deihl.

Referee—Smith of Mt. Alto.

REV. CROW ADDRESSES JOINT MEETING

The joint meeting of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. held last Sunday evening in the Chapel, was addressed by Rev. Crow, pastor of the Methodist Church of Shippensburg. The theme of Rev. Crow's talk was "The Importance of Having a Definite Aim in Life." Special music was furnished by Miss Kathleen Gibbons '23 and Miss Carolyn Cox '23 who sang "O Make Me Love Thee More" accompanied by Miss Anna Smith '23 and Miss Miriam Aurandt '23.

The Y. M. C. A. held a short business meeting at the close of the service at which time Sherick Gilbert '24 was elected treasurer to fill the vacancy in the cabinet left by Louis Dorian '25.

NEW PHILO ORCHESTRA TO APPEAR TONIGHT

Also Three Pills in a Bottle

Students who are present at Philo tonight will witness a rather unique form of opening the program when the Philo orchestra, under the direction of Robert Maclay will make its first appearance. The orchestra, which is composed of fifteen pieces, has been practicing diligently under Maclay's leadership during the past week.

Philo feels that the program to be given tonight will be one of which they can be truly proud. Miss Peggy Lehman will play the leading role in "Three Pills in a Bottle." This play is taken from the famous "Harvard Workshop" series.

Those who attend Philo tonight will be offered rare treats in McDowell's "To a Wild Rose," by the Glee Club, to be composed entirely of young women, and in the special musical number to be given by Miss Florence Davis '23.

Literary numbers will be an oration by Warren Burk '24, and the Philo Review presented by William Angle '25. Miss Quigley is expected to represent the faculty at this meeting.

KENTUCKY MOUNTAINEER TO GIVE LECTURE

James A. Burns, famous American lecturer and educator, will give a lecture on "The Kentucky Mountaineer" in the auditorium next Monday evening at eight o'clock. Visitors will be charged fifty cents admission.

Mr. Burns comes here very highly recommended, from a first grade Lyceum and Chautauqua bureau. Those who have heard his lectures, say that every one will greatly enjoy his recital. "Burns of the Mountains," as he is called, was born in the mountains of Kentucky where he lived the greater part of his life. The family of which he was a member engaged in the barbarous practice of fighting feuds.

The simple story of the events in his life which led him to make his experiment in overcoming feudism with education and establishing Oneida Institute is very thrilling and interesting. With his mastery of wit and pathos he very ably describes the life of the Kentucky mountains.

Girls Are Defeated By Hagerstown Team

Minnich Out of Line-up

The Co-Ed tossers of C. V. S. N. S. lost the first game this season by a score of 31 to 20 when they played Hagerstown High School at Hagerstown, last Saturday. The game started with the ball in Hagerstown territory and remained there for the first few minutes, during which time they netted five field goals. Shippensburg then retaliated with two field goals and a real struggle began. By fast team work the Hagerstown Sextette managed to keep in the lead by a margin of 10 points. The first half ended with a score 20 to 9, Hagerstown leading.

In the second half the Shippensburg tossers staged a come-back and gave the Maryland Maids a hard run. Fast playing and splendid team work kept the ball in C. V.'s boundaries a great part of the time, giving them a chance to show their skill at the basket, and incidentally raising their score to 19. Houck shot a parting farewell into the basket just as the whistle blew making the score 21 to 30 in favor of Hagerstown.

Due to the illness of Minnich, the star center, the Normal Varsity was very much handicapped. Felton and Andrews were able substitutes and played a hard game.

The spirit that prevailed among the two teams was commented on by the public and much praise was bestowed upon the home team.

The Line-up:
Shippensburg 21 Hagerstown 30
Houck f Spielman
Heiges f Stonebraker
Andrews jc Hull
Meyer sc Malotte
Coble g Eyerly
Miller g Tenny

Substitutions—Felton for Andrews, Heckman for Miller.

Field Goals—Houck 7, Heiges 2, Spielman 10, Stonebraker 4.

Fouls—Houch, 3 out of 8; Stonebraker 7 out of 10.

At a meeting of the Freshman class held last Tuesday afternoon the class voted to pay a bill of ten dollars and thirty cents for the Freshman cut in the Year Book.

QUESTION BOX TO BE CONDUCTED AT NORMAL

Normal Literary Society is preparing a very interesting program for tonight. A fine debate is expected on the up-to-date question—Resolved, That the French are justified in invading the Ruhr District. It will be debated affirmatively by Miss Florence White '24 and Miss Emma Gross '24.

A new number is being added to Normal's program—a question box—by Mr. Hudson. Normalites are looking forward to an amusing as well as an instructive number.

The musical part of the program will be upheld by an octet of men's voices in charge of Clifford Smith '24, a glee club number, and a violin solo by Arthur Miller '24.

Miss Elizabeth Selfridge '24 will give a humorous monologue entitled "How Gentlemen Are Made."

Miss Elizabeth Hall will give an instructive discussion on "St. Valentine's Day." Miss Hall will make this a real live number by really discussing it.

PHILO DEBATING TEAM CHOSEN

Miss Florence Davis '23 was chosen to lead the Philo debating team at the try-out held in the Training School chapel last Tuesday evening. Miss Davis was the third speaker on the debating team last year.

Mitchell Dreese '23 and Miss Helen Miller '24 are the other members of the team with Miss "Peggy" Lehman '25 as alternate. The other contestants were Hurn Diller '23, Miss Mary Hoover '23, Walter Nelson '24, and Harvey Warfel '23.

Miss Parks, Miss Turner, and Mr. Pennington, all represent atives of Pennington, all representatives of the English department, were the judges. The try-out was but scantily attended, only a few members of the faculty and society being present.

VARSITY SURPRISES WEST CHESTER

Teamwork Features

Shippensburg Normal's Basketball team, won its fifth consecutive game by its 36 to 19 victory over the West Chester Normal passers last Saturday on the latter's floor. Coach Sharadin's lads were determined to capture this contest and they accomplished it in a decisive manner.

Although Captain Hays was absent from the line-up, the new combination played a great game, completely outplaying and outpassing their opponents. Shippensburg's five man defense, which has been a big factor in breaking up the opponents' plays, stood out to perfection and as a result only six field goals were scored against them. "Rog" Jones, who played a fine guarding game, was unfortunate in having the ligaments of his ankle torn in the last minute of play. This injury will likely keep him out of the game for several weeks.

The crowd was all set for a good game and excitement reigned at the start of the battle. The first tip-off took the ball under the West Chester basket and after a minute of play, Pitts, a guard, edged in and brought first blood with a two-pointer. Heiges then failed to even the score when he missed two attempts from the foul line, but a moment later he scored Shippensburg's first point on another try. Captain T. Evans increased West Chester's score when he shot a goal from a difficult angle. At first Shippensburg seemed to have trouble locating the basket but Grba finally tallied from under the basket.

The wearers of the W uncorked a neat bit of passwork but they could not get their passes beyond Jones and Grba who continually broke up these attacks. Craig displayed some nice dribbling when he got loose on two occasions and rang up four points. The C. V. S. N. S. quintet began to forge ahead when they reached their lucky seven points. The score stood seven to seven when Sterner dribbled down the center of the floor and caged one of his favorite shots. Heiges ran the count up to eleven by bagging two fouls while Craig captured another field goal. The score at the end of the first half stood 13 to 7 in favor of Shippensburg.

West Chester came back strong in the second half. They fought to regain the lead but to no avail. The "Red and Blue" started their teamwork which the West Chester bunch could not stop. Very few long shots were taken and by working the ball under the basket Shippensburg soon had a commanding lead of twelve points. Heiges, Craig, and Sterner launched an offensive attack which kept the scorer busy. Craig had five field goals while Sterner had four. Ralph Heiges was leading scorer with two field goals and ten out of seventeen fouls. Too much credit cannot be given to Jones and Grba who played a fine guarding game.

Shippensburg-26 West Chester-19
Heiges f T. Evans
Craig f Cantwell
Sterner c H. Evans
Jones g Pitts
Grba g C. Evans

Field Goals—Craig 5, Heiges 2, Sterner 4, Grba 2, T. Evans 3, H. Evans, Pitts 2.

Foul Goals—Heiges, 10 out of 17; Evans, 7 out of 12.

Substitutions—Wert for Jones, Hogg for C. Evans.

Referee—Emory of Penn.

A RECORD SEMESTER

The past semester has been a memorable one in the history of the Cumberland Valley State Normal School. With an enrollment exceeding that of any previous semester, with the exception of spring and summer sessions, the school opened last fall under favorable auspices. When things had settled down and the excitement of the early days had cleared away it appeared that a number of significant things had happened which bade fair to mark a new advance in the life of our school.

In athletics the outlook was bright and Coach Sharadin had a large squad of candidates for the football team working hard every night on Eckels' Field in preparation for one of the hardest schedules ever faced by a Shippensburg Normal Team.

It was not long, however, before rumblings could be heard from another quarter of the campus, marking the birth of a new activity—the C. V. S. N. S. Concert Band led by Prof. D. O. Slyter, Head of the Music Department. This organization was made possible by the generous co-operation of the school which paid a large sum for instruments—the best that could be purchased. Side by side with this organization we could see the transformation of another group of musicians, the school orchestra, which grew almost overnight from a handful of players to the C. V. S. N. S. Philharmonic Orchestra of fifty pieces. Other musical activities which came to the fore were the Girls' Choral Club and Boys' Chorus whose work culminated in the Christmas Cantata, The Star of the East. After the Christmas vacation members of the Junior class who enjoy singing organized themselves into the Junior Chorus which is now preparing for some real work in the school during the spring months.

Not all the progress was made along musical lines, however, for the Senior class had already begun plans for the 1923 Cumberland. The staff had been elected last spring, and led by the editor the project was quickly under way. Today at the beginning of the new semester the work is well on the way to completion, a record of achievement for which the staff is to be commended.

Scholastic endeavor was not wanting last semester, many students carrying extra electives and still maintaining a high grade in all their work. This shows that C. V. S. N. S. students are working for a well rounded development that will make them more efficient as teachers and enable them to be of valuable service in the educational world.

The record made so far by the varsity and reserve basket ball teams is an enviable one and is added proof of the school's superiority in athletics as is the work of the Girls' Basketball Team.

THE CAMPUS REFLECTOR comes to you as another of the forward steps made here during the last five months. The beginning of the new semester marked its advent. It stands for the best interests of the faculty, students, alumnae, and the school as a whole.

These are just a few of the high points showing the progress of the school during the last term. To paint a picture of the progress of all the organizations, literary societies, etc., would require a volume.

Let every one connected with this institution work hard during this new semester, each in his line of activity, to make the Cumberland Valley State Normal School a credit to the State, a school which has no peer among the Normal Schools of Pennsylvania.

TRAINING SCHOOL PURCHASES

A balopticon of the newest type was purchased recently by the Training School from the Bausch and Lomb Optical Company of Rochester, New York.

A 9 x 9 foot roller screen has been placed on the front wall of the Training School auditorium. Black auxiliary shades have been attached to all the windows of the auditorium so that pictures may be shown in the daytime as well as at night.

By mounting the machine at the rear of the auditorium, a clear and perfect image nine by nine feet can be shown. The illuminant is a four hundred watt mazda lamp.

It was recently used with excellent effect in the Training School general assembly, when scores of pictures from the various lands with which the Red Cross units are corresponding, were thrown on the screen, to the delight and admiration of the pupils. Pictures representing city, town, and country life; flowers, fruits and tropical verdure; castles, villas, farm yards, and cathedrals; children and animal methods of housing; Philipinos, Frenchmen, Porto Ricans, and Africans passed before the children's wondering gaze, not in the usual black and white tones, but with all the wonderful and varied coloring of the original.

The new balopticon unquestionably marks a forward step in the program of pedagogical photography, and the Training School is fortunate indeed in this new possession.

GIRL SCOUT WEEKLY MEETING

Miss McKee, Local Director of the Harrisburg Scouts, was a guest of the C. V. S. N. S. troop at the regular meeting held last Saturday. She expects to make a return visit on March seventeenth.

Miss Demaree, Assistant Musical Director of C. V. S. N. S., led the girls in some scout songs. Miss Heffernon demonstrated bed-making. Bandaging and methods of application were illustrated by Scout Andrews.

On Saturday morning, February seventeenth, a talk on Nature Study will be given by Prof. S. S. Shearer. All the scouts are anxiously looking forward to this discussion.

THE CHEER LEADERS ASK FOR YOUR SUPPORT

FELLOW STUDENTS: We come to you with a plea from the team, from the school, and from ourselves. It is a plea for better support and co-operation in the cheering and singing at our athletic games. In the past our cheering has not been up to the standard attained by the other activities in our school. It has lacked the snap and pep that characterizes every good yell and song that goes forth from those who really love their Alma Mater. Does this signify that you do not love your school and that you won't give her every thing that will bring laurels to her? We believe that the fault lies in the fact that a great many of us do not seem to know the yells and songs, but it should be the duty of every student who calls himself a student of the CUMBERLAND VALLEY STATE NORMAL SCHOOL to know every song and yell and to be able to put them into practice when the cheer leaders call for them.

We have felt that some of the yells and songs are not up to par, so after a great deal of research and hard work we have finally adopted a new set of yells and songs and a new method of presentation which will be introduced in chapel or at our next mass meeting. When we call a mass meeting we don't mean that fifty or sixty people are to come and learn the songs and yells, but we need the student body five hundred strong. After all, the school is just what we make it.

Let it be the duty of every student to learn the yells and songs printed below, attend the mass meeting, and then cheer and sing so that it may spur our lads on to victory and bring honor to our old beloved C. V. S. N. S. (Signed) The Cheer Leaders.

Following are the yells as they have been revised. Cut them out of the paper and preserve them so that you will have a copy when you need it.

WORK OF THE BAND OUTLINED

Treasurer Blanch Resigns

A special business meeting of the Band was held last Tuesday evening. Prof. Slyter outlined the work of the organization for the remainder of the year. Sherrick Gilbert '24 was elected to the office of Treasurer made vacant by the resignation of Karl Blanch '23. The band will start work on Saturday for its concert. Every member of the band was urged not to take any more outside activities but to give a larger amount of time to individual practice.

The meeting of the Press Club which was postponed this week will be held next Thursday evening at six o'clock in room 54.

GEOGRAPHICAL ANTHOLOGY IN CURRENT MAGAZINES

The teaching group in geography, presented this week the following anthology of current magazine articles on their subject which may prove of interest and benefit to any who are teaching the subject:

"Geographical pictures of interest in traveling from N. Y. to Cuba," Harper's Magazine, February 1923.

"In China Too," a very interesting account of the life and customs in China. The Atlantic Monthly, January 1923.

"A Thousand Miles Along the Great Wall of China;" a good account of the building of the wall, with illustrations of it and other parts of the country and also of its people. The National Geographic, February 1923.

"The Story of Silk;" this article deals with the story of silk from the cocoon to the woven fabric. The Mentor, 1922.

"Cuba, Haiti and San Domingo;" a brief discussion is given of each of these countries. Journal of Geography, January 1923.

"Using Motion Pictures in Commercial Geography;" Journal of Geography, January 1923.

"Geographic Regions of the Fisheries in Asiatic Russia;" a very complete discussion is given of the fisheries in Russia. Different parts of the country are taken up and discussed separately. Journal of Geography, January 1923.

"Geographical Publications;" late books on the different phases of geography are briefly discussed. Journal of Geography, 1923.

"The Struggle for the Mediterranean;" shy Koreans in Lower Burma. Our World, February 1923.

"Civilization and the Wet Tropics;" a report on the reason for the removal of civilization from the Tropics and a discussion of the possibilities for a return. The World's Work, February, 1923.

"The British-American Rubber Conflict;" Literary Digest, February, 1923.

JUNIORS DOWN SOPHS

Gilbert's timely shot in the last thirty seconds enabled the Juniors to down the Sophomores by a score of 17 to 16 in a game played in the Gymnasium last Friday evening. The first half ended with the score tie. At the beginning of the second half the Sophomores took the lead and held it until the last half of a minute. The Sophomores held the Juniors by close guarding.

COMMITTEE PREPARING FOR JUNIOR PROM

Shippensburg Normal's biggest and best annual social function will be featured in the Junior Prom which is to be held in the gymnasium, February twenty-fourth. The third year class has secured the Updegrove Orchestra of Harrisburg, an organization which has a reputation for spreading the well-known disease called "danceomania" and all lovers of the terpsichorean art are promised a rare treat.

According to Chairman, Clifford Smith, special decorative features and various novelties will make the affair unusually attractive this year. The members of the committee are: Clifford Smith, Chairman; Miss Genevieve Mitchell, Miss Dorothy Omwake, Miss Ethel McCormick, and William Hudson.

RESERVES TRAVEL TO ARENDTSTVILLE

Try for Nineteenth Straight

Tomorrow afternoon the Reserves travel to Arendtsville, where they will attempt to make their consecutive victories reach nineteen. Some time ago the Reserves battled the Arendtsville five for a hard earned five point victory and the Vocational school lads are sure to be out for blood on their home floor tomorrow.

The second string lads showed their ability to win away from home last week, when they overwhelmed the Mt. Alto Reserve team on the latter's floor and will try hard to repeat that victory tomorrow.

The line-up will, in all probability, be nearly the same as last week; Capt. Kelly and McCullough at forward, Green at center, and McDermott and Martin at guard, with Bailey and Shull as substitutes. It will be noted that McCullough will again be at forward after a week's absence. Tarman will in all likelihood be deprived of this trip because of ill health. These men should certainly bring home the nineteenth victory and keep the slate clean of defeats.

THE WORLD MOVES—TAKING EVEN SCHOOL BOARDS WITH IT

An Elizabeth N. J., paper prints a resolution of the Lancaster School Board in 1830 refusing permission to the Town Literary Society to use the school house for a debate on the question: "Resolved, that Railroads Are Practical." The grounds for the refusal follow:

"If the Society wants the use of the school house to debate some decent moral question, we will cheerfully give the use of it, but such a thing as a railroad is wicked as well as absurd. If God had wanted human beings to travel at the fearful rate of seven miles an hour, He would have clearly foretold it by His prophets, but since nothing is said about it in His Holy Writ, it is plainly an invention of the devil to lead immortal souls to Hell. Hence we must refuse the use of the school house."

REVEREND BOWERS ADDRESSES MID-WEEK SERVICE

Prayer meeting was addressed on Wednesday evening by Rev. R. S. Bowers of the Lutheran Church of Shippensburg. The subject he selected was "Jesus Set His Face Steadfastly towards Jerusalem." The theme was developed from the questions: "What made it difficult for Jesus to go to Jerusalem?" and "What impelled Him to go?"

As a closing thought, Reverend Bowers said that due to the approaching Easter Season, it would be necessary to weep at the foot of the cross in the days before the glad season in order to fully rejoice during that time.

GRADE CHILDREN SEND LETTERS TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES

Junior Red Cross Active

The children of the fourth and sixth grades of the Training School are preparing letters to send to schools in Porto Rico and South Africa.

This project is made possible by the Junior Red Cross organization of which the grades in the Training School have become chapters. The children were allowed to vote for the country with which they would like to correspond, and this is the result of the balloting:

- Fourth Grade—Porto Rico
- Fifth Grade—Hawaii
- Sixth Grade—South Africa
- Sventh Grade—Philippines
- Eighth Grade—France or Holland

When Miss Elizabeth D. Fisher, Assistant Director of the Junior American Red Cross, recently visited the Training School, she had with her a number of letters from foreign schools, one of which was from South Africa, and in it the pupils stated their conception of our country. They said they imagined the United States to be a land of vast spaces and high mountains, peopled with savage Indians. They explained that this was the idea they received from certain American story books. We can readily believe that these children have been reading translations of J. Fenimore Cooper, Buffalo Bill and other writers of the early west. The sixth grade immediately decided to tell these children what our country is really like and voted almost unanimously to correspond with South Africa.

The Junior Red Cross is helping to solve the problem of the intelligent teaching of geography and history to grade children. This organization has established a vital contact with most of the nations of the world, as is testified by the great amount of correspondence carried on between the children of many lands.

Schools all over our country are being organized into Junior Red Cross chapters. "I serve" is the slogan of these junior members, and they are required to earn their right to membership in the organization. One child in our own Training School earned her right to membership by doing errands for an aged man who lived alone and could not go out on account of the icy pavements. Many such acts are being done all the time by the juniors, and the growing results for good in the community are quite apparent.

The organization has its headquarters in Washington, D. C. Our foreign ambassadors have arranged with the Commissioner of Education of different foreign countries, to establish a Junior Red Cross Headquarters at Washington, that will take care of all correspondence of school children.

As fast as word is received at Headquarters of the names of school children of a certain foreign school, they pair them off with a school in this country and thus the contact is established.

All correspondence goes directly to Headquarters, where a typed translation into the foreign language is made and accompanies the original English copy. It is then sent to its destination. These children in turn send their correspondence to Washington where a typed translation in English accompanies the original to its destination in the school in the United States to which it is addressed. In schools such as the Philippines or Hawaii where English is taught, the correspondence comes directly in English.

Not only letters but booklets are exchanged by the children illustrating whatever subject is taken up in the letters. This may be the mode of living, manner of dress, industries, or whatever may be decided upon by the children as the topic for discussion. These booklets are made by the group and furnish excellent projects in geography, English, drawing, and other branches.

Such projects develop initiative, imagination and skill in constructive planning and stimulate the pupils to a higher quality of work.

Miss Parks gave an illustrated talk on Thursday evening in the Chapel on Shakespeare and the time in which he lived. The students who took English last semester were present in addition to others interested in this subject.

BANNER PROGRAM AT NORMAL

Originality Reigns Supreme

The reappearance of the Glee Club on the Normal program last Friday evening met with the distinct approval of the members present. The entertainment given by the double quartette in charge of Miss Zolia Gardner '23 was also evident and added greatly to the musical side of the program. Miss Maude Geedy provided unique diversion from the ordinary when she gave a selection part musical and part literary.

A variety of emotions, expressed by hearty laughter and perhaps a few half-ridden tears, were called forth when Miss Edith Harry '23 sprang her Impromptu Class. In this class Miss George Krall '23 and Miss Betty Mathna '23 gave a dialogue, that was decidedly amusing. Miss Cox voiced her worldly opinion on "Love;" Viola Shuler '23, Viola Baylor '23, Harry Gardner '24, and William Hudson '24, rendered "Alma Mater" as a vocal number; Miss Myrtle Shipp '23 told some interesting stories; and the trusty violin of Miss Miriam Aurdnt '32 gave forth the strains of "Home Sweet Home."

Paul Shull '23 gave a well balanced and original book report, and Ted Barnhart '23 kept up the originality by reading an exceedingly novel Valentine Day Gazette. Harry Gardner brought Abraham Lincoln to the minds of the audience when he gave Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address" in a creditable manner.

During Miscellaneous Business, officers were nominated for the next term. The president, R. Nesbit Straley '23 appointed a committee to meet with the Philo committee and make definite plans for the alternating of society halls. The visiting teacher, Miss Heffernan, reminded the Society of the fact that the time for the Fiftieth Anniversary was fast drawing near and that every member should be thinking of the program.

COGITATIONS ON

CLOTHESPINS

(Blanche Straley)

It was needless to say that there was a time when the world was without that very convenient article, the clothespin. My friend Z, while excavating for the lost city of Troy, found a box containing, besides a patent egg-beater and the then latest hair curlers, a number of clothespins and a manuscript. Knowing that I was a zealous student of literature, he very kindly sent me the manuscript and a few of the clothespins.

It appears that at that time civilization had advanced to the stage when washing was universally carried on over the land. In these primitive times the wash was simply spread on the grass to dry. The Lord High Washerwoman to Helen of Troy had just spread the wash out to dry. Achilles, who had at that time fastened his affections on that lovely lady, was coming to see her in his new Ford—cantharus stannus, bringing with him as a token of his regard and esteem H. G. Wells "Outline of History." Being very much engrossed in his own meditations and reflections he did not very closely observe the course which he was pursuing and consequently made a transit across the clothes with great velocity,—calamitas magna! Of course Achilles escaped unscathed while the Lord High Washerwoman was severely reprimanded.

Several weeks later Helen of Troy telephoned to the Lord High Washerwoman, telling her to be very sure to have the washing done as she was going to the movies with Achilles and she needed her sash to her dress. Now this was, as everybody realizes, a very important occasion, and the washerwoman trembled lest an accident should again occur and bring untold wrath on her defenseless head. So she began to reflect on what she might do to avert such a threatened disaster and finally conceived the idea of hanging the clothes above the ground and fastening them. The result was an article similar to our modern clothespin and was the scourge, exemplum primum, from which our modern clothespin was developed. It is needless to say that the wash was dried without any disaster befalling it and Helen went to the movies with Achilles to the chagrin and jealousy,—Aegritudo et invidia—of Hector who also had consilia demovies.

Thus it is that small beginnings often have untold endings. Roburores magna de glandibus parvis crescunt. The clothespin which we use so extensively today is not merely a piece of wood; it represents the achievement of a fertile brain, and is worthy of much more commendation than is cantharus stannus—usually associated with its usual lot. Neither is the Ford—in the minds of intelligent people—with the lowly clothespin, but I assure you that without Achilles and his Ford we would not have at this time the clothespin in its present state of perfection.

GIRLS FACE MILLERSVILLE

The Girls' Varsity Basketball team will meet the fast Millersville Sextette on the home floor at two-thirty o'clock, Saturday afternoon.

A lively scrimmage is the forecast for this game, as the Millersville Lassies so far have a winning record. However, Shippensburg feels optimistic for the coming fray.

Last year the combat between the two teams was so furious that he game ended with Shippensburg calling a "kick formation" and ending in a kick for C. V.'s basket thus scoring the final touchdown and bringing victory into Shippensburg's camp. On their home grid-iron they retrieved the former defeat and won by a margin of ten points.

Up to date the forecast is that Felton will substitute for Minick in center field, while Moretz will replace Miller in guarding if necessary. Houck, old-time forward, will continue her usual pace which she has set this season.

SENIORS WIN INTER-CLASS DEBATE

Constitution To Be Revised

The Seniors won the inter-Class debate which featured at the meeting of the Philomathean Society last Friday evening. Both sides presented convincing arguments but the Seniors, by the logical statement of their points were able to defeat their opponents. The Juniors, Miss Reba Shue, George Robinson, and Miss Miriam Embick, upheld the affirmative side. Mitchell Dreese, Walker Nelson, and Miss Mary Hoover represented the Seniors on the negative side.

The other high lights of the program were a reading by Miss Mildred Shambaugh '23, a male quartette whose chairman was Harry Rice '24, a vocal solo by Miss Janet Shearer '24, a musical feature by Robert Maclay '23, an oration by Hurn Diller '23 and the Philo Review edited by Peggy Lehman '25.

President Brouger appointed a committee to revise the Constitution which has some serious defects in it. Prof. H. L. Burkholder visited the society during the evening.

The Sophomore Girls practically clinched the championship of the Class League by defeating the Junior Girls on Wednesday evening by the score of 24 to 3. The Sophomores were in the lead from the start.

CONNECTICUT YANKEE REIGNS TOMORROW EVENING

The film classic "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" will be shown in the auditorium tomorrow evening at seven o'clock. A Harold Lloyd Comedy is also on the program. A special Orchestra, composed of: Robert Maclay '23, Piano; Prof. D. O. Slyter, Trombone; John Brouger, '23, Clarinet; Florence Davis '23, Violin; Harry Rice '24, Bass Horn; Karl Blanch '23, Traps; will furnish the music.

"A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" is a humorous production written by Mark Twain. It is the story of an American who goes to King Arthur's Court and revolutionizes the customs of England.

Prof. Grove announces that three interesting movies, "A Tale of Two Cities," "Over the Hill," and Zane Gray's "Last Trail," will be presented to screen fans in the near future.

SCHOOL GIVES BANQUET TO VICTORIOUS TEAMS

Varsity and Reserves Present

The school gave a banquet in honor of the winning basketball teams in the dining hall last Monday evening. The dinner was given as a token of appreciation for the Varsity defeating West Chester Normal 36 to 19 and the Reserves winning over the Mont Alto Reserves 31 to 12.

The school orchestra furnished music as the men marched into the dining hall and took their places at the tables. Those present were Coach Sharadin, Grba, Jones, Heiges, Sterner, Smith, Wert, and Manager Blanch of the Varsity. Kelly, Green, Boiley, Assistant Manager Gardner of the Reserves enjoyed the feed. Miss Louise Swartz '24 and "Wally" McKendree '24, were also present.

TWO GAMES FOR VARSITY

The Varsity face team No. 1 of the Carlisle Barricks at 8:30 this evening in the Gymnasium. The line-up is necessarily changed on account of Jones' injury. Smith will likely play forward with Heiges back on guard. Wert will be available for substitution with Heiges at forward. Saturday afternoon the Varsity meets Mont Alto at Mont Alto. Two weeks ago these Foresters were defeated by the lop-sided score of 49 to 23 so a victory is anticipated.

Tentative plans for the Philo Society Reunion were made at a meeting of the program committee on Wednesday. Definite action will be taken next week.
