NORMAL ELEVEN LOSE TO MILITARY ACADEMY

Jimmy Smith Runs 55 Yards for First Touchdown of Game; Angle Makes Second

FOOTS STARS FOR VISITORS

The Red and Blue machine dropped one of its hardest gridiron battles of the season to the Massanutten Military Eleven last Saturday on the Eckels plot by a 19 to 25 score. Coach Ingalls' lads were within one yard of the goal line, the crossing of which, in all probability, would have tied the score, had not the final blast of the whistle echoed across the field. A tie score seemed evident so that the final blast was a knock out blow to the Shippensburgians.

Both "Jimmy" Smith and "Sammy" Angle were the shining lights for the Valley team. "Jimmy" got the edge for the Red and Blue in the opening minutes of play when he crashed through right tackle and battered his way 55 yards for the first score. This gave Capt. Gilbert's squad bright hopes for the future which, however, were abolished in the same quarter when the Virginia Squad crossed the line for their initial touchdown. "Sammy" Angle displayed clever field running when he zigzagged through Massanutten's rugged territory for 40 yards in the second quarter. It was in the end quarter that the Red and Blue quarterback added another six pointer to the score which broke the tie and gave Shippensburg a six point lead. Clair Smith, left half-back of the Normal squad, went through left guard on a line buck and registered the last touchdown while "Dutch" Eby kicked successfully and added the last score of the fray for Coach Ingalls' squad.

Visitors Outplayed in First Half

In the first and second cantos the Red and Blue machine smashed the visiting line on nearly every occasion and displayed the best defensive playing of the game by permitting the Massanutten lads but four first downs. It was in these cantos that Shippensburg scored the 19 tallies, while the military eleven got the 13 points. The close of the first half found the line off scrimmage near Shippensburg's 15 yard line.

Game Lost in Third Quarter

The second half was opened with renewed vigor on the part of Massanutten despite the fact that they failed to bring the ball far into Shippensburg's territory from the kick-off. They started a fast march down the field by means of long aerial passes and crossed bucks which worked very effectively. The home team was unable to check the onward movement and the ball was snapped and carried around left end for the tie score. The Blue and Yellow squad tried for the point by a forward pass but was unsuccessful. The tied score unlocked the pep and enthusiasm of the rooters and it poured forth during the remainder of the game.

After the score was tied the Massanutten aggregation came back strong again and sent the oval cross the goal line after a series of marches back and forward across the field.

In the closing minutes of the third quarter "Jimmy" Smith was withdrawn due to his injured knee which he had been nursing since the Dickinson game, and George Meredith was sent in as full back. Meredith made several big gains in the closing minutes of the quarter.

Whistle Averts Touchdown

In the fourth canto both teams struggled desperately to score but to no avail until the close when Coach Ingalls' Eleven rallied and brought the ball to the one yard line, and

CAMBREA ARTISTS CONCERT WAS OF HIGH STANDARD

Selections Range from Grand Opera to Comic Opera

Songs of joy, songs of sorrow, and songs of love, were intermingled by the four artists of the Cambrea Concert Party, Friday evening, October 26, in the Chapel. The Cambrea Artists are connected with The Redpath Rockway Bureau which "seeks to build the program so clean and wholesome that any child can hear them. The artists' program will never even approach the questionable."

The selections ranged anywhere from Grand Opera to Comic Opera with a goodly number of love lyrics.

PROSPECTIVE MEMBERS OF PRESS CLUB NOMINATED

The first literary program of the Press Club was given at the meeting of the organization, Thursday evening at 6:15. Paulett Dugan '24 was in charge of the preparation of evening's entertainment.

Harry Markley '25 sang a baritone solo "At Dawning" by Charles Wakefield Cadman. A piano solo was played by Romayne Miller '24. "Aunt Tabitha", a humorous recitation, was recited by Blanche Straley '24. Harry Gardner read a topic of the day. The reading dealt with the rum running along the American coast.

Due to the fact that there are twelve vacancies in the Press Club, nominations for prospective members of the club were held. They were as follows:

- Dauphin—Herbert Sheetz '24, Sara Margaret Hawthorne '25, Mary Hallway '24.
- Bedford—Josephine Carl '25, Clair Smith '24, Winona Garbrick '24.
- Franklin—Eleanor Coons '24, Louise Swartz '24, Gladys Huber '24.
- Blair—Carlisle Shoefelt '25, Naomi Wineland '25, Gertrude Griffith '24.
- Juniata—Dorothy Emerick '24, Marion Emerick '24, Flo Moyer '25.
- Mifflin—Anna Burkins '25.
- Huntingdon—Mary Stewart '25, Helen Andrews '24, Lola Pheasant '25, Ruth Given '25.
- Adams—Charles Gentzler '25, Margaret Peters '25, Loretta Raffensberger '25, Miss Bair '25.
- Fulton—Gordon Winters '25, Raymond Cromer '25.
- Cumberland—Mabel Zimmerman '25.

RED AND BLUE GRIDMEN TO FACE WEST CHESTER

First Normal School Game of Year; West Chester Has Strong Aggregation; Anxious to Avenge Last Year's Defeat

GEEDY IS STILL OUT OF THE LINE-UP

The Red and Blue warriors will fight their first battle in the war that is waged between the football teams of the normal schools, tomorrow afternoon on Eckels Field when they meet the strong aggregation from West Chester.

The Chester eleven comes into our lines with the best team that has ever been put upon the market by the school and it is anxious to avenge the defeat that the Valley lads have staked up year after year. Never in the history of C. V. has West Chester registered a victory from the hands of the C. V. S. N. S. fighters.

Last year the game was played on West Chester's field with the result of 19-6 in favor of the visitors.

The C. V. eleven has been working hard this week, and judging from the type of playing which they used in the scrimmages with the scrubs, should present a snappy game. The squad has been profiting by the mistakes of last Saturday and are determined to win and keep up their good record of never being defeated by West Chester.

It is doubtful whether Geedy will be in the game. He has been in bed all week and will doubtless be unfit for tomorrow's game. He will be greatly missed from the line-up as he was relied upon for the punting.

The students are looking forward to this game with much anticipation. It is the first and only Normal School game to be played on Eckels Field this season. The cheer leaders have been very active and the numerous yells and songs are being rehearsed. The band will be on hand and elaborate plans are being made for the game.

The line-up for tomorrow's game in all probability will be:

- Ends—Eby and Hays.
- Tackles—Sell and Hockersmith.
- Guards—Capt. Gilbert and Ritter
- Center—Shuler.
- Quarterback—Angle.
- Halfbacks—Cliff Smith, Clair Smith
- Full back—"Jimmy" Smith.

DEBATE TO BE BIG HIT AT THE NORMAL TONIGHT

Society Orchestra Will Make Initial Appearance

The question, "Resolved, that a free trade policy should be adopted in the United States," will be discussed tonight at Normal Society by Harry Slothour '24 and Claire Deardorf '24, negatives, and Verna Waybright '24 and Blanche Straley '24, affirmative. The discussion will not close with arguments of the debaters but will be carried over into open meeting for all those members present. Take head. The new president, Clarence Shuler '24 has decided to call upon speakers if there are not enough volunteer discussions.

The society orchestra, under the directorship of Edwin Harbaugh '24, will make its first appearance at this meeting. Mr. Harbaugh expects to have a ten or twelve piece orchestra. The persons playing the instruments are majoring in music, while several of them are active in all the musical organizations of the school.

Percy James '25, the tenor soloist, is scheduled for one selection. In addition to this there will be another musical number in charge of Clifford Smith '25. Mr. Smith has refused to tell what he is preparing. Last year this secretive chairman's presentations came in the form of male choruses.

The question box, a humorous contrivance for giving information has William Hudson '25 as its chairman. The Gazette will be edited by Thelma Heckman '24.

SENIORS VICTORIOUS IN FIRST HOCKEY GAME

The Junior-Senior hockey game, which has been eagerly looked forward to since the teams were formed, was played on the athletic field, Thursday evening, Nov. 1. After a hard fought game the Seniors came through victorious, with the score 2-1.

The Seniors have a strong team on the field this year. Many of the stellar players of last year are back on the team. After the Junior team has spent more time in practice and better team work is developed, even more exciting games are anticipated.

PHILO ORCHESTRA WILL MAKE ITS DEBUT

"Junior Follies" to Appear in The Belle of the Colony

Philo orchestra under the direction of Jack Seal will make its first appearance this evening in the main chapel.

Something out of the ordinary in the line of special feature will be found in "Main Street" which is in charge of Miss Mildred Brenneeman '24 whose secrecy in the matter arouses the curiosity of the members of the society. Miss Sally Hawthorne '25, is chairman of the "Junior Follies" a bit of a song and dance called "The Belle of the Colony." The number is to be put on by eight Junior girls. This will be Sally Hawthorne's first attempt to put anything of the kind on in Philo and it will be a test of her originality and ingenuity.

Miss Josephine Clark '24 whose musical ability is well known in Philo will play a piano solo and another musical number. "If you'll do the cooking for me," taken from the U. of P. Mask and Wig Glee Club Music, will be presented by Miss Teddy Poor and Evelyn Chubb, both of the class of twenty-five.

Philomatheans who have heard Ruth Keable '25 recite will not be sorry to know that she is scheduled for this evening's program.

Earl Ryan '26 will deliver an oration on Bobbed Haired Girls in our Schools and John Harris '24 will give the topic of the day, which will deal with the fur trade in America.

The Prilo Review, edited by Miriam Witmyer will typify a country store and through the postoffice which occupies one corner of the store, will come the very latest news of the school.

COMMUNITY SONG SERVICE HELD IN CHAPEL THURS.

The chapel exercises this week were exceedingly interesting. The song service Thursday was indeed an exception to the usual run of Chapel chorus singing. The old familiar songs in the "Community Song" pamphlets, afforded them each a chance to do their utmost towards making the chapel ring as never before.

FACULTY AND STUDENTS ENJOY HALLOWE'EN SOCIAL

Representation of "Poppy" and "Old Father Hay-Seed" Capture Prizes in Grand March

RUSTIC ROMANCE HUGE SUCCESS
Both Faculty and students of C. V. S. N. S. cast their dignity to the four winds on Saturday evening when they "dressed up" for the Halloween social held in the gym.

From the terrifying initiation presided over by knights of the underworld to the last strains of the last dance the guests proclaimed the evening a success.

The costumes were unusually clever and cute, artistic, according to the judge's report. Wilbur Mehring '24 captured the prize for the most comic make-up. He was the exact image of "Old Father Hay-Seed" from the tip of his long gray beard to the overalls, with honest-to-goodness suspenders, though these were hidden by his Prince Albert coat.

Lillian Eshelman, underclassman, took the prize for having the most unique costume. She was dressed to represent a poppy.

Various stunts scattered through the evening's program added to the general interest. Harry Slothower '24 performed an Irish jig to the accompaniment of a banjo, played by Gordon Winters '24. Gladys Huber '24 gave an exceptionally good monologue entitled "The Lapse of Memory." Another feature was a chorus, the original mourners at King Tut's funeral, who sang and sang and sang. Probably the most unusual feature of the stunts was "The Rustic Romance," with George Robinson '24 as the bride and Harry Gardner as the groom, "Living" cornstalk, mama, papa, maid of honor and best man, to say nothing of wedding bells that could ring were all there to assist in the special feature.

Nobody knows but "the waiters" how hungry folks can get at a Halloween social. Candied apples, gingerbread and real cider helped greatly in restoring energy for the "home waltz," which concluded the evening's entertainment. Music for the dance was furnished by Wingert's Orchestra of Chambersburg.

BOARDING MEN LAY PLANS FOR DISPLAY AT SATURDAY'S GAME

The Boarding Men met on Monday evening to make arrangements for the football game tomorrow. Wallis McKendree '25 head cheer-leader, presented plans to arouse the spirit of the student body. A mass meeting will be held this evening in the chapel immediately after the adjournment of the Societies. The usual parade with many side attractions will form in front of the Main Building at 2:00 P. M. Nothing has been forgotten that will make the parade a success. The line of march led by the school band will be preceded by a goat, bearing West Chester's colors, a preacher and his chief mourners will bring forth a coffin and a stretcher. Numerous posters are being made for the students to carry. Different committees were appointed to carry out these plans. A victory will be celebrated by a huge bon-fire on Eckels Field after the dinner hour.

REV. GLEN SPEAKS AT PRAYER SERVICE

Rev. Glen, pastor of the United Brethren Church, sermonized on the lack of knowledge of the world at the weekly prayer service last Wednesday in the Chapel. He used as his text part of the sixth verse of the fourth chapter of Hosea which says, "My people are destroyed for their lack of knowledge." He brought out that knowledge."

A LOST AND FOUND BUREAU

"Why not start a Lost and Found Bureau in the school?" was the question asked in last week's CAMPUS REFLECTOR. The article went on to say that such a bureau was established at Lafayette College and it met with most satisfactory results. Since the opening of the bureau, twelve lost or strayed articles were returned to their respective owners.

The question, "Why not start a 'Lost and Found Bureau' in C. V. S. N. S." is repeated. The reading of many notices in Chapel about articles that have escaped the hands of their owners, or made their way into the possession of some one who does not claim them as his common property, often tends to make the usual pleasant exercises a bore. Then, too, the reading of notices of this type takes time off the period that could profitably be devoted to chorus work. Much of the restlessness during chapel exercises might be eradicated, if it were not necessary for students to sit and listen to endless numbers of books that have disappeared mysteriously, or fountain pens that were left in the library, or had rolled away when their owners had returned for them.

"A Lost and Found Bureau" at C. V. S. N. S. need not be the pipe dream of some idealist. It could actually be put into practice. The CAMPUS REFLECTOR would be glad to print the long lists of lost and found articles that are read every Tuesday and Thursday in chapel, if the signers of the notices would see that the news, that something has been lost or found, is left at the office not later than Thursday morning.

The co-operation of the office is solicited for the furtherance of this suggestion. Owing to the cramped condition of the REFLECTOR office it will be impossible to establish a bureau for the temporary resting place of "found" articles. Would it be impossible to assign a small section of the new main office to this bureau?

If a Lost and Found Bureau were established in the office, it would be possible for the owners to obtain their respective property by identification. This, in itself, would be an advantage over the present system of taking whatever is handed to one with the possibility of receiving some one else's property. Certainly knowing that there was such a bureau in existence would tend to jog one's memory when it came to discovering just whose property he has found. Would not a Lost and Found Bureau be an incentive to returning that article which one has found and then promptly forgotten that he has found it?

Again the CAMPUS REFLECTOR offers you its columns for the advertising of that lost pocketbook or key. In fact it urges you to do your bit toward making the burden of notices at the chapel services a lighter load on the students' shoulders. It is also hoped that an article may be printed in the REFLECTOR to the effect that a Lost and Found Bureau has been established in the main office, for the use of the students and the faculty.

HALLOWEEN DINNER
DECIDED SUCCESS

Flashes of bright fall color made the dining room a picture of gayety Wednesday evening, when the annual Halloween Dinner was held.

Witches, cats, jack-o-lanterns, corn stalks, and autumn leaves adorned the table in the form of artistic centers and favors. Prof. Shearer's table especially carried out the idea of a leaf decoration. A pergola of brilliant orange and green leaves was surrounded by quaint leaf favors.

Mrs. Levi Gilbert's table received the prize which had been offered for the prettiest and least expensive decorations. The reward was a white three layer cake. Mrs. Gilbert's arrangements were very simple but quite effective; a Jack o'lantern covered with bittersweet formed the center from which yellow ribbons extended to each plate. Tiny leaf baskets were used as favors.

Special orchestra composed of Prof. D. O. Slyter, Winona Garbrick '24, Berneta Lobb, and Julia Hargleroad, furnished several selections of music which added in making the evening a great success.

A wailing meow announced the approach of the waiters who carefully balanced paper cats on their heads while they served to the diners the following menu:

Breaded veal, apples and sweet potatoes, peas, parker-house rolls, sweet pickles, pumpkin pie, salted peanuts.

The movie tomorrow night will be "Tol'able David" starring Richard Bartholomew. The comedy is "The Play House."

GLEE CLUB AND PUPPET SHOW
MAKE BIG HIT AT NORMAL

The Normal Glee Club under the direction of Harry Markley '25 made its first appearance of the year, last Friday evening when the Normal Literary Society met in the school auditorium. "A Nonsense Song" by R. M. Stultz was sung by sixteen persons who are at present undergoing voice instruction in the two vocal organizations of the school—namely the Girls' Choral Society and Boys' Glee Club. Mr. Markley is endeavoring to perfect a new type of organization for the club. He intends to have only sixteen trained voices thus furnishing music of a higher grade than has usually been given in the society.

Perhaps the center of attraction was found in the "puppet show" staged by the Dramatic Committee with Miss Carrie Belle Parks as the coach. The idea was original and new to the school. It is the first show of the kind ever given at either society. A series of nursery rhymes were recalled by seemingly real, live and talkative "dollies." Little Miss Muffet and the spider caused much merriment as did Jack and Jill and Mother Hubbard with her dog.

Clermont Smith played a piano solo, "Polonaise Militaire" by Chopin. It is quite unusual to see a male Normalite at the piano but Mr. Smith, distinguished himself by his remarkable display of technique. The musical program was brought to a close by an instrumental selection "Bridal Roses" Byer, under the direction of Elizabeth Selfridge '24.

"Americanism means work not idleness" quoted Harry Gardner '25 in his oration on Americanism. A very practical application of the term made the number quite interesting. The Gazette edited by Edwin Harbaugh '24 brought many new characters into the lime light. In addition it contained news of the world and a large supply of jokes.

The new officers were installed with the usual ex-augural and in-augural addresses. Mr. Ingalls was the visiting teacher.

SPIRITED ARBOR DAY
EXERCISES HELD FRIDAY

Music, banners, flying colors, speeches, cheers and an over supply of pep characterized the Arbor Day exercises held Friday afternoon, Oct. 26.

From the ringing of the bell which was the signal for the various classes to march into the auditorium until the last cheer had died away after the planting of the underclassmen's tree, there was not a dull moment in the whole program.

Harry Slothouer '24 president of the Senior class presided over the exercises. An address by Prof. Shearer on Arbor Day, the Governor's proclamation of Arbor Day, read by Mildred Shirk '24, a recitation by Miriam Embick '24 and an essay by Raymond Kornbaugh constituted the program.

After a lively display of school and class spirit the school body passed to the campus where the trees were presented by the presidents of the various classes and received in the name of the school by Dr. Lehman.

You want what you want when you want it;
You take what you get when you grab it;
When you get what you want,
You don't want what you get,
But you want what you want when you want it.

It takes grit;
To be patient.
To keep your temper.
To improve your mind.
To exercise and keep your body fit.
To diet, that is, to eat for health and not for sport.
To admit, "I don't know."
To resist the mob.

These things are easy:
To be irritable.
To say "I can't help it," without any effort to control yourself.
To be mentally lazy, read nothing but trash, and have no habits of study.
To loaf, and exercise only when you feel like it.
To eat when you please what you please.

To agree with those you feel to be wrong, just to avoid trouble.
To go with the crowd.
To follow your impulses and not your intelligence.

The football team wants backing, not slacking.

There were people who went to the gym,
Full of dread at the underworld grim,
But they all survived,
Every one, safe arrived,
From the land at dark Hades' brim.

Elderly lady to small boy—Son, why are you so small?
Little Boy—I was raised on condensed milk.

Senior—Say, did you hear about the accident down town the other morning?

Soph—No, I didn't. What was it?
Senior—A man riding in the street car had a bad headache and jumped through the window to get rid of the pain.

You can string beans,
You can kid gloves,
But you can't bull frogs.

Soph—I am not feeling well today.
Junior—Why don't you swallow a bottle of ink? That will make you right.

Town Boy—That clock isn't right.
Boarding Student—Why not?
Town Boy—Because every now and then a little bird comes out and says it's cuckoo.

Excited gossip—They had a contest down town to see who could play his cornet the longest time. One boy played the "Yes, we Have No Banana Blues" for three weeks.

Bystander—Well, I suppose he won.
Gossip—No sir, another boy played "The Stars and Stripes Forever."

Student to Athlete—Do you eat candy?
Athlete—Not now, I am in training.
Student—Well keep this candy until I come back to town.

Mother to daughter—It is twelve o'clock, your friend must leave at once.

Her Boy Friend—Your mother is a crank.

Daughter—Well, it's a good thing to have a crank when you don't happen to have a self-starter.

Take heart. There are only 1296 hours until Christmas.

PHILO ENJOYS DEBATE ON POPULAR QUESTION

Are the morals of the girls of today as good as the morals of the girls of Grandmother's day? The question has been discussed by great educators, reformers and their like but a settlement of the issue was made at Philo last Friday night in the training school chapel. By the light of Jack O'Lantern this decision was made:— That the modern girls' morals are as high as those of her grandmother's day. Mildred Yingling '25 and Rebecca Puffenberger '24 were the victors although strong arguments were presented by Mildred Kline '25 and Alma Gluck '25.

From the gales of laughter coming from the audience it was easily known that the special feature by Sarah Rider '24 was a success. Ghosts of Philo's Alumni in the guise of ministers, doctors, famous dancers and nurses executed the Virginia Reel.

Lillian Boyer '25 with her hair in plaits and a doll dangling from one hand recited the well-known selection, "Little Orphan Annie" by James Whitcomb Riley.

Roy Funk '24, Mary Halloway '24, Mildred Yingling and George Brougher '25 sang "The Slumber Song." The number was to be given by the Glee Club but owing to the fact that Janet Shearer '24, director, was called home, the quartet was substituted.

Postillon D'Armour (Love's Messenger) by Fr. Behr, was the title of the piano duet executed by Eleanor Nessinger '25 and Elizabeth Gant '24. Philo Review was edited by George Brougher '25.

WEEKLY PUNTS

A defeat from Massanutten—but there was really glory in the defeat. Massanutten is classed as one of the trickiest teams in Virginia. The Red and Blue boys believe it.

Sammy Angle played a great game at quarter and ran the team like old Bob McMillan himself.

Shuler showed great form at center. He was in every play and he was usually found on the bottom. Look at his eye and see.

Hockersmith and Sell smashed through the visitors' line making several tackles behind the line of scrimmage.

George Meredith as sub made fine gains. His first plunge was ten yards.

Eby and Hays were a little weak at ends. It would have taken very strong wing men to have stopped the Academy boy's interference.

Good sportsmanship was displayed by Dr. Heiges when the Normal team was within one foot of the goal line and he blew the whistle ending the game. One more touchdown would have meant victory, but in honesty there was a greater victory for our school.

Tomorrow the students led by Wally McKendree and his squad will battle against West Chester Normal. Every ounce of pep the school possesses is going to Eckels Field. Are you with them?

OCTOBER PROGRAM GIVEN IN TRAINING SCHOOL ASSEMBLY

The beauties of October were brought out in the Training School Assembly program last Friday, October 19. The birthday of Franz Schubert being on the same day, considerable time was given to the reading of his life and to the playing of two of his compositions. The program which was unusually well-prepared was as follows:

Presiding Officer Chester Fickes
Song—"Come Bright Morning" School Reading Miss Throckmorton
Song Seventh Grade
Cornet Solo Albert Heberlig
Recitation—"October's Bright Blue Weather" Elwood Fickes
Song—"October Nuts"

By Group of Boys and Girls
Recitation—"October"

Marguerite Van Seyoc
Folk Dance Third Grade
Short Life of Schubert

Margaret Sleichter
"Hark, Hark the Lark" Victrola
"Serenade" Victrola

The program was concluded by the exhibition of the Music Book Covers made by each grade. These covers were made by the Art classes for the assembly song sheets.

BALTIMORE ROAD VISITED BY SAT. MORNING HIKERS

The Baltimore Road was infested with the members of Miss Robb's squad of weekly trampers last Saturday morning. The hikers covered a goodly number of miles before they stopped for the intermission that always comes before the girls start to wend their way back towards school and the noon-day meal.

Not being satisfied with the appetites that the hike created, the Saturday morning pedestrians indulged in a heated game of tug-of-war. Before the hikers left the battlefield, the date for the breakfast hike was announced. The happy day will be November 10.

Be agreeable, for you will have little competition and are pretty sure to succeed.

MALE QUARTET SINGS AT SUNDAY SCHOOL SERVICE

A male quartet, composed of Harry Markley, Clarence Shuler, Clifford Smith and Percy James sang "Send Out Thy Light" by Gunod, at the closing exercises of Sunday School which were held in the chapel Sunday morning. The services were in charge of Dr. Heiges' class and Russel Coover presided. The Scriptures were read by Charles Gentzler, Clarence Flickinger and Harry Wolf. George Kauffman led in prayer.

RED AND BLUE GRIDMEN DEFEATED BY MASSANUTTEN

was ready to smash the military lines for the tie score when the whistle tooted and gave the Virginians the game.

Good Football Played

Both teams played good football in the entire battle and Massanutten showed splendid aerial work in the closing cantos. Shippensburg's line completely subdued the visitors in the opening half. "Cliff" Smith made the longest line plunge by netting 15 yards through center in the second quarter. Capt. Gilbert, "Snapper-back" Shuler, and Steve Sell all played good ball in their respective places while Hockersmith and Ritter played their old type of football. Eby and Hays were the wingmen for the Red and Blue team and showed up in old time form. The team will be in top notch shape again after another week of hard drill.

RESERVES DEFEATED BY MECHANICSBURG ELEVEN

The Reserve Eleven traveled to Mechanicsburg last Saturday afternoon where they suffered a defeat, the score being 9-0 in favor of the Mechanicsburg lads.

ALUMNI

Mr. J. Gross App, class of '78, died at his home near Liverpool, Juniata County, Wednesday, October 10, after an illness of over six years from stomach trouble. He was a teacher in the schools of Union County for a number of years and was a successful public educator.

Mrs. Jennie Stever Loveland, class of '90, died October 19, 1923. She was a former resident of Millersburg and has been a teacher in the Pottstown High School for the past twenty-seven years.

Harry B. Miller '19 and Miss Mabel B. Myers, both of Greenvillage were united in marriage at the parsonage of the Trinity Lutheran Church by the Rev. William A. Kump. The bridegroom is a teacher in the public schools of Franklin County having charge of the schools at Salem. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Myers.

Ralph Heiges '23, a junior at Ursinus College has been elected Editor-in-Chief of the "Ruby," the College's year book for 1925.

Roy A. Burkhardt has recently been elected superintendent of the United Brethren Young Peoples Work in America. His headquarters are at Dayton, Ohio. Last year he was a State Sunday School Field Worker. Previously Mr. Burkhardt was principal of the Boiling Springs High School and principal of the Mechanicsburg High School. He graduated from Normal in 1918. Students who were here last year will remember him as the president of the Philo Literary Society Reunion.

Grace McKee and Mamie Ebert both of '23, are teaching second grade work in the Sheridan Building at Allentown.

Evelyn Ickes visited her sister at C. V. S. N. S. over last week end. Miss Ickes graduated with the Rural Group of 1922. She is teaching English, Latin and community civics in the Landisburg High School. Last year she taught in the Vocational High School at Petersburg.

Cecil Mellott, Ted Charlton, Ralph Orner and Catherine Heefner, were visitors at the school over the week-end.

HAZING EXTERMINATED AS POPULAR COLLEGE SPORT

Hazing is rapidly being exterminated from the leading colleges of the country. For years this popular form of initiation has caused many injuries and in some cases deaths have resulted. Last week at Allegheny College several students were badly burned as a result of having Nitrate of Silver rubbed on their faces. Some of the young men were members of athletic teams and according to reports they will be incapacitated from participating in athletics because of the results of the burns.

FORMER STUDENT DIES OF BLOOD-POISONING

It is with sincere and heart felt sorrow that faculty and students of the C. V. S. N. S. receive the news of the death of Austin Ocker, class of '19. Mr. Ocker who was born on a farm located on the outskirts of Shippensburg was an honor student in the Shippensburg Normal School. He took an active part in athletics, scholastic, religious, and social events of the school.

At one time he was a member of the faculty of the Steelton High School, although it rarely happened that Steelton employed a non-college graduate. Mr. Ocker later held the position of assistant principal in the Boiling Springs High School. He had given up teaching and was studying in the University of Pittsburgh up to the time of his death, Saturday, Oct. 27. Mr. Ocker died of acute blood poisoning which set in after a slight cut on the cheek.

REV. LOBB SPEAKER AT JOINT MEETING

Rev. Lobb of the Church of God addressed the Joint Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. meeting Sunday, October 28. His text was "Gather up the fragments that remain that nothing may be lost."

"Does it pay to prepare for your life while a youth? If we embrace all education around us in youth and become an all around man or woman, we will be fully compensated for the time and money spent," were the main thoughts of Rev. Lobb's talk.

The meeting was in charge of William Hudson '25.

A woman's idea of conversation is talking about other women; a man's is talking about himself.

FOOTBALL MEN HELP TO CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY

Football training rules were cast aside Tuesday evening when the training table celebrated the eighteenth birthday of William Parthemer '25. A three layer cake was doomed to defeat when it was lined up before eleven stalwart warriors of the Red and Blue squad. "Bill" plays tackle on the Reserve team and he made a great showing when he tackled the big cake.
