WORK OF RED AND BLUE SQUAD IS COMMENDED

Persistent Effort of Football Men One of the Factors of Gridiron Season

CLAIR SMITH PLAYS EVERY GAME

September tenth marked the opening of the 1923 football season for the Cumberland Valley State Normal School when fifteen reported to practice on the Eckels plot with Coach Ben Ingalls in charge.

Coach Ingalls started his early training by sending the squad through eight preliminaries in order to get the squad in shape for hard work. This early practice of fundamentals was without doubt the most beneficial for the squad's training in the rudiments is necessary in early seasoning.

The first week of school saw 40 candidates out in uniform. The greater portion of material was light and in some cases inexperienced entirely while some few members of the squad had received considerable football training in high school and had from one to three years experience which gave Coach Ingalls a squad whose experience was much ungraded.

The season's schedule was one of the hardest ones in past years. Games were scheduled with the best teams in the Normal School Class. The outstanding factor of the season was the fair play and clean sportsmanship that the Red and Blue eleven upheld both at home and away, which always gives a team a successful season even though they are outnumbered in points by their opponents.

Capt. Gilbert is to be commended on the splendid game he played at guard. His regularity at practice, his gentlemanly conduct and hard untiring efforts were characteristic throughout the season. "Boots" Shuler, center, and "Steve" Sell, who will be lost to C. V. S. N. S. next season, held down their respective jobs in great style for eight battles despite the fact that they were practically inexperienced at these positions. Don Ritter, right guard, and Bruce Hockersmith, right tackle, two men from the winning eleven of '22 from the local high school, squelched the attacks sent against the Valley lads' right flank. "Spocn" would often slip thru into the starting offense and mess it up before it was fairly under way.

The end and backfield positions were uncertain throughout the season due partly to the injuries and partly to inexperience. Clair Smith played either half or fullback every minute of every game without calling out time once. Credit is due to him because this was his first season at the game and a few touchdowns are on his record. The right wing job was held down by "Eddie" Hays, who did creditable work in the closing part of the season. "Jimmy" Smith, Woodlawn Star of '22 was on the injured or sick list most of the season but played spectacular ball at full back when he wore the uniform. "Jimmy" made two of the longest runs for touch-

COACH INGALLS ANNOUNCES OPENING OF CAGE SEASON

Suits Will Be Issued to First Squad Beginning of Week

The coming of the Advent season spells the disappearance of the white lined gridiron, the warriors of the pigskin and the gay colors in the bleachers.

The athletes of the leather sphere have now stepped into prominence. When coach Ingalls announced the opening of the basketball season some forty candidates responded to the call and the coach set them to work immediately.

The more experienced men were started on handling the ball while moving and finding the opposing man. The new men were instructed in passing the ball and the first fundamentals of the game.

Suits will be issued to the men who make the first squad the early part of next week and everything will be in readiness for the game with Gettysburg Academy next Friday evening in the gymnasium.

Prof. Gilbert was in attendance at the first practice helping with the coaching of the squad.

The only man remaining from last year's varsity is Cliff Smith. He will be a great strength to the team this year.

Coach Ingalls is anxious that all men who have had experience in the cage, report for practice.

GIRLS' BASKET-BALL SEASON OPENS THIS WEEK

The successful hockey season closes only to be succeeded by basket-ball. This week all classes have been called out and about two hundred girls responded to the call. The purpose for starting practice so early is to give all the girls as much experience as possible and to develop new as well as old talent for the varsity.

There are splendid prospects for the varsity this year. About one half the girls out have played elsewhere and new stars are being discovered everyday. Fair play is emphasized in girls' basket ball this season above everything else and it is the desire of the G. A. A. to have the highest type of team work displayed. Although the varsity lost numerous games last year a very favorable impression was made because of the spirit of the girls.

This year every girl out for basket-ball will be given careful consideration as Miss Robb and Miss Hefernan are constantly on watch for good players. Class teams will be chosen first. From the first teams and subs the varsity will be picked.

The varsity has a very heavy schedule before them. Some of the teams likely to be played are: Hagerstown, Dickinson College, Millersville Normal, Carlisle Y. W. C. A., Reading Y. W. C. A. and Shepherdstown College. This year the school is financing the varsity.

The class tournaments will not begin before vacation but after vacation the work will be started in earnest. Intensive training will be given the varsity by Miss Robb who will do the coaching of the varsity.

Last year a motion was passed by the G. A. A. that all girls who play the required number of games on the varsity shall be presented with gold basket balls as a token of the appreciation of the association, for the sacrifices that the girls have made in order to produce a successful team.

MEETING OF BASKETBALL MEN HELD ON THURSDAY

The candidates for the basketball team met Thursday noon in room fifty-four for purpose of discussing the plans for the coming season. About forty men reported.

Y. W. WILL HOLD FAIR IN GYM TOMORROW EVENING

Big Event of Yuletide to Come in the form of a Bazaar; Gifts on Sale for All

SURPRISE AUCTION WILL BE HELD

The Y. W. C. A. will hold the annual Christmas fair tomorrow evening in the gymnasium. The fair will open at 6:30 P. M. and continue until 10 o'clock. The Christmas season is rapidly approaching and the bazaar will be a splendid opportunity for the students to purchase gifts for their friends and families.

Vera Garman, the third floor Girls' Dorm's famous fortune-teller, will appear as a seer to disclose the future of all those who are curious as to what the future may spring on them. Home-made cake and candy will be sold at booths, Mrs. Sipe and Mildred Breneman having charge of the cake, while Leah Decker and Katherine Lehr are in charge of the sale of the candy. A novelty booth will be in charge of Dorothy Weaver and Anne Sourber. At the Japanese counter, where Eliza Russel will preside, miscellaneous Japanese trinkets, such as pocketbooks, incense burners, pictures, stationery, and ivory, will be sold at reasonable prices. All of these articles were obtained from a Japanese firm and will be sold at a commission for the Y. W. C. A. A booth with gifts for the kiddies will be in charge of Ruth Frank. The books at this counter are all works of standard authors.

One corner of the gymnasium is being furnished with little tables where the students will be served ice cream, sandwiches, and cake and indulge in a social chat at the same time. From 8 o'clock until 9:30, the school orchestra, led by Prof. D. O. Slyter will furnish music.

A surprise auction will be held with Louise Swartz as auctioneer. Members of the alumni were requested to furnish articles for this event. Each package is guaranteed to be worth at least twenty-five cents, but the contents of the package is a complete mystery.

The proceeds of the fair are for the benefit of sending several girls who will be C. V. S. N. S. delegates, at the Eagles Mere Conference in June. Representatives from many normal schools, colleges and universities will be present at the conference. The delegates selected are from the junior and underclass groups because the purpose of the conference is to give inspiration and training to the members in order that they may carry on the work during the following year. Last year three girls and a member of the faculty were sent to represent C. V. S. N. S. and this year it is hoped to send several more.

STUDENTS HEAR UPLIFTING TALK AT PRAYER MEETING

Prof. D. O. Slyter was the leader of the students' Prayer Meeting held last Wednesday evening in the auditorium. Rev. H. E. Crow, pastor of the local Methodist Episcopal Church was the speaker of the evening.

Prof. Slyter conducted the music at the meeting and several old Christmas hymns rang through the chapel. A double quartet sang a selection.

Rev. Crow read as the scripture lesson, the eighth psalm and took for his topic a quotation from an ancient African prayer. He based his talk on the last clause, "But we must lend a hand," implying that God helps those who help themselves. There was a message for every student present. After discussing the possibilities one may develop through work, Rev. Crow closed his talk with the quotation, "but we must lend a hand."

PRESS CLUB ELECTS NEW MEMBERS TO FILL QUOTA

Eight Counties Represented; Bedford Heads the List

Twenty new members were elected to the Press Club at the regular monthly meeting held last night.

Bedford County leads the list with four newly elected members, while Huntingdon and Cumberland Counties come second, with three new reporters. Blair County ranked third with two, while Juniata, Mifflin, Adams and Fulton each had one elected.

The election was held to fill the vacancies caused by the graduating class of 1923. With the installation of these newly elected members the Press Club will have its entire quota of members and be ready to start the new year aright.

After the election plans were discussed for the next meeting which will be held January 11, 1923 at which time there will be a literary program along with an address on "Newspaper Work" by a speaker from Perry Co. In all probability the Campus Reflector Staff will be invited to the meeting as the address will be of interest to them in their line of work.

Those elected were:
Miss Hilda Abbott '24, Bedford.
Miss Flo Steele '25, Bedford
Miss Josephine Corle '24, Bedford.
Mr. Chas. Smith '24, Bedford.
Miss Lola Pheasant, '25, Huntingdon.

"STUDENT VOLUNTEERS" IS TOPIC OF Y. W. MEETING

Miss Beatrice C. Segsworth, Traveling Secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement of Foreign Missions was present and spoke at the Y. W. C. A. meeting which was held Sunday evening at six o'clock in the court of the Girls' Dormitory. Miss Segsworth said that the purpose of the Student Volunteers is "To Carry the Message of Christ to All Lands." The Student Volunteers is no association or organization, it is merely a movement which is being carried on in most of the colleges and universities. C. V. S. N. S. is the only normal school that has it. There are three girls in the school who have signed the pledge cards and five more who are considering the matter seriously.

Anna Cosier '25, was chairman of the meeting. The scripture was read by Jane Book '25. Winona Garberick '25 played a cello solo, "The Prayer" and Dorothy Weaver '24 played a violin solo, "Hearts and Flowers." Ruth Straley '25 gave a reading, "The Eternal Goodness" by Whittier.

ELABORATE PLANS MADE FOR REFLECTOR DANCE

The plans for the "Campus Reflector" staff dance are being completed. The dance will be on of the finest of the kind in the history of the school. Elaborate plans have been made including programs, refreshments, an exceptional orchestra and decorations.

The patrons of the dance are Prof. Pennington, Dr. and Mrs. Lehman, Dr. and Mrs. Heiges, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Lackhove, Miss Arnold and Miss Parks.

Don't forget to attend the Y. W. C. A. fair. You can buy things for present consuming or future presenting.

MORE BOYS THAN GIRLS READ THE NEWSPAPERS

Survey Shows That Time Spent Varies from Five Minutes to Two Hours And Ten Minutes a Day

GIRLS NOT INTERESTED IN SPORTS

The Campus Reflector recently made a survey to find how many students read newspapers. Three hundred-sixty-eight answered. Three hundred-fifty-four of these students read newspapers; two hundred-fifty-one girls and one hundred-thirty boys. This shows that ninety-five per cent of the girls read newspapers and ninety-eight per cent of the boys.

The survey also asked for the number of minutes spent each day in reading newspapers. The average time spent by the girls is nineteen and four fifths minutes a day. One girl states that she spends five minutes a day in reading. Another girl states that she spends one hour a day in reading. The average amount of time spent by the boys in reading is twenty-six and twenty-four hundredth minutes a day. One boy states that he spends five minutes a day in reading and another states that he reads two hours and ten minutes a day.

The same survey shows that of the two hundred sixty-three girls, nine read the New York papers, ninety-five read the Philadelphia papers, one hundred fifteen read the Harrisburg papers and forty read papers from their home towns. Of the one hundred-fifty boys, it was found that one boy reads the New York papers; thirty-eight read the Philadelphia papers, thirty read the Harrisburg papers and thirteen read papers from their home towns.

It was thought it would be interesting to note what sections of the paper was most widely read, and if the interest lies the same with the girls as it does with the boys. Of the two hundred sixty-three girls, it was found that fifty read the editorials, fifty read the sports section, two read the educational news, thirty-seven read home and foreign news, including problems of the United States and of the foreign countries, and one hundred twenty-four read the front page, headlines, personals and general news items. Of the one hundred-fifty boys, it was found that twenty-two read the editorials, forty-seven read the sports section, three read the business section, six the story section and eighty-three read the front page, comics, headlines and general news items.

This shows that the interests of the girls, in regard to the newspapers, lie in the General News items and in the home and foreign affairs, forty-seven percent reading the general news items and thirty-seven per cent reading the home and foreign news. The

OUR CHEERING AT THE LAST GAME

It isn't consoling to know and have the fact driven home that the efforts of the cheer leaders during the past football season have been in vain. At that very game which they were most desirous of having their squad "show off" its best cheering—the squad left them flat. Was it too much to expect that after an entire season of practicing the school songs and yells and then repeating them on the field of battle innumerable times that the student body would be able to cheer at the Thanksgiving game? The crowd was there. And this time there were two kinds of students represented in that crowd. There were the full fledged students of C. V. S. N. S. There were the Alumni who were anxiously listening to hear if there was as much pep to back the team of '23 as there was behind the boys who fought Shippensburg's battles in '21 or '22. Yes, the Alumni have decided in favor of the brand of school spirit that they displayed on Eckels Field.

It was unfortunate that our seasoned cheer leader was unable to direct the cheers and songs, but this incident is no excuse for the lack of support that the students gave his substitutes. They did their best—a best which was so highly appreciated that about one fourth of the students showed their appreciation by raising their voices in support of the team. It was a good game and the team played splendidly, even though they did not have the cheers from the grandstand and from the people who stood along the side lines regardless of the rules that we have been observing all season, to urge them on to victory.

What are we going to do about it, C. V. S. N. S.? Are we going to enter the basketball season with the same horsepower that we have closed the football season? We have the pep, Normal. We have shown it all season—until Thanksgiving Day. Surely our pep and school spirit isn't the kind that dies so easy a death.

In one week the basketball season will be launched on its career for the winter. C. V. S. N. S., let's repair our fall from grace last Thanksgiving Day. Open the basketball season with a bomb manufactured from your old time pep. Don't be satisfied with a good beginning, but strive to make the ending even more peppy than the beginning.

SUBSTITUTIONS ON SOCIETY PROGRAMS

Substitutions on society programs used to be as rare as hen's teeth, but as the year progresses they become more and more common. It is not out of the ordinary to hear of at least one substitution and some times two, on consequent programs. Then, too, if substitutions were the only evils, the programs would not be open to the volleys of criticisms that have been directed their way since some members of the societies have failed to appear on the program when they were scheduled for a number.

The visiting teachers have not been too harsh in the censoring of the society programs in regard to these two mistakes. Time and again the societies have been called to task for the non-appearance of members who were expected to take part in the program. Not only have the members of the faculty repeatedly called the societies' attention to the fact, but Dr. Lehman has also reprimanded them.

What action have the societies taken on the subject? Yes, they have talked the matter over. They have decided that it is not the true society spirit to ask a friend to take one's place on the program when he is not feeling disposed to play the role that has been assigned to him or to go home so that he won't have to appear on the program. Of course in such a case it is not thought necessary to even provide the much condemned substitute. Isn't the fact that one is going home, an excuse sufficient unto itself?

Surely it can not be said that loyalty to one's society is becoming a thing of the past. It is not playing fair to judge an entire society by the mistakes of some of its members, but that is what is going to happen if the societies do not take some steps to prevent the constant recurrence of these incidents.

Philo and Normal, are you going to give your members the opportunity to say, "Well, I got by with it once. I'll try it again."? Why not provide a system for the bringing of these erring members to justice? Why let them continue in the habit that they have developed? Habits are extremely hard things to curve once they have been formed. Why have the visiting teacher criticize the society week after week for the same evil? Philo and Normal, why not put a stop to this abominable practice and thus disappoint the faculty in that they won't be able to shoot that well worn arrow—"I noticed a substitution on to-night's program," or Miss—didn't take part in the program this evening as she was scheduled to do, at the regular society meetings."

"SCOTCH GRACE" STAGED AT NORMAL SOCIETY

A full house, original number, and the presence of many of the alumni made the meeting of Normal Literary Society one of the best meetings of the year. The society convened in the Training School Chapel at 7:00 P. M. with Prof. Grove as the visiting teacher.

The Dramatic Committee, Gladys Huber '24 chairman, staged "Scotch Grace" a typical Thanksgiving play based on the poem "Some hae bread and canna eat" by Robert Burns. The verse was printed on a card and sent to a small child whose parents were taught to be happy and thankful. Esther (Straley '25 took the part of the child while Mary Karper '24 and Clarence Shuler '25 portrayed the characters of father and mother. The soft music played during the entire performance added a note of mysticism which was made greater by the appearance and disappearance of four Scotch fairies whose dancing was of the most artistic and fairyland type. These parts were taken by Jessie Bailer '24, Emma Gross '24, Mae Parfet '24 and Margaret Schaffstall '24. This is the second play given during the month with Prof. Pennington as coach. Much credit is due him for the successfulness of both presentations.

Normal orchestra again appeared on the program when it played "Arcadia" by Mickie Beyer while Percy James '25, the Normal tenor, sang "The Sunshine of your Smile." Mr. James' reputation as a soloist of ability has been firmly established in the annals of the society.

Ruth Blose '24 who has appeared on the society programs during the past two years played a piano solo, "Ill Trovatore," Verdi.

Edith Williams '24 won the attention of her audience when she recited some incidents in the lives of Priscella Mullens and John Alden. The interpretation was made doubly effective by Miss Williams' costume and by the low-sounding, musical tone qualities characteristic of this Normalite. Gladys Huber '24 gave a reading, "Thanksgiving." Donald Snively '25 read a discussion on the origin of Thanksgiving. The special feature as prepared by Mae Parfet '24 abounded in beauty of thought, spirit and costume. Eight girls representing, love, charity, beauty, youth, happiness, hope, honor, and virtue, brought their gifts to the "Spirit of Thanksgiving" who was seated on a snow white throne. The finale was staged when Dorothy Weaver '24 sang a hymn of praise.

The Gazette prepared by James Smith '24 and read by Arthur Filler '25 succeeded in reaching the goal that the society has set for the Gazette.

Many members of Normal's Alumni were present at the meeting Friday night. They voiced their appreciation of the evening's program when they responded to an invitation from the president to address the society.

GIRLS' CHRISTMAS PARTY TO BE HELD DEC. 19

The Girls' Student Council will give the annual Christmas Party in the gymnasium the evening of Dec. 19. In previous years many surprises have been sprung on the guests of the Council; in all probability the same type of surprise party is being planned this year.

A brilliantly lighted tree covered with Christmas gifts with mysterious packages will provide Christmas Gifts for every girl.

DISCUSSION "THE HOT LUNCH" SUBJECT AT TEACHERS' CLUB

"The Hot Lunch in the School" was very fully discussed by Mabel Zimmerman '24 at Teacher's Club, Friday, Nov. 28. Miss Zimmerman who has had experience with the hot lunch gave very helpful suggestions to her fellow teachers. She divided her topic into four parts, the need for a hot lunch, the value of a hot lunch, preparations of a hot lunch and the financial profit from a hot lunch. There is an evident need for one when one sees the undernourished children and the open lunch boxes of the majority of the children in both rural and city schools.

It has been found that after a hot lunch children study better. The close association of pupils and teacher during the meal furnished the best opportunity for teaching table etiquette, health and hygiene.

It takes comparatively simple preparation to serve a hot lunch. The cooking utensils, dishes and a great part of the food can be donated by the parents when the Parent-Teacher Association cooperates with the teacher. It is best that the food donated be raw, so that the teacher may plan nutritive menus.

The unintentional financial profit gained in serving the hot lunch may be used in various ways—to further equip the kitchen, to defray the cost of playground apparatus.

Miss Zimmerman concluded her discussion by saying, "The greatest benefit will be to yourself if you have the initiative to attempt and carry out the project for one term. You will be valuable to your community. You'll be more than just a school teacher."

As a Thanksgiving number the committee presented a review of "The Courtship of Miles Standish," illustrated by scenes from the poem. Evelyn Easterbrook an eighth grade pupil from the Training School, gave a review and explained the pictures. A poem, "Thanksgiving Day" was read by Roy Killinger '24.

Suggested inscription for Senior photographs:

"My face, I don't mind it, For I am behind it. The folks out in front get the jar."

The surest way to insure a rainy day is to read a notice in chapel that the "Campus Reflector" picture for the year book will be taken.

English teacher—What does the general expression of this man's face seem to indicate?

Undiscerning student—He looks as though he has mumps.

The difference—A teacher was conducting a lesson in history. "Tommy Jones," she said, "what was there about George Washington which distinguished him from all other Americans?"

"He didn't lie," was the prompt answer.

"You are certain," the customer said, "that this young century plant will bloom in a hundred years?"

"Positive, ma'am," the florist answered. "If it doesn't, bring it back."

Are you building castles in the air? That's just the thing to do; Foundations deep and broad they need, Then build with purpose, thought and deed, And make your dreams come true.

GLEANINGS FROM WEEK'S EVENTS AT TRAINING SCHOOL

Cumberland County Institute is being held in Carlisle this week. Miss Huber, Miss Snively, Miss Harris, and Miss Kieffer have attended every day, going back and forth from Carlisle morning and evening.

Prof. Harley took charge of the School Efficiency classes this week. On Wednesday he spoke on three topics, "Should Teachers Teach in Their Home Communities," "To What Extent Should the Teacher Be a Leader in the Community" and "The Teacher's Attitude toward the Peculiar Beliefs of the People in a Community." On Thursday he spoke on "Applying for a Position."

The children of the Training School received their reports for the first half of the semester, Wednesday.

RAYMOND CROMER LEADS Y. M. C. A. MEETING DEC. 2
 Raymond Cromer '25 led the Y. M. C. A. meeting Dec. 2. "Does my life contribute anything of worth to the life of the school?" was the question discussed by the leader. He based his talk upon the parable of the talents. The geniuses were compared to the servant who received five talents; the workers were compared to the servant who received the two talents; the loafers were compared to servants who received the one talent.
 Mr. Cromer said, "Let us look for a moment at our own school. Does the faculty make a school? Does the coach compose a football team? Do the officers make a literary society? By no means is this true. We are all cogs in the wheel of the same machine. If one of us becomes weak and ceases to do his part, it subtracts from the efficiency of the machine."
 In conclusion Mr. Cromer asked, "Do we work for personal gain or for the gain of all? Charles Gentzler '24 stressed the importance of working for the gain of all. Clair Smith '24 led the meeting in prayer.

FACULTY CLUB HOLDS DISCUSSION ON SHORT STORY
 The regular monthly meeting of the Faculty Club was held Tuesday evening at 7:30 at the home of Dr. Lehman. A discussion of the short story was arranged for the evening's entertainment. Dr. Lehman read three stories and led in the discussion. The stories dealt with three different sections of the country and people: the cow-boy, the gypsy and the mountaineer. The stories were, "Innocence" by Rose Wilder Lane, "Gold Mounted Guns," F. R. Buckley, "The Death of Murdo," Konrad Berecovic.
 Prof. Brunner played two violin numbers. Miss Bauch was in charge of the refreshment committee and was assisted by Mrs. Stewart, Miss Shambaugh and Prof. Krebs. Ice-cream, cake, coffee and nuts were served to twenty-two persons.

ALUMNI STAGE SURPRISE AT PHILO FRIDAY EVENING
 Philo's program on Friday evening was certainly a mingling of the old and the new for not only did the new members take a prominent part in the program, a group of alumni also joined in the entertainment by giving, in pantomime, a scene from Lochinvar by Sir Walter Scott. The fact that Sir Walter would scarcely have recognized his work due to the fantastic costumes and properties used by the actors did not detract from the audience's appreciation. Eleanor Heiges '23 read an extract from the poem and the Alumni with Mary Hoover '23 and Mildred Kapp '23 taking the leading role, supplemented by other members of the class of '23 and some from '22, suited actions to the words.
 "The Silly Ass" the play of the month was produced at the meeting with Wallis McKendree '25 as chairman. The cast included John Harris '25 as the sporty father who receives a severe shock; Sarah Rider '24, the homeloving mother who provided the shock; Mildred Barkdoll '25 the would-be flapper who learns a lesson and Marion Emerick '25 the lovely grandmother who wouldn't grow old.
 The comedy told the story of a mother who, driven to desperation by the lack of interest in home life on the part of her husband and daughter and hurt by their intense desire for things of a lower type than was the usual standard of the home, took matters into her own hands and gave both of her loved ones such an overdose of their own medicine that they were only too glad to find themselves sitting quietly around the fire at the close of the play, doing nothing more exciting than listening to father read a story from a magazine.
 The spirit of Thanksgiving Day was observed in a reading on the first Thanksgiving Day by Nellie Duncan '26 and an essay on Thanksgiving by Ruth Cless '25.
 A selection by the Glee Club and a violin solo, "At Dawning" by Carman, played by Esther Kapp '25, composed the musical part of the program.
 The important event of the business meeting was the election of officers. The following officers were elected: Pres.—Roy Funk.
 V. Pres.—Ernest Kennedy '25.
 Sec'y.—Ethel Warfel '24.
 Critic—Genevieve Mitchell '25.
 Curators—John Baker '25, Blanche Boyer '24 and Mildred Shirk '24.

STUDENTS REAL MERITS NOT MEASURED BY POPULARITY
 "Some strive for popularity; others apparently are popular without effort. Deep down in the heart of every human being there is a desire to like and be liked. With some the desire is so strong that they waste the greater part of their lives in an effort to foster a friendly relation with anyone and everyone who will pay any attention to them at all. In school the student who has made himself popular is so busy being popular that he has to neglect his studies in order to give his friends the time they demand. So it is with the instructor. He constantly courts friendship. His teaching suffers. He becomes uneasy, loses his grip and, ultimately, the respect of his students. With the departure of respect goes popularity. The wise man endeavors to win the respect of his fellows rather than popularity. If a man shows himself to be four-square, fights clean, and minds his own business, he will have the genuine respect and liking of his fellows, for the measure of the worth of a man is not popularity, but achievement. This editorial from the "Temple weekly," bears out the truth about numerous students who have failed in their school work because they have striven for popularity.

LOUISIANA COLLEGE PLANS NEW CHAPEL SERVICES
 Louisiana College in Alexandria has a new plan for chapel that has proved to be most interesting. Each faculty member is given an opportunity to bring a message before the students and Saturday mornings different organizations have charge. It is interesting to note how the schools and colleges try to make the chapel exercises attractive.
 The truth about yourself is the hardest dose you have to swallow.

JUNIORS MAKE DECISION ON CLASS RINGS AND PINS
 The Juniors at the class meeting held Tuesday after chapel decided to accept the report of the committee on class rings. The proposed rings and pins were accepted and the order will be sent off before vacation if possible.
 Happiness is a rare cosmetic.

THANKSGIVING HOP IS END OF HOLIDAY FESTIVITIES
 Thanksgiving festivities were completed at C. V. S. N. S. with the annual dance in the gymnasium, held this year on Saturday evening from seven to ten.
 A large number of guests were present and many familiar faces of "old grads" were seen. According to the opinion of many of the people at the C. V. S. N. S. is a good place to give thanks. While the six-piece orchestra from Chambersburg, engaged for the occasion, played fox-trot and waltzes, joy seemed to be unconfined on the dance floor. Smiles were prevalent and feet kept merry time to the music.
 Miss Clever, who was in charge of the decorations, changed the appearance of the bare walls of the gymnasium with crepe paper and green vines. Turkeys looked down upon the festive crowd, who glided over the floor below.
 For those who did not care to dance a series of interesting games had been prepared in the court of the girl's dormitory.
 The faculty committee who was in charge of the Thanksgiving dance were: Prof. T. J. Pennington, chairman, Prof. J. S. Grove, Prof. B. Ingalls, Miss Ruth Cunningham, Miss Mary Snively, Miss Maude Geedy and Miss Dorothy Clever.

On November 23 Charles Shearer of Newport and Helen Black of the vicinity of Millerstown, secretly hid away to Hagerstown, Maryland, where they were married.

Mr. Shearer is manager of the Fry-Kell furniture store at Millerstown. The bride is a member of last year's rural group. She has been teaching in a rural school near Millerstown.

Bess Bay, a member of the class of '22, spent the holiday season at the school. She teaches the first grade at McAlisterville.

Other guests at the school representing the class of 1922 were: Leona Miller, Cleo Conner, Wimbirt Neely, Evelyn Ickes and Katherine Barnhart.

Mildred Kapp '23 is teaching the first grades at Enola, Pa. She visited at the school over Thanksgiving.

Mary Hoover, a member of the class of 1923 spent the Thanksgiving season at Normal. Miss Hoover teaches in the Shimmell Building at Harrisburg.

Harvey A. Warfel '23 is principal of the schools at Claridge, Pa. He was among the Thanksgiving visitors.

Frank McDermitt also a member of 1923 came back to C. V. S. N. S. for the Thanksgiving festivities. He teaches in the high school at Roaring Springs.

Ruth Snyder and Sophia Curry both of '23 were guests at their Alma Mater over the Thanksgiving season. Miss Snyder teaches seventh grade at Morrisville, Pa., and Miss Curry has charge of the fourth grade at West Fairview, Pa.

The class of '23 was also represented at the school during the past week by Grace McKee, Martha Wahrman, Mildred Wynn, Mary Etta Houck, Thelma McBryde, Catharine Heefner, Hazel McCartney, Olive Russ, Mary Good, Eleanor Heiges, Rodger Jones, Frank Thornton, "Boz" Grba, Andrew Sterner, Paul Shull and Ralph Orner.

Miss Horton, Dr. Heiges and Dr. Lehman attended the annual Alumni Banquet of York County on Wednesday night of last week. The banquet was held at Ralph's Restaurant, in York. There were seventy-two members of the alumni in attendance.

S. M. Stouffer, superintendent of schools in Hanover, was toast master. Dr. Lehman gave to the alumni the greetings of the school. Besides the speeches of the three representatives of the school talks were made by Dr. A. B. Anthony '13, Harrison Arnold '11, W. G. Fisher '02 and John W. Baish, '19.

downs that were made, one in the Massanutten Academy game and one in the Dickinson contest. "Sammy" Angle, also a shining light from the local high school team of '22, played at both quarter and end position. Angle was a valuable open field runner and showed up well in receiving and intercepting forward passes. Although at quarter in the opening game Coach Ingalls shifted him to the left wing where he did his best work. "Cliff" Smith a left end veteran, was sent to the backfield in mid season and was making a good showing until he met with an accident in the West Chester game. Geedy was the only triple-threat man of which the Red and Blue team could boast. He deserves honorable mention for his work at quarter and his ability as a punter, was not surpassed by any of the opposing teams. "Geedy's" sickness and absence from the first three important games was a keen loss to the team. Paul Smith, Eby, Meredith and Fossleman were valuable utility men and completed the season with good records: Eddie Harbaugh, Martin and Bailey also contributed to the work of the first squad.

Coach Ingalls is to be commended for his splendid work in developing a clean sportsmanlike team. Even though the games lost outnumbered those won, the season was far from being a failure because the team fought a good fight in every game and took defeat like men which goes to make a successful season in sports.

MORE BOYS THAN GIRLS READ NEWS PAPERS

interests of the boys seem to lie in the general news section and in the sports section. Seventy-nine per cent of the boys read the general news items and forty-four and seven tenths per cent read the sports section.
