

W. A. A. Celebrates Tenth Anniversary During Next Week

Awards Will Be Made
At Friday's Banquet

ALL WEEK PROGRAM

Extensive and elaborate plans have been made by the W. A. A. for the celebration of its tenth anniversary throughout next week.

The program will open Tuesday with a twenty-one gun salute followed by a maypole dance, symbolic of the oldest form of athletic training—that of the Greeks. Miss Kruszka, president of the organization, will preside over the ceremonies.

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday will be set aside for track and field events, archery, and all the other spring sports.

Friday evening the entire organization will banquet in Haven Hall. Awards to outstanding athletes and teams will be presented at that time. A cake from which more than 150 persons will be served, has been ordered for the dinner.

Miss Ruttle has arranged to have motion pictures of the week's activities taken. These will be developed, sealed and placed in the vault for a showing ten years hence.

Sixteen Boys Are Awarded Sweaters At Athletic Banquet

Gold Emblems are Awarded
To Graduating Lettermen

FACULTY MEMBERS SPEAK

Sixteen men were rewarded for their athletic services at the annual athletic banquet in Haven Hall Friday evening.

Sweaters and letters were given to all the football and basketball lettermen and gold footballs and basketballs were given to graduating lettermen. Case, Reichel and Pfeiffer were awarded gold basketballs while Demiankow, Witalis and Case were awarded gold footballs.

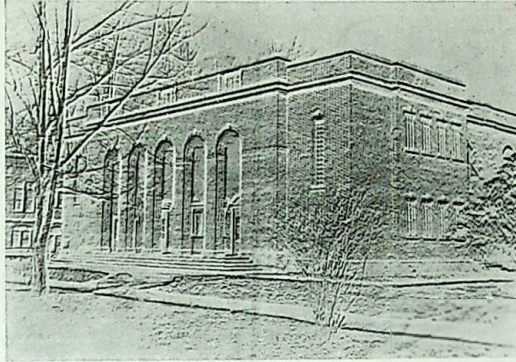

Anthony Cutri was toastmaster at the affair and presented Dr. Ross, "Sox" Harrison, Mr. McNees, Mr. Mallory and Dr. Crawford to the group.

The affair was to promote organization for the coming year as well as to present the awards.

Those who received sweaters and letters were Abrams, Arkwright, Bleech, Beemis, Case, Cutri, N. Demiankow, Kusner, Lytle, Pfeiffer, D. Smith, M. Smith, Soscia, Volitich, Wolfe and Witalis.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB PRODUCT

This unusual bas-relief picture of the new auditorium was made by the photography club.

From the original negative a positive film was made. The two films were placed together, one slightly off-center, giving the above effect in the finished print. The club is under the supervision of Miss Justina Baron and has made this its busiest and most successful year.

Custom Court Makes Plans for Freshmen

New Rules Are Set for Next Year's Freshman Class

Rules and regulations for next year's freshman class are tentatively set up by the newly appointed customs court of which Robert Olsen is chairman.

PHI SIGMA PI ELECTS OFFICERS FOR NEXT YEAR

James Brown is President

With the election of James D. Brown, a member of this year's Sophomore Class, to the Presidency, the members of Phi Sigma Pi chose next year's officers at a recent meeting in Reeder Hall club rooms.

Assisting officers chosen were: secretary, Walter Nissen; assistant secretary, Harold Bon; treasurer, Donald Smith; historian, David Graves; Sergeant at Arms, Frank Soscia. James G. Wood, this year's president, automatically became vice-president of the organization.

The officers will be installed at the dinner-dance of the fraternity at the Masonic Temple in Erie on May 13. President Wood will preside at the installation.

Kappa Delta Spring Dance Is This Evening

New Officers for Next
Year to be Announced

This evening, the Kappa Delta Phi fraternity will give its annual spring formal at the Culbertson Hills Country Club with Gayle Brown's orchestra furnishing the music.

This year's dance is an anniversary occasion for Theta Chapter, for it was one year ago that this chapter, formerly Beta Xi, joined the ranks of the national fraternity. Many alumni members are expected to return for this evening's dance.

Of special interest in this evening's program will be the announcement of next year's officers who were elected at this week's meeting of the group.

SIXTH MOTHER'S DAY CELEBRATED BY ALPHA DELTA

The Alpha Delta Sorority is celebrating its sixth annual "Mother-Patroness' Day, May 7.

Mothers of not only the active sorority members, but also the mothers of the alumni will be here on this day.

The mothers will be given a warm welcome and entertained at breakfast and dinner. Then after a tea, which is given in the afternoon, each mother will be presented to the sorority.

Students Will Speak at Noonday Luncheon Program

PLAY WILL BE GIVEN

Seniors from many high schools in this area are being entertained on the campus today by a full morning and afternoon program, planned and executed by the Student-Faculty Co-operative Council.

Angelo Casella, chairman of the council, has charge of all arrangements and will be toastmaster at the noon-day luncheon. Among the speakers will be Dr. Ross, with a greeting to the guests, and Alice Kruszka and Joe Zahniser, each telling of the activities for men and women at Edinboro.

TODAY'S PROGRAM

- 8:30- 9:00 Registration in Loveland Hall
- 9:00-12:00 Visitation of classes and exhibits
- 12:15- 1:15 Luncheon in Haven Hall
- 1:15 1:45 Social hour in Haven parlors
- 1:45- 2:30 Tour of buildings and grounds
- 2:30 Play—Auditorium

Of great interest to the high school seniors will be the special exhibits of jewelry, chemistry, geography, pottery, biology, design, painting, and recording.

A short play, "A Doctor in Spite of Himself", will be presented by the Edinboro Players at 2:30.

Registration and inspection tours will be conducted by students who have volunteered their services to the student council.

The day's program will begin with registration at 8:30 and will close with the play in the auditorium at 2:30.

SENIORS WILL SPONSOR LAST ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

The assembly program next Wednesday will be sponsored by the members of the senior class and is being planned by LorRita Kramer and John Swift.

The class expects to present a humorous and entertaining program depicting the life of a college student. A variety of numbers will be presented by members of the class.

Moving-up day will also be part of the day's program.

STUDENTS GET TOO LITTLE FROM THEIR INSTRUCTORS

By W. A. Wheatley

At Edinboro in nearly all classes there is the opportunity for a give and take discussion of the current assignments of the various courses. Also, let us assume that the atmosphere of the classrooms is informal and democratic and that the students feel free both to answer proffered questions and to discuss pro and con provocative topics. More, let us assume that the students and instructors expand and enrich the courses considerably beyond the confines of the basic texts and selected references; still, if this is practically all there is of our college life, it is too instructional and too detached from the real lives of the students, their driving interests, their human attitudes, their aspirations.

You will say that students are daily mingling with others in the dormitories or in local homes. They are performing the duties of N. Y. A. or State jobs. They are attending recitals and lectures given by talented artists. They take part in athletics, musical and dramatic activities and other extracurricular functions. They participate in dances and other social gatherings, and here and there pairs of young men and young women are becoming further polished by passing much of their spare time in the presence of greatly admired members of the other sex. All of the foregoing is highly educational.

Instructors Can Aid the Students

The big point I wish to make is that our instructors are giving far too little of themselves to their students except in a scholastic, narrowly instructional sense. They have had superior advantages, they have had broader, richer experiences, they know the world, its limitations and its opportunities, so much better. They can contribute so much to the lives of the students outside and beyond the courses they teach and the extracurricular activities they sponsor. The students need these vital contributions from the faculty as much as they need the instructional help.

We speak of our college as our alma mater, our fostering mother. While we in college are adults we still need the home influence. One advantage of a small college is that it can be made to approach more closely a fostering, stimulating home. Its students need not be lost in the multitude; each can be a contributing member of a sort of home circle. The instructors, being few in number, should all be known rather intimately. Students should be made to feel very free to visit and talk over matters of interest outside of the instructional, not only with the deans and faculty sponsors but with any instructors to whom the students feel attracted.

In our better homes, other life topics than those of the father's occupation, the mother's home duties and the children's school work are discussed. So in college we should go broadly afield, away from immediate scholastic matters.

Our Faculty Have Many Interests

To mention a few of our faculty and their interests: we all know that Mr. Mallory is deeply interested not only in English and in fishing but also in athletics and dramas. Likewise, Dr. Crawford knows not only government, politics and economics, but very much about boxing and marksmanship. Miss Baron is well posted not only on books but also on photography, travel, and mother nature. All of our faculty members have their life interests other than instructional, which they will gladly discuss and share with their students.

I have a suggestion. Every Monday from 11:00 to 12:00 is "faculty office hour" when faculty members are scheduled to be in their classrooms or other designated places to meet students and help clear up any instructional difficulties. Why not change the "faculty office hour" to "faculty at home hour", when any topic of interest to instructor and student may be gone into? I know the instructors named in the foregoing paragraph would talk with students over fishing or boxing or photography, as the case might be, just as gladly and surely more intimately than they could talk over their courses. So with all the other instructors. Why not try it? Why not get from them many other contributions which they have that would benefit you as students? Let not cries of "apple shining" cheat you out of what is rightfully yours.

SENIORS PLAN FOR BANQUET

The annual banquet of the graduating class will be held at the Edinboro Country Club, Wednesday evening, May 17th.

The affair is an elaborate one, sponsored by the class itself in order to bring together all the members in celebrating the commencement season.

Fall Catalog is Published This Week

Photographs Make Quarterly An Unusually Attractive One

Ten pages of illustrations are the most attractive feature of the new 90-page Edinboro quarterly, which was received from the printer early this week.

The bulletin will be made available to the students and to anyone interested in Edinboro State Teachers College as a center of education.

On the covers is an attractive and detailed map of Edinboro's "new" campus which contains the new buildings, excavation and trees.

Most of the booklet is devoted to information concerning the courses and instruction at Edinboro, but the last few pages show pictorially leisure activities, library and house activities, athletic action, and new buildings in photos taken by Dominick Panani and by the photography club. Four pages of photos are devoted to the child study laboratory at Edinboro.

These catalogues will be mailed to any person, of whom the office knows, who is interested in Edinboro.

SOPHOMORES UPHOLD ANNUAL TREE PLANTING

On the beautiful lawn in front of the new auditorium the sophomore class planted and dedicated two trees last Wednesday in upholding the tradition they started last year.

The trees were flowering crab and were presented to the school by Norman Dille, president of the class, who covered the roots with the first shovel of earth. Mr. Heineman spoke on the accomplishments of the class and Miss Wilson led the assembled group in singing the Alma Mater.

Pat Hastings was master of ceremonies for the program and introduced Helen Davis who played a cornet solo, "Trees". Miss Hastings suggested that all the students place some earth around the plants thus taking part in the ceremony.

ALUMNUS SENDS PICTURE OF 1887 NORMAL FACULTY

Dr. E. F. Brubaker, of North East, a graduate of the class of '87, sent the Spectator a photograph of the Edinboro faculty of that year and a program of the commencement exercises, for "inspection and publication".

The commencement program of that year was an all day affair and included 10 musical selections, 11 speeches and a debate in addition to the conferring of degrees.

The picture and program, as well as Dr. Brubaker's letter, are in the glass bulletin board in Normal Hall, and the staff regrets that lack of space does not permit its publication in the Spectator.

Paul Pfeiffer is in charge of arrangements for the banquet.

Dramatic Club Play Is Given at Kent U.

Seven New Officers Are Elected by Edinboro Players

"A Doctor in Spite of Himself" by Moliere, which was produced on campus by the freshman and sophomore members of the Edinboro Players, has proved a very popular play. The cast traveled to Kent University at Kent, Ohio, last week-end where it presented the play before a convention of Alpha Psi Omega delegates from three states. It is also being shown for our high school guests today.

Officers for next year were elected at the last meeting of the club. The new officers are: President, Don Brown, vice president, Lee Jeffords; secretary, Marjory Martin; treasurer, Don Smith; stage director, Charles Lewis; wardrobe mistress, M. E. Dailey, and historian, Dan Kusner.

The Edinboro Players have adopted the new Constitution which was drawn up this semester.

MARJORY MARTIN ELECTED ScaRab CLUB PRESIDENT

The ScaRab Club closed a season of successful activity last Monday with the inauguration of the new officers for the coming year. Placed into office by the retiring president, Lawrence Hickman, were Marjory Martin, president, Raymond Mitcham, vice president, Betsy Vincent, secretary, and Louise Smith, treasurer. Following the formal business meeting came an entertaining social program in charge of Charlotte Weaver, Frances Bates, Eunice Rodgers, and Ardelle Huber.

Sketches

By Ray Gallagher

We wish to heartily congratulate Mr. Doucette on his recent election to the presidency of the Eastern Arts Association at its last meeting in New York. The organization's membership is composed of artists from the entire Atlantic Seaboard, and has a wide reputation.

The members of the junior class are going to work with considerable zest on their new "mural". Whether the subject matter of the composition (portraits of the Edinboro faculty) is anything to do with it or not we do not know.

In the midst of the Beaver County Art Exhibit and the college's own traveling exhibit, both hanging in Cleveland Hall, the Art Division of the northwest section of the P. S. E. met last Saturday. Art teachers and supervisors of art from the five surrounding counties attended the meeting which was presided over by George Deimel, president of the organization and a recent graduate of Edinboro.

The Freshman Media students, the "errors of the Canvas", are anxiously waiting for warm weather to try their hands at oil painting out of doors.

Mr. Doucette, at present, is attending a convention of the Western Arts Association in Grand Rapids, Michigan.

Don't miss the Delta Phi Delta Art Fraternity exhibit now in Haven Hall. Of interest to art students is the announcement to the effect that the Cleveland library has recently added a number of very excellent books to its shelves.

Seven Grid Games Scheduled for 1939

Schedules for the 1939-40 football and basketball seasons were brought to light last week by Coach Sox Harrison. With an almost identical schedule in both sports and a fairly successful season just past, much is expected of varsity competition next year.

Several attempts were made by Coach Harrison to schedule games with schools other than those booked in other seasons but all reported that their schedules were filled for the coming year. Included among those with whom contacts were made for basketball were Carnegie Tech, Thiel, Duquesne, W. & J., Case, Western Reserve, Niagara, Geneva, Allegheny and Grove City.

The basketball schedule is not yet complete as several more games will be added.

FIVE YEARS BACK

The Spectator files remind us these occasions:

December 1934—Dr. Ross was inaugurated as president of the college.

March 1935—The students established Cooperative Government at Edinboro. Helen Cunningham was elected first president.

September 1935—Application was made to WPA by Dr. Ross for a $550,000 building program. A new auditorium and training school were in the plans.

January 1936—The auditorium was redecorated.

March 1936—Ted Shawn and his men dancers appeared on the Entertainment Course.

April 1936—The seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of Edinboro was celebrated.

February 1937—Rockwell Kent lectured.

November 1937—Senator Gerald P. Nye appeared on the course.

February 1938—Ground was broken for the new $850,000 building program.

Playing to one of the largest crowds in Segertown's history, recently, "Chief" Hetra's well drilled squad came from behind to win an exciting game 45-42.

Delta Phi Delta Has Exhibit in Haven Hall

Six Sophomores Are Pledged To Delta Phi Delta Fraternity

Excellent art work of the Delta Phi Delta is now being shown in the fraternity's exhibit in Haven Hall. The members have worked for some time in preparing this show which will last until Saturday, May 13.

At the last meeting on the 27th of April, six sophomores were pledged to the Delta Phi Delta and formal initiation is to be held May 18th. Those pledged were Vega Insen, Charlotte Weaver, Frances Bates, Eunice Rodgers, Elaine Ghering and Sara Kratz.

May 18th also marks the date of the Founder's Day Banquet, an outstanding event on the group's calendar for the year.

tinguishing the freshmen from the rest of the students.

Those who will act on this board are John Wolfe, Helen Sylvander, Leah Crawford, Robert Olsen, Betsy Vincent and Bill Bohn.

On the first Monday of the next school year, September 18, the rules will go into effect and will be enforced till the middle of October.

In addition to those regulations printed in last year's handbook, the court has ruled that girls, as well as boys will wear dinks; theirs, however, being visorless. Another new rule is that upperclassmen in the dormitories are first in the showers and proceed the freshmen, who must draw up the chairs for their superiors, into the dining hall. The fresh must not only courteously greet the upperclassman but must step aside and wait till he passes, upon meeting.

Approximately twelve articles compose these regulations to which all freshmen must comply.

'Petticoat Fever' Will Be Senior Class Play

Popular Comedy Will Be Last Production of Year

"Petticoat Fever" is the play chosen by the seniors for their senior class play, which will be given Monday, May 22.

"A non-tropical farce," in three acts, the play will be the most humorous and entertaining production seen at Edinboro in several years. It was extremely popular as both a stage and screen production.

Miss Ludgate is directing the play. The cast includes Alice Kruszka, Keith Skelton, LorRita Kramer, Angelo Casello, Joe Zahniser, Henry Kirschner and several others not yet chosen.

John Swift is business manager, and is in charge of tickets and advertising.

QUESTIONS

1. How many buildings are there on Edinboro's campus?
2. How many acres of ground does the campus cover?
3. How many faculty members are there at Edinboro?
4. How many students stay in the dormitories at Edinboro?
5. How many persons will the new auditorium seat? New gym? Old auditorium?
6. How many persons are enrolled in Edinboro classes this semester?

Reeder's Digest

By Reed Stoops

Reeder is again physically fit. Bob Lytle and Ray Gallagher are back and in the midst of make-up work.

With the breezy entrance of Spring, the intra-mural mushball program is in full swing. Our own Reeder team boasts of many stars. Bill Bohn, who was recently scouted by two major league teams, is perhaps the most outstanding player. Nick Voltich has been pitching some fine games. Arkwright hasn't had an error on first—yet. Charley Eagen (DiMaggio) "never struck out in my life". Eugene Manley, his roommate and colleague, is Charley's trainer.

Ray Mitcham went home last week but returned for the prom. George Hetra, our third-floor postman, proved to be a capable jitterbug. But no one can approach Bob McKinney when it comes to "swingin'".

Tex has honors for the first to don full summer regalia. Wilder has that worried look—student teaching?

Our new track has been approved by our "Mom" Forness. 'Tis reported by the early risers that she does that quarter-mile in 8 minutes flat.

Wonder how Abe can stand living in Nissen's composing room?
