Quoting Lee Jeffords, former president of the Student Council, after the recent Junior Prom: "It was the best all-school dance sponsored by Edinboro State Teachers College since I have been in school." Lee is a senior who has seen many a dance on this campus. We agree with him in every way. The Junior Class and the Prom committee deserve every commendation.

The senior class of 1940 is doing something different in the way of a Senior Play as a part of its graduation exercises. Breaking precedent, yet retaining old forms, it will sponsor a senior play, but will not produce it. This unusual fact is being accomplished by having the Edinboro Players give the famous play, "Our Town", under the sponsorship of the seniors, but under the production of the Edinboro Players directed by Miss Jane Stearns Ludgate.

Seniors Break Precedent

The seniors voted to do this after carefully considering the problems of graduation week and the difficulties of producing the usual senior play. It seems to be a worthy move, too, from the angle that the major productions of the Edinboro Players have in the past conflicted with the senior production both in the nearness of times of presentation and in the selection of casts for each of the plays. The date of the production is May 24th, in Normal Hall auditorium.

About the campus with the editorial eye: Willing workers—Hickman, Hull (Wayne, '39), Dille, Benson, Meadway, Tomkon, Wester, this writer, assisted by Misses Ellen Graves and Laura Maxwell, who moved the piano into the training school for the Junior Prom... With Kappa Delta Phi winning 34-30, the Reeder Hall basketball gang nevertheless threw a scare into the hearts of the fraternal organization when it forced an overtime period in the recent playoffs in the intramural "B" league... Phi Sigma Pi, boasting high scorer, Ohio White, jr., romped through "A" league, undefeated and untied.

MISS PETTIT IS HOSTESS AT SENIOR BREAKFAST

Miss Sarah Pettit, dietician, was hostess to the waiters and kitchen helpers at a Senior Breakfast held in her apartment at 10:00 a. m. last Sunday.

Attending were Charles Lewis, John Tomkon, Lonel Watters, and Richard Peterson who partook of chicken and waffles.

Kappa Delta Phi Has Spring Formal Dance At Culbertson Hills

Mac Moore to Play For Event of May 4th

TO ANNOUNCE OFFICERS

Climaxing a year of successful activities, the Kappa Delta Phi—a social, professional fraternity, will hold its annual Spring Formal on May 4 at the Culbertson Hills Country Club.

A popular band, Mac Moore and his orchestra, will furnish music for the affair, which promises to be the fraternity's biggest event of the year.

President Fred Casoli has announced that final plans have been made and all necessary details taken care of. Invitations to alumni members of the fraternity have been sent out.

A large number of reservations have already been received. This is particularly gratifying in view of the fact that the fraternity has laid particular stress this year to bringing together a large body of the alumni members of the fraternity.

A treat will be given when the officers for the forthcoming year will be announced. The present officers are: President, Fred Casoli; vice president, William Snyder; secretary Charles Egan; treasurer, Bob Lytle. They have done a splendid job of developing the fraternity to its present high plane.

Month Of May Brings 1940 Conneauttean

Book Honors Seniors; Has Splendid Features

By Charlotte Weaver

Sometime during May the Conneauttean will appear on the college campus. Rest assured that the staff is looking forward to the day with just as much eagerness as the remainder of the student body.

Let us give you a few "tips" as to what you may expect when finally your copy of the 1940 Conneauttean is in your hands. The cover will be dark in contrast to the striking white and red cover of last year. The Senior Section will be featured since the yearbook is published in their honor. Other classes will receive their share of glory, too.

When it comes to the features, you may be sure our staff writers, cartoonists, and candid camera fiends have done themselves proud to give you the interesting features in the 1940 edition.

THE SPECTATOR SPONSORS THIRD PERSONALITY CONTEST

Classmates To Determine Popular Choices From Men And Women Of Entire Student Body

High School Guests Are Entertained May 11

Entire Day's Program Is Planned By Students

COUNCIL HEADS EVENT

High School Guest Day, an annual event when the college plays host to several hundred seniors from the high schools of the immediate vicinity, is an event of May 11th, according to an announcement by Daniel J. Kusner, president of the Student Council and general chairman in charge of the day's activities.

Several hundred invitations have been sent out and plans are well under way to entertain the visiting graduates with an entire day's activities. Tentative plans call for the visitation of classes in the morning, luncheon at noon in Haven Hall dining room, and social and recreational activities in the afternoon.

Royce R. Mallory, instructor of English, is chairman of a faculty committee composed of Miss Nelle G. Hudson, Miss Nettie Mai Ruttle, Miss Evelyn Bergstrom, advising members of the Student Council which is working as a committee-of-the-whole in planning the event.

Phi Sigma Pi Men Serenade Haven Hall

Christensen Leads Dignified Song Fest

With all the dignity of old time serenades when Miller, Schweller and Hetra, of the grads, used to lead the songs, Phi Sigma Pi serenaded the ladies of Haven Hall on last Monday evening.

Thirty members strong, the fraternity went through a program of six numbers with Roy Christensen leading. Present at the song fest were: Jeffords, Ulrich, Christensen, Madigan, Seltzer, Shimko, Anna, Harrison, Billings, Pieffer, Skelton, Dunfee, Graves, Norder, Damits, Dille, Hickman, Norris, Wester, Gall, Lewis, Cavanaugh, Lipchik, Sunda, Abrams, Manning, Nissen, Benson, Bon and Brown.

Spectator First Broke Precedent by Advancing Contest Three Years Ago

BALLOT ON PAGE FOUR

The third annual Personality Contest, which collectively considers the opinions of the student body in determining just who, in the eyes of their classmates, is most popular, best-looking, best-educated, best athlete, and most humorous each year, is sponsored with this issue by the Spectator, which initiated this collecting and tabulating of individual opinions for the first time on the Edinboro campus back in April, 1938.

Breaking all precedent and all past happenings in that year, the Spectator dared to advance so controversial a subject for the consideration of the student body. Quote from

Alpha Delta Spring Dance Is Saturday In Old Gymnasium

Helen Sylvander Has Charge of Arrangements

GEORGE WEBER PLAYS

Held annually in honor of the new members, the Alpha Delta Spring Dance is scheduled for April 27, this Saturday, in the old gymnasium with George Weber's orchestra from Erie providing the music.

Thousands of pink and white flowers will be massed in a ceiling over the floor creating a lovely setting for this climaxing event of the Alpha Delta social calendar. At the intermission the new members will follow the custom set in previous years and present a floor show. Immediately after the dance the girls and their guests will breakfast in the Haven Hall dining room.

Helen Sylvander is in complete charge of arrangements. Working with her are the following committees: decorations, Ellen Haiston and Frances Skelton; programs, Ardelle Huber; breakfast, chairman, Kathleen McCray, Jean Carlson and Frances Bates; floor show, chairman, Jean Baldwin, Ann Ostermaier and Pat Masterson.

SUCCESS OF HIGH SCHOOL GUEST DAY DEPENDS UPON EFFORT OF ALL STUDENTS

High School Guest Day, an annual college event at which several hundred high school seniors or graduates are the guests of Edinboro State Teachers College, will take place on Saturday, May 11th. With the Student Council acting as a committee-of-the-whole, arrangements are being made to entertain the invited visitors by an entire day's program on the campus.

The carrying out of this program, which involves the work and united effort of a large number of persons, is essentially a student activity. The student members of the council, advised by several faculty members, take the lead in organizing and directing the day's activity. Other students aid these leaders in providing a worthwhile program and in making these many visitors acquainted with Edinboro in the short time that they spend on the campus. All efforts on high school guest day are directed toward securing for our guests a most enjoyable and worthwhile experience.

Yet, complete success of this day does not depend nearly so much on the persons actually in charge as it does on the student body as a whole. Many things that contribute much to the worthy fulfillment of such a program cannot be delegated to single persons or to small groups of persons. Friendliness which goes far in making strangers feel at home, is a quality that comes from all Edinboro students. So too, the atmosphere of a well-oiled machine, all parts of which are working together to achieve some common goal, arises not from the single part, but from the entire group. Lastly, a sincere belief in themselves, coupled with a desire to enhance the excellence of their college, comes not from singular effort, but from united effort on the parts of many students. The Edinboro student body, in collectively accomplishing these aims—achieved many times in the past, is the factor that makes High School Guest Day a success.

SPECTATOR SPONORS PERSONALITY CONTEST AMONG ALL STUDENTS

the April 9th issue, 1938: "However, students, irregardless of the large number of fair hearts and inflated egos that are likely to fall by the wayside as a result of this contest, the Spectator believes that, after all, truth—rather than heresy—is desired.

"Too, the Spectator is the Voice of Student Opinion at Edinboro and is only carrying out this function in collecting and tabulating individual opinions that although certainly present and many times expressed, have never been collectively considered before."

This year the Spectator is continuing that policy. On page four is a Personality Contest blank for your convenience in voting. The Spectator urges you to think seriously about your choices of men and women who, in your opinion, are the best possible nominees for the positions listed in the ten blanks on the ballot. The completed ballot should be deposited in a box provided for that purpose in Normal Hall lower front hall.

In going back into the ancient history of the results of that first personality contest as announced by the May 7, 1938, issue of the Spectator, the fact comes to light that only one person is now on campus who won a position on the ballot then and may be considered again this year. That student, then a Sophomore—now a Senior, is Richard Peterson, who took the lead in the most humorous among the men of the college.

The most popular in that first contest, Martin Schweller and Marjorie Welsh; the best looking, Frances Creacraft and Wilder Michael; the best educated, Lois Korb and James Smith; the best athletes, Alice Kruszka and John Wolfe, the most humorous woman, Virginia Rhodaberger, have all graduated.

However, fill out the ballot contained on page four, deposit it in the box in Normal Hall, and await the next issue of the Spectator on May 8, for the tabulation of results.

Y. W. C. A. Elects Officers For New Year; McCray Is President

Will Attend Slippery Rock Meet April 26, 27

The Young Women's Christian Association, finishing a most successful year under the leadership of Miss Ethel Thompson and the advisorship of Miss Jane S. Ludgate, held its election of officers for the coming year at its regular meeting April 18.

Miss Kathleen McCray was chosen president for the 1940-1941 organization along with the following cabinet: vice-president and social chairman, Ernesteen Pardee; secretary-treasurer, Alice Jane Carnien; advertising chairman, Verna Hills; program chairman, Donna Bertram; devotional chairman, Olga Hubiak; reporter, Ruth Wagenknecht; pianist, Maxine Herman.

The "Y" gave a soup luncheon for the rural school children during the Music Festival and the enterprise proved to be so successful that it made it possible for the "Y" to carry out its plans to send the new cabinet to the Cabinet Training Conference at Slippery Rock, April 27 and 28.

Alpha Psi Omega Will Send Meet Delegates

Tri-State Convention Is Held at Clarion

Several members of Gamma Cast of Alpha Psi Omega, honorary national dramatic fraternity, and of Edinboro Players will attend the Tri-State Regional Convention at Clarion State Teachers College on April 26.

Edinboro delegates had not been chosen as yet. The 1940 convention of Alpha Psi Omega will be attended by delegates from Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia. Representatives of four of Pennsylvania's state teachers colleges will attend along with Edinboro.

Each cast from these organizations will make an exhibit representative of the work done in dramatics during the past year. The program includes a business meeting, speeches based on the various fields of dramatics, such as acting, scenery, lighting, make-up, directing and others. A dance will follow a banquet in the evening.

Y. M. C. A. ELECTS NEXT YEAR'S OFFICERS

In order that the new officers might attend a leadership training conference at Slippery Rock April 27 and 28, the college Y. M. C. A. held a special meeting Thursday evening in the Reeder Hall Y rooms to elect the following officers: Harold Powers, president; William Pieffer, vice-president; Earle Madigan, secretary-treasurer.

Lonel Watters, Shirley Swift Reign Over Prom

Seventy-five Couples Attend Grand Success

LEAD RECEPTION LINE

With Lonel Watters and Shirley Swift reigning as King and Queen of the Prom, the Junior Prom, an event of last Saturday evening in the auditorium-gymnasium of the new training school used for the first time for a college social function, was a huge success, according to reports current on campus.

Over seventy-five couples danced to the music of Benny Jones and his orchestra, which occupied the softly-lighted stage and supplied just about the best music, it is said, that was ever heard or danced to at Edinboro. Decorated with the most beautiful of flowers, the ballroom was dimly lighted with occasional spot lights of varied colors.

At intermission Norman E. Dilley, president of the Junior class, announced the king and queen who had been elected months before by the entire student body. Lonel Watters, a leader of campus activities since his freshman year, was fittingly crowned the King of the Prom by Mr. Dilley. Shirley Swift, popular senior art student, received a crowning wreath of flowers from Laura Maxwell.

The King and Queen then led a reception line with the following chaperones receiving the guests of the Prom: Mr. and Mrs. Orville Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Waldo F. Bates, Jr., Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Christensen, Dr. Carmon Ross, president of the college, and Miss Evelyn Bergstrom, dean of women.

Double Quartet Sings At Alumni Banquet

Read Normal School Rules at Annual Dinner

Harking back to the days of frock coats, top hats, bonnets and hoop skirts, last Tuesday evening, April 1, the double quartet presented a "Cavalcade of the Decades", a musical dramatization of periods of song before the banquet of the Erie Chapter of the Edinboro Alumni Association.

Included in the program were the songs "Daisy Bell" and "After the Ball" for the period of 1860; "Blue Bell" and "I Don't Want to Play in Your Yard" for 1900, and "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" and "Missouri Waltz" of the 1918 period.

Preceding each section of the program, William Bannister read excerpts from the rules of the Institution when it was a Normal School.

The personnel of the quartet included Jean Carlson, Marian Duff, Marjorie Martin, Nancy Seay, Stuart Ackelson, Raymond Graves, Robert McKinney and William Snyder.

Phi Sigma Pi Takes First Intramural Basketball Tourney

Lead "A" League; Kappa Delta Phi Wins "B" League Fihst Place

WHITE LEADS SCORING

After several weeks of hot league action, the Phi Sigma Pi and Kappa Delta Phi fraternities captured the coveted first place positions in the "A" and "B" leagues of the Intramural Basketball Tournament, sponsored by Orville Bailey and "Sox" Harrison.

Competition in the "A" league, composed of the supposedly more experienced basketball players, proved to be a rout, with the Phi Sigma Pi team going through the season undefeated. Though Phi Sigma Pi was never threatened in any game, the Kappa Delta Phi team and the Intercollegians were much better than their records indicated. Neither team could match the fast action and fine team work shown by the "A" champions.

In the "B" league, competition was much keener, with the Kappa Delta Phi team nosing out Reeder Hall in an overtime playoff, 34-30. Kappa Delta Phi showed their heels to all the "B" teams until the final league game, when they lost to Reeder Hall, and made the playoff necessary. Loose ball handling and poor teamwork marked the downfall of the other teams. Following is the standing of the teams of both leagues:

"A" League
Team	Won	Lost	Percent.
Phi Sigma Pi	4	0	1000
Kappa Delta Phi	1	3	250
Intercollegians	1	3	250

"B" League
Team	Won	Lost	Percent.
Kappa Delta Phi	4	1	800
Reeder Hall	3	2	600
Freshman O. C.	1	3	250
Phi Sigma Pi	1	3	250
Spectator	0	2	000

Otis White, of Phi Sigma Pi "A", captured the high scoring honors of both leagues, and was never approached during the tournament. This Linesville lad fascinated the few spectators with his deadly accuracy under the basket.

The nearest approach to White's 56 points was the 44 markers garnered by William Capretto, the star of the Freshman Off-Campus F.ve. Bill scored nearly half of his team's points.

ScaRab Notes

By Edward Damits

Attention, art students! What does the ScaRab Club mean to you? To some of you, who turn out for every meeting, it is a club well worth the time put in at the meetings. But those who have something better to do every second and third Monday at 11 a. m.—What could the ScaRab Club mean to you?

Was Outstanding Club

The ScaRab Club once was the most outstanding club on campus. The initiation ceremony was elaborate, colorful and so secretive about the needs of all the art students. It as to appeal to everyone, whether he were an art student or not. The ScaRab Ball was the biggest social event of the year, similar to the annual Beaux Arts balls held at many large colleges.

The value of the ScaRab Club lies in its use to the art student. We have had evenings of drawing from models, talks on every subject of interest to any art student, and moving pictures on sculpture and puppetry. All these things can be used later on when the student has become a teacher. But somehow, the number of art students who attend is always small. Perhaps they fail to realize the value of these aids to their vocation and say they do not care to attend because these talks and movies are too few.

Must Have Support

It is necessary to point out that the ScaRab Club cannot be a success without support; and unless it is a success, there cannot be as much real help to be had from it as there could be under more favorable conditions.

The ScaRab Club can be a busy, well-rounded organization catering to the needs of all the art students. There might be more talent developed and more painting and sketching done outside of classes if there were an art show every spring and fall sponsored by the ScaRab Club. Many art students would enjoy going to the International Exhibition held in the Carnegie Galleries in Pittsburgh every winter. Some fortunate people living in Pittsburgh, or those who live near enough to make the trip go every year—but what about the

Seniors Will Present Popular "Our Town" On Friday, May 24

Cast Is Chosen From Edinboro Players; Miss Ludgate Directs

HAS NO SCENERY

By Mary Esther Dailey

"Our Town," a three-act play written by Thornton Wilder, will be given on May 24 in the college auditorium, under the sponsorship of the senior class and will include the entire dramatic club in its cast with Miss Jane Ludgate directing.

This is a charming play, well written, and portraying typically the fundamental life of you and I and everyone—birth, marriage and death. The scene is laid in a small New England town somewhat like Edinboro and the people in the play might be our neighbors.

You will laugh at Mrs. Gibbs and Mrs. Webb as they talk over their family troubles. You will remember your own youth when you see George and Emily coming home from school—and the stage manager will be there to supplement your memories.

Another interesting feature in the production of "Our Town" is that

Summer Birthdays Celebrated Thursday

The Summer Birthday Party for the dormitory students will be held in Haven Hall dining room at 6:15 p. m. tomorrow evening. Students whose birthdays fall in the months of June, July and August will celebrate the occasion with a special meal prepared by the college dietitian, Miss Sarah Pettit. An informal program of after-dinner speeches and games will follow the dinner. This is the fourth of the birthday parties to be held this year.

other 80%? If you are in that group—would you like to go?

If there are any other things you want to learn to do, or things that would help you in your field, you could get them by supporting the ScaRab Club. A little enthusiasm goes a long way.

Perry Wood Captures Intramural Swim Meet

Takes Three Firsts In Last Saturday's Meet

Perry Wood, Freshman swim star, scored twenty-one points in five events in the intramural swimming meet of last Saturday to take first place with a total score greater than that of the combined scores of his three nearest rivals.

Winning the 20, 40, and the 100 yard freestyle events, Wood took second in the 40 yard backstroke and the 40 yard breaststroke. Robert Hahn, his nearest competitor, scored thirteen points, taking two firsts and a second.

Summary follows:

20 yard freestyle: first, Wood; second, Norris; third, Scalise. Time :11.5.

40 yard backstroke: first, Hahn; second, Wood. Time —:35.0.

40 yard freestyle: first, Wood, second, Scalise; third, H. Stoops. Time —:31.0.

Diving: first Gesin; second, H. Stoops.

40 yard breaststroke: first, Hahn; second, Wood. Time—:33.0.

100 yard freestyle: first, Wood; second, Hahn. Time—1:36.75.

Lettermen Chose All-Star Court Team

White, Lipchik and Mead Are Unanimous

No tournament would be complete without its ALL-STAR TEAM, thus five of the varsity lettermen chose those players who they thought were outstanding, and these players are considered the best. Varsity men who chose the STARS were: Frank Soscia, Fred Casoli, Bill Bohn, Nick Volitich and Steve Crunick.

So close were the choices that several players received the same number of votes, but only White, Lipchik and Mead were unanimous. Fifteen of the "B" players received at least one vote.

Those who received the highest number of votes in the "A" league were: White (5), Lipchik (5), Meadway (4), Blasedell (3), Rhode (3), and Calabrese (3).

Outstanding among the "B" players were: Mead (5), R. Stoops (3), Meadway (4), Blasedell (3), Rhode (2), and Capretto (2).

a very bare minimum of scenery is used, and there will be no properties. All of the scenery and property action will be pantomimed.

In prominent roles you will see Betty Klaphor, Kathleen McCray, Elaine Ghering, Marjorie Martin, Mary Esther Dailey, Robert Ulrich, Roy Christensen, Martin Shimko and Lee Jeffords.

Robert McKinney and Marjorie Martin will assist Miss Ludgate in the direction of the pantomime.
