57 TO RECEIVE DEGREES AT COMMENCEMENT, MAY 27

ALUMNI DAY, MAY 24, FEATURES LUNCHEON, RECEPTION AND REUNION

Today Is Reservation Deadline

Plans for Alumni Day at Edinboro, Saturday, May 24, include a luncheon in the college dining room, a reception in the afternoon at the home of Dr. L. H. Van Houten, and a number of reunion dinners in the evening.

Reservations for the luncheon at 1 o'clock should be made by May 14 with Miss Justina J. Baron, Alumni Executive Secretary. Preferably reservations should be accompanied by check ($1.25 per plate); unpaid reservations will not be held after 12:30. Following the luncheon, where guests will be seated with their classes, will be brief words of welcome by Dr. Van Houten and Boyd W. Ghering, M. D., president of the Alumni Association, and election of officers for next year.

The presidential reception will follow from 4:00 to 6:00.

Class reunions and meetings being planned are: Class of 1912 dinner, Culbertson Hills Country Club, 6:30, Mrs. Victor Snapp of Erie in charge; Class of 1917 dinner, Robinson House, 6:30, Miss Baron in charge; Class of 1922 meeting, in charge of Miss Edna Shenk of Edinboro. Class of 1902 will meet under the direction of Herman Sackett of Meadville. Mr. Sackett is a former professor at Edinboro. Other classes ending in 2 and 7 will probably hold reunions, but their plans have not been announced.

The Alpha Delta Sorority will hold a breakfast for actives and alumnae at the Robinson House at 10 A. M., and alumni of music organizations will have a picnic box supper at the home of Mrs. Earl Campbell at 6 p. m.

Summer Alterations To Give Library New Light, Books, Shelves

The college library will undergo extensive alterations this summer, according to Miss Forness, head librarian. A complete system of fluorescent lighting will replace the outmoded system presently in use. The new system will consist of 16 eight-foot banks of lights and eight nine-foot banks of lights, which will provide lights over each stack in the library and over the reading tables.

Another major alteration in the library will be the replacement of wooden stacks now in use by modern steel stacks. Since the new stacks will be higher and longer than the old ones, considerable added space will be available. In addition, a new charging desk will be installed.

Miss Forness also stated that new books, amounting to over a thousand dollars, have been ordered and will be received about June 15. Most of the new volumes will be in the fields of social studies, art, English, and French.

In addition, a number of new fiction books have been added to the library: "The Wayward Bus," by Steinbeck; "Lydia Bailey," by Roberts; "The Quarry," by Walker; "Green Grass of Wyoming," by O'Hara; "Nearby," by Yates; "Happy The Land," by Rice; and "Pavilion of Women," by Buck.

Senior Prom Slated For Saturday Night

The traditional Senior Prom, sponsored by the Junior Class, will be held this Saturday evening, from eight to twelve P. M. The semi-formal affair will be held at the Culbertson Hills Country Club, with Roger Carle and his orchestra furnishing the music.

The dance will be by invitation. All seniors are invited, including those who graduated in January, as well as the juniors and all members of the faculty. In addition, each member of the junior class will be privileged to invite one couple as his guests.

The various committees for the dance are as follows: invitations, Margaret Gillespie and LeVieve Obert; decorations and programs, Lois Griffin, Joe Grube, Lois Rhea, and Clyde Snyder; orchestra, Wilma Jean Steadman and Pat Crawford; tickets, Carol Carr and Joe Spence; entertainment, Terry Malinowski and Mary Livingston. Mr. Doucette is the faculty advisor of the Junior Class.

Chaperones for the affair will be Dr. and Mrs. Offner, Mr. and Mrs. Doucette, and Mr. and Mrs. Malory. The high point of the evening will be the crowning of the Prom King and Queen.

Donald Horton Wins 3-Year Scholarship

A three-year competitive scholarship, providing $500. per school year, has been won by Donald C. Horton, a freshman Penn State assignee in Agriculture Education, according to a recent announcement by the West Penn System, donors of the scholarship.

Horton, whose home is in Erie, was one of eight winners in a group of 76 contestants, all of whom are sons or daughters of West Penn employees.

In a letter to Dr. H. L. Offner, the scholarship committee asserted: "Mr. Horton made a very excellent score."

"Conneauttean" Editors Expect Delivery Tomorrow

The editors of "The Conneauttean," Carol Carr and Louise Johnson, announce that the Ashby Publishing Company of Erie has promised delivery by May 15, tomorrow. The long-awaited event is at hand!

The yearbook, a Junior Class project, will be of an entirely different style in comparison with those of previous years. All of the photography was done at the College under the supervision of Dr. Boss, Photography Club advisor. His staff consisted of Peter Jung, William Riffner, Harry Kuntz, and Russell Horn. A new Photo-Tone cover is used, depicting a scene of Loveland Hall.

The picture dividers — in some instances humorous — are appropriate to the general make-up. Throughout the entire book the editors have maintained a certain modernity, with bled-edged pages and lower-case lettering. The advertising section consists of a list of patrons.

Books will be given out to the students in the lobby of Haven Hall in the following manner. All upperclassmen (Seniors, Juniors, and Sophomores) will call for theirs on Monday, May 19, at noon or following the evening meal. Freshmen will receive their books after dinner on Tuesday, May 20.

There is no charge for the yearbook, since all costs are defrayed by the Student Activity Fund. However, there is a limited supply of extra books available. Anyone wishing to purchase an extra copy will be required to pay the price of $2.50. Any one-semester freshman (entering in January) is required to pay one half of that price, $1.25.

Haven Hall Girls Elect House Council Officers

The girls of Haven Hall held a meeting last Friday night to elect new House Council officers for next year.

The girls elected were: Wilma Jean Steadman, President; Virginia Ransom, Vice President; Maryalice Armagost, Secretary; Eileen Vose, Treasurer; Barbara Buckley, Social Chairman; and Jane Twitchell, Fire Captain.

86th Annual Program

Fifty-seven candidates for graduation will receive diplomas at the 86th Annual Commencement Program, scheduled for Tuesday morning, May 27, at 10 A. M. (Daylight time).

Dr. H. L. Offner, Dean of Instruction, will present the Class of '47 for the awarding of degrees. President L. H. Van Houten will make the special awards and will confer the degrees.

The College Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Esther Campbell, will sing several numbers, including: the Processional, "Fling Out The Banner," by Calkin; "The Music of Life," by Cain; "Glory," by Rimsky-Korsakov; and the Recessional, "Glorious Things Of Thee Are Spoken," by Haydn. The accompanists will be LeVieve Obert and Richard Schantz.

At the Baccalaureate Service on Sunday afternoon, May 25, at 3:30 o'clock, The Reverend Doctor Edward H. Jones of the Grove City Presbyterian Church will deliver the address.

President Declares Farm-Out Plan A Success

Declaring that Edinboro's Penn State assignees have accepted "a difficult situation" in excellent spirit during the past nine months, Dr. L. H. Van Houten told "The Spectator" last week that he believes the experiment has been entirely satisfactory.

"I think the men will look back on this year as well-spent," the president continued.

He asserted that both Penn State authorities and the Veterans Administration feel that the "farming-out" program has been a success. He also revealed that plans are underway to send an even greater number of Penn State freshmen to ESTC next autumn. Last September, 259 assignees were enrolled here.

"Hasn't Been Easy"

"The fact that such a small number of these students dropped out is an indication of the quality of their work," Dr. Van Houten said. "It hasn't been easy for them, since they knew they were not being absorbed into the regular student body.

"We strongly appreciate their participation in social, musical, dramatic, and athletic organizations."

The executive stated that one outstanding advantage accruing to assignees while they lived here was the comparatively low cost of room and board. He expressed the fear, based on his own observations, that living expenses at State College would continue to be "awfully high" next year.

FREEMAN IMPROVING

Howard Freeman, ESTC freshman and courier for "The Spectator," is reported to be in fine spirits and to be recovering from the injuries suffered when his newly bought motorcycle capsized with him on the night of the Iva Kittchell program.

Sorority To Honor Seniors, Alumni

The Iota Chapter of the Alpha Delta Sorority will complete its events of the year with a breakfast honoring seniors and alumnae at 10 a. m. on May 24 at the Robinson House.

The thirteenth annual Mother's Day celebration of the group was observed on May 4. Thirty-five mothers of active and alumnae members were present at the induction service in Music Hall and at the tea and reception at Dr. Van Houten's home. Presiding at the tea tables were Mrs. Miller, Miss O'Dell, Miss McClintock, and Miss Baron. Members of the reception committee were Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Van Houten, and Miss Forness.

LeVieve Obert and Margaret Gillespie recently attended the annual convocation of the sorority at Cortland, N. Y., where administrative details of the organization were discussed.

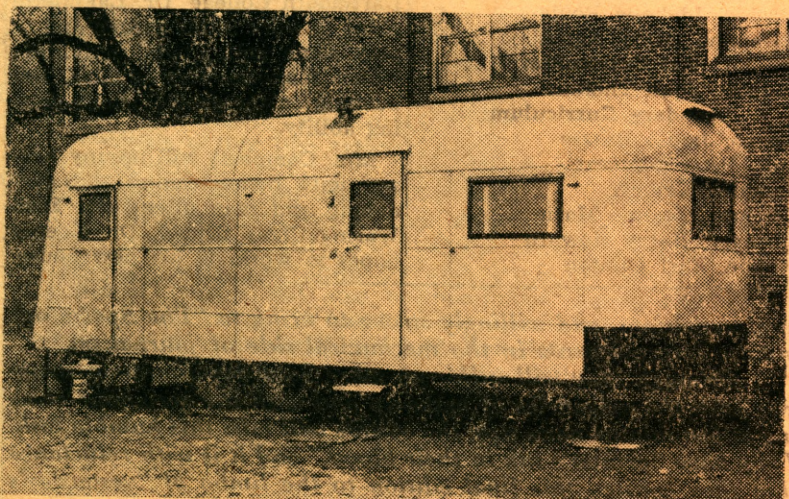

NOTICE TO VETS

All veterans in training under P. L. 346 and P. L. 16 who are planning to discontinue their training here during the summer and who have not already informed Mrs. Bennett in the Dean's office, are advised to do so immediately. Veterans transferring to other schools, must complete their request for a Supplementary Certificate of Eligibility and Entitlement at this time.

All P. L. 346 veterans who have not completed their 1963 form (Report of Compensation From Productive Labor) are also advised to do this in the Dean's office at once.

Failure to comply with the above may lead to confusion of your subsistence payments and possible delay in receiving future benefits.

Emergency Home, ESTC Style

When tagged by the persistent local housing shortage, Mr. James P. Coffman, chemistry instructor, bought the above wheeled-dwelling, parked it near the gym, and with his wife and daughter, moved in. (See story on page three.)

A Salute to the Class of '47

The significance of this moment cannot be exaggerated. During four important years, which were far from pleasant, considering world conditions, there was a pervasive feeling of fellowship between faculty and students in the pursuit of the truth. There were many small achievements, in which you strove together for the good of the college and of the class. The friendly associations, the fraternities, the sororities, and the athletic teams were all a part of your experience.

True and permanent friendships are seldom detected while they are in the making. As all labor together for common causes, students rarely see that they are becoming bound by ties of amicability. Ultimately, they discover that they have become enmeshed in friendships with students and faculty — friendships which time or miles cannot destroy.

Now, after four years of college life, you are to leave your alma mater and join the ranks in a great service — the teaching profession. Those who remain, your undergraduate fellows, will strive to add their quota to the achievements which you have made at this college.

A tribute is also due to those members of your class who, after years of service to our country, have returned to secure the traditional sheepskin from our alma mater.

In recognition of your loyalty, faithfulness, and service, for your individual and joint efforts for the good of our college — we salute you, Class of '47.

The Climax Approaches

Within two weeks an exceptional college year at Edinboro will close in a veritable crescendo of activity. Final exams, the last hurdle for students — and the last tedious chore for the correcting instructors — will reign over campus life beginning Saturday. Then Alumni Day, and the baccalaureate and commencement services enter the spotlight, in that order.

By that time, more than 200 Penn State assignees will have taken their last jolting ride to Cambridge Springs. No doubt many of these students will feel a nostalgic twinge next fall, when they will have to adapt themselves to life at a much larger college. Their prospects are bright, however, for at ESYC they have not only compiled an enviable scholastic record, but have taken an active part in many extra-curricular functions as well.

The hundreds of veterans who seized their chance for a government-aided education here last September have proved their ability to conquer most of the service-inspired cynicism and reluctance to knuckle down to a gruelling task, which afflicted many of them upon their discharge into a world that was hardly new, however brave.

Crowded classrooms and housing conditions, an overburdened faculty, such social events as the Percy Grainger concert and Bob Chester's playing at the Sweetheart Ball and even the rugged winter snows — have all conspired to make this year a well-remembered one for Edinboro.

Thanks and Best Wishes

This final edition of "The Spectator" has been prepared in the hope that it will act as a souvenir which students who have spent a happy year at Edinboro can use in the future to call up pleasant memories.

For their help in producing the newspaper throughout the entire year, a number of persons have earned the editors' deep thanks. Of invaluable aid were Dr. Van Houten and his office staff, Dr. Offner and his co-workers, and the various members of the faculty and student body who freely gave news-worthy information, and who graciously tolerated errors, possible offenses, and other frailties.

Grossly understating his service, the word "Advisor" has appeared beside the name of Mr. Paul Lowder. Going far beyond the "line of duty," Mr. Lowder never hesitated to devote hours of his time to raise the quality of this journal. While he never imposed undue restriction on the editors, he constantly bore in mind the necessity of maintaining good taste in the content of these pages.

The staff of "The Albion News," although always pressed for time, was extremely gracious about making last-minute changes

The results of the recent election held to select a new Student Council president and to determine whether the student activity fee should be increased have not been determined, according to Miss Dora Noxon, incumbent president of the Council.

Inasmuch as the method in which the election was held is considered partially unsatisfactory, a meeting will be held this afternoon at 4:40 in Haven Hall to determine what action should be taken. Miss Noxon stated that the collection of ballots was conducted in an unsatisfactory manner and that the benefits to be gained by increasing the student activity fund five dollars per year were not explained sufficiently.

and corrections, and willingly strove to bring to "The Spectator" minute improvements in the mechanical side of journalism.

Although they will suffer no more Saturday-afternoon struggles with the exigencies of make-up and with the zero-hour chasing of last-minute news tips, the editors will miss this humble task. They have "printer's ink in their blood," and it is with reluctance that they consign this final edition to the limbo of "yesterday's newspaper."

Finally, our best wishes are offered to those who will shoulder this burden next fall, for it is our conviction that a college newspaper has a significant place in academic life. —The Editors

Roving Reporter . . .

"Summertime" — just think, it's only a short, short while until semester's end. By a good cross-section examining, it has been found that you students of Edinboro have planned a busy vacation. Here are a few of the comments made when some Haven "loungers" were approached and were asked, "What are you going to do this summer?"

"Hubby" Lucia: I'm getting married and will be looking for an apartment.

Al Kipela: Take four courses here this summer.

Angelo Juliano: Play a lot of golf and go to school.

Jack MacDowell: This summer? That's hard to tell.

Ed Horanic: As little as possible.

Alex Warner: Hope to go to Memphis.

Jean Follett: I'm going to be right here.

Jack Heard: Lie out in the sun. Why?

Gerry Prengaman: Work.

Ed Wright: Gerry's not going to do anything.

Bill Murphy: I'm going to California. That's home.

Jack Peck: I'll work a while and then go to California or Florida. I don't know which yet.

Eunice Theobald: Stay at dear ole Edinboro. Ha, Ha.

Mike Evanoff: I'm going to work at the docks and go to summer school.

"Bette" McConnell: I'm going to work and, of course, go out with Bill.

Jim Winchester: I hafta wait 'till summertime comes.

"Pousti" Lucia: I'm going to school. Sixty-five dollars a month — I don't want to work.

Mark Rutledge: I'm going to hibernate.

Ted Lynch: Go to school.

Bill Vafeas: Nothing.

Gene Carnahan: What am I going to do? I'm going to work to buy a convertible.

Frank Vrenna: I'm going home.

Lyle Snively: What shall I tell her?

Bill Schildmacher: Be a life guard on the Peninsula.

Grace Young: Really want to know? I'm going to work and wait for Grampa Dnarts.

Dick Strand: I am going to work also.

Jane Patterson: Same thing as always.

Red Biser: Go to Bermuda and play house with the girls.

Richard Bonnett: Are you kidding?

Frank Bennett: Work in a steel mill — earn money.

Tom Brown: Definitely going to get drunk with happiness the end of July.

Gail Barker: Go west.

Jeanadair: Work at G. E.

Helen DeFlavio: I'm going to summer session.

Gloria Dennis: Sail a sailboat.

Ron Bloch: Eat, sleep, and go to school.

Jane Venman: Go home and work.

Nester Bleech: Go to summer school.

Richard Young: Going to Miami, Florida.

Joe Wissinger: Going home and work.

Ted Davenport: Sail on a boat on the lakes.

Joe Long: Work at the Steel Car Shop, Greenville.

Dick Jackard and Burt Raymond: Work together for a construction company.

George Otto: Going to California. Anybody going my way?

Faculty Activities

By HAROLD GRAHAM

The activities of the members of the teaching staff of E.S.T.C. will be as varied this summer as the individual personalities involved. These activities range from teaching on campus and doing graduate work at various universities to taking a trailer trip to the West Coast and going on a fishing expedition into Canada.

Many members of the staff will remain on campus to teach in the various summer sessions. Included in this category are Mr. Boak, Mr. Mackey, Mr. Neel, Dr. Hendricks, Dr. Gatzy, Miss McDonnell, Mr. McNees, Dr. LaFollette, Dr. Koenig, Mrs. Campbell, Miss Ludgate, Miss Baron, Miss Forness, Mr. Hoshauer, Mr. Ellenberger, Mr. Lynch, Mr. Haller, Mr. Bates, Mr. Doucette, Mr. McComb, Miss Skinner, Mr. Mallory, Miss Ketcham, Dr. Offner, and Mrs. Miller.

Since all of them will not be teaching the full twelve weeks of the summer session, some instructors are planning other activities. Mr. Boak plans to visit his home in Harrisburg and to attend the fifteenth reunion of his class at Dartmouth College. Dr. LaFollette plans to work in his garden and to play some golf, two activities which may be very similar, depending on the good Doctor's golfing ability.

Mrs. Campbell will occupy herself with housecleaning and gardening and may attend the Fred Waring Choir School. Dr. Koenig hopes to work on his new house, provided summer ever arrives. Mr. Mallory will give the trout in local streams a bad time; he also plans a fishing trip into Canada, solely because his son likes to fish there, he asserts with a straight face. Miss Ludgate plans to visit friends in Chicago and later will travel about the country.

Plans Varied

Both Miss McDonnell and Miss Forness are planning on graduate work, but as yet are undecided as to what institutions they will attend. Mr. Doucette will be serving as the projectionist in the local movie house this summer in addition to teaching a full schedule. Mr. Haller will also teach the full twelve weeks, but he plans to do some painting and repairing on his house and to work on his formal garden. Dr. Gatzy hopes to squeeze in a couple of weeks of fishing, preferably on Lake Erie.

Coach McComb will be the college representative at the coaching conference held here in August and undoubtedly will be seen frequently hacking his way around the Culbertson Hills golf course. Mr. Hoshauer plans to sneak off to a secret vacation spot for three weeks and just relax. Miss Ketcham will visit her brother, a professor at Syracuse University.

A number of instructors will themselves be going to school this summer, doing graduate work. Mr. Reed plans to attend the University of Pittsburgh for the entire summer, while Mr. Earley will spend twelve weeks at Penn State. Mr. Lowder and Mr. Griffin will attend Teachers College, Columbia University. Mr. Griffin, who has not yet found a room in New York, may find himself sleeping on a bench in Central Park, which should be an interesting experience for a sociologist. Miss Morton plans to do graduate work at either Stanford or Columbia after attending a conference on fresh-

Mr. Coffman's Portable Palace

By EL OSBORNE

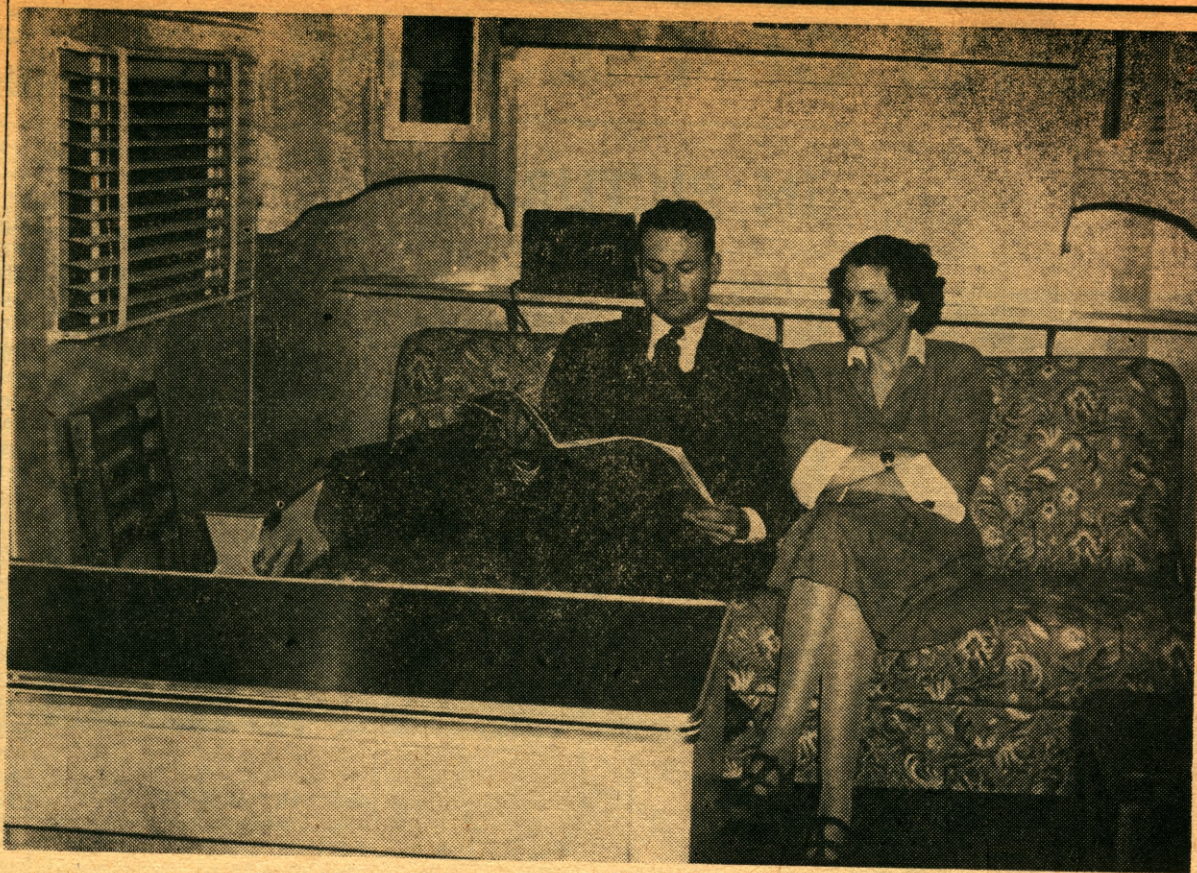

Last Thursday I had the pleasure of interviewing a man whom I have come to consider as a connoisseur of travel comfort. He is Mr. James Coffman of our Chemistry Department. The portable palace that my title refers to is his house-trailer, which is parked behind Crawford Gymnasium.

My conception of a trailer was completely shattered when I walked into the Coffman residence. I had pictured these after-auto conveyances as rough carts for hauling perishable material, or a box on wheels containing a stove and a few cots like those I have seen during deer season. Instead, I had stepped into a not-too-miniature, three-room apartment, complete with running water, and fitted out like a Bing Crosby cottage.

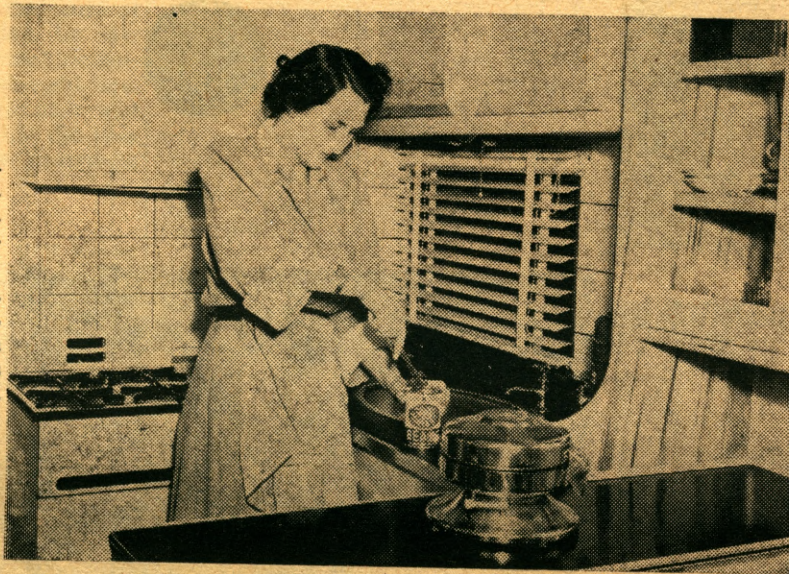

The walls are finished in natural grained wood. The numerous windows, which make the interior of the trailer light as a south-bound sun porch, all have their own little venetian blinds. Cuddled between the living room and the bedroom is the kitchen. Its compactness reminded me of a submarine galley. One could prepare a seven-course banquet in it without taking three steps in any direction. The culinary equipment includes a gas range, sink, work table, ample cupboard space, and a refrigerator.

Ultra-Modern Heating System

One of the aspects of Mr. Coffman's trailer that I consider ultra-modern in housing construction is the heating system. My notion of his source of heat was a good old pot-bellied stove. I was wrong, however, because he has a floor heating system. This is the latest method of warming houses. The trailer has a double floor with an air space between the two. Into this air space, hot air is blown from the stove. This furnishes an even temperature in all parts of the trailer and eliminates drafts. Between the ceiling and the roof of the trailer is another six-inch air space. This aids in the retention of heat in the winter and acts as an air-conditioning device in the summer.

In 1940, Mr. Coffman made a five-thousand-mile summer journey in a similar but smaller trailer. He and his family visited Yellowstone National Park, Glacier National Park, the Dakota Badlands, Lake Louise, and the Columbian Ice Fields, the source of the Columbia River.

FACULTY ACTIVITIES

man English at Syracuse University. Mr. Coffman hopes to attend the University of Illinois and later to continue to the West Coast for a brief vacation; his plans are based on the hope that his ancient automobile can drag his trailer that far and still make it back.

To Teach Elsewhere

Two members of Edinboro's staff will teach at other institutions this summer: Dr. Butterfield will teach at the University of Iowa; and Miss Whitney will be engaged at the University of Montana. Dr. Johnson will again busy himself with research at his laboratory in the Rocky Mountains. Dr. Boss will visit his home in Wisconsin, do some research work in the Middle West, spend a short time in New York, and then travel to Massachusetts for further research, which he calls "having fun."

Mr. Hostettler, although he will not teach or do graduate work, will be kept more than busy remodeling his house and working on his garden. Mr. Zahniser's program possibly is the most evaded of all: he plans to do a little gardening, a great deal of canoeing, and, possibly, to pay a visit to the Windy City, Chicago. If his plans work out, he will take a motoring jaunt to points east of Edinboro.

Mr. Harrison (the genial "Sox" does have a surname) will be occupied with the task of running his Sunset Camps for boys and girls. Miss Ruttle plans a flying trip about the country. Mr. Bennett is undertaking the rather formidable task of building a couple of houses this summer; no doubt a few physics students will be around to check up on his application of the theories of stress and strain. Dr. Van Houten plans to spend his summer on the campus, busying himself with innumerable administrative details.

Advocates Use of Trailers

As I looked about in that trailer, I thought of what a blessing this sort of home could be to many faculty members and married students all over the country who are being exploited by their landlords.

Faculty members, like married veteran students, are taking the effects of rent inflation in the neck. It is on these grounds that I advocate the house trailer, for these trailers would solve a great percentage of the current housing problems for those who want a decent, temporary dwelling and do not wish to spend for rent the money that should be spent on food for themselves and their children.

This trailer idea has already been put into effect at Penn State College, where a large trailer camp has been built. Perhaps it can be carried out by our other colleges and thus give a break to the late and present servants of America — the Veteran and the Teacher.

E.S.T.C. Again Host To Football Coaching School

Edinboro will again act as host to high-school football coaches. This will be the second season for the Edinboro College Coaching School, to be held this year on August 12, 13, 14, and 15.

Two famous personages of the sports world, "Stu" Holcomb, head coach at Purdue University, and "Tom" Davies, head coach at Western Reserve, will be present to instruct the attending coaches.

The theme of the school will be "The T vs. the Single Wing." Coach Holcomb will elaborate on the "T" formation, while Coach Davies will lecture on the single-wing formation. Both the offenses and defenses of the two systems will be developed.

The four-day program will consist of lectures, demonstrations, panel discussions, and actual scrimmages. A golf tournament for the Riddel Trophy will also be held. The climax of the session will be at 8:15 on August 15, when an all-star football game will be held in the Erie Stadium.

Chem. Prof: "Come, come, give me the answer, please!"

Student: "I can't say it, but it's on the tip of my tongue."

Another Student: "Gracious! Don't swallow it -- it's arsenic!"

Haven Hall Getting Storm-Sewer System

Those ditches recently dug in the vicinity of Haven Hall represent part of an operation which will bring an entirely separate storm-sewer system to that building, Dr. L. H. Van Houten advised a reporter last week.

"This new system," the president pointed out, "will carry only the storm-water, which used to back up during heavy rains, when a single system served the building."

Dr. Van Houten also said that he expects Loveland Hall's laboratories and studios to have their new lights by June 1. Recitation Hall, temporarily closed, is likewise undergoing a complete re-wiring operation, with modern lighting as the goal.

Workshop at Edinboro

Between 75 and 100 secondary-school principals are expected to assemble at the college to attend a "workshop" during one week in this summer's pre-session, Dr. L. H. Van Houten stated recently.

"They will discuss general problems in connection with secondary education," he added.

A similar conference is scheduled for the benefit of all Erie County school teachers, according to Dr. Van Houten. It will be under the direction of Mr. Morris Kolpein, County Superintendent of Schools.

Red Cross Sets Up Office At College

To serve the veterans and their families who are at Edinboro, the Erie Chapter of the American Red Cross is transferring the Town Hall office to the college. Annabelle Scarlett, Red Cross caseworker from Erie, who is attending classes here, will have regular office hours every Wednesday from 1:00 to 2:45 in the Conference Room, and will be available by appointment later Wednesday afternoons.

Since before World War I, the American Red Cross, through its Home Service Department, has continuously offered to veterans those services developing out of the help offered to the men of the armed forces and their families.

Red Cross is one of the organizations recognized by the Veterans Administration to assist the veteran in filing claims for benefits due him, and to aid him in obtaining evidence needed to prove his claim. To carry out this service, Red Cross has Field Directors stationed at the VA Regional Office. Present when the veteran's claim is adjusted, he assists the home town chapter worker with information needed in her work with the ex-servicemen.

Offers Financial Assistance

"Our organization," Miss Scarlett said, "offers financial assistance to veterans and their families who are unable to pay for their education."

Dr. W. R. Boss, erudite E.S.T.C. biology instructor, is the co-author of an article entitled "Permanent Effects of the Female Sex Hormones on Herring Gull Eggs," to appear in the June issue of the Journal of Experimental Zoology. Working with Dr. Boss in his experiments and on the article was Dr. Emile Witschi, internationally known endocrinologist and author. Last year Dr. Boss and his colleague at the University of Iowa conducted the experiments out of which grew the article telling of their findings.

According to Dr. Boss, the exact nature of the experiments is so complex that they would not be comprehended by the layman. In simple terms, such experiments consist of injecting female sex hormone, stilbestrol, into gull eggs. After the eggs have hatched, the genetical males are determined and injections in them are continued, with the result that these males will exhibit female sex characteristics, but only during the period of the experimentation. Dr. Boss and his co-worker also discovered that the maturity of a male bird can be speeded up by injections of the male hormone.

Last December, in Boston, Dr. Boss delivered a talk on endocrinology before the annual convention of the American Association For The Advancement of Science. He is also scheduled to speak at the Association's next annual meeting, to be held in Chicago next winter.

90 Couples Attend Kappa Delta Formal

Approximately 90 couples attended the annual spring banquet and formal dance of the Kappa Delta Phi fraternity, held at the college on May 3, the Deltas recently announced.

The ceremonies began at 6 P. M. with a banquet for fraternity members, alumni, and the faculty advisors. Dr. H. L. Offner was the guest speaker of this affair. Others who spoke, in order of appearance, were: Toastmaster, Howard Griffin; President, Charles Morrison; Vice-President, Jo Baird; Past-President, Tom Quirk; and Dr. Butterfield, Mr. Lynch, Mr. Boak, and Mr. Coffman, all faculty advisers; various alumni present, and the graduating seniors in attendance.

Wes Scott's orchestra, from Erie, played for the dance, which got under way at 9. Members of the college faculty, besides the advisers, who attended the dance were: Mr. Reed, Mrs. Miller, Miss Beattie, and Dr. Boss.

Midnight lunch at the Robinson House wound up the occasion for another year. A frat official commented: "It was one of the most successful dances of the season."

tance to veterans and their families during the period when they are awaiting government benefits. Special financial needs also may be met in the absence of other community resources."

Red Cross Home Service workers are familiar with various community resources, the caseworker explained, and can refer the veteran to the proper place for him to obtain special services not offered by the Red Cross. Consultation and guidance in personal and family problems, a not uncommon outgrowth of military service, is also given as part of the well-rounded ARC program of service to all veterans and their dependents, both those with service organization affiliations and those who belong to no organized veterans' group.

Sweetheart Never Got Gift; Hollywood Gets Publicity

When Winnie Kisthart was chosen "Sweetheart of the Campus" at a gala ball some three months ago, The Spectator publicized an offer of an unusual garment made by a Hollywood firm — which promised to give it to the winner at no obligation.

Although the clothing concern was duly notified of Miss Kisthart's election, a check with the young lady reveals that the gift has, as yet, not materialized.

At least one conclusion seems justified as a result of this sequence of events which never developed; namely, the Hollywood manufacturer will fall a bit short of getting the publicity he earlier seemed to want.

Triple Cities College has named its bowling teams after gorgeous movie stars. Alexis Smith is out in front by a leg.

College To Offer Driver-Ed Course

Edinboro will offer a three-semester-hour college course in Driver Education and Training for High School Teachers in the three-weeks' Post Summer Session of 1947, August 4 to 22 inclusive, according to an announcement by Dr. L. H. Van Houten, President. At the request of the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction, four teachers colleges have been designated to offer this course during the summer session. Edinboro, Millersville, California, and Indiana are the colleges at which the driving instruction will be given.

Dr. Offner will teach the new course. Having had previous experience in this field, he recently attended an American Automobile Association safety school, for one week, at Teachers College, Columbia University, where he took various tests, such as the Visual-Action Test, Distance-Judgement Test, Finger-Reaction Test, and Mechanics-of-Operation Test.

The local course has been worked out to combine classroom and behind-the-wheel units so that the latter can be taught immediately following the related classroom units.

Two dual-controlled automobiles will be furnished by the Harrisburg and Erie branches of the A.A.A. Since only two such cars will be available, the enrollment must be limited to 24 students. If there are not 24 enrollees, the course will be opened to the college students. There is a possibility that this course may also be offered in the fall term of '47.

The cost of the course is $18.00 for tuition plus a $1.25 activity fee. Students must purchase their own text and test materials. These will be available at Cooper's Book Store at a cost of less than $5.00.

Interest on the part of schools, insurance companies, and the public has brought about this new course, which is being promoted largely by the A.A.A. The primary aim at Edinboro is to give instruction to teachers in service so that they may be able to teach safety education at their own schools.

Girls Of Haven Hall To Give Formal Tea

The girls of Haven Hall will give a formal tea on May 18 in honor of the graduating senior girls. The tea will be held in Haven Hall from 2 P. M. to 4 P. M.

Members of committees arranging the details of the event are: general chairman, Marjorie Perkins; refreshments, Florence Weyrauch; music, Helen DeFlavio; invitations, Maryalice Armagost; and decorations, Dona Flower. All faculty members are invited.

It is requested that all men refrain from visiting Haven Hall during the tea.

At Grove City, our luckier neighbor to the south, the professors are complaining of the distraction of numerous bathing beauties viewed from classroom windows.

Guests may register at any time during the day at Haven Hall. Food reservations for any event may be made through the Alumni Executive Secretary, Miss Baron.

Officers of the Alumni Association are: Dr. Boyd W. Ghering, Edinboro, president; Mrs. Mary Marsh Zahniser, Meadville, vice-president; Mrs. Leta Hopkins Ryan of Edinboro, secretary; and Miss Sybil Odell, Edinboro, treasurer. Members of the Executive Committee are Mr. Royce Mallory, Edinboro; Mr. Luther Conroe, Cambridge Springs; Mrs. Helen Cunningham Arnold, Erie; Mrs. Eleanor Helff Ghering, Edinboro; Mrs. Robert Firman, Erie; and Judge Orin Waite, Erie.

The Faculty-Alumni Relations Committee consists of Miss Nettie Mae Ruttle, Mr. Alfred Haller, and Miss Justina Baron.

Cambridge Parade

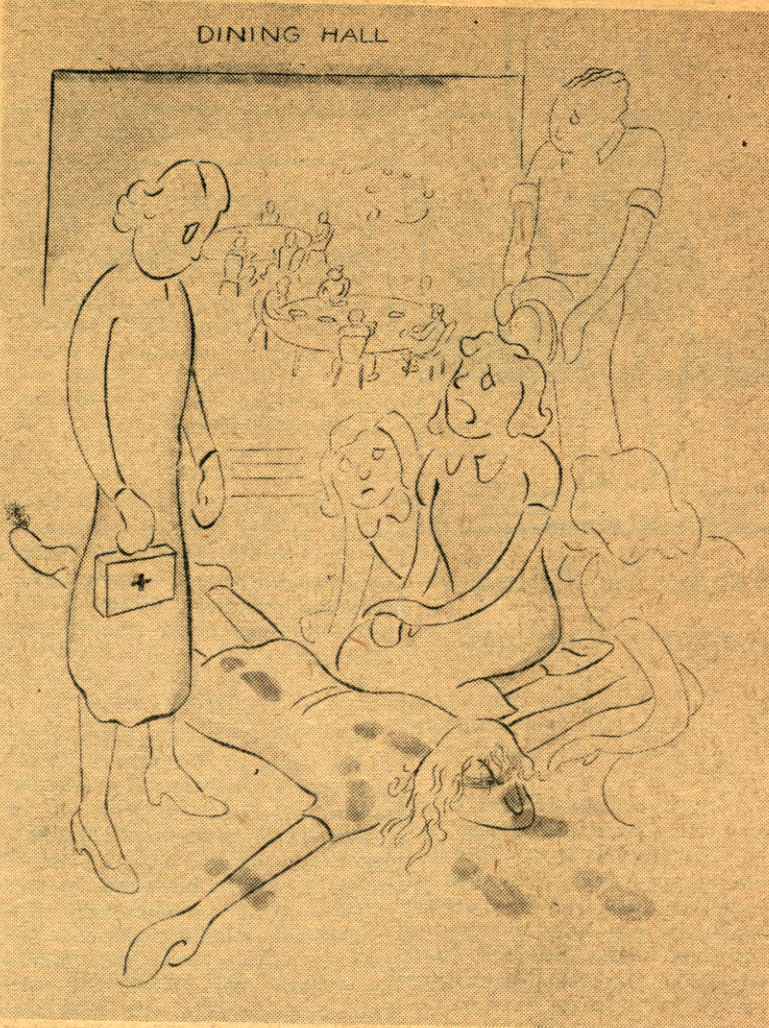

Anyone who thinks that kindness is a disappearing virtue should see the generosity which is shown every day by those assignees who drive autos to and from college. Typical ride-sharers are Don Cherrie, of the Hotel Bartlett; Jim Bowback, of the Riverside; and Bob McGarvey, of the Fleischer. Cherrie, who acquired the use of his dad's Chevrolet only ten days ago, has already felt the sting of one flat tire.

At least two persons have responded unstintingly to the pleading thumbs ever since last September. Marian Pond, a student, and Dr. Gatzky, biological science instructor, have probably received the sincere "thank you's" of so many grateful riders that they doubtless would hesitate to estimate the number they have picked up.

The writer believes he has stumbled upon one student's secret of success. Bursting into the Bartlett sanctuary of Bob Powell, Scranton's offering to, the cause of aeronautical engineering, he saw the ex-Tar emulating that mathematical concept, the straight-line. Of course, the fact that Bob was asleep indicates only that the idea had penetrated to the innermost recesses of his mind.

Fleischer Nine Tops Riverside

Behind the baffling delivery of Hugh Hackett, the Fleischer Hotel's diamond dandies trounced Carl Anderson's Riverside Rats, 11-2, in a six-inning affair played in Cambridge Springs on the cloudy afternoon of May 3.

Second-baseman Roland Bradley's triple with bases full was the hardest blow struck by the winners. The Rats' hurlers were liberal with bases on balls. Bill Mitchell, their starter, retired in favor of Bill Buzzard, but the issue had long since been decided.

The sun poked its head from behind the clouds just often enough to blind Riverside catcher Pete Colpo, as he sought to capture two, towering foul-flies near the plate.

While Hackett's fireballs retired 10 Rat clouters on strikes, slick work by his mates aided him considerably. Don Fargo, George Freeman, Roland Bradley, and that arch Spectator-lover, Johnny Bonnell, made up his infield; while Bill Lowry, George Camp, Will Brady, and Bill Custer guarded the green pastures. Crouching behind home base was Dwight Porter.

Frank Baron and Leonard Mattick handled the umpiring.

Collegiate Baseball Bows To Pluvius

By LOU PLOCH

So far this season, the Edinboro Collegian baseball team has fared no better than the rest of Edinboro's athletic teams in the current battle of the elements. To date, the score stands: Jupiter Pluvius 2, Collegians 0. On May 5, a game with an independent McKean team was rained out; on May 7, rain, snow, and cold weather forced cancellation of a game with Alliance College.

Manager Fred "Bummy" Lewis and his teammates have not given up hope for the weather that their Dr. Miles Almanac has promised. A game has been scheduled for next Sunday with the Greenville Merchants, a classy independent nine. Meanwhile, practice has been continued despite the inclement weather.

The Collegians have added two new players to their roster. Joe LaSlavic, erstwhile Red Raider wrestler, will see third-base duty in future games. Bill Schildmacher has been signed as an outfielder.

A welcome gift of playing equipment has come the Collegians' way. The equipment was donated by the father of Charles Mullen, Edinboro student.

Sports In Review

The 1946-47 Edinboro College sports calendar was opened with a football game at Clarion, Oct. 5th, which ended in a 50-0 loss for the Raiders. The team, under the guidance of Coaches McComb, Harrison and Reed, seemed to get all the bad breaks, for they finished the season without a win. The season's only score for the Raiders was made by Tyson, with Dzvonnar kicking the added point.

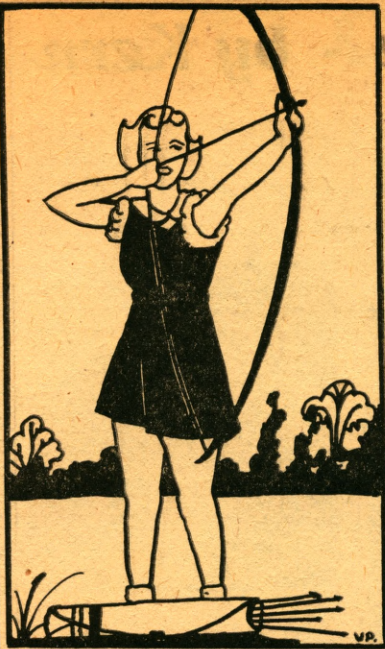

The outstanding pigskin game of the season was the Thiel game, which, according to game statistics, should have been taken by the Raiders; but, once again, Dame Fortune frowned upon them, and it ended in a 7-0 loss. On Nov. 16th ESTC bowed to Slippery Rock, 19-0, to close a tough, uphill season.

The basketball team then made its debut with a loser to Buffalo STC on Dec 13. However, this did not phase the team, for on the following day they racked up a 54-44 win over Fredonia. During the remainder of the season the cage quint, coached by "Sox" Harrison, split their wins with their opponents; and at the close of the season the tally was 7 victories and 8 defeats. High-scorers for the season were Lipchik, who averaged 11.8 points per game, and A. Strand, who averaged 9.7.

The swimming team also made its appearance about this time, and got off to a good start by winning its first two meets, Buffalo and Grove City being the victims. From this point on the team met stiffer competition and lost the next five meets. They finally were able to shake their fins in time to duck Westminster, 47-19. Several new pool and varsity records were made by ESTC swimmers; namely the 300-yd. medley-relay, which was done in 3:24.3 by Linburg, Abbott and Warren. Schlindwein, who assisted Coach Reed in the training of the team, was the outstanding member and gained many honors for himself and the team.

The newly formed, Reed-coached, wrestling team came thru a hard fought schedule this season; and although they suffered many defeats because of the inexperience of most of the men, the team steadily gained scoring momentum, and by the end of the season they were giving their opponents some stiff competition. Jack Weixel, captain of the Red and White team, won all but one of his matches and also the 128-pound title at the State Teachers College Wrestling Tournament.

The 1946-47 season is being

WAA To Enter Archery Contest

The W. A. A.'s spring sports program includes golf, mushball, tennis and, all-important right now, archery.

During the week of May 17, Edinboro will participate in the National Telegraphic Meet. This national archery contest is open to any college that wishes to enter. Miss Ruttle has not yet set the exact date when Edinboro will shoot, for a day must be chosen when the participants have no examinations scheduled.

The shooting conveniently takes place at the individual college. The scores are telegraphed back and forth throughout the day, letting the competing schools know just how they stand.

Emilie Hammermeister, Jean Simoni, Margaret Gilbody, Frankie Kratz, Louise Kaufman, Helen Pushchak, and Gerry Prengaman have been chosen to represent Edinboro. This will be the first time most of these girls have taken part in a national contest, and they are working very hard in preparation.

The last time Edinboro entered this national event, she not only fought against the other colleges but also against a stiff wind. Miss Ruttle and the team are hoping that this condition will not be repeated this year.

drawn to a close with several golf matches and tournaments.

All being well, next year should see Edinboro faring much better in its sports program. New schedules have been drawn up, new equipment purchased, and new blood will be added to the now-experienced squads.

Here's wishing ESTC lots of luck! You'll be watched with interest by the boys who are going to State and to numerous other schools. They'll be cheering new colors, but they'll not forget the Red and White.

Bill Schildmacher will take over the graduating Mickey Schlindwein's job of student-mentor of the Edinboro mermen next fall. Bill was a member of the 1946-47 Red Raiders.

From a reliable source, it has been learned that Edinboro will be a power to contend with on the gridiron next fall. In addition to hold-overs from last season's team several promising prospects from district high schools will make their appearance in the Red and White lineup.

A charging machine has been added to the football equipment for the coming season. The machine is used to give the players their charging exercise without injury to themselves or to their scrub opponents.

Penn State has once again come to the fore in the innovation of new sports. This time it has added pin-ball-machine playing to its repertoire of sports, and culminated a busy season with a tournament. Edinboro also has in her midst several accomplished pinballers who should experience little difficulty in making State's team next year. The two top "machine-bouncers" are Ken McCracker and Don Hoy, who have claimed the "tilt" Crown for Section "D".

The efforts of Edinboro's off-the-record track team in resurfacing the local track paid dividends on Thursday, May 7th, when they returned from a try-out meet, held at Slippery Rock, with two wins and a place. Rae Carroll, running against a man who had previously won at Pitt, made the heat in ten seconds to win the hundred-yard dash. Although Carroll is a newcomer on the track, he has run the dash in nine and nine-tenths seconds. Jim DeConna took a first place in the 440 by running it in fifty-five seconds. Dick Toler competed in the half-mile and came in a very close second, perhaps because of a flaw in his timing; Toler has run the half-mile in two minutes flat. State will have the welcome mat out for these men next fall.

Forty-Eight Letter Earners Announced By Coaches

The names of the letter winners for the 1946-47 season have been announced by Coach McComb. Letters for all the major sports will be given, including football, basketball, wrestling, and swimming. To earn a letter in football and basketball, it is necessary for a man to have played at least half of the total quarters; for wrestling letters the muscle-man had to participate in half of the matches; while an average of 2 points per meet had to be gained by the swimmers to become letter men.

Varsity "E's" have been ordered, but in all probability they will not arrive until after the termination of the semester, in which case they will be mailed to the following men:

Basketball: Jack Bonnett, Elmer Abahazi, Mike Dzvonnar, Ronald McCoy, Arthur Lloyd, John Peckham, Alan Babcock, Richard Strand, Johnny Lipchik, and Arthur Strand.

Swimming: Arthur Warren, Harold Schlindwein, Chester Eisaman, Richard Young, Fred Abbott, John Brukner, Robert Badgley, Walter Linburg, George Otto, William Schildmacher, and George Kosanovic.

Wrestling: Pete Douds, Jack Weixel, Bill Hunt, Joe LaSlavic, Dewey Davis, Leonard Karsznia, and Felix Matuszewski.
