"GOVERNOR'S LADY" STIRS AUDIENCE AT RECITAL

The Realism Of Miss MacLaren's Imitation Produces Actual Stage Atmosphere

WORTHY OF THE NAME "A ONE-GIRL SHOW"

The entertainment course for the summer was carried to a high plane on Tuesday evening by the re-creation of the play, "The Governor's Lady," by Gay MacLaren, dramatic impersonator. Miss MacLaren's performance gave one the impression of actually seeing the production of the play with a full cast, scenery and all the stage setting. It was without doubt a masterpiece of impersonation throughout. The rapt attention of the audience at every stage of the reproduction was the highest tribute that could have been paid to Miss MacLaren's work.

"The Governor's Lady," by Alice Bradley, was first produced in New York in 1912 under the direction of David Belasco. Daniel S. Slade and his wife have begun life in a Western state in very humble circumstances; but by steady industry and several turns of luck, Slade has worked his way upward to a position of prominence and wealth. He builds himself a stately mansion in his native city but his simple minded wife finds herself uncomfortable in the palatial setting she is not accustomed to.

Slade is a very ambitious man and aspires to be elected governor of his state. In the campaign for political preferment it is necessary for him to court the favor of many people who are above him in the social scale and his wife is unable to acquit herself well at the social functions which it becomes her duty to attend. A point is reached where Slade must renounce either his ambition or his social contact with his wife. He chooses the latter course and leaves his home.

Mrs. Slade retires to the simple cottage on the outskirts of the town where she lived with her husband in the early years of their struggling married life. Slade becomes acquainted with the young and beautiful daughter of Senator Strickland who is herself exceedingly anxious for a public career. She has all the graces of education and social experience in which Mrs. Slade is lacking; and Mr. Slade decides to divorce his wife in order to marry this young girl. Mrs. Slade pathetically opposes his efforts to obtain a divorce; and Miss Strickland adopts the perilous expedient of going to the little cottage to sound the temper of the wife of the man she intends to marry.

Confronted by the homely and simple character of Mrs. Slade, the ambitious girl breaks down, and, renouncing her hard hearted schemes, resolves to marry a young lawyer whom she really loves. The husband, entering and perceiving what has come to pass, attempts a reconciliation with his wife; but at this point Mrs. Slade becomes stubborn in her turn and insists that there be a divorce—but in her favor instead of her husband's.

With this scene the drama may be said to end. But an epilogue has been added in which Mr. and Mrs. Slade meet by accident two years later and are melted emotionally to a reconciliation that leads to a remarriage. When the epilogue was written Mr. Belasco had the scene set at midnight in a Child's restaurant in New York for the sole reason that he wanted to show how exactly he could reproduce such a restaurant upon the stage.

Miss MacLaren pictured with lifelike exactness the motherly character of Mrs. Slade, the ambitious young woman just back from Europe eager for a public career, Mr. Slade, the millionaire, risen from the ranks, strong in handling men, yet weak in his own character. She showed the typical political bosses with their entire unconcern for the public and even reproduced the atmosphere of Miss Strickland's political dinner party in honor of Mr. Slade.

When Miss MacLaren was entertaining the army of workers who were building the Panama Canal one of the army officers dubbed her "the one-girl show." He was right for Miss MacLaren is the whole show down to the footlights. She has carried the best shows of Broadway to thousands of people all over the country and served overseas as an entertainer for the doughboys during the war.

MISS KEIM WINS HONORS IN R. R. TENNIS MEET

Miss Drue Keim, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. P. Keim, of New Port, who is taking summer work here, won the championship of the tennis singles for girls at the Pennsylvania Railroad track meet, which was held at Huntingdon, Saturday. Miss Keim, in addition to being salutatorian of this year's graduating class of the New Port high school, is an all-around athlete. She was a member of the Girls' High School Basketball team for two years and was a star on the track team.

REV. M. P. KRİKORIAN ADDRESSES STUDENTS

Rev. M. P. Krikorian, representative of the Near East Relief, addressed the students at Chapel Thursday morning on the subject, "Shall Christianity survive in the Bible lands." Rev. Krikorian is the Son of a martyr of the unhappy country of Armenia, and a survivor of the massacre that claimed seventy five of his kinsmen.

After his flight into Egypt he came to New York. He was educated at a Bible Institute in Los Angeles.

Mr. Krikorian is preparing to return to Armenia where he will do evangelistic work among the Turks who are responsible for the death and suffering of his people.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT HOLDS SECOND ANNUAL EXHIBITION

Many Helpful Ideas Were Suggested to Prospective Teachers

Many students at C. V. S. N. S. availed themselves of the opportunity to view the English Exhibit, given by the English department, in the school parlor last Tuesday and Wednesday from 8:15 to 5:15. The purpose of this exhibit was to familiarize prospective teachers with books, magazines, good text books, and other materials which would be of help to them in their English teaching.

The exhibit was divided into five sections: recreational reading, magazines, good text books, composition projects, and aids, devices, lists, and documents.

The section marked recreational reading contained many first class books with which every educated person should be familiar. These were attractively bound and caught the eye at once by their artistic appearance. They include plays, the best of poetry, and choice bits of fiction.

The magazine section was composed of those magazines which would be of especial help to teachers in teaching English. The English Journal, The Drama, The Glean, and Child Life were in this list.

The table labelled, good text books, presented quite a variety of good standard texts for all types of English work. According to a statement made by Miss Farks this was one of the most important parts of the exhibit. Its purpose was to enable the teacher to judiciously choose or help to choose his texts.

Another feature of the exhibit was the composition projects. These had been worked out by the various composition classes. They were very suggestive to teachers of composition.

The larger part of the exhibit was composed of aids, devices, lists, and documents. This was a miscellaneous collection of material pertaining to teaching of English. It contained book lists, lists of plays and books and pamphlets of many kinds.

DR. BRECHT WILL ADDRESS DIRECTORS' CONFERENCE

The directors and teachers of Cumberland and Franklin Counties will meet in their annual conference on the Normal School campus, August 2 and 3.

The first day will be directors' day. Dr. Lehman and Miss Hannah Kieffer will lead the discussions in the morning session. In the afternoon Dr. Becht, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, will address the directors. Professor Harley will also talk on "Co-operation."

Friday morning another representative of the State Department will have a place on the program. Then the superintendents will discuss some of the problems they are meeting.

"The New Civics" will be the topic of Dr. Wolfe's address in the afternoon. Rev. D. J. Wetzel will bring to the teachers new suggestions on the vital question "The Morning Exercises."

PEDAGOGUES CHALLENGE NORMAL VARSITY TO DUEL

Normalites Face Stiff Proposition to Win Home Championship

Perhaps the most exciting Base Ball game of the season will be staged next Tuesday evening at 5:30, when the men of letters will challenge the humble varsity in a five inning duel, for home championship.

Umpire in chief, Stewart, with his assistant, Schuel, will start the game promptly, so the shadows of evening will cast no reflections on any of the expected plays.

The faculty line up will be selected from the following list of players:

Grove 2b	Gilbert 3b
Krebs 1b	Pennington cf
Hoerner c	Peffer lf
English ss	Lehman 1b
Harley cf	Smith 2b
Lackhove cf	Wolfe 3b
Heiges lf	Carl ss
Sharadin p	Slyter p

Since this game is a special feature not included in the regular schedule, students will pay five cents admission. Proceeds will be for the benefit of the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A.

The Summer Reflector office has been moved to room 61 on the second floor. The old office will be used as a supply room.

SIX HUNDRED STUDENTS ON WAYNESBORO TOUR

Unanimous Vote Is Taken By School To Send Letter Of Appreciation To Chamber Of Commerce

THE SHOP INSPECTION PROVED EDUCATIONAL

About 600 students and faculty took advantage of the trip to Waynesboro and Pen Mar last Friday. The delegation was accommodated with a special train on the Western Maryland Railroad. The train arrived at Waynesboro at 9:45. Half of the passengers, making up groups 1 and 2 were discharged in the old Western Maryland station the other half making up groups 3 and 4 were left at the Geiser Station. A number of alumni, business men and friends greeted the various groups as they landed.

The tour of the shops and factories began at once. Among the industries visited were: The Frick Company, The Wayne Tool Company, the Emerson-Brantingham Company, Decca Disc, Victor Tool Company, Landis Machine, Landis Tool, Landis Engineering Company and the Bostwick-Lyon Bronze Company.

After the touring the factories lunch was served on the Snyder Avenue School. The lunch consisted of ham and cheese sandwiches, pickles, potato chips, ice cream, cakes and iced tea. After lunch the students visited the Y. M. C. A. and then the Arcade theater where they were entertained by a Comic picture, "The Shiek of Araby."

Those who were interested in the pouring of castings then went to the

Charles Hoerner and Girls' Choral Society Represent Music Department

The Cumberland Valley Music Club gave a recital in the Training School chapel, Thursday evening, July 19. The program consisted of piano, voice, and violin solos, chorus numbers and two piano selections.

The musical talent represented Carlisle, Shippensburg, Chambersburg, Hagerstown, and other towns of the valley. The music department of this school offered a violin solo played by Mr. Charles D. Hoerner and two chorus numbers by the Girls' Choral Society.

On account of the limited space only those who were especially interested in music were given a ticket for admission by the music department of the school.

GETTYSBURG BATTLEFIELD TO BE VISITED BY STUDENTS

Initial plans for a Student Excursion to the Gettysburg Battlefield on August 11 are being made. Prof. Krebs, Chairman of the Committee explained in Chapel last Tuesday that those who wish to go will be conveyed in trucks. It is planned to leave shortly before noon and eat lunch on the way. Provision for dinner has not yet been made. More definite arrangements will be announced

Frick Company Foundry and viewed the process. The remainder of the group spent their extra time visiting the stores and places of interest. At 3 o'clock the entire group assembled at the railroad station. Here the school's Cheer leader led the group in cheers and yells before the train left for Pen-Mar.

When the train arrived at the park, each passenger was supplied with a box of lunch. This was disposed of as quickly as possible. The sights and amusements of the place held the interest of the visitors during their stay. During the evening the dance floor attracted many. At 9 o'clock the train left Pen-Mar for the return trip. Midnight found the crowd tired but happy at Shippensburg.

Through a letter from Albert W. Culton, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Waynesboro wishes to express its appreciation for the school's visit to the town. The people of Waynesboro think this has been the most genteel and orderly group that has ever visited in their community.

At the Chapel exercises last Tuesday morning the students decided by a unanimous vote to send a letter of appreciation to the people of Waynesboro expressing thanks for the hospitality shown during their visit in the town.

LITERATURE CLASS GIVES PROGRAM ON TENNYSON

Members of Professor Stewart's class in English Literature gave a Tennyson Program, Monday afternoon. A talk on his life and works and several selections from his best known poems were the principal features. Dr. Heiges and Professor English of the faculty were the guests of the class. Each spoke briefly on what gain a pupil should derive from a study of Literature.

DR. COOVER OF GETTYSBURG TO SPEAK AT VESPER SERVICE

CARLISLE MINISTER SPEAKS AT SUNDAY VESPER SERVICE

Dr. H. B. Stock, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Carlisle, spoke at the Vesper Service Sunday evening.

Dr. Stock took for his text, "Tests of a Christian Life and Character as Portrayed in the Scriptures." He gave five tests that each one should have to live a Christian Life.

The first test is knowledge. The knowledge must be applied to humanity and put into action and service before it is a real test for Christian Character.

Consistency is another test applied to life. He stated that Life is a school, it never ends; so also a real Christian life never ends.

Dr. Stock compared the life of a Christian to a fruitful branch. The idea of a Christian life is to bear fruit. Christ is the vine, the Christian is the branch, and the branch must produce good fruit. The Christian must make his life useful.

"By this all men know that ye are my Disciples that ye hath lived one for the other." There are different kinds of love; love of friends, love of enemies and Christian love. He also stated that charity is given the translation of love.

Every Christian should give to the world the love that is born into the heart with the acceptance of God. The test of a Christian life is "That ye love one another."

The last real test gathers the other tests together. To be a Christian you must be Christlike. Pupils who pass through the school of Christ have something that makes them different. The real Christian cannot separate Life and Christ.

Miss Hall played a violin solo during the service.

Professor Pennington, Paul Mehring and Frank Workman went on a fishing trip to Mongul, Saturday afternoon. Twenty-two fish were caught by the party.

MISS ARNOLD ADDRESSES RURAL TEACHERS' CLUB

Miss Edna Arnold, dean of women, addressed the Summer Session Country Life Club in the Training School chapel Tuesday afternoon. The topic was: "What the Community has a right to expect from the teacher socially."

Miss Arnold stated that social conventions are just things that come from the heart. The teacher has a great part in training boys and girls in social customs so that they will feel at ease in the society of their own community as well as in other communities where they may go. In order to do this the teacher himself must be trained. This knowledge can be gained from books and from people who had more experience than we. If the teacher trains the children in true politeness "To do the kindest things in the kindest way" then she has fulfilled in a large measure her part in the community socially.

"Another feature of the meeting was the novel demonstration of playing a hand saw by Donald Kluck. Very few of those present ever knew that "The End of a Perfect Day" and "Home Sweet Home" could be tapped so musically to the tune of an old hand saw. Miss Zora Rice was the accompanist.

VISITOR IMPRESSED WITH WORK OF SCHOOL BAND

Oscar Little, a merchant of Concord, Pa., visited the school last week. He was here during the Commencement week and appreciated the music that was given by the band. He extended an invitation to the band to play at the Path Valley Picnic, August 18. Prof. Slyter states that the band will be unable to play for this picnic unless more members turn out for band rehearsals.

SHIPPENSBURG NORMAL WINS 4-0 GAME FROM ARENDTSTVILLE

Normal's Heavy Batting Wins Game Arendtsville ball fans saw an old time game Saturday afternoon, when its fast team crossed bats with Shippensburg Normal Varsity.

Neither team was able to score until the eventful fifth inning, when Grba doubled to center, Eppley singled and Luse succeeded in giving the horse hide, a two base ride to left, scoring Grba and Eppley.

Sharadin faced only thirty batters in the entire nine innings and held them to a no run game.

The score stood 2-0 until Kane gave Luse a walk in the ninth inning, Hoerner followed with a two bagger, then Rice connected with the pill for a three base drive over left field, scoring two more runs or Shippensburg.

Arendtsville had one hit in the closing inning but were shut out by the fast work of the infield.

Morning Hours

Outdoors it is beautiful,
Calm and silence reign everywhere,
Myriad of stars both bright and dim,
Keep watch through the night,
Not a breeze stirs the leaves,
Shadows here,
Shadows there,
But not to the moonlight but
Edison's light,
On the grass a patchwork
More beautiful than a quilt,
Two thirty in the morning,
I like it.

In doors it is quiet
The four walls press it upon you,
Sleep is many miles away,
The clock has ceased its ticking,
No lights are blinking at you,
Silence now,
Silence still.

Heavier, heavier grows the burden,
A spooky creak or a chanticleer's call
Would be a delight

Two thirty in the morning
I hate it.

She's a friend to one and all,
To us most near our Mater dear
Be true and hear her call.

BLOOMSBURG FACULTY

DINES ON RATTLE-SNAKE

Fifteen women and three men, all members of the faculty of the Bloomsburg State Normal School, roasted and ate a rattle-snake at an outing Tuesday and some of them declared they enjoyed it. They drove by motor truck to North Mountain, where one of the members of the party killed a rattle-snake four feet long having seven rattles. Every member of the party handled the snake alive and then it was killed. A suggestion that it be cooked and eaten met with favor and this was done. One of the women members declared:

"It was fairly good eating but rather tough."

GAME TO BIGLERVILLE

Shippensburg Normal played its second game of the afternoon, Saturday with Biglerville. The game was closely contested throughout. Aside from the second inning neither team was able to score.

Both tossers showed good form in holding their opponents to almost a no hit game, only two hits being made throughout the entire combat.

Normal received a defeating score in the second, when Biglerville filled the bases through a hit, walk and an error Bringham laid down a bunt along first base line. The fielder supposing this to be a foul did not complete the play until two runs were scored and called safe by the umpire.

JULY NUMBER OF HERALD

READY FOR DISTRIBUTION

The Commencement number of the Normal School Herald is ready for distribution in the principal's office. The number contains a report of the Commencement activities of the Class of '23. Dr. Lehman's address, "A Diploma or an Education" is an important feature of the paper.

A copy of the Constitution of the Men's Association is valuable material for all the men of the school. The letter from J. M. Hoover, a graduate of the school and a missionary in Borneo during the last twenty years, is another interesting item in this issue.

John Herron White '23 has just received notification of his appointment as Second Lieutenant of Infantry in the Officers' Reserve Corps, from Adj. General H. H. O'Fiel. White will not be in active service unless called by special orders from Secretary of War.

MISS ARNOLD EXPLAINS FIRE DRILL PROCEDURE

Thursday evening Miss Arnold called a meeting of Main Building and Dormitory girls in the Training School Chapel. The question of fire drills and noise was discussed.

Miss Arnold stated that at present there is great danger of fire on account of the amount of waste material about the building. The workmen are liable to be careless about smoking.

The method of procedure in a fire drill was then explained. The first signal will be one long and two short rings. At that time each girl will immediately close the windows in her room, leave the door open and step out into the corridor prepared to leave at the ringing of the next bell. At the next signal, three short rings everybody leaves the building.

The girls on the third floor Dorm will leave by means of the fire escape at the end of each corridor. On the second floor the bathroom and training school corridors will use the fire escapes. Bridge corridor will come down the stairs and leave by the door under the bridge. On first floor the girls will go out by the front entrance and the door under the bridge.

Third floor main building girls will use the fire escape facing the girls' Dorm. Chapel corridor, fourth floor will leave by the central stairway. All other girls on the fourth floor will leave by the fire escape nearest the dorm.

Each corridor will have a fire captain and each floor a fire chief. Every girl will be given a number. As soon as the buildings are emptied each corridor will form in line so that the fire captain can easily take the roll.

Miss Arnold asks that the girls be a little more thoughtful about making noise. Slamming of doors, loud laughing, and talking are very annoying to those who wish to study during vacant periods.

WORK ON MAIN BUILDING IN STILL UNDER WAY

Further improvements on the main building are being made. The annex to the kitchen is almost completed. Work on the chapel is far enough advanced to permit the students to go through to the library. The large steel girder, which is to support the balcony is in place.

The indoor fire escapes will soon be completed. The workmen will start remodeling the dining rooms as soon as the Summer term closes. Pipes for the new water system are being placed. They are larger than those in the old system. A new lighting system is being installed. The switch box has been placed in the lower corridor outside the dining room. The lights for all the buildings are to be controlled here.

Frames for three large windows are in place in the eastern end. This greatly improves the appearance of the building.

WILL DEMONSTRATE

WINSTON READERS

Miss Good and Miss Burk will demonstrate the use of the Winston Readers Friday afternoon at 3:15 in the Chapel of the Training School. Miss Good will show how the readers are used for oral reading. Miss Burk will demonstrate their use for silent reading.

HAVE REGARD FOR THE RIGHTS OF OTHERS

Consideration for the rights and privileges of others is one of the many principles that we as students should observe.

Many of us do not practice consideration but instead we do the opposite. We fail to observe study hours as we should; we cause undue noise in the halls; we talk loudly and sometimes become boisterous after the "lights-out" bell has rung; we hold parties in the rooms of our cronies robbing them of both their sleep and their time and in many other ways we hinder others from performing their work and rob the fellow who must labor hard for the preparation of his lessons of that opportunity for success which is his. We certainly would not deliberately steal our schoolmate's money or other belongings but many of us haven't any scruples against stealing his time, destroying his interest and ruining his chances for success which in many respects means far more than even dollars and cents.

There are many among us who are spending money for this training; there are others who have been sent here by parents to develop into good capable men and women while still others have come to make the very best of their opportunities. If those of us to whom this applies would please exercise a little more care in our actions and think of the other person when about to do some deed of questionable character our efforts here at school would accomplish much.

WASTED TIME

Many of the students here at school are continually complaining of being too busy. The teachers overwork them; their schedules are too heavy; their duties are too strenuous; and so forth and so forth.

It is true that everybody is busy to greater or less degree. Much time is spent in class, in hunting references in the library, standing in the "bread line," or preparing lessons. On the other hand, how many minutes are passed on the campus, in the streets, wandering up and down the halls, talking to this person and that one, or day dreaming in classes.

If each individual would systematize his routine of work so that he would have a certain time for everything, then his hours would run along smoothly and he wouldn't be so worried about getting all his duties accomplished.

If all those lost moments were gathered together and put to some use, whether work or profitable pleasure, one wouldn't complain about being so terribly overworked.

It is not the busy hours but the wasted minutes that count and make the day seem long and tedious.

Don't squander your time! Look out for those wasted minutes!

NORMAL WINS SECOND GAME FROM LOCAL ALL STARS

Wednesday evening Shippensburg Normal Varsity took the field while the Shippensburg All Stars faced one of Normal's most promising pitchers who held the box for seven innings, allowing only four hits.

Normal closed the first inning with three runs, the second with one, while neither team had a hit in the third.

The All Stars shone in the fourth when Johnson knocked a home run, which won loud applause from the enthusiastic spectators.

The fifth inning proved uneventful for both teams. In the sixth Normal's home run King drove the marble against the fence for his third round trip on the Eckels field this Summer.

The Grand Stand for the first time during the Summer Term were up on the toes with the old time pep. Normal's Cheer leader, Orner, giving fifteen Rab's for Jacobs.

Fraker retired the All Stars in the seventh with three fans. Normal played a wonder game. Although they had lead seven fine runs the contest was a hard fought battle until the last man was down.

Ball Fans contend this was one of the fastest and most interesting games of the season.

All Stars 0 0 0 1 0 0 0=1
 Normal 3 1 0 1 0 1 x=6

"TIMOTHY'S QUEST" FEATURE AT CAMPUS MOVIE SHOW

Three different pictures were shown at the movies given on the campus Saturday evening.

"Weeping Waters" pictured the Oregon Country. The scenery of this country was appreciated by all present, and many exclamations were made as the scenes were flashed on the screen.

"Boys to Board," the humorous picture of the evening showed real life of a boy. The tricks as portrayed by the boys suggests the saying, "Boys will be boys."

"Timothy's Quest," the feature of the evening, pictured the hardships of the orphans, Timothy and Gay. Timothy cared for his sister Gay from the time of their guardian's death until they found a home with their aunt, Vilandy, their aunt, refused at first to

REFLECTIONS

ROBERT LUSE

Our journey to Waynesboro
 We review with regret,
 Although we had a swell time
 Most all are sleepy yet.

A frolicking bunch of students
 Kept the pep real high.
 Some acted a little like they did
 Before the State went dry.

How they did cheer the Profs.
 Razz henpecked students too,
 For others didn't have a chance
 Whene'er this gang passed through.

When we stopped 'twas sultry,
 About one hundred in the shade;
 They say that's why they treated us
 To pretzels and lemonade.

Things were beginning to slow up
 We wanted something brisk,
 And found that very thing at last
 A dance with the Deca-Disc.

We wandered all about that town
 Interesting sights to see,
 Most all finally cooled off with
 "The Sheik of Araby."

keep the children but at the end accepted both children. The children played their parts exceptionally well throughout the picture.

During the showing of the picture Miss Keiffer gave a Radio Concert.

Those not traveling singly
 Were packed from shoes to ears,
 With junk we all go wild about
 Those foolish souvenirs.

When we entrained for Pen-Mar
 And left that dear old town,
 Our thoughts were noble as we spoke
 Words of praise and renown.

Pen-Mar kept us busy
 The whole time we were there,
 Although we found some helpful things
 'Twas mostly just hot air.

Wonder what happened to the fellows
 Coming home on the train,
 Somehow we missed their lockstep,
 Also their loud refrain.

We would like to ask some
 Without words of reproach
 How they got along so nicely
 Spooning in the first coach.

When to the dorm we did return
 With eyelids heavily drooping,
 And they say, "We won't get home till morn"
 We know they weren't spooning.

Coach A. J. Sharadin and family spent the week-end in Elizabethtown, Lancaster County, visiting at the Masonic Homes which now has 359 guests.

"SNAPPY DRESSER"

That's what we'd like to hear said about us, isn't it? Well just pay us a visit and choose from our wonderful showing. If it were possible to say that it is in our Men's Furnishing Department that the most care in buying is exercised, we would surely do so, but since every department is merchandised with the same extreme care, you are assured that there are no finer assortments of men's wear to be had in any store.
