Ever upward, striving, climbing,
Onward Bloomsburg goes.

ity and splendid life have inspired us to grow mentally,

OBITER

O. H. Bakeless, M. A.

"A teacher - A friend"

Mr. Bakeless first came to this Teachers College in 1890. In 1895 he left to resume his studies toward a higher degree. After earning his M.A. he taught at the Carlisle Indian Training School for several years. Mr. Bakeless again took up his work at Bloomsburg in 1902 and has served faithfully ever since.

Mr. Bakeless is a true teacher. In the many years that he has taught us we found him pleasant at all times. Seldom was his countenance lacking that cheerful aspect for which we will remember him; every day found him greeting his students with a pleasant smile; his patience was as the Rock of Gibraltar in trying to make us understand the deep thoughts involved in the philosophy of education. His tireless efforts in the interests of this Senior Class, not only as a group but as individuals, can never be repaid. The Senior Class activities were always graced with his presence and his advice was always heeded. As individuals he helped us to solve many of the difficult problems which arose during our school life.

We not only remember Mr. Bakeless as a teacher, but also as a friend and pal; many times during our stay at this school he has emulated the characters in Oliver W. Holmes', "The Boys." He had been "mixed up with the boys" on several occasions, but was not "taken out without making a noise." He was always accepted as one of "The Boys." At conferences he always had a funny story to tell, which was often the means of emphasizing the point being presented.

In taking leave of Mr. Bakeless we cherish in our hearts the thought that we have been influenced greatly by his ideals, and with these in mind will make greater and better teachers.

Charles H. Albert, A. M.

Educator—Lecturer—Friend

Professor Charles H. Albert came to the college in the fall of 1887, the same year in which Dr. D. J. Waller, Jr., began his first term as Principal, a year that also brought Prof. William Noetling, Prof. George E. Wilbur and Prof. H. A. Curren here as members of the faculty.

Before his graduation from Bloomsburg, Prof. Albert had taught three years in Snyder and Union Counties, and following his graduation he taught two years in the schools of Selinsgrove under Prof. John G. Cope as Principal of Schools.

Professor Albert was then Principal of the Catawissa schools for two years, and opened their first High School building during the term of 1881. For four years he was Superintendent of Schools in Waynesboro, and in the fall of 1887, he came to the Bloomsburg State Normal School, as a member of the faculty, upon the invitation of Dr. D. J. Waller, Jr.

He served the school as a member of the faculty from 1887 until the time of his resignation to the Board of Trustees July 1, 1926. This record has given him a continuous service in the school of thirty-nine years, and as a student or teacher of forty-five years. He was a member of that small group of men, who laid the foundation for the success of the school, and who through its earlier and later years gave the institution the exceptional reputation, which it has always enjoyed in educational circles.

Geography was his specialty and, while at the school, he built up one of the finest geographical laboratories in the State, without any expense to the institution.

During these years Professor Albert was much in demand in Institute work. He has lectured in every county in Pennsylvania, in some many times. He has done similar work in eighteen different states, from Maine to Alabama, and west to Illinois and Nebraska.

He has been active in the religious and civic life of Bloomsburg and always ready to work for any worthy cause. He was President of the Bloomsburg Y. M. C. A. twelve years. A devoted member of the Lutheran Church, he was chairman of the Building Committee, which erected the new edifice dedicated to worship Nov. 8, 1925.

Prof. Albert was always a sincere friend of the students and ever ready to help us. He was active in the work of the College Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., and was of the firm conviction that the finest attribute of every student and prospective teacher was a strong Christian character.

Believing that "The world's a stage on which all parts are played," the Staff has attempted to portray in this thirteenth volume of the Obiter the rebirth of our Alma Mater, and the renewed zeal of her governing program which made the Drama of Bloomsburg

Greetings to the Class of 1928

It is a great privilege to write into this, the permanent record of your class, the good wishes of the Board of Trustees and of the Faculty, and to convey to you their confidence that you will carry away from the inexhaustible supply of your Alma Mater that same loyalty to the ideals of your profession that has brought honor and high esteem to her alumni in the past.

Dr. Francis B. Haas

Dr. Haas obtained his elementary and secondary education from the Philadelphia public schools. Following his graduation from Central High School in 1904, he decided on teaching as his life's work, and entered the Philadelphia School of Pedagogy. In 1906 he took his first teaching position in the Kinderton Elementary School.

From the beginning, the work of Dr. Haas has been exceptional, and he always seemed exempt from most of the difficulties and embarrassment which usually beset the novice. The Philadelphia School of Pedagogy has bestowed many honors upon him, but being possessed with an insatiable desire for self-improvement, he kept on with those studies which might make him of still wider professional usefulness.

He received his Bachelor's degree from Temple University in 1913, and his degree of M.A. from the University of Pennsylvania in 1922. In the year 1924 Dr. Haas was appointed Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction, and with his past experience made an excellent man for the position. Owing to the death of Dr. Becht, Dr. Haas became Superintendent of Public Instruction. Dr. Haas has the combination of professional, administrative, and executive skill of which all great educators are made.

Dr. Haas became President of the Bloomsburg State Teachers College in 1927. All the students have learned to love him, and his influence will be felt in their lives after they have left the college. Dr. Haas is not only an excellent instructor and administrator, but a wonderful counselor and friend.

He is a member of the Phi Delta Kappa Fraternity.

S. Irvin Shortess

In our Junior year when the question of choosing an advisor came before the class, our thoughts naturally turned to one who seemed so friendly and so interested in us, and we chose Mr. Shortess to act as our counselor for the next two years.

Mr. S. Irvin Shortess was born in York, Pennsylvania. He received his early education in the public schools of the state, and graduated with the A.B. degree from Albright College.

Later he did graduate work in science at the University of Pennsylvania. He has taught in the High Schools of Sunbury, Wilkes-Barre, and Berwick, and in Girard College in Philadelphia. Aside from his major interest in science, he has done some work in music, and is able to assist in various musical organizations in our school. He is a member of the Masonic Order and of the Kiwanis Club, and so is active in the community affairs as well as those of the campus.

He has ever been ready to assist us in every capacity and to encourage us in all of our efforts to make our class a successful organization. As a class, we have enjoyed contact with one who is not only an instructor, but a true friend.

Gone But Not Forgotten

Not so long ago, when we stop to think about it, a very anxious and excited group of young people made their way to Bloomsburg for the first time. There were about four hundred of us in all, and I wonder if we will ever forget that first day here. It did not take us long to get settled, however, and after about a month of being homesick, feeling strange, and what not, we became acquainted with the whys and wherefor of the institution.

About the first thing to greet us and to occupy our thoughts and attentions was Freshman Customs. We never want to forget those days of green ribbons and black dinks, to say nothing of the penalties attached for disobedience. But we found that serving under the upper classmen only made us more capable of accomplishing the work of prospective school teachers.

We had not been here long before our class was organized, and we began work in earnest. There are many social affairs which we cannot help remembering, such as the Kid Party. The costumes and programs were well worked out by those in charge, and every one voted a good time. A cast composed of class members staged "The Goose Hangs High," a play which was a credit to all concerned. The most important event of all was our class "prom." Here we showed the seniors our ability to entertain. The Gym was beautifully decorated, and the colors, together with the music made every one's heart glad.

We excelled, not only socially but in other things as well. Athletic teams and club activities always had a good proportion of Freshmen representatives.

We owe much credit to the members of the Faculty who helped guide us through our first year at College. Our success here has been due chiefly to the standards we set as Freshmen, and we feel better equipped as future teachers because of that year spent here.

In By-gone Days

The Obiter

In the make-up of a good annual there are three important elements, the financial, the literary, and the artistic. To place these elements on a higher plane has been the objective toward which the 1928 Obiter Staff worked diligently and long, producing as a result the finest Year Book since the origination of the custom in 1915. The Financial element was under the capable direction of the Business and Advertising Managers. Financing the publication of the book required considerable ability along business lines. In size it compares favorably with any publication put out by a State Teachers' College. Knowing that it would be impossible to make the book a success by student subscription alone, the Advertising Manager waged an extensive and intensive campaign among the business men of Bloomsburg and surrounding towns.

The literary element represents the efforts of the entire class, and for that reason may not have fared as well as the preceeding or following element. The abilities of the various individuals who contributed are not the same. The standard set at the beginning of the year was always rigidly adhered to, however, and any contributions not measuring up to standard were returned to the author to be rewritten or were revised by the Editor and his two associates. By their efforts they have succeeded, even though handicapped by the large amount of printed material, in improving the literary element.

We were fortunate in having a capable individual directing the artistic element of the annual. The border designs and all the art work are products of his pen. The theme was suggested by him and met the unanimous approval of the Staff. An examination of the beautiful, original sketches and designs will leave no doubt that the artistic standard has been raised to a higher level than heretofore.

We have put forth every effort to make the 1928 Obiter better than any preceding Bloomsburg publication. The highest quality photographs were secured. The engravers put forth extra effort to make the engravings faultless. The greatly improved campus views, alone, make this book worth having. Innovations introduced by the Art Editor have made the snap-shot and group sections better than ever. From the first to the last page there is manifested to even the most casual observer an extraordinary amount of work. The Staff, however, are satisfied that they have given their best efforts. Your pride in ownership will be their reward.

KATHRYN M. ABBETT
Bloomsburg High School
Rupert, Pa.
"Kate"

She isn't tall, she isn't short
She isn't thin or fat;
She's just about half-way between
And a jolly good sport at that.

"Kate" comes from the large railroad center, Rupert. She entered Bloomsburg State Teachers College in the year of 1925. After due consideration she chose the Junior High School as the field of her endeavors. This is sufficient to prove to us that "Kate" has lots of ambition for very few girls elect this work.

This young lady with the smiling countenance is known to have a loving and gentle disposition. She is inclined to be quite studious, but not to the extent that she misses all the fun. She is one of the best sports in the class and is always ready for a good time. If you hear any one saying, "What books shall I take home?" you'll know that "Kate" is near.

"Kate" likes athletics and her main hobby is basketball. Another of her hobbies is writing plans for Math. She is a shark in mathematics and solves all the problems in the Locker room.

She is known as one of the triplets. Milly and Hester never feel quite complete until "Kate" is with them, especially to eat, drink and be merry. It is quite certain that Kate is going to make a successful teacher, but we can offer her a little valuable advice—buy an alarm clock. Though she never worries we do give her credit for thinking.

Does "Kate" belong to any club? I should say she does. She takes an active part in the Girls' Glee Club, the Mixed Chorus, and she is also a member of the Mu Phi Sigma.

Her sunny disposition, ready wit, and keen sense of humor have won for her a wide circle of friends, all of whom wish her success.

JULIA ABERANT (LASKI)
Wyoming High School
Kingston, Pa.
"Jule"

"Jule" is a true friend and a real good sport. Judging from all appearances one would think she is very quiet and sedate, but appearances are deceiving. She is good-natured and always willing to help others.

"Jule" is quite an athlete; she is a shark at tennis and not so bad at other games.

"Jule" is one of the most good-natured and jolliest girls in the dormitory. She is a happy-go-lucky girl and is expected to teach, but expectations do not always come true.

Julia's favorite pastime is telling fortunes. Besides telling fortunes, Julia loves to eat.

Why did Julia go home every week-end? Somehow, she just couldn't acclimate herself to our college. It seems as if she would pine away if she had to stay more than two week-ends at the "dorm." We thought that she would be a school teacher, but as it is, home economics has proven more attractive to her—therefore she received her degree—MRS.

We all extend our wishes for your success and happiness, Julia.

HARRIET ADAMS
Bloomsburg High School
Bloomsburg, Pa.
"Adams"

Here is one of our quiet, conscientious students (?). Harriet was a member of the class of twenty-six of the Bloomsburg High School.

She is one of our popular girls, especially with the opposite sex, but she has a smile and a good wish for everyone.

Harriet is one of our pleasure-loving girls, but loves her work too (?)—at least, she always manages to keep within the favor of her teachers as well as her classmates.

Harriet has decided to spend the rest of her life teaching the Intermediate Grades. We wonder how long her ambition will last. We hope for a long time, as she is capable of handling and understanding the children; but we are afraid not, knowing as much as we do about her popularity with the opposite sex. Just the same, Harriet is a true and sincere friend to everyone.

She was an active participant in basketball, hockey, and volley ball, and a member of the Mixed Chorus.

"A willing heart, a helping hand,
Always ready on demand."

Best wishes and success to you, Harriet, in all you undertake in future life.

HELEN M. ADZEMA
Mt. Carmel High School
Mt. Carmel, Pa.
"Helen"

"Helen" is Mt. Carmel's contribution to us. At the beginning of her Junior Year she thought she would not like us and our school, but she soon became acquainted with a number of us and therefore decided we weren't so bad—after all. We found in "Helen" a worthwhile friend. She is that special type in whom you can find a satisfactory solution to your problem—knowing that it is sincere.

She has well displayed her ability in the field of teaching. The children were very fond of her.

"Helen" has one weakness which is of especial interest to us. Once in a while she decides to talk in her sleep. One night while under the hypnotic influence of sleep, "Helen" collected our Ed. Measurements Charts. Perhaps "Helen" will tell you how it came about.

We can't say that "Helen" excels in sports. In sportsmanship, yes; in sports—(???) She likes to play a good game, but what's the use of carrying off the honors when there are so many other good athletes in the field.

Moreover, don't think that "Helen" takes no interest in the opposite sex—merely because you don't hear her comment on them doesn't necessarily mean she disregards them.

To "Helen" we extend heartiest wishes for her success.

ANNA ALBERT
Scranton Central High School
Scranton, Pa.
"Anne"

"Gee! I'm starved," says some hungry member of third floor. "Where's that "Anne" Albert? I'll bet she has something to eat." Sure enough, she usually has, and through her generosity many a girl has been "saved from starvation."

Food, however, is not her only line for, although she is small, she is the kind of girl who could be successful in most anything she undertakes. As a friend, no one could be more sincere, and yet her interesting and entertaining manner has surely kept her part of third floor from drastic actions when the blues come stealing around.

As a basketball captain she is a wow! and when it comes to Camp Fire Girls she is all there, too. Having hailed from Scranton she is a member of the "Electric City Club," but this does not necessarily account for her being such a live wire. Her artistic ability is brought out in Sketch Club. When there is a poster or an artistic advertisement to be made, she is not only willing, but able to do justice to the occasion.

The saying "good things come in small packages," could not be applied more fittingly to anyone, than it to "Anne."

MABEL ALBERTSON
Benton Vocational School
Benton, Pa.
"May Bell"

She has a musical and most poetic soul—She loves you if you mention Amy Lowell; Beethoven and Sinclair Lewis are her pets. She thrives on old Shakespearian sonnets. Grieg and Verdi just eat from her hand. And she wields a weird magnetism over ordinary man.

When we tell about Mabel, we just have to mention the fact that her father is a distinguished violinist. That is why she is so musical. Inheritance . . . Environment . . . things like that, you know.

Mabel is one of these strangely magnetic, silent girls—the Abraham Lincoln type. She reads such men as Freud, but we are inclined to think she likes John Erskine better—but would she admit it? No.

Do you remember how she used to carry "Galahad," and "Adam and Eve" around so preciously?

You must never get in an argument with this lady, because she immediately takes out her little rifle, and shoots your logic full of holes with peculiar technical terms; so you don't know what she's talking about. That's one of her tactful ways.

Last year she belonged to the Geographic Society and this year she is secretary of the Current Literature Club. If you want to know what the most demoralizing and talked-of book of the month is, ask Mabel. She knows.

To wish this young lady success is futile as she is the type that needs no help.

GLADYS AMMERMAN
Lake Vocational High School
Lake Ariel, Pa.
"Glad"

If you see a girl with her arms full of books and just about flying through the halls to class, you can be sure that it is Gladys. She is a very studious girl who always has her work done. She is a true pal, a good sport; she believes in the motto—"Work before play."

Although Gladys was not a member of our class until this year, due to the fact that she was a member of the summer class, she soon made herself acquainted and has proven a worthy member.

Gladys impresses one at first glance as being very quiet, but you should hear her with her gang. Without a doubt there is no one who participates more in the fun than she. She is a member of the Glee Club and Y. W. C. A.

We often wonder why she waits impatiently for the mail and then rushes down to get it. Our wonders cease when she comes back bringing "Al" as the main subject of discussion.

Gladys likes to look at pictures of a "Byke," but not a "bike" with wheels.

It has been said thus: "Personality is the key to success." If such is the case, we know that Gladys will make an excellent teacher. We all wish her the success and happiness she deserves.

FAY M. APPLEMAN
Orangeville High School
Lightstreet, Pa.
"Fay"

"Fay" is one of our day students hailing from the big town—Lightstreet. Some seem to think "Fay" is very quiet. They do not know her well enough evidently. "Fay" does try to be serious at times, but Oh! Say! Have you seen her roll her eyes?

"Fays" chief aim is to be a friend to everyone. Her reputation as a confidante is proof of this. It is never too much trouble for her to help anyone. Whenever possible, she is always there on the job to do what she can. She has found pleasure in everything so far, and we are sure she will in the future.

Her greatest ambition is to become a teacher. We are sure she will be successful. Be easy on your pupils, "Fay."

"Fay" drives a Dodge, but she prefers riding in an Essex. Perhaps the driver is the immediate reason, but what is the ultimate cause?

To those who know thee not, no words can paint,
And those who know thee, know all words are faint.

CAROLYN BESSIE ATEN

Berwick High School
Catawissa, Pa.
"Ted"

Carolyn, a little blue-eyed lass, lives not far from Millinville. She entered Bloomsburg State Teachers College in 1926 and took as her field of work the primary group for which she is well fitted. Her voice is sweet and she has always kept for her motto "silence is golden."

There is no doubt as to Carolyn making a success for we all know she will be well liked among the children. As we have spent two years with Carolyn we found out that she is a very good student. We always find Carolyn in a lonely corner by herself studying hard. She is very anxious to have her lesson plans in on time. Carolyn always looks pale around examination time and we wonder why; but just have a little social chat with Carolyn and she will soon tell you that her test marks are on her mind. She will be quite a successful housekeeper as she has had quite a lot of experience in boarding herself while going to school.

She ranks high among the students. She is a member of the Glee Club and is always in her place every Wednesday night. Outside of music her favorite sport is hiking and reading books. She learned to like books by being a member of the Book Club.

Now "Ted" don't worry because you are so small, for all good things are done up in small packages. May success crown your efforts in your chosen profession.

RUTH AVERY

Central High School
Scranton, Pa.
"Ruthie"

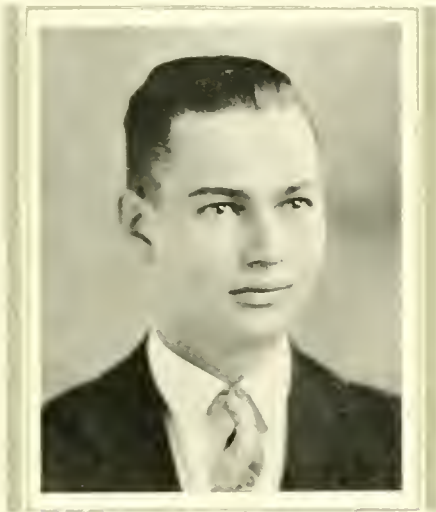

Five feet tall, blue eyes, with all other things which go to make a blonde. "Ruthie" has a sunny disposition and a very strong will for such a tiny girl. Sociability, dependability, sympathy, and understanding make her a true pal.

She likes to sing, dance, and read novels. "Ruthie" is a wonder at helping with evening parties. When in a crowd everything is "just niftie" with "Ruthie."

You can wager that she will always have her work done for she is a conscientious and earnest student. Nothing is too much for her to do even if it does take quite a bit of her valuable energy to complete it.

When she first came to school she was all wrapped up in athletics. Hockey took her fancy and she finished the season as a fast right wing on the winning team. Of course she kept up with all other sports and was one of the first to receive her numerals.

In her junior year she carried two extra-curricular activities, Book Club and Music Appreciation Club. "Ruthie" was very fortunate to have been chosen chairman of the Social Service Committee of the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet. She has filled this position admirably. "Ruthie" also had the honor of becoming a member of the Mu Phi Sigma sorority. We wish her the best of luck in all her undertakings.

LEROY A. BAER
Berwick High School
Berwick, Pa.
"Cubby" "Baer"

Leroy is one of the "old guard" who enrolled at Bloomsburg in the fall of 1925. Very few of us were aware of his presence that first year as he had very little time to devote to extra-curricular activities. The fact that he commuted and therefore spent most of his time on a North Branch bus prevented him from entering into the life of the school.

By sacrificing his own pleasures to be of service to his classmates he was able to play first violin in the College Symphony Orchestra, and to become a candidate for the track team. His athletic ability was well demonstrated in the track meet at Dickinson Seminary. His perseverance and courage were visibly portrayed by his great finish in the mile run in which event he was pitted against the best "milers" in this section.

Although "Cubby" had little time to devote to extra-curricular activities he was never without time to study. Every open period in his schedule was spent in the library preparing work for his various classes. By hard work he has made quite a reputation as a mathematician and scientist. His training teachers are convinced that they will never again have a student teacher who will compare favorably with Baer. They are certain, and we agree, that he is the criterion for all prospective teachers and students.

With his characteristics we feel sure that he will be successful and we wish him much success and happiness.

FRIEDA BAHLER
Taylor High School
Taylor, Pa.
"Bahler"

Whenever you heard a hearty laugh resound,
You knew that Frieda was around,
Making everyone happy and gay,
And chasing all the blues away.

Frieda is one of the girls from Taylor. Everyone who knows her is proud of the fact because she is one of those friends who proves true no matter how hard she is tried. She is usually happy and has the power to keep everyone else in the same mood. How does she do it? Well, have you heard her laugh? If you have you know that the blues and that laugh simply do not get along together. The laugh wins every time.

Frieda is very sincere in all of her undertakings and when she sets out to win a goal you may rest assured that nothing else will matter until she has won it. By having this attitude toward her work she maintains a high standing in her classes. She never abuses the good, old motto—"Work before pleasure," but she always indulges in the seasonal games of basketball, volley ball, and tennis.

As a school teacher, all of her friends know that she will be a success. She has chosen to teach the Intermediate grades, but it is her desire to teach a sixth-grade class. Nevertheless, we know that she will do her best in whatever grade she teaches.

As a member of the Dramatic Club, Frieda always played her part well. She was also president of the Delta Phi Sigma Sorority which made progress with her as its leader. She displayed another one of her interests by becoming a member of the Camp Fire Girls' Organization. We all wish her great success in her work.

ADELAIDE E. M. BAHR
Central High School
Scranton, Pa.
"Ad"

Blonde hair, blue eyes, a burst of laughter and our "Ad" appears. Why say more?

"Ad" came to us from Scranton in the great February rush of 1927. At first she was one of those quiet little maidens who was always seen but seldom heard, but now??? well, "Ad" can speak for herself.

She spent a great deal of her time in the library. Studying? Oh, no! Not always. Sometimes she was occupied with school matters but then again she was occupied by a certain dark haired lad.

"Ad" makes delicious cocoa as we have all found out and we know she can cook, so whether it was hunger or whether it was thirst we all went to "Ad."

There is only one thing which we fail to understand about "Ad." She casts aside the famous slogan, "Early to bed and early to rise makes one healthy, wealthy and wise." This fact alone will make us remember "Ad" as her favorite saying was, "Oh! I want to sleep." But never mind "Ad," we all have the same falling.

"Ad" was a very active member of the Y. W. C. A. and of the Scranton Club. We wish her all the success whether it is in the chosen profession of teaching or—!

MARTILA LOUISE BAKER
DuBois High School
"Louisy"

"Louisy" came from Clarion Normal in the second semester of our junior year. At first we considered her very quiet and reticent, but our conception of her has greatly changed since then, for "Louisy" has opinions of her own which she can admirably state when the occasion arises. We often enjoy her unexpectedness. She has been a welcome addition to the commuter girls. Her friendliness is irresistible.

When we're in need of a friend she's a friend indeed. Sympathetic, amiable, and sweet will describe her.

"Louisy" enters everything with lots of pep and enthusiasm, even studying, although she sometimes has to burn the midnight oil to accomplish this, for she thoroughly enjoys movies, skating, dancing and turning the dials on the radio.

"Louisy" carries her zeal into athletics even though it is sometimes only to catch the last seven o'clock bus in the morning from Berwick. She is a loyal guard for the commuters' basketball team. She has an indomitable desire for ice-skating. We wonder why?

For extra-curricular work, she has chosen the Y. W. C. A. and Mixed Chorus. The Mu Phi Sigma claims her as an officer.

To an all-a-round good sport, and a lovable pal we wish the best o' luck.

GEORGE E. BAMFORD
Plains High School
Plains, Pa.
"Red" "Bam"

George Bamford came to us untamed from the wild and woolly fastness of Plains. He made his presence known by various means. Among other things it became generally understood that he had taken a leading part in dramatics in high school; later it was discovered that he had led a cow across the stage in the class play.

Nevertheless, "Red" did some mighty fine work in dramatics since his arrival at Bloomsburg. Last year he appeared in the Junior Class play, "The Goose Hangs High," and his efforts were well received by the audience. He has also had prominent parts in several other Dramatic Club productions.

Although much of his time was devoted to dramatics and other activities, "Red" always found time for his studies. Few and far between were the occasions on which he was reprimanded for neglecting his work. To complete the assignment for the following day and then have a good time was always "Bam's" aim.

With his curly red hair and fine physique, "Red" was a popular figure with the "fair ones." For a time he remained one of the stalwarts of North Hall but upon hearing pleasant laughter sounding like the ring of a "Bell" he succumbed. Since that time he is rarely seen unless he is accompanied by _____.

In parting we wish him the best that life affords.

ELLA BARNES
Bloomsburg High School
Bloomsburg, Pa.
"Ed"

This young lady came to us with the group that entered here in our Freshman year. She is one of those good-natured girls who would do anything for a friend. As a result of her fine personality and sacrifice she has many friends whose companionship have made her life enjoyable.

Like all girls, she enjoys playing tricks on her schoolmates and it was the cleverness of these pranks that made us sit up and take notice.

She is a real student and distributes her time properly in applying herself to her work. She is very often seen in the library busily engaged in selecting material for the following day's classes.

As a student teacher she has made considerable progress as our observations and a review of her records have shown us. Her attitude toward her work and natural love for children tend to make her the ideal teacher.

Our love for her has been increased, if that is possible, by the little favors she obliged us by doing.

Judging by her application to her studies here we hope to hear of this young lady on the road to success in the near future.

SARA J. BASSLER
Parsons High School
Parsons, Pa.

"Sadie" "Saharra" "Sal"

"Sadie" hails to us from Parsons High. She is a living example of the old saying, "Still water runs deep." While others fume, argue, and get excited, "Sadie" sits up, maintaining an unbelievable calm and solves the puzzle with a few words.

She is an all-round good sport but does not neglect her work. "Sadie" is loved by all who know her. Her friendship is worth cultivating and she is always ready and willing to help.

"Sadie's" favorite pastime is telling fortunes. She can easily earn a living at this if she decides not to teach school. Besides telling fortunes, "Sadie" loves to tidy up. Scrubbing and shampooing are her favorite jobs. Ask girls on the third floor.

Although "Sadie" comes to us from Parsons she has become a member of the Scranton Gang and is a helper in all that takes place.

She has chosen the primary grades as her realm in which to guide the coming generation along the path of education. We are sure that "Sadie" will succeed as a teacher, although we are not so sure how long she will teach. We wish her the best of luck.

RUTH VIVIAN BAXTER
Berwick High School
Berwick, Pa.
"Ruthie"

A little girl with a sweet smile comes to us every day from Berwick. This smile reveals to a stranger the fact that she is one of the shining lights of the class.

We all like her because of her sympathetic disposition, her willingness to laugh or mope as the mood demands. If she sometimes gets the blues herself, they never last long because she is soon as cheerful as ever.

One's first impression of Ruth is that she is rather shy, just scattering smiles and blushes (?) wherever she goes, but we all know her too well for that, and as a tip—she is quite unlike a saint.

Ruth excels as an artist and has done some very efficient work along that line. Her talent in art won for her the Presidency of the Art Guild.

And does she dream? A nice little cottage in a secluded village—she an artist revealing the beauties of nature and the—well, Ruth hasn't quite decided that point just yet. Probably an artist. Maybe Ruth is soon to leave us? A trip to Germany to study art—that's what she tells us but we know there must be something else to inspire Ruth to take such a long journey.

Dream on. Our best wishes go with you. And at some future time may a knight come riding and take you away from your school room cares and your greatest dream be realized.

Here's a sigh for those who love me,
And a smile for those who hate,
And whatever sky's above me
Here's a heart for every fate.

RUTH M. WEAVER
Catawissa High School
Catawissa, Pa.
"Rufus"

Ruth is one of our many commuters coming to us from the big town of Catawissa.

She is a prominent member of the Rural Group. This organization is very fortunate in having such a worthy member. She selected this group because there's where her interests lie. Her past experience has been with the rural schools so she knows the need for efficient teachers. Ruth is a very diligent student. She is not only seen carrying books, but also using them. She is often seen hurrying toward the "square" to make the first bus home. In the Locker room, after class, Ruth is usually heard asking her pal, "Winnie," "What are you going to do this period?"

She is very likeable. She may seem quiet until you know her—then the fun begins.

"Rufus" has interests other than becoming a teacher. These are music and reading books. She is often seen both in the College Library and in the Town Library looking for a good book to broaden her mind. At home our friend spends much of her spare time playing the piano.

We are sure Ruth will make good at anything she attempts to do for she puts her best efforts into her work. As to how long she will continue in the teaching profession remains to be seen but time will tell. She seems to be very much interested in the opposite sex.

She is President of the Rural Club and also an active member of the Glee Club.

We will remember you as a true whole-hearted member of the class of '28. We wish you all the success to be had in all your undertakings, whatever they may be.

PAULINE E. BELL
Ashley High School
Ashley, Pa.
"Penny"

Blonde hair, bright blue eyes, a burst of laughter and "Penny" is around. She is another of these good sports who are full of pep, and always ready for a good time, carefree, and happy-go-lucky. She never worries about anything and she always comes out O.K. At any time she is ready to do more than her share, especially at the mere mention of the words "Let's eat!"

"Penny's" fondness for bright colors is noted. She prefers bright colors such as "Red." "Library Methods?" She had a course in them last year but "Penny" prefers the advanced course, that she is taking now.

"Penny" believes that there is time for work and a time for play. She never misses an after-dinner dance, and she is just as regular in doing her daily assignments.

The Tau Phi Epsilon sorority values her membership very highly, because she is always willing to do her part, whether it be in work or play. She is also an "associate" member of the Dramatic Club.

In athletics "Penny" shines in basketball, hockey and tennis.

"Penny" believes that she has taken the wrong road for her desires are to be a missionary or a minister's wife; but regardless of what road she pursues, we know that she will meet with success.

ANNA BENNINGER

Dimock High School
Dimock, Pa.

"Anne"

"A little miss, not very tall.
A quiet miss, and friend to all."

"Anne." We hear this name echo throughout the dormitory, especially on fourth floor and immediately know who is being summoned. Anyone wanting help, no matter what it is, will always find a willing hand in 440. "Anne" is known for her splendid ability as a teacher. This will make her future work a grand success if—she continues her present profession, but being a proficient teacher is only one of "Anne's" many virtues. She is an energetic and faithful student. "Work while you work, and play while you play," is her motto.

It has often been noticed that on "Anne's" many trips down town her first stop is always at Bush's. We wonder if the attraction is Ice Cream and Sodas or "a force of habit?" If this matter were to be investigated results would no doubt prove the latter to be true. We wonder why!

During "Anne's" first year at B. S. T. C. her melodious voice swelled the Glee Club. I'm sure they will miss this little warbler in years to come. Then, too, because she was a worthy participant in the "Speech Arts Club." After helping to make these a success "Anne" became a faithful member of the Clothing Club.

In these two short years at College, "Anne" proved to be a loyal classmate. May her future life be one not only of success, but also of joy and happiness—is the wish of her many friends.

DOROTHY MAE BERDINE

Central High School
Binghamton, N. Y.

"Dot"

Curly red hair, blue eyes—a typical titian beauty. She is very fond of red.

"Still waters run deep"—and that is our "Dot." She likes to theorize about philosophy and psychology, and it shows in her personality, for she is attentive, quiet, and dignified.

"Dot" loves to dance and sing, and is a very good entertainer. She certainly loves to read novels, and to eat chocolates. "Dot" is a very interesting chatter-box when given a suitable topic.

She is a student of which anyone could be proud, for she is very dependable and conscientious in all her dealings.

"Dot" is always a good sport, and is an all around athlete. She was one of the first to receive her numerals.

"Dot" has taken a great interest in the social life of the school. In her Junior Year, she was a member of the Speech Arts Club, and Y. W. C. A. She is vice-president of the Hostess Club and an active member of the Mu Phi Sigma Sorority.

"Dot's" few short-comings can easily be overlooked because you know she isn't from Pennsylvania, and so is not accountable. However, she has been a wonderful pal, and we will always wish her the best of luck.

MAE J. BERGHAUSER
Blakely High School
Peckville, Pa.
"Maybe"

Quiet? Not when you know her. "A roguish glance, a naughty air, rippling chuckles here and there."—That's Mae. Her giggle can be heard at anytime or anywhere. Often when asked what she is laughing at she says, "I don't know, I just feel funny."

She has quite a few hobbies, dancing, basketball, singing, movies, and eating. Of the lot, we could say she likes to eat, eat some more, and eat once again, for that seems to be her favorite hobby, and we must say she rides it well.

When it comes to singing, Mae's right there. In Berwick, she spent much time providing music for the rest to dance to. You can always find her in the "gym" in the evenings. We may further characterize Mae by these few lines—

"Rush a bit here,
Rush a bit there,
Rush? Say—that's Mae."

"Sometimes she's happy, sometimes she's sad, her disposition depends on"—the boy friend. But who the boy friend is, we wouldn't even attempt to say, because boy friends with her are like trolley cars, a different one every fifteen minutes.

Mae has chosen the Intermediate Group for her field of work. We really wonder how long she will teach, but anyway, we wish her success as teacher and with that always—happiness.

FLORENCE BERNINGER
Berwick High School
Berwick, Pa.
"Bernie"

Florence is one of those little girls with brown hair and big blue eyes who came to us from Berwick High School.

As a commuter she is seen every day slowly toiling up College Hill to the school, when she should be hurrying for those eight o'clock classes, which begin for her, ten minutes or so later.

At a glance you would take her for a quiet little girl, but she can be counted on to join in any mischief that has been planned. She has a jolly disposition with which she can drive away the blues.

She seems to like camping at Sunbury, for reasons, and that is why she can't wait for this summer to arrive. Her attention is divided between B. S. T. C. and Sunbury, and besides she is one of those few girls who love house work. With her interest in house work and Sunbury, we are afraid she will not remain in the teaching profession very long.

Florence believes in hard work, so long as it is working at a way of getting out of work. But she gets her work finished just the same.

Were it not for the lesson plans "Bernie" would agree with the most enthusiastic "boosters" of the teaching profession in any wild claim they might make. As a result of these plans Florence very often returned to Berwick on a late bus—enter the adverse feeling.

Florence is a member of the Glee Club. She is taking Primary work and we wish her the best of luck in her teaching. The Primary Department is fortunate to have secured the services of this young lady. Her natural interest in small children and earnest desire to educate them should help her considerably.

Continue to work in the future as you did while a student at "Old Bloom" and success will be yours.

MARGARET L. BESECKER
Kingston High School
Kingston, Pa.
"Peggie"

Eyes of blue,
Heart so true,
"Peggie," dear, that's you!

The old saying, "You cannot judge a book by its cover," is true in connection with our "Peggie." It takes a long time to know her, but when you do you'll find it was something to look forward to.

"Peggie's" awakening thought is—"Will I get any mail today?" Of course, she is seldom disappointed—why? Well, she is one of the truest pals that we know and surely others feel the same way about it. Also, "distance lends enchantment."

One look at "Peggie" and we understand the reason why "gentlemen prefer blondes." She's a good sport and a wonderful pal. I ask you very confidentially, "What is more pleasing than her bright, cheery 'hello'?" There are plenty for all.

The vivacity of "Peggie's" pleasing personality was shown by her successful major part in our class play last year. She is not only a prominent member of the Mu Phi Sigma Sorority but also a talented member of the Dramatic Club.

Sh! "Peggie" may be Scotch, but she never shows it. She's the cook of "Our Gang" and believe me, we're proud of it.

Will she make a successful teacher? Well, I guess. You may take the Gang's word on that—we're wishing her the very best of success.

MARGARET AGNES BILBOW
St. John's High School
Pittston, Pa.
"Peg" "Peggie"

This demure and sweet little maiden is known as "Peg." By looking at her picture you can see why she has a large number of friends of both sexes.

"Peg" is one of those studious girls, even though her appearances may deceive you. She studied very conscientiously and makes a very promising primary teacher. With her ready smile and winning disposition she will win the heart of all the kiddies.

When the new mail boxes were put in, "Peg" seldom left hers. We wondered from whom she expected mail. Especially did "Peg" like to receive mail from Philadelphia . . . again we wondered. We will admit that Philadelphia is a nice place but "Peg" liked it for another reason and it wasn't the buildings.

Although "Peg" came to B. S. T. C. in September, 1927, with a jolly group from Chester, it was not long until she was surrounded by a large circle of new friends. Another group, the Pittston Bunch were proud of "Peg" as one of their number.

As a member of the Children's Literature Club "Peg" took part in all their plays. Athletics, too, claim "Peg" as a lover and a participant.

If "Peg" is as carefree and as enthusiastic in her teaching as she is in other things—is there any question of success?

MARY A. BLACKWELL
Scranton Central High School
Avoca, Pa.

"Mary" "Blackwell"

"Let me alone, I must get this plan done," cried a tall, dark-haired girl. She longs to enter into the fun but not before her plan is written. Thus we find "Mary" in Berwick. "Mary" was one of the fortunate ones or, shall we say unfortunate ones, to go to Berwick to teach but, nevertheless, Bloomsburg still holds its attractions for "Mary."

"Mary" came to us with the determination to make good and also have a good time. There was no need for this because fun and good times are always to be had when "Mary" is around. Could we have a feed without her? Of course not! Can she make fudge? Um, we'll say! And dance? Nothing but!

A good sport, a real friend, and a wonderful pal is our "Mary." Her lively spirit and interest in school affairs have won for her many friends. She is a member of the Alpha Delta Sorority and last year received her "numerals" in sports. While in Berwick, "Mary" was elected President of the Student Government and had the lovely job of "Lights out, girls."

Have you ever heard her say, "Just so we know" or perhaps it was "Not that we care?"

She has chosen the intermediate field as her professional work. We wish you the best of success and happiness, "Mary," but we doubt you will teach very long.

MILDRED ANN BOHN
Central High School
Scranton, Pa.

"Mil" "It" "Milly"

Always smiling, seldom sad:

A girl like "Mil" makes men go mad.

The most natural question to ask would be, "Why?" Our answer is, "Because she is one in a million."

"Mil" is the dark-haired, stately, young lady who came in with the well-known Scranton group in February, 1927. She has a happy disposition and sings most of the time. At any time during the day you may hear her singing familiar tunes in the third-floor halls. The tune is familiar but the words—she changes those to fit her mood or the occasion.

"Mil" joined the Children's Literature Club this fall and as a result she is so interested in it that she can't accompany the gang downtown after school every day for their regular lunches. Yes, "Mil" is very fond of fancy things to eat, but we believe she likes to sleep better. Her friends are sure that she is Rip Van Winkle's rival. She will sleep all night and the following day and still be ready to retire at 10:15 that night.

If you would like to know where "Mil" got the name of "It" just get acquainted with her and you will understand.

We cannot finish without mentioning "Mil's" brown eyes. Yes, they are well educated. They radiate the happiness of their owner.

We wish "Mil" love, luck, happiness, and success.

MILTONA BOLEN
Plymouth High School
Plymouth, Pa.
"Tony"

"Tony" is a girl of surprises. We never know what she is going to do next. About the time we expect her to do something in accordance with her "snappy" appearance, she does just exactly the opposite. She has well-founded views on practically anything one might mention—politics, religion, athletics, and John Erskine.

She is a most versatile girl—with that almost rare combination of abilities—athletics and good scholarship. Everyone should see her play basketball. She knows how! She is particularly adept as a guard. When it comes to dancing! We'll agree as to her talent on the dance floor, but only a privileged few who see the demonstrations of interpretive dancing that she frequently gives in 419 and 453, can appreciate the extent of her talent.

There is another surprising thing about "Tony." Unlike the customary "flapper" she is far from being aggressive. In fact, she is quite tractable, especially when it seems to make the other "fellow" a little happier.

"Tony" is a rare type of girl, and we have never known anyone like her. When our school days are ended, we shall always think of "Tony" in Elizabeth Frost's words—
You came like wind, the life begetting;
You went like flame at the sun's setting;
You were swift as Time, the unregretting;
But Time will be dead when we're forgetting!

MARGARETTA M. BONE
Towanda High School
Kingston, Pa.
"Margaretta"

What's her nickname? Well, she hasn't any. No one can explain why but the only name that suits her is "Margaretta."

Light hair, blue eyes, slender; that's "Margaretta." She's full of pep and her wise remarks and clever puns help to liven up many a lonesome girls' party. She is a general favorite of all who know her and laughter and jollity follow in her wake wherever she goes. She likes dancing and nearly every evening finds her in the gym.

Her scholastic standing is of the highest. From the first semester she has been a two point student and has kept up her good work in her studies throughout her course. She is very conscientious and diligent in all she attempts and nothing seems too great for her to accomplish.

She has been most active in athletics where her cool head and sportsmanlike conduct make her an asset to any team. She is one of the few girls who in her first year had the honor of wearing a "B."

In her Junior year she belonged to the Music Appreciation Club and Y. W. C. A. She joined the Glee Club in her Senior year and was a member of the Hostess Club. She also had the honor of becoming a Mu Phi Sigma girl.

"Margaretta" has been a credit to our school and we all shall miss her. We wish her to have all kinds of success in her chosen profession.

MABEL BOWER
Berwick High School
Berwick, Pa.
"Mabe"

Are you looking for a jolly, frank, sincere, and all-round good companion? Well, here she is. One of her favorite sayings is, "Can we make the 4:15?" For Mabel is a commuter who hails from Berwick. She is one of our locker-room's most popular girls, for besides being a conscientious worker, she is always ready for a good time. She never need worry about grades. Her smile always indicates successful marks. But why is it that she can always study better in the library? Perhaps it is because two heads can work better than one.

Mabel has all the necessary qualities for a good teacher. We hope she will attain her fond ambition of becoming a training teacher. Mabel firmly believes that this can be done before one becomes too old to find romance lurking just around the corner. Here is just heaps of success to you, Mabel.

Dame Nature was generous in bestowing many talents on Mabel. These she displayed in music, the Mixed Chorus, and the Orchestra. Mabel is one of our athletic leaders which accounts for her love of sports.

Success to you, Mabel.

HESTER LORETTA BOWMAN
Berwick High School
Mifflinville, Pa.
"Mona Lisa"

One might think, by this Mona Lisian smile, that we had gone to the art gallery for this picture, but no, it is Hester—calm, mysterious, subtle Hester. "Mona" can even retain her dignified expression at a basketball game, while everyone else there is hilarious with victory, or weeping and wailing with defeat.

Hester comes from Mifflinville and gets excessive exercise going to and from the Post Office and back and forth across the bridge. The trip to the Post Office, Hester tells us, only occurs when mail from B. S. T. C. is to be sent home.

Ill luck only comes to Hester when fate destines slippery weather. At a time like this Hester needs all kinds of assistants to get to and from classes, especially teacher training.

Hester is studious and is a diligent worker, always lending a helping hand to those in need of anything. She is taking up First Aid work now and will specialize in doctoring bumps received while faithfully attending classes and conferences during icy weather.

Most any night one wishes company down to High School, Hester will go along because I believe she has a conference. It isn't so healthy to ask her because in this case "actions speak louder than words."

Hester has a kind word for everyone and her willingness to do has won for her many friends. We wish her success in her future, which will be teaching for a while—after that we cannot prophesy but fate says there is to come a blonde.

NAOMI ROSALIE BOYER
Catawissa High School
Catawissa, Pa.
"Rose"

Who does not know "Rose?"
Always smiling, always glad;
Never hurrying, never sad.

"Rose" is one of the day students who comes to us from Catawissa. She has formed the habit of taking life as it comes. We think that this habit was formed while in the city, for she has spent the greater part of her life in the cities of Baltimore and Cleveland.

"Rose" has taken an interest in Berwick, or rather in its inhabitants. Jimmie is his name—so we are told. We trust to "Jimmie" that this will come out all right.

Almost any time "Rose" can be found in the library, she says "to work" but we think that her time is divided between the newspaper and the college males. "Rose" thinks she has a glorious excuse to write to men at different colleges. She is gathering seals for her baggage. She has quite a few already.

She is a great lover of out-door sports. Her particular hobby is swimming. She can be found in the pool when warm weather sets in.

Her favorite expression is, "Oh, he's cute."
All her friends wish her the best of luck.

THELMA BRANDON
Bloomsburg High School
Bloomsburg, Pa.
"Shrimp"

May I present to you Miss Thelma Brandon, of Bloomsburg? She is a young lady of exceptional ability and she has made a wise choice in selecting teaching as her future profession. When any one is in a "tight pinch" with lessons, all they have to do is call on "Shrimp" and she's always ready to help. As you know, Thelma is rather short of stature, but the old saying is, "Good things are done up in small packages."

Whenever any one wanted to locate Thelma in an extra period they would search for her in the Locker Room. Here they would be sure to find her probably enjoying a good joke with the rest of the girls, or telling a joke herself. She is certainly full of life and she keeps the gloom driven away from the idea of hard work.

Besides being a "merry maker" Thelma is one of our most staunch supporters in athletics and extra curricular activities. In '27 she was a member of "Book Club" and in '28 she became a member of "Mixed Chorus."

Although she spends her leisure time in this way she spends her time in doing other things too. One of these is making the mail man work hard by writing so many letters to Muhlenberg College. It's all right, Thelma, because your school work never suffers from this cause.

Here's wishing you all the luck, happiness and success that a good teacher could obtain.

MILDRED BREISCH
Catawissa High School
Catawissa, Pa.
"Min"

"Gee whiz—such dumb stuff." Why of course, who could it be but "Min" Breisch speaking. "Min" takes a notion to study occasionally, and when she does—this is her favorite introduction to the task. To look at "Min," one would think she was one of those rare, quiet girls. But often looks are deceiving, and they surely are with "Min" because she is not half as serious as she appears to be. When there is any excitement, such as a good joke, or a new dance record, "Min" is right on hand with the rest of us. She comes to us from the quiet, little town across the river—Catawissa. This accounts for her rushing into class at 8:10 nearly every morning.

"Min" is an earnest worker, and usually takes school problems quite seriously. She is seldom seen on College Hill or elsewhere, without an armful of books. Of course, we have no proof that she is not kept too busy at night to use them, but she at least makes a good impression.

As an outside curricular activity, Mildred has joined the Sewing Club. Just why she is interested in sewing, we do not know, but will probably find out some day. Anyway, it's a good idea "Min."

For her life's vocation, she has selected teaching in the primary grades. We all wish Mildred the best of success, not only in this line of work, but in all her undertakings.

RUTH BUDD
Honesdale High School
Honesdale, Pa.
"Rose-bud"

This dark-haired, brown-eyed miss with a sunny disposition is Ruth, who comes to us from Beech Lake. While gazing upon her fair countenance one is bound to remark, "How quiet, how bashful," but that person does not know Ruth, for you can't imagine the mischief she is always contemplating. Whenever we were blue we went to room 382 where we were soon cheered by her ready wit.

One usually is happy when the sun shines. Perhaps this accounts for Ruth's happiness, because she appears interested in a certain "Ray." Never mind, Ruth, we will not tell on you but we are wondering just how long you will follow the teaching profession?

Ruth entered into some club activities, such as Junior Girls' Glee Club. To this club she was a faithful, loyal and valuable member. In '27-'28 her fancies turned to the Sewing Club, but a lady always has the privilege to change her mind. Ruth is also athletically inclined, her favorite sports being hiking and skating. We could say more but space does not allow it, so we may well say—

"Her paths are paths of pleasantness
And all her ways are peace."

To you, the class extends best wishes for your success in the future.

MARY BURKE
Pittston High School
Pittston, Pa.
"Burkie"

Mary came to us during our Senior year from West Chester. She has made many friends during her short stay at B. S. T. C., all of whom wish her much success in her future career.

Mary is an all-around girl. She is proficient as a student and an athlete, as well as being capable in the art of domestic science. She is also a member of the Sewing Club.

Mary is always ready to dance or sing in her leisure moments and she arouses feelings of great joy at our saddest times when we hear her voice through the halls.

Mary is a girl who believes in the motto, "Smile and the world smiles with you. Weep and you weep alone."

Every day we can see her taking her briefcase and writing in her diary. Her briefcase was very pretty and Mary thought so. I wonder why?

Mary's favorite color is blue, which is very becoming with her blue eyes and blonde hair. Her favorite flower is an American Beauty.

The boys and girls of B. S. T. C. wish her success and happiness in her future life and hope to see her supervisor or principal in some school in Pittston.

MARY CAHALAN
St. Vincent's High School
Plymouth, Pa.
"Cal"

"Where is my pencil? Who saw my notebook? What class am I going to? Oh, where is that book?" A flurry, Mary is off for class. It is not lack of ambition which prevents Mary from being on time, but her philosophy of life which declares—"Do nothing today which may be put off until tomorrow." There is, however, one phase of her life which shows no influence of her philosophy. That is the making of friends. Their name is legion. You are easily convinced that one of her fairy gifts is a charming personality. Mary has high ideals and will most certainly attain her desires. In fact, she has already contrived to create her own particular paradise on earth—give her a good novel, a box of chocolates, and time to dream. Perhaps it is her habit of dreaming that inspires her to write letters of such strong appeal that the answers are swift and frequent.

Mary's especial pleasure is dancing, but she takes an active part in outdoor sports, such as tennis, hockey and hiking. Mary has been more than rushed with the Dramatic Club, Hostess Club, Speech Arts Club, and the Vice-Presidency of the Tau Phi Epsilon Sorority.

PHYLLIS CALLENDER

Berwick High School

Berwick, Pa.

"Phyl"

"Phyl" came to us from Berwick in 1926 as an honor student. She is one of the commuters who enjoys a twelve-mile ride on the bus each morning to attend College. "Phyl" is a popular member of the Locker Room gang and is well liked by all.

"Phyl's" personality has won for her many friends among both the Locker Room and dormitory girls. She has been endowed by nature with talent which she is using in the Girl's Chorus. "Phyl" likes athletics, especially tennis, but with all, she has not lost her scholastic reputation won in Berwick. Although she is studious, she is always ready for some fun.

One of "Phyl's" pet expressions is "Gee, it's lonesome." We wonder why? Here's a secret, although "Phyl" is at B. S. T. C. in person, her mind is in a certain school room. This accounts, to a certain extent, for the far-away look in her eyes. Come back to earth, "Phyl."

Phyllis has shown unusual ability in her practice teaching. She has applied all of the methods that she learned while here at school. Her success in the teaching world is a surety.

FLORENCE CAMPBELL

Berwick High School

Berwick, Pa.

"Flo"

This titian-haired miss hails from Berwick and is one of the reasons why boys leave Bloomsburg. "Flo" says she is going to be a school teacher, but—we wonder! There seems to be but one big question on her mind just now. It is not—"Do gentlemen prefer blondes?" but "Do I prefer blondes or brunettes?" Somehow, it's a rather difficult question to decide; so to compromise, "Flo" scatters her smiles impartially, leaving the poor lads in breathless suspense. Cheer up, pals, she may decide some day.

Florence's popularity does not stop with the male sex; who is not willing to vouch for her? Her genial smile and pleasing personality always win a warm welcome for her wherever she goes.

"Flo's" ability as a student is known to many. We who have been in her classes know the truth of that statement. Perhaps her conscientiousness plays a great part in making her school work a success.

If she extends her good work into the future, as we are sure she will, we have no doubts of her success as a teacher.

MARTHA CAPPARELL
Hazleton High School
Hazleton, Pa.
"Martha"

Who is "Martha?" What is she
That all our swains commend her?
Holy, fair, and wise is she
The heavens such grace did lend her
That she might admired be.

As someone has said, "It takes all kinds of people to make a world," and among the kinds most appreciated are those who can listen well, and contribute their share when occasion demands. We don't know about the former, but "Martha's" friends can testify as to the truth of the latter.

One wouldn't think that "Martha" was quiet—but she is as far as conversation goes. She doesn't have to talk, her eyes speak for her. Hence, we can't imagine "Martha" without a man, without mail, or without a dance.

Now "Martha's" one ambition in life is to graduate, but she refuses to tell just what she intends to do after that. Although daily letters are a dead give-away and "Martha" is one who is firm in her belief, we really wonder if she will follow out the plan of "old maid school teaching." If such is the case, we all know that with her charming personality, sweet disposition, and gentle manner she will win the hearts of her pupils just as she did those of her fellow classmates.

The Tau Phi Epsilon Sorority was fortunate in securing "Martha" as a member. May happiness be yours, "Martha."

EBBA M. CARLSON
Luzerne High School
Luzerne, Pa.
"Ebbus" "Spats" "Sol"

Here's to the girl with eyes of blue
She's always in a hurry too;
But when there's ever a trick about,
You'll find her right there on the spot.

A lot of noise and a happy laugh, and you know that Ebba is some place near. She is a good sport, and a willing helper. When you ask her a favor, does she refuse? Well, I guess not.

One can often hear Ebba practicing before she goes to Glee Club. Never mind, Ebba, keep it up. We like it.

Who said she couldn't dance? She may not dance in the Gym, but just take a peep in her room any time and see for yourself.

Did you say athletics? Well Ebba stands right in on that subject, as she was one of our athletic leaders.

She also fills an office in the "Y" cabinet. Could we think of the Delta Phi Sgima Sorority without Ebba? Indeed not, for then we wouldn't have any Vice-President.

The reason why Ebba has been so desirous of owning a "Howard" watch has been made known at last. We have often wondered why Ebba always turned to look at a "well dressed man." Don't wonder. Just think of the Christmas Dance. All will be explained. We all know that Ebba expects to be a teacher, but then, one can never tell. Never mind, "Ebbus," life is wonderful when there is always some one caring for you.

To you, Ebba, we all give our sincerest wishes for a successful future.

ROSE M. CATALDO
Hazelton High School
Hazelton, Pa.
"Rose" "Rosalyn"

"Rose," a true friend and a real good sport, is a member of the Hazleton "gang." Always willing, always ready, she is never missing at work or at play. It seems that nothing can affect her general disposition. She is always willing to help her fellow students and does each deed of kindness with so light a heart and with such willingness that she has won the hearts of all who know her.

On first meeting "Rose," one would think her to be very quiet and sedate but further acquaintance corrects the first impression. Those brown eyes of hers just twinkle with merriment and mischief.

"Rose's" efficiency was recognized by the Delta Phi Sigma Sorority when they chose her as an officer of that organization.

Her choice in the teaching profession lies in the primary field and we are sure that she will make a success of it, for with such a disposition she could not fail to win the hearts of the "kiddies" in the primary grades.

Her all-round good nature and sportsmanship has won for her many friends and we feel confident that her success which came with her from Hazleton and remained with her here will continue to abide with her in the future.

CAROLYN M. CIAMPI
Shickshinny High School
Mocanaqua, Pa.
"Cal"

Crash! Bing! Bang! Here comes Carolyn. To look at her one would think she was innocence personified, but the girls of Waller Hall know her as an honest-to-goodness regular girl. When you hear a hearty laugh or some excitement at the end of the hall, you can easily guess who it is—yes, it is "Cal."

One of "Cal's" favorite pastimes is the theatre. Almost automatically three times a week, we see her going down to the movies. However, the joy of the movies is not complete until Carolyn purchases a bag of potato chips.

Athletics are one of her goals. She is a "wiz" in the sports and many a time saved the day for her team.

But Carolyn is not only gifted in sports. Her high standards in a school show us that she also loves to work. Many a time Carolyn sacrificed a good show to write a lesson plan. However, she has been amply repaid.

Another great pastime of hers is sketching. If you want an envelope decorated or a sketch on your slicker, or perhaps a portrait for your room, Carolyn will aid in meeting your demand.

Carolyn came here to be a teacher and we feel sure that she will successfully direct young hopefuls in their quest of knowledge.

ELIZABETH CIGLER (SAYLOR)

Ashley High School
Ashley, Pa.

"Cig"

"Yea, 'Cig,' that's the old fight." Athletics, eats, good times, or any way you want to take it. "Cig" has a chance to become one of the hired help of B. S. T. C. by the clean sweep she makes of the Gym floor in basketball. Up again, down again . . . that's "Cig."

And can she dance??? Just ask any of the nightly invaders of the Gym. But oh, how sentimental music gets our "Cig."

"Cig" is one of those short, lovable little girls who could easily be lost in a crowd but for her large, sparkling brown eyes. We do not wonder at her many friends after being in her company a short time and getting acquainted with her pleasing and winsome ways.

If one is stuck with lessons or other such things which are not easily accomplished, the old saying is, "Ask 'Cig'."

She is one of the outstanding members of the French Club. That's to her advantage, too, especially when the room-mate fails in her household duties.

Although we're sure that "Cig" makes a splendid school teacher, we fear that she has missed her calling which we infer from her splendid reproduction of the "Cat and the Canary" at midnight parties.

Our best wishes go with you "Cig" towards reaching the top of the ladder you have chosen to climb.

THELMA COBB

Kingston High School
Kingston, Pa.

"Thelma"

A wonderful girl—a true friend—a good sport—this is "Thelma." She is everything that is lovable and kind, and it is worth your while to make her acquaintance.

She has large brown eyes that fairly sparkle when she talks. Some say she uses them to advantage. We wonder?

"Thelma" is a very conscientious student, as her record here indicates, and we all feel sure she will make a successful teacher.

Those who have become acquainted with "Thelma" during the last two years value her friendship. We wonder what strange power she possesses . . . a power that acts like a magnet and draws people to her. She is the object of deep admiration. Such qualities in a person must be deserved.

As president of the Children's Literature Club, she has proven her capability as a leader. Her untiring efforts in behalf of this organization will not be forgotten so soon. The Alpha Delta Zeta Sorority also claims her a valuable member.

May success and joy be with you throughout all of your life.

For you have shown yourself worthy in stress and in strife.

ELIZABETH S. COLLEY

Bloomsburg High School

Bloomsburg, Pa.

"Beth"

"Beth," another down-town student, has her own theories of life. "Why do today what can be put off until tomorrow?" is one of her favorite sayings. Perhaps this explains why we seldom saw her in the library. Nevertheless, "Beth" attempted little that she could not finish.

Chief among her talents is her artistic ability in designing women's clothes. We would venture to predict a future for her in this line, were it not for the fact that she has other plans in mind.

As a teacher, "Beth" has a knack of winning the confidence of the children—which is characteristic of all good teachers. This, combined with her untiring efforts and a desire to be a moulder of children's lives should carry her to great heights in the profession with which she is allied. Her ability as an actress won for her membership in the Dramatic Club. She is also a member of the Phi Gamma Tau Sorority, in which she worked most faithfully.

Whatever you do or wherever you go "Beth," we wish you all the luck possible.

LAURA K. COSTELLO

Hazleton High School

Hazleton, Pa.

"Cyclone"

Here is another one who hails from the well-known city of Hazleton. When "Cyclone" first came to B. S. T. C. she was quiet and reserved, but college life has changed her just a wee bit. We are glad of the change, however.

Laura's magnetic personality won for her a host of friends who will never forget her. No one can resist her charming smile and pleasing disposition.

Laura was an active member of the Speech Arts Club and participated in all the Club events. Her election to the office of secretary was proof of her loyalty to the Club. She also did her share of work on the Junior Prom Reception Committee. The success of the affair was partly due to her untiring effort.

Laura is an industrious person even though her picture does not reveal this trait. However, we have found her in her busiest moments, always ready to lend a helping hand.

She is also known around the "dorm" for her famous witticisms, some of which helped to clear away many a cloud from a blue sky.

We can predict nothing but a successful and happy future for such conscientiousness must be rewarded.

MARGARET A. COXE
St. Cecelia Academy
Scranton, Pa.
"Peg" "Peggy"

The young lady whose glowing countenance appears above came to us from that famous coal region town, Scranton. From the beginning she was very much interested in "children" and often in that now famous Junior year she was seen in their company.

Knowing that acquaintance with the "coming generation" was not sufficient to insure her success as a teacher, "Peg" earnestly strove to assimilate all available knowledge. As a result of her efforts she has established herself as one of the intellectual leaders of the institution.

Being a typical American girl, "Peggy" did not confine herself to study alone. No social affair was complete without her. That pleasant smile and cheerful disposition made her welcome in any group.

During her short sojourn at B. S. T. C. she has been actively engaged in various "extra-curricular" activities. As a member of the "Bloomsburg Players" she has made quite a reputation in theatrical circles. Recognizing her ability and desiring to profit by it the Phi Gamma Tau sorority early elected her president. Under her direction this organization has made considerable progress.

To a pal and friend we wish all the success and happiness possible.

LAWRENCE H. CREASY
Catawissa High School
Catawissa, Pa.
"Creasy"

"Creasy" graduated from the Catawissa High School in the year '25 as valedictorian of his class. The quality of his scholarship has not decreased but rather increased as his grades indicate since he has attended Teachers College at Bloomsburg. Soon after coming here he made many friends and has continued to do so while going to school. Few of these friends will forget him soon.

To the Locker Room he was one of the shining lights, (we needed them), probably due to the fact that he had an excellent course in astronomy.

Whenever you ask "Creasy" about the opposite sex he has an answer similar to this, "I can have a better time with a group of fellows." He stood by his saying rather faithfully until the last year, when, during the first semester he seemed to be slipping . . . but he did not "fall."

He was an asset to the orchestra where he performed efficiently on the viola. He helped to liven up this bunch in his usual happy manner. He was also a member of the Mixed Chorus.

We wish that "Creasy" will be as successful in his future work as he has been in the past.

ANNA C. CURRY
Hazelton High School
McAdoo, Pa.
"Curry"

"Curry" is another one of those dark-haired lassies who hails from McAdoo. She does not look studious but when there is work to do, "Curry" is ready for it. Her sunny disposition has won for her many friends—many are of the fair sex, and many are not. There is always a cheerful laugh before the appearance of "Curry."

When "Curry" is not laughing we can find her at a piano. Can she play? That is a question that every one in B. S. T. C. can answer. When in gym class we hear some one call, "'Curry,' drop out," for "Curry" is needed more at the piano than in the lineup. Her finger-tips can make the keys of a piano talk.

"Curry" is noted for her wit and good humor. Along with this she is such a good-natured girl that she enjoys helping others when possible.

Although we are fond of "Curry," we really do not see enough of her because she spends the week-ends at home.

Inhabitants of McAdoo: "We thought you were away at school, Anna."

Anna: "Oh, yes. I am away from Monday to Saturday."

B. S. T. C., with all your classmates, are extending to you wishes for happiness abundant and success galore. May your future be as carefree as your days at "Bloom." May your good sportsmanship, good will and fine spirit be an influence on the kiddies who will be intrusted to you.

NELLE DALEY
Forty-Fort High School
Forty-Fort, Pa.
"Nelle"

When you see a tall, slim, dainty creature with eyes that fairly dance—it's "Nelle." With her wealth of beautiful, brown, natural-curly hair to form the background for those deep pools of light—is there any chance for a mere man?

"Nelle's" "I'm starved" seems unusual at a time when most of her associates are worrying about excess weight. "Nelle" need never worry about such a thing for

Dainty as a fairy
And as airy
She trips lightly along.

"Nelle's" voice is bird-like—clear, full of feeling. We wonder that she does not take wings—and fly.

As for "Nelle's" future, well—it's hard to say. She was so interested in the library we began to fear that "Nelle" would turn out to be a librarian. But after all, isn't the library a good place for a tete-a-tete? There's always a reason, you know.

"Nelle" was prominent as a member of the Glee Club. As a floor supervisor in her Senior year "Nelle" showed what she could do as a leader. Although she isn't the real athletic type, she participated in all class sports.

We are sure "Nelle" will be successful in whatever she undertakes, and surely in her work as a primary teacher.

ELIZABETH DAVIES
Newport Township High School
Glen Lyon, Pa.
"Doll"

She is not big, she is not tall,
But she is very kind to all.
She wears a smile, has a fine disposition;
She's never downhearted, she's never blue
To her classmates and schoolmates always true.

Those who are well acquainted with her call her "Doll." She certainly is worth while knowing because of her winning smile, and lovely disposition. One would not be wrong in saying that she reminds one of a doll. She smiles very approvingly if she likes you, and if she doesn't, well—she just says nothing!

"Doll" has made herself known through her fine student-teaching. Proof of this is the fact that the children like her and greet her with friendly smiles.

She also has proven herself worth-while as an active cabinet member of the Y. W. C. A. In her Junior year she was a member of the Glee Club, and a worthy member of the Alpha Delta Sorority.

"Doll" is very successful in whatever she attempts, but she has one failing; she never can tell things and make them seem real, so she says, "Nita, you tell it."

When it comes to men "Doll" says nothing. She once said, "Silence is golden," but we know that down deep in her heart she has a spot for a certain "George." There are two, so we don't know which has the coveted place. We hope you'll find which one has first claim.

Best of luck for your future.

IRENE DAVIES
Kingston High School
Kingston, Pa.
"Irene"

"A pleasant word, a friendly smile—That's Irene all the while."

If you do not know Irene and want to pick her out of a crowd, just start to play something peppy on the victrola. If a little girl with brown hair, and grey eyes immediately starts to keep time and snap her fingers—that's Irene. She is very musical, and all music has its effect on her, but just put the "Varsity Drag" on the victrola and its alluring power is remarkable. Her work no longer has any charm whatever. Irene's chief ambition is to be a director of an orchestra—a second Paul Whiteman.

Another thing which characterizes Irene is her generosity. Every girl on fourth floor knows where to go when she is in need of anything. Irene always has a pleasant word and a smile for everyone. This accounts for the host of friends which she possesses.

She has the kind of a disposition that makes her welcomed anywhere and at any time. Irene is the one who adds pep to the party, and without her we feel that something is lacking. A good sport?—we know!

As a worker Irene is one of the most conscientious and diligent. She succeeds in all she undertakes for the simple reason that she sticks to a thing until she finishes it.

She is a member of the Delta Phi Sigma Sorority.

"Here's luck to one of the best
That our school has ever possessed—Irene."

MARTHA R. DAVIES

Edwardsville, Pa.

"Marty"

"Marty" Davies? O, yes! She's the girl with the pretty red hair, isn't she?"

"Marty" is the kind of a girl who likes plenty of good times and lots of fun, and who never tires of laughing. She seems to get a whole lot of fun out of life, but aside from all this, she knows just when to settle down to work. Even though she never burns the "midnight oil," she reaches her goal every time.

She has a pleasant smile for everyone, and a cheery hello. Most of us will always remember that pleasant smile. What's more, "Marty" has a wonderfully strong will power—when it comes to dieting. We congratulate her on that! She's the kind of a girl who makes up her mind and then sticks to it. Among "Marty's" chief delights are: movies, music, fiction and chocolates. Do you want to know who the new movie star is or what's the latest in fiction? Ask "Marty," she'll tell you. We must not forget to mention her favorite song too—"Are You Thinking of Me Tonight?" We're wondering who she thinks of when she sings it???

"Marty" is an active member of the "Children's Literature Club" and will be remembered for her fine poster work.

We're sure she'll be a very capable teacher, and we wish loads of success to her all through her teaching career and her work along other lines.

RALPH WALDO DAVIES

Nanticoke High School

Nanticoke, Pa.

"Ralphie" "Raffles"

Possessed with the oratorical ability of an Antonio and the art of a Shakespeare, "Ralphie" came to us three years ago. He immediately made his presence felt by voicing his opinions in class and club meetings. In his speeches he was not prone to confine himself to the layman's language but would frequently quote the masters of another day. Needless to say, "Raffles" usually carried his point.

Since his entrance this young man has been a valuable member of our track team. The consistency with which he placed in the various meets coupled with the above mentioned ability to lead was responsible for his selection as track captain for two consecutive years.

Another sphere in which "Ralphie" is unsurpassed is that of extra-curricular activities. As manager of the Varsity basketball team he certainly can provide chewing gum and worthwhile advice. The Nanticoke and Dining Room Clubs have profited by his energetic membership.

Desiring a chaplain who would be without a peer, the Iota Chapter of the Omega Chi Fraternity, by a unanimous vote, selected him. In this role, Ralph Waldo surpassed even the expectations of his closest friends.

If Ralph goes as well as a teacher as he did while a student at B. S. T. C. (and there's no reason to believe he won't) the profession will have made a valuable acquisition.

EDITH P. DAVIS
Pittston High School
Pittston, Pa.
"Edy" "Shorty"

Brown eyes, black hair.
Never a worry, never a care,
Her ready wit and willing hand
Always place her in demand.

This is our "Edy."

"Edy" is another member of our class who graduated from Pittston High School with the class of '26 and joined our ranks at Bloomsburg in the fall of that year.

No, she is not quite so serious as this picture would make us believe. She is really the contrary. Wit comes natural to "Edy," and she believes in making good use of her talents. She is always ready for a good time to listen to a good joke, and to supply the crowd with wise cracks. "Edy" is little but sure is a "whiz" at basketball. Whistling and dancing constitute two of her main characteristics. Whether in the dormitory, in the gym, or on the campus, we can always detect "Edy" by her whistling.

This young maiden was greatly missed by the gang the first nine weeks of school, as she was among the first group of girls who were sent to Berwick, where she taught in the Market Street school building. We know "Edy" will make a successful teacher, as she has proven her ability in her practice teaching.

The Mu Phi Sigma Sorority values her membership very highly because she is always willing to do her part.

We are doubtful if teaching will be her "life-long profession"—there are evidences of other attractions which the future hold for her.

"Edy," you've the best wishes of your classmates in all you undertake.

BEATRICE DAVIS
Thompson High School
Elmira, N. Y.
"Day"

This young lady came to us with the group that entered here in our Freshman year. She is one of those good-natured girls who would do anything for a friend. As a result of her fine personality and sacrifice she has many friends whose companionship have made her life enjoyable.

Like all girls, she enjoys playing tricks on her school-mates and it was the cleverness of these pranks that made us sit up and take notice.

She is a real student and distributes her time properly in applying herself to her work. She is very often seen in the library busily engaged in selecting material for the following day's classes.

As a student teacher she has made considerable progress as our observations and a review of her records have shown us. Her attitude toward her work and natural love for children tend to make her the ideal teacher.

Our love for her has been increased, if that is possible, by the little favors she obliged us by doing.

Judging by her application to her studies here we hope to hear of this young lady on the road to success in the near future.

ELLEN G. DAVIS
Edwardsville High School
Edwardsville, Pa.
"L-N"

Ellen is one of those quiet girls—sometimes. If you want to see Ellen when she isn't quiet, just put on a fast record. It certainly does have its effect on her.

"Are you hungry? Let's go down to Ellen's. She probably has some crackers and sandwich dressing." More than one girl in the dormitory has been heard uttering these words. Ellen loves to eat, and she certainly knows the secret of keeping thin for all of her lack of dieting.

Aside from all the fun, there is one time when Ellen is very serious; that is, when there is work to do. She is always up in her work, and has a good record here as well as in high school.

She is a member of the Y. W. C. A., and also of the Dramatic Club. We are anxiously awaiting the time when Ellen will make her debut with the Bloomsburg Players.

There is no doubt that Ellen will be a capable teacher, but as for the length of her teaching career—well, it's difficult to predict.

Anyway, here's wishing her loads of success all through her teaching career, and also in any other career which she may choose after she has finished her teaching.

RHEA J. DAVIS
Taylor High School
Taylor, Pa.
"Rhea"

Cut, Cut, Cut,
How she loves to cut,
All the long day through,
Cutting her way through.

Will you cut my hair before dinner,
Rhea? Why call on Rhea? Haven't you heard of her marvelous ability as a barber?

This is only one of her many talents. An outstanding one lies in eating. Whenever there is a "feed" Rhea is sure to be there.
Her greatest cry is, "Oh! I'm nearly starved."
Although dancing and eating are two of her greatest accomplishments, don't think that Rhea never gives any time to her studies. She is always ready for a discussion in the class room.

Rhea never missed one after dinner dance.
At these she would try out all her new steps. She claims that people who dance keep thin. Keep up the good work, Rhea, and you will continue to possess that girlish figure you have been talking so much about. She also has the most pronounced qualities that all athletes have. You have to see Rhea play basketball and tennis to appreciate it.

Rhea claims the opposite sex holds no attraction for her, but she certainly changes her mind when she sees a dark curly headed male walking down the avenue. Never mind, Rhea, you will meet the right one some day.

Rhea is a very active member of the Girl's
Glee Club and the Children's Literature Club.

The class of '28 wish you the best of luck and happiness in your teaching career.

MARGUERITE M. DERMODY
Central High School
Scranton, Pa.
"Derm"

"Derm" is one of those girls whose friendship we all wish to hold. Her loving disposition and kindheartedness are just a part of her charming personality. "Derm" is an all-round good sport and pal. When you meet her you always want to know her better. One look at her and you know she is full of life and fun.

Often, when we pass through the lobby or Long Hall, we hear someone say, "Smile,
"Derm"—Show your dimples—Smile for—"
"Derm's" motto is "Giggle and the world giggles with you." She is a firm believer in the fact that there is a little bit of bad in every good little girl.

"Derm" has divided her time equally between the Dramatic Club, of which she served as Vice-President, and the Obiter
Staff. She is also a member of the Phi
Gamma Tau Sorority.

One of the things in which "Derm" takes part is tennis. She must love the sport because she plays regardless of the weather conditions.

Since we all have known you, "Derm," our school life has been more full of fun.
We know you can make a success of anything you try to manage, from a man to a school house.

Heaps of luck, "Derm."

MARIAN ARLINE DE WITT
Falls Overfield High School
Falls, Pa.
"Tudicums"

A cheery laugh and a bright smile for everyone—that is our "Tudicums." We love to hear her laugh because it is so contagious; we cannot help but laugh with her. She has large brown eyes and a sunny disposition. "Tudicums" is a favorite among her friends because she is so jolly and pleasant. No one ever feels blue when she is around.

We often wondered why it was that Marian watched so anxiously for the mail. Too bad, "Tudicums," that there isn't air service between "Bloom" and the Falls. Perhaps some day there will be this possibility and then your mail box will most certainly be filled.

Marian is a lover of nature and is very fond of outdoor activities, especially walking down-town after 3:10. She is an all-star basketball player and any team having her for center is bound to win the game, for she always does some spectacular playing.

We prophesy a future for Marian in the music world. We never knew of her ability as a singer until she delighted us with a solo in Chapel.

Marian was an active member of the Sewing Club and the Children's Literature Club.

To you, "Tudicums," we wish loads of success, love, and happiness.

GERALDINE E. DIEHL
Northumberland High School
Northumberland, Pa.
"Jude"

Big brown eyes—a pleasant smile—rather tall—that's "Jude." Everybody's friend and pal. If you want a helping hand with your lessons, all you need to do is to go to 324 and "Jude" will be only too glad to help you.

Perhaps you have often wondered at a question "Jude" is sure to ask if she thinks you live near Shamokin. No, she is not asking information for Dr. Russell's Geography class but is carrying on a little project of her own, and too we're wondering why she goes home so often. All right, "Jude," we won't tell any secrets.

"Jude" is a hard conscientious worker and seldom goes to classes unprepared. Just the same she likes a good time and is always among the first in any escapade, especially if there are eats.

Geraldine is especially interested in Dramatics as a result we find her name among the members of the Speech Arts Club of which she was an active member during her Junior year. However, this year for some unknown reason her tastes have changed for she is a member of the First Aid Club, in which she is becoming quite an expert. She has chosen the intermediate grades in the teaching profession and we feel sure her career as a teacher will be a success.

"Judy," the class of 1928 wish you the best of luck and success.

GLADYS DILDINE
Orangeville Vocational School
Orangeville, Pa.
"Gladie"

In the commuters' rest room you frequently hear an echo from one corner, "My glory to Betsy." It'll be "Gladie" expressing some sudden surprise. Little surprises always make "Gladie's" voice rise and drop like a scale. By the particular tone that she uses, you will get the meaning behind it. Even the look in her eyes portrays every inward thought, and her very movements reveal her emotions.

"Gladie" is one of the youngest girls in our class. She is from Orangeville. It isn't such a big place, but she always finds enough there to occupy her time, and a very suspicious amount of her attention. We don't know just what it's all about.

School doesn't trouble "Gladie." It is such an easy task for her to study when her studying time comes. She is good company and is entertaining. A kind heart and a helping hand, always ready to share her good times and to join in yours makes "Gladie" a very likeable person.

Without friends she never could be. For with her, many you can always see.

In sports she is right there. How she does enjoy them. She has acquired skill in many because she does what she attempts with such skill and vigor. She makes lots of baskets for our commuters' basketball team.

"Gladie" certainly is an addition to the Glee Club, in fact, to most everything. The Mu Phi Sigma is mighty glad to claim her as one of its members.

May her after school life be as successful as her school life, is the parting wish of all her class-mates.

JOSEPHINE DOBROWOLSKI
Shenandoah High School
Lost Creek, Pa.
"Jo"

"Jo" is her nickname,
Reading is her hobby.
Teaching is her vocation."

"Jo" lives in Lost Creek, so next year when we go travelling, she hopes we find her teaching in that vicinity. We know she will make a successful school teacher as she is very studious. She studied so hard last year that when she returned in September we hardly knew her, as she was forced to wear glasses.

But "Jo" doesn't believe in studying all the time. She likes to read and travel. Travelling to meals is real exercise to her, especially in the morning when you see her running down the hall—a little late.

Once, a gentleman in the dining room was very much embarrassed when he found there was no "Joseph Dobrowolski." Ask "Jo" and get all of the story.

"Jo" likes athletics and as a result of her efforts received a letter "B." She prefers basketball and hiking. She has had the privilege of practicing her future profession, the first nine weeks of the second semester, in the Berwick schools and she says she intends to teach more than several years. Every one likes Berwick, not only to teach in, but the community as well. Ask her.

If you ever want to meet an all-round good sport just look for "Jo." Here's wishing the best of luck for her.

KARL DOHL

Huntington Township High School
Light Street, Pa.
"Dohl"

This young man came to Bloomsburg as a "diamond in the rough" with the group that entered in our Freshman year. He is that type of fellow who would make almost any sacrifice for a friend. His fine personality soon made him one of the few really popular fellows in our class. His good-natured manner soon made for him many friends whose companionships have made his college life a pleasant one.

Like all "wide awake" fellows he enjoys playing tricks on his schoolmates and it was the wisdom of these pranks that first made us sit up and take notice.

He is a real student and distributes his time properly in applying himself to his school work. He is very often seen in the library busily engaged in selecting material for future classes.

As a student teacher he has made considerable progress as our observations and a review of his records have shown us. His attitude toward his work and his natural interest in the teaching indicates that he will make an ideal teacher.

Our respect and admiration for him has been increased, if that is possible, by the little favors he has done for us.

Judging by his application to his studies while at Bloomsburg we predict that before many years have passed we will find this young man well on his way to the leadership in his chosen field.

STEFANIA E. DOMBROWSKI

Nanticoke High School
Nanticoke, Pa.
"Stef" "Stevey"

She has rings on her fingers,
She has dozens of beaus,
She has plenty of friends
Wherever she goes.

If you know "Stevey" like I know "Stevey." Oh! boy, oh! What a girl! You know "Steve," that life at B. S. T. C. could not be perfect without you. With your happy disposition and merry laughter, the blues certainly pass away when you are among us.

Remember the "four o'clock" tea parties, "Steve," that came at nine-thirty? Usually the tea was strong enough to suit even an old maid, and very often the tea kept us awake until the wee hours of the morning, but those parties were full of heavenly bliss just the same.

"Stevey" is the kind of girl that is rare. She will comfort you when you are sad, and laugh with you when you are glad. "Stevey" is always ready for a good time when we are, and we are sure she has had many of them when she has been with us.

Do you see that slim girl dancing over there? That's "Stevey." You will all agree with me that she certainly is a very nice dancer.

The people that know you, love you,
And you, "Stevey," we all know you well.

MARY C. DRY
Berwick High School
Millinville, Pa.
"Skinny"

Do you know her? If you have ever been around the Locker Room you can't help it. She is everybody's friend, and at all times, too. Mary has something to say to everyone and is always ready to laugh. She believes in the old saying, "laugh and the world laughs with you." When she lost her voice the Locker Room seemed dead. Everything seemed wrong. She could not even laugh. Just imagine that.

No one thought Mary Dry would enter B. S. T. C. after graduating from Berwick High School in 1926. Everyone thought that she would be a nurse. We're glad she did not choose this for we all know the pupils in her school will be as happy as she is. How could they be any other way?

Talk about being industrious—well, she is sure that and even more. Her work is never neglected on account of other affairs. She thinks first of work and then play. Just keep on thinking that, Mary, especially when you're fixing a flat tire on your Ford.

Mary is a good all around sport. She always tries hard to do her part. We admit she certainly can liven things up.

The Glee Club owes part of its success to her, for she is a good singer and piano player. Mary also likes to hike (not with the Gym Class) but on Moonlight nights.

We're glad that she chose the Primary Group, for with her happy disposition what could come but success?

Here's luck and good wishes from the class of '28.

VIOLA E. DUKINAS
Luzerne High School
Forty Fort, Pa.
"Dukey" "Vi" "Duke"

"Don't do that, you'll never get a Holy picture!" This is "Dukey's" way of advising the prospective teachers in our gang.

"Dukey" says "there's time for work, and there's time to play," but regardless what's to be done she must have a hand in a game of cards. They are her inspiration, so she says.

"Vi's" voice can be heard at all hours of the day and her noted cry is, "Is the mail in?" We know she is extremely interested in a young West Point Cadet. When a letter arrives from New York, she is lost in oblivion while devouring the contents.

She dances, she sings, she does most anything. Athletics play an important role in her school life which was shown by her clever guarding on the Junior team in the Junior-Senior Basketball game; and tennis—well—if you want to see a flashing, dashing game of tennis turn your eyes on her while she is in action on the court.

We wish "Vi" heaps of success as a teacher while she stays in the profession; although she insists that her teaching is to be her life's work, we insist differently. What's his name? That would be telling.

MARY DUSHANKO

Hazle Township High School
Jeddo, Pa.

"Mary"

Blonde hair, brown eyes.

A burst of laughter and sorrow flies.

She appears to be a very quiet girl, but appearances are deceiving. Just ask the students! You would never think Mary would let men bother her in the least, would you? The discussions of our activities during a vacation were not complete without Mary's, "Oh, boy, last Sunday night at this time." She never says much more but that's enough to assure us she isn't a man-hater.

Mary is another of those good sports who is always ready to help make and enjoy a good time.

We all know that she has the best qualities for a teacher but we would not feel safe in prophesying that she will teach very long, for such an attractive little miss would never care to class herself among the self-supporting women.

If you want to tease Mary just mention the writeup in the Maroon and Gold.

We all have our ambitions and Mary's chief one is to become an efficient teacher. We have no doubt that her ambition will be realized.

Best of "Success" to you, Mary.

HELEN EASTMAN

Bloomsburg High School
Bloomsburg, Pa.

"Helen"

This young lady came to us with the group that entered here in our Freshman year. She is one of those good-natured girls who would do anything for a friend. As a result of her fine personality and sacrifice she has many friends whose companionship have made her life enjoyable.

Like all girls, she enjoys playing tricks on her schoolmates and it was the cleverness of these pranks that made us sit up and take notice.

She is a real student and distributes her time properly in applying herself to her work. She is very often seen in the library busily engaged in selecting material for the following day's classes.

As a student teacher she has made considerable progress as our observations and a review of her records have shown us. Her attitude toward her work and natural love for children tend to make her the ideal teacher.

Our love for her has been increased, if that is possible, by the little favors she obliged us by doing.

Judging by her application to her studies we hope to hear of this young lady on the road to success in the near future.

IRENE ELLIS
Edwardsville High School
Edwardsville, Pa.
"Irene"

Snappy brown eyes and a winsome smile—that's Irene. Everyone who has come into contact with this petite maid will leave B. S. T. C. all the better for it. She has a host of friends who will agree that a better sport, or a more diligent student can not be found. Irene is fond of fun, and her gay peppiness has often added greatly to our good times. She is an all-around girl in every sense of the word.

The secret of her success in winning such a variety of friends, not only in Bloomsburg but everywhere, seems to lie in her personality. One might almost say she has "It," whatever that may mean. Expressive of her personality is her smile, which has some hidden quality behind it that never fails to attract.

You know, Irene isn't at all like the average girl. Like all the rest of us she has plenty of work to do, but to be different, she always does hers. There is a little verse that characterizes Irene.

She's not very tall, nor very short,
A true blue friend of the very best sort;
She's full of fun, with eyes of brown,
Always smiling and never a frown.
We'll miss you, Irene, when from school we part,
But will always keep you in our hearts.

HAZEL JANE EPLER
Northumberland High School
Northumberland, Pa.
"Hazel"

If you see a fair little Miss hurrying to class with a half-dozen books under her arm and a serious look on her face, you can assure yourself that it is Hazel Epler. This shy young maiden is very studious and always has her work prepared. Whenever last minute crams before class occur, every one goes to Hazel to find out the details of the assignment. She always lends a helping hand to those who need it.

Bashful? Yes, and quiet, too. No, she is not afraid to laugh, but she believes in silent approval, and through it we believe she gets her full measure of life. But those of us who know Hazel best have learned that behind her kind smile and somewhat serious eyes, there lies a character containing those elements of greatness before which men will some day bow.

From past experience we thought that Hazel would be a confirmed "Old School Mam" or perhaps some day a "Gym Instructor," but from recent observations we have changed our minds. Never mind, Hazel, we won't advertise the boy-friend but just remind you that the fact is evident.

Last year Hazel was an active member of the Girl's Glee Club. This year, however, her tastes changed and she now belongs to the First Aid and Children's Literature Club.

The class of '28 extends the heartiest wishes for your future success.

VEDA ESHLEMAN
Berwick High School
Berwick, Pa.
"Vic"

She is witty, she is wise,
She's a wonder for her size.
Although she's very slight, and small,
What she doesn't know, ain't nothing at all.

If you were to look upon this little member of our class, you certainly would get the impression that she was one of our shy, demure maidens. But when you know her you will find out that that innocent baby stare has behind it a mischievous, fun-loving nature, balanced by a zeal for good work and hard study. Once you know her you cannot help but like her.

Veda is interested in all phases of class work, and one can always find her in the library during vacant periods.

Do you know that Veda has a great deal of artistic ability? Yes, indeed, it's true. If one wanted any drawing done, or posters made he would go to Veda and never would she turn him down. This is only one instance of her big heartedness.

"Vic" has always been a true loyal friend to us. She has a sweet, unselfish, disposition and is always ready to put herself out provided it is for someone else's good. If you want a friend who will stand by you and stick to you till the end, choose Veda. Now in closing, dear friend, we hope that happiness and success will follow you throughout your life.

GEORGE EVANCHO
Mining and Mechanical Institute
Freetland, Pa.
"Evancho-ly"

Here is a boy whose name is George,
Industrious, good-natured and solemn;
Never shirking, always working.
His nick-name—I will not conclude
For George would think it very rude.

If presidents of Mr. Coolidge's terseness are still in vogue some years from now, we feel confident that George will find his vocation as such. And should presidents of this type be out of fashion he can always be a professional football player, for he is a champion on our Varsity team.

George is a real schoolmate. He is industrious, bright, and truly a man of his own convictions. He appreciates a joke with the ability to return the same. It matters little whether the wind blows cold or warm, George is just as pleasant as ever. Consequently he is well liked by all of his classmates. He has won a place in the hearts of all, and the memory of him will be cherished by those who have had the pleasure of his acquaintance.

One is always able to tell when George is approaching by his pass-word, "WHOOPEE," and when the walls of the second floor of North Hall begin to shake we all know George is up to something, but every one enjoys his practical jokes.

George deserves a cup of happiness and we all know that he will be successful in all that he undertakes. Well, George, here is our heartiest wishes for a prosperous future and the highest success in life.

ALICE LOUISE EVANS

Central High School
Scranton, Pa.

"Cub" "Tubby"

"Cub" is another one of the Scranton Gang who entered in February. She, like the others of that famous "gang" is always ready to laugh off cares for others as well as for herself. That is probably her attitude when she hears the proctor knock on her door long after lights are out.

"Cub" is, however, very athletically inclined. Her inclination leans toward attending especially football and sometimes basketball games. We cannot conceive of the reason for this. When it comes to girls' athletics she excels most in volley ball. She is present at most athletic events of the school which fact probably accounts for her fine school spirit.

She has a pair of wicked eyes and is widely known as the "famous starrer." She can out stare any one.

She is good at debating, and whenever there is anything about which to argue, "Cub" is in the thick of it.

First semester "Cub" sang in the Glee Club, but because of her numerous school duties, she was unable to continue her good work in the second semester. She was also a member of the Y. W. C. A.

We hope "Al" succeeds in all that she undertakes, and we feel confident that our hope will be realized.

DOROTHY EVANS

Kingston High School
Kingston, Pa.

"Dotty"

"Dotty" is the girl with the Pepsodent smile! It radiates her charm, happiness, and pleasing ways wherever she goes.

We think of "Dotty" as a studious girl with time for work—and plenty of time for play. What a remarkable creature! Most of us find it difficult to do only one of these.

As a leader "Dotty" is capable; she is always starting something. If not, she is agreeable to any plans made.

We cannot help but admire the dry humor and wit in back of this cheery smile. "Dotty's" jokes keep us in a "fog"—guessing and thinking.

Of all things, "Dotty" excels in sports. She is interested in every kind, but basketball and tennis give her opportunities to display her skill. In short, she is the all-star type athletic girl.

During the first nine weeks of this year "Dotty" helped the girls in Berwick enjoy their stay. Her good friendship, her sympathy, her timely advice, and her optimism were all appreciated by all the girls.

"Dotty" participated in the following school activities: Book Club, Y. W. C. A., and Mu Phi Sigma Sorority.

Here's luck and best wishes for success to the girl with the Pepsodent smile!

JANET L. EVANS
Luzerne High School
Luzerne, Pa.
"Sophie"

Just another member of the foursome and oh! what a member. If you see "five feet two, eyes of blue," plus plenty of brown curls, dashing down the hall two minutes before the last bell rings you will, without a doubt, know that it is none other than Janet. She may be slow in getting to classes, but she isn't so slow when it comes to other things, for instance, in making friends. Janet has plenty of friends and she knows how to keep them.

If one day passes and Janet doesn't get at least one letter there certainly must have been a wreck on the railroad. We have noticed that the majority of her letters come from a certain well-known college at Bethlehem.

"Sophie's" favorite saying is, "Who would drink a 'cuppa' tea if I made it?" No matter when you go into room 363 you will see Janet serving tea or coffee.

Who said "Let's do the radio hop?" If you know Janet you will need only one guess because dancing is her favorite pastime and the radio hop is her favorite step.

Because of her pleasing personality, Janet is very popular among all the girls. She is treasurer of the "Y" and we know she has successfully fulfilled her office. She is also an active member of the Girls' Glee Club and the Mu Phi Sigma Sorority.

Best of luck to you, Janet, and we hope your "little dears" will love you as much as we do.

BEULAH L. FAIRCHILD
Newport Township High School
Wanamie, Pa.
"Buey" "Fairchild"

An introduction is not necessary for every one knows "Fairchild." When she first came to Bloomsburg last year, she didn't know whether or not she wanted to stay; but we are sure that she does know now.

We might say that Beulah is a type that cannot be defined. She is a friend most true and a good sport, too.

Beulah believes in getting her work but that doesn't mean that she is always studying. We often wonder how she can find time for all the activities in which she participates. When it comes to athletics one can always depend on Beulah. We all agree that she is a valuable contribution to our Alma Mater.

"Buey" is a member of that famous U. N. I. Club, nor would the Newport Club be complete without her. She is an active member of the Camp Fire Girls and can also be found at all the assemblies of the Mixed Chorus. We all recall the day Beulah came to Mixed Chorus about a half hour late. Her time piece decided to take a rest and so fooled Beulah. However, we wouldn't mind a little thing like that.

We feel sure that Beulah will find joy and success in teaching and in any other undertaking in life, for how could it be otherwise?

"A helping hand, a willing heart
Always ready for any part,
A wonderful girl, a friend so true,
What more can one wish of you?"

MARION FENSTEMAKER

Berwick High School

Berwick, Pa.

"Fen"

This young lady came to us with the group that entered here in our Freshman year. She is one of those good-natured girls who would do anything for a friend. As a result of her fine personality and sacrifice she has many friends whose companionship have made her life enjoyable.

Like all girls, she enjoys playing tricks on her schoolmates and it was the cleverness of these pranks that made us sit up and take notice.

She is a real student and distributes her time properly in applying herself to her work. She is very often seen in the library busily engaged in selecting material for the following day's classes.

As a student teacher she has made considerable progress as our observations and a review of her records have shown us. Her attitude toward her work and natural love for children tend to make her the ideal teacher.

Our love for her has been increased, if that is possible, by the little favors she obliged us by doing.

Judging by her application to her studies here we hope to hear of this young lady on the road to success in the near future.

FLORENCE FEST

Bloomsburg High School

Bloomsburg, Pa.

"Flo"

"Chug-chug . . . spit-chug."

Here comes a Ford up the hill. I wonder . . . Yes. It is one of the best sports and true blue, even to her eyes, a real girl friend and pal. Full of pep, laughter and kidding is our "Flo."

She lives down town, yet has made oodles of friends. Everyone knows our "Flo."

Did you mention Dramatic Club? Yes, I'll say she's a member. None better. Do you remember the Middler Play? Well, "Flo" was one of the main characters and surely made a hit. If the rest of her good deeds were forgotten this one surely will stir your memory. For one can never forget when "Alice fell in love with a Duke." Too bad, "Flo" that he wasn't real.

"Flo" has one ambition in life. She wants to teach "way out in Ohio." I wonder why?

We wish you all the success in the world, "Flo." May all your dreams and ambitions come true.

MARY JOAN FINLEY
Newport Township High School
Wanamie, Pa.
"Finley" "Fin"

"When Irish eyes are smiling, then the world with you will smile"—only those who really know this little dark-haired miss can appreciate the truth of these words. It takes fifty-four muscles of the face to produce a frown and only two to make a smile—so Mary smiles.

When you are feeling blue, you're only sad until "Finley" walks into the room, and then her Irish wit gets the upper hand. When she leaves, you sit gaping, and say, "My! I just feel like working!" She has gloom-chasing down to an art; she is in for everything that will contribute to the general fund of happiness; consequently, time never drags when she is around. Something (Somebody) was missing when she was doing her student teaching in Berwick, and only the lack of a mayor and a brass band kept us from welcoming her back to us with a royal celebration.

"I wonder if the mail is in yet?" Who is this person who seems to cause Mary so much anxiety?—Lafayette seals and Lafayette pins! Who is so interested? It's Mary!

Mary is small, but why is she always so hungry? Her first query on entering a room is, "Got anything to eat? That's good—I'm starved."

We wonder if her sunny disposition is the cause or effect of her attraction to the opposite sex. We have found "Fin" to be a person whose presence is received with love. With all her fun we have come to the conclusion that "Fin" can be serious when situations call for this attitude.

Gray eyes—brown hair,
Gentle ways—never a care,
A happy smile, full of fun,
A girl who is loved by everyone.

WILBUR FISCHER
Newport Township High School
Newport, Pa.
"Bud"

The young man portrayed above hasn't missed a thing but a few classes since he first graced Bloomsburg's fair campus two years ago. How our teachers, our social affairs, and the town movies will get along after he leaves us is a mystery, for "Bud" is always present even though he doesn't always make his presence known.

Hailing from "way up" in Newport Township, "Bud" dropped in on us and proceeded to attack his school work in a manner that made his instructors sit up and take notice. However, he did not stop with that but continued his good work by making the boys of North Hall enjoy his company by means of a little instrument, a "uke."

"Bud's" jovial character keeps us all guessing, and it was not until we knew the secret of his "sparkling eyes" that we were able to prepare for his onslaughts of wit. His ability to imitate various musical instruments and to impersonate Paul Whiteman was a source of pleasure on many basketball trips.

"Bud" seeks to advance in the field of intermediate teaching, and the teaching profession will indeed be honored by his presence. He is a student of rare ability and perseverance and a man of high character and a true friend to many at Bloomsburg who are proud to call him such. The school system that receives "Bud" may well be proud of him.

GERTRUDE JACQUELINE FLOWERS
Nanticoke High School
Nanticoke, Pa.
"Trudie"

Just two years ago Gertrude entered B. S. T. C. as a Junior. It did not take her long to become acquainted and soon she acquired a large number of friends by her pleasing personality and her ever-helping manner.

"Trudie" is a staunch member of the Alpha Delta Sorority. Whenever anything needs to be done she is always on the job. Many a time she has sacrificed a leisurely moment to hasten downtown for some essential party things.

As a floor supervisor we find Gertrude a great success. Almost any night you can hear her melodious voice call out, "Lights out, girls. Please." We know this is her duty and so we unquestionably put our lights out. (I wonder?)

What would the Nanticoke Club do without "Trudie?" She is one of its chief workers. Again, as in the Alpha Delta Sorority, "Trudie" is always helping things to turn out successfully.

Although Gertrude thinks Bloomsburg a fascinating town she thinks Nanticoke is more fascinating. There must be a reason for her week-end trips home.

Well, "Trudie," we wish you much success and happiness in the future whether it be housekeeping or teaching.

JACK FORTNER
Bloomsburg High School
Bloomsburg, Pa.
"Jackie"

Jack is a down-town boy but he enters entirely into the life of the school. Jack certainly has a host of friends obtained through that smiling countenance which drew us all to him.

He is Rooseveltian in his ideas for he believes in participation in all major activities. "To get the most out of life," is his motto. One would think him rather small for football but don a uniform he did and for two seasons he stuck to the old game for all he was worth. His interest in athletics also embraced basketball and baseball for he secured a position on the Junior Varsity of both sports.

Jack easily found a place in dramatics and music. Last year he sang in the double mixed quartette, while for three years he has been a member of the Dramatic Club, taking various roles with that art of a Barrymore.

"Jackie" believes in attending all social functions, particularly the after-dinner dances, where he is one of the "gentlemen who prefer blondes."

It would seem that with his eager participation in extra-curricular activities that his studies might suffer. He certainly proves us wrong for his work is always done and on time. He deserves all the praise we can give him.

In sending him forth we can only express the hope that he may be as successful in life as in school.

CORA ETTA FRANK
Mahanoy City High School
Mahanoy City, Pa.
"Cora"

Cora came to us from the University of Pennsylvania in 1926, because she says she likes Bloomsburg and the Bloomsburg girls. Those who have known her here are very glad she made that choice, for "to know her is to love her."

Cora is a tall, dark-haired girl with large, impressive, brown eyes. She has a beautiful soprano voice, which has secured for her a place in the Presbyterian Choir, and also made her a member of the Mixed Chorus. She is also a member of the Mu Phi Sigma Sorority. Her winning personality and ready smile have made her a friend of everyone.

Cora has chosen to be an English teacher in the junior high school. She is a true type of the American girl, and possesses ideals of scholarship, sportsmanship, honor and loyalty to her friends and school.

We wish her success and advancement, and hope that the perseverance and determination which have characterized her work in school will remain with her through life.

GRACE FRANTZ
Picture Rocks High School
Picture Rocks, Pa.
"Gracious"

Sweet of disposition,
Loving, wise and kind,
Full of true affection—
Cannot be defined.

Next to blonde curly hair and blue eyes, Grace's chief attraction is her personality, for she is congenial, sweet, and refined.

Grace is a very studious individual and sets her goal for "A's" and "B's". She regards a "D" as a red mark. HER motto is "Be sincere—work hard—never fail," and she lives up to it.

Although Grace did not live in the dormitory, she had a wide circle of friends, for she was president of a progressive Speech Arts Club during her Junior year.

Another of Grace's accomplishments is music. Give her a piano and she is happy. This year the Mixed Chorus was proud to claim her among its altos.

One day she was heard to say, "Teaching is the salt of the earth." We wonder if she meant "teaching" or "preaching."

We love you as a classmate, "Gracious," and our best wishes for your success go with you in whatever the future may hold for you.

BERNARD EDWARD GALLAGHER

Parsons' High School

Parsons, Pa.

"Bernie" "Kid"

Our earliest remembrance of "Bernie" brings forth a rather childish individual with a jovial disposition and an exceptionally curious nature. Coming fresh from the quaint town of Parsons, he departs after his three years sojourn a sophisticated, blase young man. The nonchalant manner which he assumes toward trivial matters shows he is destined for great things. The old adage, "play and study do not mix," has been proven wrong by "Bernie," who is one of North Hall's scholastic wonders.

His pastime and greatest hobby, though, is dancing. Not since the days of Terpsichore and the nymphs has the world beheld such an advocate of the graceful art. When not patronizing a certain Bloomsburg "ball" room, or studying, he may be found in room 384, North Hall, discussing the past, present, or future dances.

Although handicapped by a rather frail physique, "Kid" has reigned supreme as student tennis champ of our College. As a member of the tennis team he has passed through an entire season undefeated. Due to his consistent playing and his ability as a leader he has been selected to captain the team next season.

During his short life at B. S. T. C. he has been a conspicuous figure in the following organizations:

- Omega Chi Fraternity (Charter member).
- Dramatic Club.
- Science Club.

So long, Gallagher, the best of luck and success.

GERALDINE GARRISON

Berwick High School

Berwick, Pa.

"Gerry"

"Dear friend, if thou wouldst be proving Thy strong regard for me.

Make me no vows; lip serving is not loving."

Ella Wheeler Wilcox expresses better than I can the impressions that "Gerry's" friends hold of her—quiet, amiable and modestly demure. If you and "Gerry" are friends, you appreciate her deeply, because you can depend upon her to be consistent in her regard for you. No "on again—off again" for "Gerry." Since a person of so unusual a characteristic is very rare it is quite clear why "Gerry's" friends are many and varied.

Not only is "Gerry" the kind one chooses for a friend, but she is an athlete and an extremely diligent student. She has the ability of application and concentration toward anything she does. A good trait, "Gerry." Cherish it.

As for men or love, they don't bother her head at all. We are told, however, that her preference is for blondes and that a particularly preferable type might go by the nickname—"Ed." But really, we don't think she's met the one yet. He certainly will be fortunate.

Beyond any doubt, "Gerry" will be successful in whatever she attempts. We would vote unanimously that she is that "type." A trustworthy friend, a good sport, and a persistent scholar—"Gerry!"

"Red"

With the influx of students in '25 there came into our midst a congenial red-haired chap known as "Red." Contact with his future companions brought out the fact that he was a good mixer.

"Red" enlisted as a student of the Junior High School group and made splendid progress in that field. He did not hesitate to lend a helping hand whenever he could and before long "Red's" popularity and ability were responsible for his election as President of the Junior class that year. The following year he was elected President of the Middler class. His entire school career has been one success after another.

"Red" is also an athlete. His speed and fine form on the basketball court coupled with his excellent fielding on the diamond place him in a position to be envied by any one. His hard work and diligence as an athlete, student, and an ever-ready friend can be appreciated after noting these following accomplishments:

Junior Class President, '25; Middler Class President, '26; Editor of the Obiter, '28; Manager of Football, '26; Varsity Basketball; Varsity Baseball; Member of Dramatic Club; Treasurer and Charter Member of Iota Chapter of Omega Chi Fraternity.

Many happy days were spent in good companionship with him and it is with joy that we wish him success.

"Dottie" "Dot"

Curly hair, blue eyes, and a smile. That is our "Dottie." No one has ever been able to find her in any mood, other than a good natured one. A good sport, ready to take every dare and enjoy all kinds of fun. Her dry humor is a means of keeping up the spirit on "blue" days. A big heart—the kindest ever—willing to help others, and her manner of performing duties makes it easy to ask favors of her.

"Dot's" motto is very characteristic of herself and quite consoling to others, since it is something like this, "Don't work too hard or you might hurt yourself."

Her famous sayings may be heard most any time she feels free to really express her thoughts. We hear, "all that week, I didn't get in at night until the next morning," then "I wanna go home!"

"Dot" is in a rush to get to class—never! She doesn't want to get there before she has prepared her lesson and she must walk slowly down steps and across campus while reading and trying to grasp one point that she might fool the instructor into believing she had opened her book before the first bell rang. We, who know her better, are "fool proof."

She is a member of the Y. W. C. A., but her favorite pastime is wrestling with clay polar bears, camels, etc., to be used as a model for her pupils to follow in art class. Yes, "Dot" is artistically inclined and it surely is marvelous how she can name the pictures drawn by her children.

Though "Old Bloom" will miss her, we know she will be proud of "Dot's" record as a school teacher, though this phase of her life may be short. We wish her luck and happiness in whatever phase she may choose.

CARRIE GEISSINGER
Northumberland High School
Northumberland, Pa.
"Mary"

Carrie first came into the lime-light when she participated in the Middler Class play—"The New Poor." Although she took the part of a rather spirited spinster, we know it was only a bluff. However, that night revealed to us the fact that Carrie's talent is not only pedagogical, but dramatic as well.

Carrie has "pep" enough for a dozen and is usually on hand to help out wherever aid is necessary. Although she isn't Irish, she has plenty of wit and uses it to the best advantages.

Carrie really deserves a life-saving medal, and steps may be taken to procure one for her. The reason for this is that she usually has plenty of candy on hand when the starving members of "fourth floor" straggle in from classes. On the other hand, Carrie may be largely responsible for the excess weight that many of us have gained.

We wish Carrie all the success possible for a school teacher to attain. We feel sure that with her efficiency, personality, and good will, our wishes will be realized.

JANET C. GEMMELL
Central High School
Scranton, Pa.
"Jan"

Janet is one of the best natured girls that live in our "dorm." You can always hear her singing some popular song as she goes through the halls. Her favorite song is "Broken-Hearted," but we really don't think she is.

Curly hair, ambitious, and peppy is our "Jan." She is a good scholar and does not need to exert all her energy in acquiring her knowledge. We all appreciate "Jan" when she plays the role of the "Good Samaritan" because she assists us over difficult places in our lessons.

"Jan" has a great many famous sayings, one in particular being, "I have a hunch." In reference to her "hunch," it usually means a phone call about 9:30 in the evening from a person important in her life.

We have seen Janet take part in our College activities during her two years at Bloomsburg. During the second year we had Janet as our Y. W. C. A. President. She worked hard and faithfully and helped us to reach our goal. "Jan" did not limit herself to the Y. W. but with her excellent soprano voice she has been a member of the Girls' Glee Club for both years. Janet has another worthy hobby which is nature study and due to her great interest in this she became a member of the Phi Lambda, an organization in which she was an officer and a leader. We find her in still another place and that is the Mu Phi Sigma Sorority, of which she is an active member.

She has selected the Intermediate Group for teaching. As a teacher she has met with a great deal of success here, and we are sure more success will be hers in the future. But will she stay in the teaching profession very long? You never can tell.

"Jan," your classmates and friends join in wishing you the best of luck and success.

PATRICK P. GEORGE

Hazle Township High School
Hazleton, Pa.

"Pat" "Sheik"

Hazleton sends us "Pat" as a representative of the city. After having succeeded in all his work there, he sallied forth to new fields to conquer at Bloomsburg State Teachers College.

"Pat" was a shy, almost demure chap when he entered college, but as the days passed we soon began to take notice of him. His fine "soap box" orations and dancing won him a host of admirers, including the co-eds.

"Pat" certainly had a warm spot in his heart for every girl. He was known to take out, in his first year, fifty different girls—to the movies. No wonder the name "Sheik" has been given him.

"Pat" was an active student and participated in a number of things about the school. He was a member of the B. D. C., the school orchestra; he played guard on the Senior stunt team and was also a member of the Boys' Glee Club.

"Pat" is planning to enter the dancing profession after he teaches a few years, and we all know he will be successful in this field. Well, "Pat," we wish you all the success in the world, and we expect to hear of his doing something "big" in the future.

MARGARET NANCY GETHING

Lykens High School
Lykens, Pa.

"Migs" "Peg"

"Migs" is a happy-go-lucky, all round girl. Her brown hair, blue eyes, and optimistic disposition have won for her many dear friends. She is also a real student and distributes her time properly in applying herself to her studies. She is often seen in the library busily engaged in study.

We often wonder if that rapt look in her eyes means thoughts of Dallas!!! No one knoweth!

Looking on the bright side of life when it seems sad and gloomy is what "Migs" believes in doing. It is well expressed in her motto: "Never trouble trouble till trouble troubles you. For if you trouble trouble it's sure to trouble you." We have not told you about "Migs" most treasured accomplishment. She sings like a lark and if anyone doubts this ask any member of the Mixed Chorus about it. Her cheery, "Say kid, I must see you; I have so much to tell you," seems to indicate that she is well informed. (We wonder about what). And to the Professors she says much the same thing, expressed more deferentially, which proves she is well informed in her studies, too. Would that we could read your future because it promises to be of real interest. Best wishes and success in everything you endeavor to do.

"Migs" is a member of Speech Arts Club, Mixed Chorus, Glee Club, Sewing Club, and Y. W. C. A.

DOROTHY GILMORE

Noxen High School

Noxen, Pa.

"Dot"

"Sleep, sleep, sleep,
Oh how I love to sleep."

We could hardly think otherwise of "Dot" for she surely likes her bed and stays there in the morning until five minutes before class.

No, she is not quite as serious as this picture would make us believe. In fact, she is quite the contrary. As contagious laugh running up and down the scale—That's "Dot."

"Dot" is one of our long-haired flappers. We wonder how she managed to escape the barber's shears. We don't blame her for she has something to be proud of. Some of us may be found sighing for our lost tresses.

Although Dorothy entered our class in the middle of our Junior year, it didn't take her long to become known. She made friends very easily and is continuing to do so.

"Dot" is always reading. No, not what this might imply. Her volume, as we call it, arrives every other day and therefore she is kept busy until the next one comes.

A ray of sunshine will bring a smile to Dorothy's face but there is another "Ray" that makes her still happier.

"Dot" seems to be one of the lucky few. She doesn't have to spend much time on her studies and is always one of the chief participants in any recitation.

When she is with her gang she is one of the jolliest and is always ready for a good time.

All we'll say is: Dorothy's bound to make good—whether it be as a teacher, or—oh, well, let's say a—whatever she chooses!

There is much more to be said, but since space will not allow we shall conclude with "Dot's" famous saying: "And things like that."

DOROTHY I. GOSS

James M. Coughlin High School

Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

"Dot" "Dig"

Quiet? Well, she is when you first meet her, but after you know her, well—. If you could happen along some time and hear her famous giggle, you'd know how quiet she is. Wherever you see a crowd you are sure to see "Dot," the center of attraction. She is always on hand with her trick suggestions for a good time. If you want proof, just ask any one who participated in the "feeds" in her room. Don't get the impression that "Dot" does not study, for she does. Her work is done well and promptly.

In conversation "Dot" admits her ignorance of a topic quite candidly—this is something to be proud of, for very few of us like to admit our weaknesses. She says she is going to be a proverbial "old maid school teacher," but we have our doubts—mention "Jones" or a green Essex coupe if you want her to change the subject. From this you can glean why "Dot" spends every other week-end at home.

"Dot" is a member of the Wilkes-Barre Club and served in the capacity of treasurer in her Junior year. As proof of her popularity and ability she was chosen President this year.

Well, "Dot," we wish you lots of luck in your teaching, but don't teach too long!

MILDRED GREENFIELD
Central High School
Scranton, Pa.
"Mil"

She's sweet of disposition.
She's loving, wise and kind,
She's full of true affection,
She cannot be defined.

Here is another one of our girls whose appearance denotes modesty and quietness. But . . . are you right? I should say not. "Mil" is a good sport and always ready for a good time. Her chief delights are "movies," music, fiction and chocolates.

She was an active member of the Scranton, Current and Children's Literature Clubs.

"Mil's" first impression of Bloomsburg was rather cold because she was one of our mid-year entrants. However, that was no drawback, since with her attractive personality and charming ways, it was only a short while until she had won for herself a score of friends in the dormitory. She always has a pleasant smile and cheery yells for everyone.

Mildred certainly has a wonderfully strong will power when it comes to dieting. We congratulate her on that. She's the kind of a girl that determines to do a thing and then changes her mind. Of course that's a woman's privilege.

"Mil" has the required qualities for a teacher but we would not feel safe in prophesying that she will teach for many years. Teaching isn't the foremost thought in her mind. "Mil's" charms seem to be fatal to the opposite sex, leaving all very much bewildered as to whom she likes most.

As a teacher she is bound to be successful, and although her teaching years may be short, still she has our good wishes for that and for what may follow.

DOROTHY HUMPHREY GRESH
Williamsport High School
Milton, Pa.
"Dotty" "Dot"

To the little town of Milton goes the credit for sending to us this serious, studious Miss. Although she was ever a willing sponsor of any social activity, "Dotty" never succumbed to the lure of the opposite sex. Coming here with the express purpose of securing the training that would enable her to become an educator of "Young America," Dorothy felt that she had no time to waste on "silly affairs."

As a member of the intermediate group she studied her way to the scholastic leadership of that section. The field of science received her concentrated efforts and needless to say she has a record that is quite enviable. Not satisfied with merely studying the subject, "Dotty" secured a position in the office in Science Hall, where she acquired first-hand knowledge of the methods.

Still in quest of that treasured knowledge, "Dot" deserted us for a time in favor of Berwick. Here, again, she gave her best efforts. Her attitude towards her work is very well illustrated by these few lines:

"To do your best, there honor lies,
At sawing wood or swatting flies,
At writing poems, or raising greens,
Or making coffee out of beans."

Your work at Bloomsburg has shown us of what you are capable. It is with our sincere wishes for success and happiness that you leave us.

MARY GRESKO
St. Ann's High School
Freeland, Pa.
"Mary"

Happy am I, from cares I'm free,
Why aren't they all contented like me?

Mary is one of those studious girls who came to us last February from St. Ann's High School, Freeland, Pa. A very sweet, kind-hearted and lovable girl is Mary. She is most considerate of other people's feelings. This is due partly to her cheerful disposition and partly to an unflinching sense of loyalty.

Mary is quite an active member of the Geography Club, and a Charter Member and treasurer of the Camp Fire Girls.

In Science—what a thinker! In Psychology? Well, that's a secret we cannot divulge. In Basketball—one of our most enthusiastic participants.

Mary has acquired from her reading of "Ben" Franklin the proverb, "Early to bed and early to rise—." Beneath her love for fun, she carries a heart of gold, gentleness, kindness and sympathy. Toward Mary we extend our heartiest wishes for the utmost success and happiness, which we are sure will be enjoyed by her in the future.

RUTH E. GUEST
Blakely High School
Peckville, Pa.
"Ruth"

Ten bells and lights out! How Ruth always dreaded that time to come. A great commotion, a loud cheery laugh, and a voice questioning, "Mae, how about having something to eat? I'm nearly starved. Say, is the alarm clock on silent? Call me at six o'clock, but don't awaken me." That was always Ruth's "Good-night." We usually do as we're told, and so, we can't be surprised to see her rushing about to get to breakfast. (Ruth very seldom hurries).

You know, Ruth is a very serious girl—worries so much about sleep, eats, letters that she doesn't find time to think about lesson plans and subjects. She is ready for any fun that comes along—sometimes she doesn't wait for it to come, but just starts it herself. One really wouldn't think Ruth to be so jolly, but you're not well enough acquainted perhaps. "True-blue?" Well, I'll say. She's courteous, considerate, kind and gentle. You just bet she's affectionate. (Ask the boy friend from Bucknell). Ruth's chief hobby is laughing. One really can enjoy hearing her melodious laugh. What does she laugh about—well! Nothing in particular. Guess she believes in the saying, "Laugh and grow fat." But she doesn't get fat for all her laughing, sleeping and eating. Ruth's very latest hobby is—a tall, slim blonde, and—oh, no, that would be telling. Ruth delights in singing, dancing, hiking and basketball. She also takes great interest in the Girls' Glee Club and the Y. W. C. A.

Ruth's to be married in seven years—so the fortune tellers say. Well, anyway, Ruth, we wish you luck not only in Cupid's affairs but in everything you undertake.

MARTHA ATKEN HAGUE

Plains High School

Plains, Pa.

"Scottie"

"Scottie," (as her name implies—Scotch), or better known as "Mart," is a little blue-eyed blonde of medium height and very delicate features. She makes friends very easily and is well liked, that is, when once you know her and the ice is broken.

Martha has been with us here at Bloomsburg three summers, so she is not exactly new to her surroundings. She gets much pleasure out of forming her new friendships. True to her Scottish descent, she is very deliberate in speech, enunciating her syllables perfectly. She is not the "lip-lazy" American type as most of us are, for instead of saying, "Wouldn't chu care to go?" she plainly says, "Huh—why are you going?"

"Scottie" is just dying to get her school career over, and begin teaching. We cannot refrain from reminding her of several infrequent sayings which we find in this poem—

Alas, how soon the hours are over,
Counted us out to play the rover;
And how much narrower now is the stage,
Allotted us to play the sage.

But when we play the fool, how wide
The theater expands. Beside,
How long the audience sit before us;
How many prompters. What a chorus.

You see she belongs to the Children's Literature Club, and oh, how she hates to participate. Meet her in the hall or on the campus and she always has a hearty response to your greeting, but it is a serious matter to get her before the public. She plans to join the Mixed Chorus. If that is true they will get a valuable addition for Mart has a truly musical voice.

If your success in life depends on making friends we know that your life will have a large share of happiness and success in it.

MARGARET HANDLONG

Forty Fort High School

Forty Fort, Pa.

"Peg"

When one thinks of Art, there naturally arises in one's mind the thought of "Peg." She possesses an unusual amount of artistic ability. She always solved our most difficult Art problems, with a few strokes from her pencil and a few deft touches of her brush. For any performance going on at school, "Peg's" posters could always be found advertising it. Many rooms in the dormitory have one of her posters as an outstanding decoration.

How to lose weight was one of "Peg's" biggest problems, but determination and hard work fulfilled her fondest desire.

She possesses a very pleasing disposition and never refuses to lend a helping hand where help is needed. She's a happy-go-lucky sort of a girl, who smiles her way into everyone's heart.

That is "Peg."

Don't mention study. She isn't always seen studying but still she always knows her lessons.

A thorough fun-loving all-around girl is She.

What's the menu, "Peg," can be heard at all intervals of the day. This is a question she is always able to answer.

She was a very diligent worker in the 1926-27 Art Guild, and also in the Nutrition Club. "Peg" did her utmost in organizing the Nutrition Club.

We could write on and on good words about "Peg," but since space is limited, we will have to say in these few words: We wish you all the success and happiness that you can attain in your future life.

ESTHER HANLON
Tamaqua High School
Tamaqua, Pa.
"Es"

"You can't always tell a book by its cover," is true in connection with Esther. Behind those blue eyes lurks a great deal of mischief. She is gay, friendly, and a good, all-around sport—always ready for a good time, but not to the extent of neglecting her duties.

"Don't work too hard, or you might hurt yourself," seems to be Esther's motto. "Es" is one of the wittiest members of our class. She is one of those girls who can't worry.

"Es" is very lovable, with a pleasing personality, and a smile for everyone. She has won many friends at B. S. T. C.

As a good sport, Esther rates high. She can always be found looking for a good time, and if she could not find one, she could very easily make one.

She spends part of her time wishing she were home. The rest she spends in marking off the days on the calendar trying to persuade herself that vacation is nearer than it really is.

Esther has had the privilege of practicing her future profession in the Berwick schools, for she says she intends to teach. We wonder whether she expects us to believe this, when all evidence points against it.

A willing worker, a good classmate, a true friend, a pal—put these all together and they spell just Esther.

Our best wishes follow you, Esther.

JEANETTE HASTIE
Avoca High School
Avoca, Pa.
"Jean"

Here is Jeanette, with beautiful auburn wavy hair, brown eyes, and a dreamy, pensive look. She is one of our industrious girls who seems to glory in work. Did you ever see her enter a class-room unprepared? Well, I guess not. Jeanette is a good sport and likes her good times, but she believes in work before play.

Since she entered this institution, Jeanette has entwined herself about the hearts of many. Her winning ways and pleasing personality have been enhanced during her stay with us. She can take a joke—even though she may be the one on whom it is played.

Jeanette is a good mixer, even though she may seem to be rather cool—she is reserved with those whom she does not know well. At parties, Jeanette's jolly laughter can be heard above the others, for she joins in a party whole-heartedly. We like to watch her eat, because she enjoys that pastime.

Jeanette is a member of the Y. W. C. A. and is always dependable . . . like the rock of Gibraltar.

As for Jeanette's future—we are sure it is going to be successful, for how could it be otherwise for so charming a girl? We wish for happiness and success in the future.

RAY E. HAWKINS

Newport Township High School
Alden Station, Pa.
"Ray" "Hawkie"

Of the many students who came from Newport, Ray will be best remembered by us because of his modest ways and winning personality. His smile made friends everywhere that eventful day in the fall of 1925 when we were introduced to our future home. Many were the lonesome "Frosh," with their little "dinks" and meek manners, who were cheered and encouraged by this same carefree "Hawkie."

No honor was ever more fittingly bestowed than the captaincy of our 1927 football team, when it was entrusted to Ray. For three years his stellar work at tackle brought him "grid fame." His splendid interference and hard tackling will long stand in the memory of Bloomsburg football fans. He has also distinguished himself as a backguard in basketball.

"Hawkie's" success, however, has not been limited to athletics. His scholastic standing is an enviable one. His value as a leader was first discovered by the Bloomsburg Players, who made him president in 1926. Since that time he has been honored with the office of Supreme Counsellor of the Omega Chi Fraternity, Assistant Dean of Men, and other offices too numerous to mention.

Bloomsburg can feel proud to call Hawkins one of her sons, and it is with a sincere wish for his success that we send him forth.

SARAH E. HEISER

Lewisburg High School
Lewisburg, Pa.
"Sara"

This young lady is one of the many ambitious individuals who find it impossible to attend the College during the regular school year. Although greatly handicapped in this respect her desire to become one of the chosen profession is too great to be held down so she is an annual student of the summer school.

"Sara" is one of those good natured girls who would do anything for anybody. Her genial good nature has made her a host of friends both at school and at home. Those who had the misfortune of not meeting her have certainly missed an important part of their education at Bloomsburg. "Sara" is co-operation personified.

A glance at her picture will convince the most skeptical that she is a real student. During her sojourn at this institution she has been one of our most admired scholastic leaders. "Sara's" daily visit to the library is just as regular as the sunrise. It is this characteristic regularity that has made her the scholar that she is.

If her work at Bloomsburg is any indication of her future endeavors she will be an outstanding teacher.

RAYMOND HEISS
Berwick High School
Millinville, Pa.
"Ray"

This young man came to Bloomsburg as a "diamond in the rough" with the group that entered in our Freshman year. He is that type of fellow who would make almost any sacrifice for a friend. His fine personality soon made him one of the few really popular fellows in our class. His good-natured manner soon made for him many friends whose companionships have made his college life a pleasant one.

Like all "wide awake" fellows he enjoys playing tricks on his schoolmates and it was the wisdom of these pranks that first made us sit up and take notice.

He is a real student and distributes his time properly in applying himself to his school work. He is very often seen in the library busily engaged in selecting material for future classes.

As a student teacher he has made considerable progress as our observations and a review of his records have shown us. His attitude toward his work and his natural interest in the teaching indicates that he will make an ideal teacher.

Our respect and admiration for him has been increased, if that is possible, by the little favors he has done for us.

Judging by his application to his studies while at Bloomsburg we predict that before many years have passed we will find this young man well on his way to the leadership in his chosen field.

LIDA M. HENDERSHOT
Taylor High School
Taylor, Pa.
"Lid"

If you should hear some one coming down the hall singing one of the latest melodies, that is "Lid." Every one who knows her has at some time been known to say, "I wish that I could be like Lida. She never worries about anything and she always comes out O. K."

Her strong personality, sunny disposition, ready wit, and keen sense of humor has won for her a wide circle of friends among both sexes.

"Laugh and grow fat" seems to be her motto. She laughs and gets a "big kick" out of everything, but where does the rest of the motto come in? Lida likes to sleep—missing the train coming back after vacation last year proved this. But there isn't much of anything else that she misses. She is always on hand whenever there are eats.

Although singing and laughing are two of her greatest specialties don't think that Lida never gives any time to her studies. She is always well informed on all subjects that are discussed in class, and we predict a bright future for her.

Lida is quite an athlete. She likes tennis and could always be found on the courts during her spare time. Her clean, first-rate guarding won her a place on the Junior Girls' Basketball Team last year. In fact, all sports claim a share of her interests. When Lida was elected Treasurer of the Children's Literature Club, it was evidence of her popularity among those who knew her. Her fine voice was also an asset to the Glee Club.

Good luck and success blest with happiness to you, "Lida," and don't forget to keep on laughing through life.

MARY K. HEINTZELMAN
Sunbury High School
Sunbury, Pa.
"Marigold"

First appearances are usually considered lasting, but this doesn't prove so in Mary's case. At first sight you think she's a gentle, quiet, submissive young Miss, but when you know her well you find she is entirely different. She is gentle—to a certain extent, but the term submissive does not fit this girl at all. She will not yield to anything until it has been satisfactorily proven or explained.

During the second nine weeks of her Senior year, Mary journeyed to Berwick, where she did half of her practice teaching. Her merry laugh was heard throughout the halls at "Bloom" or the house at Berwick. Any time she wasn't too busy working, Mary fitted into the role of the "Jolly Jester." Mary is small and some chose to call her "Little Mary," but we are sure she will make a good teacher for it's quality, not quantity, that counts.

Last year Mary was a rather conspicuous figure in the Book Club. Her conspicuousness was due to the energy and ambition which was lavishly given to the affairs of the organization. At present the Y. W. C. A. is proud to have her as a member and not without good reason.

We extend our sincere wishes for a happy and successful career as a teacher. May you always progress as you did during the few short years that we were privileged to know you.

MILDRED M. HERR
Berwick High School
Berwick, Pa.
"Mid"

This demure little Miss comes to us every day from Berwick. And does she make things lively? Well, Mildred is one who believes in being heard as well as seen. However, we're always glad to have "Mid" around for she's better than a newspaper. If you want to know any of the latest news or gossip, ask Mildred. She'll know.

There's just one thing about her that we regret. She doesn't seem able to remember that she's grown up. When she was a child she was quite fond of playing "jacks." Well, here she is a Senior in College and still fond of "jacks!"—No, just "JACK."

If you're ever in Science Hall and hear a strange voice in the vicinity of the Locker Room—well, that's Mildred practicing some of the latest songs. You know she must keep that grand opera voice in training. She is one of the most enthusiastic members of the Glee Club.

We are sure that Mildred will make a success of her work—for she works and plays with the same vigor.

Here's luck to you, "Mid." Of one thing we are certain, we will all miss Herr when she leaves B. S. T. C.

ANNA MARY HESS
State College High School
Boalsburg, Pa.
"Hess"

See that smile? Well, it's contagious and if you're feelin' gloomy and wish to remain so, stay away from those laughing brown eyes and that smile. Some people don't know how to take that smile but believe me, she's always laughing with you instead of at you.

This young lady seems to be in perfect health but about once every minute she exclaims, "I just thought I'd die!" She doesn't talk much, that is not until she gets started right, and then—well, from past experience we have learned to just let her go ahead and talk.

"Hess" is very fond of every type of athletics. You see her on the hockey field, tennis courts, and in volley ball, basketball and baseball games. She also likes hiking—especially hiking home.

"Hess" has one failing—no two. One is "a certain party" and the other is bread and jam. No feed is complete without it so "Hess" thinks.

"Hess" is a very conscientious worker and goes at everything with a right good will. She helped make the "Speech Arts Club" a success in her Junior year. She also has done a goodly share for the Glee Club in the two short years she has spent here. She is an active, regular member of the Y. W. C. A.

Before we leave we would like to advise her to meet the rest of the wide, wide world with the same laughing smile that has conquered B. S. T. C. for her.

MILDRED I. HESS
Nescopeck High School
Wapwollopen, Pa.
"Hessie"

A good sport, a real pal, always ready to help any one depicts the personality of our pretty, brown-haired, blue-eyed, "Hessie." She has won, not only the good will and love of all who know her but also the distinction of being an honor student. Don't be misled by her photograph; she is serious when doing school work. When that is finished she is a witty, laughing girl as her big blue eyes would soon reveal to you.

"Hessie's" interests are many. Music, art and athletics occupy much of her time. She just loves tennis and dancing. Just mention dancing and "Hessie" is there in all her glory.

She is a member of the Rural Club, the Glee Club, and the Art Guild.

Her great weakness is a dark-haired sheik. She certainly is popular with the opposite sex, but how can she be otherwise with her sunny smile and laughing eyes. Her most frequent saying is, "I wonder if I've fallen for that egg."

"Hessie," the class of '28 wishes you success in everything that you undertake.

RUTH HILDEBRAND
Hazleton High School
Hazleton, Pa.
"Boots"

"A friend who knows all about you and loves you just the same," will characterize "Boots." The predominant impression one receives is that she is a real true pal, friend and sport.

"Boots'" smile is a big factor in making friends. A glance, a smile, and you have accepted her as your friend. "Boots'" personality has a charm which makes acquaintances say, "What a personality!" Her school pals say, "She's a peach!" Never did we pine about difficulties which so frequently arose, because "Boots" would simply chase the blues away.

Her voice became an asset to the choruses, and the Dramatic Club considered her an important member. No role was too difficult for her, and she performed with the ability of a born actress.

Little need be said about her ability as a basketball player because she has repeatedly proven that she knows how. She was a guard on the Junior All Star team, and her presence gave everyone pep and vim—which always brought about certain victory.

"Boots" was a leader in every sport—hockey, baseball, basketball and volley ball. She played the game and played it well. Naught can be said to mar her sportsmanship record; rather we can say

A girl who is sweet,
A girl who is true—
Without her—we wonder
Just what we would do!

MARGARET EVE HILL
Central High School
Scranton, Pa.
"Peg"

"Short," "Vegetables," "Half pint," a few of "Peg's" pet names. Take your choice—that's what we did, and "Peg" will answer to any name.

"Peg" is one of the shortest and sweetest girls of our class. She hails from that quiet town of Scranton. Is she quiet? I should say not! It does not take long to find out that! She is mischievous and always up to some new prank.

"Peg" has an unusual gift of being very talkative and making remarks which can be taken a dozen different ways. She loves excitement and if none comes her way, she is likely to create it herself.

"Peg" is always ready to eat, regardless of when, where, how, or what. (Hot-dogs are her speciality!)

She attends all games, both football and basketball. I wonder why? She can draw a smile from her classmates by her witty remarks.

As a member of the Children's Literature Club, "Peg" surpasses many of the most notable actresses—Mary Pickford and a few others. She is vice-president of the Scranton Club, and a very good vice-president at that.

She is a good sport, and is a willing student; we wish her success and happiness in future years.

CATHERINE HINKLE
Mt. Carmel High School
Mt. Carmel, Pa.
"Kitty"

"Laugh and the world laughs with you."

Catherine has the ability of impressing one as being silent, timid, and sedate—but not so when you know her. She has a pleasing personality and numbers her friends by the score. The most outstanding characteristic of Catherine is her good nature. You cannot fail to notice it, for she is seldom known to be cross over an argument, and is always smiling.

"Kitty" seems to know just how to combine study and pleasure in order to secure the greatest possible results. Her motto seems to be, "Work hard, play hard," for she puts all her energy in every thing she does, be it work or fun. The fourth floor was fortunate in securing Catherine for one of its supervisors.

Dancing is Catherine's favorite hobby. She is always ready for a good time. Her dancing ability, mixed with her sunny disposition, makes her popular with everyone.

We don't know what Catherine has planned for the future, but whatever she does we are certain she will succeed, just as she succeeded in gaining the admiration of her friends at B. S. T. C. But remember, Catherine, always be "Frank."

GLADYS HIRSCH
Tamaqua High School
Tamaqua, Pa.
"Gladys"

Gladys, you're different from most girls we know;
You're witty, you're pretty, you can sing high or low.
Here's wishing you luck and we give you three cheers.
May success be yours, through the many long years.

To her acquaintances, Gladys appears reserved and quiet, but those who know her best realize she is full of life and real fun. She is one of the bright lights of the class and is always ready to do a little more than is asked of her. She studies hard and still finds time to take part in many school activities.

Besides being an active member of the Dramatic Club, Gladys has displayed her musical talent this year in the Double Quartette.

Big blue eyes and a face that is sweet and strong, a disposition amiable, cheerful, all day long—that's Gladys. She can study, she can sing, she can dance. Perhaps the best way to describe this lass who engages in so many activities is to use the phrase—"an all-round girl."

Gladys has given us several reasons to believe that she won't teach school all her life, but perhaps those "letters from Harold" help us along in our belief. However, all we can prophesy for her is success and happiness.

KARLEEN M. HOFFMAN
Bloomsburg High School
Bloomsburg, Pa.
"Karleen"

Clatter! Clatter! Down the hall comes a pair of shiny black oxfords transporting a girl with long hair coiled about her head. On the girl's face is a pre-occupied look—glance over her shoulder, and you will see that she is reading a book telling about the successful writing of fairy tales. Have you guessed who it is?

"Karleen" is in many ways a very remarkable girl. She possesses rare humor and good sense. She is one of the few people who have acquired the ability to talk for an hour and really say something. The only occasion we can remember "Karleen" being silent was the time she discovered that the Maroon and Gold has her given name printed correctly. The shock was so great that Karleen could not speak for one whole minute.

"Karleen" is always as busy as the proverbial country lawyer. Her one weakness is her inability to say "No" when she is called in to do extra work or assist others.

She is an outstanding member of the Dramatic Club. It is here that her versatility is revealed. She can act and direct plays with the snap of a professional.

As Vice-President of Mu Phi Sigma "Karleen" has kept things "popping."

Besides all her other accomplishments this delightful young lady has the power to tell us all about our past, present and future.

Our most sincere wish for your future, "Karleen," may be summed up in the one word—Success.

MARJORIE M. HOFMEISTER
James M. Coughlin High School
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
"Marge"

Did you say a peach of a girl and pal? Well, that's just what "Marge" is. She is always ready for a good time. This was shown by the feeds that were given in her room during her stay at Bloomsburg. You will never starve while "Marge" is near to help prepare a feed. "Marge" is not only good at preparing feeds, but she is a good worker in everything.

"Marge" has become quite an astronomist since coming to this institution. She is always looking for the moon and stars—especially the moon. "Marge" can always tell you when a full moon is about to appear.

"Marge" is always looking for something—if it isn't the moon, it is a Dodge sedan, or else mail.

Marjorie is an active member of the Wilkes-Barre Club, and has done all in her power to make it a success. "Marge" is also an active member of the Dramatic Club, and she has directed plays as well as played her roles.

We know that "Marge" will be a success in the profession she has chosen.

DOROTHY A. HOOK
 Bloomsburg High School
 Bloomsburg, Pa.
 "Dot"

"Happy-Go-Lucky Hooligan,"
 No you've missed it this time.
 "Happy-Go-Lucky Hook."

"Dot" is just what this phrase implies; never worrying and always coming out on top. Were it only that way for all of us, how happy life would be!

However, "Dot" means business and certainly is concerned with this school proposition. She is investing most of her energy (and she has a bit of it, to be sure), in the cause and has fervent belief that she will secure a school! Well, "Dot," you have our hearty support and good wishes that you reach your goal and even push the top off o' it and see into a higher realm.

When you first meet "Dot" you will think that she belongs to that quiet, backward group of femininity, but if you want actual facts just "hang around" some night when she and "Jim" are going down East Street, homeward bound. You'll change your ideas then.

Fate hasn't been so kind to "Dot" this last year, as she has been separated from her chum, but then she is still true to her and what matters a few hours for:

To have a pal and comrade
 And a friend of tested worth.
 Adds more real joy and zest to life
 Than anything on earth.
 One who appreciates your cares,
 And shares your pleasures, too.
 Dear pal o' mine, Myrna's glad to say
 She's found that friend in you.

HELEN ELIZABETH HUTTON
 Bloomsburg High School
 Bloomsburg, Pa.
 "Helen"

Here is another Bloomsburg production
 "To know her was to love her."
 Who? Helen, of course.

A tennis player of considerable fame,
 Who fights hard when she's in a game.
 Smiling and carefree this little lass,
 Always striving to be head of her class.
 Helen when asked a thing she does not guess;

She knows and answers "No" or "Yes."
 Helen is one of those quiet girls; but When one knows her she is very talkative and jolly.

She has a smile for everybody.
 A lovable disposition by all whom
 She is acquainted with.

Helen is a real "champ" at basketball, volley ball and tennis. Consequently, she is quite a figure in the frequent tennis tournaments. She is going to teach the Intermediate children at school. Her attitude toward her class work and her ways all add to her success as a teacher. She is very studious and loves the kiddies. She is always ready for a good time, but never neglects her work for other things.

She is an active member of the "Sewing Club" and "First Aid."

The class of 1928 wishes you success in your teaching or what you may undertake to do.

DOYLE IVEY
 Bloomsburg High School
 Bloomsburg, Pa.
 "Ivey"

"What's the matter with the Locker Room gang?"

This is one of the many queries that greeted us on our return to B. S. T. C. in the fall of '27. For a time it was impossible to find an answer. Suddenly we were enlightened as a long, lean, bespectacled youth with a serious countenance emerged from the stairway leading to the boy's locker room. So that was it. The pinochle and checker champ of the domain of the masculine commuters had returned. Little wonder the boys from the outlying districts were disappointed. Shattered were their dreams of checker and card championships, all because of the return of Doyle.

Although hard pressed by challengers for his honors, Doyle has never been known to neglect his school work. The sight of this young man in a secluded corner of the library, poring over huge volumes is familiar to frequenters of that room. The teachers have in him the ideal student and it is with misgivings that we observe him conversing easily with our instructors on subjects beyond our intellectual horizon.

Not content with being a baseball manager in the simple sense of the word, "Ivey" donned a suit and adequately filled any gap in the lineup, both in practice and in a game. On more than one occasion his "fast one" made the best batters on the Varsity squad "whiff the breeze."

Continue as a teacher as you have as a student, Doyle, and your success is assured.

HARRIET IVEY
 Bloomsburg High School
 Bloomsburg, Pa.
 "Harri"

Ladies and Gentlemen!

May I take the pleasure in presenting to you Miss Harriet Ivey, of Bloomsburg. That really wasn't necessary, was it, but now I am sure that you all know her.

Harriet is one of our most staunch supporters. By that I mean she supports her school, her subjects, her friends, and especially her boy friend. That is the most important point.

In the two years of her college life she has proved to us that whatever she undertakes she accomplishes. This we can accord to her earnestness and zeal. As a primary teacher she wins the hearts of the children and delights in writing out motive and check-up questions.

Her biggest ambition is to teach in the public schools of Bloomsburg until she has her certificate. After that she will be a staunch supporter of football, basketball and baseball teams. Sports have always been her main hobby. Now, I wonder why? Never mind, Harriet, if it were not for sports it would be something else.

We heard of people being called good sports. We didn't know exactly what that meant until Harriet, with her broad vision and her sense of fair play revealed to us the true meaning of the words. Would that we could read her future; it promises to be one of interest.

Here's to the girl that's good and sweet,

Here's to the girl that's true.

Here's to the girl that rules Bob's heart,

In other words, it's Harriet, too.

GENEVIEVE M. JANNICELLI
Forest City High School
Forest City, Pa.
"Gen"

"Still waters run deep." This applies to "Gen." She appears to be quiet, but when one becomes acquainted with her, one discovers that she is full of fun. As she sits in silence she dreams, and we cannot help but think it is "Jimmy," of whom she dreams. If this gentleman, who so frequently occupies her mind, is so much in earnest, he will have to change his plans, for "Gen" expects to teach at least five years.

"Gen" is a very dependable sort of person. In fact, sometimes she neglects her work to do something for some one.

"Gen" likes to dance, and so every night she is in the gym dancing to the tune of the latest music. She certainly can step!

"Gen" is an active member of the Children's Literature Club and the Hostesses' Club.

She has chosen the Primary group for her future work. We prophesy success for her in the future.

HELENE JENKES
Hughestown High School
Hughestown, Pa.
"Jinks"

Whenever you see a brown-eyed, curly-haired girl go singing through the halls—that's "JINKS." She seems to be happy all the time, and she has a smile for everyone. She's the same carefree lass, day in and day out; she never worries about her studies; yet she never neglects them. She seems to feel that there is a time for work and a time for play.

In sports she is ever ready to participate, especially in basketball and tennis. Look at her any time in the spring of the year and you'll see her flitting over the courts. Dancing is another one of Helen's favorite pastimes.

"Jinks" is a willing worker and this won for her the office of corresponding secretary of the Mu Phi Sigma Sorority. She is also a member of the Bloomsburg Players and displayed her talent along this line in weekly plays and in the Middler class play. She is a member of the Mixed Chorus and of the Glee Club.

However, Helen is interested in more than these things. She is always interested in finding out when the mail is in. Shall we let them in on a little personal secret? Nothing doing! But you will admit that you think Beta Kappa is a good fraternity—won't you, Helen?

She is one of those girls whose friendship we all wish to have and to hold; a good friend, a good sport, a good pal—that's Helen. Good luck in your chosen profession.

CATHARINE B. JOHNSON

St. Mary's High School
Georgetown, Pa.

"Kitty"

Fond of music and of dance,
Always ready to take a chance,
Is this quiet little maid whose name is
"Kitty."

Thought by some to be very witty,
I introduce this little lass—

"The vocalist of the Senior class."

"Kitty" is one of those amiable girls, who hails from St. Mary's High School, Wilkes-Barre. Her winning personality and charming smile have won for her friends on all sides, and she is loved by all with whom she is acquainted. She is always ready to lend a helping hand to anyone in time of trouble.

"Kitty" walks through the halls in a very dignified manner, and judging by her actions, we are certain that she will be successful in whatever she undertakes.

She is always bright and cheery, and we are sure she will be a lovable little teacher. We think "Kitty" will spend very little time as a school "marm" because she has her eyes set on higher ideals. In the future we will miss "Kitty's" presence in the Current Events Club and Book Club. Her athletic ability we will miss very much, for she was always a participant in the tennis, basketball and volley ball tournaments.

Well, "Kitty," we prophesy a joyous and successful future.

EDITH MARY JOHNSON

Catawissa High School
Catawissa, Pa.

"Tiny"

Who is that small girl we see so often hurrying down College Hill? Her cry is, "Oh! If I don't make that bus!"—Why certainly, it is "Tiny!" Perhaps it will explain matters by saying that "Tiny" is from Catawissa.

She graduated from Catawissa High School with the class of 1926. Proof of her popularity was the fact that she was class president for three years. The duties of that office she fulfilled most efficiently.

Her picture shows a quiet, reserved type, but closer acquaintanceship with her reveals to us the fact that she is a fun-loving person, full of pep and vitality.

She studies—sometimes. In fact, almost any time you see her you may hear her say, "Oh, I have so much to do." And we think she does it, too, because many mornings, coming over on the bus, she tells us how late she has stayed up the night before to finish some work.

"Tiny," we wish you the best of luck in teaching. We know that you will succeed because of the unfailing efforts you always put forth in everything you undertake.

DOROTHY JONES
Pittston High School
Pittston, Pa.
"Dot" "Dotty"

Here's to "Dot," who is full of fun,
And ready for frolic when work is done.
Her ready wit and smiling cheer
Have won her friends from far and near.
Her motto, "Independence!"—She
A slave to man will never be.
President of the M. H. U.
A member of the Glee Club, too,
The "L. T." claims her once a week,
Y. W. finds her quiet and meek.
First semester she tried her hand
At training and guiding the youth of the land.
In Training School she tried to teach
The children to warble—and not to screech.
They all were young Carusos, too,
When "Dotty" Vernon Jones got through.
"Dot" isn't fond of the men, but still
We often hear her speak of "Bill,"
And we often wonder what loving friends?
Receive the big fat letters she sends.
Perhaps it's J—perhaps it's L—
Perhaps it's William—who can tell?
There isn't much that she can't do
With needle, hammer, pen or glue.
But when she's on the warpath, we
Hurry away most hastily.
Her classmates say that with her pluck "Dot" Jones deserves the best of luck.

MARGARET J. JONES
Taylor High School
Taylor, Pa.
"Peg" "Jonesie"

Here is another one of the "Taylor recruits." "Peg" is one of those girls who can claim a large circle of friends, the reason for this being her pleasing personality. She is a true and faithful friend, and is always doing something to help others.

"Peg's" hobby is athletics. In her Junior year she was a member of the famous girls' basketball team. At every athletic event, one is sure to find her in the foreground. Her greatest ambition is to become a physical training supervisor and we are confident that before she has finished her teaching career, she will have attained her goal.

"Peg" is an all-around girl interested in everyone and everything, especially eats. She isn't sure whether she eats to live or lives to eat, but no matter which it is, she never goes hungry.

We have often heard lectures about "school spirit" and about the lack of it, but "Peg" always gave her time and attention to every activity that was connected with the school. Whenever it was possible for her to do so, "Peg" attended all of the college games and supported our teams loyally. Not only did she attend games, but she was also a faithful member of the D. R. Club, the Children's Literature Club, and the Girls' Glee Club.

"Peg," we all wish you success in your teaching and hope that some day you will attain your greatest ambition.

ALBERT KALWEIT
Nanticoke High School
Nanticoke, Pa.
"Al" "Cal"

Nanticoke, the home of great athletes and championship teams, can list among its other accomplishments the development of our classmate, "Al." Although Kalweit comes from a town that has a national reputation for its fine teams he prefers to watch the game from the sidelines and devote his time to studies. As a result he is one of the outstanding students of our class.

Not being especially interested in athletics, "Cal" turned his attention to the field of extra-curricular activities where he has made considerable progress. The Men's Glee Club would sadly miss his splendid voice should he be forced to discontinue his membership. The high plane on which this organization now stands is due in part to his energetic efforts.

The fact that "Al" is ever-ready to lend a helping hand has made him a host of friends. No matter how hard or difficult the task you can depend on him for encouragement and advice.

To one who has made our sojourn at Bloomsburg both pleasant and profitable we extend our sincere wishes for success and happiness.

MYRNA HARRIET KASHNER
Bloomsburg High School
Bloomsburg, Pa.
"Jim"

HAIL, BOYS! ANOTHER BLONDE!

And this one comes from Bloomsburg. She came to us a quiet, studious, girl, but college certainly has changed her. One thing that hasn't daunted her is the college "male," for we hear that her inclinations are directed toward a certain person in Boston. Too bad that he is so far away; but then, distance matters not, for "absence makes the heart grow fonder."

It seems strange that "Jim" hasn't entered into college activities as she did in the high school days, for in those, she always played one of the leading roles. This, too, must be one of the ways that college life has affected her.

Boy, I'm hungry! That's Myrna. Always hungry and always eating. Bush's is certainly a handy place and seems to be the center of "such" student activity. It is certainly a lonesome place when the students are home on their vacations.

If you haven't acquired "Jim" for a friend, you do not know what you have missed for:

Old friends and new friends,
Tried friends and true friends,
Many or few friends,
Are to be had but
For a good every day friend,
Go-all-the-way friend,
Ask-what-you-may friend,
Give me—just "Jim."

MARGARET DRENA KELLER
Luzerne High School
Luzerne, Pa.
"Peg" "Zack"

A truer friend and a better pal would be hard to find. "Zack" has a host of friends who love her because of her sweet ways and charming personality. She is one of those lucky girls who make friends easily and keep them because of her wonderful disposition.

Did you ever ask "Peg" for help and have her refuse? No, indeed. "Peg" is always willing and anxious to help anyone that needs it.

We have been wondering for a long time why, whenever we would go into "Peg's" room, she is always playing "Who Is Your Who" on the victrola, but we have found the reason at last and a fellow with laughing brown eyes solves the mystery.

Who said a Studebaker wasn't a good car? Just ask "Peg," she'll tell you whether they are good or not.

"Zack" has taken a sudden fancy to athletics, especially basketball, and when you ask her about it she says, "Oh! You!" We wonder!!!

And is she good in her studies? Well, I guess. She gets her lessons though we can't say when or how.

Did someone say it was time to eat? You need not repeat the invitation; there she is all set to do her share.

"Peg" is a faithful member of the Y. W. C. A. and the Glee Club. She also belongs to the Delta Phi Sigma Sorority.

Well, "Peg" we wish you all the success and happiness that one little life can hold.

MARION R. KEMPER
James M. Coughlin High School
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
"Pat" "Patsy"

How easy it would be to change "Pat" to "Pal" and so perfectly describe this graceful, lovable girl. For "Pal" she is—a true friend, a good sport, and an altogether desirable companion.

On first appearance one would think that "Pal" was dignified, quiet and sedate, but underneath is found a fountain of laughter always ready to bubble forth. She is never too busy to join in a good time, and no party is ever a party without her. Lessons never seem to bother her much. Although she is never seen studying she is always prepared for recitation.

"Patsy" is one big reason for the Wilkes-Barre Club. Her voice has found its way into the Girls' Glee Club and the Mixed Chorus. The Dramatic Club knows this excellent actress in many different characters. She is an active member of the Phi Gamma Tau Sorority. If necessary she would drop any or all clubs in order that she might participate in athletics. She was one of the guards on the all-star Junior Basketball Team and is a tennis player of note. Volleyball, hockey, baseball and swimming are only a few more of her accomplishments.

We are sure that a girl with such a versatile nature could never be other than an entire success.

She is chic, she is gay,
A jolly girl, a real good sport.
With such a girl I'd wend my way,
And say she is the "Ideal Sort."

RUEY KENWORTHY

James M. Coughlin High School
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

"Rue"

Who is that good looking, dark-eyed girl over there? Don't you know? Why that is Ruey Kenworthy. She is one of our best students. Work always comes first with her. Ruey's favorite phrase when asked to go down town is, "I can't now. I must study."

When we were freshmen, Ruey led the singing in Junior Chapel and she certainly made us sing.

Ruey is very much interested in art. Some day she hopes to become an interior decorator. We are afraid that the only chance she will get to practice interior decorating will be in her own home, as a certain young man seems, well rather—er—persistent. Sh! Don't tell.

Ruey is a wonderful pal as her many friends will say. She is always ready to do all she can for any one of us. It truly can be said that, "To know her is to love her."

We are certain that Ruey will make a fine teacher and we wish her the very best of success and happiness in all her work.

ALMA MARY KERSHAW

Hazleton High School
Hazleton, Pa.

"Babe"

"Babe" is the name of this sophisticated young primary teacher. She is an active member of the Dramatic Club, Alpha Delta Zeta Sorority, and the Maroon and Gold Staff. She was also chairman of the Reception Committee of the Junior Prom and helped to make it the success it was.

"Babe" is another member of the "Hazleton Bunch." Perhaps you think she doesn't study, but quite the contrary—she is industrious. A proof of this is her work in the first grade room.

"Babe" is always ready to eat. She is one of Bush's most frequent customers. Chocolate frost seems to be her favorite drink, especially when she's with some one. But that's a secret we promised not to tell.

Her pleasing disposition and winning personality make her a friend one can cherish as one would a treasure. We know a good deal more about this young lady, but then we weren't supposed to write a book.

"Babe," we are sure the future will share with you its luck, success and happiness.

MILDRED V. KESTER
Freeland High School
Freeland, Pa.
"Midge"

A good sport, a real friend, and a wonderful pal is our "Midge." She is always ready to have a good time, whether it is to crawl through a transom or to prepare a feed.

She is one of the smallest, yet one of the most energetic students on the hill. When she stands in the room among the pupils of the Junior High School, we will wonder which is the teacher. We won't need to wonder very long, because we can tell that she is the teacher by her dignified expression.

Of talent, too, "Midge" has her share. Will you ever forget her as "Connie" in the Middler Play, "The New Poor?" She took the part of a sedate young lady, but she did not need to exaggerate her lines for she really is that sedate young lady.

"Midge" should know her French, as she was a member of the French classes and Club for the three years that she spent at B. S. T. C.

We wonder why "Midge" wants to go to the Wild Woolly West to teach?

Well, anyhow, she is a student with ability, and is very successful in all her undertakings. We feel certain that her future will be full of luck and happiness.

MELVA KATHRYN KILE
Bloomsburg High School
Bloomsburg, Pa.
"Babe"

Melva is one of our quiet little lasses from Bloomsburg. Yes, she lives in Bloomsburg, although you find her in Benton for every vacation. Never fear, "Babe," we like Benton, even though we are not quite as much interested in the consolidated schools in Sugarloaf as you are.

Melva has taken the rural course with the hope of teaching in a consolidated school. But, no matter which course she would have chosen, success is bound to be hers. She is not sitting down waiting for the opportunity to come to her; she is up and doing, active in every way which tends toward success.

Melva is a good sport, full of fun and pep, and with the biggest heart you could imagine. But is that all? Ah, no, she possesses that fine quality known as tactfulness. Melva knows what to say and when to say it—an asset for any person.

There is an old saying that "nobody loves a fat man." Of course we hate to contradict—but how about it, "Babe?"

Friends are available on every hand, but for a tried and true friend, and every day and all-the-way friend—Melva always proves true.

BEATRICE KILLIAN
Shickshinny High School
Shickshinny, Pa.
"Bee"

Blue eyes, brown hair,
Gentle ways, many a care.
A happy smile full of fun,
A girl who is loved by everyone.

Beatrice is one of the quiet, shy type; so it took us a long time to get acquainted with her, but when we did get to know her, we found in her a true friend. Beatrice is a faithful worker and is always willing to do her part. She is patient, optimistic and calm.

Beatrice always liked school, and so we think she has taken up the right profession. However, how long she will be interested in this profession is a question, for she is a good cook and housekeeper.

Beatrice is fond of sports; she is clever in all. Although she has played basketball, volley ball, hockey and baseball, the latter is her favorite.

After her sojourn here we hope she will be as well liked elsewhere.

DORIS KIMBLE
Forty Fort High School
Forty Fort, Pa.
"Dot"

There are a great many "Dots" in this world and one would quite naturally expect them to have something in common, but here is a girl who is quite different. Lacking an original expression, one might say, "To know her is to love her."

A first look at her photograph gives one the impression that she is a very demure and sedate young lady, but upon closer examination, one notices that her eyes cause a change of opinion. They reveal her charming personality.

Is she a good teacher? Of course! Why should say. If there's anything going on (including "feeds"), she's right there, especially if it's a dance, for she loves to dance. She hasn't missed more than one or two dances during her school career and she wouldn't have missed those if Philadelphia were just a bit nearer.

Is she a good teacher? Of course! Why her "cherubs" love her! That doesn't make a good teacher? No, but co-operation makes a good foundation for any classroom and Miss Kimble gets co-operation from her pupils along with good scholastic results.

She is too active a member of her sorority, the Alpha Delta Zeta and her other activities to enumerate them here, so the reader will just have to think of her as an all-round girl.

In parting, we want to say to "Dot"—
"When you've roamed the highways and byways of life,
And learned the care, the struggle and strife,
Lean back in your chair when age takes you in,
And think of the times when we were classmates and friends.

Sugar Notch, Pa.
"Ray"

Do you know this little girl with the black, wavy hair? Well, that's "Ray."

While looking at this picture, one would imagine "Ray" to be a quiet sedate girl, but this is not true. When you know "Ray," she is jolly and full of fun. Whenever there are gatherings and parties, you may be sure that "Ray" is there entertaining the girls with her "wise cracks." Just try to get "Ray" talking in her sleep—well, you'll know the rest. We often wonder why "Ray" makes the blunder of saying "Ken" instead of "can." Who is willing to tell?

But do fun and pleasure keep "Ray" from studying? Indeed not! She knows there is a time for each. If you entered her room during study hours you would find her studying her Geography and Sociology—her most difficult subjects.

If you are looking for a good basketball player, just call on "Ray," for she is the one who "Ken" help you win a game. Even though "Ray" is small, she is very quick and active in athletics.

Speaking of extra-curricular activities, she deserves mention here, for she is an active member of the Current Literature, First Aid and "U Know" Clubs.

Well, "Ray," here's wishing you success in whatever you undertake.

MARJORIE KLEIN
Hughestown High School
Pittston, Pa.
"Marge"

Marjorie is a blonde.
Her eyes are greyish blue.
She is very tall,
Towering over you.

To be with "Marge" is to be with a "Live-wire." Her personality is irresistible. She has many friends and keeps making more.

Ask her about "Bill," and she blushes; ask her about "Chubby," she smiles, but ask her about the High School chap, she jumps a mile.

"Marge" works as well as she plays. She was the captain of the Junior team, playing center and getting the tap most of the time. She was a member of the Athletic Leaders' Association because of her high standing in classes. She sang soprano in the Glee Club, making it resound with greater volume. And she does her own sewing with the help of the Sewing Club.

Her chief diversions are strumming the "uke," having others sing with her, dancing in the gym with "Al" as her partner, (she can lead!), writing letters to her many friends, and having feeds with lots to eat. Oh, how she can eat!

"Marge" is also a member of the Mu Phi Sigma Sorority. She received her numerals and "B" for participation in sports of all kinds. Her refereeing wins praise and admiration from her instructors.

"Marge" is an all around American type of girl. She possesses all the qualities, sportsmanship, a democratic spirit, loyalty and honor, with true devotion to her Alma Mater.

We wish her success in her teaching career.

IRENE A. KORNELL
Technical High School
Scranton, Pa.
"Rene"

"Oh gee! Oh gosh! Whoopee!
Suppose you fix the eats, roomie.
I've "scads" of work to do you know,
And a letter to Ichabod must surely go."

There you have the first glimpse of our "Rene." Busy? All the time. Say, "Cal" himself had nothing on her. There is an old adage stating that when you want something done, go to the busy man. We have found a true advocate of this saying in Irene. She is always on the spot to do her share and a little bit more.

As for her teaching, we have no fears that she has erred in choosing her profession. There is no doubt about it—"Rene" certainly wont have any trouble in disciplining her pupils, and for some reason, they always put forth their best efforts.

Her stick-to-it-ive-ness is well appreciated by the Y. W. C. A., Glee Club, Phi Lambda, and Mu Phi Sigma Sorority. "Rene's" work in all these activities is highly commendable.

Irene has the pep and ability that make for a good all around sport. We can truly say about her, "She is a jack of all trades." We always found her ready to take part in all athletics. She is an able basketball and volley ball player, and always brought home the marks of a collision.

Our parting words to you are "May happiness tune Life's Harp anew, and strike its sweetest chords for you."

MARY KOTALICK
Ashley High School
Ashley, Pa.
"Mary"

There is a little version,
That men do not prefer a brunette,
And Mary a blonde that can prove that assertion
Makes us think that the men are correct.

This maiden came to us with the rush that entered here two years ago. She was just one of those good natured girls who would give you anything that she had.

Mary is always ready for a good time. She can enjoy all kinds of fun, but when serious business is at hand, she can lead all of us. She is very studious, but she found time aside from her studies to cultivate her social nature among her classmates.

When it comes to a "feed," Mary is seldom absent. Whenever you see her, her greatest cry is, "Oh, how hungry I am!"

Mary has chosen teaching in the primary group as her vocation, and she is well capable of filling this position.

At the musical art courses, Mary may be seen sitting in the first row in the balcony, a keen listener. While after dinner she enjoys dancing to the strum of a uke or music from her victrola.

Mary belongs to the Children's Literature Club and the First Aid Club.

She expects to teach, but how long, we do not know. We agree, in general student life, she was one of the most willing workers. We, the members of your class, extend our best wishes for success in your chosen work.

CELIA M. KRZYZANSKI
Nanticoke High School
Nanticoke, Pa.
"Sish"

With the reputation of being an all around student and worker, Celia made her debut as a Junior. Her pleasing attitude and willingness to help others soon gained her a place of esteem among her classmates. No matter how or what anyone wanted, she was ready to do all she could.

Sports seem to be of a great interest to Celia, especially basketball. Even now, while teaching in Berwick, she finds time to participate in her favorite game. Although sports are attractive, her uppermost thought at the present time is teaching.

Teaching at Berwick did not appeal to her at first but now she can't be moved. We wonder if it's the teaching or the Berwick life which she prefers. We'll soon find out when she comes back at the end of the semester.

The Nanticoke Club needs Celia to uphold the old Alma Mater. Together with the rest of the people from Nanticoke, Celia is ready for action any time or any place.

But Celia came here to be trained in the teaching profession. We wish you heaps of success in future work of placing little people on the road which leads to fame and happiness.

Judging by her grades she has succeeded very well. At all times during her training her motto was—

"Thoughtful effort brings the best results."

EDNA ANNA KULICK
Hazle Township High School
Kelley, Pa.
"Ed"

A wonderful girl, a true friend, a good sport—this is "Ed." Whenever you meet her "Ed" always has a winning smile, is always ready for fun and ready to eat. Her cheery smile always lights up her face which is framed by exceptionally beautiful blonde curls.

"Ed" always pops into first class shortly after the last bell rings, then she looks around so innocently and smiles her engaging, happy, smile which makes us forgive her immediately.

Men aren't a topic that "Ed" discusses very often, but we wonder from whom she gets all those letters. Judging from the way her face brightens up when the mail comes in, we cannot help but wonder. Her favorite pastime is writing letters.

She has chosen teaching as her profession—and is said to be a shy maid, but beware!—those eyes were not made to admire women or win the confidence of children.

Concerts, lectures and social functions always find "Ed" present. She is devotedly loyal to B. S. T. C.

"Ed" played second violin in the orchestra. She intends to teach in the schools of Pennsylvania, but we are not sure as to whether she will carry out these plans, because she has a musical inclination. We wish her heaps of luck and success.

MARGUERITE LA BAR
Central High School
Scranton, Pa.
"Peg"

"Peg" is a "scintillating satellite" from the Electric City Club. She has three pet hobbies—dancing, dancing, and more dancing.

"Peg's" pet theme for discussion is that time worn one of whether or not all school teachers get old-maidish. We always notice a determined look in her eye as she elucidates in the negative. Perhaps she'll be a pioneer for the cause. Of course, what she's made up her mind to be is just nobody's business. But we have an idea that we know.

"Peg's" a good sport and she adores a good time. She never allows sleep to interfere with it. We wouldn't be surprised if some day she takes up extension work in Bucknell. The courses offered there are both broadening and interesting. But we must give "Peg" her dues. Living down town has its disadvantages, but we've never known "Peg" to be late for a class. Such promptness is uncanny.

Casting aside all the incriminating evidence that we've given, we find that "Peg" has that almost forgotten quality—a forgiving nature. And we do appreciate her and wish her success and happiness. We are sure that her happy disposition will bring joy to those who come into contact with her, and her intense love for hard work will make her a good teacher.

MARTHA ANNA LAIRD
Picture Rocks, Pa.
"Marts"

Martha is one of our ambitious and studious Seniors from Picture Rocks. She came here three years ago and elected the Junior High School Course.

She is not only interested in her class work but is very active in extra-curricular activities. We find her in the Science Club, Y. W. C. A., Phi Lambda, Clothing Club, Debating Club, and Campfire Girls, all of which have profited by her membership. "Marts" is also very active in church work and the Lutheran church will lose one of its staunch supporters when Martha graduates in June. She is Editor of the Young People's Messenger of that church. She is also the proud possessor of that much coveted athletic letter, won in her Middler year.

She has specialized in English, Latin and Social Studies. Both she and Mary have shown great talent in Latin.

We know Martha will be a great success as a teacher for she has proved that in her Student Teaching. She knows how to handle children.

Martha is always successful in everything she undertakes. She is a real leader. She is always ready to lend a helping hand.

We are expecting great things, Martha, and we wish you as much and more success in the teaching profession than you had in your school life.

MARY LAIRD
Picture Rocks High School
Picture Rocks, Pa.
"Lairdy"

Yes! She's the one with the glasses. What would we do if Martha wore them, too.

Mary believes in doing a lot of different things as well as getting good grades (she was an honor student for three years). She is (or has been) a member of the Y. W. C. A., Debating Club, Dining Room Club, Hostess Club, Campfire Girls, Phi Lambda, and now a member of the class song committee. She helps out at the church, too; she and her sister are the editors of the little weekly Lutheran Young Peoples' Messenger.

People who say that Science and Religion can't mix simply don't know Mary. For in spite of her staunch support of the church, she is specializing in science, and her first interest is science, her second science, and her third SCIENCE. Mary wants to teach Biology in a high school somewhere next year. She would succeed for she is one of those rare "A" teachers. How do we know that we won't see her in the Science Office here as the head of the department.

PHILLIS LANGFORD
West Pittston High School
West Pittston, Pa.
"Phil"

"She can draw; she can sing;
What "Phil" can do is everything."

West Pittston sent us this tall, quiet reserved girl. But as the saying goes, "Appearances are sometimes deceiving," so have we been deceived, for we've found that "Phil" is one of the loveliest girls in the "dorm." To hear her laugh is to make you laugh, but don't get excited if you hear her say—"Oh! I can't stop"—because we have found out she can, if given time.

"Phil" has won the hearts of many of us by her sweet ways and most engaging smile. Have you ever seen that smile? Then you've missed a great deal.

"Phil" is always in a hurry and she always has her inevitable excuse. "I've places to go, and things to do." We hope you get to all your places and do all your things, "Phil."

Poetry!! Now you're talking. Give "Phil" a book of modern verse and you'll find you have put her in "Seventh Heaven."

We are sorry no one seems to understand "Phil," at least she is always telling us. "Oh, you don't understand me." Maybe we do, "Phil."

Phyllis is a good student and strives to please her teachers in which she invariably succeeds. When lessons pile up like a huge Ogre, "Phil" tackles him and conquers him before she'll play—but then; don't we have fun? ?

Phyllis is an active member of the "Y" cabinet and a member of the Alpha Delta Sorority. The Mixed Chorus also claims her.

"She has a way, she has a will,
We know success will come to 'Phil'."

ROLAND LAVELLE

Dover High School, Dover Delaware
Scranton, Pa.
"Lava" "Lavelle"

Last year just as the examinations for the first semester were over and everyone was breathing a sigh of relief a few young men came here to join us for the following semester and among this bunch we found "Lavelle." Although getting a later start than the rest of us he pitched right in and made the best of it.

"Lavelle" hails now from the town of Scranton. He was graduated from the Dover High School, Dover, Delaware. He is a man very much interested in getting the best education as he does the best of everything else. After attending summer school he came back and proceeded to be a "Prof." by teaching the sixth grade in the Training School. As his greatest literary achievement we must not forget he was a member of the editorial staff of the Maroon and Gold.

Last spring when the sun started to warm things, Coach Booth sent in an S. O. S. for baseball players and "Lavelle" was among the bunch that responded. He was picked to hold down the position of third base on the reserve team—where he showed his ability as a baseball player and we are looking forward to the spring season when we shall see him again in his uniform stopping the fast ones as they come.

Go to it, "Lavelle," the best of luck be with you in the school of life.

ALICE A. LAW

Kingston High School
Kingston, Pa.
"AI"

The blackest hair, the bluest eyes, and the reddest cheeks are a few of the remarks that are heard about Alice when folks first meet her. She possesses a beautiful face, but that is not all for only those who know her can tell you of her generous disposition. She is a good sport and always willing to please.

Whatever the activity may be, Alice is always ready to do her part. In athletics she excels; tennis and basketball being her favorite sports.

Although Alice is always ready for fun, she is also a good student and never neglects her work.

She is blessed with a personality that is pleasing to all, and that has won many friends for her at Bloomsburg State Teachers College.

Alice has been active in all social affairs and has also been an active participant in many of the extra-curricular activities of the school. She was a member of the Book Club and the Children's Literature Club, in both of which she took a great interest.

We surely wish her success in everything that she may undertake after leaving this institution.

WINIFRED LAWLESS
 Bloomsburg High School
 Bloomsburg, Pa.
 "Winnie" "Win"

"Zelma" "Zelma"
 "Where are you?" . . . "Come here."
 "Where?" . . . "Here." Upon answering the call or trying to locate it, Zelma finds that she is at a loss to know where it comes from. This joke was played on so many girls on a certain floor in the "dorm" that an investigation was necessary. Needless to say, evidence pointed to fun-loving "Winnie" as the instigator of those cat-calls.

Our "Winnie" is full of pep and life and always ready for a good time. Her loving disposition and kind-heartedness are just a part of her charming personality. "Winnie" has the rare gift of attracting and retaining friends. Her large number of admirers and friends are a justification of this statement.

Some of "Winnie's" favorite sayings are: "Oh, you're funny"; "Come down to the house"; "Get out"; "What's that—why that's nothing"; "You kids make me tired." Each of these is characteristic of "Winnie," particularly the first one. Don't get in an argument with her or she will make you believe you are funny.

Can "Winnie" play basketball? Well, you guess. She has ability at playing on the tossing end, which would be welcomed on any team. She also plays tennis, baseball, hockey, and is, in general, an all-round athlete. Here, as in other fields, her good nature and sportsmanship are outstanding.

Your classmates and the "gang" wish you success and happiness, "Winnie."

SARAH LAWSON
 Shenandoah, Pa.
 "Sally"

"Small and sweet
 And very neat,
 From the top of her head
 To the soles of her feet."

This precise little maid comes to us from the wilds of Shenandoah. She is a sport in every sense of the word; always ready for a good time but equally ready to share the burdens heaped upon her at B. S. T. C. She is a conscientious worker and an excellent student.

"Sally's" outstanding characteristic is neatness. All who have come in contact with her have keenly felt its influence. Sarah has many other good traits too numerous to mention. In fact, we just couldn't think of them all.

We who know her will be sorry when the two short years of college life have ended. They have been very happy years, made so by the loyalty and cheerfulness of this petite maid. We hope that the termination of our school days will not take our "Sally" from us altogether.

Where she will locate in her initial position, is still a doubtful matter. However, she hopes to obtain a position near home. There is a secret attraction, we know but as yet, nothing has led her to disclose it.

We wish her the greatest possible success in all her future undertakings.

HELEN MAE LEININGER

Pottsville High School

Pottsville, Pa.

"Nell"

Clickety, clickety, click, sings the typewriter in Mr. Hartline's office, and there sits Helen at the keyboard. She is some "player" too. Any kind of music is her hobby; especially the kind one hears in music class. And oh! how she plays the ukele!

"Helen, oh! Where is Helen?" is echoed and re-echoed throughout the dormitory and on the campus. Aid in English or anything else is more than willingly given by Helen. We can depend upon the quality of this help, for Helen belongs to that group of students who rank highest in scholarship and athletics.

"Nell," as she is called by her intimate friends, is a born leader. There is always plenty to do when she is around. These "doings" are always original and usually contain much fun for the participants.

One can easily judge, from glancing over the list of school activities, that Helen's school life was a busy one. She belonged to the Campfire Girls, of which she was president; Glee Club; Book Club; Phi Lambda; Maroon and Gold Staff; Children's Literature Club. She was also on the Class Song Committee, Chairman of the chapel program, and Captain of the champion basketball team in '27.

ANNA EVELYN LEWIS

Danville High School

Kaska, Pa.

"Anna"

"A student full of fun and pep, Whose ways we all adore."

"Everybody's friend" will characterize "Anna," for she is ever willing to offer a helping hand. Her jolly and fun-loving nature has endeared her to all who know her. "Anna" looks to be very angelic, but when you know her, as we have had the pleasure of knowing her, you may change your opinion.

She loves to tell jokes and is always ready with a smile for all of her friends. When we are in trouble or feeling blue, we like to go to Anna for she is always in a good humor. School work doesn't seem to worry her—but then, why should it? She is very bright and has no trouble in getting her lessons.

Anna's chief hobby is going to bed promptly at 10:15 P. M. If she were the only one in the room, the Proctors would have little to do, but as it is—well, we guess it would be better if we were to let her tell you herself, what she thinks of those who believe in burning the midnight oil, especially when others are trying to sleep.

Anna doesn't know where she will make her debut as a school marm, but hopes it will be near her home. We wonder what the attraction is—not a man, for she declares she is going to earn an O. M. degree in her chosen profession. Your ambition may be realized, but we have our doubts.

V. GENEVA LEWIS
Connellsville High School
Thompson, Pa.
"Louie"

Among the crowd that stepped from the train at the "Pennsy" station one September day in nineteen hundred twenty-six was a slim, golden-haired girl whom we were all destined to know as "Louie."

"Louie" soon proved herself to be an all-round girl. When lessons were finished she was always ready for fun.

Many a goal she has made in a basketball game, and we can always rely on her to get a healthy crack at the puck on the hockey field. She is also a well-known figure on the tennis courts, at which game she can hold her own with the best of us.

"Louie," in her Junior year, was a faithful member of the "Freshman Glee Club," and this year she was a hearty supporter of the "Mixed Chorus."

Sometimes we wonder if "Louie" should be a school "marm." We know that her capacity for letter writing is not less than at least six per day. However, we are confident that her teaching ability will assure success.

MARGARET L. LEWIS
Scranton Central High
Scranton, Pa.
"Peg" "Peggie"

If it's a good sport you're looking for you have one right here. Judging from all appearances one would say that "Peg" is a quiet, shy girl, but she is far from that. You can't always judge a book by its cover. Looks are certainly deceiving at times!

One peach of a girl, always ready for a good time and always on the job is "Peg." If you ever want anything done and done well don't be afraid to ask her.

"Peg" is one of the industrious students who places her work before play. But when it is done, she is ready for any fun. Her motto is—go to every school function and be happy.

She has selected the Junior High Group, specializing in Mathematics. We now believe that "Peg" will soon take opportunity to further her education and receive her degree.

What would these clubs do without her? For she is an active member of the Mu Phi Sigma Sorority, Mixed Chorus, and the Electric City Club.

We feel that "Peg" will be successful because she is so industrious. We wish we had more teachers like her. "Peg," your many friends wish you heaps of luck and success in whatever you do.

VIRGINIA MARIE LEWIS

Central High School
Scranton, Pa.

"Dahlia" "Girvinia"

No print can do justice to Virginia for to appreciate her one must know her. She stands out among her classmates as a distinct personality that no amount of praise can change. She has a jolly sense of humor, a willingness for a good time, and a desire for further learning. Who wouldn't call her a good sport?

Although Virginia, like all mortals, has her weaknesses, she has one talent, which is outstanding—art. Her appreciation of beauty in art proved valuable to her in her student teaching, particularly in Berwick. Virginia's love for art, for everything beautiful will surely mean much to her and to her associates wherever she will be.

Virginia's conversations on religion and marriage show us that her's are unusual ideas and ideals—most peculiar—especially in this day and age.

As a member of the Art Club, Virginia had the opportunity for expressing what she knows and loves in art. Proof of her artistic ability is that she was class cartoonist at Central. In addition to her interest and participation in the Art Club Virginia was a member of the Sewing Circle.

With her art and teaching we are confident that Virginia will enjoy life.

MARCELLA TILLIE LIPSKY

Newport Township High School
Glen Lyon, Pa.

"Tillie"

Listen! Heels come clicking down the hall. Bang! goes the door! Enter "Tillie the Toiler." Has she earned this name? We'll say she has.

"Studies first, pleasures afterward," has been one of Tillie's mottoes. Of course, we don't blame her if she decides to discard it occasionally. If it were not for "Tillie" what would become of the third floor annex? She is one of the best fun centers to be found in the college. If "Tillie" isn't laughing, something must be wrong. That is what makes her such a popular member of the B. B. A. and the U. N. I. Clubs. She is also very fond of singing and enjoys her membership in the Mixed Chorus.

Are you looking for a basketball player? Hunt for "Tillie." You won't need to hunt far because she is "right there" for a game of basketball. You see, she is keeping up the reputation which she established in Newport High. Sports of all kinds have been her favorite methods of recreation.

She has found a warm spot in the hearts of her many friends. Those who have never known her can not realize what a good friend and comrade they have missed.

Judging by her perseverance in her studies we know that she will be successful in whatever she may be engaged.

The best of luck to you always, "Tillie."

ESTHER M. LLOYD
Thompson High School
Starrucca, Pa.
"Esther"

Esther graduated from the Junior High School course in 1926. The following year she taught Mathematics and English in an eighth grade. Being very ambitious she came back this year for her degree.

During her four years at B. S. T. C. Esther has acquired many friends by her pleasant personality and willingness to help anyone who might need it.

To look at Esther one would think she was quiet but when you know her, Oh, my! She does not spend all her time studying, but finds time for many other activities. She is a member of the Mixed Chorus, and has always been faithful to the Y. W. C. A. The Mu Phi Sigma Sorority was very glad to welcome Esther back again, as she is one of the charter members. Above all Esther is a good student and her work ranks with that of the best.

Esther's ambition is to teach "Math" in high school, and we wish her success and happiness in her line of work.

RACHEL LONG
Millinburg High School
Millinburg, Pa.
"Ray"

This young lady came to us with that group that entered here in our Freshman year. She is one of those good-natured girls who would do anything for a friend. As a result of her fine personality and sacrifice she has made many friends whose companionships have made her life enjoyable.

Like all girls, she enjoys playing tricks on her schoolmates and it was the wisdom of these pranks that first made us sit up and take notice.

She is a real student and distributes her time properly in applying herself to her tasks. She is very often seen in the library busily engaged in selecting material for the following day's classes.

As a student teacher she has made considerable progress as our observation and a review of her records have shown. Her attitude toward her work and her natural interest in the profession tend to make her an ideal teacher.

Our love for her has been increased, if that is possible, by the many little favors she obliged us by doing.

Judging by her application to her studies here we predict that in a few years this young lady will be one of the foremost educators.

ANNA GERTRUDE LYNCH

Plymouth High School

Plymouth, Pa.

"Anne" "Nance"

"Don't worry. A hundred years from now you'll not know what it's all about."

The winds that blew away the last semester blew to us a person of outstanding qualities pictured above.

Seeing "Anne" strolling through Long Hall with her bookbag in hand, galoshes under arms, and a stern expression on her face, one would not suspect her of being a very jolly companion, but to play pinochle opposite her, is to know her. That stern expression serves only as a mask to a most pleasant personality. One winning smile, a sparkle of those dashing eyes and "Anne" has established herself in our hearts.

"Anne" is a lover of nature, and is quite fond of outdoor activities, especially hiking during snow storms. The Campfire Girls recognizing this hobby, made her a member of their camp. On camping trips, "Anne" likes her coffee but prefers T.

"Anne" is not a novice at school-ma'am-ing; she has had some previous teaching experience and it is our regret that she had not been with us always. "Anne's" favorite literary piece:

"The thing in life that's most worth while,
That costs the least; that does the most,
Is just a pleasant smile."

M. EILLEEN MADDEN

Lewisburg High School

Lewisburg, Pa.

"Leany"

This dark-haired, brown-eyed maiden is full of tricks as well as school spirit. In the fine art of laughing, she reigns supreme. Her laugh is contagious. Last year, this gay person allowed her melodious voice to be heard above the noise and tumult of the dormitory. However, the sound was not wholly unpleasant, for those who have heard her, will willingly vouch for that statement. She has an exceptionally fine voice. We have heard her sing on numerous occasions, such as the Y. W. C. A. meetings and the Sunday Evening Musicales.

Like the majority of girls here, "Leany" likes to eat and sleep, but music, dancing and reading are her chief hobbies and she indulges in these quite frequently.

Eilleen certainly understands the technique of basketball. Her participation in this game, and her skill in it, have caused many an observer to remark about her fine playing.

Eilleen's bit of practice teaching has proved her capability as a teacher. We feel safe in predicting her as a success in her chosen profession.

CLELIA A. MASUCCI
Central High School
Scranton, Pa.
"Ciel"

Here she comes! The lark! Whenever we meet "Ciel" she is singing a tune of cheer. She not only enjoys singing but all other forms of music.

"Ciel" seems to be quiet, but appearances are often deceptive. Whenever there is a meeting of "Our Gang," her voice and laughter can be heard floating gayly from her room.

Although "Ciel" didn't join us until February, it didn't take us long to discover her merits. We're all agreed she has them.

When school opened this fall, "Ciel" was not seen around the campus. Why? She was in Berwick guiding the young Berwickians. Rumor has it, and so have her kiddies, that "Ciel" proved to be a dandy teacher.

Did you ever see "Ciel" cross? No neither did we. Her good nature and pleasing personality prevail at all times. She is a true sport and always ready for fun.

"The Gang" is wondering what would happen if "Ciel's" boxes failed us every week.

We must not forget "Ciel's" love for dancing. Almost any night you can see her tripping around the gym floor to the strains of her favorite songs, "Miss Annabelle Lee" and "My Blue Heaven."

"Ciel" hails from "The Electric City" and we all know she is very proud of it.

Dame Fortune predicts that "Ciel" will teach for a while but not long enough to acquire that "school marmmy attitude." Wishing you the best of luck and success.

COLLETTA MAYAN
Bloomsburg High School
Bloomsburg, Pa.
"Colett"

Here we have one of the smiling girls from the Locker Room. "Colett" is jolly and talkative. She is always bright and happy, and her mood is contagious. One cannot be in her company long without feeling as she does. She is a pal of all the girls and is a typical good sport. She possesses an extraordinary personality. We boast of the fact that we have never heard her utter a cross word. Such a reputation must surely be deserved!

"Colett" applies all the rules of good studying when she prepares her lessons. She has the rare quality known as stick-to-it-iveness.

Colletta had a varied interest while at school. She divided her time between basketball, volley ball, hockey, Sewing Club and Mixed Chorus. Her ability and conscientiousness probably won her a place in all these activities. Her success in the future is unquestionable.

Perhaps the quotation, "A smile brings sunshine on a cloudy day," will help to sum up the character of Colletta.

JOSEPHINE M. MAZUKEWICZ
Sugar Notch High School
Sugar Notch, Pa.
"Jo"

Here's to a friend, kind and true;
Who's always ready to help you.
Who's always ready to do as you say.
For that, she says, is a friend's way.

"Jo" is a member of the Sugar Notch aggregation. She is full of fun and one is sure to have a good time and many a good laugh when with her. She can always be very serious when the right time comes. Study? . . . "Jo" is generally ready to help others get theirs out, too.

She is studious and still has time for fun. She is one of the fortunate girls who had nine weeks of her practice teaching at Berwick. While there her acquaintances were many.

"Jo" hails from Sugar Notch; she travels with the Sugar Notch crowd. Of course, they usually have fine times and when they do, "Jo" can be always found with them. Probably their good times account for the fact that none of them get too thin while at Bloomsburg.

Every one who knows "Jo" knows of her athletic ability. In basketball she is a whiz, and if one asks her how she does it, she modestly says that it just comes naturally to her.

We have not learned for sure exactly what "Jo" expects to do after she leaves school, but we think she expects to teach the cherubs of the intermediate grades, since she has chosen those grades in which to specialize.

Best o' luck, "Jo," is extended to you in your future career.

DOROTHY E. McCOLLUM
Shamokin High School
Shamokin, Pa.
"Dot" "Dotty"

"Dot" is a true pal and a real good sport. She is always willing and always ready to do or go anywhere one suggests.

She has those laughing brown eyes that attract everyone, and a more pleasing personality one could not ask for.

"Dot" has taken a very deep interest in the welfare of a certain party at Lehigh. We wonder who it can be. Ask "Dot," she knows.

Do not think that she is not studious for she ranks very high in her studies. Who could think of the quartette and not "Dot?" She is also an active member of the Y. W. C. A. and is president of the Girls' Glee Club.

If you are feeling blue and downhearted just go in and visit "Dotty." She will have something to say to you which will make you forget your cares and woes.

Did someone mention Delta Phi Sigma? Why yes, "Dot" is a faithful member serving in the capacity of treasurer of that sorority.

Judging from the number of "special deliveries" "Dot" receives, we feel sure that she must be missing "someone" back home.

We feel sure that "Dot" will win the hearts of her pupils just as she has won the hearts of her many friends at school.

MARGARET JANE McCOMBS
Sunbury High School
Sunbury, Pa.
"Peg"

Always singing, never ceasing—just "Peg." One need only to stop to know that "Peg" is near. Is it any wonder that she is not only a member of the Mixed Chorus but also of the famous B. S. T. C. Double Quartette? "Peg's" talent, however, does not cease with the musical line. There is an artistic side to her accomplishments. Her art projects are proof of this.

We have often pondered on what we could do to interest "Peg's" spending more week-ends with us. A certain attraction seems to lure "Peg" away quite often. We wonder.

"Peg" certainly has her hobbies. Eating, swimming, dancing, reading and motoring. Versatile, did you say? Who knows the latest? Ask "Peg." "Hey, 'Peg,' How does that joke end that started this way?" and "Do you know how the one starts that ends this way?"

As a good all-round sport, we hand it to "Peg." Whether in the class-room or in the "Dorm," she is always there, willing to give a helping hand to her classmates.

We are all wondering how long "Peg" will teach school. It's ten to one that she won't teach two years. However, she is well trained along domestic lines.

"Peg," may success be your guiding star in all your life's undertakings.

CHARLOTTE MEARS
Bloomsburg High School
Bloomsburg, Pa.
"Totty"

Charlotte is one of our ambitious Seniors who had the courage to elect the Junior High School Course. She is now as ambitiously working for her degree.

She is interested in Dramatics, having been one of the cast in the so very successful Middler Play of last year. She is also a member of the Dramatic Club, the Mixed Chorus and the Y. W. C. A. She has spent a great deal of her time, this past year, in the library of the school, where we have learned to appreciate her efficient aid.

She has specialized in English and Social Studies and has been greatly interested in the art work of the school.

We know Charlotte will be a great success as a teacher because of her charm and winning personality. She has already proved herself a very capable leader of youth. Good luck to you in the after years! We won't forget you and your pleasant smile.

THOMAS R. MERRICK
Plains High School
Plains, Pa.
"Hook"

Some two years ago there journeyed from Plains a diminutive, blue-eyed youth bearing the cognomen, "Hook." His pleasing personality and ready wit soon made him popular, both with the occupants of "Josephine Dormitory" and those of North Hall.

Possessing a carefree, but determined manner, he soon proved his ability as a scholar. In his first year he was the author of a comic composition, "The Tomcat Quartet," which created much interest. Upon the organization of the Maroon and Gold staff, "Hook" was selected as the humorist. "Hook's Lines" are the result of his journalistic endeavors. Who has not read and enjoyed these humorous morsels. We are certain that they are the life of the publication.

The energetic spirit within this man could not be satisfied with the limited number of activities presented, so he organized the "Red Man's Club," which was short lived but enjoyed a wide-spread publicity.

As an athlete, "Hook" centered his attention on football. For the past two years he rendered the coach and College valuable service as a quarterback. Handicapped by a miniature stature, he more than made up for it by his speed, courage, and determination. On numerous occasions he tore through opposing lines that were impenetrable by the other larger and heavier "backs."

We will miss "Hook's" good-natured manner, and bid good-bye to him, a conscientious student and a good fellow.

HELEN MCGUIRE
Central High School
Scranton, Pa.
"Mac"

"Mac!" Is another word needed to describe her? Five feet three, slim, black boyish bob, and an ever-ready smile! "Mac" stands for everything that is worth-while in school life. She is right there when it comes to anything scholastic, social, or athletic. In the last, she is the undisputed star of the school. She is our basketball champ, and on the tennis courts she has led many a male opponent to a stiff contest. She is one of those rare girls who considers sports more important than being beautiful.

"Mac" is not so serious as this picture would make you believe. In fact, she is just the opposite. She can always find something to laugh about and, she is always ready to hear a good joke. "Mac" is a girl who never neglects her studies. To her, books come first and then a good time. She is industrious—very much so, but she always knows when it is time for play.

Because of her possession of a strange personality and her high idea of success, she was chosen a member of the Delta Phi Sigma Sorority. Here her active participation and interest led her to the office of secretary.

We heard of "good sports," but we never really had a clear impression of what that meant until "Mac" revealed it to us—in her person.

We wish the best of luck, happiness, and content to a mighty good sport.

ARTHUR McLAUGHLIN
Mining and Mechanical Institute
Oakdale, Pa.
"Pat"

"Pat," two or three years ago, in search of teacher training, quietly slipped into Bloomsburg State Teachers College, almost without being seen. However, he soon won a place in our hearts with his unaffected air and genial personality.

Graduating from a boy's prep school, he had been deprived of the privilege of mingling with the fair co-eds. Realizing that he must make up for lost time, "Pat" immediately after his entrance, repaired to the domicile of the women. Before many weeks had passed we were aware that we had a "Beau Brummel" in our midst.

When the call for basketball was sounded he was among the first to respond. As a forward of the Junior Varsity, "Pat" caused the guards of the opposing teams plenty of trouble. His "eagle eye" was never lacking and thanks to him the Junior Varsity came through many tight games with "colors flying."

Arthur's ambition and energy were recognized by the Omega Chi Fraternity when he was pledged and later unanimously elected to become a member of the Iota Chapter of the above mentioned organization. As President of the Dining Room Club he did much to place it in a prominent place in College circles.

To our friend and classmate we wish the greatest possible success and happiness.

BENJAMIN MILLER
Bloomsburg High School
Catawissa, Pa.
"Ben"

This young man came to Bloomsburg as a "diamond in the rough" with the group that entered in our Freshman year. He is the type of fellow that would make almost any sacrifice for a friend. His fine personality soon made him one of the few really popular men in our class. His good-natured manner has made for him many friends whose companionships have made his college life a pleasant one.

Like all "wide awake" fellows he enjoys playing tricks on his schoolmates and it was the wisdom of these pranks that first made us sit up and take notice.

He is a real student and distributes his time properly in applying himself to his school work. He is very often seen in the library busily engaged in selecting material for future classes.

As a student teacher he has made considerable progress as our observations and a review of his records have shown. His attitude toward the work and his natural interest in the profession indicates that he will make an ideal teacher.

Our respect and admiration for him has been increased, if that is possible, by the many seemingly insignificant favors he has done for us.

Judging by his application to his studies while at Bloomsburg we predict that in a few years time we will find "Ben" well on his way to the leadership of the educational movement.

CLAUDE E. MILLER
Nescopeck High School
Nescopeck, Pa.
"Jew Boy"

In the fall of 1925 there descended upon this institution of learning a black-haired, blue-eyed youth from the metropolis of Pond Hill. He, immediately, through his charming ways, made himself conspicuous among the inmates of North Hall. That he had a wonderful tenor voice was soon learned and this later found for him a place in all the minstrels produced under the auspices of the boys of North Hall.

"Jew Boy" soon showed his talents as an actor when a candidate for the Middler Play. He was selected as one of the characters. That he filled the role with great ability was shown by the tremendous success of the play.

When candidates were called for the baseball team of 1926 he secured a position on the Junior Varsity, and owing to his miraculous playing the team came through with victories where, without him, the outcome might have been doubtful.

Claude also showed his ability as a musician by being a member of the school orchestra for two years and often entertaining the students during Chapel exercises.

We are sure that "Jew Boy" will meet with tremendous success out in the wide world and we are sure that he will not tread the hard road of life alone.

FAYE E. MILLER
Turbotville High School
Turbotville, Pa.
"Faye"

Loving, true, and kind, for whenever anyone needs consolation, they are ever welcomed at room 372.

"Faye" was a commuter the first year at school, but she decided to partake of the joys of dormitory life in her second year. We grant you that she has attained her purpose, for may it be dancing, hiking, games or hall socials, she is never missing.

Her happy smile is especially welcomed at the B. B. A. Club. She also assists in making the evening a success by relating her many experiences and giving humorous selections. "Faye" is a very diligent worker and a very excellent student. She never goes to class unprepared. She is one of the many students of whom Bloomsburg may be proud. One of the mottoes which she faithfully practices and which she suggests to others is, "Early to bed and early to rise makes you healthy, wealthy and wise." That is why we always see her looking happy, cheerful and wise. We often hear her say, "Why worry? It never gets you anywhere, and anyway, all things turn out right in the end."

Faye is an active member of the Current-Events Club, and she delights in debating the latest news items.

With your broad knowledge of little ones, we know that you will lead the children along the desired paths of knowledge. We all join in wishing you the greatest success in whatever you may undertake.

CATHERINE MINNICH
Hazleton High School
Hazleton, Pa.
"Marguerite"

Every single day we know her,
We love her more and more.
Every day we find her better,
Sweeter, kinder, than before.

This bit of verse characterizes "Marguerite." She possesses a loving and congenial disposition and her circle of friends becomes wider as the days increase. We can also add that she is one of our "Minute Men"—always on the job.

"Marguerite" is fortunate in having those qualities necessary for a good teacher. Chief among them is her genuine enthusiasm in her work, especially in the teaching of mathematics. It is her ambition to specialize in this subject, and we who are familiar with her ability along that line, know that she can do it.

"Marguerite" has all the traits of a good friend; she is dependable, loyal and true. What more could one wish for in a pal?

"Marguerite" also displays capability in athletics. Her fondness for basketball shows itself in her playing and also in her interest in all the games that have been played here at school.

"Marguerite," your unflinching spirit, combined with your numerous virtues, makes your success as a teacher a certainty.

LOIS MITCHELL
Berwick High School
Berwick, Pa.
"Loie" "Mitch"

Lois, more often called "Loie," or "Mitch" is another one of our little girls from Berwick. She is quite tall and slender with a wealth of brown hair. You'd never think Lois would be a school teacher, but, as she says, "Variety is the spice of life—and give me lots of it." She's very often seen in the "dorm" where she has a great number of friends.

When it comes to men, well, we're not in a position to say, but her heart never was any too good and every once in a while it decides to miss a beat or two. However, her motto seems to be, "New face—new fancy." It is not for us to criticize, however, for some day when the stage is all set, the church bells will ring, telling us that Lois is to take the "vow." This doesn't make any difference at the present time.

In spite of all this, we know that Lois will make a good teacher, one whom the children will adore. The little tots will never be sorry that Lois chose to work with them because she has that pleasing manner that is so attractive to children.

Lois is a member of the Athletic Leaders and Mixed Chorus, and she takes an active part in each.

The commuters wish you much success in all undertakings.

SARA MITTELMAN
Kingston High School
Kingston, Pa.
"Sara"

You who do not know Sara, cannot realize the difficulty of filling even this small space. Only a master could do justice to this person—outwardly smiling and serene, with a carriage of queenliness and a poise to be envied, yet possessing the traits of a true scholar.

Sara accumulated friends like bits of steel accumulate on a magnet. They were drawn to her by a personality too winning to be resisted—and they remain true and grow more attached as the number of personal contacts increases. Many sought her assistance and to none did she refuse. However, we do not wonder at that for where the ground is fertile—the products are certain to be plentiful.

She is an aesthete in every sense of the word—an appreciative lover of the beautiful—for she finds beauty in everything. She is a keen observer of human nature and delights in studying people. We have caught her watching a person for an endless amount of time.

She served in the capacity of Secretary of the Obiter and Corresponding Secretary of the Tau Phi Epsilon Sorority. Her efforts in both will not be forgotten so soon. She also participated in the Junior Glee Club and Current Literature Club.

Success for Sara is inevitable.

LEO E. MOORE
Hazel Township High School
Jeansville, Pa.
"Ned"

When Leo first came to us we observed a tall, handsome individual, and when we made his acquaintance, we found out that he was the kind of person who would prove to be a friend "till the end." He is the type that you can depend on when in need.

We knew more about him when he reported for practice on the football field. Leo displayed great ability as a tackle and showed skill at blocking. This was not the only sport he was interested in. On our Junior Varsity basketball squad, Leo, in the center position, played a smooth game at all times.

In his Junior year he was selected to take the leading part in the Junior play, "The Goose Hangs High," and he performed well. Later, Leo was admitted to the Dramatic Club and became an active member. His worth was proven when he played a leading part in the annual Dramatic Club Play. Ned was also chosen chairman of the Junior Prom and later a member of the Iota Chapter of the Omega Chi Fraternity, where he served as Corresponding Secretary for one semester. He also served on the Maroon and Gold staff.

Those who knew him can never forget this likeable fellow. Many wonderful days were spent with "Ned," and he has our hearty wishes for a successful future.

VIOLA MAY MORDAN
Bloomsburg High School
Bloomsburg, Pa.
"Vi" "Vally"

"Greetings, little maid so shy,
Is there sufficient answer to your constant
"Why?"

Viola never asks "why"; she just always knows the answer to everyone else's "why." Just ask Mr. Nelson about it, for he knows all about Miss Mordan's contributions to a certain health class.

Viola never was a Freshman in our eyes! She just happened to mature while we were all Juniors, and when we first saw her, she already was an individual who had attached that highest of all titles to her name—A Senior! The real truth is that "Vally" taught two years before she ever joined our ranks!

"Vi" is a student—and not an ordinary one. There are two types of students—and you must guess the types for yourself—and, but "Vi" is both. She is conscientious, fun-loving and possessed of an unusual amount of patience that only adds savor to her make-up!

The most winsome thing about her is her ready smile. Regardless the professor, the time, or the occasion, Viola somehow manages a smile to slip in between the discussion. We don't know if it is merely because she is amused at our degree of intelligence or because she feels the situation needs the association of a smile—but at any rate, it does brighten things up—and thanks, Viola!

"Vally" has the "something" that will make her win in whatever she decides to undertake.

We have enjoyed you as a member of a glorious class, Viola, and it is with a memory of pleasant thoughts of you that we say "Farewell!"

ANNA E. MORRIS
West Pittston High School
West Pittston, Pa.
"Sandy"

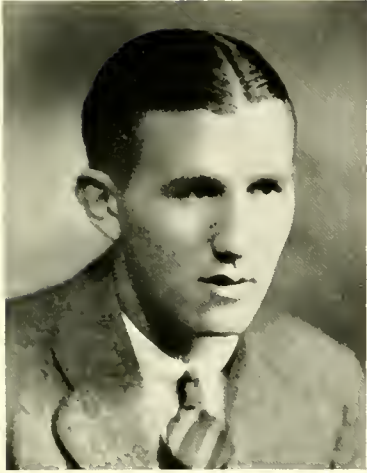

From the great metropolis of West Pittston came an ambitious lassie in search of knowledge. After associating with her for a day, she became known to us as "Sandy." If you ever want her for anything, she is usually around the third floor annex, or in the library studying???

It has been said "that women's hair is women's beauty." So it goes with "Sandy." Her fair tresses have captured many of the opposite sex, but only one of that sex has captured her heart.

Besides making herself the most essential element in one certain person's life, she has also become very dear to us. Her good sportsmanship won her a place in the Alpha Delta Sorority. The Sorority wouldn't know what to do without her as treasurer.

"Sandy" has a pleasing personality, for she has proven to be a fine friend and pal to all of us. Perhaps that is why she makes such a good teacher. But even if her teaching is so successful and she says teaching will be her profession, we are positive she will not teach for five years, if Jimmy has his say.

Her aims are high and her ideals are attached to stars which can be reached by such as she. Here's wishing you the best of luck, old Pal, no matter where you chance to roam.

JOHN E. MORRIS
Forty Fort High School
Forty Fort, Pa.
"Muley" "Jack"

Although "Muley" was a quiet chap who came to us from Forty Fort, it did not take him very long to get acquainted with classmates at B. S. T. C. He possesses a winning way among his companions which was largely responsible for his popularity. It was a pleasure to know him for he could always supply the hungry "gang" of North Hall with his fine line of eats and smokes.

"Jack" believed in having his fun any time but he never neglected his class work. He furnished the "boys" with his mean line of stale jokes whenever he thought they felt blue.

"Muley," like the rest of the students, belonged to a few organizations. During his first year he was a member of the Geographic Society. He is an active member of the Dramatic Club and has taken quite an interest along that line. He is also a member of the Iota Chapter of the Omega Chi Fraternity and at the beginning of the semester he was elected sergeant-at-arms.

Many happy moments were spent in his company and we hope his successes in the future are numerous.

CORDELIA MOYER
Plymouth High School
Plymouth, Pa.
"Del"

This young lady came to us with the group that entered here in our Freshman year. She is one of those good-natured girls who would do anything for a friend. As a result of her fine personality and sacrifice she has many friends whose companionship have made her life enjoyable.

Like all girls, she enjoys playing tricks on her school-mates and it was the cleverness of these pranks that made us sit up and take notice.

She is a real student and distributes her time properly in applying herself to her work. She is very often seen in the library busily engaged in selecting material for the following day's classes.

As a student teacher she has made considerable progress as our observations and a review of her records have shown us. Her attitude toward her work and a natural love for children tend to make her the ideal teacher.

Our love for her has been increased, if that is possible, by the little favors she obliged us by doing.

Judging by her application to her studies here we hope to hear of this young lady on the road to success in the near future.

OLIVE MOYER
Dickinson Seminary
Williamsport, Pa.
"Oli"

Here comes a shy little lassie, only five feet one in height. Her broad, cheery smile merely hints at the sweet disposition back of it. Her greatest asset is blonde curly hair (natural)—Her crowning glory.

When it comes to studiousness, Olive is one of the first in line. It is difficult to come to any conclusion about the subjects Olive likes best, for she seems to like them all. Olive need never be ashamed of her work in psychology or English, for these were exceptionally good. Who was it that used to save the day when our music lessons were unprepared—"Little Miss Moyer."

Olive was an active member of the Sewing Club and the Girls' Glee Club. In addition to these, she certainly did her share in guiding the promising young 'uns of Bloomsburg. Here's to her luck and success.

MARY ALICE MULFORD
Central High School
Scranton, Pa.
"Muralice"

Mary is one of the girls who entered B. S. T. C. in February, 1927. She didn't waste much time between her graduation from high school and her entrance to the college.

It may be a little difficult to become acquainted with "Muralice," but once one knows her he realizes that her friendship is worth working for. Mary is a very quiet girl when you don't know her, but just learn to know her—then you won't think so.

"Mauralice's" morning call in room 319 was, "'Peggy,' 'Mac,' 'Derm': It's seven o'clock, are you going to breakfast?" In other words, Mary was the alarm clock for the girls of 319. Ask her—she knows.

Besides being an alarm clock, Mary is very studious, which makes her very successful. Success depends on punctuality, and "Muralice" has plenty of that.

Mary is also known for her athletic ability. Many times she was made captain of her team.

She belongs to "The Electric City Club" and has served as secretary. She has also been an active member of the Children's Literature Club, in which she has shown her ability at dramatizing stories.

Eats! Did someone say something about eats! No crumbs on the floor, please, Mary, get the dust pan. I wonder what that means? "Muralice" knows, ask her.

On the whole, Mary is a real good sport and here's wishing her the best of luck in the future.

ANNA MUSKALOON

ELIZABETH NAGORSKI
Newport Township High School
Glen Lyon, Pa.
"Elizabeth"

Elizabeth is always giggling.
Hence her pleasant frame of mind;
No matter when or where she is,
A joke she'll always find.

Elizabeth—everybody knows her. With her smile and friendly manner she has won for herself many friends. When you are in her company you cannot help but join in with a hearty laugh.

"Don't do today what you can do tomorrow," is Elizabeth's motto. Even though her motto seems to be an easy-going one she is sure to get her work finished on time.

However, she still has time for other things. Much of her time is spent in taking part in outside activities. Are you looking for a referee? You need not go very far for Elizabeth is ever ready with her whistle. She is one on whom you can always rely. As a referee she cannot be beaten. Sometimes we think she has missed her calling, but have courage, Elizabeth, there is still a chance. We are eagerly awaiting the day when you will follow in Miss McCammon's footsteps.

Elizabeth is not only athletically inclined but also musically, for she is a member of the Mixed Chorus. Her voice can always be heard as she roams the halls seeking one of her many friends. Elizabeth is an active participant in the U. N. I. With your wide range of abilities we know that you will be successful as a teacher.

Your friends all join in wishing you the best of luck and success in all your undertakings.

GRACE L. NEYHARD
Bloomsburg High School
Bloomsburg, Pa.
"Ted"

Faithfulness, loyalty and service—these are the three watchwords by which Grace enters the hearts of all. Her motto for life is "Others." Grace is one of the sweetest girls of the college, always ready and willing to help us. Her cheerful and fun loving disposition endears her to all.

"Ted" is also popular with the opposite sex, as they have fallen for her, not once, but many times. To verify this statement, ask "Ted" about a very slippery night in January a year ago.

Grace is a lover of nature and out-door life. She enjoys going on early morning hikes. While every one is still asleep, she goes to some spot out in the wilderness "where the world is waiting for the sunrise."

We know Grace will be a success as a teacher, or at any other profession. She has already shown her ability in her student teaching. She is the kind who hitches her wagon to a star, the star of success, then strives with her whole soul to reach that star.

"Grace is the kind of a friend to be glad about,

The kind that wears, but doesn't wear out."

LUCIA NOLL

Mt. Carmel, Pa.

CLAIRE MORRIS NUSS
Berwick High School
Berwick, Pa.
"Claire"

Petite, dark-haired and attractive, describes this girl. Does she look as though she were married? Not at all—nevertheless she is, regardless of her appearance.

Her friends all know her as a lively, sport-loving, light-hearted girl, with a mind capable of deep things and good judgment. Claire loves to talk, and she always has an audience of good listeners who always appreciate her conversation.

One can scarcely believe, though, that our once wide-awake, romantic Claire has become the shy, domesticated wife that we now know, and we are told that she proved a charming hostess when entertaining the student teachers at Berwick.

Last year will always be Claire's particularly fond memory of her school career. How she did love to spend her time in the library and gaze at—don't think too hard or you will guess who it was. There was another too—a blond, who decided almost simultaneously with Claire, that the best course to pursue was the marital one.

Claire showed her athletic and mental ability when she was elected an athletic leader.

Good luck to you, Claire, in your new phase of life.

JULIA B. O'CONNOR
Olyphant High School
Jessup, Pa.
"Jule"

This interesting young lady has won, through her pleasant disposition, many a heart—both male and female. Jule's readiness for a good time, her attitude toward athletics, her interest in society as a whole and her ability as a student, have resulted in a wide circle of friends.

Little by little, we have watched with interest the transformation of a highly-strung nervous "Jule," who came to B. S. T. C. in '26, to the self-confident Julia of today. We admire her for this change.

Although "Jule" has many hobbies—reading the future, seems to be her chief delight. What does it mean? Then, too, "Jule" likes basketball. Perhaps we can trace this interest to the captain—captain is not limited to one team.

"Jule" likes to spend her vacations at Buffalo. But can we blame her? No, not when we think of Buffalo University.

"Jule" was a participant in more than one activity during her two years with us. She was a member of the Junior Prom Reception Committee in her Junior year, and active member of the First Aid Club, floor supervisor, and the treasurer of the Phi Gamma Tau Sorority.

"Jule," we're glad that you changed; surely your newly acquired self-confidence is already one step forward to success.

MARTHA L. ODELL
Falls Overfield High School
Falls, Pa.
"Mart"

Here is "Mart" with her laughing blue eyes and sunny disposition. She is a very conscientious lassie and a great favorite among her friends. One can never feel blue around "Mart" for her jolly, good nature and keen sense of humor make one see the funny side—even of exams. Whenever there is a good time to be had she is on the spot, and one can always count on her to do her share to make the affair a success.

"Mart" is very popular among the boys. She likes them all, and they all like her. "Peanuts" thinks she was never meant to be a school teacher.

One of her most noticeable attractions is the pretty dimple in her chin. Never mind, "Mart," we all know the little rhyme about that. She very seldom walks up Main Street but what some one of the opposite sex remarks about it.

"Mart" is a member of the Alpha Delta Sorority and an active member of the Campfire Girls. She is also very fond of athletics. Basketball is her main sport. To "toot" the whistle is her greatest delight.

As a teacher she is bound to be successful, and although prospects for an extended period as a school teacher are not very bright, still she has our good wishes for that—and what happens after!

Shickshinny, Pa.
"Marge"

"Marge" is one of the fine members of the Junior High School group who are taking the three year course. She is a "four-square" girl and is always the life of the crowd she is with. She is a jolly, good-natured girl, beloved by everyone in the College. "Marge" is always ready for a good time, and is a "live wire" in everything she does.

She is a student of ability and has done excellent work in her classes and is a very fine teacher.

"Marge" is a beloved member of the Mu Phi Sigma, Mixed Chorus, and is also Secretary of the Senior Class, and always takes an active part in all social functions of the school. She makes everyone around her feel that life is worth living, and we are sure that whoever she meets in the future will gain the same impression.

Here is the wish of the Class of '28, "Marge":

Wherever you go,
Wherever you are,
May luck, wealth and happiness
Go with you afar.

WINIFRED OSINCHUK
Scranton Central High School
New York City
"Winnie"

The wee girl with blonde hair, light eyes and that school girl complexion we all rave about—and you have "Winnie," a living example of the old adage, "Still waters run deep." Few people realize what goes on beneath that bob and what that faraway look means. From all appearances she is a quiet and unassuming lass, but if you knew her you would not think so! She is the possessor of a pleasing personality and has endeared herself to many students.

Winifred never misses an after-dinner dance. She is one of the best dancers we have at the college. Proof of this is her ability to master all new and difficult steps. She even does Russian folk dancing.

If you want a glimpse into the dark, mysterious future, corner "Winnie," and she will read your palm. "There is a dark-haired man—" "Oh! Yes! I know who he is! Go on!" "Oh! 'Winnie,' I'm next! You promised to tell mine!"

"At what hour will you curl my hair?" She is always in demand. There is no doubt as to her ability as a hair-dresser.

"Winnie" plans to be a school teacher, but she seems quite interested in Home Economics—We know she will be a success in whatever she undertakes, for she is a willing worker, a good classmate, a true friend, and a pal.

LILLIAN MAGDALEN OTTAVIONI

Newport Township High School

Glen Lyon, Pa.

"Lilly" "Lil"

"Applesauce," as she is generally known, hails from Newport, and for some reason or other has always shown that she prefers to spend her week-ends there rather than at B. S. T. C.

Did you ever see this girl downhearted? Well, I rather think not. Her sunny disposition is never dampened by a frown.

There is one thing that we don't quite understand about "Lilly." She is very shy when in public but she sure can talk and act her natural self when she is with the "gang."

Regardless of what other faults "Lilly" may possess, she has never been known to enter into an argument except with her room-mate over dish-washing. It is not her nature to desire that the other fellow accept her point of view, and only when she thinks she is right does the argument begin.

"Lilly" is always willing to assist her friends and the "gang" over the rough places, both in life and in books. To all appearances she is very well qualified for her chosen profession.

"Lil," with her sunny smile, can be seen as an active member of the Campfire Girls, the Junior Glee Club, the Book Club, and the Mixed Chorus.

"Good luck, "Lil."

RUTH OUSLANDER

Central High School

Scranton, Pa.

"Oussie"

As calm as the moonlight,

As deep as the sea,

A happy creature—

That's "Oussie."

"Oussie" is such a vivacious creature—so interested in life, in people, in places! It is impossible to describe the contagious spirit which envelopes her and extends over to us. "Oussie" is unusual, for in what average person do we find the combination of sophisticated lady and dashing delightful Tom-Boy?

It is for us to discover just what makes "Oussie" what she is. She is impulsive, and we love her for it. Her evident unconsciousness of the presence of some hidden power within her, the strength of character which her face portrays, and the air of purpose about her, which we all admire, tend to make the mystery more complicated. Because we cannot unearth the secret of our attraction to her, we have to be content to call her—fascinating.

Perhaps "Oussie's" charm lies in her calmness, her self-confidence and her assurance. The fact that she takes nothing too seriously adds much to her buoyancy and the attraction of a wide group of friends.

As president of the Tau Phi Epsilon Sorority, "Oussie" showed her ability as a leader; as Assistant Editor of the Obitier she proved her efficiency in organization. She was also an enthusiastic member of the Speech Arts Club and the French Club.

"Oussie's" pleasing way with children and her quiet sympathy and understanding make her success certain.

HELEN OWENS
Hughestown High School
Pittston, Pa.
"O'ey"

Helen is a tall brunette who comes from Hughestown. If you don't know her, you can easily recognize her by her attractive smile. Any one who has met Helen will never regret having formed her friendship. She is a girl possessing a pleasant personality and fascinating ways. The "Gang" will never forget the happy days spent with her in her Junior year in room 375.

Helen is an all around athlete and shows plenty of pep. Some of the various athletics that she has participated in are basketball, hiking, baseball and hockey. When you are looking for a good sport, call on Helen. "O'ey" says that teaching is going to be her life-long profession, but we doubt this statement.

We wish Helen all the luck and happiness in the world. Can there be any doubt of her success with her pleasant ways and winning smile?

DANIEL PARIS
Freeland High School
Freeland, Pa.
"Count" "Dan"

In the fall of '25, there came to us a certain young gentleman who was held in high esteem by the boys, and, sad to say, the fair sex, also. We say it was sad, for the reason that the opposite sex flocked around him in numbers, leaving very few girls for the other boys. Although he has "It," Daniel did not neglect his education, as his scholastic standing will show.

Since "Count," as he was popularly known, became afflicted with a fair lass of medium height, auburn hair, and oh! what eyes—very little of "Dan" was seen on the campus. We understand that he is learning the lumber business. Just why the lumber business interests him we do not know.

"Count" participated much in athletics. In the Junior-Senior football game he made a spectacular run for the winning touchdown. He boosted the Junior Varsity basketball team with his clever playing, and he is a wonder at hurdling.

"Dan" took part in the following activities: Boys' Glee Club, Boys' Dormitory Club, member of the Junior Prom Committee.

Only the best of luck do we extend to you for the future.

HELEN PARRIS
Central High School
Scranton, Pa.
"Helen"

"Blue above, brown under.
All the world to Helen is a place of wonder."

Congenial, sweet and refined is our classmate, Helen. She is specializing in primary work, and we all know that she will be a success—for she just loves kiddies. She ought to make an excellent teacher, for she will not take silence for an answer. She repeats, "Oh, look, isn't that be-yu-tiful?" until she gets an answer, either negative or affirmative. There's not a thing dumb about her, though. For instance, we've often been all set to recite in class when Helen stood up and gave the entire lesson, but was it all tip-top? Anyway, she is conscientious and full of vigor. Oh, yes, she is living in the Alice-in-Wonderland stage. She re-lives every romance she reads.

Behold her hair! That burnished crown of glory. Whenever you see Helen with a band on her head, you can make up your mind she has just gone through the ordeal of saying, "Do you like it on or do you like it off better?" Of course we can see why she is so particular about her hair. It is the source of many compliments. Funny isn't it, how the heart of our "tomato blonde" goes out to that dark Spanish type?

Helen is a member of the Electric City Club and of the Mixed Chorus. Helen says that she is always going to teach, but is she—????? We wonder. However, where e'er you go and what e'er you do, we all wish you a successful career and a happy future.

HANNAH PEIFER
Shenandoah High School
Brandonville, Pa.
"Peif"

A good sport, a real girl friend, a wonderful pal, always ready to help anyone, describes the personality of our pretty dark haired, dignified, smiling Hannah.

Hannah has even more good qualities than these. She is a good student, as her educational achievements show. She is a member of the College Glee Club, the Y. W. C. A. and the Rural Life Club. If you should hear someone strumming the most popular tunes of the day on the uke at 10:30 P. M. you can imagine it is our Hannah. Hannah just loves to hike and dance. Dancing and reading are her special hobbies. Hannah never misses one dance. Her chief saying is, "It's a terrific life—if you don't weaken."

Blond sheiks are Hannah's weakness. Judging from the letters which she receives from Ringtown and the sudden appearance of a snappy looking Ford, we wonder if Hannah will teach very long. However, we wish her the best of luck in whatever she undertakes.

ALICE B. PENNINGTON
Millville High School
Millville, Pa.
"Alice"

At a glance one would judge Alice to be a rather quiet girl, but once acquainted with her, one discovers that in reality she is all that is good-natured and jolly. She possesses a unique personality and her smile radiates charm.

When it comes to supporting her class, or any College activity, Alice's ardor never flags. We all know her as a most conscientious worker. And typewrite! Any of her second floor neighbors will tell you of the many hours of diligent toil our Alice spent pounding at her "portable." They all agree that she's some typist.

Alice chose the Junior High School field of teaching and we feel confident of her success in her chosen profession. It won't be long before Alice will have produced a crowd of budding geniuses in the Junior High School world.

Alice proved her capability as director of several fine plays for Dramatic Club. She is also an active member of the Mu Phi Sigma Sorority, of which she is treasurer. We also commend her on her exceptionally good work as typist for the Obiter.

We wish you heaps of success, Alice, and may your luck "come rolling along."

WARREN EDWARD PENNINGTON
Bloomsburg High School
Bloomsburg, Pa.
"Penny"

No one ever saw "Penny" picking forget-me-nots. They grow not for him. Know him once and you can't forget him. Remember him on the football field, in gym class, strutting down the hall to the auditorium, singing in chapel, driving home a point in class, driving the Ford down the hill, arguing with his hands to somebody—all pleasant memories.

We started to talk about flowers. "Penny" likes flowers. He often talks and sings about his Wild Irish Rose. This is not a Bloomsburg flower. Sometimes "Penny" speaks of it as his "out of town interest," and we know that he travels down the river.

"Penny" is a well rounded out individual, always suiting himself to the situation. He can talk or not talk, sing, or not sing, eat or not eat, joke or not joke, and so on. He has a strong weakness for one subject. Start him out on history and try to stop him. He might be an amateur in art and music, but I repeat, start him out on history.

This "Penny" is a valuable coin in any collection, bright, not old but rare, always turning up—at the right time.

"Pleasant, sensible, and especially human."

GRACE PHILLIPS
Catawissa High School
Catawissa, Pa.
"Grace"

Grace comes to us as a contribution from the great metropolis, Catawissa, nestled among the hills on the opposite side of the river. Grace is one of those rare, quiet girls. Once you know her, you know her always. When you first become acquainted with Grace you get the impression that she is a very quiet and remote individual, but you need only wait until you become better acquainted and your impressions become entirely reversed.

From all appearances she is quite subdued and modest; however, she is the possessor of a pleasing personality, and somewhere has acquired a charm, which acts like a magnet in holding friends. Grace is one of Catawissa's attractive blondes, tall and fair. She has an artistic temperament, and is always ready to laugh at a good joke, even if the joke is on her. She is kind and friendly to every one and is always ready to lend a helping hand.

As for her favorite expression, "Oh, My Earth," is repeated most frequently during a conversation. Perhaps in a dream, or elsewhere she has conceived the idea that part of this earth really does belong to her. Well, we have no doubt she's right for she does seem to claim a valuable piece of Berwick.

Grace is specializing in the Primary Grades. She is a conscientious worker and is considered a good student even though her favorite pastime is being in the news corner of the library.

We hope that Grace may attain the highest success and happiness in life.

MARY JOSEPHINE PHILLIPS
Bloomsburg High School
Bloomsburg, Pa.
"Mame"

As pleasing and charming as a shady pool on a hot August day—Mary can do almost anything from dramatics to basketball. Such versatility is deserved.

Quiet, but always intent on something and going after it—is Mary. She also thinks that a woman who does her own thinking needs but little advice.

In piloting the third graders through their sea of learning, Mary never loses her poise, and if she continues in the line of school teaching she will be very successful.

She is the one to ask whether color will "jibe" or not, if our clothes look well, or if we may wear this or that. Mary is the girl to plan decorations and design original creations. In fact, she is one of our class artists.

Mary is an active member of the Dramatic Club and Phi Gamma Tau Sorority. She showed great interest in both and was willing to lend assistance whenever it was necessary.

Here's to the girl with dreamy eyes,
With coal black hair and a ready smile.
May she attain what she desires,
In this world that is so worthwhile.

MILDRED E. PHILLIPS
Scranton Central High School
Scranton, Pa.
"Mildred"

Brown hair and laughing eyes,
A sunny smile that never dies;
That is—"our Mildred."

Mildred is one of our few "happy medium" girls. She possesses enough pep and wit to add zest to all our good times and enough common sense to balance her love of fun. She is just the type of girl that no one could refrain from loving.

Mildred's appreciation for music is unlimited. Probably this love prompted her to join the Glee Club and the Mixed Chorus. Her sweet voice also won for her a place in the Presbyterian Church Choir, and that's some honor!

Ever since Mildred came to college she has been an officer of the Student Government Body. The students were not slow in recognizing her ability as a leader.

Sincerity is one of Mildred's big characteristics, both in work and play. She is one of the most industrious girls in the "dorm." Going to classes without her lessons prepared is as far from her thoughts as the East is from the West. Mildred has maintained her excellent high school standing at this institution by being among the top-most members of her class.

What kind of teacher will she make Well, her personality proves that no further discussion is necessary on that point.

To Mildred we wish heaps of success.

KATHRYN PIERCE
Picture Rocks High School
Picture Rocks, Pa.
"Kate"

One of the smiling lassies in Bloomsburg State Teachers College is Kathryn. She is one of those girls whom we are proud to claim as a friend. A sunny, kind disposition, and a smile wins many friends for her.

Some thought Kathryn was a very quiet little lady when she came to Bloomsburg, but since then they have changed their minds. Kathryn's ready wit and love of fun makes her anything but "quiet."

"Kate" is very industrious, and when she starts a thing, one can depend upon its being finished. She believes in a time for work and a time for play.

We might predict a future in the field of Art for Kathryn. She can create beautiful pictures with her paint brush, which gives us one more reason for which to admire her.

Kathryn and her clarinet have been an asset to our school orchestra. We have all appreciated the solos she has played in chapel as well as her part in the orchestra.

We are sure Kathryn will make a success as a teacher—her winning personality will give her a wide circle of friends wherever she may be.

NICHOLAS F. POLANECZKY
Foster Township High School
Mining and Mechanical Institute
Freeland, Pa.
"Nick"

Who is that distinguished young man? He is the person familiarly known to his friends as "Nick." He is a true student and a man of his convictions. His scholastic record at this school is enviable. "Nick" has had experience teaching in the field so that many of the students after their first contact with teaching come to him for advice.

Every one knows of "Nick's" ability as a geographer. He was first president and one of the most active members of the Geographic Society. His ability was also demonstrated along journalistic lines for he served very efficiently on the Maroon and Gold staff. This year he received the honor of being elected president of the Senior class and never was an honor more fittingly bestowed. He has labored long and faithfully in this office.

One would not think that with all his activities he would have time for fun. This is not the case. "Nick" was a good sport and never failed to grasp the opportunity to participate in a good joke with the rest of us.

We will always remember our loyal friend, "Nick," and may he ever achieve as great success as he has at B. S. T. C.

SUZANNA G. POTOCHNY
Foster Township High School
Freeland, Pa.
"Sue" "Duds"

Brown eyes, black hair;
Never a worry, never a care,
A flashing smile, full of fun,
A girl who's a pal to everyone.

Tall, stately and dignified! Do not fear, for though seemingly so dignified it is only our "Sue." Who knows how to laugh and joke better than she? She has a cheery smile and a friendly "Hello" for everyone. When anyone is in need of anything, Sue is always willing to help them.

Do you miss something about the picture? The other "Dutch twin." You'll find "Turri" a few pages farther on. The twins hail from Freeland and insist upon saying, "it is on the map."

"Sue" is a charter member of the Camp-fire Girls. In her Senior year she was appointed scribe of the club. She was also Vice-President of the U. No Club.

"Sue's motto is "Eat, drink and be merry." Her hobby is eating—whenever you are looking for anyone to go down town, "Sue" is always ready. One of her favorite sayings is, "I'm hungry," followed by, "Who has something to eat?"

"Sue's" favorite sports are hiking and tennis. If you are looking for a partner to play tennis she is always ready. She also plays volley ball.

Although she is very studious she always finds time to join the large circle of friends which she formed while at B. S. T. C.

Judging from the way she is complimented by supervisors for her teaching we know she'll make a good teacher. Her pupils take a liking to her when they first see her.

Wherever you go,
Wherever you be,
May luck and happiness
Follow thee.

ETHEL PRICE
Newport High School
Glen Lyon, Pa.
"Ethel"

An introduction is not necessary, for every one knows her. Ethel might appear quiet and sedate, but—oh, when you know her—she is full of fun. She is a friend most sincere.

If you want something done, go to Ethel. She is always ready to help, even if you come at two o'clock in the morning. We sometimes wonder why she didn't choose the medical profession. She might be of some assistance to some one in the future. Perhaps she will take up a course later.

Judging from her frequent visits to the library, we are almost certain that she likes to study there. We are aware of the fact that two heads are better than one.

Ethel loves to sing. There is no question about this. It did not take the Mixed Chorus long to discover that they needed her for a member.

The Mu Phi Sigma Sorority values her membership very highly because she is always willing to do her part. She is also a member of the Newport Club.

Study? Why certainly Ethel studies. The question is, how much? . . . What? . . . When? What does she study for? Oh! For a very few minutes. Don't care, Ethel, one needs to have a little recreation.

Ethel's greatest weakness is for "hot-dogs." Weiners for lunch sends her into raptures; but for that matter, Ethel is always ready for something to eat. Several of her friends marvel at how much and how often she can eat and still remain thin.

Her enthusiasm is not limited for she has an overwhelming amount of "pep." If "pep" and personality have anything to do with success, Ethel, we're sure you'll have a successful career.

MYRTLE PRICE
Taylor High School
Taylor, Pa.
"Myrtle"

"The thing that goes the farthest
Towards making life worth while,
That costs the least and does the most,
Is just a pleasant smile."

Myrtle sincerely believes this to be true. She has won many friends with her pleasant smile. Friendship depends not upon fancy, imagination or sentiment, but upon character. If this is true, then, judging from her many friends, Myrtle must have a lovely character. Her smile is nearly always present, and when it is not—there is something wrong.

Myrtle's motto is "Work before play," but she always manages to find time for play. Perhaps you've only seen her when she is studying and have found her to be a rather quiet person, but if you pay her a visit some time when she is not busy, you will experience a change of opinion.

Early rising is Myrtle's hobby, or rather she would like it to be. Nearly every night she makes a resolution to rise early the next morning, but when morning comes—"She sleeps, my lady sleeps!" Of course there are some exceptions to every rule; once in a while she actually does get up early.

The Delta Phi Sigma Sorority, Y. W. C. A. Cabinet and the Dramatic Club claim her as a member.

We expect Myrtle to go "smiling through" and in so doing she can be nothing but successful.

ALMA PULLEN
Berwick High School
Berwick, Pa.
"Al"

Alma is another of our quiet, demure and lovable girls. Yes, she is quiet most of the time, but when she does speak everyone listens. When examinations come along you can always hear her say, "I don't know a thing." But judging from the marks that she gets on her papers, we'd like to know what more anyone could know.

Her motto is, "Never put off till tomorrow what you can do today." Consequently, you can find Alma in the library working almost any time.

To those who do not know her well she may seem serious, but she possesses a sense of humor and a ready wit, both of which are greatly appreciated in the Locker Room. She is good-natured and therefore well liked. We have never known her to become angry or to refuse to help anyone.

She has only one failing. You cannot hurry her when she is getting ready to go somewhere. When at last she is ready you should be waiting because she is going, but if she starts first you haven't any chance to catch up to her. We often wonder how such a little person can travel so fast.

Alma's ambition is to be a teacher in the primary grades. We feel sure that she will reach that goal and be successful. As to how long she will be a school teacher we are not so certain. You will have to ask her, because she will not tell us. We know it won't be always, though.

Whatever you do or wherever you go, Alma, remember that our best wishes and love go with you.

VIDA MARJORIE PURSEL
Bloomsburg High School
Bloomsburg, Pa.
"Marge"

Did you hear that jolly laughter? Just follow it up and you'll find "Marge," making someone feel that "today's the tomorrow they worried about yesterday and hasn't happened yet." It isn't easy to try to put everything into a few words—there are so many wonderful things to be said about "Marge."

Her originality, her thoughtfulness, and her democracy won for her a foremost place with all of us.

Every so often we find "Marge" bringing forth a new idea that is only characteristic of her. Perhaps it is because "Marge" is so calm in the midst of strife that she finds time to think of the other fellow.

She has a fine sense of relative values. She has a very good understanding of human nature. She makes a success of those things she undertakes. In short, she possesses the traits of an interesting person.

"Marge" took active participation in the Dramatic Club and the Phi Gamma Tau Sorority.

Our wish is that she finds as much happiness as she has given to others.

ZELMA H. RAMAGE
Hughestown High School
Pittston, Pa.
"Zelma"

"Brown eyes, why are you blue?" Question Zelma about it and her reply will always be, "I'm never blue."

Zelma is one of our quiet girls—at least that's the impression that one gets by just coming in contact with her in classes; but after one learns to know her, she is an entirely different girl. She enjoys a good time, and is a very good sport. She is really not as quiet as one might think.

Zelma is a sincere student. She always works at her lessons until she has mastered them. To be an intermediate teacher is Zelma's chief aim, and we feel quite sure of her success.

Her one failing is her weakness for pie. Oh me! Oh my! How she does love apple pie!

Zelma has a perpetual desire for dancing and music. Probably her love for music prompted her to join the Girls' Glee Club. She was also fond of playing tennis during her Junior year and showed great prospects of becoming a champion. We hope she continues along these lines.

Zelma is an active member of Mu Phi Sigma Sorority.

We wish you as much or more success in the teaching profession as you have had in your school life.

ELIZABETH RAUP
Catawissa High School
Catawissa, Pa.
"Betty"

Elizabeth is a member of the rural group. We know that she is a diligent student for that is the only kind that comes from Catawissa High School. But to be serious, Elizabeth has always had her work at heart. She is very jolly and when there is a round of laughter among some rural students you may be sure she is there. We think we know why she chose this group. You see, Elizabeth was once a student in a rural school and consequently she knows how much we need efficient rural teachers.

Some people like auburn hair, but Elizabeth seems to think there are other "Auburns" that are very nice. One day we noticed Elizabeth deeply absorbed in an auto accessory catalogue, and upon investigation we discovered she was looking at "Snubbers." Well—be as it may—all of us who know Elizabeth know that as a true friend she may be relied upon in any situation.

Elizabeth will make a very efficient teacher for some "little red schoolhouse"—but for how long?—ah, well, we will not venture to say. At any rate, the class of 1928 joins in wishing her a successful career, whatever it be.

Elizabeth is a member of the Rural Club and also an active member of the Glee Club.

LLOYD MELVIN READLER

Schickshinny High School
Schickshinny, Pa.
"Agnes" "Reader"

Here we have him. He's the mystery man of North Hall. "Agnes," better known as "Reader," is a problem whose solution has so far defied every attempt. His characteristic reserve and laconic manner of expression stamp him at once as one who knows the value of life from broad experience and who can be counted on in an emergency to do what may be required of him. Many boys have envied "Agnes" his ability to avoid incriminating circumstances when trouble stalks through the "hall."

"Reader" was graduated from the Schickshinny "High" in '26 and came to us that fall full of resolve and with a determination which has carried him through every difficulty, scholastic or otherwise. Because of his experience and inclinations he chose the rural department as his field and we feel that he will be an asset to the rural group.

During his first semester here "Reader," in spite of his good intentions, was the victim of a situation which could scarcely be regarded as being either unpleasant or unparalleled. It requires no great amount of intuition or discernment to figure out the reason for those all too frequent trips to Berwick. We leave it all to you, "Gentle Reader."

Despite all the seriousness in his make-up, "Reader" is a good sport and a regular fellow. He has many friends. He was a member of the Junior Varsity football squad and has long been active in the Rural Club.

So long, "Reader." May success and prosperity be yours wherever you go.

MILDRED REIM

Bloomsburg High School
Bloomsburg, Pa.
"Milly"

Though fates our paths may separate
And hide your face from view
'Tis powerless to take from me
My memory of you.

This is the way we feel about Mildred because "to know her is to love her." She is always right there to help when "a feller needs a friend."

Mildred is a Bloomsburg girl and so has spent much time the last three years hiking up College Hill.

Her ability as an executive was realized by her sorority sisters this year when they made her president of the Mu Phi Sigma.

Besides her sorority activities she is an energetic member of the Bloomsburg Players. She has been in so many plays that we have lost count, but we are always glad to see Mildred appear on the stage. Her work in Dramatic Club won for her one of the twelve gold pins awarded last year for distinguished service.

"Milly's" motto is, "Better late than never," and so you may often see her friends impatiently waiting for her. They may fuss a bit while they wait but when she arrives they decide the waiting was worth while and so cheerfully wait the next time.

Did some one say she is quiet? Then you just don't know her very well; she can talk as fast as any one.

Mildred is a good student and can be seen at any time carrying a note-book in which she stores her knowledge.

We know Mildred will be a successful teacher and our best wishes go with her.

LEONA REICHENBACH
Northumberland High School
Northumberland, Pa.
"Oh, Boloney"

When you see a jolly girl with dark, curly hair and smiling face, you can make up your mind that's Leona. She can be found in her spare hours reading, roaming the halls, singing her favorite songs, or visiting her many friends. She has been a true friend and pal to all. When there is mischief in the air, Leona is there to join in the fun and she has been a good sport at all times. When she gets interested, it is hard to get her mind off it, but the joke is—try and get her interested. Quiet? Well, yes. When she has a book to read. She likes to read and when Leona is lost, we can be sure we'll find her in some quiet room, reading some of the latest magazines or books. This is one thing in which she is greatly interested and can always find the time to do. She also enjoys music and as a result her abilities are along the musical line. She plays a ukelele, and with her soprano accompaniment, she makes music in the air. Of course, she has other interests, especially one, and that is situated near Northumberland, her home town.

Leona took the two year course in the Intermediate group. We're sure she will make a very successful teacher for she is an efficient worker and we all extend our heartiest wishes to her in her future work.

She has been an active member of the Girls' Glee Club during both years at school.

Curly hair and laughing eyes,
A jolly girl and not unwise.
A very good friend to all in need,
All know her by word and deed.

A. HELENA REIMENSNYDER
Milton High School
Milton, Pa.
"Sister" "Sis"

A happy smile,
A cheerful hello,
You can find "Sister"
Wherever you go.

Our "Sister" hails from Milton and for that reason we all feel like saying, "Rah! Rah! Milton." "Sister" is fond of all sports and at the end of last year we always found her on the tennis court. As a champ of tennis, "Sis" will some day be playing Helen Wills.

Lessons, classes, or teaching never worry "Sister," although she is a very industrious student. We always see her working on lesson plans. She has proven herself a success in teaching and we know her future career will be a success if it doesn't end too soon.

The Lutheran Girls claim "Sis" as their president. She is also a popular member of the Campfire Girls.

If you want to find "Sis" just go to room 277, even though her room number is 205.

"Sister" is always ready to help you in any way and is a friend worth having. She has many friends in the "dorm."

"Sister," we all wish you the best of success in anything you may undertake.

EDNA C. REITZ
Mt. Carmel High School
Mt. Carmel, Pa.
"Ed"

We find that Edna,
Though rather small,
Is far more sweeter,
Than if she were tall.

Edna's bright and sunny disposition has helped us through many a long hour during our two years of school life. She has been a friend of everyone, always ready to lend a helping hand, but never looking for a reward. This is why we all claim her as a real pal. Her personality and charming ways have won for her a host of friends. She is one of the best sports in the class, and her presence at the social events adds much to the scenery. She is kind, sweet and entertaining. Only until you have been accepted into her friendship circle, will you realize her qualities of worth and sturdiness which so deeply impress you. Judging from the number of gifts and her filled date-book, we are convinced that there is truth in the popular saying, "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes."

She is an active member of the Phi Gamma Tau Sorority and a willing helper in all of its activities. Edna shows herself possessed of a great amount of conscientiousness. Her loyalty of nature is safe and when ambition whispers, Edna says, "I can."

Success in the teaching field is inevitable for one so ably adapted to the profession.

ELIZABETH RHODES
West Pittston High School
Pittston, Pa., R. D. 1
"My Lands"

Here's to Elizabeth, jolly and gay,
Working and singing the whole long day;
She's always happy and full of fun,
With a kind word and smile for every one.

Elizabeth has won favor among all the girls because of her pleasing personality and kindness. She is very studious and never goes to class with her lessons unprepared. Honesty is her policy in work and play; she has proved to be a true friend to all who know her.

Elizabeth has chosen the two-year course in primary work as preparation for her teaching career. We know that she will be successful because of the interest she has shown thus far.

Of course, she likes a good time; so, after her lessons are completed she makes good use of the recreation period with the other joy-makers. If she has any eats we're all invited and we all get an equal share. If you can't find Elizabeth in her room, look in room 324. You'll surely find her there.

Elizabeth took an active part in the Speech Arts' Club and in the First Aid Club. We are sure that she has chosen wisely in her extra-curricular activities, for they have proved beneficial to her. We all envy her her ability as a lecturer. As for First Aid, we're sure it taught her how to fix up all the bumps and bruises of her little school friends.

To Elizabeth, the class of 1928 wishes all kinds of success and triumphs in her chosen work.

DOROTHY R. RICHARDS

Caughlin High School

Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

"Dottie" "Dot"

Dramatic Club Mu Phi Sigma

We've decided that "Dottie" is a siren—not a maiden, but a whistle. We received that impression from hearing her call her room-mate.

"Dottie" may be serious and all that, but we don't care so much about her expression when she says, "Really, I'm serious." There's something misleading about it.

We feel that Francis Willard has a rival in "Dottie," for nightly at her seances she may be heard to remark on some matter of state, "That's what I think. Now, what's your opinion?"

We've never heard what her father does for a living, but we think he must be a street cleaner, for she's always saying, "I've got lots of dirt for you."

"Dottie's" future is a subject of much discussion among us. The way she slings us over her shoulder and carries us around makes us think that maybe she's preparing to be a hod-carrier. When we hear her carefully crank her "Big Ben" every night, we think that maybe she's preparing to take over the Ingersoll concern. But then when we see her portray an old, wrinkled grandmother in a fine play, we feel sure that she expects Ethel Barrymore to resign in her favor. We shall see.

But don't be misled by our statements, for her unlimited number of adoring friends show how ideal she is. We know that her charming personality will win success for her. We know that "Dot" will continue in the future as she has in the past, to take life as she finds it and leave it a little better than it was.

ELIZABETH JANE ROBERTS

Plymouth High School

Plymouth, Pa.

"Betty"

Sympathetic, witty, intelligent, jovial and friendly are only a few of the adjectives that describe "Betty." That "Betty" is loved by every one and appreciated by all, was proven when members of the Alpha Delta Zeta elected her secretary.

"Betty," also, is an active member of the Y. W. C. A., in which she is Chairman of Music. "Betty" sure does her share in "Y. W.," especially in the "Japanese Bazaar"—what doing? Selling Eskimo pies with a fur coat on?

Did you say "Betty" loved to eat? Oh! No. Her favorite cry is, "Have you a sandwich? I'm nearly starved." Never mind, "Betty," we know you like red, curly hair as well as eats. You wonder why your heart goes pitty-pat when you see red hair? Well, "Betty," we'll let another member of the opposite sex tell you that.

"Betty" never missed one after-dinner dance. At these she would try out all her new steps and thus give us some more difficulties to overcome in the dancing line. At our "gang" gatherings she always helped to entertain by an exhibition dance. "Betty" was "there," too, even if she had to sing her own tune.

If you succeed in teaching, "reading, writing and arithmetic," as you did in the fundamentals of tennis, you sure will make a "racket" as a teacher.

ETHEL JANE ROBERTS

Blakely High School
Peckville, Pa.

"Ethel"

A cheery word—a welcome smile—a sunny disposition! Who wouldn't want her for a friend? If you have missed knowing Ethel, you've missed having a mighty good pal. A first glance might make you think of her as a rather quiet girl, but learn to know her and you find her full of life and laughter, always ready for some kind of a prank or joke. Ethel has a host of friends, gained by her good nature and love of fun. She just naturally wins her way into your heart by her happy-go-lucky and care-free ways. She is never too busy to lend a helping hand where it is needed. She is always ready for a good time, and she usually gets it, too.

Whenever there is any sort of social activity going on, Ethel immediately forgets lessons and is all attention to the more alluring duty. But nevertheless, this does not keep her from standing high when it comes to marks. What does she like to do? Play her uke, dance and play basketball. If ever you can't find Ethel, look in the gym and probably you'll see her gliding lightly over the floor, or juggling with a basketball. She likes to sing and takes an active part in the Girls' Glee Club.

We wish you success, Ethel, in your future career—teaching or otherwise.

HARRIET E. ROBERTS

Mt. Carmel High School
Mt. Carmel, Pa.

"Harriet"

Charm, beauty and sportsmanship are three words which characterize Harriet. She not only radiates charm among those of her own sex, but also among those of the opposite sex as may well be seen by a glance at her date book. We need say nothing of her beauty, as the photograph speaks for itself. In all social affairs and pranks, Harriet is always a willing companion. In other words, she may be termed as an all around "good sport."

Whenever any resonant sounds are heard in the dormitory we know that they are made by Harriet, and we sometimes feel that she would have made a great success in the field of oratory. Harriet also has some very beautiful and soft qualities of voice which make us think of Shakespeare and say "Voice, excellent in Harriet."

This dark-eyed lass is a member of the Phi Gamma Tau Sorority and takes an active part in all its social affairs.

In all her studies Harriet has displayed vim and persistence, which are two qualities necessary for a successful teacher. All these qualities, together with her lovable disposition make a certainty of Harriet's success.

HILDA M. ROBINSON
Milton High School
Milton, Pa.
"Pill"

"A willing heart, a helping hand,
Always ready on demand."

She enters just like a whirlwind descends on the earth. Who? Why "Pill," otherwise known as Hilda Robinson. Upon entering the room her favorite saying is, "Gee, kids, I'm starved. Got anything to eat?" The funny part of it is, is that you never hear her complaining of being overweight.

"Pill" loves to cook and clean, and we know that she'll make some little "college boy" a good wife. Whenever you catch her silent you know she is thinking of "some one," from whom she has just received a letter.

Hilda is very fond of music and dancing. Her favorite songs are "Oh, How I Miss You Tonight," and "Silver Moon." Besides, she has dramatic ability. "Pill" was a member of the cast of our Class Play last year.

A party without Hilda is "dead" and lacking in wit and humor. She never wears a frown, but always a smile that says "Hello!" for everyone.

Although fun is "Pill's" middle name she believes in doing her work, and we know she'll make a great success at teaching. She has an ardent desire to secure a position next year somewhere in the vicinity of Collegeville, Pa. We are not surprised to hear this but we know "auburn hair" is a great magnet.

The three remaining "Muskateers" and your classmates wish you a hearty success.

ANITA RODDA
Newport Township High School
Glen Lyon, Pa.
"Nita"

Blue eyes and red hair,
Loving ways and a winsome air,
A little temper, but lots of pep,
And still more could be told yet.

Our "Nita" is one of the best all around girls in the "dorm." She fulfills all the requirements of a good sport and a true friend. If it's a good sport you want, look for "Nita." A girl five foot two, eyes of blue, happy, carefree, lively and optimistic.

"Life is short, so why spend it at hard labor." "Don't work too hard or you might hurt yourself," seems to be "Nita's" motto. She never worries about anything and she always comes out O. K. There are many things she would rather do than study. She is a fond lover of dancing, like the rest of us—always learning and teaching new steps, interesting to all.

Did you mention eats? If you want to find "Nita," look for the eats. She is always hungry.

As a member of the Y. W. C. A. she is a very active member, taking part in all social events. She is also an active member of the Alpha Delta Sorority and Mixed Chorus.

Well, "Nita," here's luck and best wishes to you from the crowd. We know you will be a success in whatever you may attempt.

WALTER ROHLAND
Old Forge High School
Old Forge, Pa.
"Hank"

Although "Hank" Rohland is the possessor of a quiet disposition, he is well known on the campus. He came to us three years ago from the energetic little town of Old Forge, and it was not long before he was quite popular, for this seemingly quiet youth has the knack of mixing with his fellow men.

In his first year he distinguished himself as a scholar and later as a dancer of no mean ability. Having chosen the Junior High School as the field of his future activities "Hank" diligently applied himself to his work and as a result was always one of the few who "fear not" the examinations.

Someone once said that still water runs deep. These words are especially true of "Hank," for a few moments' conversation with this modest youth will convince anyone that he knows the subject about which he is talking. Some of the Junior High School students to whom he taught social studies can verify this statement because they early learned that this quiet, good-natured young man was sincere in his desire to further their education.

His fine qualities were early recognized by the Iota Chapter of the Omega Chi Fraternity, and as a result they made him sargeant-at-arms in the Senior year.

To a fellow who makes a scholarly impression and then fulfills all expectations we wish the best of luck and happiness.

MILDRED ROSENBLUTH
Old Forge High School
Old Forge, Pa.
"Mil" "Micky"

To see her is to love her,
And love her but forever;
For nature made her what she is,
And never made another.

On seeing this dark-eyed, dark-haired girl, one is at once given the impression that she is either Bohemian or Russian. However, this is another instance where the old adage, "Appearances are deceiving," holds true.

"Mil" lived down town, commuting back and forth—sometimes. Her contagious laugh, usually coming from room 483, could always be heard echoing through the "dorm."

A "peach" of a girl—with personality plus—that's Mildred. Because she is ever ready to lend a helping hand, and gives unstintingly of praise and encouragement, she has endeared herself to a host of friends.

What about her wit and humor? Her ability to see the bright side of everything, together with her flashes of dry humor, helped to brighten many a weary day.

Interested in all forms of athletics, "Mil" excels in playing basketball.

A diligent worker and a good student, Mildred possesses the qualities of a good teacher. Success in the teaching field is sure to be hers.

From this you may have deduced that "Mil" thinks of nothing else but school. Sh!—Suffice it is to say that she is a very popular young lady, and much in demand.

With this true friend it is hard to part;
Great of mind, and big of heart.

EDNA M. ROUSHEY
Kingston Township High School
Lehman, Pa.
"Ed"

You have heard the saying, "still water runs deep." That is "Ed" every time. She is quiet until you get to know her, then you are surprised. She keeps us all guessing, as to what she is going to do next.

Is she studious? One can only answer in the affirmative. If a discussion on lessons arises and a disagreement concerning the subject comes up, one is apt to say, "let's ask Edna Roushey, she'll know." And somehow or other "Ed" always knows the answer.

Tell us your secret, "Ed?" We are certain we would all like to know how you do it.

What is her hobby? Just give "Ed" a good book and let her alone and she is perfectly satisfied; but we must not forget that "Ed" could also hold her own when it comes to eating and sleeping—especially the latter.

Edna taught second semester and as in everything else, she made out well in that.

We all wish her the best of success in her teaching.

ELIZABETH RUTTER
Bloomsburg High School
Bloomsburg, Pa.
"Betty"

Do you recognize this smiling miss? Yes, it's our "Betty." She is another town girl who has a sunny disposition and a very dependable nature under all circumstances. She is one of the brighter members of our class and was very seldom found wanting when it came to knowledge of the lesson.

"Betty" is quite a musician. She has a lovely voice and in the course of her school career delighted many audiences.

"Betty" says she's going to be a sophisticated school marm forever and ever, but we don't think so. We do know, however, that she will be a very successful teacher for she has all the qualities that make up a good teacher.

"Betty" participated in many extra-curricular activities to which she devoted a great deal of her time. Some of these were: Hockey, basketball, the Double Mixed Quartette, Dramatic Club and the Girls' Glee Club. This list indicates that she had a widespread interest at school. There is no doubt about "Betty's" conscientiousness.

May luck and success pursue you in your chosen profession.

ELEANOR SANDS

Benton High School

Benton, Pa.

"E"

Some people are endowed with beauty, others with brains. Eleanor has been blessed with both. Her's is the beauty of a beautiful soul whose light is mirrored in those deep, brown pools—her lovely eyes. She sees with a poet's eyes and lives with a poet's soul. Not many have been privileged to probe into the depths of this unusual person. To most people Eleanor is a calm, dignified, reserved, dreamy girl with the carriage of a queen—and something "different" about her.

When we say "different" we have discovered the secret which envelops Eleanor. She is a poet whose talent is a "gift of the gods." Not many have been so blessed. This talent is a source of interest to Eleanor's intimate friends—for she is very modest about it. Because we believe in giving praise where it is due, we give it here.

Not only is Eleanor a poet, but a conscientious student as well. Perhaps her great ambitions and high ideals have made her thus. Whatever has been the cause, not many of us have been so affected by it.

As president and enthusiastic worker of the Current Literature Club, Eleanor has done much toward making this club profitable and interesting. In addition to this, her work as a member of the editorial staff of our Maroon and Gold is appreciated.

Eleanor, we expect wonderful things of you—your contributions to our paper and your other work have proven what you can do. Some day we shall be proud to say, "Eleanor Sands"—Oh, yes! She was in our class at B. S. T. C."

BEATRICE H. SANFORD

Honesdale High School

Starrucca, Pa.

"Bea"

Brown eyes, brown hair,
Gentle ways, never a care.
A happy smile, full of fun,
A girl who's loved by every one.

That's "Bea." "Bea" makes everyone she meets feel that life is worth living and we are sure that whomever she meets in the future will gain the same impression. No one can contract the "blues" when in "Bea's" company. She is an energetic student and her earnestness is sure to bring results; yet she always finds time for fun. Whenever a party is being planned, especially with "eats," "Bea" is right there helping to make it a success. Anyone who knows her will say that she is the life of any party.

"Bea" will some day become a good wife to a handsome young man, because she has learned the truth of the statement, "The way to reach a man's heart is through his stomach." How do we know? Well, "Bea" is one of the finest waitresses here in the dining room. Service is her motto, and anyone who has been at her table will agree that she certainly lives up to her motto.

She is an active member of the Girls' Glee Club and the First Aid Club.

"Bea," the class of '28 wishes you loads of success and prosperity in whatever you may undertake.

GRACE SAYLOR
Watsontown High School
Delaware Township
"Sailor"

A reader, a reader,
I'd like to know who can beat her;
And sh— it isn't a school book either.
Just give Grace an afternoon off,
Then we'll guarantee any B. S. T. C. prof.
That she can learn much from that reader.

Just look at Grace and don't you see that mischievous little twinkle which makes her friends return a smile? Grace lives in the vicinity of Watsontown and by her coming to B. S. T. C. has added many good qualities to our class. Helpful, unselfish, true and winsome—are characteristics that will win for her countless clusters of friends wherever she may go.

Knowing this damsel, we can say that somewhere in her many wishes is one concerning a neat little country school and obedient pupils. Now in this group of children couldn't there be a little Spanish boy or girl? We do wish there would be, for Grace loves Spanish and speaks it most fluently. In fact, she has her friends answering her questions in Spanish and even scolds them when they make serious errors. Do you wonder that we wish she can get her wish? Better still, wouldn't it be "just right" if Grace could teach Spanish—some day?

Blonde hair fits Grace's face and sweet personality and also the saying—"Gentlemen prefer blondes." We are glad she has not shorn her golden locks, for the role of flapper would not have been becoming.

Taking into consideration the fact that Grace will eventually teach in a rural district, "First Aid" was practical for an extra-curricular activity.

Take with you our best wishes for your success.

ELLEN A. SCHLIER
Hazleton High School
Hazleton, Pa.
"L. N."

Laugh, and the world laughs with you,
Weep, and you weep alone.

Ellen is the sort of creature who will fit "in any clime." Her disposition is one of sociability, for when you are in her company for two minutes, you feel as though somewhere—sometime—you have met someone who made you feel at ease the way she does. Perhaps you have, but most probably you have not.

She is a popular sort of girl, and each day without fail the mail box produces a letter for her. Whether this letter is from the same person every day we are not at liberty to tell. Perhaps Ellen will enlighten you.

She has a store-house of golden qualities and foremost among them is her generous, natural, self-entertaining smile which is always encouraged by the heart of gold that stands just back of the smile.

Ellen is a studious worker when she chooses to be so. At least her instructors find her quite entertaining. Her greatest ambition in every day life is to consume sixteen glasses of water.

We are wishing Ellen the greatest success in whatever her interests bid her choose as her life work.

ATILLA SCHOEN
Central High School
Scranton, Pa.
"Tilla"

Wavy hair and eyes of blue,
A maid so sweet, a friend so true;
A happy smile so full of fun—
A girl who's loved by every one.

Who's that singing so sweetly? Yes,
That's Atilla. One could not mistake her lovely alto voice anywhere. Here she comes as happy as can be, spreading sunshine as she goes, imparting to those she meets a little of her pep and charm. No one can be sad when she's around.

She is always ready for fun; she is likewise always ready for work. Her motto is,
"Plenty of work and plenty of play, enough of each to make the other appreciated."

Atilla did not enter Bloomsburg until February of last year, but although most of us have been here a half year longer, few of us are as well known or have as many friends. She is popular, not only in the sense of being known, but also in the sense of being loved. Her winning personality is the secret.

Some of the activities in which she engaged are: Y. W. C. A., the Mixed Chorus, and First Aid Club. She was elected president of this last.

Surely the possession of such an even disposition and such a kindly nature as hers is bound to win success and happiness.

MILDRED SECHAK
Newport Township High School
Newport, Pa.
"Mish"

"Mish" came to us from Newport, a shy little maiden, but Bloomsburg helped her to overcome this fault.

Her favorite words, when in a room with a crowd of girls, are—"Look out, a mouse!"

"Mish" has a rather difficult time when week-ends come—deciding whether she should stay at school or go home. It is usually very hard to convince her to remain. However, when she does stay, she just naturally gets company for the weekend. Something seems to tell us "Mish" won't be classed among the school marms very long.

She is a good all-round athlete, but she starred on the tennis courts. As a forward on a basketball team, it is difficult to find her equal. She proved her ability in hockey when she led her team to winning the championship of the school.

Mildred was an active member of the U. N. I. Club, a club made up of the co-eds from Newport.

It is unnecessary to wish you success,
Mildred. With your ability you can be nothing but successful. Just the same, we wish you heaps o' good luck, whether it will be in a school house or in a home.

MARGARET E. SHEPHERD
Kingston High School
Kingston, Pa.
"Peg"

At first sight she appears quiet and demure; but oh, my! those who know her will disagree with that as she is one of the liveliest and best sports in the "dorm."

As an "athletic leader," "Peg" is right there, and what would the Mixed Chorus do without her warbling?

We almost lost "Peg" last fall. She decided to cast her lot with a neighboring school, Susquehanna University; but in a few short weeks she came back into our midst. Were we glad? The few weeks without "Peg" made us realize more than ever what she meant to us.

With the exception of studying, "Peg" spends a good part of her time "strutting" to the rhythm of all popular music and in eating. When "Peg" says, "let's eat," we know she means it. "Don't cha care," "Peg," it gives the jaws good exercise for your chosen profession.

We wonder why "Peg" has sworn off playing jokes on one of the gang, such as shutting the closet door on them? We'll let you in on the secret, but keep it to yourself. "Peg" accidentally shut herself in and had to call and knock for help to be released.

We will always remember "Peg" as a good sport, a true friend and a willing helper for all in need.

"None knew her, but to love her;
None named her, but to praise."

INA MAE SHERWOOD
Tunkhannock High School
Tunkhannock, Pa.
"Sherrie"

A cheery laugh and a bright smile for everyone. That is our "Sherrie." We love to hear her laugh, because its so contagious we all have to laugh with her.

Dancing, singing, tennis, letter writing. All of these are major sports and interests of "Sherrie." She can be found in the gym after dinner, almost every evening.

We've often wondered why it is that "Sherrie" is so anxious to be on time for the mail. I guess that we shall have to be "Frank" about it, and admit that there is a reason for everything. In this case the reason is a person of whom our "Sherrie" is very fond. You have our best wishes. May all of your dreams come true.

When it comes to studying, she is right on the job. One can find her almost any night after 9:30 getting ready to begin work. However, she is always willing to lend a helping hand to anyone who needs it.

One of "Sherrie's" favorite pastimes is singing. Because of this, she is a very active member in both the Mixed Chorus and Glee Club of which she is secretary. She is also a member of the Campfire Girls, Y. W. C. A. and the Alpha Delta Sorority.

Five feet two,
Eyes of blue,
Forward, upright,
Willing too—Ina.

ALICE M. SHIELDS
Kingston High School
Kingston, Pa.
"Alice"

Alice came from West Chester in 1927 to finish in our beloved Alma Mater, B. S. T. C. It was with great pleasure and delight that we welcomed her.

Friends were many with Alice. Not only among the girls was she popular, but also among the boys. She seemed to win everyone and was loved by all.

Alice is a happy-go-lucky girl, taking things calmly. Very seldom does she become cross. She seems to get great pleasure out of all she does.

I doubt if we shall forget an incident after the first women's student government meeting. The dean asked that all Seniors remain for a few minutes. Alice remained. A girl touched her on the shoulder and said, "I think I'd leave if I were you; this is for Seniors only." Alice replied, "Please don't mistake me for a Junior, I attended similar meetings in my Junior year."

Alice's participation in extra-curricular activities included Children's Literature Club, First Aid Club and Hostess Club.

DORIS SIMS
Hanover Township High School
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
"Doris"

Well, well, here is our Doris, one of the most industrious girls on third floor and always willing to help others.

Does she ever give up a party in order to study? Well, we guess not! She thinks too much of eating. Doris is a good sport and likes to have good times, but she also managed her work as well.

Doris has a winning way and a pleasing personality which have won for her many friends. Once you become acquainted with her, you cannot help but like and admire her, as most of her intimate friends do. If you don't believe it, just ask one of the "Shortess Gang" of '25.

If a party was being staged, the best entertainer of the evening would be our Doris with her list of jokes and stories.

Doris was an active member of the Children's Literature Club and always did her part when called upon, especially during the Christmas sale of books.

We know Doris will make a successful teacher, but we wonder just how long she will stick to the profession. However, we wish her the best of luck in whatever course she pursues.

IRENE SMITH
Nescopeck High School
Wapwallopen, Pa.
"Irene"

This young lady came to us with the group that entered here in our Freshman year. She is one of those good-natured girls who would do anything for a friend. As a result of her fine personality and sacrifice she has many friends whose companionship have made her life enjoyable.

Like all girls, she enjoys playing tricks on her school-mates and it was the cleverness of these pranks that made us sit up and take notice.

She is a real student and distributes her time properly in applying herself to her work. She is very often seen in the library busily engaged in selecting material for the following day's classes.

As a student teacher she has made considerable progress as our observations and a review of her records have shown us. Her attitude toward her work and a natural love for children tend to make her the ideal teacher.

Our love for her has been increased, if that is possible, by the little favors she obliged us by doing.

Judging by her application to her studies here we hope to hear of this young lady on the road to success in the near future.

FLORENCE K. SNYDER
Shamokin High School
Shamokin, Pa.
"Fluff"

Blue are her eyes,
Gold is her hair,
Everyone knows
This maiden fair.

In the great rush of the class of '26, there came to our midst a fair-haired, blue-eyed maiden. She wasn't among us long before she became known to everyone as "Fluff." She soon won her way into the hearts of many and made a lasting impression.

"Fluff" becomes very studious every once-in-a-while, especially around examination time. At other times her favorite pastime is singing. We often hear her sweet soprano voice singing a song entitled "Memories." Ask her why she sings it, and she will only say, "Because my memories are dear to me."

"Who's got something to eat? I'm hungry." Yes, that's "Fluff." When you hear a door banging and "Fluff" doesn't come out for some time, you know she has discovered something to satisfy her appetite.

If "Fluff" isn't eating, she is dancing. One can find her among the first at the after-dinner dances. Some day we expect to hear of her as a great dancing mistress.

"Fluff" is the pep of a crowd, and "Third Floor Annex Gang" cannot get along without her.

All we can say is that we wish "Fluff" all the happiness and success of which she is deserving.

LEHMAN J. SNYDER
Turbotville High School
Turbotville, Pa.
"Snyder"

"Snyder" began his work at Bloomsburg during the summer session of 1926, coming from the big city of Turbotville. Because of his quiet and unassuming manner he is not known to many, but to those who know him he is a lasting friend. During his first winter here he was a member of that popular organization, "The Hash Slinger's Union."

After a semester of teaching in one of those "Little Red School Houses," he has become one of the genteel. Although he has specialized in the intermediate group, from reports it is known that he is capable of teaching anything from Kindergarten to College subjects.

"Snyder" was one of the charter members of the Phi Lambda and has always been active in its many activities.

Mere words cannot describe him. It is sufficient to say that he has been a peach of a sport, a good student and a real friend.

We wish him, and we know he will get it, (if he doesn't get married too soon), all the success in this wide world. May he always remember his Alma Mater, "up on College Hill," and his classmates too.

CAROLINE M. SPOTTS
Milton High School
Milton, Pa.
"Blushes"

Sleep. Sleep. Sleep.
How she loves to sleep.
All the long day through,
Dreaming of school and whom?

"You never know a person until you live with him," is a saying that holds true here. We all thought that "Blushes" was a quiet, studious girl. She fooled us, for wherever there was fun you would find Caroline there too. As for studying, no one ever saw her over-exerting herself in that line.

One trait of Caroline's is that she never seems to worry. She is able to look on the bright side of everything. Caroline always greets one with a smile. She believes in mixing a little laughter with the serious aspects of life.

We believe Caroline's one ambition is to teach music. It is strange we never hear her sing anything but one old song. We wonder why.

Caroline has secrets as well as the rest of us. She doesn't bother her head about men while here at school, but occasionally she makes a slip, and we hear of some one from home.

Well, we wish you success in the years to come, Caroline.

HELEN STACKHOUSE

Bloomsburg High School

Bloomsburg, Pa.

"Helen"

This young lady came to us with the group that entered here in our Freshman year. She is one of those good-natured girls who would do anything for a friend. As a result of her fine personality and sacrifice she has many friends whose companionship have made her life enjoyable.

Like all girls, she enjoys playing tricks on her school-mates and it was the cleverness of these pranks that made us sit up and take notice.

She is a real student and distributes her time properly in applying herself to her work. She is very often seen in the library busily engaged in selecting material for the following day's classes.

As a student teacher she has made considerable progress as our observations and a review of her records have shown us. Her attitude toward her work and natural love for children tend to make her the ideal teacher.

Our love for her has been increased, if that is possible, by the little favors she obliged us by doing.

Judging by her application to her studies we hope to hear of this young lady on the road to success in the near future.

ADA D. STARICK

Sunbury High School

Sunbury, Pa.

"Immie"

"Small of stature,
Great of mind,
Always pleasant,
Gentle and kind."

"Immie" looks like a sweet and quiet lassie, and if you do not take her too seriously she is. She is very quiet among strangers, but when she is with her friends, it is a different story.

Ada is the kind of a girl who doesn't study too hard, yet always has her work done. Then when work is o'er and it's time for play she is anything but quiet. Have you ever heard her laugh aloud? If you haven't you don't know her very well, and if you have you will understand why her middle name isn't "Silence."

You would never think Ada would let men bother her in the least, would you? Yet looks are deceiving. After she has returned from a week-end at home, she is bubbling over with news and smiles. She spends all her week-ends at home.

The Alpha Delta Sorority claims Ada as one of its popular members.

Best wishes for success from your friends at B. S. T. C.

FLORENCE STIVER

Ashley High School
Ashley, Pa.
"Flossie"

"Laugh and the world laughs with you; weep and you weep alone," is our "Flossie's" motto, because wherever she goes wit, laughter and merriment go too. Her chief characteristics are: A tendency to like knowledge—at a distance; wit—her jokes are famous; great ambitions—the highest being to sleep until twelve o'clock some day; a generosity that endears her to everyone.

The Mu Phi Sigma Sorority claims her as their own. Ask any of her sorority sisters, and they will tell you of her artistic and social abilities. We will never forget the mean-looking pirate she made at the clever pirate party—an affair which she helped make a huge success for her sorority.

As for floor supervisor, "Floss" is a wonder. Were we ever fooled by our "Floss"? When we first heard her voice calling, "Lights out, please!" We thought she meant anything but business. But you just try keeping your lights on and you'll soon find that voices are deceiving.

In Current Literature Club and Y. W. C. A., "Floss" proved that she is really wide-awake to everything that is going on in this world of ours. She can give you just the best argument on almost any subject you wish to discuss. We must not forget to say that "Floss" is always at the right end of her class, even though she doesn't make a fuss about studying.

Words are inadequate to describe "Floss"; you must know her to fully appreciate her. We all love "Floss," and there will always be a big warm spot for her in all her friends' hearts.

VICTORIA STOCKOSKA

Wilkes-Barre High School
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
"Love" "Vic"

"She would a jester be
And entertain the company."

"Love's" prime ambition is never to become an old maid. To prevent the attack she is always sprightly, witty and gay. We wonder how she can be so philosophical.

To "keep that school-girl complexion," "Love" insists that one must be an all-round athlete—and a school-marm. She certainly lives up to her beliefs, as evinced by the fact that she has played on the winning hockey teams of 1927-1928, and has been an absorbing fan and player on the basketball, volley ball and baseball teams. Have you ever tried to play a game of tennis with "Love?" Try her; she plays best at 5:30 A. M. "Love's" best forms of recreation, however, are swimming and dancing.

Studying is an art in which "Vic" excels, especially a week or two before exams. However, she does more than study books—she studies people and their characters. Were you ever fortunate enough to hear her discourse on her ideal man? We've been wondering about him!

"Vic's" club activities in the school were numerous. She divided her time among the Book Club, Rural Club, Glee Club, Wilkes-Barre Club, and Campfire Girls.

May you find your ideal and have success in all your undertakings.

BLAKE STOKES

Bloomsburg High School
Bloomsburg, Pa.
"Stokes"

This young man came to Bloomsburg as a "diamond in the rough" with the group that entered in our Freshman year. He is that type of fellow who would make almost any sacrifice for a friend. His fine personality soon made him one of the few really popular fellows in our class. His good-natured manner soon made for him many friends whose companionships have made his college life a pleasant one.

Like all "wide awake" fellows he enjoys playing tricks on his schoolmates and it was the wisdom of these pranks that first made us sit up and take notice.

He is a real student and distributes his time properly in applying himself to his school work. He is very often seen in the library busily engaged in selecting material for future classes.

As a student teacher he has made considerable progress as our observations and a review of his records have shown us. His attitude toward his work and his natural interest in the teaching indicates that he will make an ideal teacher.

Our respect and admiration for him has been increased, if that is possible, by the little favors he has done for us.

Judging by his application to his studies while at Bloomsburg we predict that before many years have passed we will find this young man well on his way to the leadership in his chosen field.

STERLING STRAUSER

Bloomsburg High School
Bloomsburg, Pa.
"Sterl"

One beautiful September day a young man stood in the hall-way near the Business Office. He was a stranger to many people, but not to all. Some one called, "Sterl." A glimmer of light flashed over his countenance. He did have a friend here. Of course that was Penny.

In speaking in terms of a tobacco firm, we say, "What a whale of a difference a few cents make," but when it comes to human beings we say, "What a whale of a difference a few years make," especially in Teachers College. When "Sterl" first arrived on the scene, he was a bit backward and shy; now we know that that was just camouflage.

"Sterl" is the budding poet and artist of our class. The first year we got a new slant on his art when he painted pictures in oil, but few knew about his work until he molded in clay, the evolution of man, past, present and future.

The following year he was not interested in art as in poetry and now his third year, he has combined both.

We do not think, though, that all his interest is in these fields. As far as we know he still keeps the concrete "hot" toward Danville.

Many people are doomed to failure but we know he is doomed to success, and we are all back of him.

SARAH L. SULLIVAN

Carbondale High School
Jermyn, Pa.

"Sally"

"Sally" came to us in 1926, a very meek and mild lass. She was quiet and spent her first few weeks in hard work and study. But now, did you say quiet? Well, I guess not!

Now for her virtues—loyalty, unselfishness and humor are only a few of them. She is an all-round good sport and is always ready to help everyone. Here we must not omit that to be her friend one must indeed be honored, for "To know her is to love her."

"Sally" has made many friends at B. S. T. C. Her kindness and lovely disposition helped her win them. "Sal's" main delight is being proctor, but—like Postum—there's a reason. A little bit of eats gathered here and there helps when one is hungry. Doesn't it, "Sal?"

"Sal's" main sport is—well, let's not talk about athletics. "Sal" is an active member of the First Aid Club and vice-president of the Phi Gamma Tau Sorority.

We bid you farewell, "Sally," and wish you luck, happiness and success.

Remember, "Sal," don't forget when you are teaching the pupils their A B C's, drill hard and especially on the third last letter, for it never will keep in its correct place.

MARGARET SUMNER

Nicholson High School
Nicholson, Pa.

"Peg"

"She is not big, but she is tall,
And she is very kind to all.
She wears a smile, has a fine disposition,
Which in life will assure her a position.
She's never downhearted, she's never blue,
To her classmates and schoolmates, always true."

"Peg" looks like a sweet and quiet lassie, and if you do not take her too seriously, she is. She is very quiet among strangers, but when she is with her friends, it is quite a different story. "Peg" is the kind of a girl who doesn't study too hard, but yet always has her work done. Then when work is over and it is time for play, believe me, she is anything but quiet.

"Has the mail come yet? Did I get any?" You can be sure of hearing Margaret asking these questions about the time for mail. There is always a letter for her from—well, one of her acquaintances. She spends her pastime answering these letters or reading.

During "Peg's" Junior year she belonged to the Speech Arts Club. Being interested in athletics, she also played basketball and baseball.

To you, Margaret, we wish loads of success, love and happiness, and all that goes with it.

ELLA SUTTON
 Wilkes-Barre High School
 Dallas, Pa.
 "Little Ella"

"A bloomy pair of vermeil cheeks
 Like Hebe's in her ruddiest hours,
 A breath that softer music speaks
 Than summer winds a-wooing flowers."

This is our friend, Ella. You can't help knowing her, and remembering how she used to play for the "gym" dances after dinner. She was always on the job—willing, even anxious to do her bit for her classmates.

Ella, we all know, was very active in the social life of our College. As a Junior, she held the Presidency of the Junior Girls' Glee Club. Also, because of her musical talent, she was the successful song leader of "Camp Odakonya." Though the life of a Senior is a very busy one, Ella found time to be the efficient pianist of our orchestra, and was also a member of the Mixed Chorus. She again took active part in the Campfire Girls, and, we are sure, will make a fine leader in the near future. Indeed, as a pianist, Ella has a more promising future than, we believe, Elley Ney ever had.

For the coming years we wish her all the luck and success that life can afford.

LYDIA M. TAYLOR
 St. Basil's High School
 Dushore, Pa.
 "Ted"

When you see a graceful, well-dressed, stately figure, you immediately know it is "Ted." The first thing you hear is "Hello, girls," and what could be more pleasant than that bewitching smile . . . it is one you can't forget.

Some think "Ted" is quiet, but they don't know her. She is always the same, a congenial good sport, we'd call her. She has a personality that is quite winning . . . oh, yes, doesn't that explain why she is so interested in Dushore . . . some attraction, we have all decided. But that is nothing, what would second floor be without her, too? We just could not imagine anything so dreary.

Lydia is a wonder at sewing; haven't you already guessed it? Oh, if we were all so gifted! So this is what we find her doing when she isn't trying to write a short story or read poetry. She says it is very interesting??? How about it, "Ted?"

Lydia is taking the Junior High School course at this college and is a real student. In classes, "Ted" possesses all the dignity one can imagine. But you should hear her talk. No, really, it is no joke, either??? She is interested in Mathematics and while doing her student teaching, well, you would be surprised.

She also has an avocation and it is real interesting, too. She just loves to sleep. She says it is a healthy occupation, so we'll let it go at that.

She's a wonderful girl, a true friend and a good sport, so here's luck and success to our friend, "Ted."

MARY ELEANORE THOMAS

Hazleton High School
Hazleton, Pa.

"Tommy" "Maria"

Well, look whom we have with us—the third and most famous member of a famous trio.

Mary surely has won for herself a host of friends in her career here at B. S. T. C. Why not? She possesses such a charming personality and optimistic attitude. If "Tommy" is ever seen without a smile and cheerful greeting, one may look for nothing less than a catastrophe, because it would take just that to make her "blue."

She is always among the first in line for mail, but then you know every action has its reason—so draw your own conclusions.

Mary has one consolation—when she takes the fatal step (not procuring a position as school teacher, either), she won't have to change her name. That is a help, you know.

"Tommy" has also served as a good and faithful messenger, but of course that is known only to a chosen few. This service is more than appreciated by all concerned.

Mary never seems to be worried about her studies, and yet those who know her well, know that she is always right on the spot when it comes to doing lessons.

"Tommy" is a member of the First Aid Club, and as a member of the Junior Prom Committee helped make that affair a success.

We extend sincerest wishes and happiness to one of the best—she who certainly lives up to "A friend in need is a friend indeed."

MATIE H. TOWNSEND

Scott High School
"Matie"

"Matie" hails from the metropolis of Lightstreet, which accounts for her lightness. She comes to us from Scott High School at Espy. During her four years there she was very diligent in her work and was fond of dramatization.

Her appearance denotes modesty and quietness, but when something funny happens in the Girls' Locker Room you should hear her hearty laugh.

"Matie's" aim in life is to do her best and to make those about her happy. She has a loving nature, deep and generous, and we feel sure she will succeed as a school teacher. "Matie" is fond of children and we prophesy her as a good primary teacher.

"Matie" has two hobbies—work and play. When it comes to work she is a shark, and a good sport when it comes to play. Life means "something" doing every minute to "Matie."

She has deep blue eyes, brown hair, and a loving disposition that has won her many friends. How about those letters from the Freeland school teacher?

"Matie" is one of the active members of the First Aid Club and the Glee Club.

"When you go out without your umbrella, We hope you get caught in a rain of success."

KATHRYN TOYE
Hughestown High School
Hughestown, Pa.
"Kay" "Toye"

Kathryn in the class room; "Toye" in sports; just "Kay" to us.

Would it be asking too much for the permission of introducing a new word? Our little word is "K-A-Y." It means "merry laughter."

Get this blue-eyed lass laughing—tell her a good joke and you will easily understand why we say she made us laugh with her.

As her eyes betray, "Kay" has Irish wit as well as humor. No party is complete without her "latest."

Quick steps in the hall—a hurried entrance—an eager face—a long drawn-out "boys." Stop! Look! Listen! "Kay" has something new and exciting to tell us. We haven't been able to get the connection between this favorite word of hers and—????

Next to sleeping, "Kay's" favorite pastime is eating. Send her a box and she is sitting on top of the world. Who is her pal in sleeping and eating. Oh, yes, just another Kathryn who displays the same weakness when a box arrives.

Does "Kay" take part in athletics? Just visit the "gym" or tennis court and see what a game she exhibits. "Kay" proved to be an all round good sport and starred also in hockey, volley ball and baseball.

"Kay" is an earnest scholar and plays after she works.

Your classmates and friends wish you success and happiness, "Kay."

DOROTHY LINDNER TRAUB
Sunbury High School
Sunbury, Pa.
"Dot"

Among the girls, she's a wonder;
Among the boys, she's a bear.
No matter what's doing
"Dot's" sure to be there.

The question arises what would we do without "Dot?" She's a leader of all social functions because of her popularity and ability as a dancer. "Dot" is one of our most popular girls. No wonder! Who wouldn't be if she were a combination of good sport and true friend? Books are of secondary importance when there is a chance for a good time, but after all, aren't pleasures as necessary as work?

Do you feel as if everyone were against you and your last friend had deserted you? If so, go to "Dot," who is the "friend of the friendless." In a short time she will make you feel that life is worthwhile and there is a particular place for you. The secret of "Dot's" success seems to be that she forgets herself in thinking of others.

"Dot" finds little time to worry. Happiness is her chief aim, not only to find it for herself, but for everyone. She has been a good student and is active socially. She has a sunny disposition and is never found contrary.

Her personality and charming ways have won for her a host of friends and the place of Secretary of the Tau Phi Epsilon Sorority.

We hope she succeeds in her work in the future.

Here's luck to you, "Dot!"

ANNA MAGDALENE TURRI
St. Ann's High School
Freeand, Pa.
"Turri" "Ann"

"Laugh and the world laughs with you,
Weep and you weep alone."

Anyone who knows "Turri" knows that this is her motto. Laughing is her means of getting rid of her surplus energy, and she is very energetic, besides she is a favorite with everyone.

Judging from appearance one would think she was very quiet and sedate, but appearances are deceiving. She is good natured and always willing to help others. "To know her is to love her."

This girl is the other half of the "Dutch Twins." Look back a few pages and you'll find the other half, "Sue."

"Turri" stands for everything that is worth while in life. Whether it be scholastic, athletic or social ability, "Ann" is right there with it. Her athletic ability has won her great fame. She was one of the eleven girls who received their "B" in the Junior year. Can she score points in a basketball game? Any one from Freeand can answer that. If you need a partner for tennis, call "Turri," she's ready.

She is quite a student. We know from observing her diligently at work, what kind of a teacher she will be. We assure you we see success dawning at the threshold of her life's work. What else could it be with such an earnest worker, possessing such fascinating qualities?

She is a charter member and secretary of the Campfire Girls, a member of the Maroon and Gold Staff, and secretary of the U-No Girls' Club.

Success to you, "Turri."

HUGH VAN AERNAM
Harrisburg Technical High School
Harrisburg, Pa.
"Bugle" "Van"

"Van" entered the Bloomsburg State Teachers College in the fall of '25 in order that he might follow up the teaching profession. From the very first day he became a universal favorite with the young women here at school. Every one found him to be very accommodating and willing to do things, especially when it came to eating. "Van" earned a reputation as the best dancer at the College and no after-dinner dance was a success without his presence.

The call of sports attracted "Van" and he wore the Maroon and Gold uniform on the gridiron and on the cinder path. He played tackle on the football team and many a victory for B. S. T. C. was largely due to his skill in tackling and blocking. "Van" showed his ability as a track man in the meet at Dickinson Seminary.

Although athletics was his greatest interest, he placed as much time on his studies as he did on sports. He is an ambitious, studious fellow and a successful worker in the Junior High School Department. He is seldom seen about the campus without an armful of books.

Activities? He belonged to the Dramatic Club and was a member of the Senior Tribunal. He was a member of the Stunt Night Committee and of the Junior Play.

Because of many good qualities we consider ourselves fortunate in having "Van" as one of the members of our group, and may he have heaps and heaps of success.

NICHOLAS G. VAN BUSKIRK

Hanover Township High School
Lee Park, Pa.

"Nick" "Pucker"

When the great crowd that entered this institution "way back in '24," had peacefully settled down to hard work, there came to the fore a quiet, industrious, young chap whom the boys called "Nick." After completing his Junior High School Course of three years, he decided to return for another year and the degree of B. S.

During his sojourn here he participated in a number of activities. He joined the basketball squad in '24 and later, in '26, became captain. Along this line he has impressed the basketball fans by his remarkable shooting and splendid form. On the diamond he played centerfield in '25 and '26, and again manifested his athletic ability.

We must not overlook that fact that "Nick" was a real scholar. He was determined to accomplish what he once set out to do. It was this perservance that brought "Pucker" into the limelight as an athlete, a student, and as an all around good fellow.

He is a charter member of the Iota Chapter of the Omega Chi Fraternity and served as secretary last year. He is also a member of the Dramatic Club and advertising manager of the Obiter staff.

Many wonderful times were spent in his company and it is with pride that we wish him success in the future.

MARJORIE VANDERSLICE

Bloomsburg High School
Bloomsburg, Pa.

"Perc"

We are inclined to see truth in the saying, "Good things come in small packages," for it applies directly to "Perc." She is a most ambitious person and possesses an unlimited supply of energy. She takes her work, whatever the nature, seriously. However, we sometimes have cause to doubt this when we hear her say, "Do I have a class this period? And where, pray tell, if any? Well, if I do, it's just too bad because I can't possibly get there now—who can keep back of a program that jumps all around, anyhow?"

"Perc" has dark hair, and brown eyes that fairly sparkle with amusement. She has an unflinching sense of humor that makes us like her.

We often wonder how "Perc" can keep track of her program at a dance. She has been known to borrow a pencil and someone's cuff in order to keep her dances straight.

Both the Dramatic Club and the Phi Gamma Tau Sorority are proud to claim her as a member of their respective organizations.

Marjorie is worthy of success and we are sure she will attain that goal.

FLORENCE I. VOLKMAN

Danville High School
Danville, Pa.

"Flossie"

"All the world's a stage, and we the actors on it."

"Flossie" believes ardently in the above, as one can tell by her studious efforts. She means to be a successful and worthwhile actress while she is about it. She takes life and work seriously, but not without its seasoning of fun.

As an all-round good fellow, she has no equal. She is ever ready to help someone else. A disposition like "Flossie's" is indeed hard to find. Go to her with good news and she will be happy with you. Go to her with a heavy heart, and she will sympathize with you.

In Danville, "Flossie" is considered quite an athlete. Among her favorite sports she numbers skiing and skating. She is efficient in both. In addition to sports, "Flossie" is interested in the Geography Club, of which she is a member.

"Flossie" is one of the Locker Room's favorite fun-makers. There is no Locker Room activity in which she does not take part. We are sure that "Flossie" has never had a single enemy, because good-natured people are too rare for hostility.

There's a girl who is a friend,
Steadfast, true, unto the end—"Flossie."

TELOIV RUSSELL WAGNER

Nescopeck High School
Lehighton, Pa.

"Te"

You see blonde curled hair, a girl not so tall,

Always hurrying through the hall.
You turn around and—its Teloiv.

She is sure to stop you with her, "Hey, listen." For some reason she has taken a liking to Sunbury—just yet we wonder why.

We find she is a very good critic on cars, but her great weakness is she changes her ideas too quickly, (for example, from Fords to Studebakers). We suppose there is a reason but that is for us to find as yet.

When she entered here she appeared very quiet, but this is a case where looks are deceiving, for those who know her are convinced otherwise.

One never sees her without her smile and if she seems sad you can be sure the time has come to talk of witty things. Her sunny disposition has won her a prominent place in many hearts.

With all the musical ability displayed by her participation in the Glee Club and Mixed Chorus will not lead to many years of school teaching, even though it appears as if she will not stay in this field for a long while. We all join in wishing her much success.

EDMUND DONALD WALLACE
Hanover Township High School
Lee Park, Pa.
"Ed"

"Ed" arrived from Lee Park to enter the "Hall of Learning" at Bloomsburg in the fall of '26. How well we remember our first acquaintance with this promising young teacher. "Ed" is a fair complexioned youth of medium height with blonde hair. He is of a very studious appearance wearing large, dark-rimmed glasses. His appearance deceived us, for we found he was always ready to have a good time and is a good sport.

During the first semester of his freshman year "Ed" steered clear of all females, but it must have been that this decision was influenced by his desire to live up to the customs imposed by the Seniors. Last year and this year "Ed" was often seen in the lobby and library. It must have been that he had to see his Nellie daily.

"Ed" was an active member of the Geographic Society and Assistant Manager of football in his Freshman year. His all-absorbing interest now is practice teaching, and—

"Ed" enrolled as a Freshman in the four year group but this year changed to the Intermediate Department. He was one of the first of the fellows from our institution to do their practice teaching in Berwick and from all indications he will be a very successful school teacher.

May the wishes for success, from your classmates of '28, spur you on to many noble achievements.

MARJORIE ELLEN WALLIZE
Lewistown High School
Lewistown, Pa.
"Peg"

"Sweet personality, full of rascality, that's 'Peggy' Wallize."

Did you ever see "Peg" when she wasn't smiling (except, of course, when there was a test dimming the near future). She just naturally smiles her way through life. Her motto is, "Why worry, I'll get there somehow." When "Peg" isn't smiling she's laughing, dancing or chattering and she's even capable of doing all three at the same time. At the latter she is an adept, but one thing in her favor she never chatters unless she has something to chatter about. "Peg" is a "whiz" when it comes to playing the "uke." Many are the nights she keeps second floor in the girls' dormitory spellbound by the melodious strains which she charms from this particular instrument.

Speaking of literature, "Peg" would rather read poetry than eat. We've often wondered if she cut her teeth on one of Edgar Guest's poems.

Not the least of her accomplishments is her ability in the class room. She has acquired that most famous art which we all agree requires gray matter in no small amounts.

Besides her class work, "Peg" has taken time to become a good athlete. She was out for all the sports in her Junior year and as a result was among those to earn numerals. "Peg" took an active part in Speech Arts Club, Glee Club and the Y. W. C. A., Mu Phi Sigma Sorority was also glad to claim her as one of its members.

We wish you all the success in the world, "Peg," but one last word, "Never use teaching as a stepping stone to other occupations," as long as Detroit stays on the map.

ALICE WALSH
Mt. Carmel High School
Mt. Carmel, Pa.
"Al"

'Tis said that good things come in small packages, and 'twas said by a man—who is supposed to be a wee bit wiser than any of the rest of us. We feel certain that the sooth-sayer must certainly have known Alice and received his wisdom therefrom.

Alice so seldom has anything to say that when she does begin to speak we all begin to whisper—"Sh, sh," for fear she will stop and we will never more hear the piping of that tiny voice. Although she is quiet—we know that she thinks a lot. And once in a while when she has occasion to speak, we are surprised at the intellectual discussion of certain fundamental rules and principles which govern her daily life that is spent amid the toil and tribulation of the world.

She is not an active member of anything in particular, yet when she is absent there is always something missing.

"Al" can be found at all hours, studying by lamplight, I mean by flashlight. She is one of the few of us who always have their work prepared before the ringing of the second bell, but then most of us do not prefer to invest in a flashlight and half a dozen batteries.

Farewell, Alice. The sincere thoughts of your classmates will be with you on your journey through your future.

C. ELIZABETH WARD
Wilkes-Barre High School
Mainville, Pa.
"Bibs"

Did it take "Bibs" long to become acquainted upon her entrance at Bloomsburg? Not much! Her sociability and sincere friendliness were contagious and before many weeks had passed, she could boast of a host of friends. But then, what barrier would not be broken down by "Bibs's" bright smile?

That "Bibs" is socially inclined was proven by her efficiency as secretary of the Junior Class, also, by her membership in the Phi Gamma Tau Sorority.

"Bibs" athletic ability was splendidly displayed when she and her partner won the Junior tennis tournament. Everyone, no doubt, has seen her at numerous times on the basketball floor, and the hockey and baseball fields.

In private life in the Girls' Dorm, we shall never forget our "Bibs" on duty as Hall Supervisor, after lights were out. Did she keep order? Well, we were all proud of her for that.

Besides all of this acquired ability, none of the finer things of life were lost to "Bibs." She is gifted with a silvery-clear voice, which won for her a place in the Glee Club. Poetry, music, fine paintings, all appeal to her sense of the beautiful. Needless to say, her personality has been known to overcome many difficulties.

In short, Bloomsburg without "Bibs" would be as a painting without color.

MARGARET WARD

Hazleton High School
Hazleton, Pa.

"Peg"

Here's to the girl who takes life as it comes, smiling a greeting whether the day be dark or fair. Who could help but like "Peg," with a personality as charming as hers? She is a favorite with both sexes, but why shouldn't she be with such admirable qualities?

"Peg" is the best little sport and is true blue even to those pretty eyes. She is always ready for some fun, and likewise for work. "Peg," too, visits the mail box quite frequently. The look on her face when she receives the very welcome letter will immediately tell you that her main interest must be somewhere near home. We wonder, then, why "Peg" just can't wait for certain nights (mostly week-ends)? One of those same letters will put you on the right track.

The Tau Phi Epsilon Sorority claims "Peg" as one of its loyal members. She chose teaching for her life profession, but from all appearances we doubt if she will teach at all. We are not limiting our good wishes to her teaching days, but are giving them forever and ever.

LOIS WATKINS

Taylor High School
Taylor, Pa.

"Dick" "Loey"

It makes us so happy when Lois comes near;

She always has sweet words,
She's chuck full of cheer,

She's loved by us all; to her chums she's true blue.

'Tis no wonder, Lois, we all like you.

An introduction is not necessary, for everyone knows her. What is more pleasing than a bright cheery "hello" from one as sweet as Lois? She is the same to all, and for this reason she has won the hearts of everyone at Bloomsburg.

One can often hear Lois saying, "Oh! I have so much work to do," but she is always certain to get the work out of the way first, then comes the time to display her wit and humor.

One of Lois' pet hobbies is doing the Varsity Drag, a newly acquired step, with a certain somebody from Normal Hill. "The only thing," says Lois, "my right leg gives way on me." Ne'er mind "Loey," we all know you can dance.

Lois is an active member of the Alpha Delta Sorority, also the Y. W. C. A.

We all know Lois will be a success as a primary teacher and we wish her the best of luck.

NATALIE V. WAYTEL
 St. Mary's High School
 Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
 "Naf" "Nate"

Natalie is a conscientious worker, and quite often Miss Ranson found her studying by a ray of light that happened to find its way through the transom into the room—and Natalie caught the light of the ray from a perch on the desk!

Geography is her pet subject, and, of course, Mr. Russell is her pet man! She delights in finding Wilkes-Barre and Luzerne on any sort of paper, as long as it looks like a map that will locate either of those places. For further information, please consult "Nat."

When a cheery laugh and a merry shout are heard from somewhere down the corridor, you may most assuredly know that it will be immediately followed by an auburn-haired lassie—in her usual joyous regalia that is always prompted by a smile.

"Nate" is an understanding friend, and if one is in need, she knows all about it without even being told. She possesses the sort of a personality that makes us all love her—regardless of whether we will or won't. She shares the golden quality of her personality among her many friends. She is especially happy when dancing.

She is a student,
 A comrade and friend,
 And a member of that "gang,"
 Whose fun never will end!

Campfire vice president, '26; Book Club, '26; Wilkes-Barre Club, '26 and '27; Hockey, '26; Tennis, '26.

RUTH A. WEBER
 West Pittston High School
 West Pittston, Pa.
 "Rufus"

She is a jolly kid and a good sport always ready to do anything for you. She is full of fun and wit and is always found in the middle of jokes and tricks. One of "Rufus'" favorite sayings is, "I do wish they would get me a new bed. I always hit my head on this shelf."

She is very artistic and poetic. In her spare time she writes poetry about her room-mate and friends, but her poetry is always pleasing to listen to.

Her chosen profession is the teaching of Intermediate grades, but as for the length of time she teaches, it is questionable. "Rufus" takes life as it comes and worries not. She is studious and always knows her lessons. Oh! what a time she had making those charts for Educational Measurements class, but she persevered and finally succeeded. How happy she was then.

"Rufus" is an active member of the Sketch Club, Mixed Chorus and Y. W. C. A.

"Well 'Rufus'":
 "Wherever you may go,
 Whatever you may do,
 We hope that success
 Will always follow you."

THOMAS WELSKO
Foster Township High School
Mining and Mechanical Institute
"Tom"

The big fellow of the class of 1928. This means not so much bigness of stature as bigness of heart and of intellect of this notable individual. Did I say notable individual? I mean more than that. Words cannot express the criterion that should be conveyed to you concerning his work in this school. He does not use his great knowledge for his own aggrandizement. Many of the people at this institution will tell you how he stopped while engaged in a tedious piece of work and assisted them with some problem that troubled them.

We need only mention some of the achievements of "Tom": Editor of the Maroon and Gold, 1927-28; Associate Editor of the Obiter, 1927; charter member of the Geographical Society; member of the football team of '27. We must not fail to mention that often during his stay at North Hall he was pressed into service as an instructor in the Bloomsburg High School, where he rendered efficient service.

Words cannot express our feeling for him. We know he will succeed. It can truthfully be said that the children who are lucky enough to have "Tom" for a teacher will be inspired by a scholar, a teacher, a gentleman, and a friend.

GRACE E. WELTER
Hughestown High School
Pittston, Pa.
"Gracie"

A smiling little lady,
Who never frets or frowns;
Who meets with song and laughter
All of life's ups and downs.
This is "Gracie"

Who could be around this school so long and not know her? Whenever there's anything going on she is always present and always brings her happy-go-lucky disposition with her. We may describe her as one full of pep, who enjoys having a good time. If ever there is a joke to be played on anyone, you can rely on "Gracie" being there.

She is always in the center of a very interesting group, either relating some funny story, playing the "sax" or singing the latest songs or exhibiting the latest dance steps. At times "Gracie" can be found in the gym dancing, playing the piano for the dancers or playing basketball. This maiden is a "whiz" of a guard, even though she is small.

We must realize that there is a time when "Gracie" sets aside all fun and becomes very serious; this is when she is studying. Her work here has proven that she considers it a pleasure to prepare it.

"Gracie" is an active member of the orchestra. She is little, but can she play the "sax"? Well, I'll say she can. Ask the classmates.

We don't expect "Gracie" to be in the profession very long, but whatever she may choose we wish her heaps and heaps of success.

GERTRUDE L. WENNER
Benton Vocational School
Stillwater, Pa.
"Trudie"

To begin with, Gertrude is another one of those famous Benton Vocational School graduates. Perhaps that accounts for her good work here in College. Gertrude is well-known throughout Bloomsburg and vicinity for the active part she has always taken in activities. Another thing that accounts for her wide-spread fame is her beautiful red hair, the shade of hair that Cleopatra must have had.

Gertrude has many friends scattered throughout the continent. When once Gertrude is a friend, she is always a friend. She is sincere in all that she does, especially in imparting knowledge to the younger generation. Just now the weight of entertaining occupants of the Locker Room rests upon her shoulders. However, she finds the task quite simple because she has had so many experiences that she never fails to hold the attention of her listeners.

At the present time, Gertrude resides in Orangeville. There she takes an active part as a "Booster" of the town. She acts as librarian and assistant constable in her spare time. It is even rumored that she belongs to the fire company. She is also vitally interested in the construction of the town reservoirs and the like. We wonder why?

Her favorite poem is Stevenson's, "The Lamplighter," especially this part:

"My tea is nearly ready and the sun has left the sky; It's time to take the window to see Leerie going by."

With her experience and charming personality, Gertrude certainly will make a successful teacher.

MIRIAM WENNER
Hazleton High School
West Hazleton, Pa.
"Mirie"

This young lady came to us with the group that entered here in our Freshman year. She is one of those good-natured girls who would do anything for a friend. As a result of her fine personality and sacrifice she has many friends whose companionship have made her life enjoyable.

Like all girls, she enjoys playing tricks on her schoolmates and it was the cleverness of these pranks that made us sit up and take notice.

She is a real student and distributes her time properly in applying herself to her work. She is very often seen in the library busily engaged in selecting material for the following day's classes.

As a student teacher she has made considerable progress as our observations and a review of her records have shown us. Her attitude toward her work and natural love for children tend to make her the ideal teacher.

Our love for her has been increased, if that is possible, by the little favors she obliged us by doing.

Judging by her application to her studies here we hope to hear of this young lady on the road to success in the near future.

JAMES H. WILLIAMS
Hanover Township High School
Lee Park, Pa.
"Jimmie" "Jim"

After the excitement of the arrival of the Freshman Class of '26 had subdued and the opportunity to observe our surroundings presented itself, we discovered a quiet, unassuming young chap whom we have come to know as "Jimmie."

Coming to Bloomsburg with the express purpose of securing an education, "Jimmie" gave most of his time to his school work at which he succeeded very well. He has since added other interests and may be seen in the lobby or the library, accompanied by an especially attractive one. Being human and a typical American youth he could not wholly refrain from participating in the various sports. So we find him playing end on the championship Freshman football team in '26, and in '27 playing the same position on the victorious team of the upper classmen. The Junior Varsity basketball team was considerably strengthened by his presence.

"Jim's" time was not wholly taken up by studies and athletics, for in his Senior year we find him "tickling the ivories" for the North Hall Orchestra and actively participating in the affairs of the Omega Chi Fraternity to which he was elected soon after the beginning of the second semester of his Freshman year. He is now the secretary of this organization. The ease with which he fits into various character parts has made him a valuable asset to the Dramatic Club, with which organization he allied himself early in his first year.

May you be as successful in future endeavors as you have in those of the past, "Jim."

ADELINE YANNES
St. Ann's High School
Freeland, Pa.
"Del"

"Laugh and the world laughs with you; weep and you weep alone."

Adeline is a girl who smiles and smiles and smiles; and then smiles some more. The reader can already see that she is ready to greet one with a hearty laugh and winsome smile. One mustn't think that because she laughs so much her work is neglected. No, indeed. She knows the time for work and the time for play, although the only time she is ever quiet is when she's asleep, at which time she doesn't even snore.

Adeline is a prominent member of the "U. No. Girls" on fourth floor. This may seem kind of queer, and the name of this club may sound kind of mystical, but we have not, as yet, been able to discover its probable origin.

We will miss Adeline roaming through the halls with the "U. No. Girls," furnishing amusement for the occupants of the Dorm.

Adeline is a member of the Current Event and the First Aid Clubs.

Since becoming acquainted with Adeline we have found her to be liberal and obliging. We hope that she will be as successful in holding friends after graduating from B. S. T. C. as she is at the present time.

We also wish her the best of luck in the teaching world.

MARTHA A. YAVORSKY
Mount Carmel High School
Mount Carmel, Pa.
"Mart" "Marty"

Whenever we hear quick running steps—the sound of wooden heels coming down the hall, we know it is our "Marty" in a hurry to get to her room after some hard work in the classroom.

"Mart" is noted for her happy disposition and famous giggle. She is one of the "famous three gigglers" of the school. If ever you are feeling blue and want some one to help drive your blues away, come to see "Mart."

"Mart" is a good worker; consequently we can depend on her to have her studies prepared. When we find her studying, we often wonder where that famous giggle lies hidden.

We might call Martha the "human alarm clock" of fourth floor. Many nights girls call at her room with the words, "Will you wake me up early tomorrow, 'Mart'?" She has never been known to fail them. Ask her room-mates, they know.

Have you ever been near "Mart" at a football or basketball game? If you haven't, you can't appreciate genuine school spirit, for we can always find Martha supporting and encouraging the team with her yells.

Can she make fudge? Ask any of the members of "the gang." They'll tell you.

Martha takes an active part in athletics and believes in clean sports.

We extend the heartiest wishes for a huge success in all our "Marty" may undertake, for surely she merits it.

LUCILLE YEAGER
Berwick High School
Berwick, Pa.
"Lou"

"Lou" is one of our fair, really "fair," Berwick co-eds. When you hear "co-ed" you think, ah, a vivacious, jolly girl! Lucille, however, is not that type of co-ed. She is the charming, dainty, and oh, "so quiet" type. In a crowd she might not be the first person you would notice, but stop a minute. All at once you see someone—an unassuming, pretty girl. "Who is it?" you ask. It might be Lucille, for although she is quiet, she possesses an attractive personality.

Lucille did her practice teaching the first semester and we know that a successful career as a school teacher will be hers. All through Lucille's college life at Bloomsburg she proved invaluable to her friends. No matter what she was doing she would stop to help you out.

She joined the Sewing Club in the fall—hum! Well, here's wishing Lucille all the luck in the world as a school teacher.

"She's sweet of disposition,
She's loving, wise and kind,
She's full of true affection,
She has an active mind."

HARRIET I. YOUNG

Reading High School
Nescopeck, Pa.

"Harriet"

"Good, better, best,
Never let it rest
Until your good is better
And the better best."

This tells us, in a few words, of Harriet's chief characteristics—perseverance. Give her a problem to do and she does it, never giving up after the first attempt, but willing and ready to try again until it has become "best."

Quiet, reserved, and shy, but with such a warm-hearted generosity in everything toward all her classmates, she is well-liked by everyone. She has a mind ever anxious to add to its store of knowledge.

Being a minister's daughter, we expect her to be sincere and straight-lived. She is all that anyone's daughter should be. But Harriet has a sense of humor—she knows when to take her fun and how much to take.

Now Harriet is the kind who never bothers about a man—but we hear that there is a "him" somewhere, and true to the old-fashioned girl's ideal, he is following the same career as her father. Good luck to you, Harriet.

MARY YOUTZ

Sunbury High School
Sunbury, Pa.

"Yo"

She has blue eyes and dark hair.
A winning smile, an Irish air.
She is all the world to me
This bright, young girl from Sunbury.

Besides dark hair, blue eyes and a winning smile, Mary has a pleasing personality. She is a good sport, and we will miss her and her companionship.

Although Mary was almost a stranger when she came last year, she has made a host of friends.

In 1926 and 1927 Mary was a member of the Book Club and Dining Room Club. In 1927-1928 she was a member of the Rural Club and the D. R. C. Mary is interested in Rural work, and we know she will make good.

Her favorite saying is, "Boy, oh, Boy." We wonder where she heard that? Her favorite pastime is dancing. We wonder where her dancing partner is, we don't see him any more. And her lucky day, doesn't anyone know—Friday, 13th.

Well, Mary, we all wish you health, success and happiness in your new undertaking.

When the year comes to an end,
And our own ways we must wend,
We will always think of thee
Pal of ours at B. S. T. C.

ANNE YURAN

St. Mary's High School
Luzerne, Pa.

"Anne" "Annie" "Angy"

Is it "Annie" you want? We are certain you will find her in 467, or the library, or the gym. Those are her favorite places for work and fun.

"Annie" is a child, sometimes a delightful child, whom we all want to do favors for, and from whom we beg smiles. She has a goodly share of the latter, and she bestows them generously. If you have found your way into "Annie's" heart, then for the rest of your days you have found a friend—sincere and understanding. She proves her friendship by both word and deed, and her group counts her a worthy chum.

There are as many sides to "Anne's" personality as there are grains of sand in a pane of glass. Anne isn't a grain, by any means—and she never brings "pane." As she looks at one so steadily with a gleam of sadness in her eye, it turns to humor before one has caught the full significance of this hint of sadness.

"Annie's" favorite pastime includes dancing, music and tennis. She is a "whiz" at each—but she is really at her best when she is writing lesson plans.

Although we say "Farewell" now, we shall never forget you, Anne, and years will only brighten our memory of you—your work and your friendship.

HILDA E. ZEISLOFT

Freeland High School
Freeland, Pa.

"Sadie"

Who would have thought that the pious little Hilda of September, '26, could be such a capable "Sadie" of '28? Although Hilda is studious, she still finds time for lots of fun. If you don't believe it, just listen in at a Berwickian meeting some night, and then sit back while she educates the younger generation in the training school.

"Sadie" is famous for her optimistic outlook on life, and for the fact that she boasts no member of the opposite sex has ever touched her heart. She considers herself immune to their charms, although we sometimes wonder why Hilda is always so anxious to go home every week-end.

Hilda is one of the best all around girls in the world, always pleasant and happy, and always a sure cure for the blues.

Her popularity among her fellow students is shown by the various positions which she has held. She has shown her executive ability by successfully carrying out her duties as secretary of the Berwickians and vice president of the Camp-fire Girls.

We are all looking forward to seeing Hilda installed as chief executive of some big institution, but we have our doubts. The fortune teller predicts that a knot will be tied in a few years. Whatever your future, we all wish you the greatest success and happiness.

ADAM LESLIE ZIMMERMAN

Trevorton, Pa.
"Les" "Zim"

In the same rush that entered B. S. T. C. a year ago, there was discovered a quiet, unassuming young chap from Trevorton known as "Zim."

During the first few weeks with us he was out for adventure and fun. He was here and there trying to find out the why and whereof of every thing that happened on the campus. He did not lose much time in making inquiries about certain pretty girls that crossed his path, and before long "Zim" lost his adventurous spirit and became romantic. This was evident for he was often seen strolling down the campus with one of our female classmates.

"Zim" distributed his time properly as a student; although athletics were his ambition, he placed as much time on his studies as he did on sports.

"Zim" helped to win many a football victory for B. S. T. C. In extra-curricular activities he was prominent, being a member of the Junior Varsity basketball team, treasurer of the Omega Chi fraternity and treasurer of the Senior Class.

His companionship and good nature will never be forgotten by those who knew him.

RUTH M. ZIMMERMAN

Berwick High School
Berwick, Pa.
"Zimmie"

That chic Parisian Mlle. going down the street? Go 'way, chile, that's our Zimmie," not a French Miss.

Because of her lovely disposition, all-round sportsmanship and big-heartedness she is one of our favorites. And here's a tip—if there's candy or anything good to eat within a mile, count on "Zimmie" to find out. She need never worry about excess weight as a result.

When it comes to singing, "Zimmie" is there. I'll bet you never knew that, did you? Not many do, for she is rather inclined to refrain from admitting her ability in that line. But if you don't believe me, ask any vocal instructor who has heard her sing. He will most assuredly agree with us that she has a splendid voice.

As a basketball captain and forward—well, come to a game and see for yourself. "Zimmie" may be a little disappointed if her team loses, but you'd never know it. She's as game a loser as a victor.

"A clever girl, there." Words to that effect have fallen often from masculine lips, when they look in "Zimmie's" direction. But the tones are often tinged with a note of hopeless regret for they know the futility of being a rival of Bill's.

Good luck to you, "Zimmie," always.

NANCY ANNA ZORSKAS

Central High School
Scranton, Pa.

"Nancy"

"A quiet and very sedate lass
Is Nancy of the Primary Class."

She doesn't believe in wasting her time in idle chatter and never talks unless she has to. She is very studious and always on the rampage for work. As an artist of imaginary things we believe she will win fame.

"Nancy" entered in February and belongs to the Scranton "gang" and we must say this much for her, "She isn't as noisy as her school-mates."

Men, in her mind are taboo; she has so many more important things to think of.

She belongs to the Scranton Club, the Children's Literature Club. She also joined the First Aid Club but gave it up because she did not have the time to devote to it. Nancy has to hurry to her school down town for she believes in being prompt. The reason for her hurrying so was her consideration for her room-mate who just couldn't be on time.

Nancy is sometimes called the "Great Stone Face," for no matter how she feels she never shows her emotions.

We are sure she will succeed in her work and we wish her all the success and happiness that can be wrought for we know that she deserves it.

KATHRYN ZURLINDEN

Hughestown High School
Pittston, Pa.

"Kitty"

Here is one of the small members of our class. Not only is she small but she persists in staying at the foot of the class. This does not mean that she does it because her class reports say she must, but because "Z" is at the end of the alphabet. Any one would admit that it would be difficult to climb to the top of the class with such a handicap. The only way to do this would be to change her name. We wonder if she is thinking of it.

She is a graduate of the 1926 class of Hughestown High School. She is just one of the six girls in her class who chose the teaching profession at Bloomsburg. She entered the intermediate work and we are sure that she will make a success of it.

"Kitty" has three desires. Her greatest one is to sleep. She wonders how any average commuter can walk, ride, eat and study in twenty-four hours of the day and then find time to sleep. Her second desire is to eat. In this she has a companion, also a Kathryn. Her third desire is that concerning her profession; she wishes to teach some day in Philadelphia or New Jersey. Whatever you do, don't disappoint her in anything. Just watch what will happen if you do.

"Kitty" is an all-round athlete. She took an active part in basketball, volley ball, tennis and hockey. The Girls' Glee Club was pleased to have her as one of their members. "Kitty" also wears a Mu Phi pin which signifies that she is an active member of that sorority.

We all wish you heaps of success in the future and hope that you will always remember our good times at Bloomsburg.

Freshman Class

The class of '29 entered B. S. T. C. on September 20, 1927.

As usual, we were confronted with Freshman customs. Good sportsmanship was shown by every one, but of course we rejoiced when the time had expired and the bans were lifted.

The purpose of our first meeting was for organization, without which no class can progress. The following officers were elected:

President	- - - - -	ARCHBALD REESE
Vice President	- - - - -	GRACE KIVLER
Secretary	- - - - -	MARGARET HIGGINS
Treasurer	- - - - -	EDWARD DE VOE
Class Advisor	- - - - -	MISS PATTERSON

In extra curricular activities our class was well represented, taking part in Dramatic Club, Glee Club, and Mixed Chorus. We did not stop at these organizations but also participated in athletics. Many sturdy Freshmen fought on Mt. Olympus to help out B. S. T. C. first. Not only football but also basketball pictures show Freshmen faces familiar to all. The players were:

Football	Basketball
"Nick" Jaffin	"Bob" Davis
"Stub" Pennington	"Nick" Jaffin
"Arch" Reese	"Tom" Kirker
"Joe" Yacabonis	"Heinie" Morgan
"Copper" Strausser	"Frank" Golder
"Dan" Delmore	"Dave" Baker
"Heinie" Morgan	"Joe" Yacabonis
"Walt" Siesko	"Beck" Krolukowski
"Art" McKenzie
"Phil" Kester

May our class have the best luck and as much success, if not more, than others that have gone before us.

"Great oaks from little acorns grow"

GETZNER

Edith Jane Stauffer

Oh, what has become of our original dean, so tall, so fair, so stately? In the short time that she was here Miss Stauffer made many firm friendships with both the girls and the faculty and we are all hoping that she may fully recover from her illness and be able to return to us at some later date.

Miss Stauffer attended Wilson College, Chambersburg, Pa., and received the degree of Bachelor of Arts from that institution. This was followed by a period of teaching English and history in senior high schools of New Jersey. Later she held the position of Secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association in Philadelphia and Baltimore. Through this work she undoubtedly found her main interest and prepared herself further for it by work at the University of Pennsylvania and Columbia University. From the latter institution she received the degree of Master of Arts.

Following her line of interest she next became Director of Vocational Guidance in Coatesville and Wayne, Pennsylvania, and later Dean of Girls at Bronxville, New York. This leads up to the fall of 1927 when she came to us as Dean to Women or as dormitory "Mother."

Marguerite W. Kehr

How fortunate we were the second semester to have come to us one so experienced and capable, one who soon proved to be a very true friend. Although we were grieved to lose our former dean, we have found a real compensation in Dr. Kehr.

Miss Kehr began her higher education in the University of Tennessee where she received the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Not satisfied with this attainment she studied philosophy and psychology at Bryn Mawr. Later she earned the degree of Master of Arts at Wellesley College. Cornell University next attracted her, and it was from this institution that she received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

Dr. Kehr has enjoyed both a business and teaching career. Her teaching began with Latin in a senior high school and was followed by a position as instructor in psychology in the University of Tennessee. Her last position was that of Dean of Women at Lake Forest College, Lake Forest, Illinois, from which she has come to Bloomsburg.

Since her arrival, our "Dean" has made our life at "the College" more comfortable and pleasant. Believing that smooth working, efficient discipline is the direct result of real co-operation between student and Dean, she has done everything possible to bring about this understanding.

John C. Koch

Dean of Men

Mr. Koch was born in Brooklyn, New York, March 18, 1902. He received his elementary and secondary education in the schools of Harrisburg to which place the family moved in 1908. Upon graduating from Harrisburg Central High School he enrolled in Bucknell University in the fall of 1919. He was a regular on the Varsity Tennis Team for four years, and in his sophomore year had the distinction of being a member of an undefeated team. The experience gained in college competition made it possible for him to win the Singles Tennis Championship of Lancaster County in 1925, the Central Pennsylvania Doubles Championship in the same year, and the Southeastern Pennsylvania Title in 1927. Mr. Koch was Assistant Editor of the Bucknellian in his junior year. In preparation for this position he spent one summer at Columbia University as a journalistic student. He is a member of the Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity and the Cap and Dagger, Bucknell's dramatic organization.

Following his graduation Mr. Koch taught English, mathematics, history, and biology in the high school at Colombia, Pa. At the same time he was athletic director of the institution. Under his skillful supervision athletics prospered and Columbia was represented by some of the best high school teams in its history.

Only three years after beginning his career as a teacher Mr. Koch was selected as an instructor in the English Department of the Edison Junior High School of Harrisburg. While engaged in this position he had the opportunity to observe the results of applied theoretical methods in the then new junior high school movement.

We next hear of him as Dean of Men and instructor of dramatic English at Bloomsburg State Teachers' College in the summer of 1927. His ability was recognized by the administration, and he was retained as Dean of Men and placed in charge of the Junior High School Department.

Since he assumed his duties, North Hall has become more than a mere dormitory. It is to us our temporary home. Realizing that the source of much failure in discipline is the result of too numerous rules, he endeavored to improve the situation by reducing and simplifying the rules then in existence and by limiting the new laws to a few that were absolutely necessary. The success of his plan is evident in the smooth and efficient manner in which the affairs of North Hall are conducted. The men immediately realized that they had a Dean who would do everything possible to make their life pleasant and comfortable and, accordingly, put forth every effort to make his task an enjoyable one. The result was perfect co-operation which has drawn us all into an harmonious relationship.

Community Government Association

The Community Government Association of our College whose membership is composed of all members of the faculty, boarding students of North and Waller Halls, and all day students has for its object co-operation with the responsible authorities in promoting personal and group responsibilities in guiding and regulating the affairs of all students under the jurisdiction of the College.

The aims of the men and the women and the faculty expressed a short while ago clearly indicated that affairs concerning students cannot be conducted in a harmonious way without co-operation.

The members of the student-teacher constitutional committee realized also in drafting this constitution that co-operation among students and faculty was necessary for the successful functioning of this association or any other organization of its kind. They also realized that equal and just representation by the men and women students would tend toward closer co-operation.

The association like any other organization must have officers, so two weeks before election day, which is the first Monday of May, the Student Council meets as a nominating committee and selects three nominees for each of the four offices of the association.

The scholarship, citizenship, and conduct of the nominees must first be approved by the President of the college. A candidate for president of the association must be a member of the fourth year class of the four-year course. The vice president, secretary, and treasurer may be members of either the second, third, or fourth year class.

The student council which is the executive, legislative, and judicial agent of the association is elected on the first Tuesday in May by the various classes. Representation on the council is based on classes. Each class elects two representatives, a man and a woman. For example, the fourth year class, the third year class, and the second years class of the fourth year course elect two representatives, and the freshmen of the four year and two year courses jointly elect two representatives.

In order to insure the day students representation they meet and elect one man and one woman also. The men of North Hall and the women of Waller Hall elect one representative each.

The President of the Association is also president and a member of this council. The President of the College, the Dean of Instruction, the Dean of Women, Dean of Men, and Director of Teacher Training are also members of the Association, Student Council and all committees.

All enactments in the Student Council or Association shall be by a majority vote and a majority of the members of the Association is necessary for a quorum. Ten members in the Student Council constitute a quorum of that body.

"They whom truth and wisdom lead"

North Hall Student Government Association

When the student government movement began in our college the boys of North Hall were among those who strongly advocated the installation of this form of government. It was not because they were dissatisfied with the affairs as they were then conducted, but rather because they realized the benefits that would come from the co-operation of students and administration for governmental purposes.

Immediately after this form of government was adopted the boys of North Hall began to work toward a goal, the ideal governing system. A meeting of all men living in the dormitory was called and a constitutional committee was appointed. Within the next few weeks a constitution was drawn up and presented to the men for approval. After a few necessary changes it was accepted by the group. This constitution provided for, first, a student council, which acted as an executive body to make North Hall a real home; second, a scholastic committee, to form a link between the faculty and students and thus discover and provide for the few deficient men; third, social committees, whose purpose was to provide for the social affairs of the association.

The success of this organization is entirely in the hands of the men who reside in North Hall. The selection of officers who truly represent them should be their first concern.

"And their name is legion"

The Governing Board

The Governing Board of the Women's Student Government Association is an organization which has come into existence through the new constitution which has recently been adopted by the women students of the college. It consists of members from each of the various classes represented in Waller Hall. These members are nominated and elected by the students at appointed times, and hold office for one year.

The purpose of this board of directors is to make and administer regulations for all matters pertaining to the Women's Dormitory life. However, it is necessary that all the students co-operate in order to make our Student Government Organization what it ought to be.

We are just in the beginning of what, we hope, will soon be a strong and worthy organization. There is yet much to be accomplished, but we feel that the foundation has been laid.

Officers of the board are: Mildred Phillips, President; Margaret Lewis, Vice President; Ruev Kenworthy, Secretary; Doris Kimble, Treasurer.

Y. W. C. A.

Since the opening days of the school year, when the "Y" girls began by acting as "Big Sisters" to the new girls, everyone has come to recognize them as girls who are willing to help whenever and however they can.

Frequently they have been called on to aid in social activities of the school other than those two big affairs which belong exclusively to the Y. W.—the annual welcome reception and the Japanese Bazaar. Through the co-operation of every one, both of these big events have been very successful this year.

The organization has tried to be a benefit to everyone in the school. During this term, the Wednesday evening meetings have been carefully planned. A schedule of leaders has been posted and each girl has tried to find something new for her program. We have enjoyed hearing from various members of the faculty and from our own students who have so freely expressed their opinions. We have had printed questions and topics which have led to lively discussions, and moving pictures of "Y" work have been shown. It is not surprising that many girls have not missed a single meeting.

Bloomsburg has been represented at all the important conferences this year—at Stroudsburg, at Eagles Mere and at West Chester.

Our writing would not be complete without mention of Miss Mason, our competent advisor, who has won the admiration of all the girls.

Now that we have selected our new cabinet for 1928 we hope that they will enjoy the work as much as we have, and we wish them success in everything that they undertake.

The Rural Club

The Rural Club is one of the outstanding activities of the Rural Group. It promotes the interest of the group in current problems.

A program was given in chapel in the form of a play which put forth the aims and purposes of this group. It was a rousing success.

Mr. Robbins ably sponsors the club, and it is largely due to his earnest efforts that much has been accomplished.

The club has made a special study of "Fear" and "Recreation," and from these it has received many benefits.

Even though this club has a small membership it is one of the outstanding organizations in our extra-curricular activities. In addition to this it is a most delightful club.

The Children's Literature Club

The Children's Literature Club was organized to meet the urgent need of educating future teachers in children's literature so that they would be prepared to intelligently guide their pupils into the proper literary fields. Under the energetic direction of Miss Kulp the organization made splendid progress. Although a supervisor directed the Club, the work taken up and completed was entirely in the hands of the girls. Every member realized that participation rather than observation tends to bring about permanent knowledge.

The activities of the club were varied so that the members would receive general as well as specific knowledge of the modern methods of presenting the literary material. One of these methods which was used quite extensively by the club and which we all had the pleasure of observing when it was presented in chapel is dramatization. The method calls for the dramatic reproduction of scenes of a book or the characterization of some of the famous characters. Other means the club used to obtain their objective are:

Collections of pictures illustrating authors or their books.

Oral reading.

Games.

Use of slides and lantern.

With such interesting work to be conducted by the club we can expect "big things" from it in the future and look forward to the time when it will become Bloomsburg's leading extra-curricular activity.

Geographic Society

The Bloomsburg Geographic Society was first organized in 1926. It was organized again this year with Charles John, President; Winifred Follmer, Treasurer, and Anna Erwin, Secretary for the first semester and Margaret Swartz, President; Luther Bitler, Vice President; Minnie Melick, Treasurer, and Harold Hidlay, Secretary for the second semester.

The Society met once a week in Room 40 at which time two members of the Club gave geographic discussions of current release. Each speaker tried to bring to the front the geographic factors which tend to motivate modern economics and industry. Such topics as individual experience, trans-continental journeys, industries, Lindbergh's flights, and Mississippi flood conditions are examples of specific work undertaken at the meetings.

The purpose of the Society is to promote the study of geography in the College by activities outside the regular course.

The Electric City Club

Founded October, 1927

Probably many of you would like to know why we called our organization "The Electric City Club." The members of our club are graduates of either of the two high schools which are in the city with the many electrical works—namely, Scranton. Since the first electric car was operated in Scranton, we thought it would be interesting and appropriate to so name our club.

This club was organized for the purpose of furthering social activities at this college and for the purpose of promoting better understanding and better friendships between the graduates of the Scranton high schools.

The members of our club are full of life, and they certainly showed their pep at the several social functions which were held by the club. One of the most enjoyable parties was the one for the initiation of the Juniors. Another successful function was a card party held for the members of the club. Scarcely anything needs to be said about it, for those who were there need not be reminded of the enjoyable time that was had by all.

We, the members of the Electric City Club, feel that our organization has really been a success. This success, however, has come only through the faithful co-operation of our members, and through the loyal work of our faculty advisor, Miss Johnston. Words cannot express the deep gratitude we feel toward her, but she will know how we feel when we say just this, "She is a peach!"

The first officers of the club were: President, Raymond Hodges; Vice President, Margaret Hill; Secretary, Mary Mulford; Treasurer, Margaret Oswald.

Present officers are:

President	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	RAYMOND HODGES
Vice President	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	ATILLA SCHOEN
Secretary	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	WINIFRED OSINCHUK
Treasurer	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	MILDRED PHILLIPS

"United in friendship"

The Nanticoke Club

This organization was formed for the purpose of creating a sense of friendship and co-operation among the students who graduated from Nanticoke High School or who now live in Nanticoke. As is the case with all good clubs, it is necessary to set down specific aims. The Nanticoke Club has set down the following:

1. The elevation of the scholastic standards of the group in general and each individual in particular.

2. The promotion of the social life of its members. Although it is not yet one year old this organization has made a permanent niche for itself in the life of Bloomsburg State Teachers College. The energy, ambition, and perseverance with which the members attack their work have made their meetings resemble the proverbial "bee hive."

The following are officers of the club:

President	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	THEODORE DAVIS
Vice President	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	GRACE KIVLER
Secretary	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	GERTRUDE FLOWERS
Treasurer	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	RALPH DAVIES

The Bloomsburg Players

The Bloomsburg Players are now in the fourth year of their organization, and aside from their own club work they have staged several public productions, giving one long play each year as well as many one-acts. Last year the long play was "The Swan," by Fernac Molner. It was beautifully staged and presented.

In nineteen-twenty-seven the Club established the custom of producing for the public a play tournament composed of three one-act plays that had been previously staged before the club. The three plays chosen last year were "Trifles" by Susan Glaspell, "The Trysting Place" by Booth Tarkington, and "Hearts" by Alice Gerstenberg. "Trifles" won first place in the tournament.

The great work of the Club, however, lies not in the public productions but in the one-act plays produced at each weekly meeting before the Club. Through these plays the members acquire training in acting, directing, and producing. Our aim is not to produce stars but to receive training so that we may train others.

The Club has recently been granted by the National Honor Dramatic Fraternity, Alpha Psi Omega, the right to establish a chapter. Fifteen members of our Club have already qualified.

The officers of the Club are elected each semester. The officers for the present semester are:

Director	- - - - -	MISS ALICE JOHNSTON
President	- - - - -	CLARENCE RUCH
Vice President	- - - - -	JACK FORTNER
Secretary	- - - - -	FLORENCE JONES
Treasurer	- - - - -	CHARLES WADAS

"Players all"

The Swan

One of the most ambitious plays the Bloomsburg players have yet attempted was "The Swan," by Felene Molnar. This play is one of the author's best and is pure comedy in an excellent plot, clever dialogue, and a variety of clearly individualized characters. It depicts a chapter in the life of two royal families which includes an important incident in the life of Princess Alexandra as she makes her final decision between the tutor who loves her whom for the moment she thinks she loves, and the Prince who offers her a throne.

When the curtains were drawn for the first act on the night of April 30, 1927, there was exhibited the most beautiful and colorful stage set ever used in a play at the College. The costumes were correct in every detail and added to the beauty of the scene.

The music was furnished by the College Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Miss Harriet Moore.

The cast of characters was as follows:

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY
THE GOOSE HANGS HIGH

BY LEWIS BEACH

This delightful comedy was produced by the Junior class on the evening of February 29, 1927, in the college auditorium before an appreciative audience. The play portrays, with good humor and truth, the efforts of a modern family to adjust themselves to difficult circumstances. The father meets with business reverses, but rather than see him sacrifice himself the children rise to the occasion and all ends happily.

All acts of the play took place in a modern living room, and the stage set was most attractive and cleverly arranged. Each member of the cast portrayed his character in a way that showed hard and conscientious work. The class had reason to be heartily congratulated in its initial activity.

The play was directed by Miss Alice Johnston.

FRESHMAN CLASS PLAY
"SO THIS IS LONDON"

A comedy of three acts was produced by the Freshman Class on Thursday evening February 2, 1928. Perhaps the fact that that day was Ground Hog's Day added to the interest of the occasion. The action of the play took place in Hotel Ritz, London, England; Sir Percy Beauchamp's home in Brimshot; and last, in Lady Ducksworth's home in Brimshot. The story told of the misconceptions that English and American people have about each other. The romance between the daughter of an Englishman and the son of a wealthy American brought about many amusing situations. In the end, however, the aristocratic English family and the wealthy Americans form a truce with "their children's welfare" the most important matter. It is unnecessary to state that the romance ended happily.

The cast of characters were as follows:

Eleanor Beauchamp	- - - - -	GRACE BASKERVILLE

College Symphony

The year 1928 marks the fourth successful year for the Bloomsburg College Symphony. The Symphony this year is under the direction of Mr. H. F. Fenstemaker, a most capable director, who has offered his services most willingly. The success of the organization must not be judged from an individual point of view, for it not only affords great opportunities for the music student, but it has become an integral part of the College, inasmuch as it plays for all dramatic productions and has presented several chapel programs.

There are about twenty-five in the ensemble, trained to a degree of perfection that is unusual in a student organization. The orchestra members take joint interest in their work since the weekly rehearsals are perfectly attended, irrespective of the fact that attendance is voluntary. It is an organization of good spirit and comradeship.

Selections and Overtures from the light operas and symphonies have been generously played at the various college functions and chapel programs. This year the orchestra played at the production given by the Bloomsburg Players and the comedy, "So This Is London," presented by the members of the Freshman Class. Aside from the student activities, the orchestra has played for the annual College Night of the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs of Bloomsburg.

Each spring a grand display of the musical accomplishments of the orchestra is presented in the form of a "Spring Concert"; this alone speaks for the organization.

The officers of this organization are as follows:

President	- - - - -	EDGAR E. RICHARDS
Vice President	- - - - -	LEROY BAER

The Maroon and Gold Orchestra

In the days immediately following our return to Bloomsburg this fall a new extra-curricular activity made its appearance. At this time an orchestra was formed known as the Maroon and Gold Orchestra.

Although still in the stage of infancy the orchestra has progressed rapidly under the sponsorship of Prof. Koch and the directorship of its leader, Phillip Kester. From a six-piece orchestra it has developed into a combination of ten pieces possessing the synchronium, harmony, and rhythm so essential to success. Practically every night we danced to and enjoyed the music supplied by this well directed group of musicians.

Although the point has not yet been reached where we can dispense with outside orchestras we predict that before many months have passed the Maroon and Gold Orchestra will be supplying the music for all our social affairs.

Among the various social events for which the orchestra supplied music are the following:

- Friday Evening Dances in the "Gym."
- Hallowe'en Dance
- Christmas Frolic.
- Japanese Bazaar.
- Annual Joint Meeting of Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs.

The following are the members of the orchestra:

DANCES

Many and varied were the dances that took place during the school year. Memories of these shall remain to brighten our lives after we leave the old and cherished halls. Under the supervision of our Dean of Women, Dr. Kelir, these dances have given the study-worn students opportunities for joyful relaxation.

The Hallowe'en Dance, under the auspices of the Camp Fire Girls, was a famous social event in this year's calendar. The gymnasium in its fantastic decorations and vivid interpretations of the season, was a charming aspect for those who participated in the enjoyment of the evening.

The Valentine Dance was held in the gymnasium on Friday evening, February 10. As usual, the colorful appearance of the gymnasium lent spirit to all who attended. We tried to make it a social function of the first magnitude, and judging from the good time everyone seemed to have had, we have reason to think that the affair was a great success.

These various occasions could not have been undertaken and planned without the co-operation of students and faculty. These affairs, unique in beauty, unusual in enjoyment, will provide the years to come with the fondest of reminiscences.

FOOTBALL

When the leaves have turned to a golden hue and the chill fall air causes the blood to pulsate through the veins of men, there is a peculiar, unexplainable something that steals into a fellow's heart. Accompanying this "something" like its shadow comes the thud of a pigskin as it is met by the toe of a shoe.

The longing for action became evident when the initial call for football candidates was made. Manager Frymire was called upon to deliver every available uniform in the school. Men were anxious to don their suits. So they journeyed to Mount Olympus where work was started to mold together a strong team.

They had a real task before them—the schedule was the hardest our school had undertaken in a long time; the team was composed of raw material and the candidates were unusually light. They had Coach Booth, a past master in the coaching game, and Assistant Coach Jones to aid them in their struggles.

The team suffered greatly from injuries during the season. Ray Hawkins, captain and tackle, played the season with a recently fractured leg which interfered considerably with his playing. "Army" Keller, quarterback, sustained a broken bone in the hand during the West Chester game which kept him from playing for the remainder of the season. Clarence Ruch, center, suffered a badly sprained ankle in one of the early games. This handicapped his work throughout the season. Delmore, a guard, was forced out of the game with a fractured leg sustained in scrimmage. Zimmerman, halfback, suffered a wrenched ligament in the back. Besides these there were many minor injuries. In spite of all this the team enjoyed a fairly successful season.

Ray Hawkins, whose competency and ability as a leader of men was unquestioned, piloted his team masterfully. When football season is again ushered in, we should find Bloomsburg represented by a team of veterans led by the captain-elect for 1928, Alexander Kraynack, a man worthy of the confidence placed in him by his fellow teammates.

The season opened on October 1 with Kutztown Normal as our opponents on Mount Olympus and we won by a score of 30-0. The following Saturday Stroudsburg was our guest and we were defeated in a close game by the score 6-0. Then came a disastrous trip to West Chester where we were defeated and many of our boys were injured and forced out of the game for the remainder of the season. Keystone came here and we were handed another setback. The team journeyed to Kingston where they met their ancient rivals, Wyoming Seminary, and they were pushed back another notch. Lock Haven was next and we defeated them 12-6, but lost on the following Saturday at Mansfield. We finished up by humbling Dickinson Seminary by a score of 7-6.

BASKETBALL

With the closing of the football season, Coach Booth issued a call for all candidates for the basketball team. His call was answered by the largest number of men to turn out for basketball at this institution in many years. Among the applicants were several members of last year's team, namely: "Nick" VanBuskirk, last year's captain and star forward; "Red" Garrity and "Joe" Wadas, forwards; McGrath, center, and Fisher, a guard. Among the new men to report were Kirker and Yacobonis, guards, and Morgan, a forward, all destined to give a good account of themselves in the coming season.

To lead this group it was inevitable that a good man must be chosen. Leo McGrath, because of his ability and competency as a leader was elected captain, and piloted his team through a most successful season.

The boys had a real task to undertake; the schedule was the hardest our school had for many years. They had Coach Booth, a real leader and past master in the coaching game, to aid them. The managing burden fell upon the shoulders of Faculty Manager E. H. Nelson and Student Manager Ralph E. Davies.

Meeting teams of the State Teachers College and preparatory schools and academies the team proved its mettle in every game. Although defeated in a few of its games, it always made the opposing team travel at a terrific pace to win. As proof of this we refer you to the close margins by which the opposing teams were victorious.

When the basketball season is again ushered in, we shall find the Maroon and Gold Quintet led by Captain-elect "Red" Garrity because of his ability and his being worthy of the confidence placed in him by his fellow team-mates.

The season opened on December 22, at home, when we met and defeated a team composed of former stars of this school. Next came the highly rated Freeland M. and M. Institute, whom we also defeated, making it two in a row.

The third game was lost by one point at Kutztown, this being our first setback for the season. We easily defeated Bucknell Freshmen and then dropped another, this time to the strong St. Thomas College team at Scranton.

Then came our ancient rivals, Wyoming Seminary. In a hard-fought game our boys were nosed out at the final period and defeated by the small margin of two points.

Easy victories were gained over Lock Haven and Mansfield, and then all thoughts were turned toward avenging the defeat handed us earlier in the season by St. Thomas College. We defeated them in a very close game by a single point margin.

We were also avenged by defeating the strong Wyoming team, this being the first victory over our ancient rivals in three years.

Then there was easy sailing for the boys, bumping off Freeland M. and M. Institute, Dickinson Seminary for two games, Lock Haven, Mansfield, and Gettysburg Academy. The season ended rather disastrously by dropping three games to Shippensburg, East Stroudsburg, and Millersville, respectively, by narrow margins.

Junior Varsity Basketball

The success of any team depends on the captain, the coach and the ability of the individuals to work together. This was proven once more by the Junior Varsity who, without glory or praise, spent night after night on the gym floor taking the bumps of practice without the least complaint.

Captain "Bob" Wilson capably filled his position with a sense of leadership that commanded the respect of both the fans and his team. He possessed a combination of good judgment and fast floor work which made him a valuable asset to his men.

Coach Jones is the answer to the second reason for the success of the Junior Varsity. The quality of his ability is adequately portrayed in his team.

The team, composed of individuals working with clock-like co-ordination produced a high percentage of efficiency that though a few times defeated was second to none in their class. A strong defense that was developed to capacity, fully displayed their skill by holding all their opponents to a comparatively low score. With an exceptionally hard schedule the boys were victorious in all but two games at home and the same number away. The team, rather than any particular player, was the primary feature and no individual credit can justly be given to any one man. The whole squad possessed excellent floor generalship which is highly essential to make up of a team.

Without exception they have proven their worth as basketball men and will make fertile material to fill the vacancies left by the graduating members of the varsity.

The following scores will give you some idea of the superior quality of the Junior Varsity:

B. S. T. C. 26	Bloomsburg High School	14

BASEBALL

While the Big League Teams were going south to limber their joints and get in condition for the national game, baseball, the Bloomsburg State Teachers College championship squad also journeyed south—to the gymnasium, where the boys went through their preliminary training.

A large number of candidates reported for duty, and among them were many veterans who had previously seen service with the Maroon and Gold. Joseph Bradshaw, reputed to be one of the best backstops that ever graced our diamond, was elected captain of the team, and no one doubted Joe's ability as a past master of the game or his leadership in baseball. Among the other members to return were two members of our star outfield, "Red" Garrity and "Bill" Rushin. "Eddie" Yarashefski, who had played in the infield the previous year, filled the other position in the trio that played a season of errorless ball. Bernard Roan bore in a most capable manner the brunt of the mound duty, while Archie Austin and "Leo" McGrath could be counted on to fill two of the infield positions. Among the new men to report were: pitchers, Evans and Fritz, who gave a good account of themselves; infielders, Wadas, Slusser, Wilson, Coursen, and Kraynaek, who all did excellent work throughout the season. Doyle Ivey had been named student manager of the team. All of which indicated that Bloomsburg, under the supervision of Coach Booth, was represented by a well balanced nine.

Playing a superior brand of ball throughout the season, the honor of claiming the baseball championship of the State Teachers Colleges of 1927 was won by the devotees of Bloomsburg State Teachers College.

The season opened at home on April 9 when we met and defeated the Freeland Mining and Mechanical Institute by the overwhelming score of 25-0. The following Saturday we entertained the strong Keystone Academy tribe in a hard fought game and came out on top. The next week-end was a hard one for our boys. They played Keystone on Friday afternoon and East Stroudsburg on Saturday, and won their third and fourth games of the season. Then came the only defeat handed us by a State Teachers College. In a ten-inning game we were defeated by Shippensburg by the small margin of one point. The next three games were won and then our boys journeyed to Kingston where they were defeated by our ancient rivals, Wyoming. Our final game with East Stroudsburg was forfeited to us by a score of 1-0.

Following is a list of the games played:

TRACK

With the approach of spring the thoughts of the young men began to turn toward track and prospects of another good season. When Coach Booth issued a call for candidates the largest squad in the history of the sport responded. Lectures and demonstrations on position and form occupied the early days of the season. Then the work began in earnest. Every day the track in the gym was used by the men. Just as soon as it was possible to do so the candidates were ordered out on the field where all work was turned over to Assistant Coach Jones.

The few weeks before the Annual University of Pennsylvania Relay Carnival were devoted to getting the men who composed the mile relay team into the "pink of condition." This task was not difficult as each individual realized that the school's reputation was at stake. With only a day to wait and the team "rarin" to go it was discovered that unlooked-for circumstances would make it impossible for the Bloomsburg team to participate.

Although disappointed, the boys were not discouraged. With added zest they began preparation for the annual triangular meet to be held at Dickinson Seminary. The aim of the entire squad was to equal or surpass the brilliant record of our first track team that had won more first places than all other teams combined. It was at this time that a serious difficulty was encountered. The majority of the men entered in the field events were also members of the baseball team, and it was only by tremendous efforts that they were able to keep up the training of both sports. Even so they worked hard and we had visions of repeating our earlier success.

One of the largest teams that ever represented our College journeyed to Williamsport on the day of the meet. Among the young men making up the squad we had only Davies, Austin, and Rushin with experience. The performance of Davies was especially remarkable. Entered in practically every event, he seldom failed to place. As a result he was one of the highest individual scorers for the day. A few of the untried men also showed up well. Army Kellar was the outstanding inexperienced performer, having a goodly number of points to his credit. The brilliant performance of these individuals could not offset the well balanced teams of our opponents, and we were forced to bow in defeat.

Interscholastic Track Meet

Following the program of furthering high school athletics, Bloomsburg State Teachers College again held its annual Interscholastic Track Meet. This track meet had, as its outstanding events, the establishment of a new high school's world record for the javelin throw. Ryscavage, of Plymouth, tossed it 167 feet 4 inches. Not until the last race had been run was the winner, Lock Haven, determined.

Football, Freshmen vs. Upper-Classmen

On that eventful afternoon of November 23 two teams battled for the class championship of the school. The highly touted Freshman team under the direction of the famous "Hook" Merrick, a past master of the game, were all primed to duplicate the feat performed by the Freshmen of the previous year. The team was captained by Wolever, who, on his knees promised to perform his duty and lead his team through the battle with flying colors.

Then, out on the gridiron dashed the hope of the upper-classmen. These boys were determined to set their rivals back and get revenge for the defeat handed the upper-classmen the previous year. Coached by "Eckie" Kraynack, the team developed into a smooth working combination. The upper-classmen chose "Red" Garrity to lead them in the strife, and his good judgment was evidenced before the game had progressed very far.

The Freshmen won the toss and elected to receive. Wilson kicked to Sekulski who was stopped on his own twenty-yard line. After a few attempts by the lumbering backs of the Freshmen to crash the line, they decided to punt. The punt was received by Wilson who gave a pretty exhibition of open field running. The ball was advanced to the ten-yard line and then one of the highly excited backs fumbled and the ball was recovered by a Freshman. The ball saw-sawed back and forth until the third quarter when Vital managed to pick up a fumble and ran for a touch-down, making the score 6-0 in favor of the upper-classmen. "Tax" Davis missed the goal. Near the end of the game Edmunds made a pretty run of tackle for another touchdown. This time "Tax" came through with the extra point and the game ended with the upper-classmen on the long end of a 13-0 score.

High School Tournament

Following the custom inaugurated by Coach Mead in 1922, Bloomsburg State Teachers College, conducted this spring one of the most popular High School Invitation Basketball Tournaments in the East.

The original tournament was composed of four teams, Bloomsburg, Danville, Berwick, and Newport Township that battled for the honors that went to the latter team. Since then the number of teams competing has been increased. First from four to six, then to eight, and now the number has reached sixteen. With the admission of sixteen teams it was necessary to extend the tournament over two week-ends.

This year the tournament was conducted by Coach T. W. Booth and Mr. E. H. Nelson, with sixteen teams competing: West Pittston, Sunbury, Forty Fort, Hanover, Edwardsville, Nanticoke, Blythe Township, Exeter, Dickson City, G. A. R., Coaldale, Plymouth, Wyoming, Bloomsburg, Freeland, and Berwick. The winners finished in the following order: Nanticoke, Plymouth, Hanover Township, and Berwick.

As has been the custom in other years the first and second all-tournament teams were selected by a group of judges. The players were picked according to ability, value to their teams, and sportsmanship. The members chosen were as follows:

Letter Girls

Six hundred athletic points and an "A" in posture are the requirements for obtaining a letter. Most every Freshman is enthusiastic about working for a "B," and each girl puts forth considerable effort to accumulate her six hundred points, and to develop good posture. Those who have been fortunate enough to win letters, value them highly for they are representative of hard work and not less—some jolly good times.

Those who merited letters this year are as follows:

Numeral Girls

Every girl in this college should be a proud possessor of athletic numerals. These numerals are the result of many hours of hard work on the part of their owner. The girls who are wearing these numerals must have at least a "B" grade in posture, and must have participated in the following sports: Hockey, Basketball, Volleyball and Baseball, which are major sports and Hiking and Tennis, which are minor sports. To receive numerals, a girl must have at least one hundred points in a minor sport, and two hundred points in a major sport. The girls who have received these numerals should be given credit for taking part in these activities during their leisure time.

The numerals should be an incentive for the girls to continue in their athletic work to earn their letters.

HUMOR

JOKES

Eckie—"Say, Duke, a fellow just told me that I looked like you."

Duke—"Where is he? I'll knock his head off."

Eckie—"Never mind, Duke, I've already knocked it off."

Father—"So you really want to marry him, eh? What are the young man's prospects?"

Daughter—"Well, Dad, he has a very rich uncle who lives in Chicago."

Tax Davis—"Did you say your girl was pretty?"

Ralph Davies—"Is she pretty? Say, boy, she's so good looking that she can walk down Senior Walk at noon and not a single fellow will know the color of her stockings."

An ice cream parlor is a place where they have little tables with 297 wads of gum stuck underneath. Mostly Blackjack.

Judge—"Throw him in the jug."

Bill Trump—"No, no, Judge, I just pulled him away from one."

Absent-minded Professor's Wife to Her Husband—"Something must be done; the moths are eating up all your clothes."

Absent-minded Prof.—"I'll speak to them in the morning."

Dan Paris—"Say, Pat, what did you get on the quizz?"

Pat George—"Zero; but that's nothing to me."

All the world's a stage—but most of us are merely stage hands.

Hook Merrick—"I heard a new one the other day. I wonder if I told it to you?"

Kraichick—"Is it funny?"

Hook—"Yes."

Kraichick—"Then you haven't."

When Solomon went to a dance he carried a card index, not a programme.

Stoddard—"Do I need a hair-cut?"

Kriernim—"Oh. That's it. I thought you had a fur cap on."

Teacher—"Willie, name three kinds of nuts."

Willie—"Chestnuts, peanuts, and forget-me-nuts."

Dr. Russell—"What is the greatest water-power known to man?"

Karl Dohl—"Woman's tears."

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Any college student committing suicide before notifying the proper authorities will be sent to jail.

Ford—"Van Aernam comes from an ancient line."

Mohan—"I guess that's the one he always tells."

Coach Booth—"I see you're from Chicago."

Half-back—"No. That's just a birth mark."

If Adam ever came back to earth, the only thing he would recognize would be these jokes.

Martha Caperell—"I wonder why it is that people cry at weddings?"

Peg Ward—"I guess it's because they've been married themselves and don't have the heart to laugh.

Evancho—"Have you forgotten that you owe me five dollars?"

Palsgrove—"No, not yet. Give me time and I will."

The boys of North Hall are so lazy they even eat loaf sugar.

Tom Henry—"I gave that beggar a penny, and he never thanked me for it."
Nyhart—"Well, you can't get anything for a penny nowadays."

Peg Hill—"Did you hear about the accident in the subway?"
Alice Evans—"No. What was it?"
Peg—"A lady got a seat."

Edison would have a great many more friends among the younger set if he hadn't invented electric lights.

Bitter—"Krafclicik, if you can guess what's in my hand you can have it."
Nuss—"Nothing."
Bitter—"You win."

Vital—"That fellow sleeps in marble halls."
Van Aernam—"What is he, a millionaire?"
Vital—"No. A night watchman at the bank."

Women are like money; keep 'em busy or they lose interest.

Prof. Fenstermaker—"Janell, why do you think Caesar was stabbed by a woman?"
Janell—"Oh, when he was stabbed he cried out 'You Brutess.'"

Little Boy—"What ya doin', mister?"
Art Editor Strausser—"Painting Dean Sutliff's house over there."
Little Boy—"Well, it sure needs it."

One of the blessings of prohibition is that a man can drink himself to death more quickly.

Ex Mathews—"Say, Zimmerman, what did he hit you with to give you that black eye?"
Zimmerman—"He didn't use anything, it was handwork."

A Chinese laundryman had an addition to his family the day Lindbergh landed in Paris. Some of his friends wanted him to name the boy after Lindbergh.

"No, no," said the proud father, "that's no good Chinese name. I callee him 'One Long Hop.'"

"We don't mind eating the horse but darned if we like to chew the harness," said the boys as they wrestled with the steak.

Nellie Daley—"Ed, what would you do if you played the piano like me?"
Ed Wallace—"I'd take lessons."

Peg Cox—"Is Hawkie conceited?"
Derm—"Conceited? Why every time he hears a clap of thunder he runs to the window and makes a bow."

It's called cold cash because the boys in North Hall don't keep it long enough to get it warm.

Vital—"Are you mad at that match?"
VanArnam—"No."
Vital—"Why did you strike it then?"

HEARD IN BLOOMSBURG

Mrs. Jones—"How did that naughty little boy of yours get hurt?"
Mrs. Brown—"That good little boy of yours batted him in the eye with a brick."

The stingiest man we know of is the one who gave his little girl a nickel not to eat any supper; who took the nickel away from her while she was asleep, and then refused to give her any breakfast, because she lost it.

Henry Morgans—"How's my chances of getting through this course?"
Prof. Bakeless—"The best in years, my boy."
Hook Merrick—" 'Kraffy,' I'll pay you the five bucks I owe you next week."
Kraffy—"Fine, old top."
Hook Merrick—"Now, would you mind letting me have a ten?"

Weather Forecast in Scotland—Very Close.

Duke—"Hey, Zim, you're wanted on the telephone."

Zim—"Tell them I'm taking a bath."

Duke—"I did, but they wouldn't believe me."

Zim—"Then, I'd better answer it. It must be someone who knows me pretty well."

Peg Hill—"Betcha Bloomsburg kicks off."

Alice Evans—"I didn't even know they were sick."

A FAIRY TALE

Once upon a time there was a man who made some New Year's Resolutions—and kept them.

Tom Henery—"Is he stingy?"

Taylor—"Stingy! He wouldn't give you a peep at Lookout mountain if he owned it."

Gould—"Reese, do you see anything of 'Dot' now?"

Reese—"Oh, yes, I keep in touch with her."

Our idea of a mean guy is the musician who puts his mother-in-law's picture on his drum.

Mil Bohn—"You've heard the sheep song?"

Attila—"No, what is it?"

Mil—"Wolf you be mine?"

Attila—"No, no, all I want is ewe."

He—"Are you angry dear?"

She—"Don't talk to me."

He—"May I kiss you?"

She—"I said I didn't want any of your lip."

The old-fashioned girl was thought to be considerate if she helped her mother prepare dinner; the girl nowadays is thought to be considerate if she comes in time for it.

Hawky—"Why so downcast, Muley? You act like a tired student teacher."

Muley—" 'Tis worse than that. I'm a fired student teacher."

First Drinker—"Whatcha puttin' yere finger in your liquor for?"

Second Drinker—"If the nail stays on I'm going to drink it."

Nick—"If you ever joined the service again which branch would you take up?"

Tom—"I'd go into the aviation branch."

Nick—"Why go into that?"

Tom—"Well, if I ever got tired of it I could just drop out."

I didn't get the brakes, said the flivver as it rolled down the hill and draped itself around a tree.

Mower—"How come that holdup beat you after you had been taking those boxing lessons?"

Zeveny—"He did it while I was putting on my boxing gloves."

Says Reese's father, "I call him Arch because he always needs support."

Peg Ward—"Gee, Martha's friend is a cheap guy."

Ann Curry—"Cheap, why he gave her one of the Czar's Diamonds."

Peg—"There you are—a used one."

SONG OF THE SHOWERS

'Tis hard to part with those we have,
When our hearts are full of hope,
But 'tis harder still to find a towel,
When our eyes are full of soap.

Employer—"Yes, I advertised for a good strong boy. Think you can fill the bill?"

Ted Morrissey—"Well, I just finished licking nineteen other applicants outside the door."

Visitor—"Waiter, I thought this was chicken soup and I find one piece of meat in it."

Pat McLaughlin—"Sorry, the string must have broken."

Claude Miller—"Why did Tom Welsko fire Joe Wadas?"

Charley Surfleld—"He sent him out to get a list of all the men of note in town and he came back with a list of musicians."

Man proposes—and from then on it's all the woman's say.

Teacher—"Bobby, where did coffee originate?"

Bobby—"In the percolator."

Polnasek—"Why are a girl's lips like a book?"

Poole—"I know, red only between meals."

SONG OF THE NORTH HALL LOVER

I'd send you, dear, some Violets, if spring were not so late,
I'd send you pink carnations if their scent I did not hate,
Orchids, I should like to send, your love they would invoke,
I'd love to send some roses, too, but, dear, just now I'm broke.

Boots Hildebrand—"What's this athletic dope we read so much about?"

Marion Kemper—"It must be some stuff they give to the players to brace them up."

There little grape fruit don't you cry
Cause when you do, it hits my eye.

Prof. Nelson—"Next time I paint my car, I am going to use some of this rubber enamel."

Prof. Koch—"Why so?"

Prof. Nelson—"So pedestrians will bounce off more easily."

Often the best of friends must marry.

Shorty Edmunds—"I hear you've given up tobacco, Bob?"

Bob Davis—"Well, Shorty, I'm sort of tapering off. I don't swallow the juice any more."

Dr. Russell—"The window should be opened, (louder) Mr. Krafchick, will you please open it?"

Krafchick (sleepily)—"I'll open it for four bits."

No more Colleges built on hills,
Says wiseguy James McGullem,
"The reason is," the prophet says,
"The collegiate Fords won't pullem."

Dean Sutliff—"Where are you from?"

Rovenolt—"Turbotville, down in God's country."

Dean Sutliff—"Why do you call it that?"

Rovenolt—"Nobody else can get through it."

Van Aernam (Bored)—"I've been around with girls and girls and——"

Kraynack—"Yes. On a merry-go-round."

Susser—"Say, Fritz, how did you break your wrist?"

Fritz—"I changed my mind in an automat restaurant."

NOTES OF A LATER DATE

Bloomsburg resumes football relations with Wyoming and wins handily.

Bloomsburg Co-ed throws nation into turmoil by suggesting to her boy friend that she pay for half of the treat.

Ex Mathews—"Say, Muley, who was Homer?"

Muley—"Homer ain't a who, it's the what that made Babe Ruth famous."

Miss Maupin—"I call my eight o'clock quiz the Pullman section, because it has three sleepers and an observation section."

Prof. Fenstemaker—"Very good. I call my nine o'clock Virgil class 'the Pony Express.'"

A co-ed may love a boy from the bottom of her heart but there is always plenty of room at the top for at least one more.

Some men smile in the evening
Some men smile at dawn,
But the man worth while,
Is the man who can smile,
When his two front teeth are gone.

Prof. Reams—"Mr. Jones, what is Lincoln's immortal slogan?"
Mr. Jones—"America's finest automobile."

Martha Laird—"Dot, come, quick, and see the mole I've just caught."
Dot Gresh—"I didn't know moles were contagious."

Hess (to Prof.)—"What's that you wrote on my paper?"
Prof. Wilson—"I told you to write plainer."

Our co-eds are so dumb they sign up for all the Romance Languages.

Prof. Shortess—"Now that we know what an element and a compound is, can anyone name a good mixture?"

Polnasek—"Yes, teacher, I can. Orange juice, sugar and gin."

Absent-minded Professor (returning home to wife struggling with burst pipe)—"Let me see, my dear—what did you send me down town for?"

Many a man has acquired a huge vocabulary by marrying it.

Poole—"I feel sorry for Mohan, he failed in everything but French."
Fischer—"Why didn't he fail in that?"
Poole—"He didn't take it."

Elizabeth Williams—"How is Kirker with the women?"
Van Aernam—"Most of the time."

He who laughs first is a nuisance.

Pauline Bell—"Football is my favorite game, what's yours?"
Elizabeth Zigler—"Fried rabbit."

Nick VanBuskirk—"Poor Ex."
Kirker—"Whassamater?"
Nick VanBuskirk—"He was practicing putting the shot and he forgot to let it go."

We wonder how Solomon would have replied if some one asked: "Who was that lady I saw you with last night."

Dot O'Connel—"Do you use butter knives at your home?"
Florence Regan—"No—but don't tell—you know how those things spread."

Van Aernam—"Say, Coach, I want bigger shoes."
Coach Booth—"Those fit. Why do you want bigger ones?"
Van Aernam—"So I can cover more ground in the same amount of time."

The world likes a good loser, particularly if it gets some of his money.

Movie Director (to Scotch actor)—"In this scene you give away one hundred dollars."
Scotchman—"Where's my double?"

Prof. Reams (in History)—"Define the Middle Ages?"
Bill Jones—"They used to be from thirty to forty; now they are from fifty to seventy."

Prof. Hartline (in Biology Class)—"But how can one check the ravages of the potatoes without destroying the crop?"

Woolever—"Can't you dynamite them?"

Cop (to woman driver)—"Hey, you, why don't youse look where yer going?"

Woman Driver—"Well, you see, officer, this is the first time I've ever driven from the front seat."

The honeymoon is over when she wants a heater in the Coupe to keep her warm.

Prof. Wilson (in freshman class in English)—“How do you know Chaucer dictated to a Stenographer?”

Eleanor Zydanowicz—“Look at the spelling.”

Jaywalker—“What’s the quickest way to the Emergency Hospital?”

Cop—“Just stand right where you are.”

When there is nothing more to be said, some Boob always says it.

Judge—“You say you were drunk when you kissed the lady. Can you prove it?”

Defendant—“Yes, just take a peek at her for yourself.”

Mary Mulford—“Why do policemen carry notebooks in their caps?”

Helen MacGuire—“Well, they’ve gotta have something in them.”

Prof. Reams—“Say, Coach, how can you tell the age of that chicken?”

Coach Booth—“By the teeth.”

Prof. Reams—“Chickens don’t have teeth.”

Coach Booth—“No, but I have.”

Edgar Richards—“Ethel, don’t you love this kind of weather?”

Ethel Price—“Do you?”

Edgar Richards—“Say, girlie, just try me.”

If cars whisk by at breakneck speed,
Whose drivers must be in the lead,
And to pedestrians pay no heed,
A man is at the wheel.

If taxi drivers live to tell,
How they’ve been told to go to —?
And missed it just by inches, well,
A man is at the wheel.

If in and out a car does swerve,
In traffic jam or on a curve,
Which makes a wreck of friend wife’s nerve,
A man is at the wheel.

Oh, sure men laugh at women’s stunts,
Yet what he does would make a dunce,
Seem smart, when cops are cussed,
A man is at the wheel.

Garage Mechanic—“Where is the fan belt?”

Charlie Surfield—“Say, fella, if you’re so anxious to get posted on geography, why don’t you go to College.”

Judge—“What’s the charge?”

Bill Trump—“Impersonating an officer, your Honor. He took a couple of bananas from a fruit stand.”

Tourist (in village store)—“Whatja got in the shape of automobile tires?”

Clerk—“Funeral wreathes, life preservers, and doughnuts.”

An authority on women writes: Mere man means nothing to a modern girl; but what a whale of a difference a few cents make.

Palsgrove—“And how can you tell when your near an elephant?”

Bernard Gallagher (bored)—“You’ll detect a faint odor of peanuts on his breath.”

Golder—“Will you hold these books for me?”

Dr. Haas—“Sir, I am President of this College.”

Golder—“Oh, that’s all right, you look like an honest fellow.”

Have you heard of the Frosh who was so dumb she thought a neckerchief was the head of the Sorority.

Martha Capperell—"My greatest ambition is to sing for the public."

Rose Cataldo—"Join the Salvation Army."

Dot Richards—"You told me that if I put this wedding cake under my pillow I'd dream about my future husband."

Janet Gemmel—"Well, what's the matter?"

Dot Richards—"The only difficulty is that I dreamed about the whole Senior class."

Pauline Bell—"Let's sit out this dance?"

George Bamford—"Well, I had my eye on a seat, but some one went over and sat on it."

Archie Reese—"That's Paul Whiteman all right, but where's the Orchestra?"

Phil Kester—"There it is, right behind him."

Talking Movies will never be a success; there's too much competition in the audience.

Teacher—"Willie, conjugate the verb 'to swim.'"

Willie—"Swim, swam, swum."

Teacher—"Now conjugate the verb 'to dim.'"

Willie—"Say, you're trying to kid me."

Lavelle—"Say, Ed, did you hear about the Scotchman who just went insane?"

Richards—"No, let's hear it."

Lavelle—"He bought a score card at the football game and neither team scored."

Krafchick wants to know if a cafeteria is a hysterical calf.

Anna Turri—"Have you heard the Tuxedo song?"

Kitty Johnson—"No, let's hear it."

Anna Turri—"Though you belong to somebody else tonight you belong to me."

Ex.—"Do you take much interest in girls?"

Ray—"Don't bother me, that's only a petty matter."

AMBITION

Frosh (watching a football game)—"Gee, I wish I were a man."

Conductor—"I've been on this train seven years."

Tam Kirker (hoping soon to be in Millersville)—"That so? Where did you get on?"

Evancho—"Say, Coach, how was my leg motion and my time in that last half mile?"

Coach Booth—"Two flat."

Evancho—"Minutes?"

Coach—"Feet."

One of our bright little Freshmen who wrote home that he had three cuts, received a first aid outfit in the return mail.

Bibs Ward—"Who is that Bozo with all the books?"

Marion Kemper—"He's one of those guys that came here for an education."

Miss Kulp—"Try this one: Put the cow in the pasture? What Mood?"

Nancy Zorkas—"The cow."

They stood together face to face,
Their arms were clasped in tight embrace,
They couldn't be parted, they didn't flinch,
They were two boxers in a clinch.

Little Boy to Tom Welsko—"Sa, mister, is College really like it is in the movies?"

Tom Welsko—"Sure, sonny, why?"

Little Boy—"Then watcha carryin' books for, Mister. Huh?"

We boys hate to see the winter approaching. It was so cold in North Hall last winter even the wind was always howling about it.

Prof. Shortess—"Gentlemen, I am dismissing you ten minutes early today. Please go out quietly so as not to wake the other classes."

Jaffin—"Professor Hartline, you must have made a mistake in giving me E on this paper."
Prof. Hartline—"Young man I very seldom make mistakes. Have you seen my Secretary?"
Jaffin—"Oh, boy, have I—I guess you're right."

On an average three hundred residents of Chicago die annually from lead poisoning.

Nyhart—"You know, Palsgrove, Theodore Roosevelt said: 'Thorough knowledge of the Bible was worth more than a College education.'"

Palsgrove—"A thorough knowledge of anything is worth more than an education."

Mary Youtz—"What's the matter with that young Scotch student?"

Teloiv Wagner—"Oh, he just got a shine and then remembered that they were his roommate's shoes."

When Noah sailed the ocean blue,
He had his troubles same as you,
For forty days he drove the Ark,
Before he found a place to park.

Tourist—"Say, can you tell me where I can get some gas?"

Old Farmer—"Hey?"

Tourist—"No, gas, this ain't a horse it's an automobile."

He—"Please."

She—"No."

He—"Oh, please do."

She—"Positively, no."

He—"Please, just this time?"

She—"I said no."

He—"Aw, Ma, all the boys go barefoot now."

About the only time the average wife will listen to her husband is when he talks in his sleep.

Tramp—"Say, Buddy, could you lend me a quarter?"

Dan Miner—"Sorry, I'm a College student."

Tramp—"Excuse me. Here's two bits."

Shorty Edmunds—"What's the matter?"

Ruch—"I washed a dirty piece of ice in hot water and now I can't find it."

Then there's the Scotchman who sent his girl a rose bush, so she could grow her own flowers.

Close makes the Scotchman.

Ben Miller—"I got mad at Devine and he wouldn't pay me the ten-bucks he owes me."

Bobby Wilson—"You should have remained calm and collected."

Fluffy Snyder—"What is usually done with the holes of doughnuts?"

Anita Rodda—"They're used to stuff Macaroni."

College is just like a washing machine; you get out of it just what you put in—but you'd never recognize it.

Sekulski—"So you say your girl is false?"

Delmore—"Yea, Bo, she falls for everything."

The old-fashioned family doctor is disappearing.

So is the old-fashioned family.

Many a College student goes to sleep a Freshman and wakes up to find himself a Senior.

First Co-ed—"What are you going out for this year?"

Second Co-ed—"I think I'll go out for the fullback."

Prof. Wilson—"Mr. Slusser, it gives me great pleasure to give you sixty in English."

Arty Slusser—"Why don't you make it ninety and have a heck of a good time."

Coach—"So you want to come out for football, do you? What experience have you had?"
MacGrath—"Well, I played end in a minstrel once."

Lives of great men all remind us,
As their pages o'er we turn,
That we're apt to leave behind us
Letters that we ought to burn.

Rodda—"I don't like my Prof. in Animal Biology."

Stoddard—"How come?"

Rodda—"I asked him today how long a man could live without brains, and he replied, by wanting to know how old I was."

Lady (at Columbia Theater to man in seat behind her)—"I hope my hat is not worrying you?"

Man—"It is worrying me. My wife wants one like it."

Dombrowski—"If looks could kill, I'd assassinate you with a glance."

Bohn—"If looks could kill it would be suicide for you to use a mirror."

Snyder—"Is Morrisey dumb?"

Jaffin—"He is so dumb he thinks the St. Louis Cardinals are appointed by the Pope."

Yeager—"Does your new girl know much about automobiles?"

Bob Dew—"I'll say she don't."

Yeager—"She wondered if I cooled the engine by stripping the gears."

Many a true word is spoken through false teeth.

Mary Blackwell—"I don't think I should get a zero in this exam."

Prof. Hartline—"I know it, but it's the lowest mark there is."

Janet Hasting—"That's a bum number."

Dorothy Evans—"What?"

Janet Hasting—"The song of the Vagabond."

You have to hand it to the College man: It takes brains to walk forward and at the same time step on your pants in the back.

Ed Wallace—"When you start to kiss a girl, do you close your eyes?"

Jimmy Williams—"No, she generally closes them for me."

Sara Lawson—"Dearie, is your fiance a far-sighted man?"

Harriet Roberts—"I think so. He had a five-dollar seat at the Tunney and Dempsey fight."

Ruth Guest—"Don't you think that woman looks like a lovely flower?"

Beatrice Sanford—"Yes, like one of those century plants."

Prof. Fisher (after lengthy explanation of Philosophical Theory)—"And now are there any questions?"

Voice in Rear—"What time is it?"

Two can live as cheap as one, provided the first two are Scotch.

Our idea of the strongest man in the world is one who takes two pianos, stands them on end, and plays them as an accordion.

Prof. Reams—"I see your coming to my classes quite regularly, Mr. Janell."

Janell—"Yeah, I'm suffering with insomnia something terrible."

Muely—"Say, Hawkie, who refereed the Alumni game here this year?"

Hawkie—"Why, Hagen-booth."

Muely—"Well, I know Booth, but who's this guy Hagen?"

Frymire—"Army Keller plays great football. His dodging, tackling, and interference are perfect."

Ivey—"Yes, I heard that he got his experience early in life when he went shopping with his mother on bargain days."

Red—"I've been criticized quite a bit by some of the school's Smart Alecks for using poor grammar. Now I have three good reasons for this:"

1—"I don't know any better."

2—"Half of you wouldn't know or understand it if I did use it."

3—"If I did speak and write correctly I might be managing some big New York paper at a large salary and you farmers would lose the best Editor in Bloomsburg."

Florence Regan—"Who was that Collegian you were with last night?"

Dot O'Comer—"That was no Collegian, that was Knierim."

Teacher—"Johnnie, can you tell me what a Road Hog is?"

Johnnie—"A road hog is a fellow who gives you half of the road; the other half he gives you is the half on either side of him."

Readler—"Hey, dija know Ida?"

Yacobonis—"Ida who?"

Readler—"Idunno."

Give me your money or I'll blow your brains out, commanded the holdup. The intended victim calmly laughed in a manner that showed that he didn't care about either—He was a College Student.

Miss Ward (to milkman)—"Well, it looks like rain."

Milkman—"Mebbe so, but it's milk."

Dan Paris—"The early Colonists were a crafty bunch."

Pat George—"How so, my friend, how so?"

Dan Paris—"Haven't you heard how they framed the Constitution?"

Prof. Bakeless—"I'll give you one more day to hand in that report."

Jimmy Williams—"Yes, sir; make it the Fourth of July."

Senior—"Where did you get the five bucks?"

Second Senior—"I sold a freshman my book of telephone numbers and addressees."

Dean Sutliff—"Give me your parents' names."

Tom Henry—"Papa and Mamma."

Marie Price—"Elsie Lebo is the most optimistic girl I ever knew."

Kebo—"How so?"

Marie Price—"Well, she tore a brand new pair of hose and said, 'Anyway I got a run for my money.'"

Elsie—"Open up, Jack, and tell me why the big L on your sweater?"

Jack Fortner—"Oh, I got that for playing football here at Bloomsburg."

Elsie—"Do tell, I thought Bloomsburg began with a B."

Jack—"Well, it's this way, I played on the second team."

Richards—"The idea of letting your girl tell the world she made a man of you. You don't hear my girl saying that about me."

Muley—"No, but I heard her tell Peg that she had done the best she could."

Hook Merrick—"Kraffy, did you see a girl going around the Campus in a bathing suit and hip boots?"

Krafchik—"Jiminie Kritmets, no, did you?"

Hook Merrick—"No."

One Co-ed says she likes men who know their onions, but her girl friend insists that she likes men who know what the examination questions are going to be.

Coach Booth—"There is nothing that will bring about a player's downfall as quickly as a case of vanity."

Ralph Davies—"Oh, I don't know, I've seen plenty of them fall for vanity cases."

Everybody makes mistakes that's why they put mats under cuspidors.

If Sitting Bull had a good looking daughter, would he call her Sitting Pretty?

WITHOUT the co-operation of the Business Men represented in this section the 1928 OBITER would have been an impossibility. It is our duty to help those that help us. Therefore—

The Results of a Service Rendered

The continuous growth of this Nation-wide Institution of Department Stores and especially the large expansion that is being made this Spring is creating truly remarkable opportunities for young men with selling experience in our lines to associate themselves with this Company and train for future Co-partner Store Managers.

Throughout the United States, the J. C. Penney Company Stores are acclaimed the friends of the people—exercising in the fullest way a buying power that gives large savings to the public.

This growth is directly the result of that liberal appreciation of our Service which the public has shown in our operations during the last twenty-five years.
