STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, EDINBORO, PA.

NOVEMBER 5, 1947

12 ESTC Students Named To College "Who's Who"

Chosen On Basis Of Merit As Campus Leaders

Twelve outstanding Edinboro students will be included in the 1947-48 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges," according to a recent announcement from the officers of that publication.

Edinboro students who will receive the "Certificate of Merit," an official statement of the award from the publication, are: LeVieve Obert, Wilma Jean Steadman, Romaline Hall, A. Louise Johnson, William Frazier, Harold Graham, Marybelle Herrick, Clea Johnson, Betty Gross, Carol Carr, Barbara Buckley, and Katherine Bartoo.

Inclusion in this periodical is generally recognized as an outstanding honor for college students. Selection is based on service to the school, leadership, extra-curricular activities, scholastic achievements, character, and potential usefulness to society.

Selection of students for inclusion in the collegiate who's who was made by a faculty committee appointed by Dr. Van Houten. The quota for each school is restricted to 11% of the total number in the junior and senior classes.

News Briefs

Last week many expressions of sympathy were extended to Miss Ruttle, who was injured on Tuesday morning while giving tennis instruction in the gymnasium. Since the injury makes it necessary for her to wear a cast on her leg, she is at present confined to her home.

As announced by President Van Houten, quarterly fees must be paid during the week of November 10. These include contingent, student activity, and housing fees. Failure to pay fees on time means a penalty of one dollar per day, up to five dollars, and suspension from classes. Friday, November 14, is the deadline for payment without penalty.

Miss Skinner will be one of the judges at an exhibition staged by the Monessen Art Association, Monessen, Pa., this Friday. On the evening of the same day she will be the featured speaker at the Jury Dinner, at which the judges will give the reasons for their selections.

A dancing class is being conducted for college students each Tuesday evening in the high school gym by Mrs. Wayne Brawley. Mrs. Brawley, proprietress of a dance studio in Titusville, also ran a very successful class here last year.

Dr. Harold Ghering, the college physician, is currently busy with the bi-annual physical examinations of students in the Training School.

Mike Evanoff has been appointed a substitute teacher in the Bloomfield Township School, Crawford County. Having to meet the requirements of student teachers at the Training School, Mike will continue his status as a student teacher. Miss Whitney will visit the Bloomfield school once a week in order to observe his teaching.

IMPORTANT CORRECTIONS

Dr. Van Houten has requested that The Spectator emphasize the correction of three typographical errors which appear in the College Calendar in the 1947-48 catalogue.

The 11th, 12th, and 15th items of the calendar on page 3 of the catalogue should read as follows, respectively:

Christmas recess ends at noon, Monday, January 5.
First semester ends after last class, Monday, January 19.
Quarter payments due, Wednesday, March 24.

Assignees Succeed At State College

Dr. Van Houten has received word from Penn State that out of 16 different institutions which sent Assignees to State College this year, Edinboro ranked third in the recent English check-up tests.

The school which ranked first had 133 students, of whom 6.7% failed. The school ranking second had 149 students, of whom 7.2% failed. Edinboro had 200 students, the greatest number of Assignees at any of the cooperating institutions; 9.5% of these did not make the grade. Of the students from the lowest-ranking institution, 55.5% must take a refresher course in English, the penalty for failing to pass the check-up test.

Dr. Van Houten, expressing his pleasure at the results, stated, "Considering the number of schools involved and the fact that we had more Penn State students than any of the other schools, I think we made a very fine showing. The results show that English work here is very good."

Forum Club Elects Officers For Year

The Forum Club, at its meeting in the Auditorium on Monday night, elected officers as follows: president, John Oliphant; vice-president, Ray Goodwill; secretary, Betty Gross; assistant secretary, Anna Johnson. Thirty-six members attended the session, which was competing against play rehearsal and an Erie symphony concert, plus the weather man.

Last Monday night's meeting, at which John Oliphant presided, was devoted to a consideration of the question, "The United States, Russia, and the Peace." Members of the social studies department, advisors of the club, expressed their gratification at the almost unanimous participation of the members, who showed intense interest in this current issue.

Fred Sammons will be the discussion chairman for the next meeting, to be held on the evening of December 1, at which time the group will discuss the problem of "German Rehabilitation and the Future of Western Europe." Five-minute speeches by Robert Turner, Ray Goodwill, and John Oliphant, on subjects related to the general topic, will be followed by group discussion.

Students To Give 'Penn'a Panorama'

Presenting historical highlights and industrial and cultural contributions of the state, "Pennsylvania Panorama," a pageant, will be given by a group of students in assembly, Friday morning, November 14th.

The production, which is being staged by George Freeland, was cooperatively written by a student-faculty group. All of the twenty-eight students who did research and writing will either speak or play pageant roles in the program. The narrator will be Robert Wallace.

Phases of Pennsylvania's history will be presented by George Wall, David Jones, James Shaffer, Ann Markham, Andrew Paykos, Robert Rohde, Patricia Hamilton, and Lois Scofield.

Contributions in industry will be discussed by Anthony Stemberger and William Norcross. Pennsylvania's scientific leaders will be presented by Felix Matuszewski, Arthur Jarvis, Leroy Peck, Marian Eades, and Virginia Hall. Cultural contributions are being considered in three fields: music, William Buchanan; literature, Louise Johnson; art, Lois Rhea Masters and Lois Allen Sittler.

A part of "Pennsylvania Panorama" will be devoted to outstanding women of the state. Narrator for this part of the program will be Charlotte DeLay, while the pageant of women will include Helene O'Day, Phyllis Dunton, Betty Gross, Mary Jane Rozelle, and Kathryn Magoon.

Music by Pennsylvania composers will be used throughout the program. The organist, Edwin Stewart, will play "At Dawning," by Cadman, and other compositions. Howard Kreitz will sing a baritone solo, "Deep River," by Burleigh. A quartette consisting of Lee Davis, William Buchanan, John Offner, and John Staudt will sing "Oh, Suzanna," by Foster. Closing the program will be the Fred Waring arrangement of "Battle Hymn of the Republic," sung by the seventy voices of the college choir.

Members of the faculty serving on the committee include Mr. Griffin, chairman, Dr. Offner, Mr. Neel, Miss McDonnell, Mrs. Miller, Dr. Hendricks, Mr. Mallory, Miss Skinner, Mr. Wozniak, Mrs. Campbell, Miss Ludgate, and Mr. McNeas. Miss McDonnell is serving as coordinator of the entire program.

Originally planned for Pennsylvania Week, October 13-20, the panorama had to be postponed because of previous commitments.

Yearbook Pictures Taken This Week

Individual pictures of seniors, juniors, faculty members, members of the Alpha Delta Sorority and of the two fraternities will be taken for the yearbook today, tomorrow, and on Friday of this week, according to an announcement by Marie Hall, newly elected editor of The Conneautian.

Dates for group pictures of the various organizations on campus will be announced at a future time. The Joslyn Studio of Albion will do all of the work on individual and group pictures. Campus shots will be taken by the Camera Club and Dr. LaFollette.

Changes In Library Taken In Stride

"Business as usual" has been the recent motto of the college library, in spite of the numerous changes and improvements that are being undertaken.

One important improvement is the installation of the new Library Bureau steel racks to replace the wooden ones that have held the books the past fifteen years. The new racks will increase the capacity of the library by 25%. The installation of complete fluorescent lighting has been finished. A new, modern charging desk has arrived and will be placed as soon as the stacks are completely installed.

The collection of art books now found in Loveland Hall will be transferred to the main library, since the trend has been, in the last ten years, to do away with departmental libraries in colleges. Also, a consignment of art books has been received, and the art staff will select a number of books for the art section. Since the opening of school, about 700 new books have been added to the library. Recently, five new Webster's unabridged dictionaries were acquired.

Miss Forness stated that without the cooperation of the student librarians the changes could not have been accomplished without closing the library.

MOVIE TO BENEFIT JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM

The Junior Class will sponsor a movie next Tuesday, November 11, through the cooperation of the management of the Best Theater. Proceeds of the affair will be for the benefit of the annual Junior-Senior Prom, to be held in the spring.

The featured film will be "Yolandita and the Thief," a musical comedy starring Fred Astaire, Lucille Bremer, and Frank Morgan. The first show will begin at 7:00 p. m. and the second at 9:00 p. m. Admission will be forty cents. Tickets may be purchased from members of the class.

Sheehan, and Jerry Reynolds. Dorothy Peplinski, the business manager, has not yet chosen a staff. The art editors are Druth McClure and John Plucinski. Mr. Boak and Dr. Butterfield are the literary and business advisors, respectively.

Wrestler Here On Nov. 12; Investigator To Speak

The assembly programs for the next two Wednesdays will feature Mr. Bertrand Shurtleff, a lecturing wrestler, and Mr. Thomas O'Connell, Senior Investigator for the Senate War Investigations Committee (formerly the Truman Committee).

On November 12, Mr. Shurtleff will present an illustrated lecture on the various techniques in wrestling. With the help of members of the audience, he will demonstrate the various holds and escapes used in the grappling art. He will answer questions pertaining to the honesty of wrestling today and the element of showmanship which has become part and parcel of the sport.

For the November 19th program, Mr. O'Connell will deliver an address on the evils of graft in the federal political system. He is well fitted to lecture on his subject, having served on the Senate War Investigations Committee as Senior Investigator when the famous May-Garsson graft case broke. He has spent thirteen years in Congressional investigation work.

Mr. O'Connell is a graduate of the Georgetown University School of Foreign Service, the oldest training ground for a career in the State Department. During World War II he served as Resident Cost Inspector for the Navy.

Erie Teachers To Hear Dr. Van Houten

Dr. L. H. Van Houten, president of E. S. T. C., has been invited to speak at a meeting of the public school teachers of Erie on November 13. To be held in the auditorium of Academy High School, at 2:30 p. m., the meeting is one in a current series of in-service conferences.

Dr. Van Houten, the principal speaker, will have "Recruitment for the Teaching Profession" as his topic.

Leads For Comedy Chosen By 'Players'

The Dramatics Club has completed the casting for "The Great Big Doorstep," its initial production of the year, to be presented on the evenings of November 19 and 20. The play will be under the direction of Miss Ludgate, assisted by student directors Therese Malinowski and George Freeland.

Leading roles in the three-act comedy will be filled by Jeanne Tyson, Edwin Kwiatkowski, Dolly Johnson, Joan Finnyfrock, Jeanne Simoni, Roberta Rohr, and George Gall. Others in the cast include John Patterson, Tom Tyson, Marilyn Swanson, Louis Cicchini, and Patricia Hamilton.

The set for the play was designed by David Jones, a freshman art student. Art Jarvis and Boyd King are directing the construction of the set.

On Our Blindness

The masthead of a college newspaper, an example of which appears above, probably receives less notice than any other part of the paper, except the editorial columns. Yet that neglected masthead is almost the only indicator of the time and effort contributed by the various individuals who are instrumental in publishing the paper.

It is an unsatisfactory indicator, however, since it fails to differentiate between those persons whose efforts are wholehearted and those who do just enough to get by; but it is more recognition than many individuals and groups about the campus receive. How many students appreciate the anonymous toil of the stagehands, without whom dramatic productions would be virtually impossible? How many of us sympathize with the problems of the yearbook staff? How many of us ever think of the contributions of the band, the organist, or the cheerleaders?

These people deserve some credit for effort. They give their best, which, seemingly all too few Edinboro students are willing to do. Many talented students are reluctant to participate in activities which do not appear on the revered "A" card. As a result, a few carry the entire burden. For their service they receive little reward other than the inner satisfaction which seldom comes to those "who only stand and wait."

Harebrained

This is the time of year when thousands of college girls write English compositions reviling the cruel, inhuman hunter and pitying the poor, innocent, fluffy little bunny. The girls' sympathy for that defenseless rodent is misdirected, for consider the plight of the poor hunter.

He invests a small fortune in a shotgun. He spends hours tracking down shells, which are so expensive the poor guy wonders if lead isn't the basis of our monetary system. A month's wages go for hunting clothes: a fur-lined cap that has a strange affinity for low-hanging tree limbs; a rainproof coat that gets water-soaked from the first dew and never dries out; a pair of pants too tight in the wrong places and with an uncomfortable leather seat; boots guaranteed to keep heat out and the cold in; and a knife which he will use primarily to cut himself loose from barb-wire fences.

Consider now the life of the carefree rabbit. As long as farmers plant vegetable gardens, the high cost of living bothers him not. He lives with relatives only by choice. Eleven months of the year he spends gleefully dreaming up evasive maneuvers and new stunts with which to harass the poor nimrod during their annual, month-long game of hide-and-seek. Brer Rabbit risks little, since his only danger is that he might "drop dead" — right in front of the frustrated shotgun wielder.

Redirect your sympathy girls. It's the bedeviled hunter who needs your support, not that frisky, pesty rabbit.

Since the men have had the opportunity to voice their opinions about the dernier ressort (last resort) of the dress designers in going back to the longer skirt-lengths once again, the women now wish to present the feminine point of view, and thus get the last word — as usual.

Druth McClure: The flowing Greek gown is often cited as being the most perfect dress form, and the long skirts approach that; so I like 'em.

Maggie Funk: On some people they look good, and on others they don't. It all depends on the people. — Just so hobble skirts don't come in.

Mary Jo McCoy: I like them slightly below the knee to cover the kneecap — but halfway to the ankles — No!

Terry Jackovic: I think they are very smart looking. That's about all I can say.

Peggy Wells: I think they are nice, really. That is, if they are not too long. They are uncomfortable, though.

Norma Hamel: I think they have style to them. I just like them real well.

Pat Hamilton: Whether it's up or down, it's still fashion! I love 'em.

Ruth Campbell: The girls who wear them look like they are Hallowe'ening. I don't like them at all.

Mrs. Miller: Personally, I like them. Women like changes. Certainly the longer length is going to be more flattering to more people than were the very short lengths.

Pat Kready: I think it depends on the way you are built.

Joan Seyboldt: I think they are nice, and I like them very much. A girl has more feminine appearance and looks softer. I hope they stay, too.

Evelyn Crawford: I don't like them; they are just too long.

Chris Dice: I think they are all reet — especially for the Edinboro winters.

Vinnie Petruso: I've had too many fights with fellows about skirts!

June Hancock: They're horrid. They make the girls look sloppy and old fashioned.

Marylalice Armagost: I think

Phyl Kinsley: I don't like 'em myself. I don't know why. It doesn't bother me a bit what the other kids wear.

Joan Hoshauer: A little bit longer is all right — but it seems they are getting so-o-o long. We will be grandmas soon enough.

Twila McCall: They are kinda nice, but I think they have their place. I don't particularly like them in classes. I think they should be worn with stockings and dress shoes.

Mary Lou Sisk: I like them. They make girls look more feminine.

Evelyn White: I like them a little longer, but not to extremes.

Bonnett Tells Of Music Experiences

One of the unsung heroes of Edinboro State Teachers College is Dick Bonnett, who as student director of the Band has devoted much of his time and effort toward making the organization a success.

Dick, whose specialty is the clarinet, played six years with the Oil City High School band. He received private instruction in the art of directing and was student director of the band in his senior year. He also played four years with the Oil City American Legion Band, which, under the direction of Mr. Harland Mitchell, was for three years national champion in American Legion band contests.

While stationed with the U. S. Army in Tokyo, Dick played for about six months with a small orchestra which performed in variety shows entertaining the G. I.'s. In Tokyo he met and talked with the famed march composer, Edwin Franko Goldman, who is a person-

Wright, 'Big Bug' Of ScaRab Club

The ScaRab Club, long an Edinboro institution, has been reorganized under the direction of Mr. Bates, faculty advisor, and has elected the following officers: Big Bug, John Wright; Little Bug, Frank Bedogne; Scratch Bug, Betty McConnell; Egg Bug, Jim Crawford.

The present membership of the club is about sixty; but inasmuch as all who are interested in art have been extended an invitation to join, it is expected that the membership will increase. The group has been meeting in Loveland Hall on the second and fourth Monday of every month at 7:30 P. M. Sketching live models has been the chief activity, with Jean Snell and Ralph Keller doing the posing.

The group plans a grand ball for February 14 in the tradition which once drew visitors from as far away as Buffalo and Cleveland. The theme for the dance has not been decided as yet, but a Persian setting has been suggested.

al acquaintance of Mr. Mitchell. Dick says he was surprised to see Mr. Goldman conduct without music, but afterwards he discovered that Goldman himself had composed much of the music. After the performance Mr. Goldman explained how he had come to write his march, "On the Mall."

On Christmas Eve, 1945, Dick attended the performance of Handel's "Messiah," given by a Japanese symphony orchestra and chorus, with a few American soldiers participating. Dick reports that the performance of the "Messiah" was very good and entirely indistinguishable from American or European interpretations.

Although he is now working for a degree in secondary education, Dick hopes, eventually, to branch out into the teaching of music.

Many '47 Grads Teaching Nearby

Twenty-nine members of last year's senior class are now teaching in the schools of Pennsylvania, while two others hold teaching positions in New Jersey and Ohio.

Those currently teaching elementary grades are: Martha Bartoo, at Warren; Yvonne Davis, Erie; Idabelle Gordon, Corry; Jean Herspenger, Erie; Helen Pushchak, Greene Twp., Erie Co.; Margaret Stormer, Oil City; and Diane Leshok, Luthersburg, Pa.

Nick DeSimone teaches junior high school in Pierpont, Ohio.

Many In Area High Schools

Those teaching in the secondary schools are: Carol Brown, French and English, at Ludlow; Elizabeth Deeter, mathematics, Clintonville; William Dove, biological science, Ludlow; Phyllis Fogle, mathematics, Cranberry Twp., Oil City; Peter Gall, Spartansburg; Howard Griffin, science, Bradford; Ronald McCoy, science, West Mid-creek; Margaret Daly Mitchell, Titusville; Dora Noxon, mathematics, Jamestown; James Parker, social studies, Edinboro; David Phillips, social studies, Genesee, N. Y.; Catherine Sablyak, Springboro; Jeanne Shrout, Bloomfield Twp., Crawford Co.; Alois Stankiewicz, science, Wesleyville; Earl Stubbe, Girard; Marshall Webb, social studies, Conneaut Lake; Joyce Weldon, science, Youngsville; Madeline Ledwick, English, Fairview; and Doris Stockton, Sugar Grove.

Those teaching art are: John Bonnett, Titusville; Chester Eisman, Albion; Marjorie Evans, Franklin; Dolores Sayre, Beaver Annette Henness, a private school in New Jersey.

Seven Do Graduate Work

Several other members of the class of 1946-47 are doing graduate work at various schools of the nation. James Bartoo is at the University of Iowa; Paul Gunn, George Kosanovic, and Harold Schlindwein are working for their masters degrees at California School of Art, Oakland, California. Emilie Hammermeister is at Slippery Rock S.T.C., doing special work in physical education; Frank Holowach is studying journalism at the University of Iowa; and Jeanne Ketcham is doing graduate work at Michigan State College.

A Y. W. C. A. meeting for both men and women will be held in Music Hall on Wednesday, November 12, at 7:30 P. M. The entertainment will consist of songs rendered by Stewart Smith, E. S. T. C. freshman.

ATTENTION! Mrs. Miller would like all persons who have lost scarfs, glasses, fountain pens, pencils, books, or jewelry to claim them by coming to her office or by calling for them at the reception desk in Haven Hall.

The Student-Faculty Council at its meeting of October 23 voted unanimously to reduce the activity fee for faculty members, faculty wives, and students' wives to five dollars for the year.

Campus Couple To Marry Next Sunday

The ranks of Edinboro's married students will be increased next Sunday, November 9, when Ben Knopp and Jeanadair Dunbar walk down the aisle of the First Baptist Church of Erie at 2:30 p. m.

Ben, a junior in secondary education, will have Joseph Simmons as best man, while Robert Bloom and Frank Baron will be ushers. Miss Donna Dunbar, sister of the bride, will be maid of honor; bridesmaids will be Miss Marjorie Evans, an Edinboro graduate, and Miss Jane Twitchell, an E. S. T. C. junior.

The newly-weds will live in a cottage at Lakeside while Ben continues his education. The bride, a member of last year's sophomore class, will resume her college work in January.

ESTC Cagers To Play 17 Games

A large group of basketball aspirants greeted Coach B. R. "Sox" Harrison at the initial Edinboro practice session. The Red Raider mentor has only four weeks to whip his squad into shape for the December 11 home opener against Fredonia.

Definitely short on the type of experience needed for college basketball, the Raiders have three lettermen — Bubbles Lloyd, John Peckham, and Al Babcock — as a nucleus for a squad which faces a difficult 17-game schedule.

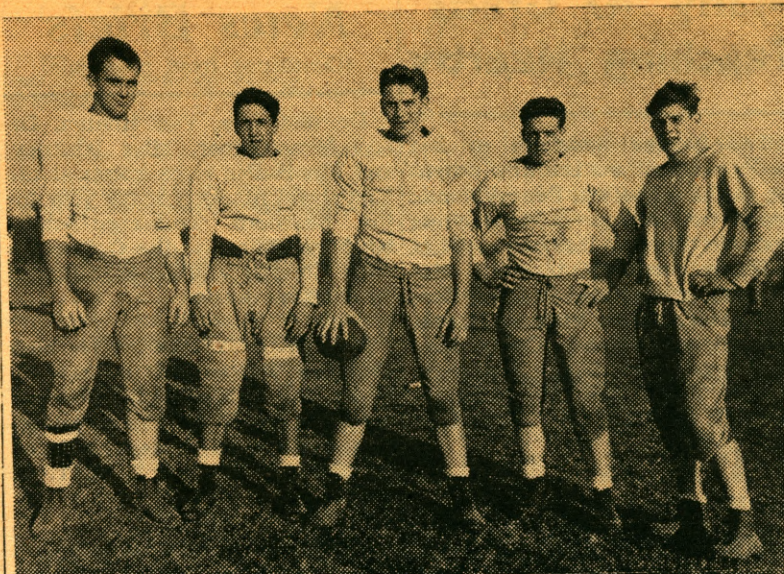

Freshmen will play a prominent role in the fortunes of the local team this year. Men who have already shown signs of developing into top-notch material are Jim Broadhead, of Bradford; Myron LaMont, of Sharpville; and Joe Scalise, of Warren.

Campbell Wins In WAA Tourney

In the advanced W. A. A. tennis tourney Shirley Campbell, a Penn State freshman from Blairsville, Pa., took the championship by defeating Betty Gross, 6-3, Betty was runner-up to Ruth Campbell last year and champion in 1945.

The freshmen and the sophomores battled to a scoreless tie in the first game of the inter-class hockey tournament last week. The freshmen bowed to the juniors, 2-1. Goals for the juniors were made by Clea Johnson and Barbara Wetherhold. The final game

"Hubbie" and "Pousta" Lucia's brother George visited them last week and during his stay worked out with Coach Sox Harrison's basketball squad. George showed a good brand of ball, which immediately caught the eye of the coach. The youngest of the Lucia boys was a member of last year's Camp Pendleton, California, championship club.

Small-game season depleted the forces of campus men considerably last Saturday, but duck hunting is our topic for today. Our first "duck" story comes from Mr. Mallory, who tells of killing two ducks on the wing with one shot. Apparently Mr. Mallory's shotgun works more efficiently on birds than on skunks... Mark Rutledge bagged the limit the second day of the season, although he's crying about the two that got away... Speaking of efficiency, Spike Walker bought his hunting license and duck stamp at five o'clock one afternoon and bagged a duck before sundown.

A recent edition of "The Rocket," student publication of Slippery Rock S. T. C., gave Bob Roessner and Tom Quirk of the Raider soccer team a pat on the back. The article commented on Goalie Roessner's many fine saves and Quirk's outstanding play at the centerforward position.

Upon the appeal of Tom Quirk and a group of pioneers, the sport was adopted last season, when two matches were booked, both of which were lost. This is the first season of play in which the sport has been given top ranking.

between the juniors and the sophomores will be played this week. The beginners' tennis tournament and the golf tournament are being held this week.

Promising Ducks Begin Practice

A wealth of good material has turned out for the team of Edinboro Ducks, according to Coach Art McComb, who is expecting a good season in the pools.

The following newcomers show the most promise in the group so far, according to Student Coach Art Warren: divers — Gene Latini, Al Damico, Bill Dittrich; sprint — Reno Anderson; backstroke — Harry Montgomery, Jim Swanson; distance — Ned Holdren; freestyle — Byron Masters, Lyle Snavley, George Freeland; breaststroke — Ed Sweeten, Jerry Sheehan, Bruce Bailey.

These new men, along with last year's veterans — Gene Myers, Art Warren, George Otto, and Fred Abbott — are preparing for the first meet, here on December 13 against Fenn College.

Raiders To Clash With Eagles At Erie Stadium In Night Fray

WAA Invited To Nat'l Tournament

The W. A. A. field-hockey team has been invited to participate in the Great Lakes Sectional Tournament, which will be held in Detroit next Saturday, to try out for the all-star sectional team, which will play an English team there on the 9th. The annual game between the American and English teams is one of the big national field-hockey events.

The following girls are scheduled to make the trip: Shirley Hazen, Katherine Bartoo, Barbara Buckley, Clea Johnson, Anna Johnson, Dorothy Johnson, Nancy Spraggon, Mary Jane Rozelle, Eunice Theobald, Donna Flower, Wilma Jeanne Fox, Jane Twichell, Bertha Hammermeister, Margaret Gilbody, Joan Hoshauer, and Druth McClure.

Next Wednesday the W. A. A. hockey players will play host to Allegheny College; and on the 19th, Lake Erie College will play here.

Quarterback Gun

Dan Chisholm, quarterback from Meadville, is expected to be Coach Art McComb's big gun behind the center when the Edinboro Red Raiders tangle with Alliance College tomorrow night in the Erie Stadium.

Smarting From 33-0 Defeat By Mansfield

The football charges of Coach Art McComb will invade the Erie Stadium tomorrow night for a renewal of their rivalry with Alliance College. Boasting a heavier team and a better record for the season, the Cambridge Springs club has been installed in the favorite's role.

The Red Raiders, somewhat battered by the 33-0 defeat at Mansfield last Saturday, have a tough assignment ahead of them if they hope to upset their local rivals. It is expected that Alliance will be handicapped somewhat by the loss of their triple-threat star, Don Asmonga, who was declared ineligible when it was discovered that he had signed a baseball contract with the Boston Red Sox. However, Carl Burd is expected to do an adequate job of filling the shoes of the versatile Asmonga.

The injury jinx, which has dogged the Crimson and White all season, will move either Jack Rodgers or Frank Sobieski into the starting halfback slot left vacant by the injury of Art DeGiovanni in the Slippery Rock Game.

The football team closes out the 1947 season a week from this Saturday, November 15, with a game at West Liberty.
