Special Assembly Program On March 1 To Feature Janet Bush Opera Quartet

by ROSS STEADMAN

At a special assembly program held during the third period on Monday, March 1, the renowned Janet Bush Opera Quartet will present scenes from two great operas: the garden and prison scenes from "Faust"; and the second act of "Sampson and Delilah."

Complete with costumes, sets, and the general decor of a fine opera performance, the Quartet brings to the concert stage the essentials of authentic opera. The Quartet is composed of Janet Bush, contralto, Irma Cooper, soprano, Gordon Hendricks, tenor, and Joe Florestano, baritone. In an attempt designed to give American audiences the widest possible appreciation of opera, the Quartet sings the English versions of these two classics.

Miss Bush Honored By Beecham

Miss Bush, who sings the role of Delilah in "Sampson and Delilah", brings to the concert stage not only one of the finest voices among American artists but a musical background matched by few singers. Climactic to a career which began at the age of seven and which has taken her before vast audiences in many of the leading musical centers of the nation, Miss Bush was recently honored by Sir Thomas Beecham, famed conductor of the London Symphony Orchestra, when he selected her to sing in Brahms' "Alto Rhapsody" with the Columbia Broadcasting Company Symphony Orchestra over a coast-to-coast network.

A brilliant soprano, whose voice has charmed thousands throughout her native mid-west, Miss Irma Cooper, who sings the role of Marguerite in "Faust," has a fine operatic background. Winner of the 1940 Chicagoland Music Festival, she has sung roles in such famous operas as "Il Trovatore," "Aida," "The Marriage of Figaro," and "The Bartered Bride."

Hendricks Tops In Mozart Roles

Gordon Hendricks, who plays the roles of Faust and Sampson, is a young artist of high and unusual promise. A graduate of the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago, the young tenor is at home in most of the great operatic classics, although he has made his mark singing roles in the Mozart operas.

MR. GRIFFIN TO ATTEND HARRISBURG MEETING

Mr. Griffin will attend a conference of the State Teachers College Faculty Association of Pennsylvania in Harrisburg this Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. Mr. Griffin is president of the local branch of the P. S. E. A.

News Briefs

Dr. Boyd W. Ghering, president of the General Alumni Association of E.S.T.C., authored an article in the February issue of the "Pennsylvania School Journal." In his article, Dr. Ghering traces the development of medicine in parallel with advances in education; in summation, he declares that medicine can develop today only in the same degrees that general education advances.

Mrs. Miller has built up a considerable stock of strayed, lost, and misplaced articles. Everything from a gold barrette to a pair of sun glasses has ended up in the office of the Dean of Women. Other articles accumulated include a cigarette case, two strings of pearls, two pairs of glasses, a Catholic medal, two pairs of mittens, one green mitten, a lady's belt, and two pairs of dress gloves. Handkerchiefs and other accessories are also in the collection.

The Junior Class, sponsors of the annual Junior-Senior Prom, have announced that the big event will be held on May 15 in the high school gymnasium. Dona Flower and Marjorie Campbell are co-chairmen of the dance committee.

The ScaRab Club holds a portrait painting class every Monday evening at 7:00 p. m. in Loveland Hall under the alternate supervision of Mr. Bruce and Mr. Bates.

Jim Schinneller became the proud pappy of an 8½ pound baby boy born in Erie on February 11. Mrs. Schinneller and baby James Arthur will be on campus in about two weeks.

The Northwestern District Choral Festival will be held in the Auditorium all day and during the evening of Saturday, March 13. Mr. O. L. Grender, director of music in the Erie schools, will conduct a concert by a chorus of 250 high school students.

Mr. J. H. Bier and Mr. E. W. Beatty, members of the faculty at the Slippery Rock S.T.C. training school, visited the Edinboro training school last week. Their comments on the teacher-training facilities here were highly complimentary.

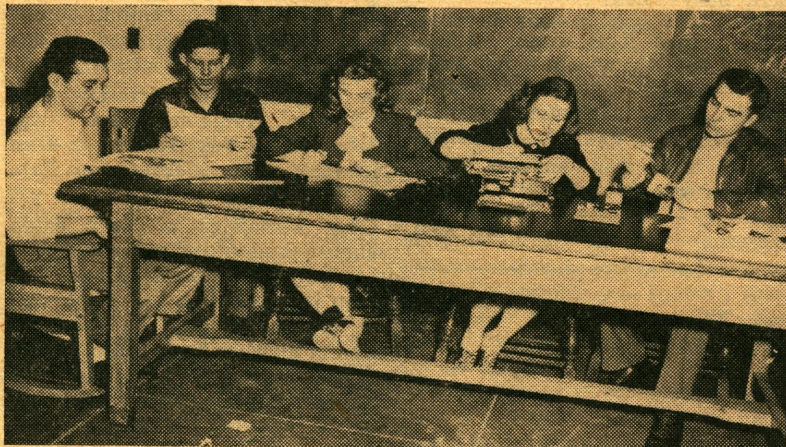

The Newman Club will hold a Communion breakfast at the Culbertson Hills Country Club on February 29. The guest speaker for the occasion will be a former Navy chaplain. Father O'Dwyer announced that at the next regular meeting of the group "Birth Control" will be the subject for the discussion.

The Art Library will be moved from its present location in Loveland Hall into the main library in the near future. Two shipments of imported art publications have been received. Included are several portfolios containing reprints of works by modern artists.

The Camera Club will elect new officers at its regular meeting tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 in N. H. 7. The group now has a bulletin board in Normal Hall on which will be exhibited pictures taken by members. The Club is still open to new members.

Due to an oversight, Robert Lindsay's name did not appear on the Dean's List published in The Spectator last issue.

Yearbook Staff Completing Write-Ups; Students To Receive Copies On May 16

"Y" Group To Elect Officers On Feb. 25

The Y.W.C.A. members will elect new officers at their bi-monthly meeting on the evening of February 25. The meeting will be in the form of a tea to be held in the Haven Hall parlors.

Nominations for the offices were held at the meeting of February 11: for president, Virginia Ransom and Mary Jane Rozelle; for vice-president, Betty Gross and Nancy Coates; for secretary, Katherine Kenny and Dorothy Edwards; for treasurer, Kathryn Magoon and Jean Follett; for music chairman, Florence Freeman and Marian Eades; for song leader, Winnie Kisthart and Ruth Campbell; for publicity, Betty Phillips, Carol Atwater, and Lorin McCartney; and for hostess, Jane Venman and Mary Alice Noxon.

Speaking before the nominations were made, Jane Venman described her experiences at Camp Minivanca (at Muskegon, Michigan), where she took a course in leadership training. She also spoke on the recent international conference of the Methodist Youth Fellowship, which she attended at Cleveland.

Kappa Delta Pledges Prepare For Worst

The Kappa Delta Phi fraternity held its semi-annual pledge party at the Hotel Campbell on Monday evening, February 9. Mr. Coffman, faculty adviser, spoke briefly; a few old-timers in the group, such as Joe Baird, Tom Brown, Tom Quirk, Al Lucia, and Nestor Bleach, also delivered a few well-chosen words.

New pledges for the organization are: Larry Daley, Clyde Daugherty, Louis Garde, Paul Grack, Robert Hoffecker, Gene Latini, John Latini, Harold Nelson, Tom Offerle, Peter Palombini, Gene Fletcher, Robert Rose-

Members of the yearbook staff, under the direction of Marie Hall, editor, and Mr. Boak, faculty adviser, are currently putting the finishing touches on the 1948 Conneauttean and expect to have the annual in the hands of the printer shortly. Delivery has been promised for distribution on May 18.

With all of the photography and background work completed, John Plucinski and Druth McClure worked out the page layouts. Barbara Buckley is helping Editor Hall in the final write-ups for the group and individual pictures.

This year the annual will be bound in a bright crimson padded-leather cover with white trimmings. It will contain: individual pictures of the senior and junior classes; individual pictures of the Alpha Delta sorority, the Kappa Delta fraternity, and the Phi Sig fraternity; group pictures of the sophomore and freshman classes; and group pictures of the various campus organizations. Highlighted will be the pictures of the popularity contest winners.

The 1948 Conneauttean will be dedicated to Miss Ketcham as a tribute to her long and faithful service to many classes of Edinboro students.

While much of the photographic work was done by a commercial company, Miss Hall expressed her appreciation for the unselfish contributions of Dr. LaFollette, of his photography class members, and of Bob Murray, Spectator photographer. The Ashby Printing Company of Erie will publish the annual; the engraving work is being done by the National Service Engraving Company of Erie.

Cost of publication will be met partially by a patrons' list. Since the annual is supported by the Student Activity Fund, each student is entitled to one copy.

quist, Jim Shaffer, Bill Vafeas, and Robert Vincich. Formal initiation for the pledges will be held on next Monday evening, after the completion of (censored) week.

Music Groups Add Many New Members

The musical organizations of the college have taken in several new members selected from the try-outs held recently. New accompanist for the ensemble is Dorothy Miller, although Warren Williams will be the piano soloist for the group when it goes to Bloomfield next Tuesday and to Franklin on March 22.

New members of the ensemble are Helga Aho, alto, and Don Breter, tenor. In the choir, new sopranos are Carol Atwater, Irene Cristea, Jeanadair Knopp, Martha Murdock, and Wilma Jean Steadman. New members of the alto section are Mary Lou Handley, Dorothy Miller, Arlouene Ongley, Joan Scofield, and Joanne Seyboldt. On the male side, three new tenors have been added: Don Breter, Ted Davenport, and John Stadnicar. New basses in the group are Nelson Bogue, Robert Brown, William Holdren, Herbert Hopkins, Bob Rosequist, Don Roush, and Walter Vilsmeier.

The choir elected officers for the second semester last week as follows: Bill Buchanan, president; Jean Webster, vice-president and social chairman; Marjorie Boney and Howard Kreitz, secretaries and attendance recorders; and Lee Davis, treasurer.

New music obtained by the choir for the spring concert includes: "One World," by Bratton; "Begin the Beguine," by Porter; "All the Things You Are," by Kern; "Open Our Eyes," by James; and "Too-Ra-Loo."

Students To Stage Musical Comedy

Edinboro will move into the big time on March 18, on which date three Edinboro students — Art Jarvis, Bob Wallace, and Jim Forndenbacher — will stage their own musical comedy. The production will be presented in the auditorium in the evening for the benefit of all who care to attend.

Jarvis is the enterprising author of the musical; Forndenbacher will head the music department; and Wallace will produce and direct the show. The latter has a double interest in the proceedings, since it will his project for Miss Ludgate's class in Play Production. Scotty King will design and build the sets.

Tryouts for roles will be held shortly. In the meantime, Producer Wallace will be happy to interview any future musical comedy stars.

Sorority To Hold Rush Party Monday

The Iota Chapter of the Alpha Delta Sorority will hold a Rush Party for selected Freshman girls on February 23. Hostesses for the event will be Wilma Jean Steadman, Anna Johnson, and Jeanne Kennedy.

Jane Patterson, social chairman of the sorority, is planning the party around a circus theme. Committees assisting her are: decorations, Dona Flower, Mary Alice Armagost, Barbara Buckley, and Jean Himrod; entertainment, Jane Venman, Wilma Fox, Marjorie Campbell, and Jeanne Simoni; refreshments, Marjorie Perkins, Roberta Rohrer, Eleanor Lane, and Virginia Rice; clean-up, Dorothy Davies, Nancy Spraggon, Dorothy Peplinsky, and Florence Weyrauch; and invitations, Lucille Bowen, Norma Lalley, Willma Bennett, and Jean Webster.

by SNOOP and SCOOP

For some of the idle tidbits which we've been able to gather from around the campus, read on, collegians, read on!

Two prominent E.S.T.C. gentlemen, Mr. Clare Newman and Mr. Archie Snavley, have given us fair warning that they are about to cease cheering at basketball games—unless they are allowed to see the girls' swimming meets.

A belated happy birthday wish to Bertha Hammermeister, who celebrated on Feb. 16, and to Don Czekanski, who celebrated on Feb. 12.

Dick Bannister, a Penn State assignee, had quite a surprise the other night. It seems Dick fell asleep in the movie, but awakened just in time to find he held the winning number for a radio. Dick's two companions, who held the numbers directly above and below the winning number, were John Mumma and Karl Bloom.

There was a sign on the bulletin board admonishing Havenites to "Watch out for Walter!"—but Janie Venman forgot. (Is her face red!)

Dr. Gatzky claims that you can't trust anybody; and, to illustrate his point, he cites the fact that a doctor always buries his mistakes.

Former Edinboro student Robert (Rube) Rinsel is now attending Salem College in West Virginia.

Four new additions to the girls' dormitory are: Helen Carlson, Titusville; Doris Gill, Pittsburgh; Patricia McCauley, Cannonsburg; and Madelyn Petruso, Meadville.

Question of the week: Why shouldn't a woman who runs a boarding house live at sea? Obvious answer: Because she's a land lady.

That certainly is a snappy yellow coupe that Bob Stoker drives around. Speaking of cars, Don Love of Erie is chauffeur to a great many Erieites when Saturday noon rolls around.

Messrs. "Lu" Richards, "Run-em" Gstalter, "Movies" Mustoe, and "Potatoes" (who thought that one up?) Gall are now hot and heavy on the trail of true (?) art by holding extra-curricular portrait-painting classes. Subject for the budding Michelangelos??? Bob Chavern, as he reclines on a bed and enjoys the hottest of Dixieland's best in platters. Any exhibits planned, fellows?

Dolores (Dee) Colaluca went home last week-end to attend a dance at Slippery Rock State Teachers College.

Mr. Doucette's freshman class in Elementary Industrial Arts has been making ingenious, paper grandfather clocks, pin-wheels, purses, houses, and other assorted children's playthings with a view to their future teaching profession. Wander over, take a look-see, and envision the time when your offspring will be doing "ditto" work!

Ed Sweeten, who boards at Cambridge, writes to a girl in far-off Australia. Rather far away for a Saturday night date, isn't it, Ed?

The ScaRab Club, which has now limited its membership to an interested thirty, is endeavoring to create some new work in an old field by instituting a five-or-six-week course in portraiture under the masters Bates and Bruce. George Holowach, a high school student, is the first "sitter."

The glass bubble made by Jeff Naylor in chemistry class a short time ago created quite a little disturbance.

The freshman commercial-art class has embarked on a stint into the industrial-design field, as witnessed by the modern articles depicted on their bulletin board. Drop in and see Reno Anderson's luscious, curvacious . . . ah . . . "chair." It's got any "chair" beat that our tired eyes have seen in a long spell.

Our pen is dry, our ink is gone, the time has come to say so long.

President Tells Of Career

by LOIS KARGER

Having been assigned to interview a V.I.P., this cub reporter was in a mighty uneasy state of mind while being ushered into the office of Dr. L. H. Van Houten, President of E. S. T. C., one afternoon last week. However, a genial smile and a friendly wave of the hand in the general direction of a comfortable chair soon put me at ease.

After I had stumbled through my reason for the visit, this not-so-difficult-to approach V. I. P. took over. During the course of the interesting and swift narration that followed, I frequently became so engrossed in the story that I found myself on the verge of forgetting to take notes.

I soon discovered that Dr. Van Houten came by his interest in education quite naturally, his grandfather having been a schoolmaster in Holland. Both his father and grandfather immigrated to the United States in 1850. In true pioneer fashion they followed the covered-wagon trail westward, finally settling on a homestead near Des Moines. Some 30 years later, his father moved to Bismarck, North Dakota, where Lyman Henry Van Houten was born in 1888.

Campus Leader At College

Eventually, the Van Houten family moved back to Iowa and settled in the Dutch community of Pella. Here the future educator grew up and attended Central College, from which he graduated in 1908. While an undergraduate, he was editor of the college paper, an officer of the state oratorical association, and a member of the debating team. He also played basketball and tennis. (He expressed a secret desire to stage a "come-back" on the Edinboro tennis courts some day.) Dr. Van Houten continued his education at the University of Iowa, where he obtained his Master's degree in 1913. In 1932 he earned his Doctor of Philosophy degree at Columbia University.

Army Captain In World War I

Between studying for his degrees, he held many responsible positions in the field of education. From 1914 to 1915 he was professor of rural education at Iowa State Teachers College. During World War I he achieved the rank of captain in the Psychological Service of the U. S. Army. Then, continuing his work in the field of psychology, he was employed for a time as Field Secretary by the United States Chamber of Commerce. After serving as professor of education at the University of Wyoming, Dr. Van Houten came to Edinboro in 1921, assuming the position of psychological examiner in charge of the college clinic and teaching various education courses. From 1921 until 1928 our president was director of the Erie Branch of E. S. T. C. After a one year's leave of absence to work on his doctorate, he returned to Edinboro in 1929, becoming President in 1940 upon the resignation of Dr. Ross.

As is the case of many executives, Dr. Van Houten attributes much of his success to the inspiration provided by his wife, the former Miss Blanche Henderson. The couple were married in 1916 at Toledo, Iowa, and have two daughters, Margaret and Olive. Margaret, proud mother of a six-month-old son, lives in Iowa City; Olive is doing graduate work in journalism at the University of Iowa. Both are Penn State graduates.

The Van Houtens enjoy living in Edinboro, with its proximity to some of the large Eastern cities and to the beautiful scenic areas of Pennsylvania; but, believing that there is no place like home, they leave Edinboro only occasionally, and then for only a few days. Dr. Van Houten's opinion of an ideal vacation is to disconnect his telephone and to spend his leisure time working in his garden or in reading his favorite mystery stories.

Dr. Van Houten's chief regret is that, owing to the enormously increased enrollment and the consequent increasing of his administrative duties, he can no longer know each student personally as was possible a few years ago.

Thought For The Day

The following item was noted in the February 13 issue of The Erie Dispatch Herald in the column labeled "Looking Back Twenty-Five Years Ago": "The flapper is not wanted at Edinboro Normal School, especially cigaret smokers. Miss Kunkle, dean of women, announced that any girl found smoking will be dismissed."

While morals have changed somewhat in the past quarter of a century, we understand that Mrs. Miller will not be lenient with any gal found puffing on an opium pipe. Personally we think that the Victorian Era had some taboos which would still be popular with most men and even with many of the so-called emancipated females.

Needed: Workers-Long Hours, No Pay

Viewed from a not wholly impartial viewpoint, it would appear that election to, or selection for, office in the various campus organizations entails a good deal more drudgery than honor. All too often those individuals who, presumably, are selected to plan and to direct an enterprise find themselves doing most of the detailed work as well.

The prevalent attitude about campus seems to be "let George do it," and George usually turns out to be the luckless student chosen to head the group. If George happens to be in more than one organization, he is very apt to be "honored" in the same manner in all of them. Thus a few individuals carry most of the burdens in nearly all of the college activities. Consequently, the few who are willing to be imposed upon cannot do a good job in one place without neglecting duties some place else. At the same time, many who need social experiences, who would benefit most by taking advantage of leadership opportunities, shirk the chance to help the whole group and to enrich their own experience.

Of course, a number of solutions could be advanced to insure a more equitable distribution of responsibility. For instance, every student could be compelled to participate in at least one extra-curricular activity, and a system of grades based upon participation could be set up. However, this would not be a democratic method of solving a knotty problem and is not in line with the basic philosophy of Dr. Van Houten as often expressed in Student-Faculty Council meetings.

By far the wiser answer would be for some of our slackers to turn to and do their share. After all, most of us are big boys now, except for those members of the student body who are big girls now.

Extracurricular Economics

Reams of newspaper copy have been written during the past couple of years about the high cost of living, but scarcely any space has been devoted to the effect of inflation upon knowledgeable college students.

That the post-war price trend has hit the embryo intellectuals can scarcely be denied. There was a time when odd clothes, a jaunty pipe, and an old flier were affected by collegians. Today the average ex-G. I. finds his khakis mighty useful; the pipe, jaunty or otherwise, is cheaper than over-taxed cigarettes; and the old flier sits in a used-car lot with a fancy price tag attached. Thus "affection" is now spelled "necessity."

The recent increase in the subsistence allowance will help the ex-G. I.'s, but we doubt that the parents of other students can afford to be so generous, especially since they are not facing a critical election next November. Apparently there is little relief in sight, either: Columbia University recently announced a further raise in its tuition to twenty dollars per point, which means that tuition will be at least six hundred dollars per year at that institution. Many educational institutions previously had tilted fees, so Columbia is not leading the increase trend.

We do not believe that any American college student will starve in a garret room. However, it can be readily seen that the ancient gag about the (borrowed) car's running out of gas on a lonely country road may not be such an old chestnut after all.

E-Club To Present Awards To Members

Sam Nan, recently installed president of the E-Club, has announced that gold footballs will be awarded to four graduating lettermen: Sam Salchak, Mike Evanoff, John Bleech, and Jack Millward.

He also announced the names of fourteen new members of the E-Club, all of whom earned a letter in a major varsity sport this year: Ernie Andrico, Pete Chiesa, Ed Van Sickle, Hank LaTempa, Dave Thomas, Jim Bowers, Walt Gratson, John Walters, Ed Sarachine, Mel Henderson, Bob Rosequist, Pete Palombini, Spro Factor, John Latini, Frank Sobieski, Jack Rogers, Si Krizmanich, and Ange Juliano.

Plans for the annual E-Club minstrel show on March 19 are still in the preliminary stages. The group has voted a portion of the profits realized from the show as a benefit to Jack Bills, former E.S.T.C. football player, injured in the Salem game last Fall. Jack was forced to leave school because of the injury, but he will return to the campus next year.

How To Be Popular With Girls In Ten Easy Lessons

by FLORENCE FREEMAN

Lesson VII. If you happen to see another girl, leave your date and go with her.

Lesson I. When asking a girl for a date, never call her up until THE day. Better yet, don't call her up at all, just go over. She'll be delighted to see you, especially if she is looking her best (you know, hair in curlers and cream dabbed in gobs on her face.)

Lesson II. If you tell her you'll be over at 7:30, never, never arrive before 8:15! She might think you were anxious to see her.

Lesson III. When you get there, don't ring the bell — just walk right in. After all, her landlady will want you to make yourself at home. Therefore, you mustn't forget to put your feet on the new coffee table, and ask her what she has to eat. The man of the house will be pleased if you take time to discuss your heart affairs with him. (He was bored with the evening paper anyhow; he'd already read the headlines.) And little Junior will love you if you playfully trip him whenever he happens to come near you, and call him a nice name, such as fish-face or soup-head.

Lesson IV. Never talk to your date except about yourself. Or better yet, whenever she asks you a question, just grunt. She probably adores the strong, silent type.

Lesson V. We hope you have a nice, old jalopy which never starts unless it is pushed. In this case, the girl does the pushing, of course.

Lesson VI. If you go to a movie, take along your bubble gum and make lots of noise so everyone will know you are there, and can see whom you are with. (If they can't quite make out who she is, you could take along a flashlight and flash it on her at frequent intervals. She'll be delighted to see that you are so considerate of other people.)

Lesson VIII. After the show, when you're eating a sundae, make sure you get it all over your face (and spill some on the table, too. It wasn't meant to be eaten anyway.) This will arouse the mother instinct in her and she will realize that you are just a sweet little boy who needs someone to care for him.

Lesson IX. Always ask your date for a kiss. If she says "Yes," tell her you decided you didn't want one. If she says "No," kiss her. I hope you remembered not to shave. After all, you want her to remember your kiss, don't you? She will, brother, she will!

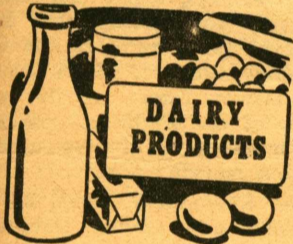

Lesson X. Remember to leave her at the street corner and make her walk home alone. Then you won't be blamed for bringing her home late.

Sport Slants

by JEEP REYNOLDS

An interesting occurrence was noted in the Edinboro-Buffalo swimming meet at Buffalo recently. "Rocky" Mittica, who swam the last leg of the 880-yard relay, was two laps behind when he took his turn in the tank and still was two laps in the rear when the Buffalo swimmer finished. Since the Raider swimmers finish every race they start, Rocky took his last two laps leisurely and was very surprised to find that Edinboro was announced as winner of the relay. One of the Buffalo swimmers had made a bad turn and was disqualified.

Jack Lees, heavyweight wrestler, who pinned his man in the Clarion meet with no trouble after only a little over one minute had elapsed in the event, was unable to wrestle in the Bowling Green meet Saturday because of a bad shoulder. Linc Van Sickle took over and, although he lost the match on a pin, made a fine showing.

Those fans who watched the Fenn swimming opener at Edinboro a few weeks back will be interested to know that Bob Busby, who broke two Edinboro pool records in pacing the Fenn fish, defeated Dick Weinberg of Michigan, the national collegiate 50-yard and 100-yard freestyle champion, in an exhibition at the Cleveland Club pool recently.

Red Raider Five Tops Fredonia 51-49

The Red Raider cagers made a comeback, after dropping successive games to California (71-53), Clarion (60-56), and Alliance (37-36), to defeat the Fredonia Teachers (51-49), Saturday night on the up-staters' court. The win brought the Raider win-loss record to 4-6.

Joe Scalise tallied 16 points to lead scoring in the game, which saw the Fredonia team almost close a six-point third-quarter deficit to pull within two points of the Raiders before the final whistle. The Raiders also led 16-12 at the end of the initial period and 31-26 at half time.

Art Lloyd and Myron LaMont also contributed much to the Raider scoring end, Lloyd accounting for 13 counters and LaMont 12.

The game with the Buffalo Teachers, scheduled for last Friday night, was postponed because of the bad traveling conditions.

Phis, Delts To Break Deadlock Tomorrow

Tomorrow the Phis and Delts will take to the pool for the rubber game in girls' intramural swimming. In the previous meets, the Delts won the first match by the close margin of one point, and the Phis won the second match, 36-12. Since this was the first swimming triumph for the Phis in about three years, they will be striving to clinch the title tomorrow. The Delts, counting heavily upon the return of their leader, Marilyn Patton, who did not swim in the last meet, will be out to avenge their defeat.

The meet will consist of synchronized form-swimming, racing, and novelty events. The first meet featured a Robert Dudley relay, in which the contestants had to race without splashing the flowery hats which they were wearing. The 20-yard freestyle will be a hotly contested race, mainly between the Phi leader, Mary Lou Reader, and the Delt leader, Marilyn Patton.

The Phis were victorious over the Delts, 14-8, in a recent basketball game. J. Simoni and L. Scofield made 4 points each for the Delts, while the Phi scoring was done by B. Hammermeister, 6 points; D. Lavoie, 4 points; and J. Whittaker and A. Ongley, 1 point each.

Intra-Murals Get Into Full Swing Tonight As Top Squads Vie For Leadership

by FRED HOLLY

Edinboro's intramural basketball program has swung into high gear, with great interest being shown in the title races. With games slated every Monday and Wednesday evening at Crawford Gym, the sixteen teams will battle for the divisional leads until the early part of March. Playoffs will be held soon thereafter.

Teams in the first division include the Dribbling Dutchmen, Studs, Doe-Doe Birds, Nittany Lions, Sad Sacks, Left-Overs, Penn Points, and Clippers. The Clippers and Penn Points are now leading the pack. The Clips have outstanding players in Don Roush, Bob Busch, and Bob Morton. Joe Feist, Fred Vlasek, and Bill Osterlander are the pace-setters of the Penn Point aggregation.

The Dribbling Dutchmen and Studs appear to have strong squads which could move higher in the standings at any time. The Dutchmen boast fine men in Bob Groff and John Stoudt, while the Studs can't be overlooked with such boys as Whitey Swanson and Dick Mazzetti around.

The other teams, although not having enviable records, can still provide a great deal of trouble. The Sad Sacks are led by Bob Halvorsen, Reggie Rusnock, and Don Thomas. Spro Factor, George Stewart, and Bill Kellner make the Nittany Lions a potential threat, and the Doe-Doe Birds have fellows like Tom Come, Rod Ingleright, and Pete Bliss to provide competition. The eighth team, the Left-Overs, was formed when another team dropped out and has not had much chance to show anything yet.

An early season natural is slated for tonight when the Points and Clips tangle at 7:00 p.m. Other games show the Dutchmen opposing the Sad Sacks, the Nittany Lions playing the Left-Overs, and the Studs going against the Doe-Does. In the second division, the Kappa Delts will meet the Hawks and the Fighting Irish will oppose the Chestnut Street Manor combine.

Other teams in the second division are Ali-Brads, Shamokins, Phi Sigs, and Snyder's Nite-Crawlers. The latter, led by George Byham, Jack Rogers, and Bob Hoffecker, is running a close race with the Ali-Brads, which has Camillo Bonomi, Bob Vincich, and Tony Nicastro performing in the lineup. Dick Bonnett, Chuck Junker, and Dewey Davis are the spark plugs of the Fighting Irish five, which is trailing the leaders by a narrow margin.

The Shamokins, paced by Jim Bowers, and Clyde Daugherty and the Chestnut Manor, with players such as Jim Crawford, John Palmer, and Hal Sargeant are capable of upsetting the leader at any time. The lower-draw teams cannot be disregarded either, what with players like George Jinar and Ange Juliano on the Kappa Delts, Linc Van Sickle and Barney Edwards on the Hawks and Joe La Slavic and Walter Kososki on the Phi Sigs.

Edinboro Grapplers Top Ohioans

The Red Raiders wrestlers, after losing their first two matches to Waynesburg and Lock Haven, retaliated by defeating the Clarion groaners, 31-3, a week ago and by edging out a rugged Bowling Green team 18-13 last Saturday. The Raider victory against Clarion was the most decisive victory ever won by an Edinboro squad.

In Saturday's event, Jack Weixel, 128-pound combatant, pinned his man in two minutes flat for five of the Raider points. Bill Santel pinned his opponent from Ohio in 4:23 in the 145-pound class. Decisions were won by John Walker in the 121-pound class and by John Walters in the 165-pound division. Bob Malarky drew a tie decision for two Raider counters.

The Raiders captured every event except the 175-pound affair in the Clarion meet. Lignelli decided Spike Karznia in that weight class. Five of the Edinboro wins were of the pinning variety in that match, however. In the 121-pound class, John Walker pinned Hiebling in 4:30; Joe La-Slavic pinned Coon in two minutes in the 145-pound event; Bill Santel, 155 pounds, pinned Asipov in 2:34; John Walters pinned Pecora, 165 pounds, in 2:03; and Heavyweight John Lees pinned Serene in 1:05.

Jack Weixel, Edinboro 128-pounder, decisioned Larimer and Bob Malarky decisioned Voerbosky in the 136-pound event for the other Raider victories.
