Ballots Fly In Close Contest

Alumni To Return On October 23rd

Under the sponsorship of a joint student - faculty committee, appointed by Dr. Van Houten and headed by Miss Baron, elaborate plans are being made for a gala Homecoming Day on October 23.

Plans include an alumni-versus-W.A.A. hockey game in the forenoon; a gigantic all-college parade uptown in the early afternoon; an Edinboro-versus-Thiel grid contest, plus stunts and a Phi-Sig mock football game during half-time; an Open House for alumni after the game, plus a picnic supper at Mrs. Campbell's for former music students; and, finally, the E-Club Ball, to top off the festivities.

The next edition of The Spectator will carry full details of what promises to be a BIG day on the college calendar.

News Briefs

Editor Marian Eades reports that the yearbook is well under way. Many pictures have already been taken, and arrangements and schedules for taking senior and junior portraits and group pictures will be announced later. Others on "The Conneauttean" staff are: Business Manager, Bob Wallace; Photography Editor, Bob Murray; Literary Editor, Dorothy Edwards; and Art Editor, Frank Bedogne.

Two seniors, Wilma Jeanne Fox and Josiah Baird, recently announced their engagement. They plan a summer wedding and a trip to California, where Wilma hopes to teach in an elementary school and where Jo will work on his M. A. degree.

According to statistics released by Miss Beattie there are 680 people eating in the college dining room, 653 of whom are students. Last week 11,500 meals were served. The new double line has increased the rate of serving to 18 to 20 persons a minute, depending on the menu.

Betty Phillips and Allen Lake were married May 29, 1948, at Sugar Grove, Pa.

Kappa Delta Phi Fraternity is sponsoring an informal dance on Saturday, October 16.

This semester's Haven Hall Council is comprised of: President, Jane Twichell; Vice President, Wilma Bennett; Secretary, Margaret Gilbody; Treasurer, Jean Allen; Social Chairman, Jane Venman; Fire Captain, Christine Dice; Representative to Student Council, Ann Markham.

The Daily Collegian, Penn State publication, was sent to The Spectator staff by Eloise Powers. Eloise was on the newspaper staff last year and is now attending Penn State.

Mr. Griffin, president of the college faculty association at Edinboro, attended a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Association of State Teachers College Faculties at Harrisburg on Monday and Tuesday of last week.

WANTED: BAND-AIDES

Edinboro's student band is looking forward to an effective year, not only through football season but also during basketball season and in the spring. This aggregation of enterprising amateur musicians rehearses each Wednesday evening from seven to nine in the auditorium.

All members of the student body who are "tooters", whether "good" or just "nice and loud", are invited to come out, bring their horns, and blow for dear old Edinboro.

Office Releases Dean's List Data

Fifty-two Edinboro students achieved the coveted scholastic honor of earning a place on the Dean's List for the spring semester of '48. This information was released from the Dean of Instruction's Office. An average of at least a "B" must be maintained in order to qualify for the honor.

A straight "A" average was maintained by two persons: Donald Bedo and Anthony Stemberger.

Also on the list of scholastic leaders were Ralph Bannister, Margaret Bathurst, Robert Brown, Barbara Buckley, Peter Chiesa, Dewey Davis, Gloria Dennis, Anthony Dinardo, Robert Fast, Margaret Gilbody, Harold Graham, John Greenawalt, Robert Groff, Betty Gross, Paul Haley, Romaline Hall, Allan Heffler, Joan Hoshauer, Donald Hostettler and A. Louise Johnson.

Also Clea Johnson, Ralph Keller, Eleanor Lane, Robert Lindsay, Mary Livingston Jamison, John McNeese, John Meszaros, Edna Morrison, John Mumma, William Norcross, LeVieve Obert, John Offner, John Oliphant, Meredith Orr, Leroy Peck, John Rodgers, Robert Roessner, Harriette Rubenstein, Lois Allen Sittler.

Others were John Skooglund, Carol Carr Spence, Ross Stead-

Forum Club To Hold "Presidential" Race

The organization meeting of the Forum Club, held on Monday, September 20, found many of the old participants present, along with many new members from the freshman class. The officers of the club, elected last spring, are Leroy Peck, president; Alan Babcock, vice president; Kathryn Magoon, secretary; and John Rodgers, treasurer. Mr. Peck welcomed the old members back and extended a cordial invitation to anyone who is interested in the discussion of current events.

The Forum Club is to present an assembly on Wednesday, October 27. At this assembly, representatives of the major political parties will discuss issues and personalities involved in the coming presidential election. Try-outs for the assembly presentations are being held today.

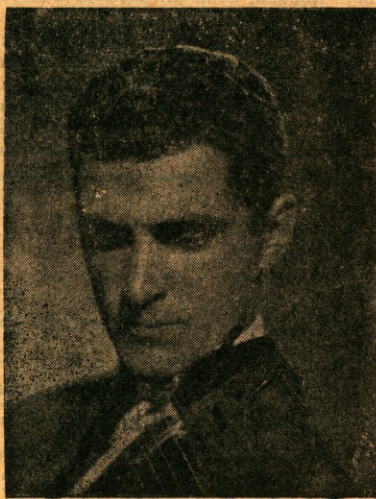

Wildlife Expert, Violinist, To Give Assembly Programs

Two outstanding assemblies are in store for Edinboro students. The first will be an illustrated lecture on Pennsylvania wild life by Bob Ford on October 13. The second will be a violin concert featuring Robert Rudie.

Bob Ford, wildlife lecturer and photographer, will present a program of color motion pictures, with a running dialogue. He has photographed various curious antics of wild life, showing that wild animals use a type of reasoning that is amazing. Featured on Mr. Ford's program are his imitations of the calls of the birds and animals shown on the screen.

Rudie, Town Hall Artist Robert Rudie, a young violin virtuoso, will be heard in the auditorium on October 20. Mr. Rudie has experience as concertmaster and assistant conductor in the Oklahoma Symphony and as a featured violinist in New York (Continued on page three)

Enrollment Hits Highest Peak

A record 805 students are registered at E. S. T. C., according to information received from the Dean of Instruction's Office.

This enrollment represents an increase of 42 students over last year's previous high of 763 students.

Approximately 56% of the student body is composed of freshmen, who number 454, a decrease of 52 from last year! Penn State assignees outnumber the Edinboro "frosh", 259-195.

This fall's sophomore enrollment of 161 eclipses last year's class by one. They constitute 19% of the college students.

The juniors have the smallest class on the campus. Only 90 registrants, an increase of 33 over last year, have signed up for fifth-semester studies.

The seniors compose 12% of the student body. There are 100 four-year students, as compared with 40 last year.

Robert Rudie, a young violin virtuoso, will be heard in the auditorium on October 20. Mr. Rudie has experience as concertmaster and assistant conductor in the Oklahoma Symphony and as a featured violinist in New York (Continued on page three)

Pettit Wins In Frosh Battle

ROESSNER, BEDOGNE, LATINI TO GUIDE UPPER CLASSES

Results of the highly publicized Freshman Class election have just been released by Howard Fleming and David McCloy, co-chairmen of the nominating committee. Al Pettit was high scorer in the heated presidential race, with Ronald Coleman, Gerald McCartney, and Dick Klingensmith providing top-flight competition.

Acting as co-vice-presidents will be Ronald Coleman and Gerald McCartney; Jean Portz defeated Evelyn Froess and Joan Welms in the scramble for secretarial honors. Marjorie Race won over Virginia Smith in the purse-strings division.

Outstanding performances were turned in by the candidates as well as by their managers. The ten-member nominating committee conducted the entire election in a professional manner. In addition to the co-chairmen, those serving on the committee were: Patricia Campbell, Sara Burns, Janet L. Wallace, Don Harrison, Charles Horne, Martin Benson, Richard Wilson, Hubert Vilsack.

Leaders of the Junior Class are: president, Frank Bedogne, vice president, Alan Babcock; secretary, Jeanne Simoni; treasurer, Jeff Douville. These officers were chosen in an election last spring.

The Senior Class chose Robert Roessner as president; Lee Davis as vice president; Mary Ann Hebert, secretary; and Felix Matuzewski, treasurer.

Social Problems Class Visits Welfare Dept.

The class in Contemporary Social Problems, taught by Dr. Hendricks, visited the Erie County Board of Assistance, in Erie, last Thursday. The purpose of this board is "to promote the welfare and happiness of all the people of the commonwealth by providing public assistance to all of its needy and distressed . . . regardless of race, religion, or political affiliation."

This County Board of Assistance, under the general supervision of the Department of Public Assistance in Harrisburg, has as its executive director, Mr. C. L. White. Mr. White presented to the class interesting statistics and case studies which are representative of the work done by this board in Erie County.

Those making the trip besides Dr. Hendricks were James Boyd, Robert Connors, Richard Conrad, Dewey Davis, William Douds, Leland Dorchester, Harold Ghering, Juliana Hanson, Edwin Horanic, Violet Kimberlin, John Kissman, Merle Klingensmith, Joseph May, Eugene Munson, Evan Nardone, and Phyllis Vatter.

Under the direction of Mr. Neel, the college band is adding color and pep to gridiron contests. Current members of the outfit are shown above. First row: Marie Hall, Marilyn Weizel. Second row: Armine Paul, Fritz Orr, Richard Klingensmith, William Cramer, Joan Scofield, Charles Falzone, William Hershey, Ann Porter, William Fried, James McVeigh, Virginia Smith. Third row: William Snyder, Doris Zindel, Arthur Woodard, Milton Snodgrass, Iva Robison, Donald Turchan, Charles Crispens, John Ingham, Neal Robinson, Richard Specht, Wesley Blaha, William Fike, James Fordenbacher and Nelson Bogue. Our Purpose

As the Spectator goes to press for the first time in the 1948-49 year, it does so as a developing medium of expression. It aims to present news accurately, to provide for the presentation of student views, and to serve as a channel of communication among students, faculty, and administration. As such, it hopes to serve the best interest of every individual and of every group on the E. S. T. C. campus. In short, The Spectator hopes to make a significant contribution to school life.

Election Echoes

The members of the Freshman Class have just completed a spirited election campaign of more than usual interest. The seniors, juniors and sophomores, having prior knowledge of their candidates' abilities, chose their officers quietly and without fanfare. On the other hand, the freshmen had to consider a large number of potential leaders, all of whom were relatively unknown. Under such conditions it was natural that upperclassmen should watch developments closely. Now that the results are known, the entire school will continue to manifest an interest in the fortunes of the freshmen.

The Spectator wishes to congratulate the entire class on its handling of the campaign, which was conducted in true "election-year" style, complete with slogans, souvenirs, nominating speeches, posters, and party organization. The Nominating Committee did its work well, exhibiting sound judgment and praiseworthy impartiality, especially in regard to the assembly nominating "convention." The party managers are also to be commended for the way in which they advanced the interests of their proteges. The candidates themselves were of superior quality, making the choice a particularly difficult one.

However, all of this is past history; the class has chosen its leaders. If the defeated candidates and their parties continue to follow American tradition, they will shake hands, congratulate the winners, and pledge their cooperation for the good of all. Whether they do this or not will be the real test of the sincerity of the pledges made in the nominating and acceptance speeches. We on the Spectator are willing to bet that good sportsmanship will prevail. We extend a hand of welcome to a united Class of '52.

Amateur Artists Score Triumph

by DON TURCHAN

The first All-College Amateur Night was held in the college auditorium on Saturday, the 25th of September. This venture proved highly successful, because it brought to the fore much of the talent to be found in Edinboro. The program, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Campbell, was well attended and appreciated by the students.

Bill Buchanan proved to be an able master of ceremonies, and kept the show running smoothly. Many phases of show business were represented, from the song and dance team of Kaydoeic and Marsco to the modern interpretive stylings of Fae O'Hare. Representing barbershop harmony were the Greasespots. An interesting highlight was the music of Don Prager and his guitar. The audience enthusiastically received his songs of the hills.

Jack Ingham and Warren Williams were able artists at the piano, with Chuck Falzone bringing the boogie. Much seen and heard was Beverly McIntyre. Along with rendering a masterful solo, Beverly was also the principal accompanist. A satire on radio was given by Georgia Imig. Also non-musical was the act of Harry Cover, whose tumbling kept many on the edge of their seats throughout the thrill-packed performance.

Jeanne Simoni and Louis Cicchini, in the eurythmic interpretation of the dream sequence "Love of My Life", were gracefully dramatic. The rich baritone voice of Bud Ross was pleasant to the ear. Barbara Giddings and Carolyn Humphreys sang with the tone veracity of opera stars. Not to be forgotten was Vinnie, who enthralled the audience with "That Man I Love". Baritone Bill Buchanan was at his best with "Were You There?", a Negro spiritual.

The program was engaging throughout its entirety. Many of the performers were recalled by ovations for encores. In spite of the short preparations, it proved highly enjoyable and successful.

Greetings all youse frustrated peepuls . . . glad to be back among youse once again! Uncle Sugar hasn't gotten his hands on yours truly as yet, so I guess I'll be around to get in your hair for at least another year; but cheer up . . . you can always skip this part of the paper when you're reading through. (A passing thought: Guess that all those lovely bits of Army propaganda say that they want men anyhow . . . wait a minute!! I hear that they took D. Philpott this summer when he offered his services!)

By the way . . . To all youse uneducated Frosh . . . this is supposed to be a column. (Not, however, to be confused with those things they syndicate in simply millions of local papers!!) As I was saying, this is supposed to be a column of art news, the rambblings and ravings of Loveland Hall. We try to hand out various "pats-on-the-back" and other well-deserved laurels to those of the art intelligentsia who turn out anything that falls just short of being a masterpiece. (Sorry, no masterpieces handled here; but don't you fret, if you happen to bat one out in your spare time, the world'll notice it soon enough.) In addition to the handshaking and backslapping department, we come fully equipped to handle almost any dirt that comes under the title of art data . . . Our salaams and thanks to whoever drops any scoop our way.

In addition to subscribing to The American Artist, the other thing that you frosh will have to latch onto is the ScaRab Club. The ScaRab Club is the art club on campus, the gathering of the talent to pass around the scoop and to increase everybody's "know-how" in art. The ScaRab started this year off with the slam-bang picnic last Saturday. Those of you who didn't go . . . regret it this time but go and join the party soon.

From where we sit as the year starts up, it sorta looks like the sophomore art majors are going to be deep in academic work for this term . . . tough luck, you guys and gels . . . you'll learn not to take the good course, namely Commercial Art. I see that you peepul have already taken the idea of those traicin' pads up.

I see in a fictitious paper that I have just perused that a certain Mr. Thurn, from up New England way, was picked up the other day running around mumbling something about "bull-roar" . . . I also hear from the wind that "Pete" Gstalter spent the summer studying under his capable tutelage . . . 'Nuff said?? (All apologies to Mr. Thurn, by the way — he really knows his paints, pots, and the handwriting on the canvas.)

A farewell note: To all you frosh . . . Good luck in your many and varied art courses here . . . you've got a high mark to aim for in order to beat the record left by last year's freshmen; but with the help of a very capable art-teaching staff, you'll get along.

Solong for now . . . "Hup-two-three-foah" my, my!

ERNESTINE FORNESS

Faculty members and students join in an expression of deepest sympathy to Miss Forness in the bereavement occasioned by the death of her mother, Mrs. Ernestine Forness, on Friday, September 24. Formerly House Mother of Reeder Hall, Mrs. Forness had long been a loved and respected member of the college community.

Meet The R.O.T.C.

(Reserve Officers Training Corps)
by BURT BRONK

"Forward Harch! . . . To the rear—Harch" . . . The sad sacks of Edinboro are on the move. Any "Spectator" would notice the accordion-like folding when a "to the rear march", is executed. If the observer is especially careful, he is likely to notice two men marching in the same cadence. These two men are Sergeant Hashagen and Sergeant McKeeby, under whose able direction these same men will probably be executing perfect drills before the end of the year. (Which year, I do not care to state.)

As we shall be seeing a lot of the ROTC in the next few months, we might as well get better acquainted with it. All freshmen men entering Penn State are required to take two years of ROTC under the Morrill Act of 1861 and the National Defense Act of 1916 (as amended). There are four sections of these men, containing about one hundred seventy men. They will be well trained in such subjects as leadership and drill, marksmanship, and the care of individual weapons.

The purpose of the ROTC is to build up a reserve of capable leaders who will be qualified to take over the rank of second lieutenant in case of a national emergency. However, not all the men who are taking ROTC at Edinboro will make the grade. The sergeants will pick out a certain number of men to be put on the deferred list (from the draft) for another year. This number will depend on the school's quota, which is set by the Army. These men will be selected on the basis of their qualities of leadership, their regular college grades, and their rank in an intelligence test which is to be given next spring.

After the successful completion of the second year of ROTC, at State, they may make application to the advanced ROTC of either the air or ground forces. Those accepted seldom fail, and they usually receive commissions, as they are carefully screened before being admitted to the advanced ROTC. They receive two more years of training in their particular field plus six weeks of training in a summer camp between their junior and senior years. After completion of this advanced training a number of them will be "requested" (they seldom refuse, but they may if they would rather be drafted as privates than as second lieutenants) to serve two years as lieutenants in the Army. So next time you wise guys who aren't taking ROTC watch them drill, DON'T LAUGH BROTHER! . . . They might be giving YOU orders some day.

Chit Chat

"BRRRR" went our alarm yesterday morning, and we knew it was time to get up because we heard Barbara Giddings and Carolyn Humphreys singing their version of the modern opera, in the shower. — While dashing thru the lobby to breakfast we saw Joe Berthold and Joe Wissinger busily trying to create witty slogans for the "Klingensmith-for-President" campaign (which closed last week) — At breakfast we noticed Nancy Shay's second serving of "WHEATIES" to help her on that long five mile hike that Miss Ruttle planned for the girls' gym classes. — On our merry??? way to English class, we saw Bob Rosequist and Reno Anderson arguing as to who would carry Connie Torgler's books to class. — But then to speech class, where we listened attentively to Edwin Power's oration on the history of his name. — As we passed Recitation Hall, we noticed Dick Speck gazing dreamily out the window; no doubt he was wishing he could give Joan Welms another driving lesson.

LUNCH TIME!!! and we wondered if we would get any lunch at all, for we found ourselves behind the "Miller Gang". — We saw Marty Evans and Paul Haley making eyes at one another while enjoying their lunch. — We then hurried to our 1:00 o'clock class so we wouldn't be as late as Heinz Johnson.

IT WAS A BUSY afternoon on campus. — We saw Sue Sell playing a fast game of tennis. — We also watched Rusty Santel give the pigskin a workout and just missed being hit by Jo Finnefrock's stray golf ball. — While we were walking back towards Haven Hall, we had to take a second look to make sure that it really was Marilyn Wetzel, Marty Murdoch, and Marion Robertson in their hockey outfits. — After we passed them we stopped awhile at the soccer field to watch Ronald Coleman in action.

WE DASHED to be first in line for dinner, only to discover that the "Cambridge Boys" were 'way ahead of us. — Once we got dinner, we found it hard to concentrate on eating because handsome Jim Boyd sat across the table from us. — An extra pat of butter was the object of our flirtatious glances at waiter, Gene Latini. — After dinner we enjoyed the boys around the piano, while Jean Portz really gave us some "hot" music. — Winnie Kisthart looked very sharp in her new suit; but we couldn't understand what made her blush so. — Later we headed toward good 'ole HUTCH'S HUT, where we sat chewing the fat with Bud Garfield and Fred Abbott. — When we finally left the HUT, we had taken but a few steps before we collided with "Pep", "Tic", and "Swede", who were headed for the movies. — (Oh, to be an upper-classman!!!)

BACK AT THE DORM we tried to study for Dr. Gatz's test today but instead we listened to "George" Imig tell us more about radio programs. — Before going to bed we stopped in Jeanne Kennedy's room to admire the beautiful furs, a gift from Tom Brown, her fiance. — Our day was complete only after we had leaned out the window to say good-night to Art Warren.

Alpha Delts Elect

The thirty-eight members of the Iota chapter of the Alpha Delta Sorority recently elected the following officers: president, Jeanne Kennedy; vice president and social chairman, Joan Scofield; secretary, Marjorie Boney; treasurer, Stella Mukina; historian, Norma Lalley; custodians, Genevieve Anderson and Martha Murdock.

Under the leadership of Miss Forness, faculty advisor, the Alpha Deltas have already held a wiener roast, and they are currently planning a Founder's Day program for October 25.

Yearbook Sponsors Snapshot Contest

Cash prizes of $5.00 each will be awarded for the two best snapshots entered in a gigantic contest sponsored by your 1949 Conneauttean. The two best photos will appear in the Conneauttean, with special recognition for the winning photogs. This contest opens today, October 6, 1948, and closes Feb. 26, 1949. The winners will be chosen by a committee of impartial judges.

CONTEST RULES:

1. The contest is open to all Edinboro students and Penn State Assignees now enrolled here.
2. A $5.00 prize will be given for the most original, artistic, and appealing snapshot in each of two categories.
Group A.: Human-interest shots, setting indoors or out-of-doors, excluding winter backgrounds.
Group B.: Campus snow scene with human interest.
3. All snapshots entered should be dropped in the boxes provided in Haven Hall and Normal Hall.
4. Name and college address of contestants must be submitted with each entry.
5. All entries become the property of the 1949 Conneauttean.
6. Any number of snapshots may be submitted by the contestant; the more, the better.

Frats Organize For Year's Work

The Kappa Delta Phi, one of the campus fraternities, held its fall pledge party at the Campbell Hotel last Thursday. Twenty prospective Deltas met with the members. The advisors present were Dr. Butterfield, Mr. Coffman, and Mr. Boak.

Initiation week will be during the first part of October. With this twenty-member addition, the organization's roll will total 55.

When Gene Carnahan, president, leaves to do his student teaching in Erie, Dale Webster will become acting president.

Douville Heads Sigs

Recent election returns of the Phi Sigma Pi disclosed Jeff Douville as president and Jack Greenawalt, vice president. The position of secretary progressed to Leland Dorchester, and Bob Wallace was elected assistant secretary.

The new pledgemaster is "Stretch" McKinney, who will reign over the new pledges following the spaghetti dinner at the Campbell Hotel, tomorrow, October 7.

The Phi Sigma Pi will welcome Dr. Hendricks and Mr. Neel into the organization. They, along with Mr. Bates and Mr. McNees, will act as faculty advisors.

Sergeants Tell Of Army Careers

by EARL BAKER

The head of the new R.O.T.C. unit at E. S. T. C. is Master Sergeant Richard O. Hashagen, already well known and equally well liked on the Edinboro campus.

Sgt. Hashagen was born in Leavenworth, Kansas, and was graduated from the high school there. He majored in chemistry at Kansas State College, which he affectionately calls "Silo Tech." After his graduation and entrance into the army, he attended the Coast Artillery School at Ft. Monroe, Virginia; the Field Artillery School at Fort Sill, Oklahoma; and the Anti-Aircraft Artillery School at Fort Bliss, Texas.

"Sarge" now makes his home at 310 Erie Street, Edinboro, with his wife and three children, a girl and two boys. He has had 10 years' service with the Coast Artillery and 5 years' service with the Field Artillery.

Sgt. Hashagen's favorite hobbies are fishing and stamp collecting. He played 3rd base on his college baseball team and on several semi-pro teams. If you ever want an argument, mention something about the New York "Giants", because he still thinks that they should have won the pennant this year.

SGT. MCKEEBY

The other post in the new R. O. T. C. unit at E. S. T. C. is being very capably filled by Staff Sergeant Hillard E. McKeeby.

Sgt. McKeeby was born in Topeka, Kansas. After attending schools in various sections of the U. S., he graduated from the high school in Pierce City, Missouri. At the present time, Sgt. McKeeby resides with his wife and son at 115 Plum Street, Edinboro.

"Mac" has been in the army for 8 years. Having been with the Coast Artillery for one year and the Infantry for one year, the remainder of his service has been with the Air Forces. He served with the 8th Air Force in England for two and one-half years during the war, and while there he attended the Anti-Aircraft Gunnery School at Landsend. Incidentally, it was in England that he met his wife. For the past two years he has been with the Adjutant General's Office of the First Air Force.

His favorite hobbies are tennis, swimming, and ice skating. As for

W.A.A. Sponsors Tournament Play

To start the year off right, the W.A.A. initiated 112 new members. These girls were classified as Delts and Phis, who will compete throughout the year.

The chief women's sport on campus is field hockey. Some of last year's varsity are back in competition, and with the aid of some new talent the team hopes to continue its winning ways and to defeat Erie, its toughest rival. This shouldn't be too difficult with a goalie, Jane Twichell, who has been on the varsity for two years.

Veterans back on the team are: Clea Johnson, Anna Johnson, Dorothy Johnson, Nancy Spraggon, Margaret Gilbody, Donna Flower, Barbara Buckley, Wilma Fox, Druth McClure, Jane Twichell.

Also Jeanne Simoni, Mary Ann Hebert, Bertha Hammermeister, Jane Venman, Nancy Coates, Helene O'Day, Margaret Lucas, Peggy Zuzula, Marilyn Wetzell, Mary Jane Rozelle, and Martha Murdock.

A member of last year's team, Joan Hoshauer, is playing at Bucknell this year.

The weary girls who may be seen wandering around the campus are in all probability learning to play tennis. For three weeks the girls have been learning to serve, use backhand, use a good forehand, and score. The test of their skills will be the beginners' tournament on November 10.

The advanced players will also show their skills in a tournament. All in all, it spells plenty of fun and excitement.

The cry of "fore" has rung across the greenways once again. The golf instruction period has begun. Here we have the beginnings of female Byron Nelsons. The girls are working hard and getting plenty of exercise. They will have a tournament on November 15. Last year's winner, Winnie Kisthart, and last year's runner-up, Lois Byers, will provide plenty of competition for other contestants.

The Once Over . . .

by GEORGE JEFFRIES

Coach Art McComb's gridgers performed creditably while losing their opener to California. Had star back, Jack Donahue, not been injured, Edinboro might have made it even more of a battle . . . California's "Penn State scholarship team" didn't impress us as being the supposed "class" of the state teachers college elevens. The team, collectively, looked sluggish, although it presented a formidable defense. All-school spirit hit its zenith on the eve of the California-Edinboro grid meeting. Most of the student body was on hand for the pep rally, snake dance, and bonfire.

Slippery Rock's booters may have outplayed Coach "Sox" Harrison's minions, but the home forces were certainly not outmaneuvered. The Raiders were one up in manpower, as "George", the school's canine mascot, was employed as a third fullback . . . Ron Coleman, sparkplug of Edinboro's soccerites, has been highly recommended by Bill Jeffrey, Penn State soccer mentor.

What with Michigan State's great showing against Michigan, many of us will be eagerly awaiting the outcome of the inter-sectional battle between the Spartans and Penn State, October 23, at State College. This game should affect either or both team's national rating.

Clarion Tops Locals In Second-half Drive

by GEORGE JEFFRIES

Gaining revenge for last year's 7-6 defeat, a lusting Clarion Golden Eagle clawed Edinboro, 20-0, before a delighted Homecoming crowd at Clarion, Saturday afternoon. It was the second straight defeat for the Red Raiders, as they dropped their opener to California, 19-0, last week.

The victors, after being held in check for the first half, tallied in the third period on a 13-yard run, and struck twice through the air lanes for touchdowns in the final quarter.

Bob Zakula and Bill Wall paced the Clarion attack. Zakula heaved two long passes of 36 and 21 yards, respectively, resulting in scores. Wall, a Negro lad who had enrolled at college on the Monday prior to the game, scored a touchdown, and continually baffled the Edinboro defense as he brought the crowd to its feet more than once with electrifying runs.

The Red Raiders held the bigger Golden Eagle eleven scoreless the first half, but they were "out-first downed", 7-1. Twice within the first 30 minutes, the Erie County lads' valiant goal-line stands provided the sparse Edinboro delegation something for which to cheer.

Midway through the second period, Clarion's right tackle, Tony Mason, recovered a fumble on the Edinboro 20-yard line. Two lineplays and a completed pass made it first down on the 5-yard line. The Golden eagles shoved the pigskin to the 2, where Coach Art McComb's proteges held and took over on downs.

Defense Crumbles In Second Half

As the second half opened, it became evident that the Golden Eagles were not to be denied again. Continued quick-opening plays worked the ball to the 13, from where Wall cut through tackle, cut to the right sideline, and scored standing up. Bob Coury kicked the extra point, and Clarion led, 7-0.

Early in the final quarter, the victors made it 13-0. Luvison gathered in Zakula's heave, and stepped into the end zone for another six-pointer. Coury again added the extra point, and the count stood: Clarion 14; Edinboro 0.

An unusual catch by both Walls and Luvison in the end zone gave Clarion its final TD, and hiked the count to 20-0. Zakula faded back and flipped a 21-yard aerial into the waiting arms of the duo, both of whom had leaped into the air, awaiting the oval.

Raiders Fight Valiantly

The Red Raiders fought back courageously after the kickoff, marching downfield to the home 20. A brilliant 43-yard run by Bob Stout, which would have put the visitors in good scoring position, was nullified, due to an offense penalty. Clarion, however, finally held for downs and took over, deep in its own territory. In the final minutes of the game, Edinboro, once again gaining possession of the ball, took to the ozone in a frantic attempt to score.

The lineup for Edinboro:

Ends: McCune, Smittle, Wilkins. Tackles: Crouse, Wilson, McAllister, Costello, McCloy.

Guards: Matuszewski, Santel, Sabatini, Marsh.

Centers: Lodge, Rosequist.

Backs: Donohue, Palombini, Malec, Krizmanick, DeRubies, Greenawalt, Jinar, Marsh, Dixon, Stout.

Score by quarters:

Clarion	0	0	7	13-20
