55 Super-Students On Dean's List

New Instructors For Math, Art Depts.

Two new instructors are arriving on campus, according to an announcement received from Dr. Van Houten. Mr. Paul Tiss, a graduate of Edinboro, will teach Descriptive Geometry and Engineering Drawing. Mr. Tiss has spent the past two and a half years at the University of Toledo, teaching the same subjects.

Mr. Arthur Yost, who has been teaching art in the Pittsburgh Public Schools, will join E. S. T. C.'s Art Department. Mr. Yost was recommended as having excellent qualifications by the city supervisor of art for the city of Pittsburgh and by Dr. George Miller, Chief of Art of the State Department of Public Instruction.

News Briefs

According to information received from Dr. Van Houten, Dr. A. G. Crane, who served on this campus as principal of the Edinboro Normal School from 1920 to 1922, has made further strides in a distinguished career. Dr. Crane left here to become president of the University of Wyoming; later he was made Wyoming's Secretary of State. When the governor of the state was elected to Congress last fall, Dr. Crane became chief executive.

Yearbook pictures will be taken today. Please examine the campus bulletin boards for the schedule. Members of these organizations are requested to be present at the scheduled time and place.

Mr. Hoyt S. Armstrong, Manager of the Interstate Teachers Agency of Rochester, New York, plans to be in Edinboro on February 7. He would like to talk to any students who are interested in securing positions for next year. Any students desiring to talk to Mr. Armstrong should see him in the Faculty Room.

The E Club will sponsor a dance this Saturday night following the basketball game with Clarion in the Crawford Gym.

DEAN WRITES BOOKLET ON HIS FAVORITE SPORT

Most of the students at Edinboro will be surprised to hear that Mr. Mallory, our dean of instruction, is not only a fishing enthusiast but also an expert on that subject. He has been fishing for forty years, ever since he was a small boy, and has tried for practically every type of fresh-water fish. His present favorite is trout.

Recently Mr. Mallory wrote a booklet called "The Art and Technique in the Use of the Pork Chunk in Bass Fishing." It will be published sometime this spring by Netcraft, a fishing tackle company. Dean Mallory has had previous experience in writing about his hobby, once winning a prize in a father-and-son contest for an article entitled "How I Taught My Boy to Hunt and Fish." This contest was conducted by Field and Stream.

Plans Prepared For Big Military Ball

On Saturday evening, April 2, the R. O. T. C. unit will sponsor E. S. T. C.'s first Military Ball. Arrangements are now being made for the pre-Easter affair.

Committee leaders have been appointed, and they will choose their own assistants. Leaders are as follows: Tickets and Program—Harold Bechtold; Orchestra—Ronald Coleman; Decorations—Robert Williams, Lloyd Johnson, Charles Falzone, Al Pettit, and Lester Burdette; Refreshments—Madelyn Petruso; Chaperons and Guests—Fae O'Hare; and Invitations and Posters—Marge Race and Peggy Lutz.

A committee, composed of Bernard Brown, William Fried, and Donald Kuhre, is busy determining the method of selecting a queen and four attendants to rule at the ball. This honor will not cease with the end of the dance, because the queen will be Company Sponsor and each attendant will sponsor one platoon.

Student Teachers Receive Locations

To further prepare themselves for the teaching profession, sixty-eight seniors will do their student teaching this second semester of 1948-49, as announced by the Office of the Dean of Instruction.

Art majors who will be doing their student teaching in various schools are: Edinboro—Jean Allen, Frank Bedogne, Margaret Gilbody, Margaret McConnell, Prima Chiochio, and Betty Lake; Erie—Barbara Buckley, Marjorie Campbell, Marian Dean, Gloria Dennis, Muriel Gunderman, Bette Rhall, Milton Shores, and Florence Weyrauch.

Lawrence Park—Eugene Myers and Glorioso Stanzian; Harbor Creek—Wilma Bennett and Dona Flower; Meadville—Walter Kosowski, Paul Yanak, and George Jinar; and Pittsburgh—Druth McClure.

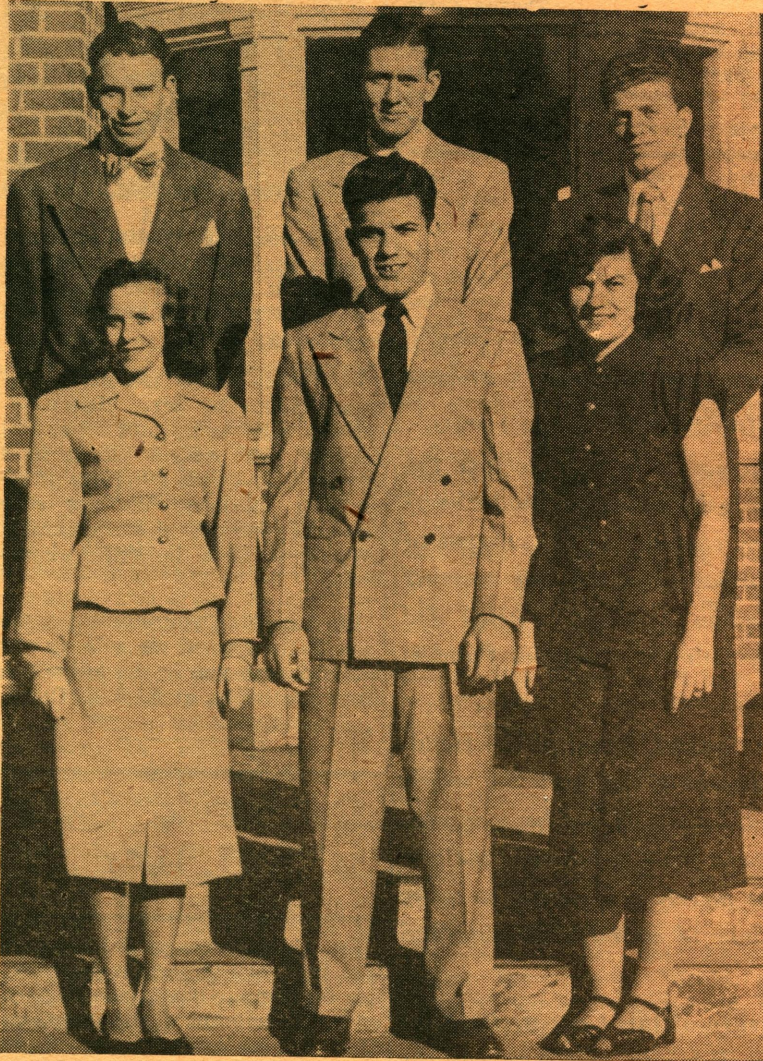

Several prospective teachers are being sent to Erie for student teaching in the secondary schools. They are Marion Adams, Gracey Anderson, William Bennett, Charles Bickford, Camillo Bonomi, Thomas Brown, Robert Connors, Dewey Davis, and Leland Dorchester.

Also, Dorothy Edwards, Carmen Giordano, Edward Kicey, Alfred Kipela, Theodore Levi, Dominic Magnifico, James Nichols, Arnold Ody, Leroy Peck, John Piatt, Dan Susi, and John McGuire.

The rest of the secondary group are remaining in Edinboro for their student teaching. In this group are Alan Babcock, Charlotte DeLay Anderson, Harold Ghering, Clare Hanson, Juliana Hanson, John Henne, Arthur Jarvis, Allen Lake, Leonard Lucia, Kathryn Magoon, Felix Matuszewski, Joseph May, Eugene Munson, Robert Roessner, Frieda Sherretts, and Donald Weiss.

With the exception of Mary Ann Hebert, who is on the job in Harmonsburg, all elementary students are doing their practice teaching in Edinboro. They are Jeffrey Douville, Phyllis Dunton, Wilma Fox, Marie Hall, Clea Johnson, Dorothy Johnson, Nancy Spraggon, and Jane Twichell.

Semester Graduates To Receive Degrees Miss Butterworth Is New Dietician

Sixteen seniors terminated their formal studies at Edinboro in January. The Bachelor of Science degree will be awarded these people in the fields of art, elementary education, and secondary education at Commencement in May.

Those completing their work are as follows: Art—Theodore J. Lynch, Jr., and Carol Elaine Vlahakis; Elementary Education—Evelyn Alice Barclay, Texie Marie Jones, Dale Neale Milligan, and Mary Alice Noxon.

Secondary Education—Charles Roy Bennett, Robert Kenneth Bloom, Raymond Simion Goodwill, Edward Paul Kwiatkowski, Byron Philip Masters, Howard G. Newson, John Melville Oliphant, Adrian Arthur Sorenson, Angelo George Susi, and Richard William Walker.

Those completing the two-year course in commercial art were John Laley, Robert Laley, and Charles Mullen.

Actor, Speaker To Feature Assemblies

On February 9, which is only a few days before Lincoln's birthday, E. S. T. C. will honor the great president by presenting George J. Lehrer, who will give a talk on, and impersonation of, Lincoln. Mr. Lehrer has received acclaim from audiences across the nation for his vivid portrayal of the Great Emancipator.

A recent addition to the staff of E. S. T. C. is Miss Janet Butterworth, the new dietician. This slender woman in the white uniform hails from Duluth, Minnesota, "a beautiful city set among green hills and large boulders."

Miss Butterworth was graduated in 1937 from the University of Minnesota with a B. S. degree. Last fall she received the M. B. A. degree from the University of Chicago. Between degrees, Miss Butterworth has gained experience in some very notable places: the University of Michigan, the University of Missouri, and Iowa State Teachers College.

The Minnesotan thinks that the students of Edinboro have the same tastes that are possessed by students nationwide. Also, she says her experience has been that the American student is not very adventurous—well, at least not gastronomically.

Oh yes, Miss Butterworth has you on her mind, and is working toward certain objectives. Chief among these is providing "good nutritionally balanced, and attractive meals."

On the following Wednesday, Miss Lesley Frost, well-known writer and lecturer, will speak on one of the provocative subjects in her extensive repertoire, which includes "Education, Whither Bound?" "The Rocky Road to Peace," "The Front Line of Democracy," and "The Responsibilities of Good Government."

Four Earn All A's; Rest, B's or Better

At last the semester grades have been received—with mixed emotions—and we proudly announce the names of those erudite scholars who have achieved a "B" or better in every course taken, thus taking their places in the Dean's List.

Four of these, all student teachers, had the distinction of making all "A's". They are Betty Gross, John Oliphant, Marjorie Perkins, and Jean Webster.

The list includes Marion Adams, Gracey Anderson, Josiah Baird, Katherine Bartoo, William Bennett, Ronald Bloch, Robert K. Bloom, Marjorie Boney, Helen Bovard, Glenn Brown, Robert Connors, Dewey Davis, Margaret Drobka, James Fordenbacker, Margaret Gilbody, John Harrison, Shirley Hazelwood, Jean Himrod, Donald Hostettler, and George Jeffries.

Others were Anna Louise Johnson, Clea Johnson, Andrew Kappcar, Ralph Keller, Jeanne Kennedy, Donald Kuhre, Cynthia Lane, Blair Logan, Kathryn Magoon, Michael Martinez, Byron Masters, Beverly McIntyre, Alice Millspaw, Eugene Munson, Ardrienne Nestor, Howard Newson, Mary Alice Noxon, and Armine Paul.

Also on the list we find Robert Peby, Leroy Peck, Richard Praetzel, Virginia Ransom, Walter Schramko, Nancy Shaw, John Theodorou, Isadore Turansky, William Vafeas, Greta Weaver, Dale Webster, Evelyn White, and Margaret Wynekan.

The above list comprises approximately seven per cent of the student body.

34 New Students Enter E.S.T.C. Halls

Welcome to Edinboro, Freshmen! The Spectator would like to introduce you, and the new upperclassmen, to the old students.

First the frosh. Meet James Aupke, James Blasius, William McKelvy, Richard Walsh, James Wieland, Clifford Kibel, Jr., all from Pittsburgh. Also Homer Bury, Rudolph Mannarino, Donald Paulson, and Bertha Silver, hailing from Erie. From Meadville we have John Chisholm, and Carmen Musone.

Marjorie Riley, Wallace Skelton, Lawrence Hutchinson, and Jennie Mae Nason are from right here in Edinboro. Others are Albion's Stanley Blair, Greenville's Stanley Diefenderfer, and an out-of-stater, Sanford Bennett of Cleveland.

Representing their districts are Robert Moore of New Kensington, William Straight of Larimer, Elsie Fae Henry from Tunkhannock, Phyllis Hendrickson from Chandlers Valley, Elsie Lee of Corry, Bettie Maxwell from Lawrence Park, Olga Papaila of Conemaugh, Dorothy Sullivan from Stoneboro, John Woznicki of Aliquippa, Mary Lou Tucker from nearby Cambridge Springs, and John Tosmic of New Brighton.

The upperclassmen we would like to introduce are James Barnett and Charles Bickford of Erie, Edward Rouse, who comes from McKean, and Meadville's Sandy Petruso.

Your Government

Today you voted for a new president of the Student Council. But beyond this one assembly program, how much this year have you thought about or heard of this organization?

The Student Council's main purpose is to help further the interests of the student body; therefore its activities should be of utmost concern to you. Yet how many students on the campus of Edinboro know that they are permitted to attend any meeting that this body holds? Do you know when meetings are held? Are you aware that the money you pay into the Activities Fund is budgeted by this group?

The constitution of the Student Council, found in the Handbook, contains many provisions concerning the part the whole student body may play in the Council's work. If you have an idea for an organization this campus should have, a function the student government should perform, or merely a comment to make on the Council's work, it is your duty to attend a meeting and present your opinion.

Article III says: "The membership of this Cooperative Government shall consist of all students, all faculty members, and the President of the College." This means you!

Now you have chosen a new leader for this body. Watch his work; watch the achievement of the Student Council. Just as our national government cannot be truly democratic without the full support and interest of all citizens, neither can our Cooperative Government function to its fullest extent without the help of all students and faculty!

We wish success to the new administration — not through luck, but through the hard work, cooperation, and tireless interest necessary to any effective organization.

Weather-Wise

Tradition and old almanacs tell us that today the ground hog will peer from its burrow and stumble sleepily into the light of day. This, of course, will be the first experience the little fellow has had with light since last fall. Every well-behaved ground hog is supposed to have had four months' sleep by the second of February, and this leaves one a little groggy, as anyone who has slept four months can tell you.

On occasions when the sky is not too bright, the ground hog, or woodchuck if you prefer, just continues to play around, yawn a few times, and begin looking for an early breakfast. However, if the sun is just a little offensive to the chuck, he beats a fast retreat into the shelter of the sod. Once back in the hole, he (or maybe she) just curls up again, partially from force of habit and partially because of the fact that in such cramped quarters there just isn't room for much activity.

Just before catching another forty winks, the fuzzy little rascal puts his remote-controlled winter back into effect for another six weeks. It's not the most considerate thing to do as far as humans are concerned; but, then, if you were a woodchuck you wouldn't worry about it.

Art Gallery

by MEL and FRED

What current activities in the art field at E. S. T. C. are taking place, and who is participating in these activities? "Art Gallery" is written for the purpose of informing you, the art student, of these various activities and the accomplishments of your fellow artists.

On display now at the Erie Museum are water colors by a number of alumni and present students of Edinboro. This is an excellent exhibit, not only of water colors but also of ceramics, sculpturing, and wall hangings. Some of our students who have their work at the museum are Jane Patterson, Wilma Bennett, Jean Bailey, Gretchen Haughton, Ben Herr, Louis Cicchini, Vernon Dornbach, and George Kosanovic. The ceramics and sculpturing from Mr. Haller's modeling classes also add a great deal of interest and life to the exhibit. Try to see this showing if possible, as we believe you'll really enjoy it.

Last week ended the display of water colors by Mr. Henry W. Adams, local artist and industrial designer. Mr. Adams' paints in a free style and uses a variety of interesting subjects. We are sure that everyone who saw the exhibit found it to be a delightful experience.

We hope that you will enjoy the "Art Gallery," and we will try our best "to keep you in the know" on all art activities at E. S. T. C.

INTRODUCING "SADIE" AND "LUCY"

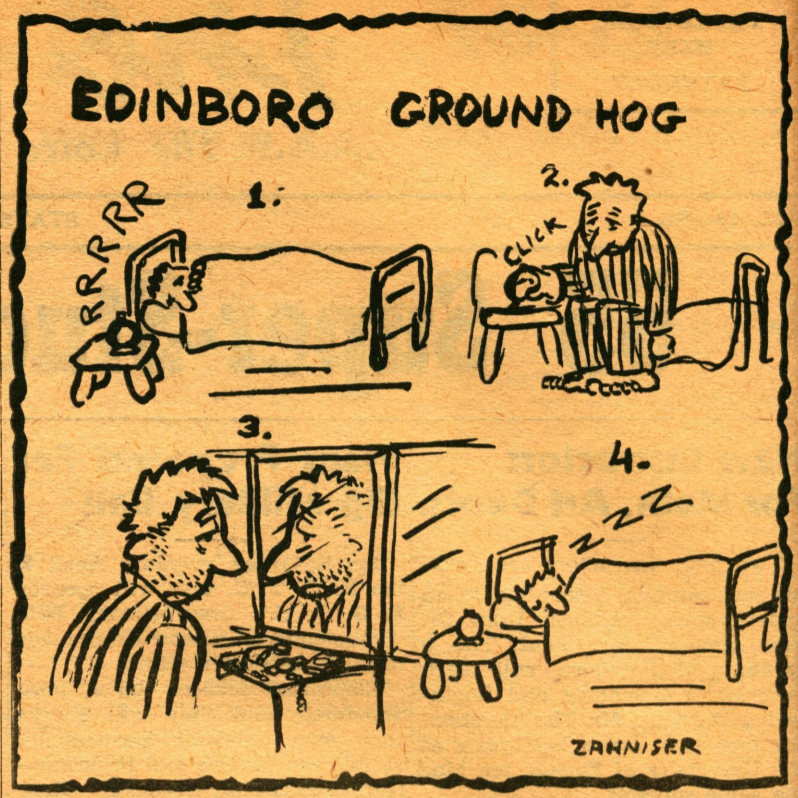

Dr. Gatzky recently informed us that two very important personalities on campus have been neglected in the columns of the Spectator. They are no other than "Sadie Ossa" and "Lucy Viscera." These girls are full-time assistants in the Biology Lab, lending their "personalities" in the study of the human body.

Although Sadie, the skeleton, has been in the lab for many years, she has maintained her youth and beauty. Sadie is pitied by her friends because she has to work constantly. They often do little kindnesses for her, though, to show their gratitude. Sometimes she is given a piece of chalk to smoke, a warm overcoat is put around her scapulae, or her bones are arranged in a more comfortable position. Sadie likes to entertain her friends, and she often twists and contorts herself in various ways, thus arousing a great deal of laughter.

Lucy, the manikin, is the younger of the two. She came to the campus at the advent of the student nurse course during the war. In spite of the fact that Lucy lost her legs and part of her face in battle, she has charm, and she often gives the students a guilty feeling when she looks at them out of her honest, blue eye. She also is very bold, as she does not mind the stares of the students.

Lucy's braveness is shown when she does not mutter a word as she is taken apart, piece by piece, frequently being replaced in the wrong manner. Lucy is very patient, though, and goes through the painful process time after time without saying a word. Miss Viscera, the same as Miss Ossa, works constantly; she even poses as a coat rack in her spare time.

If E. S. T. C. should ever have a Hall of Fame, Sadie and Lucy should certainly be immortalized there.

A roving reporter column invariably produces odd bits of journalism. In answer to the "Tower Times" query, "What was your most embarrassing moment?" The majority of Edinboro College students are planning on a teaching profession. Surprisingly enough, they have many and varied reasons for making this their life work.

Marian Aber — "I want to be an art teacher because when I went to school I didn't have art, and I would like to give other children the opportunity I missed."

Druth McClure — "I want to be a teacher so I can develop the creative ability in as many little monsters as I can."

Dick Mazzetti — "I want to be a teacher so I can buy my nickel cup of coffee every morning."

Pat Henderson — "I like to see people further their educational abilities."

Milton Maxwell — "Teaching will give me an opportunity to help people."

Marian Adams — "I want to help transmit our cultural heritage."

George Ody — "Opportunity knocks. I want to get rich quick."

Clea Johnson — "Maybe it is hereditary."

Doug Stevens — "I'm following family tradition."

Margaret Gilbody — "I want to be a teacher because I want to serve the public."

Larry Daley — "Teaching is better than being totally unemployed."

Jim Schineller — "I enjoy loafing around with children. I was a child myself once."

Edna Morrison — "I want to be a teacher because there is a big field opening in teaching."

Al Wolf — "I want to be a teacher because I can get three months' vacation in the summer."

Marty Evans — "I want to be a teacher because of the many advantages in the profession for a woman."

Jenny Anderson — "I want to be a teacher because I like children."

Julie Hanson — "What other field provides a three months' vacation?"

"Two coffees, please," we ordered as we settled comfortably into the booth at the very back, from where we knew we could see you all as you entered and ordered your cups of coffee, or orange pop like Bill Horosz and Betty McConnell decided on. Have you heard that these two are dieting every other day? It's too hard for both of them to keep it up day after day. Turn about seems fair play in such a case.

Russell White came towards us with a friendly "Hi!", and with lots of enthusiasm told us about Bob Rosequist's Date Bureau, which is now operating on a full-time schedule. It has been successful thus far in having brought together several happy couples for the Snow Ball. Russell assured us that they all had a wonderful time.

Our friendly smiles were repaid by Winnie Kisthart and Don Harrison, who have been interested in occupying each other's time lately.

We hope the new freshmen or any new students have captured our spirit by this time. Russell Alward's friendliness since he's come back to our fair campus is proof enough.

Georgia Imig and Jerry Stephens provided the entertainment for their table. Lennie Zyc, Dean Grazer, and Harry Culbertson were added attractions.

We were just ready for our second cup of coffee when Phyllis Johnson and Ted Davenport moved in with us. The movie crowd followed, with Marty Spitler and Reno Anderson leading. Dot Shaw and Alex Perkins were lucky enough to get a table all to themselves. Then the Pete Gstalter - Norman Worth - Dick Mazzetti crew entered. It was black coffee for them.

We have heard rumors of the Claw, who is running loose in Haven Hall; new keys to all the rooms have been distributed.

Pretty Annjeanette Siegle came in, followed by her steady, Chuck Bleakney. They were wearing the cute little caps they bought each other for Valentine's Day.

"Looks like a fire-sale," Maggie Funk said to us in passing, as she looked at all the E.S.T.C. shirts in the crowd. The Sports Store was virtually cleaned out when the Sloppy Joe bug bit the Edinboro lassies.

Since Mr. Lowder was twirling his black mustache and waiting for this article, we had to dash back to the offices of the "Speckled Potater."

Howard Fleming helps renovate fine instrument in Normal Hall

by Don TURCHAN

I was walking around Normal Hall when I heard something that made me stop in my tracks. It was organ music. I tried to find where it was coming from, and in my search I came across something that I had never known before. In the old auditorium in Normal Hall there is a pipe organ that has not been in operation since 1940, and only in the last three weeks has it again begun to issue forth its beautiful tones. The person who is mainly responsible for this is Mr. Howard Fleming, already familiar as an assembly organist.

When I asked Mr. Fleming how he ever came to find the organ, he said, "It was when I was registering for the second semester." I asked him to explain the whole story to me and he did. "When I found that there was an organ in Normal Hall, I immediately became interested in it. I asked Dr. Van Houten about it, and he said that it was not in playing condition, but that he would like to have it fixed. He gave me the key to the organ and I began work. Jack McAllister helped very much in fixing the motor, and so did Del Ellis. It only took us about two weeks to get it in playing condition, but in those two weeks we knew that we had a job on our hands, for the work certainly was not easy."

I wondered what kind of background Howard had to be able to do this type of work, so I asked him. He said that he had studied piano for five years and then had taught himself to play the organ. He put this knowledge to use, for he played the organ in his four years at Beaver High School and also at various churches. After graduating from school Howard joined the Army for nineteen months. When he completed his enlistment, he enrolled at The Cincinnati College of Embalming. He graduated from their one-year course and worked as a licensed embalmer for six months in Missouri and Tennessee. He liked this work very much and plans to continue in it. Howard came to Edinboro as a Penn State assignee, and is now pursuing a business course in preparation for his probable career.

On February 19, the Newman Club will sponsor its first social venture on campus, the "Heart Hop." It will be an informal affair, requiring only your "Sunday best." Music for dancing will be furnished by Matt Pommer and his orchestra. The committees and those in charge are as follows: Refreshments — Donald Turchan; Tickets — Frank Bedogne; Decorations — Kris Krings; Advertising — Bob Vislosky; and Band — Tony De Julius. Dancing will be from 8:30 - 12:00 P. M., and the admission is $1.25 per couple.

At the last formal meeting, the members of Mu Kappa Gamma elected officers for the coming semester. Katherine Bartoo was elected to the office of President; Paul Zarenko, Vice President; Cynthia Lane, Secretary; and Katherine Kenney, Treasurer.

At this meeting, Jo Baird was taken in as a new member. It was also decided that Penn State Freshmen who had been outstanding in college musical organizations would be admitted as honorary members for one semester. It was also announced that the Edinboro, or Alpha Chapter, of Mu Kappa is to take part in the ceremony establishing an official chapter at Thiel College sometime this spring.

At their regular meeting last Thursday, the married women's club, the "Weds," heard a talk by Miss Skinner on "Costume Design with Reference to Individual Needs." The "Weds" will have a theatre party in Cambridge Springs next Monday.

The officers for the College Choir were elected at the last rehearsal. They were as follows: Charles Falzone, President; Ted Myers, Vice President; Marjorie Boney, Secretary; and Nancy Coates, Treasurer. At the time of publication, it was not known whether the operetta "H. M. S. Pinafore" would be presented. If the choir presents the operetta, it will take the place of the annual Spring Concert. Plans are also being formulated for a dance to be held in the spring.

The YMCA and the YWCA met for the first time this semester at a joint meeting, Wednesday, January 26, 1949. The speaker for the evening was James Shaffer, a Y member, who represented Edinboro College at the First Ecumenical Conference sponsored by the United Student Christian Council, held at the University of Kansas, December 26 - January 2, 1949.

Mr. Shaffer briefly outlined the course of the conference and spoke of his profitable experiences there. He suggested ideas which were contributed by other Y organizations from all over the country.

Following the meeting, the YWCA held its election of officers for the new semester. They are: President, Cynthia Lane; Vice President, Katherine Kenney; Secretary, Evelyn White; Treasurer, Helene O'Day; Music Chairman, Marian Robertson; Publicity, Margaret Lucas; Lucille Shellogg; Hostess, Daisy Tucker. These cabinet members with their advisor, Miss McDonnell, are planning new activities and further meetings.

On February 17 the Forum Club will hold a discussion on "Freedom of Expression" as pertaining of the various phases of life in America today.

Tomorrow during the ninth period, Dr. Thomas will address the Biology Club. His talk will be about paleobotany, the field in which he received his doctorate.

DRAMATICS CLUB TO PRESENT "YEARS AGO"

The stage crew, under the supervision of Mr. Schlessinger, has been very busy these last few weeks. They are getting the sets ready for the Dramatics Club's annual Spring presentation, which will be given this year on Wednesday and Thursday, April 6 and 7.

The play chosen for this year is a three-act comedy, written by Ruth Gordon and entitled "Years Ago." It was first produced by Max Gordon at the Mansfield Theatre, New York, N. Y., on December 3, 1946, and featured such stars as Fredrick March and Florence Eldridge. Miss Ludgate, who will direct the E.S.T.C. production, has announced that casting for parts will take place in the near future.

The production manager for the show is Boyd King, and the stage manager is Ed Horanic. The set and light designs will be by Lane Jones.

NEW PARKING RULES TO AFFECT CAMPUS FENDER-BENDERS

A new ruling passed by the Town Council states that as of February 1, parking on the north side of E. Normal Street between Meadville and High Streets and on the south side of E. Normal between High and Ontario Streets will be prohibited in the future. Signs to this effect will be put up in a few days.

This means that one will not be able to park his car on the opposite side of the street from Normal Hall between Meadville Street and High Street. Nor will he be able to park on the High-School side of E. Normal Street between High and Ontario Streets.

Who's Who In Sports

The following information has been taken from the "Athletics Handbook," an attractive booklet recently released by the Athletics Department of E. S. T. C. Since Raider fans have shown so much interest in the material, The Spectator is glad to have this opportunity to release some of the contents to the student body at large. As space allows, we shall include other items in future issues.

1948-49 BASKETBALL TEAM

Babcock, Alan: Senior, 20 years old, height 6'3", weight 180. Graduated from Warren High School, Warren, Pa., Class of 1946. R.O.T.C. Promotions Granted 63 Cadets

Sergeant Hashagen has received confirmation of the R. O. T. C. promotions recommended by him to Colonel Chastaine, Head of the Military Science and Tactics Department of Pennsylvania State College. Under this order, sixty-three of the one hundred and fifty-six cadets have been given grades higher than that of "buck private." Sergeant Hashagen again emphasized the point that the promotions "are temporary and are based upon a man's ability to perform his duty in a superior manner." In recommending the promotions, Sergeant Hashagen considered the character, scholarship, and leadership abilities of the men. Colonel Chastaine's order stated that the appointments made under it are "automatically terminated upon transfer of the Cadet from the Edinboro State Teachers College." Several thousand dollars has been spent recently in making a more complete physics laboratory. Besides equipment for the lab, several new physics books have been added to the Library.

There will be another Amateur Nite on Saturday, February 12.

The Principals Club, composed of the school principals of this area, will meet in Edinboro tonight for a dinner and a regular meeting.

Dr. Van Houten will attend a special meeting of the Board of Presidents of the State Teachers Colleges this Friday. The board will consider construction and maintenance projects.

Dr. Hendricks was recently a member of a committee for the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools to evaluate the high school at Clarion. He was the chairman of the subcommittee on curriculum. The operation required two full days.

A new edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica will soon be added to the Library.

Tomorrow night, Dr. Hendricks will speak before the Crawford County Principals Club at a dinner-meeting in Conneautville. He will speak on "The Revitalization of the Social Studies Program."

Five college students, working under the auspices of Mr. Richard E. Cover, won first prize in the Edinboro Annual Christmas Display Contest. They are Richard Akam, George Meck, Richard Mofatt, Lou Stamos, and Don Turchan. Their entry was on display at Cover House, 118 Meadville Street.

Dr. Van Houten has stated that the college will receive a special allocation of funds for the purpose of having various maintenance projects undertaken on campus. These will include re-roofing Recitation Hall, building fire escapes for White Hall, and replacing the fire escapes on Haven Hall. The funds will also provide for the repairing of the tile floors in Normal Hall, the New Auditorium, and the Training School.

Phyllis Johnson, a Lower Division Penn State assignee, has taken the position of co-pilot of the Spectator. She will be working with Allen Lake, a senior, currently doing his student teaching. The new editor was a feature writer for the Spectator during the first semester.

Sophomore Snow Ball Tops All Expectations For Gala Affair

The long-awaited Snow Ball, given Saturday night in the New Gym, was a wonderful success. Ange Vitale made a beautiful queen as she sat surrounded by her glamorous court — Jody Welms, Sally Sechler, Nancy Coates, Marilyn Haight, Jean Portz, and Enid Hoffman. Little Nancy Earley was a charming crown-bearer in her long pink and white gown. Everything was perfect, down to the bouquets the queen and her court carried and including the handsome jewelry presented to them by the Sorenson Jewelry Store of Edinboro. The queen received a beautiful double-strand pearl necklace; the court, gold compacts; and the crown-bearer, a bracelet.

The decorations showed superb management and much hard work on the part of the sophomores. The star in the center of the ceiling put everyone in the mood for dancing to the dreamy music of Neil Charles. Even the weather man complied to make it a perfect evening by ordering that lovely, lazy snow for the occasion. The faculty was very well represented, and seemed to enjoy the dance immensely from their special retreat, "Faculty Inn." The refreshments, delicious cake and punch, were served at "Ski Lodge." Snowmen and tiny cotton snow balls, plus the huge snow-ball throne, completed the outstanding decorations.

Isabel Sorenson, last year's queen, was among the honored guests. It was originally planned that she take part in the coronation, but bad weather delayed her on her trip from State College, and she arrived late. John Latini, Sophomore Class president, made a charming and handsome host.

Faculty members serving as chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. Schlessinger, Mr. and Mrs. Wozniak, and Dr. and Mrs. Hendricks. Dr. Hendricks, faculty advisor of the Sophomore Class, worked closely with the Dance Committee in making all arrangements.

R.O.T.C. program as it exists at Gannon and then conducted a lively discussion period, during which the students had an opportunity to give their views concerning this phase of the Government's program for the training of reserve officers.

NEIL CHARLES

During the dance Bob Murray and Merle Klinginmith took pictures of the couples to serve as a reminder of this year's Snow Ball. But with or without pictures, none of the guests will forget this wonderful evening.

The Sophomore Class Dance Committee wishes to thank all who helped with the decorations for the Snow Ball. Special thanks go to Dick Leech, Pat Hamilton, and Pete Palombini for their very special efforts.

Ah, Frosh — to you all things are new,

The grass is green, and so are you!

But here at dear ISTC

We're one great happy family,

And all those awful things you're told,

Of hours short, and tempers shorter,

And biscuits made of finest mortar,

To this, we only say to you,

Not rumors, friend, but true, too true.

Dearly Beloved

by WILLIAM L. KADOICH

Here is a love letter for lovers everywhere, made up of titles of popular and old favorite songs: "Dearly Beloved."

"Fool That I AM" "Because" "You Go To My Head." "Whisper A Word Of Love" and "It's Magic." "Just Because" "I'd Love To Live In Loveland" "Always," "Between You And Me," "Baby Don't Be Mad At Me." "I Don't Want To Meet Anymore People" "Going My Way," for I am a "Prisoner of Love."

I found "My Happiness" at "The Certain Party," "There I Go" telling "My Sin," for "Love Is A Dangerous Game." "Win Or Lose," it's only "Worry, Worry, Worry." "I Still Get A Thrill" my "Lovely Lady," when you "Confess" and "Give My Broken Heart A Break." I'm "Crying For Joy," "Embraceable You."

"When You Left Me," "The Very Thought Of You" came to me from "Out Of Nowhere" "Night And Day." I was "Melancholy" and "Lonesome For Love," but it seems "We Just Couldn't Say Good-by."

Next time, "Lover," "Don't Burn The Candle At Both Ends," and we will have our "Bluebird of Happiness," "Forever And A Day." My "Sweet And Lovely," your "Strange Enchantment" and "The Nearness Of You" make you my "Little Girl."

I must make this "Short And Sweet," so, "Till Then," "Honey," "Call Me Darling."

"Yours With Love And Kisses,"
"Billy Boy"

Busy Sport Weekend On Tap For ESTC

Cagers Drop Two; Lose by 75-65, 67-50

On the first of a trio of two-day road trips this season, ESTC's courtmen dropped both games, to Indiana, 75-65, and to Slippery Rock, 67-50.

At Indiana last Friday night, the Erie Countians were down by ten points at the quarter, but caught fire to hold a 34-32 advantage at halftime. The home forces, sparked by a one-man offensive on the part of one Mr. Shomo, a reserve, who paced the victors with a 35-point aggregate, moved into high gear to tally 43 markers in the second half, for the winning spread of ten points, 75-65. Three Edinboro players — Bob McVeigh, with 22; Keith Nicolls, with 20; and Dick Reed, with 14 — registered enough points to win most ball games, but the scoring efforts of Shomo were not to be outdone.

The following night, Coach Sox Harrison's five simply went down to defeat at the hands of a better team. Slippery Rock's fast-breaking attack was held to a 24-25 half-time lead, but the physical education school's superiority asserted itself in the third quarter when the Rockets scored 16 points, while limiting the losers to four. McVeigh led the scoring parade for the evening with 17 tallies, followed by the Rockets' Black and Denniston with 14 and 12, respectively.

Tankers, Basketeers Home; Grapplers At Indiana

With the completion of first semester final examinations in their wake, all three ESTC winter sports teams will see action this week-end.

Coach Art McComb's mermen, still smarting from a surprising 53-22 defeat at the hands of Pitt, were entertained by Thiel yesterday and are slated to tackle a seasoned Buffalo University squad Saturday afternoon in the home pool. Edinboro's tankers now have a two and two record for the season.

The Red Raider grapplers are also scheduled for two meets this week. They met Indiana away last night, and Friday they will journey to Clarion to joust with its green squad. Coach Jim Reed's minions dropped their initial outing to Lock Haven, 8½-1½, and are seeking to enter the win column.

This Saturday night will see the home courtmen pitted against Clarion in an 8:30 engagement in Crawford Gymnasium. Coach Sox Harrison's basketeers were vanquished twice on a two-night road trip the past week, and will be attempting to pull up their season's log to three losses and four victories.

The Once Over . . .

by GEORGE W. JEFFRIES

Attention all E. S. T. C. males: If you are flabby-chested and if you are carrying excess weight, then see Stan Kusy who is "conducting" a weight-lifting course in the apparatus room of the Crawford Gymnasium. Mr. Kusy does not guarantee Herculean results from his afternoon sessions, but one can pick up rudimentary principles of the art and some rigorous exercise.

The Red Raider grapplers, who dropped a decidedly one-sided 1½-8½ decision in their opener against Lock Haven, should not be the subjects of any adverse criticism, for their conquerors happen to be the state wrestling champions. Three L. H. S. T. C.

matmen were former PIAA finalists, while a fourth, Mullins, copied the 185-lb class finals three years ago. According to Coach Reed, the team put up a fine battle against the superior Clinton Countians.

Coach McComb's Edinboro mermen have been shattering some records almost each time out. Against Westminster, the 300-yd. medley relay team of Hilldorfer, Warren, Latini, and Abbott clipped seven seconds from the established school record. Art Warren set a new mark for both school and pool in the "60" with a time of 31.2. Other times were bettered in the 140 and 150-yd. backstroke, the 440-yd. freestyle, and the 400-yd. relay.

Rusty Santel, former freshman mat star now at Penn State, wrestled in his first meet Saturday night. Santel won the 155-lb. eliminations by defeating Larry Shallcross and Grant Dixon, a past Eastern Intercollegiate title-holder . . . Another of Coach Reed's 1947-48 luminaries, John Walker, Penn State's 128-lb. representative, has found it rather tough sledding in his first two matches, having dropped both of them by decisions.

With the W. A. A.

by JANE VENMAN

For three years the Deltas have won the W. A. A. swimming meets, but if this year continues as it started, tradition might be broken. The first meet held on December 20 was won by the Phis. Co-captains for the Phi team were Mart Evans and Jean Allen; for the Deltas, Sally Sechler and Clea Johnson.

Those participating in the synchronized event were members of the Junior swimming class: Betty McConnell, Jeanne Simoni, Joanne Scofield, Jane Venman, Bertha Hammermeister, Lois Byers, Jane Brown, Virginia Batchelor, Frieda Sherretts, Marian Eades, Margaret Gilbody, and Virginia Rice.

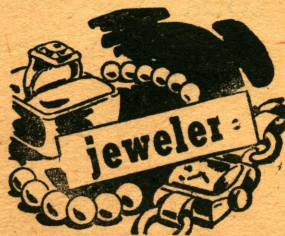

In the individual skills were Sally Sechler, Mary Ann Peck, Clea Johnson, Mary Lou Handley, Martha Murdock, Mary Bowen, Ruth Knapp, Geraldine Fehrer, Georgia Imig, Adele Gillespie, Marilyn Wetzel, Marjorie Campbell, Muriel Gunderman, Jane Twichell, Marjorie Alder, and Chrystene Dice.

On Friday, February 18, Edinboro will be host at an intercollegiate swimming meet, with other colleges in this area attending. Six girls will participate from each college, and the swimming will be non-competitive.
