THE COLLEGE

Bloomsburg State College, founded as an academy in 1839, is one of 14 institutions of higher education in Pennsylvania's state college and university system. Its multi-purpose programs include the arts and sciences, teacher education, business administration and nursing. Approximately 26% of its students are enrolled in the arts and sciences, 38% in business administration, and 36% in professional studies. There are 31 graduate programs of study leading to the master's degree. Through its School of Extended Programs, the college seeks to fulfill its commitment to lifelong learning and community service for the citizenry of central and northeast Pennsylvania.

THE CAMPUS/COMMUNITY

The college's 173 acres are distributed across two campuses with modern, attractive facilities on both. The lower campus contains seven residence halls, a library, an auditorium, a student union, a science center, a dining hall, a gymnasium, an administration building, and three classroom buildings. The upper campus, with a 60 acre athletic complex, was completed in 1974. It is hoped that another classroom-faculty office building will be constructed by 1980. The campus is adjacent to the residential town of Bloomsburg (population 12,000), less than two miles from an interchange of Interstate 80 and 22 miles from Interstate 81. Bloomsburg is within one hour driving time from metropolitan Wilkes-Barre/Scranton, Hazleton and Williamsport, 1½ hours from Harrisburg, 2½ hours from Philadelphia, and 3 hours from New York City. The community is 45 miles from the Avoca International Airport and is serviced by major passenger bus lines.

STUDENTS

There were 4975 undergraduate degree students registered for the fall semester, 1978-79, including 4790 enrolled full-time. In addition, there were 450 graduate students and 650 persons enrolled in continuing education courses. Of the full-time students, 2764 are women and 2026 are men; 93.8% of the undergraduates are Pennsylvania residents, 338 students come from 16 other states. More than 12 foreign countries are represented. Over 2400 men and women are housed in residence halls, with approximately 1700 students living in the Bloomsburg area and the balance commuting from their homes or living areas near off-campus student teaching or intern assignments.

FACULTY & STAFF

There are 318 full-time professional faculty and staff members; 153 have earned doctoral degrees.

ACCREDITATION

Bloomsburg State College is fully accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education, and the Pennsylvania State Board of Education. Also, the college receives distinguished recognition by the American Chemical Society.

UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAMS

The college offers 61 baccalaureate degree programs in three schools of study--Arts and Sciences, Business and Professional Studies. Academic strengths include business administration, business education, special education, communication disorders, medical technology, nursing, and basic liberal arts and sciences programs. Students wishing to continue study beyond the baccalaureate degree at professional schools can enroll in pre-professional programs in pre-medicine, pre-veterinary, pre-dentistry, and pre-law. A pre-professional advisor is prepared to advise students who are interested in entering schools of pharmacy, occupational therapy, and optometry. Unique educational opportunities exist through advanced placement, study abroad, professional practicum, internships, and independent study, and the Center for Academic Development.

GRADUATE PROGRAMS

The college offers 31 graduate degree programs plus supervisory certificate programs and a Reading certification program. The graduate school confers the degrees Master of Arts, Master of Science, Master of Education, and Master of Business Administration.

EXTENDED PROGRAMS

An outgrowth of the adult continuing education concept, the School of Extended Programs has developed into a unit responsible for many vital and innovative programs as the college continues its commitment to adjust to the ever-changing educational needs of society. In addition to college-level, non-degree instruction, the School of Extended Programs includes international studies and exchanges, summer sessions, cooperative education, off-campus offerings, and the newly established Center for Experiential Learning.

LIBRARY

The Harvey A. Andruss Library, completed in 1966, houses more than 280,000 bound volumes, 650,000 microtexts, and 1,900 periodicals. The library contains seating for 750 readers, a projection room, a curriculum materials center and an audio-visual materials center. The college's resources are supplemented by interlibrary loans from major American libraries and the Geisinger Medical Center. The library is open 81 hours a week. Students and faculty also have access to the 27,000 volumes of the Bloomsburg Public Library.

PLACEMENT

Bloomsburg possesses an enviable placement report. Of the 989 graduates from the 1976-77 academic year, 78.5% were placed in meaningful employment or were in graduate school one year later.

ALUMNI

Active files of over 18,500 living alumni are kept by the college. Graduates of Bloomsburg have distinguished themselves in areas including law, medicine (a Nobel Prize winner), science, architecture, education, industry, and research.

FUNDING

The college had an operating budget of $20,927,898 for the 1977-78 college year. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania provides approximately 57% of these funds, and the remaining 43% is paid by students.

STUDENT AID

Financial aid is available to undergraduate students through federal and state grants, on-campus part-time employment, private and institutional scholarships, awards, military officer training programs, and loans. Assistantships are available to graduate students.

COSTS

For Pennsylvania residents, basic expenses for the academic year for full-time students are estimated at $2,650, with $950 allotted for basic fee, $1,016 for room and board, $150 for books and supplies, and $550 for personal expenses. A $70 annual student activity fee and a $20 annual fee for the student union must also be paid.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

There are over 50 different clubs, nine social fraternities, eight social sororities, twelve service organizations, five major college publications, a radio station, marching and concert bands, an orchestra, a choir, an art gallery, nine intercollegiate sports for men, and nine intercollegiate sports for women.

Bloomsburg State College is an equal opportunity college.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF BLOOMSBURG STATE COLLEGE WRESTLING

Wrestling had a very sporadic beginning at Bloomsburg State College. The initial wrestling team was organized in 1937 under the direction of Kenneth Horner of Shamokin, Pa. Few members of this particular squad had any wrestling experience whatsoever, leaving Coach Horner with the dubious task of teaching the basic fundamentals to the inexperienced and the finer points to the more experienced members of the squad. Bloomsburg participated in three dual meets that season--losing to Mansfield State College twice and East Stroudsburg State College once, thus ending B.S.C.'s rude initiation to intercollegiate wrestling.

The following year B.S.C. wrestling under Coach Horner was still in the inaugural stages of intercollegiate wrestling, but readily showing signs of improvement. The "Huskies" wrestled four dual meets, winning over Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute and losing twice to Keystone Junior College and once to Mansfield State College. That year the college yearbook stated that the interest of the student body and the contestants in wrestling had grown substantially over the past two years, and that wrestling promised to become a very popular sport at B.S.C.

Interest in wrestling ballooned during the 1937-38 season with the "Huskies" participating in an unprecedented six dual meets-losing five. Captain Walter Woytovich, the backbone of the squad for the past three years, and Coach Kenneth Horner were closing out their respective wrestling careers at the close of the 1937-38 season.

Although it appeared that a team would be taking to the mats the following season, for some undisclosed reason a wrestling squad did not materialize. It wasn't until the 1943-44 school year when the Navy V-12 training program was incorporated in B.S.C.'s curriculum that wrestling re-emerged as a sport of B.S.C.

During the 1944-45 season, Lt. Vincent Olshefski, a Navy Doctor, coached and captained a team that wasn't victorious but provided the majority of area fans with some exciting wrestling action.

Between 1945 and 1954, wrestling interest at B.S.C. deteriorated to the point that wrestling was only used as an occasional intramural sport.

With the intense popularity of intercollegiate wrestling spreading from the mid-west to eastern campuses, it was only a matter of destiny that wrestling should return to B.S.C., thus the "Huskies" were ready for another serious attempt at intercollegiate wrestling. Although Bloomsburg was only victorious one time that season, two wrestlers managed to garner third place finishes in the Teachers College Tournament. Jack Yohe served as the B.S.C. head coach for the 1954-55 wrestling campaign.

The next two years the Huskies were under the direction of newcomer, Walter Blair. Although none of the team members captured a championship, Blair proved to be an enthusiastic coach instilling confidence in his team and providing many enjoyable matches for area wrestling fans.

The 1957-58 season proved to be the turning point in the B.S.C. wrestling program with Russell E. Houk joining the Health and Physical Education staff as Head Wrestling Coach and Athletic Director. Right from the beginning under Coach Houk, the Huskies began to be a dominant force in the Pennsylvania Conference placing second that year and producing an individual champion at 123 pounds, Jim Garman.

The following year, 1959-60 season, the Huskies were undefeated 10-0, won the Pennsylvania Conference title, and also went on to capture B.S.C.'s initial NAIA title, producing the school's first individual national champions in Dale Sullivan at 130 and Robert Rohm at 157, who now serves as a B.S.C. assistant coach to head mentor, Roger Sanders.

Throughout Coach Houk's tenure as head wrestling coach, Bloomsburg was recognized as the team to beat in both the PA Conference and the NAIA. Much of Houk's success as a coach can be attributed to his very austere practice sessions, his extraordinary desire to be a consistent winner, and his uncanny ability to recognize high school talent with the potential of becoming a top notch collegiate performer.

Coach Houk came to the B.S.C. campus after establishing a dual meet high school record of 47-15-0 at the high schools of South Williamsport and Muncy in North-Central Pennsylvania. Subsequently, Houk built many of his powerhouse teams by recruiting locally from area high schools. When he relinquished his coaching position at B.S.C. following the 1970-71 season, he had a dual meet record of 142-34-2. In addition, his A.A.U. team record stood at 10-0-0. During his B.S.C. career, Houk produced five Pennsylvania Conference team champions, forty-one Pennsylvania Conference individual champions, four NAIA team titles, and 12 individual NAIA champions. Three of the wrestlers that he recruited and coached in his final year--Randy Watts, 150, Ron Sheehan, 167, and Floyd "Shorty" Hitchcock, 177, eventually went on to capture NCAA Division II Titles with Hitchcock also gaining the NCAA Division I title under the competent direction of present head mentor, Roger Sanders.

Houk, as a member of the health and physical education staff, has continued to be a prominent figure on the national and international level. Since 1964, he has been involved in setting up development camps for international and olympic competition. He has been chairman of the U.S. Olympic Wrestling Committee and serves as a consultant to the President's Commission on Olympic Sports.

He served as manager of both the 1972 and 1976 Olympic Freestyle Wrestling Teams. Houk was team leader for the American wrestling aggregation that went to the Soviet Union, Poland, and the World Championships in Istanbul in 1974. He was instrumental in bringing both the Polish Greco-Roman team to Bloomsburg in 1974 and the world champion Russian Freestyle wrestling team to Bloomsburg in 1975.

Controversy in athletics at the start of the 1971-72 season, particularly in the wrestling area, resulted in Bloomsburg not having a varsity wrestling team that year.

The fortunes of B.S.C. wrestling again looked up when Roger Sanders, former West Chester State Wrestling Star, was named head coach for the 1972-73 season. During his 4 years at West Chester State, Sanders never lost a dual meet, won 3 Middle Atlantic Championships, and the NCAA College Division title.

A year's lay-off didn't help Sander's first team as the Huskies struggled to 7 win 8 loss season. However, this was the year the B.S.C.'s illustrious Floyd "Shorty" Hitchcock, later dubbed as B.S.C.'s greatest wrestler, began to come into national prominence. After winning the PA Conference title at 190 lbs., Hitchcock proved to be one of the world's finest freestylers capturing the silver medal at the World University Games in Moscow of that year.

Bloomsburg had a very successful 1973-74 season, posting a 17-3 dual record, winning the U.S. Coast Guard Tournament, placing third in the PA Conference, fourth in the Wilkes Open, fifth in the NCAA Division II Tournament, and 15th in the NCAA Division I Tourney.

The climax of the year was Hitchcock winning both the college and university divisions of the NCAA at 177 lbs. and also being named the Outstanding Wrestler in both divisions. Sharing some of the spotlight with Hitchcock, was Ron Sheehan who captured the 167 lb. NCAA Division II Crown.

In 1974-75 the "Huskies" had another outstanding year under coach Roger Sanders with an 11-3-1 dual record, a surprising second place finish in the PA Conference meet, fifth in the Wilkes Open, and an eighth place finish in the NCAA II Tournament.

Randy Watts, 1975 NCAA Division II Champion

Leading the B.S.C. Huskies that year were four All-Americans: senior co-captain Randy Watts, who was the NCAA Division II Champion at 150 and placed sixth in the NCAA Division I Competition; freshman Steve Scheib at 177 lbs. gained All-American status by placing third in the NCAA Division II tourney; senior Matt Tydor, 190, placed fifth in the NCAA Division II; and freshman Tom Fink, 118 lbs. placed fourth in the same competition. It was also the year that Coach Sanders was inducted into West Chester State's Wrestling Hall of Fame.

After a very productive recruiting year, the rebuilding Huskies compiled a dual meet record of 9-8-1 with a starting lineup that consisted of six freshman, three sophomores, and one junior. The B.S.C. squad tied strong East Stroudsburg for their place in the PA Conference Tourney with sophomore Steve Scheib grabbing the 177 lb. title. B.S.C. also finished fifth in the newly formed Eastern Wrestling League. Due to a gradual upgrading process of the B.S.C. Wrestling schedule, the young Huskies wrestled such formidable opponents as Penn State, Navy, Clarion, and Slippery Rock who were ranked ninth, twelfth, eighteenth, and twentieth respectively in the final Amateur Wrestling News NCAA I rankings.

Coach Sanders felt that the Huskies must wrestle the best competition in the United States in order to gain any future national recognition.

B.S.C. may have had better or more exciting seasons, but there was none more gratifying to Coach Sanders than the 1976-77 season. The Huskies posted an 11-4 season mark and after a disappointing sixth place finish in the PA Conference, B.S.C. finished second in the strong Eastern Wrestling League Tournament behind perennial Eastern power, Penn State.

Chris Poff

Carl Poff

The season's big surprise was unseeded Chris Poff capturing the 150 lb. title while second place finishers were Tom Fink (126), Bart McCollum (142), and Andy Cappelli (167). Three other Huskies, Carl Poff (134), Mel Sharp (190), and Tino DiMarco (HWT), placed third in the same competition. As a result of Bloomsburg gaining two wild card selections for third place finishers, a total of six Huskies competed in the annual NCAA Division I Championships at the University of Oklahoma. Unfortunately, the initial match-ups were not too favorable for B.S.C. and consequently, no Husky grappler placed in the competition.

Since the arrival of Head Coach Roger Sanders in the fall of 1972, the B.S.C. Huskies have become a perennial Eastern wrestling power and have also gained recognition on the national level through the periodic NCAA Division I polls in Amateur Wrestling News and National Mat News. Sanders, labeled by many as an excellent wrestling technician in his college days at West Chester State, has also gained tremendous prestige as a coach for the development of NCAA Champions, Floyd "Shorty" Hitchcock (NCAA I & II), Ron Sheehan (NCAA II), Randy Watts (NCAA II), and a total of six B.S.C. All-Americans.

Coach Sander's six year record at B.S.C. stands at 65-29-2. It should also be noted that he received his 100th coaching victory by trouncing his alma mater, West Chester State College, by a score of 35-9 in late January of 1977.

The ever growing enthusiasm of area fans and students, the excellent coaching staffs over the past 30 years, and the consistent crop of top grade collegiate wrestlers have made wrestling a traditional favorite each school year on the campus of Bloomsburg State College.

FLOYD "SHORTY" HITCHCOCK PORTRAIT OF A CHAMPION

Bloomsburg State College has produced many great wrestling champions throughout the years of its intercollegiate existence. Among them are William Garson, a 3 time NAIA champion at 191 lbs. and Hwt. Joseph Gerst, the 1967 NAIA champion at 152 lbs., who is presently the head coach at Mifflinburg High School, and Ron Russo, a 2 time NCAA Division I placewinner now serving as the head wrestling coach at Columbia University. Those are just a few of the many former B.S.C. wrestling greats, but perhaps the greatest wrestler ever to represent the outstanding wrestling tradition at Bloomsburg State College was Floyd "Shorty" Hitchcock.

Floyd Hitchcock, a multi-sport athlete while attending Wyalusing High School, did not begin his illustrious wrestling career until his junior year. Hitchcock learned the basic fundamentals of wrestling very rapidly under the competent direction of his high school coach, Carl Schnure. As Shorty's high school career progressed, he developed tremendous confidence in his new found wrestling ability and displayed an aggressive mat style that eventually made him the "most popular wrestler" in B.S.C. history. Shorty's overall record at Wyalusing High School was 27-1, losing only to the eventual state champion during the 1969 district tournament.

Floyd Hitchcock began his collegiate wrestling career at Bloomsburg State College during the fall semester of 1969 under the able direction of head coach, Russell E. Houk. Hitchcock, being gifted with awesome natural ability, exceptional strength, and uncanny balance showed signs of superstar potential as a frosh by posting a 10-4 record, finishing third in both the Pennsylvania Conference and the NAIA tourney at 177 lbs.

During his sophomore campaign, wrestling at 177 lbs. and 190 lbs. Shorty developed into one of the top collegiate performers in the nation by posting a 19-1 overall mark with 14 falls. Shorty also gained substantial national acclaim during the 1970-71 season by outpointing 1973 Iowa State NCAA champion, Rich Binek, during dual meet activity, winning the Pennsylvania Conference crown at 190 lbs., and placing second in the annual NAIA Championships.

Shorty Hitchcock did not compete on the intercollegiate level during the 1971-72 season due to the discontinuation of the wrestling program at Bloomsburg State College. Despite a full season of intercollegiate dual meet inactivity, Shorty quickly regained his "superstar status" by closing out the 1972-73 season with a 21-0 overall record including 12 falls. Hitchcock's numerous accolades during the 1972-73 campaign included his second Pennsylvania Conference title at 190 lbs., a third consecutive Eastern AAU 180 lb. title at the New York Athletic Club, and the "Outstanding Wrestler Award" in the first annual Bloomsburg Open.

Prior to entering his final year of eligibility as a Husky grappler, Shorty represented Bloomsburg State College at the prestigious World University Games in Moscow of the Soviet Union. He earned the 198 lb. position by besting his fellow collegiate opponents in a qualifying tournament at Anonaka, Minnesota.

Shorty went on to establish himself as one of the top free-stylers in the entire world during the 1973 games by winning the coveted silver medal. He finished second to the Soviet Union's Levan Tediashvili, a 5 time world champion, who has never been beaten during international competition. It should also be noted that Tediashvili went on to win his second consecutive Olympic Gold Medal in Montreal and has been classified by many experts as the top wrestler in the world today.

Floyd "Shorty" Hitchcock's wrestling achievements during his final season of collegiate competition are unparalleled in the annals of B.S.C. wrestling history. He compiled an amazing 34-2-2 overall record during the 1973-74 season. Shorty closed out his dual meet career at Bloomsburg State College by winning an unprecedented 48 of 50 matches since his 1971 dual loss to Russ Johnson of Ohio University. He was tied two times during that unbeaten string; once by former Clarion State NCAA Champion, Bill Simpson, and by monstrous Gene Santoli, a 300 lb. heavyweight from Bucknell University.

Shorty brought Bloomsburg State College into the national lime-light at the close of the 1973-74 wrestling season by winning both the NCAA Division I and Division II titles at 177 lbs. He was also named the Outstanding Wrestler in both NCAA tournaments due to his total domination of each and every opponent. Hitchcock managed to avenge an early season East-West All Star loss to Mel Renfro by scoring a lopsided 10-4 decision over the Washington foe in the NCAA Division I finals. Most of Shorty's success as a wrestler in his senior year at B.S.C. can be attributed to hard work, total dedication, and an undying desire to become a champion.

Floyd Hitchcock went on to coach at Shamokin Area High School after graduating from Bloomsburg State College in 1974. He then moved to the University of North Carolina where he started to work on his Masters degree and also served as assistant coach to head mentor, Bill Lam. Shorty later returned to his alma mater to complete his Masters degree work and assist present head coach, Roger B. Sanders. While assisting Coach Sanders at B.S.C., Shorty briefly returned to the wrestling scene to post victories in the annual Wilkes "Rose Bowl of Wrestling" Open and the Great Plains Open in Nebraska. Hitchcock, who is hoping to gain a berth on the 1980 Olympic team, is currently the head wrestling coach at Lake Lehman Area High School in Pennsylvania.

The countless wrestling accomplishments of Floyd "Shorty" Hitchcock will always serve as an inspiration to future B.S.C. wrestlers and a monument to the fine wrestling tradition at Bloomsburg State College.

A LOOK AT LAST YEARS SEASON

In pre-season tournaments, B.S.C. captured a 1st place in the Central Jersey Open, finished a close 2nd to Penn State University at the East Stroudsburg Open, and won 1st place in their own B.S.C. Invitational. These three team performances seem to demonstrate the validity of Amateur Wrestling News' pre-season ranking of B.S.C. in the Top 20 Division I teams nationally.

Four dual meets were wrestled in less than one week prior to Christmas vacation. Hope was running high, especially after a sound victory (30-11) over the University of Pittsburgh. Cal Poly (ranked in the top 10) gave B.S.C.'s hope of an undefeated season a jolt with a convincing 29-8 victory. Thus B.S.C. went into the Wilkes Open during the last week of December with a 3-1 dual meet record. Even with a number of individuals wrestling up a weight, B.S.C. finished a close 2nd to Clarion State in the team race.

Following New Year's, but still during the semester break, B.S.C. easily defeated three Virginia Colleges in a quadrangular meet at George Mason University. In fact, one meet was a shut-out (59-0) and the other two came within one match of a shut-out - one draw and one decision prevented that. Two days later the team won the University of Delaware Invitational.

With the opening of the Spring Semester, came the heart of the dual meet season. But as has happened of late, the weather did not cooperate. Matches with Clarion and Shippensburg were cancelled because of the flu and never rescheduled. Another three dual meet victories set the stage for the Penn State match at B.S.C. With the outcome in doubt throughout the evening, Penn State finally pulled ahead in the final two bouts to come out on the top end of a 19-14 score. The defeat put the B.S.C. season record at 9-2.

A good performance at Lock Haven State (25-8) was followed by a poor one at the University of Buffalo (16-25) - a team which B.S.C. has yet to defeat in a dual meet. By this time the "flu bug" was already taking its toll as Clarion also lost to Buffalo. With the Pennsylvania Conference Tournament only one week off, predictions of the final team standings were practically non-existent. Most of the twelve conference teams were experiencing "flu" problems. A number of individuals were either held out of the tournament or withdrawn during competition. B.S.C. came home with a 3rd place finish, only ½ point out of second (Slippery Rock); Clarion was once again the team champion. Tony Caravella (150) and Andy Cappelli (177) won conference titles.

A dual with East Stroudsburg was cancelled the following week because of the "flu bug". The dual meet season ended with a big win over Millersville (33-6). Runner up NCAA Division III Champions.

The Eastern Wrestling League Championships, the qualifying tournament for the NCAA - Division I Championships were hosted by B.S.C. during the first week of March. Cleveland State University and West Virginia University were competing for the first time as new members of the expanded EWL. B.S.C. sent 9 men into the semi-finals, but when the round was completed only 3 advanced to the finals: Tony Caravella (150), Dom DiGioacchino (177), and Mel Sharp (HWT). There were near misses at 126 - Tom Fink, 142 - Glenn Schneider, and 167 - Andy Cappelli. In the finals Tony defaulted, Dom beat Pfautz of Penn State, and Mel lost to Tim Payne of Cleveland State. The team standings were Penn State, Cleveland State, B.S.C., Pitt, Clarion, Lock Haven, and West Virginia.

The NCAA Division I Championships were held at the University of Maryland, March 15-18. Tony won his first match but then lost to an eventual place winner from Arizona State. Dom (seeded 8th) and Mel both lost first round matches. All three were ineligible for wrestle-back competition since none of their opponents advanced to the semi-final round.

Again to quote Coach Sanders, "I was particularly proud of this year's TEAM!"

ROGER B. SANDERS BLOOMSBURG STATE COLLEGE HEAD WRESTLING COACH

Winning wrestling teams have become a tradition at Bloomsburg State College, and Coach Roger B. Sanders and former mentor Russell Houk have been responsible for building an outstanding program and gaining national recognition for the college.

Sanders is in his seventh year as head coach of the B.S.C. Huskies. His 11-3 record for the 1977-78 season is the sixth consecutive year his team has had a winning season. Sanders' overall six year record is 65-29-2.

Last year the Huskies placed first in the Central Jersey Open, the B.S.C. Invitational, and the University of Delaware Invitational; second in the Wilkes Open and East Stroudsburg Open; third in the Eastern Wrestling League and the Pennsylvania Conference Championships; and was ranked in the nation's top twenty NCAA Division I teams twice.

Sanders has had three national champions. In 1974, Floyd "Shorty" Hitchcock (177 lbs.) and Ron Sheehan (167 lbs.) won NCAA Division II and Hitchcock went on to win the NCAA Division I (university championships); he was voted Most Outstanding Wrestler in both tournaments. Randy Watts (150 lbs.) won a NCAA Division II championship in 1975.

Sanders serves as a clinician at many of the outstanding wrestling clinics and camps throughout the United States. He has just completed his fourth successful year at directing the Husky Wrestling School at Bloomsburg State College.

A native of Fairless Hills, Pennsylvania, Sanders graduated from West Chester State College where he won three Middle Atlantic University Division Championships and a NCAA College Division Championship. During his four years of wrestling, he never lost a dual meet.

Roger entered Ball State University, Muncie, Indiana, in September 1965 on a graduate assistantship where he taught in the major physical education program and served as assistant wrestling coach. For two years he was the head coach of wrestling and assistant football coach at Palmyra High School near Harrisburg, Pa. He then took a program at New York University that had previously had four successive losing seasons and turned it into a winner. During the five years his teams had an overall record of 50-18-1, won the Metropolitan I Wrestling Association Championships. For this achievement, he was voted Coach of the Year in the Metropolitan Conference.

He has served as treasurer of the NCAA Division II Wrestling Coaches Association and was nominated to the Executive Council of The United States Wrestling Federation for the state of Pennsylvania. He was recently inducted into the West Chester State College Hall of Fame.

He is married to the former Nancy E. Johnston of Gary, Indiana. They have two daughters, Julie Lea, age 11 and Traci Lyn, age 5. The Sanders reside at 7075 Scenic Drive, Scenic Knolls, Bloomsburg, Pa.

J. CALVIN WALKER Assistant Coach

J. Calvin Walker, Ed. D. begins his fifth year of donating his assistance to Coach Sanders. His contributions center on the academic and organizational aspects of B.S.C.'s wrestling program. He is responsible for the wrestlers' freshman orientation, class scheduling, and overall academic advisement. Dr. Walker also directs tournaments, assists with on-campus summer camps, promotes public relations, and accompanies the squad on away trips. While one of three assistants, he is the only B.S.C. faculty member. He joined the Psychology Department in 1967 and currently holds the rank of full professor.

Born in DeKalb, Illinois, Dr. Walker moved to Pittsburgh where he wrestled for Shaler High School. He earned a B.A. from Muskingum College (1962) in New Concord, Ohio, where he was a 4-year letterman in wrestling. He then attended Temple University, receiving both Ed. M. (1965) and Ed. D. (1973) degrees in Educational Psychology, with an emphasis in educational research and measurement. His wife Judy teaches part-time for the B.S.C. English Department. The Walkers reside in Danville, Pa. with their two sons Brent and Ross, ages 10 and 7.

BOB ROHM Assistant Coach

Bob Rohm, an outstanding football, wrestling, and baseball performer at Muncy High School, continued his three-sport participation at Bloomsburg State College (1956-1960) where he earned his Bachelor of Science degree. He became the only 12 letter winner in the college's history.

Rohm was a two-time Pennsylvania Conference wrestling champion at 157 lbs. and his senior year copped an NAIA national title.

He taught and coached at Montgomery High School for three years and at Bloomsburg High School for 11 years prior to his present position as head football coach at Central Columbia High School.

His Master of Science degree in education was received from B.S.C.

ROB JOHNSON
Assistant Coach

Rob Johnson - Pennsylvania State College - Conference Champ. Post collegiate competition, 135 wins. Placed 8th in 1977 National AAU's, qualifying for final world team. Pan-Am team trials. Shikellamy Jr. High Coach, 1976 - 3-4, 1977 - 5-1, 1978 - 8-0-1. Head coach, 1977, Maryland USWF Junior National Team.

Chris Poff, Jr.
Student Coach

PAUL G. SLOCUM
Physical Therapist

Paul Slocum, a native of Massachusetts, was appointed Physical Therapist at Bloomsburg State College in the fall of 1972. He received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Dakota Wesleyan University, S. Dakota, and was awarded his Certificate of Physical Therapy from the School of Allied Medical Professions, University of Pennsylvania.

H. CECIL TURBERVILLE, JR. Athletic Director

H. Cecil Turberville, Jr., was named Athletic Director last September after serving in an acting capacity in that position for the latter part of the summer. He was a former assistant athletic director under Dr. Conrad A. Bautz who resigned his position as department chairman and athletic director to go to SUNY Potsdam, New York.

A member of the Physical Education Department since January 1966, Turberville received both his Bachelor of Science and Master of Arts degrees from the University of Alabama in his native state. He previously served as an assistant football coach and trainer in the late 60's.

He coached a variety of sports on the high school level before coming to Bloomsburg. He is married to Ann Hardy and has a strong interest in sports medicine.

BRUCE "NICK" DIETTERICK Sports Information Director

Bruce "Nick" Dietterick, a native of Berwick, Pa., and a 1947 graduate of Penn State, joined the public relations department of Bloomsburg State College in August, 1963. He currently serves as both director of public information and sports information director; the latter entails publicity for the college's 17 varsity sports.

Dietterick has a background in sports participation. After playing for a championship high school basketball team, he was a member of the varsity basketball and golf teams of both Temple and Penn State Universities while pursuing his degree in journalism. He later played in the Eastern Professional Basketball League for six years.

Dietterick coached in the Eastern Pro League for a short while and served as golf coach at B.S.C. in 1965. In former years, he participated in area basketball and golf clinics.

Recently, he was cited by the Director of the National Wrestling Hall of Fame for submitting an extremely complete history on the Bloomsburg State College wrestling program. The book has been placed on special display in the Hall of Fame to be viewed by visitors.

A world war II Army Air Corps veteran, Dietterick was associated with a private industry in a number of administrative capacities for 14 years prior to coming to B.S.C.

Dietterick is a member of the College Sports Information Directors of America. He and his wife Shirley reside in Berwick and have three sons: Bruce III, a dentist in Morgantown, W. Virginia; Gary, an optometrist in Easton, Pa.; and Brian, a student at B.S.C. (Office Phone: 717-389-3411 -- Home Phone: 717-752-7578).

PERSPECTIVES ON THIS YEAR'S (1978-79) SEASON

The Huskies have lost only two regulars from last year's squad. Gone are Tom Fink (126) and Chris Poff (158), though Chris is assisting Coach Sanders this season. Duane Powlus, the Husky Award winning freshman from Central Columbia High School, will sit out this season. However, the outstanding freshman wrestler two years ago, Bucky McCollum (Shikellamy H.S.), is returning after a shoulder injury and will move up to 158. Junior Tino DiMarco, who redshirted last year, will be back to battle for the HWT spot in the lineup. Bucky and Tino are former NCAA Division I qualifiers.

Leading the returning lettermen will be the team's outstanding wrestler, Tony Caravella (150), who paced the team in points scored and received the Saga Trophy as the Outstanding B.S.C. Underclassman Athlete during the 1977-78 school year. Carl Poff, last year's captain and co-winner of the Husky Award, as well as the "OW" at the East Stroudsburg Open, will be back for his senior year at 134. Two other seniors, Andy Cappelli (up a weight to 177) and Mel Sharp (190 or HWT), along with junior Dom DiGiacchino (down a weight to 167) bring the number of returning Division I qualifiers to five. Together with Bucky and Tino, this gives Coach Sanders the likelihood of a lineup including seven wrestlers with Division I National Tournament experience.

Additionally, there are returning letterman at the three remaining weights: Mike Nock - last year's outstanding freshman 118 pounder, Joe Dougherty - injured much of last year at 126, and senior Glenn Schneider - B.S.C.'s "most improved" wrestler at 142. Another of last year's excellent freshmen, Butch Snyder, will be battling for a varsity spot at 177 or 190. Andy and Mel will have to be at their best or will find themselves in the challenger's role.

Sophomore Gibbes Johnson (142), with a great deal of experience and potential, will return to vie for starting position. Matty Simone transferred from Wilkes College and will be tough to keep out of the line up at 126. Leszek Radon, an internationally experienced free-styler, will be looking for a starting spot at 158 or 167, as will a number of returning J.V. performers.

Freshmen with the best credentials include Don Reese (two-time Pa. State Champ from Hughesville) at 126 and Joe Wade (NJ State Champ) at 190. These two high school stars are joined by a large group of other prospects.

The 1978-79 schedule appears to be the toughest yet. The Huskies will meet perennial State College powers Clarion (Top Twenty), East Stroudsburg, Lock Haven, and Millersville (Division III powerhouse). The EWL includes nationally ranked Cleveland State, University of Pittsburgh, and Penn State. Joining the dual meet schedule will be Cal Poly (Top Ten) and Eastern power Hofstra. Clemson, Ohio University and Akron University are new, as is Georgia. Duke, Montclair State, Temple, William & Mary, Virginia, and North Carolina will provide strong opposition in the various invitational tournaments on the schedule.

With the abundance of top teams on the schedule, Nelson Field House will certainly see some great individual match-ups. In keeping with the Bloomsburg wrestling tradition, the 1978-79 season will certainly be one of the most exciting and hopefully the most successful. Coach Sanders would like to make this "the Year".
