

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL TO HAVE A GAME MEET

One of the first game meets of this spring will be held Tuesday, March 31, at 4:15 P. M. The three grades of the Junior High School will take part. The games will be refereed by Senior girls including Florence M. Jones, Millicent Van Zandt, Velma Nelson, Leona Shane, Genevieve Schott. As the captains have not been elected in all classes it is only possible to say that Hill, Hester and Bower have been chosen as captains for some games.

Following is the schedule of games to be played in their order:

Snake Relay—7-8.

Arch Ball—7-9.

Throw and Catch—8-9.

Center Ball—8-9.

Track Racing—7-9.

The judges for the games are:

Snake Relay—Verna Davis, Lora Woodworth.

Arch Ball—Geneva Schott, Leona Shane.

Throw and Catch—Millicent Van Zandt, Verna Davis.

Center Ball—Florence M. Jones.

Track Racing—Velma Nelson, Lora Woodworth.

The number of girls participating in the games are:

Snake Relay—10.

Arch Ball—10.

Throw and Catch—12.

Center Ball—10 in each team.

Track Racing—14 in each team.

Each game will be played two out of three times to decide the winners, and the first place in each game will score five points, the second place three points.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank Miss Ward, Miss Crieter and Mr. Englehart for their co-operation with the dining-room and meals, and the individual members of the tournament committees; Mr. Nelson, faculty manager; Zimolzak, student tournament manager; Cooper, assistant student tournament manager; Laubach, finance manager; Kazlusky, Fitzpatrick, Beshel, Jameison, Sterner, Lanche, Jones, members of the reception committee; Schuyler and Jenkins, scorers; Najaka, timer; Keen and Dugan, Housing committee.

It was only by the willing co-operation of all that it was possible to bring about the best and largest high school Basket Ball Tournament ever held in the history of the institution.

Signed George Meade.

TAYLOR CROWNED CHAMPIONS

Taylor High School won the championship of the B. S. N. S. tourney last Saturday night by defeating Wilkes-Barre High School (last year's title winners) by a score of 17-15.

I will not attempt to write every individual game played during the tournament because in order to mention all the good points of all the games would require more space than the entire edition of this paper. However, there was more good, clean, fast basketball displayed than ever before at this institution.

As was mentioned every individual game will not be written up but I noticed an article in the Wilkes-Barre Sunday Independent concerning the Taylor-Wilkes-Barre tilt. The Independent states that many of the timekeepers along the side lines claimed that the game was allowed to run more than a minute overtime (which time of course gave Taylor 1 basket) and that several seemingly perfect field goals were made by the Wilkes-Barre players which were not counted.

Now we would like to know the timekeepers along the side lines. They must have been some men to keep strictly accurate time with an ordinary time watch. In reference to the field goals, the only ones they shot were after the whistle blew and of course everybody knows they don't count.

In regards to the decisions made during all the Wilkes-Barre games it is the opinion of 90 per cent. of the people that Wilkes-Barre got about every thing. In the Taylor game they had 19 foul trials against 9 for Taylor, in the Trevorton game 17 tries against 8 for Trevorton, against Kingston 16 to 19 for Kingston, and in the Duryea game 19 to 9 for Duryea. It doesn't look as if they got such a bad deal does it?

Of course we knew that Wilkes-Barre was a hard losing town ever since the Wyoming game when B. S. N. S. Varsity defeated the strong Wyoming Seminary team at Kingston. The Wilkes-Barre Record did not even mention the game in their paper while we know if "Sem" had won they would have had extra large print in the head lines on the front page.

The tournament ran off smoothly from beginning to end and was by far the best ever held in this section of the state. Much of the credit for the success of this annual event must be attributed to the tireless efforts of Coach Meade and also to all the committee men for all were instrumental in bringing about the successful operation of all the events.

After the final game of the tournament the awards were presented by Mr. Moorehead, a member of the Department of Instruction from Pennsylvania and secretary of the P. I. A. A. to which all the contesting high school teams belong. The awards for the best center, best guard, and best forward, were gold basket balls; for each member of the championship team, gold medals; and for each member of the second team silver medals. The team winning second prize received a silver loving-cup while the championship team won a large silver basket ball finely mounted.

There were seven judges and the INSTALLATION OFFICERS AT Y. W. C. A. TONIGHT

At 6:30 this evening a very impressive candle-light service will be held in the auditorium at which the new Y. W. C. A. cabinet members will be installed in their respective offices. Although this is an annual event, this year's service will be the best ever held here. The girls of both old and new cabinets will be dressed in white, the auditorium will be lighted solely with candles, and—oh, well, if you want to know the rest of it just come and see it for yourself. It will be more interesting to see it than to read about it, anyway.

The officers and chairmen of the committees of the cabinet to be installed are:

President—Edith Morris.

Vice President—Laura Mann.

Secretary—Elgie Prutzman.

Treasurer—Kathryn Monro.

Ass't. Treasurer—Betty Ohlman.

Devotions—Margaret Kraft.

Social Committee—Gertrude Custer.

Music—Lucille Kaufman.

Missionary—Fannie Hilbert.

Social Service—Marion Shelbert.

Publicity—Mary Isaacs.

Bible Study—Margaret Lambert.

Miss Mason is the faculty advisor.

The retiring cabinet is composed of the following:

President—Nadine Rice.

Vice President—Clara Martin.

Secretary—Betty Davison.

Treasurer—Gladys Morgan.

Ass't. Treasurer—Jennie Jones.

Devotions—Thelma Armstrong.

Social—Betty Davis.

Publicity—Hope Dennis.

Social Service—Ruth Owens.

Bible Study—Pearl Radel.

Music—Ruth Thomas.

Missionary—Ruth Walper.

Under-graduate Representative—Gretchen Culver.

DOUBLE QUARTETTE HIGHLY COMMENDED

Sunday evening, the members of the B. S. N. S. double quartette climbed another step in their ladder of success. From Station WBAX, they broadcasted a very delightful dinner program which was well received by their visible and invisible audience.

The microphone of Station WBAX is located in the Blue Room of Hotel Sterling at Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania. The fact that there were diners in the same room as the singers did not affect their presentation of the program.

Many calls were received by the announcers for the quartette before the end of the first group and also during the remainder of evening.

Miss Perner was very well pleased with the manner in which "her warblers" did their work.

CURTAIN FALLS ON GOOD SEASON

With the winning of its fifth consecutive basketball game from Wyoming Seminary, its ancient rival, on Saturday, the Bloomsburg State Normal School quintette under the tutelage of George M. Mead lowered the curtain on another successful court season.

Although the record compiled by the 1925 team was not as illustrious as that made by the team a year ago the season as a whole was one of the best ever enjoyed by a Maroon and Gold quintette.

With the best of the normal school and preparatory school teams in Central Pennsylvania met during the year eleven of the 16 games were won. The five defeats were administered by Bellefonte Academy, Stroudsburg Normal and the Dickinson College Junior Varsity. The first two named defeated Bloomsburg both on their home courts and at Bloomsburg while Dickinson registered a close victory at Carlisle.

Both Bellefonte and Stroudsburg were represented by exceptionally strong and well balanced teams. Few teams gave either five a real battle during the season while frequently the score on an opponent was tripled.

Bloomsburg has to its credit double victories over its traditional foe Wyoming, Dickinson Seminary, Mansfield Normal, Rochester Optical College and Shippensburg Normal. Dickinson's Junior Varsity also was defeated here.

Joseph Kazlusky, captain of the Bloomsburg team, rounded out one of the finest seasons of his brilliant court career. He took part in every game during the season, scored not less than 2 points in each game and led his team mates in scoring although playing a guard position, by making 95 points for the season.

His work in all of the games was good but in the contests against the Stroudsburg Normal and Wyoming teams his work was outstanding. While his play was spectacular the work of his team mates was also good. Sack, varsity guard for two years, played his usual steady, dependable game. Arch Turner, also a player of two years' experience, rounded out a creditable season and was runner up for individual scoring honors having one point less than his captain, a total of 95. Sack was third high with 70 points.

Chester Zimolzak forced to step in as varsity pivot man when it was found that Joseph Schwall, first choice tap off man for the two previous seasons would be unable to take part in most of the games, developed into a hard working, steady man. He was always at his best in a close game and his work in the Stroudsburg and Wyoming games was especially good.

Haupt and Jenkins played well at forward the former filling Jenkins' shoes admirably when the latter was forced to the side lines with a sprained ankle in mid-season.

A Bloomsburg team in some years has not been blessed with reserve material of such quality as the team this season had. Coach Mead had a squad of ten men who played fine ball while there was little difference in ability

PROF. BEEBE IN THE SARGASSO SEA LITERARY DIGEST

That "Port of Missing Ships" in the North Atlantic, a mysterious sea of weeds and tropic haze and strange creatures set in the middle of the ocean is under investigation by Prof. Beebe, naturalist and explorer. Nine years ago this Tropical Research Station was established by the New York Zoological Society under Prof. Beebe's direction.

On this planet of ours it is believed by scientists that the ocean will be the last area to give up to its vast secrets. It is very hard for our imagination, no matter how vivid, to depict the creatures which must inhabit this region of total darkness, utter silence and bitter cold.

The Sargasso Sea is famed in romantic legend. The Phoenicians said the Atlantic was a place of dreadful darkness, a muddy and shallow sea, where great morasses of strange growth waited to twine their slimy tendrils about any ship that ventured there and hold it a helpless prisoner for ever. A belief still exists that the Sargasso Sea is a graveyard for ships.

Prof. Beebe has sailed in the Arc-turns. For experimental purposes a large laboratory has been built containing every facility for the intensive study of captured specimens; tanks and wells have been installed to keep fish alive, as well as cages for large birds and reptiles. A special dark room for the study of one of the most interesting specimens of the ocean's depth—the luminescence deep sea fish—has been provided. Many of these creatures, incredibly grotesque in form, carry lights furnished by their own bodies. One of the problems that Prof. Beebe desires to solve is how this light is made to eradicate the blackness of the fish's environment.

Prof. Beebe says that their ship resembles a pirate's raft and in a way they are pirates of the deep raiding the inhabitants of the sea and anchoring to investigate the lives of the captives. Seated on a boom plank which can be lowered into the water, and clad in a helmet the observer can be let down in mid-ocean to spy on the busy life of the aquatic jungle.

Here little Sargasso fish climb about branches, clinging with fingered fins and in masses of vegetation build their nests of transparent isinglass, spun from her own body. Barnacles of many queer shapes make up for a sedentary existence by violently kicking their food into their mouths with their feet; creatures that might be animal or vegetable, ceaselessly wave delicate fronds and tentacles in soft yellow light that filters down through the floating forest. From the upper strata a constant rain of tiny bodies sifts down to where other organisms wait hopefully for the never failing source of supply.

After Prof. Beebe spends two months in the Argasso Sea he will return toward the Pacific where he plans to revisit the Galapagos.

To the students pursuing Prof. Hartline's work this review should be of interest. If by chance you have an inclination for this type of work continue your diligent study under Prof. Hartline's direction and perhaps some day you may unearth something as interesting as the Sargasso Sea!

selections for awards were as follows: Best center—Dunkelberger, Trevorton High School; best forward—Evans, Taylor High School; best guard—Williams, Taylor High School. The second selections were: Center—Barrett, Newport High School; forward, Alper, Wilkes-Barre High School; guard, Tonkin, Wilkes-Barre High School. The choice team was composed of Evans and Alper forwards, Dunkelberger center, Williams and Tonkin guards. Each member of Taylor's team received a gold medal while the Wilkes-Barre boys received silver medals. Captain Mulligan of Taylor accepted the big silver basket ball for his team and Alper the loving cup for Wilkes-Barre.

A complete list of the scores is as follows:

- 1st game—Hanover H. S. 24; Plymouth H. S. 18.
- 2nd game—Wilkes-Barre H. S. 28; Duryea H. S. 16.
- 3rd game—Kingston H. S. 20; Freeland H. S. 10.
- 4th game—Taylor H. S. 21; Nescopec H. S. 10.

- 9th game—Wilkes-Barre H. S. 23; Trevorton H. S. 18.
- 10th game—Taylor H. S. 23; Newport H. S. 19.
- 11th game—Kingston H. S. 23;

Flo Jones—"Bring me some paper and a pencil, I want to draw somebody's attention."

- West Pittston H. S. 14.
- 12th game—Hanover H. S. 18; Berwick H. S. 16.
- 13th game—Wilkes-Barre H. S. 19; Kingston H. S. 17.
- 14th game—Taylor H. S. 27; Hanover H. S. 5.
- 15th game—Taylor H. S. 17; Wilkes-Barre H. S. 15.

The tournament was played on a strictly elimination basis, as soon as a team lost one game they were eliminated from further competition. The first 12 games were played on Friday, March 20th, and the last three Saturday March 21st.

The line ups for the teams that clashed in the semi-finals and finals are:

HER LESSON

Betty Lawson was a care-free, fun-loving girl at Normal whose ever-increasing popularity seemed based on these two qualities. She was very good in all her studies except one which she abhorred, English. Study as she might she was not able to master it and almost gave up hope of ever trying to succeed in it.

The time for the annual Junior Prom was nearing, as was also the semester exam. in English. When approached on the subject of the exam. Betty lost her pep, but when the prom was mentioned she suddenly rejuvenated.

Spring had arrived and Betty was hiking and playing as much as ever. Studies seemed to disappear from her mind. One afternoon while out walking on the campus, however, the question came to her like a thunder bolt, "When is my English exam?" Upon inquiring she found out that it was to be the day after the Junior Prom. What was she to do? Go to the Prom and flunk her exam. or stay away and pass?

Each day the same question arose in her mind and I must say instead of buckling down to work she still continued to be lazy at her job.

The day before the Prom came and while attending her last English class before the exam. she was paralyzed by hearing professor say: "All ten reports on the following books must be in by the morning of the exam." Coming to her senses finally Betty realized that she had not read one of the required books for a report. And the Prom and exam. so near!

Shaken, she went out of class to the school library where she found that all the books were in use except one. She took that one and began to read. Finally that one was finished and procuring five more she went to her room. Supper time came and no Betty, but her roomie decided that she must have gone out for dinner. Imagine her surprise when she went to her room and found the door locked with the following sign tacked outside, "Don't Disturb." She called but the only thing she could hear was a mumbling of words. She then really decided that Betty must be studying.

The day of the prom dawned beautiful but it was very dreary for Betty. She was still writing reports and

ENJOYABLE BIRTHDAY PARTY

A very delightful surprise party was given in honor of Gretchen Culver's and Betty Sieber's birthdays, Thursday evening. The girls of Miss Conway's table had it very artfully planned. They all met in Miss Conway's office and led Gretchen and Betty out, "they knew not where." Finally after much guessing on Betty's and Gretchen's part, the party landed at the Magee Hotel where they all enjoyed a big turkey dinner.

Miss Conway was detained in Wilkes-Barre on business so Miss Ruth Tempest chaperoned the party.

Needless to say, everyone had a very enjoyable time. Those present were: Edna Brotherton, Ruth Jenkins, Alice Stead, Jessie Zimmerman, Catherine Price, Betty Sieber, Gretchen Culver, and Ruth Tempest.

realized that there was lots of cramming to be done if she was to pass. She just couldn't do both she knew, and although her friends offered to help her she was inconsolable as she knew it was her own fault. Evening drew near and her hopes were smashed finer every minute. Tearfully she saw her roomie depart jubilantly happy for the prom. She poured over her book until it seemed she must know it by heart, but her thoughts rather than being on the subject matter in it were distracted by the jazz that floated to her from the hall. Gritting her teeth she put her hands to her ears and read and re-read the same paragraph until she understood it. Soon the strains of "Home, Sweet, Home" drifted up to her and she heard excited voices in the halls. Closing the book she waited for her roomie.

"Oh, my dear, we had a scrumptious time! It's a shame you didn't go!" greeted that person entering the room with a bang.

Betty, on the point of breaking down yet triumphant, said, "Well, you've had a good time, but I've learned my lesson—Never put off till tomorrow what you can do today."

SENIOR GLEE CLUB INSIGHT

For the first time this year the Senior Glee Club has worked up some sort of fun. This so-called fun will take the form of a party on March 27, in the Normal Gym. Although this is the first one we really shall have, it is not the first one that was planned. The first "planned" party should have been held about two weeks sooner but owing to the abundance of pleasure in the past two weeks, we postponed it and I think wisely.

Committees have been formed by Miss Geisinger, president of the club. Those of the social committee are Edith Harris, Clara Martin and Flo. Jones. The Decorating committee members are Lillian Kester and Betty Brooks. The Refreshment committee members are Pauline Hassler, Teppie Armstrong.

These Committees are working in their respective places to make this party a real honest-to-goodness success.

It has been decided that the color scheme will be green and white, suggestive of St. Patrick's Day.

Members, don't miss the treat!

MU PHI SIGMA HAS CARD PARTY

Tuesday evening the second number of the social calendar of the Mu Phi Sigma culminated in a progressive bridge and "500" party in Science Hall. The members were glad that both their faculty advisors, Miss Moore and Miss Mason, were able to be present. Dainty refreshments consisting of ice-cream, cake, and candy were served. The room was attractively decorated in keeping with St. Patrick's Day.

Millicent Van Zandt was the recipient of the first prize in bridge and Mivra Miller was the fortunate donee of the "booby," while first prize in "500" was awarded to Ruth Thomas and Helen Dickinson the "booby."

NORMAL ELECTS CAPTAINS

At a meeting of the letter men of the Football and Basketball teams last week Haupt and Jenkins were elected captains respectively.

Haupt was a former Trevorton star and was half-back on Normal's squad last year. He played a hard clean game until toward the close of the season when he received a broken collar bone in scrimmage. The bone has entirely mended and Haupt should have a successful season next year. Besides football, Haupt is also a letter man in basketball and in baseball, one of the few three letter men at the school.

Jenkins is a product of Wanamee, Newport Township, where he played on the high school teams. During the past basketball season Jenks was a varsity forward but only played in half the games due to an injured ankle. Jenks is also a three letter man, being the center fielder on last year's football squad and winning his football "B" via the student managerial role.

Both Haupt and Jenkins will have to work hard to fill their positions for ex-captain Fitzpatrick, left end on the football team, and Kazlusky, ex-captain and back guard on the basketball squad, were the equal of any men turned out by this institution. The new captains-elect are, however, popular and hard working men and we feel confident they will come thru with honors.

A POINTER ON POINTS

The punctuation marks have personality. The period is imperative. It says "Stop here?" The comma is a free and easy little chap. He says, "Slow up a bit, get your breath, and then trot along." The colon calls, "Oh, look what's coming—get ready!" Quotation marks give notice that the writer is letting some one else do the talking for a while. Parentheses mark the side paths when we leave the main line for a detour. Asterisks flash the message: "We're skipping something." The hyphen is a notice of partnership; sort of a typographical wedding ring.—Edward N. Teall in The Inland Printer.

Usher (at concert)—"Where would you like to sit, up front, half way or in the back?"

Joe Kane—"If you please I'd like to sit down."

BASEBALL STARTED

Monday night Coach Mead called out the baseball men for the first out-door workout of the season. About 45 candidates reported and there is at least 2 men for every position. It is too early as yet to predict the outcome but some of the new material seems good. With the exception of Brotherston, all last year men are on the eligible list.

Base ball schedule for 1925:
Saturday, April 18th—Susquehanna Univ.—Away.

Saturday, April 25th—Mansfield Normal—At Home.

Saturday, May 2nd—Wyoming Seminary—At Home.

Wednesday, May 6th—Stroudsburg Normal—At Home.

between the first and second fives.

Following Kazlusky, Turner and Sack for scoring honors were Haupt with 42 points. Zimolzack with 34, Jenkins with 32, Cooper with 23, Schwall with 18, Walsh with 16, Zeveny with 11, Stoker with 6, Austin with 5 and VanBuskirk with 4. Normal scored a total of 450 points against 374 for their opponents.

Coach Mead is well satisfied with the record of the team but with practically all of the varsity squad and reserve squads returning to the school next year he hopes to turn out one of the best fives of all time during the season of 1926. Of the first team all of the members will probably return next year.

The record of the team for the season follows:

Recent News From Washington Set Us Thinking

Cabinet changes are reported. Why, we have them everyday.

Shirts come in and shirts go out---especially go out at this season when price revisions of 65c to $3.00 apply to so many shirts.

Every shirt thus retired to private life, we trust has long life and gives happiness; and though it may seem hard to find another one so handsome to take its place in our cabinets, somehow one is found and trade goes merrily on.

Thus is prosaic Commerce linked with Statesmanship, and our glass Cabinets of Shirts with the Cabinet in Washington.
