Beat Oswego Team!

Maroon and Gold

Welsh Choir Tonight

State Teachers College, Bloomsburg, Pennsylvania

VOL. X-NO. 4

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1932

PRICE FIVE CENTS

DR. FRANCIS HAAS ADDRESSES A. A. U. W.

Contribution to National Education Week is the Theme; Films Presented Followed by Informal Social.

WAS HELD IN SCIENCE HALL

The Bloomsburg Chapter of The American Association of University Women sponsored as its contribution to the celebration of National Education Week, an open club meeting held in Science Hall, Monday evening, November 7. Dr. Francis B. Haas' was speaker of the evening. His address was devoted to the current problems of educators in Pennsyl-

He began with an explanation of the inter-relation of the social and educational ideals which are in some Davis, Harold O'Brien and Dick Kelly. instances linked with the governmental ideal, as in Russia and Italy at the present. Dr. Haas differentiated between the terms schooling, which is to be understood as the participation in school activities and education, which is to be understood as an activity which conditions man's response to a situation. He traced the thread of this educational ideal through Greek, Roman, Early Christian, Medieval, and Reformation periods, down guests at the dinner. to our own time.

In the early history of the race the family bore the responsibility of conditioning the child's responses or informal education. But as civilization became increasingly complex an outside agent had to be provided to meet this need; the school. This is the agency which man has established and to which he has assigned the task of training the future citizen that he may function efficiently in the social

Dr. Haas continued by pointing out the essential difference between the older and contemporary conceptions of education. The older of the two interpeted education to mean the training of a child while he was a Bloomsburg High child for the responsibility of citizenship which he should come into suddenly when he became an adult. The present conception interpets educathe adult stage of development.

Continued On Page Four

First Formal Dance Will be December 3

A Washington Bi-Centennial dance, by the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A., will be held in the gymnasium on the evening of December 3. Decerations will be of red, white and blue, symbolic of this year's National celebration. Mr. Keller is working out a unique decorating scheme, and all committees will begin work immediately after vacation. All members of the student body and guests are invited program of music is promised.

Home Coming Drew Large Crowds

SEVERAL MEMBERS

Alpha Psi Omega Initiate Five New DEFEATS SHIPPENSBURG 6-0 The Challenger Confronting the Members: Working on Play to be Produced Before the Christmas Holidays.

vices Thursday, November 3. Five new members were pledged to the fraternity, each having completed the National and local requirements for admission. The new members are:

On Saturday, November 5, a delightful banquet of old and new members was held at the Hotel Magee. Many alumni members were present at this reunion which has become an annual feature of the fraternity social calendar. Tom Coursen proved himself a very able toastmaster and past presidents responded readily at his call. Dean and Mrs. Sutliff and Miss Helen Sutliff were our special program began at 11:00 o'clock and religious faith and idealism. The su-

Each fraternity member is working produced the Thursday night before music. Christmas. The play which has been selected is a Christmas play, "The Fool," by Channing Pollock, which to instill the Christmas spirit in their hearts as they leave for home celebrations.

The officers of this fraternity for the year are as follows: President, Thomas Coursen; Secretary, Mary Betterly; Treasurer, Aldwin Jones.

School Issues Paper

The first number of the Blooms- Leap Year Dance tion as the whole development of a burg High School publication, "The child, which should include such acti-vities during childhood as the child ber 18, 1932. This high school paper will be called upon to participate in is a member of the Pennsylvania on a larger scale, when he reaches State Press Association and the Na- there will be a Leap Year Dance, the this year. Several varsity men have Maroon and Gold Band, outfitted in tional Scholastic Press Association. At intervals of approximately ten Miss Dorothy DuBois, Editor-in-chief Bloomsburg. years, education in Pennsylvania is and Erma Keeber, Associate Editor, subjected to the spotlight of public have a very large and capable staff to tend. Everyone comes on his own attention. The light is about to be help them make their publication a "hook." There are to be no outside focused on Education this year with great success. The Misses Winifred guests, no programs, and no couples. the coming meeting of the Legisla- Edwards, Esther Girton and Char- Every woman for herself! The girls ture. Certain definite agencies have lotte Mears, former B. S. T. C. stu- are to ask the men for dances. They > those Seniors who are doing student along the side of the floor. The stag teaching in the local high school and line of girls is free to cut in on any thus come in immediate contact with dance. There is to be a tag dance, the students and their activities.

CHORUS REHEARSES

The Girls' Chorus, under the direction of Miss Patterson, has been for some weeks preparing a program to be presented in chapel in the near future.

WORKING THEIR WAY

to attend. Bids have been received of depression seventy per cent of the Tickets may be secured from any from several orchestras so a good students of Temple University are member of the College Social Comworking their way through college. mittee.

Obstacle; Program For Day Real Success; Dance Held in Evening.

Home Coming Day this year was one of the most successful ever staged by our College:

Despite the threatening weather Alumni from all parts of the State together with many parents and friends The members of Alphi Psi Omega of the student body gathered for the Fraternity held their initiation ser- day's events. An estimated crowd of 2.000 attended the game and more than 800 were served at dinner.

The streets, campus and buildings were decorated with the colors of Shippensburg and Bloomsburg. Var-Mary Ruth Rishe, Sarah Lentz, Tom lous committees were up early in the morning getting things in readiness changes, great economic unheavals before the visitors began to arrive. and a new attitude toward the human The crowd appeared early and in- race. The challenge to youth in this creased up until time for the game. Band Concert.

ing natty in new uniforms, made its the personal life. debut with a splendid concert. Because of the damp weather the con-great characters. For great charcert was given in the auditorium in-acters, are needed physical health, stead of on the front Campus. The mental keenness, moral mastery and continued until 11:45, with the band preme goal of all life is found in in charge of Sam Green, drum major Jesus of Nazareth who offers the nobvery hard at the present time on the and student leader. There were sev-lest character, the noblest teachings, annual fraternity play which will be eral hundred present to enjoy the and the noblest cause."

Open House,

has an especially fitting theme of spected the buildings. Hosts and cries "We're changing the world"; in "Service" underlying it. This play hostesses appointed by the Social Con-America the youth cries "We want a will give the students an opportunity tral Committee were stationed in the touchdown." Alumni room, along the halls, and in the Day Girls' and Day Boys' Rooms. open for inspection until game time. Real Game,

Bloomsburg has never lost a Home youth. Coming game, and proceeded to live up to the tradition by downing a much heavier Shippensburg team 6 to 0. Mt. Olympus was never more col-

Continued On Page Four

Tomorrow Night

Saturday evening, November 19,

The entire college is invited to atbeen set to work on the problem to dents, are acting as faculty advisors. | will take the men's places in the stag The paper is of special interest to line while the men take the seats and a Paul Jones. The mode of dress is to be strictly informal. Street clothes are the order of the evening. Men! You are guaranteed to be in demand. No male wall-flowers. Absolutely the only chance until 1936. Come and get the thrill of being rushed.

Girls! Here's a wonderful chance to dance with those men you've been wanting to for a long while. Don't forget, every woman for herself!

Only twenty-five cents admission. It is astonishing that in these times | Phil Guinard's orchestra will play.

Threatening Weather Proves No REVEREND CLEMENS

Youth of Today; Two-Fold Purpose in Life; Y. M. C. A. Sponsors Program.

The Reverend Norman Clemens delivered an inspiring address to the college assembly on Monday. His topic was "The Challenge Confronting the Youth of Today.'

Reverend Mr. Clemens anaylsed the present day in terms of its great inventions, great governmental changing world was expressed as being two-fold: First, to Christianize The Maroon and Gold band, look- the social order and second to purify

"Great work can be done only by

Reverend Mr. Clemens impressed upon the assembly the potent power Immediately after lunch the ma- of each of us as future controllers of jority of the parents and Alumni in- future leaders. In Russia the youth spected the buildings. Hosts and cries "We're changing the world"; in

The Reverend Mr. Clemens implied that ours should be a nobler life if Waller Hall and North Hall were also we believed and cried "We're changing the world," but in a manner different from that of the Russian

Squad Ends Their Season Tomorrow

The B. S. T. C. football squad will complete this year's schedule with the Oswega game tomorrow, Although the team has been handed several reverses, the season was a highly successful one. Never has a Bloomsburg team faced as strong competition as been out all season with injuries, others were lost for several games. Tomorrow several men will play their last game for this school. Members of the squad graduating this year are: Turse, Yozviak, Jones, Coursen, Williams, and Potter. Manager Griffiths will also graduate.

Members of the Squad.

Members of the squad who reported, giving the name, residence, age, and weight of each member, follows: Rocco Turse-Hazleton, 21, 175

nounds. Rostand Kelly-Bloomsburg, 20,

170 pounds. Clyde Kitch-Columbia, 21, 170 pounds.

William Young-Hanover Township, 19, 200 pounds. Stove Wozney-Northumberland, 21, 165 pounds, Howard Kreltzer-Mochanicsburg, 21, 160 pounds,

Fred Jaffin-Berwick, 20, 165 pounds.

John Brennan-Carbondale, 19, 180 pounds.

Continued On Page Four

STROUDSBURG DEFEATS BLOOMSBURG 45-0

Team Shows Fight Even in Defeat: Forward Passes and End Runs Conquer Maroon and Gold Squad.

WAS PLAYED AT STROUDSBURG

Stroudsburg's big red football team defeated Bloomsburg's Maroon and Gold eleven in the annual Home Coming Day battle at Stroudsburg. The big red team revenged two former defeats at the hands of the Maroon and Gold after being picked as a favorite to win both games.

Morgan was key man of Stroudsburg's aerial attack which sent Bloomsburg to its first defeat from the big red eleven. Morgan passed and ran the ball completely bewildering our team. He hurled more than a score of passes that found the desired mark. Nathanson, halfback for Stroudsburg, provided a thrill for the Home Coming Day crowd by receiving a punt on his own 40-yard line and raced 60 yards for a touchdown. Bloomsburg's ends were taken out several times by interference and the secondary defense had trouble in making the tackles. Stroudsburg's line refused to be driven back and most of Bloomsburg's passes were broken up.

The line-up: Bloomsburg Kitch _____ L. T. ____ Reeser Potter _____ C. ___ Dubeck Harter ____ R. G. ___ Johnson Wozney ____ R. E. ___ Kennedy Coursen ____ Q. B. ____ Morgan Jaffin _____ L. H. ____ Covena Moleski ____ R. H. ___ Nathanson Mericle ____ F. B. ___ Olshefski

Substitutions - Bloomsburg: Litwhiler for Wozney, Rompola for Mericle; Stroudsburg: Shebby for Covena, Metcalf for Shebby, Shebby for Nathanson, Menze for Covena, Daling for Olshefski,

The Maroon and Gold Band Parades

Making their first appearance in a street parade on Armistice Day, the their snappy new uniforms, gave the people of this community a good impression of their fine organization. Directed by the capable drum major, Mr. Green, they marched and played throughout the parade. In front of the judges stand they formed a letter "B"; while their music, throughout it all, added much to the spirit of the occasion. No student needs to feel ashamed of this worthy organization. as shown by the marked approval of the Armistice Day gathering; and furthermore all should join in and give it their continuous support.

FREE COURES AT LAFAYETTE

Lafayette College's unemployment college has entered its free courses. Forty students have enrolled in a course in government and law and sixty in an engineering course. The college provides instruction free of charge to any unemployed person who is 30 years old or over and who has had at least two years of high school education.

MAROON AND GOLD

EXECUTIVE	BOARD
TITETIOUNE

Entrop-in-Cuter	ALFRED L. VANDLING
MANAGING EDITOR	THALIA BARBA
RISINESS MANAGER	JOSEPH GRIBBON
EDITORIAL STAFF
LITERARY	EMILY LANDIS, BETTY ROW
Contai	CHARLOTTE OSBORNE
Evatt Man	MIRIAM EROL
EXCITANCE	SARAH LENTY
INTERVIEWS	MELBA BECK
GIRLS' SPORTS	MEDDA DOOR
TEATURES	WALTER HINEY
Sports	HOWARD KREITZER, JOHN GRESS
Dionis
MANACERTAT, STAPP

LAWRENCE PIATT Make-Up _____ CIRCULATION _. REPORTERS

LOIS LAWSON RONALD KEELER WALTER STIER ALYCE BARRALL EDGAR ARTMAN BLANCHE GARRISON THELMA KNAUSS

RICHARD SMITH CELIA LEVAN
MARGARET O'HORA
WILLIAM TURNOW
CHARLOTTE HOCHBERG
CLARA SINGLEMAN
ANTHONY CONTE TYPISTS

HELEN MERRILL HOWARD BEVILACQUA FAY MEIXELL CARMER SHELHAMER ELLA ZUKAUSKAS JOHN SHELLENBERGER MARIE NELSON

HARRIET SPOTTS ERMA MOYER

S. L. WILSON MISS KULP

FACULTY COMMITTEE MISS DILKS

PEARL SAVAGE SANTEENA LA BRUTTO ADELE METZ MISS E.

Member Pennsylvania School Press Association and the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

Published During the School Year of 1932 and 1933 by the Students of the Bloomsburg State Teachers College.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1932

About Thanksgiving

OVEMBER 24 has been officially declared a day of Thanksgiving.

We venture to say that thousands of people will calchests with our We venture to say that thousands of people will celebrate without a thought for the real reason of the holiday. Official thanksgiving is one thing; personal thanksgiving is another. To go to church, to kneel, to try earnestly to be thankful, certainly that is a form of thanksgiving. It is another to realize suddenly in the midst of work the fortunes that have come your way and say "I'm so thankful."

Why should we be thankful? We have a new winter coat? Our grades are satisfactory? Those are certain fortunes which require gratitude, but surely our spiritual selves are bigger, mightier selves that can not be confined to winter, coats and grades. Let us look for bigger, mightier reasons for thanksgiving.

We could mention many reasons for being thankful. One main reason is usually overlooked. It is hardship. The real test of thankful spirit is to be found in gratitude for a reasonable amount of hardship. We work hardest, think best, when the lash of necessity is on our backs.

This year there is a particular reason for thankfulness. The depression has left millions destitute. We should be glad that there are charitable organizations and various means whereby these hungry and desolate persons will be fed and clothed. If we all do our share in helping these people we shall have a real reason to rejoice on this day.

Mistakes

E ALL make mistakes, but not all of us are willing to own them. Too often we are willing to find some loop hole or alibi whereby we may escape any responsibility for such errors. In a recent Pennsylvania football game, the referee blew his whistle, cancelling a play which had resulted in a touchdown scored legitimately. teams were called back; the referee explained that he had erred by blowing his whistle while play was in progress. He said that there was nothing he could do about it. Play would have to be resumed put corn cakes into the beehive oven satisfied in their own little way. from the spot where he made the mistake.

The players and the fans seemed to be satisfied with his explana-No criticism has arisen as the result of the blunder.

This referee is a great man. When he realized what he had done, that his decision might change the result of the game, what did he do?

It would have been easier to have pretended seeing some violation by one of the players, but he frankly said, "I have made the mistake." One man admitted his error to thousands. This is one of the truest examples of sportsmanship known.

It is stimulating to find a man with shoulders broad enough to car- quoise which wound its way to the little shaky. You know, there is alry the blame belonging to him.

WHAT YOU THINK

A NICKEL'S WORTH

Editor of Maroon and Gold:

I have written several letters of criticism in the past and they were not printed. Are you ashamed of just criticisms or are you simply ignoring the students who read the paper and are not getting what they

When the first issue made its ap pearance this year I heard much favorable comment, but when the Home Coming issue appeared this was rerersed.

Why don't you encourage students to hand in original material? I know of one instance when you refused to publish a parody of a well-known musical hit. It was original and when shown to some students received much praise. The only good column in the paper is Campus Chatter and this was punk in the last issue.

Let's have a Library corner where we can learn if new additions have been added to our library and a description of some of them.

I think these changes would benefit the paper and please the readers. -A Grumbler.

River Romance

Rivers have always fascinated me. Whether it be the narrow river, whirling and dashing through a gorge or a languid shallow stream winding its way leisurely over a flat grassy plain, there is in either a certain magic which holds me.

I can remember even as a child that going to the river was always a great delight. In spring just as the willow twigs began to show the first signs of green, when only tiny patches of snow remained at the feet of trees on the north side of the hills the river became a great torrent which grew boisterous until its roar could be heard several squares from the banks. Bundled into coat, mittens, and rubbers I can remember going to watch with Grandfather to see the flood. The white birches shivered at the edges of the banks as they stood knee deep in the cold silvery water. Again I can remember going in summer when the river lay blue.

I shall never forget my first glimpse of the Le Platte in Western Nebraska. Here was a great river, which would move so slowly that its flow was almost impreceptible. So thick was it with black sediment that it had a half rucus appearance. Like a great sleepy chameleon it silently meandered on toward the Mississippi. Either shore was boarded by a nar- liamentary Practice, Ernest Lau got row margin of reeds. To east or up and made a few remarks. He was west, north or south, any direction cut off by the chairman, however, who you turned, there was only open said, "Mr. Lau, you are out of order," space and dull green grass. Silence Whereupon Ernest replied, "Mr. was everywhere and it was broken Chairman, you don't look so neat only by the sudden cry of a reed bird yourself." which started from the opposite margin and sailed off toward east where Again I recall a swift river in a canyon. The afternoon sun was fall- Tut! ing on the north wall of the canyon and the rocks were splashed with the Both grey green of sage and lichens.

Suddenly the canyon widened and I came upon a dobe hut, with a flat of mud. She smiled at me as several bright-eyed children scurried to her side. When I tried to speak English to her she only shook her head, and turned her palms toward me. shadows began to ascend the northern was. wall of the canyon-I was reminded that I must hurry to reach the rim

CAMPUS CHATTER

Sam Cohen was recently seen at tempting the "Open Sesame" act on the second floor of Waller Hall. There he stood, pounding with clenched fists upon a door, all the while heaping invectives upon him who had upon being informed that he was not at the infirmary as he had supposed, but at an entrance to the girls' dormitory. (It is said that he went out and smoked an entire package of Murads in a vain endeavor to be non- ing chalant).

In Oral Expression class, Richard Thomas was asked to define vowels and consonants. A furrow creased his massive brow; a look of bewilderment enveloped his otherwise pleasant features. But at last-enlightenment. Rising to his feet, he cleared his throat, and in stentorian tones gave the following answer, which is a perfect example of the average Freshman recitation: "The alphabet is made up of letters, some of which are consonants. The remainder is composed of vowels."

This one happened quite some time ago, but like my father's home brew, it has gained flavor with age. In Miss Shaw's Literary class John Krepich was very much engrossed in a tete-atete with Ruth Welliver. (What it was all about we haven't been able to find out as yet, but don't get discouraged; we have hopes). But, to go on with the story, there they were, in close (How close? Too close for Literary class; are you satisfied?) conversation, in blissful ignorance of the fact that class was in session. All of a sudden, like lightning out of a clear blue sky, came the question: "Mr. Krepich, what do you know about metrical romance?"

John looked up, and with an angelic smile on his face, replied, "I have not got that far yet." And was his

They were having Parliamentary Practice in Miss Johnson's class when this incident occurred, which goes to show that the Frosh aren't so green after all. A vote was being taken on a question up before the group.

"All those in favor give their consent by saying 'aye'.' "Aye."

"All those opposed signify by the same sign." "Aye."

"The 'ayes' have it."

During a heated argument in Par-

It is just as well that we didn't Homecoming Day game this year. Imagine our embarrassment. Tut!

dates for group pictures, it reminds an Indian woman half kneeling as she There are so many individuals to be

Hurrah! One vote for Prof. Reams, less party ticket. In a recent straw Close by the river under a pepper vote Reams ran only two votes betree, stood a sleepy little burrow who hind Norman Thomas. He wouldn't, flecked his ears lazily. Long purple however, announce what his platform

Whisper! Whisper! Whisbefore dark. I climbed up, and up per! About this Leap Year Dance: and at last stood on the rim. Below, We hear that some of our popular in the canyon, lay the thread of tur- young men are beginning to feel a -M. N. tell what a woman will do.

BOOK REVIEWS

NICODEMUS

By E. A. Robinson

In this volume of poems, Robinson demonstrates his ability to unmask the human mind and emotions, an accomplishment which is not new in his lock it. Imagine his embarrassment field of endeavor. Through this medium of interpretation Robinson has touched such themes as the triumph of patriotism over love and the uselessness of fame when it has been won as the expense of human suffer-

In the poem from which the volume takes its title, we have such a momentous theme treated as the relative value of man-made tradition over against the higher spiritual law as represented in the Master. Nicodemus pleads for the upholding of this higher law, but Caiaphas champions the cause of the temporal law, and insists that Nicodemus shall remove "the mad carpenter" from Jerusalem if he wishes to protect his friend. Robinson's subtle irony creeps in when he remarks, "God knows what ails us in Jerusalem today."

Or again

There's no security in a subterfuge Where truth is marked a madness."

In "Sisera" he treats the triumph of love of country over personal love, in Jael's murder of the Canaanite warrior who throws himself on her mercy. All fulfills the prophecy of Deobrah at the expense of the death of a man who loves her. The poem ends with the husband's comment that he has all to learn so far as women are concerned.

In "Ponce De Leon," the poet reveals the life of this hero in a conversation between the explorer and an old doctor. The theme touched here is the futility of material fame, especially when it is purchased at the price of human suffering.

"Ponce De Leon" reproduces the conversation of the dying explorer and his doctor. The man at death's door has lived a colorful life rich in glory, fame, and wealth, which he reviews with the doctor. In contrast to all this material glory is the emptiness which he knows is all of it that remains. He pictures the hollow welcome that will be his when he arrives home. Here Robinson plays upon the theme of the futility of material wealth and fame.

In "Toussaint L'ouveture" a black man, a leader of the Hatitian people, who has been imprisoned by Napoleon, speaks his mind concerning hate and the blind power of leaders who struggle to heights and there are so blinded by their power that they see nothing but themselves. Here Robinson reiterates the theme which he has touched in earlier volumes, the penalty of hate which falls on him who entertains it.

"The March of The Cameron Men" reveals a woman and her lover who is a physician. The physician has murdered the woman's husband through his reflection swiftly followed him as have Stroudsburg scheduled for the of her love. Quietly, with a certain hitterness, she points out that the march of the "Cameron Men" will always stand between. She cannot ac-When we see the trouble the editor he has murdered her husband, despite of the Obiter has to find convenient the fact that she hated him and us of the trouble the senators must the doctor's realization of the futiliwished him dead. Robinson pictures roof, and low door. Just outside was have in working out tariff schedules, ty of the deed, and his great loneliness when he understands that he cannot have her love.

In addition there is included in this volume several short poems which are candidate for President on the Snob- as levely as any Robinson has ever written. "Hector Kane" and "The Spirit Speaks" are especially fine.

> In short Robinson has dealt with universal themes, which he has revealed chiefly through the analysis of human emotions and intellect.

-M. N.

Well! It won't be long now until Thanksgiving and then we can all ways that possibility-you never can catch up on a little sleep, et cetera. (Mostly et cetera).

POETRY

THE UNSEEN TEMPLE

A builder builded a temple, He wrought it with grace and skill: Pillars and groins and arches All fashioned to work his will. Men said, as they saw its beauty, "It shall never know decay. Great is thy skill, O builder; Thy fame shall endure for aye."

A teacher builded a temple With loving and infinite care, Planning each arch with patience, Laying each stone with prayer. None praised her unceasing efforts, None knew of her wondrous plan; For the temple the teacher builded Was unseen by the eyes of man.

Gone is the builder's temple, Crumbled into the dust; Low lies each stately pillar. Food for consuming rust. But the temple the teacher builded Will last while the ages roll, For that beautiful unseen temple Is a child's immortal soul.

-Anonymous.

TEST

The teacher enters, grim and tall The clatter and the chatter fall One moment premonition tells "A test," she hands the papers out, Confirms their fears without a doubt And wild dismay their laughter falls.

"A test" is heard in undertone. "Oh dear, a test," they faintly groan As the disaster's realized The students petulantly seek To put it off another week Till they are firmly subsidized.

Their grief and consternation grows, They mutter many "aws" and "ohs' For they can see their end is near Their faces long, a heavy gloom And deep despair pervades the room The timid even shed a tear.

At last the fatal test is o'er The pupils headed for the door The questions soon are well discussed And then three minutes later, All is quite forgotten in the hall

MAYBE SO

"Postive knowledge I have none Maybe it's true or just in fun But my cousin's husband said That his neighbor with hair so red Heard an officer on his beat Say to a hobo on the street Who said he'd just come from Rome And had heard from the orphan's home

That he had a telegram Just arrived from far Siam About a man from Mandalay Who hear the Japs in Suez say That a farmer's lad had seen A lovely Broadway chorine Who stated the fact 'twas true A negro who lived near a Jew Had been told by his brother's niece That it was written in a piece Of a man working in Peru Whose father said that he knew A student in B. S. T. C. Who hails from Southern Italy Who said that now he felt Sinse we'd put in Roosevelt Things would follow an upward trend, And let's hope, the depression end."

PEACE

There may be quiet by a hearth Where embers are grey and the fire an' cushions because sometimes peo- (that's what I named him after my burns low

tick

Of the hall clock measured and slow, But I have known another peace Like the sail of white gulls' wings Across the foam-frilled beach of sand know what I was tryin' to do but he day which seems to help his goiter. The peace of you when you said, "Dear, I know, I understand."

Down at Pine Knob

My second meeting with "Old Louie" was probably more unusual than my previous meeting. As you remember, "Old Louie" has charge of the fire tower at Pine Knob. Usually the watchmen have left their posts before November, but this year, due to the fact that there has been a lack of rain and much hunting in that section. "Louie" was still there, diligently following his duties. I was hunting in that vicinity when I heard the quack of a duck. I looked up saw a solitary duck flying toward the tower. I followed the trail leading to the lookout and came upon the duck. I was going to shoot when I recognized is as an eider duck. Knowing that the eider duck is marine and seldom found in the interior of Pennsylvania, I held off, and later I was thankful that I had done so. The duck wobbled about the tower, quacking and flapping its large wings, seemingly offended at my appearance, but neverthe antics of the strange bird for several minutes when "Old Louie" came new wave of enthusiasm. plodding up the trail behind me. "Morning," he said. "Some bird

"Yes, indeed," I responded.

seems to be a queer duck." "Ezackly. That there duck is queer. Holmeses novels I been areadin'. don't understand that duck."

"Well, just what do you know about him?" I asked.

"Know? I knows plenty about him though I can't figger him out. I only get out of the room. had him fer two weeks. Me an' him are very friendly-like. Come up an' offered.

Having been entertained by "Loue" before, I readily assented and fol-

"Wal, 'twas three weeks ago this Tuesday acomin' that it all started," in', when I hears a loud quackin' borrowed it. noise. I looks up an' there is a flock of fifteen ducks flyin' in a big wedge 'nough. No wonder them ducks was les cause a clash. excited. Right there to my amazement a man's head bobs up afore me an' then disappears sudden like, then now until after the football classic bobs up agin an' down an' so on an' forth. Wal now, I ain't no scary feller that believes in ghosts an' spirits so I sez to myself, 'somethin' mighty queer about here.' I peeps over the cliff an' sees to my own satisfaction November 18:what has happened. Wal, this here bobbin' man was awalkin' along the edge of the cliff an' he slipped over November 19:the edge. Now that ain't unusual, but this feller had on big rubber boots. November 23:an' he hits the rocks at the bottom of the cliff, an' bounced up inter the air like a rubber ball an' kept on abouncin' ever since. I hollers at him 'Can't you stop?' and he yells back.

"Stop! Say, I been abouncin' here three days an' if I don't get somethin' to eat soon I'll starve to death."

"Wal," sez I. "I could shoot you to prevent you from starvin' to death, but I belongs to the Society fer Prevention of Cruelty to Dumb Animals," Then I gets an' idee.

with me so's when I get tired I kin starts peckin' at him. He jumps up sit an' rest. I don't believe in playing an' chases away the ducks. I must —W. G. H. tricks on enybody, even ducks, but have my joke; so I sez to him "That's "Closer examination of the election this I decided was O. K. (if I kin be one way of gettin' down from a results persuades many a Republican so bold as to use or'nery slang). I duck." Then we laughs. sees these here ducks was eider ducks an' I knows they hates feather pillers 'ceptin' that this here duck, Elmer real landslide." the bouncin' man.

ducks get so mad seeing that there not Elmer, he seems to like it here." tages."

piller they les' flies right at him an' -M. N. piller they jes' flies right at him an'

DAY BOYS ROOM

The Day Room Glee Club is undergoing silent reconstruction after having been severely assaulted during its first practice of the season.

It is sincerely hoped that the organization will be in perfect enough condition, both physically and vocally, to resume its singing while we are home during Thanksgiving vacation.

his time, formerly devoted to the Day sity. Room, in the library.

The fellows of the Day Room are extremely worried about his health. --0-

The occupants of the Day Room have become scholastically handi- and 1931. capped by their newly acquired habit of playing bridge. Pinochle, consetheless unafraid I continued to watch quently, seems to be slightly overshadowed at the present time by the

Jay Hagenbuch seems to be having a difficult time trying to explain to "He the boys that his lock-picking talent has not been formed from experience, but has been acquired natural-He is as mysterious as those Sherlock ly. Mr. Hagenbuch, you know, exhib- for Home-coming. Kathryn is teach-I ited such talents recently when he ing in Pittston. picked the locks of the Day Boys' Room, that he and two few Frosh might avoid the embarrassment of having to climb out the window to

There has been much talk of a new I'll tell you how I come by him," he Day Boys' Room among the boys. Or B. S. T. C. for Home-coming. Mrs. is it just "talk?"

We warn you: don't go into the lowed him up the tower ladder where Day Room with a magazine in your we settled ourselves in the homey possession-unless you're big and can stand the gaff!

Lost! Last Tuesday-One Lunch. he began his singular story. "I was Finder please return to Lawrence Mills. Grace was also one of the B. awalkin' about in the woods jes' Piatt at once, so that he might re- S. T. C. Home-coming guests. kickin' through the leaves an' think- turn it to the person from whom he

Now since the election is over the is teaching in Edwardsville. shape. They kept aflyin' in a big cir- Day boys will have much more time cle about a perticular spot an' I sees for study. At least several of them somethin' queer is up. 'Somethin' were deeply engaged in colorful arqueer somewhere,' sez I to myself, guments before, and now all that is Of lighter things they talk with lust. an' I starts out to investigate. Soon settled—unless after Thanksgiving -E. A. L. I comes to the edge of a cliff. Sure vacation hunting tales and bear stor-

> We probably won't see any Frosh Backyard practice possibly.

Calendar

Male Choir-Auditorium, Welsh 8:15.

Football—Oswego—Here.

Thanksgiving Recess begins

November 28:--

Thanksgiving Recess ends at noon. Executive Com .- Board of Trustees 3:30.

December 3:-Y. W. C. A .-- Y. M. C. A. Formal Dance.

December 9:— Men's Glee Club Concert.

"I allus carried a feather cushion knocks him down on the ground an not know that) an' throws it out to he is a duck that lives by the sea, ity.' that he ain't gettin' enough iedeen in

ALUMNI

Home-coming was a great success judging from the number of alumni seen on our campus over the week-

"Bill' Walsh, 1926, was one of the "Bill" was a member of the football ment that the answer is "Maybe." squad while at Bloomsburg.

Wilbur Hibbard, a member of the Walter Hiney seems to be spending Master's Degree at Columbia Univer- across this one by Jack Harwick,

> "Tom" Henry, 1931, who is teach-Home-coming. We will remember 'Tom" as President of the Community Government Association in 1930

Mary Bray, Mildred Dimmick, Betty Jones, and Edith Peterson, 1932, were Waller Hall guests for Home-

Frank Gerosky, 1932, who is doing substitute teaching in Pittston, was a North Hall guest over last week-end.

Kathryn Meade, 1932, was a guest of her sister Margaret, in Waller Hall

Hope Richards, who graduated in the class of 1932, returned for Homecoming. Hope is teaching third and fourth grades in Overlook.

both of the class of 1931, returned to Wolever was formerly Miss Mary Gorham.

Bob Dew, 1930, who is teaching in the Nescopeck High School, was one of our Home-coming guests.

Grace Callender, 1932, is teaching Latin and Science at Huntington

Mary Kelley, 1931, visited Bloomsburg friends over last week-end. Mary Florence Isaacs, 1932, was another of the Waller Hall guests over Homecoming. "Flo" is teaching second grade at Forty Fort.

Indian Summer

It is a certainty that Indian Summer is here. The gay leaves have fallen. The frosts too have come. Morn-rands. ings—and the horizon is misted as with the smoke from a thousand campfires. Nights—and the tang of U.S. dare not go broke because fall brings a remembrance of the past about the only thing we can borrow summer.

It is a pleasant time—as if all the forces of nature have agreed that perfect weather to loiter in the open. every night. Hunters go out to the woods. Farmers can hustle the last of their autumn work without interruption from the elements. The workaday man knows that his lightweight topcoat will not leave him victim to an unexpected burst of northeast cold between down and dusk.

include such a time, a pleasant pause. It gives time for breath-taking-besnowdrifts of winter.

The Election of 1912

and Independent editor that the Dem-

"The Democratic party must meet ple use eider down for sech things. |cousin Elmer) had a swollen throat | the fair and just expectations of the There may be a peace in the quiet So I takes my cushion which was only so I coaxes him up to me an' I sees American people, or it will be hurled chicken feathers (but the ducks did he has a goiter. I figgers, bein' that from power at the earliest opportun-

Says the G. O. P. elephant, as he

SNACKS BY SNICKS

After the recent college information test, one of the most discussed questions was, "Why is a cow?" Can you answer this? After many sessions in the halls and in various rooms, the Home-coming guests at B. S. T. C. Freshmen have come to the agree-

Recently we were looking through class of 1932, is doing work for his a metropolitan daily when we came 'Loving people in general requires constant tolerance, but loving them individually is even more difficult. ng at Fleetville, was in town for That requires constant tact, to say nothing of oodles of discretion."

> We recently saw a lady member of our faculty out on the campus hunting mushrooms. We deduce this: Either she did not see the warnings in the local papers concerning poisonous varieties that have been eaten in this section lately, or she is trying to chisel the college out of a free meal. Take your choice, the burden of proof rests with the student body.

> A psychologist says women cry less than they used to. This isn't surprising. The world generally isn't having as good a time as it did formerly.

Talking about predicaments, the other day Jim Karnes, from up in that rising metropolis of Espy, had this one ready for us. Describe a man Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wolever, with rheumatism suddenly acquiring an attack of St. Vitus dance. We can explain Jim's attitude more fully if you happen to know that Espy is the place where Bill McCollum, the Wilkes-Barre Record sports writer, gets his inspiration for his Lem Edgar snake stories.

> There is a little girl in our house who wishes to know whether a whispering gallery is anything like a speakeasy. The best we could do in the way of an explanation was to say that the speakeasy was brighter, not because of what was said but because it lit up more.

> > -Phila. Inquirer

California complains that people do not appreciate the health value of lemons. We disagree. Of course everybody knows about lemonade.

The man who says "I run things at home" usually refers to the lawn mower, washing machine, and er-

According to recent reports, the is trouble.

Someone says that jazz is dying. mankind shall have a few weeks of Maybe that's its death rattle we hear

> They laughed when I started to make a new kind of dynamite. But when I dropped it, they exploded. -Cornell Widow.

Now that the election is over we feel that the Social Science teachers It is well that the roll of seasons will have tough sledding for a while. As prospective Social Science teachers, we sympathize with them. Maybe fore the world in plunged into the there will be a revolution or mayhap a new depression soon. We hope neither, but you never can tell. In the favorite words of our popular professor may we say "There is nothing new under the sun."

> Then there is the student who was asked to use the word "horizon" in a sentence. It seems he had a friend in the class for his sentence was: "When I stand up before the class, she sits back there with horizon me."

"This one yet." Have the Fresh in "Ketch this," I hollers. He didn't his food, so I gives him iodeen every sees the donkey take the stage:

our school lost their dictionaries? The day which seems to help his goiter. "Oh, well, this thing of being the other day the first year men were ketches it enyhow. Wal, these here The rest of the ducks flew away, but audience is going to have its advan- asked to use the word "expectorate" From Literary Digest, 1912. in a sentence. This was it. "I expectorate an 'A' in Psychology."

DR. FRANCIS HAAS ADDRESS A. A. U. W.

Continued From Page One

investigate the status of education in Pennsylvania. The Sterling Committee, the Committee for the Recodofication of School Law, the Committee for the Study of Teacher Preparation, are several branches of the organization which has been set in motion by Dr. Rule for the study of the educational situation in our State.

The constitution of Pennsylvania is unusual in that it provides free public education as the birthright of every child. Here Dr. Haas quoted a portion of the constitution dealing with education:

"The Legislature shall provide for maintenance and support of a thorough and efficient system of public schools wherein the children of the Commonwealth above the age of six years may be educated." This specification then points out that the maintenance of free public education for the children of Pennsylvania is an obligation which the Commonwealth owes its children. Hence we have "the preferential right of education to seek the support of the State."

If education is to function in aiding society in this present crisis, the public must see to it that the schools are not curtailed in efficiency because of lack of support.

This address was followed by two reels of films, one dealing with the problem of education in our country from colonial times to the present area of the Junior-Senior High Schools, and a second which dealt with Vocational Training and its place in solving the problem of Americanization of the immigrant.

The meeting then adjourned to the social room where refreshments were served. We are hoping in the future to have other meetings of a similar nature which go far to promote a closer understanding between the school and the community.

HOME COMING DAY DREW LARGE CROWDS

Continued From Page One

orful. In addition to the college band, the high school musicians were on hand and serenaded the visitors with some peppy numbers. The colors of the two institutions were prominently displayed from all parts of the field. The high school students were the guests of the college for the game.

Informal Reception.

After the game a get-together was held in the gymnasium. Old friends met acquaintances and enjoyed the tea-dance. Tea and wafers were served by the students to the guests.

The Shippensburg squad, day students, faculty members and wives, and trustees were among the guests at dinner.

The closing feature of the day was the dance in the gaily decorated gymnasium. Phil Guidard's orchestra furnished the music and never played a more appreciated program.

Many Reunions.

Throughout the day there were many informal gatherings of old grads and classes. The football team of 1925 was back in full force and held a reunion and banquet at Light pounds. Street before the dance.

The committees and faculty are to be congratulated upon the results of their efforts. First consideration was 18, 160 pounds. given to the guests and everyone had a splendid time.

Overheard in the Hall: No cat has two tails. One cat has one more tail than no cat. Therefore, one cat has three tails. Logic, pure and simple.

BALL TEAM HAS PLAYERS ALL PAST SEVENTY YEARS

The baseball team of the Three ship, 18, 140 pounds. Score and Ten Club at Miami, Fla., is composed of players all of whom are more than 70 years old. Elwood activities has come in that this par- | D. _____ 0 Thorne, one of the youngsters, is 72. ticular group will make its first ap-The water boy is Peter La Ford, 83 pearance as a group in the new Obi- D. years old.

Intra-Mural Basketball Season Opens

On Wednesday evening, November 9, the men's intra-mural basketball season got off to a flying start.

The men displayed unusual ability in passing, and some very fine team work was also in evidence. The going was very much easier than the scores indicate.

Mr. Booth has taken a great interest in the boys, and with his help they while the team was at Albuquerque." should be able to advance rapidly. Standing of Teams:

•	Dunang of Icams.
٠	Summing of Teams.	w.
	Chudzinski Evangelista M. Krauss	1
,	Evangelista	1
1	M. Krauss	1
٠,	Stush	0
	Greco	. 0
	YoungResults—Chudzinski.	0
	Results—Chudzinski.	18:	Evang

Stush, 16; Young, 7.

SQUAD ENDS THEIR SEASON TOMORROW

ista, 25; M. Krause, 16; Greco, 15;

Continued From Page One

Mike Sopchak-Carbondale, 20, 165 pounds.

Aldwin Jones-Scranton, Tech., 29, 180 pounds.

Leo Yozviak-Hanover Township, 22, 184 pounds.

Charles Cox-Bloomsburg, 19, 165 Walter Yaretski-Newport, 21, 150

nounds. Gamooka Kafchinski - Scranton

Tech., 22, 190 pounds. James Williams-Edwardsville, 22,

160 pounds. John Beck-Scranton Tech, 21, 140 pounds. Thomas Coursen-Larksville, 22, 145 pounds.

Vaughn Lewis-Hanover Township, 21, 150 pounds.

Miles Potter-Old Forge, 30, 150 Joe Davis-Hanover Township, 19,

165 pounds. Gerald Harter-Bloomsburg, 20,

180 pounds. Don Ruckle-Bloomsburg, 20, 160

Bruno Novak, 20, 160 pounds. Ernest Line-Newport Township,

18, 165 pounds. John Stush-Larksville, 19, 155 pounds. Harold Donawski-Lewisburg, 25,

75 pounds. Duke Evans-Wilkes-Barre,

60 pounds. Sam Sacus-Coal Township, 22, 67 pounds.

Arthur Harrison-Kingston, 160 pounds.

Dan Sallitt-Wilkes-Barre, 21, 154 nounds.

Eugene Fleming-Catawissa, 17, 150 pounds. Roy Garman-Trevorton, 20, 150

ounds. Howard DeMott-Bloomsburg, 18,

160 pounds. Mike Skerel-Swoyersville, 20, 173

Walt Kritzberge-Larksville, 17, 150 pounds.

James Kelly—Edwardsville, 22, 150 nounds.

John Yurgel-Hanover Township, 21, 170 pounds.

Joe Dixon-West Hazleton, 22, 180

Mervin Mericle-Bloomsburg, 17, 185 pounds.

Frank Rompalo-Blythe Township,

Gilbert Kline-Catawissa, 17, 180 nounds. Woodie Litwhiler-Ringtown, 19, 165 pounds. James Boylan-Mt, Carmel Township, 18, 195 pounds.

Philip Elder-Berwick, 17, 165 nounds. Walter Chesney-Mt. Carmel, 22,

155 pounds. Edward Doyle-Mt. Carmel Town-

Another step forward in Day boys' tor.

WHAT OTHER COLLEGES

ARE DOING

the paper of State College in New of the first ten places, winning the Mexico. "The final irrigation of the meet by a wide margin of points. year was given to the campus last week. The football field was irrigated three and a half miles. Bloomsburg

0 0 0 Dr. W. K. Greene, of Duke Univer sity, has stated that success consists started eight men and Bloomsburg it up in speed. Right now, it is diffiof 15 per cent skill and 85 per cent nine. The team was in charge of personality. His three rules for a hap- Thornley Booth. py college career are:

1. Do the best you can.

2. Don't worry.

3. Be humble.

He urges that the student should possess an open mind, calling the as follows: student with a closed mind a loss on First-Larish, Bloomsburg, 17.47. the campus.

Over 10,000 sudents of Harvard University recently received their Fourth-Baum, Bloomsburg, 18.49 share of the annual dividend of the Fifth-Young, Bloomsburg, 18.58 University's Co-operative store. The Sixth-Early, Bloomsburg, 20.30. average student spends $74 a year and gets $7.40 in dividends.

0 0 0

More than half of the persons listed in "Who's Who" are college graduates. Pennsylvania is second only to New York in placing persons of fame in the book. One-fifteenth of those listed were women.

A student came to Wetherford college in Texas with a herd of cows. pastured them behind the dormitory. and is meeting expenses by selling milk to his fellow students.

0 0 0

More than 20,000 public school pupils from training laboratories for embryo teachers this year in the Pennsylvania State Teachers Colleg-

0 0 0 During the Freshman-Sophomore games which resulted in a 13-0 victory for the second year men, 29 crates of eggs and ten crates of fruit were thrown. This bombardment was considerably less than in 1930 when 120 crates of eggs were used as ammunition.

0 0 0

The president of the Senior class at Courtland State Normal School could use this scheme to call the roll 'Arthur, will you please bring me a Baldwin apple from the Long, Green Case in the Hall? The case is fastened with a Bolt and a Wedge which will take Mohr Presher to open it. To perfectly Fehr with you we will slay the Brown and White Bullock with the Cannon, load everyone in the Hudson Carr and go to the Church in the Dale. When the services are over and our work is Dunn, King William has invited us to his Temple for dinner. Our menu is Hare and Woodcock which should keep the Wolf from the from strolling on the campus after shown in the rooms. 10:30 P. M.

0 0 0

Volley Ball

After many interruptions and setball season has finally been brought at hand! to a close. The championship honors for the upper class girls go to Sally Welliver's team made up of Metha is repaired at last? Beck, Mildred Ford, Althina Gilmore, Betty Row, Dorothy Hilerman, Flora Robinholt, Ruth Maust, and Marion Vanhorn.

The Freshmen standing is as follows:

Experienced Teams Lost C. _____ 1 E. ____ 0 3 A. -----

Harriers Win at Susquehanna Univ.

Our cross country team made its first start of the season on Wednesday, November 9, with an impressive victory over Susquehanna University This interesting item comes from at Selinsgrove. Bloomsburg won nine

> The race was over a course of scored 15 points to Susquehanna's 58, the scores of the first five men of each team being taken. Susquehanna

> Today the team goes to West Chester. A return meet with Susquehanna will follow at a date to be decided

The order of finish and the time is Second—Karns, Bloomsburg, 18.33. Third-Sell, Bloomsburg, Captain,

18.43. Seventh-Kudgas, Bloomsburg, 20.47 Eighth-Finn, Susquehanna, 20.48. Ninth-Roan, Bloomsburg, 20.49. Tenth-Verhovsek. of Bloomsburg

21.05. Eleventh-Wothington, Susquehanna, 21.15.

Twelfth-Bottiger, of Susquehanna, 21.30.

Thirteenth-Sharkey, Susquehanna, 21.23. Fourteenth-Webber, Susquehanna, 23.03. Fifteenth-Suss, of Susquehanna, 23.30.

Sixteenth-Eyer, of Susquehanna, 24.11. Seventeenth-Rimer, Susquehanna.

New Extra-Curricular

Mr. Fenstemaker recently called attention to a new extra-curricular group that will hold its regular meetings in the lobby of Waller Hall. This country. Low score wins in crossgroup has already organized with a list of active members, alumni members and a waiting list. The organization refuses to reveal its purpose but it is generally understood that it is to create a more friendly relationship between Eds. of this college and the better half of Waller Hall. The list to date includes the following:

Active Members-Thompson, Beagle, Hensley, Yozoviak, Drennan, Moore, McKechnie, Conte, Jaffin, Mc-Hugh, Gennaria.

Faculty Sponsor-Dean Kehr. Waiting List-Creasy, Line, Kitch

Alumni-Beck, Turse, Kelly. Membership is still open to those naving the proper qualifications.

Waller Hall

Waller Hall's "open-house" on Home-coming Day attracted numerous relatives and friends of the girls Roya Tramp, Tramp, the Because several students have been as well as the alumni. Everyone was robbed, a new regulation at North-western University prohibits students

Friday night at ten o'clock fire drill was held for the first time this semester. Another one is being planned for the near future, so be backs by old man weather, the volley prepared girls, have your towels near

The radio in the Y. W. C. A. room

Many Waller Hall girls went to Stroudsburg on Saturday?

That a certain red-headed girl sleeps with a pillow over her face. Don't ask us why.

Santa Barbara State and Occidental College tried out twelve-men teams in their games Saturday. The extra man ran around with the referee as Appleman, an observer and during the huddle told his team where the weakness was in the opposing team.

NEWS NUGGETS

NORTH HALL

Now that the Frosh-Upperclassmen game is so near, the Upper-classmen have become less certain of the outcome due to the expert coaching of several Frosh members of the football team, and deem it a fit time to begin practicing. Although the Frosh are much outweighed, they can make cult to say definitely who will gain the advantage. At any event, the game will probably end with the score close. The twenty-second will decide the outcome.

How long will it last? This question nas been asked concerning the lobby furniture of North Hall. As far back as the oldest inhabitant, Herbie can remember, the same old furniture was there, and so it has remained, scarcely exhibiting the wear and tear of years.

It seems a well established fact that every time a football game has been played away, most men get the urge to leave and go home for the week end. Last Saturday, it was most difficult to find a Frosh about the Hall; the occupied rooms were well

The laundry question is a very vital one to the eleven Frosh of the Dormitory, for it is their lot to carry it back from the laundry. It is a common sight to see a staggering yearling walking up with eight to ten bags over his shoulder. But the worst part of it all is remembering the names which are snapped at the Frosh when he leaves on his errand.

Last week was the first time some of us realized the difference between the scoring for track and crosscountry.

Day Girls

Sarah Lentz seems to be too busy to hike lately. "Oh How Perfectly Dull!" Oh! By the way Alice-How is the broken arm? Too bad that he couldn't have had longer to limber it up! (Tears) Helen Rishel seems to have everything down "Pat." I am sure Ruth McGill has not yet gotten out her red flannels. She is always standing around a radiator. Come on boys! An arm strong heater might come in handy. Grandmothers sure are in the way, aren't they Louise? Be patient, they don't last forever! How comes Hinkle is always asking for Oh! Henry's? Mary Ruth seems to be a little "Foggy" lately! "Buck" up kid! Better times are coming. How comes Tannery is always sing-Boys are Marching?" Come on Gertrude, let's be Frank! Why does Lucille Miller always "Mark time?" I guess it's Pie for Lucille!

Edna Creveling seems to be quite handy at counting up bills.

One pint of milk, Three bunches of celery Too many sandwiches An extra pear A piece of pie Real College spirit What does it equal? One Gladys Rhinard.

Helen Deppen insists that there is no such a thing as love. Perhaps the "Roosen" is because the "Bond" is weak!

Look out Vivian the "Buffaloes" are coming! I bet you're so scared you can't "Stan" up!

He's the Dean of all men to Ruth

Sorry if we've missed anyone. We will get you next time. Be careful-