Student Council Ends Successful Work on Activities for this Year

Many Changes of Interest to the Student Body Secured; Com- mittees Do Good Work

The Student Council is at the present time engaged in a program of cleaning up their activities for this year so as to allow the new officers to organize and start on their plans for next year. This year the Council has been unusually active and has succeeded in securing many things that are of interest to the student body as a whole. Among the items of major importance are a change in the date of class elections and student representation on the athletic awards committee. They have also secured student representation on the censorship committee of the Maroon and Gold. Another plan of utmost importance is now being considered by the administration—that of student representation on the committee that selects our entertainment course. Other items of interest to students are listed below in more or less outline form, according to the individual division of the Community Government Association in which the problem originated.

The Hospitality Committee—Daniel Sallitt, chairman.

Geography Club Plans For Outing

Fraternity Members Will be Guests For Annual Trip; Will Visit Kitchen Creek Falls

Next Thursday, May 11, if the weather is suitable, members of the Geographic Society and guest members of Gamma Theta Epsilon Fraternity will make their annual spring trip, this year a return visit to Kitchen Creek Falls.

For some time it has been the custom of this organization to take such educational trips and their success has been so apparent that they have become quite popular with the club members. The day, in the past, has usually been spent in witnessing actual conditions as occurring because of some physiographic or geographical relationship which otherwise is seen only in books or presented in the classroom. This actual experience gives a worthwhile supplement in the field of geography.

Kitchen Creek Falls is rich in physiographic specimens and furnishes much native material of great interest along with its wonderful display of natural beauty. All this combined with the hiking involved, the fresh coolness of the winding pathways, the melodious waterfalls and splashing rapids climaxed with a delicious lunch served out of doors in a peaceful grove, makes it an unforgettable day in the life of college students.

On Campus Leadership

YOU WILL PROBABLY read this with the expectation that it will be an obituary on some (more or less) dead issue that we are, by consistent reiteration trying to revive. We do, however, sympathize with the students who are at this time clamoring for a "Good Ole Revival" of college spirit within the portals of our Alma Mater.

There is, and always has been, an element of our student body that manifests no particular concern as to the motivation (what a word) and success of the activities on this campus. Within the last several weeks this lack of concern has been outwardly demonstrated. We cannot account for this lethargy on the part of so many students who sit placidly and watch their activities and projects being handled in a manner that would often call for "Stern Rebuke" and "Bitter Condemnation."

When the student groups elect officers to handle their affairs they should see that these officers perform their duties to the best of their ability. We have felt for sometime that there are too many persons in this college who are too content to eat, sleep, and attend classes while contributing nothing toward the betterment of the community life. They show a decided lack of the initiative and originality which they should carry with them into the profession.

The suggestion has been offered that students be allowed to hold but one office on this campus and that the scholastic rating required for the holding be reduced to "Rock Bottom." Why should students capable of holding more than one office successfully be restricted from doing so and persons elected from a group that at the present time remains indifferent and lacking in cooperation?

We offer this as a certainty: "The students who take part in the most activities, successfully perform duties and responsibilities as heads of organizations, and take their job of being a 'College Citizen' seriously, are ranked among the highest scholastically."

Therefore, although every student cannot hold office he can see that his interests are being handled properly and give his whole hearted cooperation in student projects.

"If you don't want to help, then don't kick." However, we do not want to retreat from our position that it is "Better to kick than say nothing."

Elections of College Beauties Desired

IT HAS BECOME an annual custom for our college to have a May Queen for May Day, and a Laurel Blossom Princess to attend the festival in the Pocono Mountains. To outsiders it would appear that these two students selected would be the results of an election in which all students participated. But the students themselves know that such is not the case. We cannot find any basis for limiting the selection of May Queen to the Senior Class. Nor do we know why only the Student Council members are allowed to vote for the selection of Laurel Blossom Princess.

The students themselves are the best judges of whom they want to represent them and we feel that under the present system they are not given a chance to see their choice established. With every student voting the winner would be recognized without a doubt as the "Popular Choice" of our college, and we feel that the fruit of victory would be sweeter to the participants chosen.

File Needed For Publications

SOMETIME AGO the editors of this paper read with interest an announcement that Bloomsburg High School had established a "Morgue" for their old cuts and articles from school publications. We believe that the same can and should be accomplished at B. S. T. C. There is a great need for a filing cabinet or some such storing place for our used cuts from the Obiter and Maroon and Gold. These would be properly labeled and filed so that future editors and probably the Alumni Quarterly staff could use them at times when they would prove advantageous.

At the present time cuts from the Obiter are sometimes saved and sometimes given away or destroyed. After the huge expense of having them made for one usage only, it seems a shameful neglect that they cannot be held for another time.

We hope that a recommendation to Student Council and cooperation among the editors will bring about results that will find a morgue properly established for the use of future journalistic captives.

The Nerve of Some People!

MANY FRESHLY-DRAWN initials, names and figures have been seen recently on the desks, benches, window sills and almost all markable surfaces in the buildings on the campus. Some of these marks are deep into the surface; others are lightly-made and easily eradicated.

All this is evidence, we believe, of nervousness. We appreciate the fact that we are living in a fast age—an age in which nervous disorders would naturally become evident in markings on furniture and such things, but if we are as nervous as the hieroglyphics on our college property indicates, something should be done to regain the neuro-stability of the students on our campus.

We might suggest that, until a treatment for this nervousness is found, each student carry a note book in which to mark the results of his nervous condition, instead of using the surface so readily available. Or, better, why not bite your finger nails? THEY will at least grow again, and the supply will not become exhausted. The desks and other pieces of furniture do not grow, you know. They appear only after the negative growth of our treasury.

The Home Stretch

WE ARE IN the "Home Stretch." No, we are not at a track meet, but we are, in reality, finishing the last few yards of this school year. Have we thus far maintained a pace so even and so steady that we will not need to spurt (erum) during the final lap? If so, very well, but we must not unconsciously lag behind when almost through, for a weak finish would certainly overshadow an excellent start.

Or, have we let the other fellow set the pace thus far? Are we depending upon the last lap, when we intend to spurt ahead or, at least, break even? If this is the case, remember that many a race has been lost because one failed to sprint until too late. Then, too, many a race has been won by one who, having floundered at the beginning due to some misfortune or other, has steadily plugged away until victory was achieved simply by determination and grit.

In all cases the object is the same, to win out—to succeed. This can be done by making sure, so don't fail in the "HOME STRETCH."

Awards Wanted!

WITH THE IDEA in view of bettering the mechanisms of B. S. T. C., we again call to the attention of the students and faculty the matter of awards. We wish to state in particular the case of those faithful and energetic people who each week spend on the average four and five hours of their time in preparing a publication for their fellow students and receive no recognition or reimbursement for it. Not only is this unfair to those who do the work, but it also weakens the quality of the paper itself. Since working on the Maroon and Gold has so little to offer any student and totally eliminating some persons of exceptional ability who feel that their time can be more profitably spent elsewhere, there is a tendency for staff positions to become meaningless. We feel that some recognition should be given the staff members. We do not advocate the spending of a large sum of money on gold keys et cetera, but we do feel that if we were given something tangible in the form of a certificate or extra hours of credit we should not have worked for nothing.

What Other Colleges Are Doing

There has been an increase of about 2000 teachers in Pennsylvania in the three-year period 1929-1930 to 1931-1932. In the former year the total was 61,629, and last year the total was 63,645. The percentage of men teachers increased from 20 to 21.5. The number of men teachers in 1931-1932 was 13,708 and women teachers 49,937.

The only institutions of higher learning in the United States that are offering summer courses in the educational uses of the radio are Teachers College, Columbia University, New York City and the Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio.

A member of the faculty of the University of British Columbia has invented a punctuality machine which flashes a cheerful "welcome" to prompt students and a sarcastic "late again" to those who are tardy.

At Westminster College there was a dispute over the May Queen, so it was decided to substitute a King of the May.

One of the well-known magazines recently published an interesting list of things a man should be able to do by the time he has been through college. He must learn to: Swim, dance, cook, typewrite, speak in public, ride a horse, drive a car and speak at least one foreign language well.

A professor at the University of Rochester has stated that a good student is one who, even though he looked at his watch, does not hold it to his ear.

Gordian Knot

When you've got a quiz ten hours hence, And six hundred pages that don't make sense,

But must be perused for a minimum knowledge
Of abstractions which prove that you've been to college;
When you've been on a week-end and need some sleep,
And day after next you'll be scarce able to creep;
And the heat's turned off, and the weather's foul,
And your friends worse off, won't let you growl—
Then go to bed, and stifle your gail;
The best thing to do is do nothing, at all.

The University of Pennsylvania includes in its enrollment students from every state in the Union, the District of Columbia, five territories of the United States and twenty-eight foreign countries.

Teachers College, Columbia University, has established a Home Service Institute, offering without tuition sixteen short courses designed to help parents meet the problems of present-day life.

It has been related that a professor from one of our colleges decided to take some work at a German university. Upon entering the classroom the first day he heard the instructor tell his students that their text book would be a book which, as it happened, this particular professor had written.

So popular have "light housekeeping" arrangements among undergraduates at Montana State College become, that the school authorities are considering the establishment of a community apartment house for the students.

By rooming and boarding together in apartments, many students discover they can live more cheaply than in boarding houses and fraternities.

COMMENTS

After careful consideration and study of records we find that there has never been a student official impeached for misbehavior during a term in office. In fact we find the campus organizations do not even list an article or by-law covering the point. Probably there ought to be a means whereby student sentiment could be made tangible when it has reached a high level. A means towards an end—maybe.

Someone recently remarked that most of our Alumni are no longer "company" and have gone down on the list to the heading of "regular visitors." We are always glad to welcome them back and with a reduction of frills may come warmer spirit of cooperation and acknowledgment from the under graduates.

Congratulations Freshmen! The hop was a credit to the group sponsoring it. The music and decorations gave an air that was contagious to the dancers and everyone reported a very enjoyable evening.

When torn between the desire to acquire more academic knowledge and the lure of the siren, spring, students must admit that this nice weather will in all probability continue throughout the summer, whereas, the semester will not, after all, a day of reckoning will come, and low grades can too often be accounted for.

The clickety, clicks and Hi De Ho's coming from the stage in the auditorium reminds us that it isn't such a very long time until the end of the term and that the Seniors are industriously working out the song and dance numbers for their musical comedy to be given on Class Night.

This is the time of the year when we marvel at the beauty of our campus.

Elections, elections and more elections—it almost makes us forget whether or not that friend we voted for made it.

Seniors are just beginning to wonder what they did with the four years they spent at this institution.

Bison Trackmen Win 66-60 in Dual Meet With Maroon and Gold

University Team Too Strong in Field and Win Close Contest

Bloom Men Ahead 46:26 in Track; Neither Team Well Balanced; First Meet

Bloomsburg track team lost to Bucknell University at Lewisburg on Monday in a dual meet, 66-60. The Bloomsburg team showed exceptional strength in the track events but lacked sufficient power in the field events.

In the eight track events, Bloomsburg rolled up 46 points to 26 for Bucknell, but in the field events, Bucknell scored 40 points to 14 for Bloomsburg. Bucknell scored all the points in the high jump. There was no relay event or Bloomsburg may have scored enough points to tie the meet.

Jaffin, Bloomsburg, was the high scorer, with 13 points. Of the 19 Bloomsburg athletes making the trip, 13 scored points in the meet. The members of the cross-country team helped Coach Buchheit to place a good track team in the field. This is the first dual meet of the year and some shifting will be done in order to put a winning team on the field against Lock Haven State Teachers College.

Bloomsburg, taking part in the event for the first time in seven years, entered after only a short training period and their time of 3:37.4 was much better than they had turned in during practice sessions.

It was a close race all the way with West Chester, St. Paul's, Va., and Cheney making a fight for the lead all the way. St. Paul's was second; Cheney, third; Savage, N. Y., fourth; East Orange, N. J., fifth; Bloomsburg, sixth; East Stroudsburg, Millersville and Panzer trailed the Maroon and Gold.

Bloomsburg ran in fifth position for the first two laps, dropped to the sixth in the third laps and held that position. Sell ran scratch and did his lap in 54. Kelly and Larish each turned in 55 and Freddy Jaffin, running anchor, made it in 53 2-5.

"B" CLUB NOTES

Both the experienced and inexperienced Freshman teams have begun to play baseball on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The "B" club and its alumni members are going for their annual week end trip to Grassmere Park on Saturday, May 6. Chaperoned by Miss McCammon, the girls expect to have a good time.

The upper class girls started their baseball season on Friday. Seven teams have signed up. Even in the first game there was a number of welcome (?) spectators. The results of the first game found Team B, C, and E winning. One team failed to appear, team C, therefore, won by a forfeit.

Just before Easter vacation, the Freshman girls finished their basketball tournament with team "F" winning. The captain of the team, Helen Houser, the center, had two years previous experience at Conyngham Township High School, Ringtown. Betty Chalfont, side center, had a half year's experience at Central High School, Scranton. Joy Morris, the forward, played three years at Coughlin High School, Wilkes-Barre. Katherine Van Auken, forward, played four years at Hazleton High School. The following substitutes were used during the season: Gladys Bakey, Margaret Hawk, Margaret Schubert, Elsie Yeager, Gertrude Harris, and Adeline Layou. We hope this team will be as successful next year.

YOUR DAILY DOZEN

A little patience—at least once.
A minute of unselfishness.
A kind word—or two or three.
A bit of self control—somewhere.
A flash of generosity.
A prompt excuse—for someone else.
A noble thought—even if it is borrowed.
A thought or two of thankfulness.
A kindly smile—where it brightens another.

Down With Usurpers

Pupil—"No, sir, I'm not."
Teacher—"Then why do you keep talking like a numskull?"

Keen Competition Shown in Inter-Class Meet on April 13th

Tennis Team Is Planning Activity

There is considerable activity on the tennis courts of the Bloomsburg State Teachers College these days as the candidates for the College team work hard at getting in shape for the opening match with the Bloomsburg team scheduled for the College courts a week from Saturday.

Under the curtailed athletic program at the institution this Spring, it is not believed that tennis will be regarded as a sport for which letters are given but the team will be selected under the same scholastic requirements.

John C. Koch, dean of men, is the coach again this year, and Milton Krauss is the captain.

There are a number of varsity players back from last Spring and the College should have a good team. The veterans include Sam Krauss, a brother of Milton; Bob Parker, Gerald Moore, and Jim Gennaria.

Thus far two matches have been arranged with Bucknell University. The local boys will play the Mansfield and East Stroudsburg Teachers Colleges away and one of those teams will likewise visit Bloomsburg. Also on the schedule will be a series with the town club and a match with the Alumni.

In addition to this schedule, the men of the College will conduct a tennis tournament this Spring and the girls will stage a similar event. These always attract much interest among the students.

North Hall Boys Go Religious

The exception to the maxim, "College boys are not religiously inclined," has been found in none other institution of learning than in the Bloomsburg State Teachers College.

On Palm Sunday, April 9, a parade of twenty illustrious, pious cohorts of the Lord (including Frederick Jaffin and Jerry Moore) marched two abreast from the portals of North Hall to the welcome halls of the Presbyterian Church.

Onlookers of this wondrous spectacle of human fellowship inquired WHY. Investigation has revealed that about 75 per cent of the boys of North Hall attend churches regularly. The particular Sunday afore mentioned was the last school Sunday of an attendance campaign, and the boys killed two birds with one stone—being faithful to a college professor or off campus and at the same time feeding their hungry souls with religious food.

It is the wish of the group that the college professor who inspired the boys from North Hall to join with him in religious worship, has won the contest to which he is nobly entitled.

IT RUNS IN THE FAMILY

In a recent trial meet at Stanford University, California, the Eastman brothers and the Blackman brothers felt so inclined to outdo each other in the 440 yard dash that a long line of "dead heats" resulted in that run.

So perplexing became the problem to the coaches that it was only after several formal and informal meetings with each other that they conceived the idea of assigning the two pairs of brothers to the one-mile relay team.

Inclement Weather Prevents Participants From Showing Real Mettle; Seniors Win

The track season began this year with the inter-class track meet held on April 3. The events were divided between three days to give as many boys a chance to participate as possible. Due to the rain, wind, and the cold weather, plus a very poor track, the events were run in comparatively poor time.

The first day the pole vault, shot put, 100 yard dash, one mile and low hurdles were held. In the pole vault, Cohen took the event at 10 feet with Line, Rohosz, and Kelly coming respectively. In the shot put, Shelhamer placed first with 34 feet, 5 inches. Line was second and Litwhiler third. In the 80 yard dash, Kelly, Jaffin, Smith, Beck finished in the order named.

High Jump—Howell, Jaffin, Cohen, Line.

Half Mile—Sell, Young, Karnes, Larish.

High Hurdles—Danowsky, Kelley, Cohen, Line.

440 Yard Dash—Jaffin, Sell, Larish, Kelley.

Two Mile—Karnes, Larish, Sell. The seniors took the meet with 46 points, juniors second with 45 1-2, sophomores, third 34 1-2; freshman, fourth 28.

Blue Outlook For Redbreasts

We read somewhere not long ago that birds can not see blue. If that is so, we suggest that some Burbank-ite get to work and cultivate a blue cherry.

Snacks by Snick

Just about three more weeks (Some one ought to make a motion that all professors who become so "universitich" as to assign term papers should be dropped from next year's payroll.)

There are some things which go beyond the scope of our comprehension and one of them is "Why don't professors ever get spring fever?"

If you want to be real snooty and above the common level, if the term "Aw nerfs," jars on your aesthetic sense, if you think "Bunk" vulgar, then you're just the person we're looking for. We have a nice time for you—"Compote des pommes"—Try it on your sax. (It's French for "Applesauce.")

We expect you to grin just a little at this:

Professor: "What is density?"

Prof. "The illustration you have already given is sufficient. Sit down."

Tennis is the thing! Now we have no objections to last year's dead balls or the borrowed racquets and the changing shoes if we only had decent courts and more of them. What say you Waller Hall females who must awake at 5:30 to assure yourself of a court?

Did you ever stop to think how marvelously easy it is to find something to complain about?

For instance: There are those pictures along the halls which are so seldom straight.

Annual Banquet Delightful Event

Ninety Members Attend The Annual Event At Van Campen Hotel, Benton, On Thursday

The Junior Chamber of Commerce held its second annual club banquet last Thursday evening at the Hotel Van Campen in Benton. Ninety members of the organization were in attendance.

Professor Andruss, faculty advisor, spoke briefly on the history and organization of the club and expressed his appreciation for the cooperation of the members in club activities. Charms for outstanding work in the organization were awarded to John Krepich, Arthur Knorr, and Daniel Sallitt.

Dinner was followed by dancing, which drew the evening to a pleasant conclusion.

Groups for formulating plans for interesting more individuals in Y. W. work were held and the duties of the cabinet and the various committees were explained more clearly. The problems of the various campuses were worked out and projects to aid freshmen were introduced.

The summer conference will be held at Downingtown, near Philadelphia, in the early part of June. Next year's spring conference will be taken care of by the Stroudsburg Teachers College.

The conference was a decided success and a spirit of cooperation was increased among the different teachers colleges of the state.

There is a colony of peculiar insects whose habitat are the kitchen sinks and drawers of the social section in Science Hall and who frighten away refreshment committees.

There is one person in the student assembly who insists on reading aloud the movie captions. Et cetera.

Sally: "Shakespeare uses them, mother."

Mater: "Then don't play with him. He is no fit companion for you."

While on the subject of Shakespeare:

English Lit. Prof.: "Can you cite any passage in Shakespeare that seems to presage the coming of automobiles?"

Student: "Yes, sir: 'Curses not loud but deep.'"

Guess what we found! The word ukelele has a poetic origin. In the Hawaiian lingo "Uku" means a flea and "lele" means to jump.

You dumb-uku. You dumb uku, you dumb uku. (use a word three times and its yours.) Now we will use it in a sentence: My dear Miss McCammon your police thigmagig has a good many ukus! Quick Henry, I've discovered a uku!

We read someplace that two Japanese students at a California ball game the other day stood up when the band played "How Dry I Am." They thought it was our national anthem. Oh fish.

Classes Will Hold Picnic at Park Soon

Juniors and Sophomores Will Join For Afternoon of Fun at Spring Brook Park

The Juniors and Sophomores are planning a joint class picnic which will be held at Spring Brook Park. The classes had planned to schedule it for Saturday but since the Commercial Contest, a track meet, and the B club outing come off on that date it was deemed necessary to postpone it until next Saturday or Thursday. Transportation to and from the park will be by private cars and refreshments will also be provided. The park offers for entertainment, skating, dancing, and games. All Sophomores and Juniors who have paid their class dues may go without additional fee since the money for the excursion will be drawn from the dance profits; however, class members who have not paid dues and still desire to attend may do so upon payment of 25 cents.

EXCEPTIONAL CHILD IS THE SUBJECT OF ADDRESS TO PARENT-TEACHER ASSN.

An interesting talk on "The Exceptional Child" was given to the Parent-Teacher Association of the Benjamin Franklin Training School April 28 by Miss May T. Hayden, of the Teachers College faculty.

The Association has been recognized by the national congress as a standard organization, a high honor. Tap dancing by Jean Knight and Bobby Kimmel, accompanied by Miss Anna Garrison, was one of the features of the program and an interesting program of recitations and songs was put on by the third grade pupils.

The attendance banner was awarded to the third grade. Among the songs were "What the Clocks Say," "Circus Parade" and "Field Daisy."

Mrs. Haas invited the Association to hold its May meeting at her home.

Miss Hayden emphasized the fact that every child is an individual. The factors making a problem child may be mental, physical, moral or social. Intelligence is a composite of abilities.

Intelligence tests have been a great help in understanding the traits of children, she said, and are a measurement with reference to a standard. They give teachers, technically speaking, the mental age of a child in comparison with his chronological age.

Sixty per cent of school children in an unselected group are average; 15 per cent are superior; 3 per cent very superior; one per cent very low; 3 per cent medium low; 10 per cent low and 20 per cent just below average.

The curriculum of most schools meets the needs of the average pupils. The pupils who are low in intelligence tests often excel in normal work.

There are a number of reasons why pupils are low. Among these are inheritance, injury at birth and illness in childhood. These children may be made good citizens by training in good habits and self control.

Problem children may be either dull or bright. With the bright child educational potentiality is needed. He may be emotional or need balance in other ways.

A child whose intelligence quotient is low may have a special gift. A child of average ability may also have an inherited gift such as quickness as to numbers, so that a child may be right in a general way or in a specific way.

There are a number of indications of superior mental power; a high score in an intelligence test; boredom or listlessness, flashes of brilliance, interest in abstract subjects, impatience with slow persons, quickness, unevenness in work, evidence of wide reading. These children are not as a rule, noted for manual or motor achievements.

A question brought out the fact that the attitude of the schools is to enrich the curriculum for the quick pupil rather than to skip grades.

NORTH HALL WELL REPRESENTED AT THE PRESBYTERIAN BANQUET

On Tuesday evening sixteen men from North Hall attended a delightful banquet given by the Men's Bible Class in the social rooms of the Presbyterian Church. Speeches were given by Dr. North, William Moyer, the mayor of Bloomsburg, Edward Shipman, William Reedy, and Earl Barton. The evening's entertainment was furnished by Sterling Mayer from Hazleton, who entertained the group in his own inimitable way. Much credit is due to Norman Hosler who acted as toastmaster for the evening. Those present from the college were: Fred Jaffin, George Kessler, Francis Sell, Clarence Slater, Bill Turnow, Charles Michaels, John Yutz, Howard Fouth, Michael Prokopchak, Arthur Knorr, Jerry Moore, Bill Reed, Amos Miller, Woodrow Hummel, William Williams, Stanley Heimbach, Professor Reams, Dr. Nelson, Dr. North, Prof. Shortess and Dean Sutliff.

WALLER HALL CHATTER

Now that the Easter vacation is over and the new spring outfits have been successfully displayed for the benefit of the boy friends, Waller Hall Girls are beginning to settle down to get a semester's work done in the four weeks that remain. With a dormitory full of girls brimming over with "vim, vigor and vitality" something exciting just had to happen. And it did happen, taking the form of the He-She party which was a grand success.

Any visitors in the dorm might have been surprised, to say the least, on Friday evening at the astounding number of "men" there. And, strange to say, they were good looking men even if they were a strange assortment to find in a college. Later in the evening we listened for comments about these odd escorts which the girls chose for the party, and not one girl could we find who didn't agree that they could have just as nice a party with these gentlemen as with the usual ones who grace the college dances. Conspicuously absent, also, we noted, was the "stag line" just inside the door of the gym.

And while we're thinking about it, an orchid (apologize to Winchell) to our W. S. G. A. officers of this year and next year who are the main stays of our organization. We're sorry to have you leave us, 1932-33 officers, and we'll be expecting you back to see us next year. Congratulations to you, new officers, from all of us who will be here to help you whenever you need us.

BLOOMSBURG REPRESENTED AT Y. M. C. A. CONFERENCE

The conference opened under the swaying branches of several large elm trees situated one mile from Kutztown. It was in this natural setting around a camp fire where colleges exchanged greetings and partook of light refreshments. Under a starry sky prayers and songs were offered.

With this appalling and impressive beginning the conference had started. All sessions found a 100 per cent attendance with men demonstrating their interest in the Y. M. C. A.

Programming and cabinet work was discussed in open forum with many interesting points being brought up that are applicable to all Y. M. C. A. organizations.

With this conference training and a capable set of officers to utilize the training gained the Y. M. C. A. is looking forward to 1933-1934 with great expectations.

TWELVE LECTURES ON CLOTHES EDUCATION PROVED INSPIRING

The course of twelve lectures in Clothes Education supplemented by group discussion with students was regarded as an opportunity for the students.

The course has been formulated to meet a demand from women and girls who want a wider knowledge of this subject because they realize that today a pleasing appearance is not only a social necessity but a business asset. They know employment managers and Superintendents of Schools are influenced favorably or otherwise, by the applicant's appearance.

Its purpose was to teach the principles of careful grooming and correct dress in relation to limited income. The average girl needs to know exactly what type of clothes are suited to the requirements of her life. The smaller the income the greater is the necessity of eliminating error in the choice of apparel.

The course was of benefit to the college as well as to the students. When the value of higher education is being generally questioned, anything that will help a girl secure employment is of benefit to the college. As a student, she has a better chance professionally and socially in a world of intense competition. A pleasing appearance is within the reach of every girl, however plain, and removes one handicap in the social and economic race. As a writer in one of the recent issues of "The Forum" has said:

"The woman who graduates with competent knowledge of how to take care of her face and her hair and how to make herself appear as attractive as possible takes out into life with her training that which will be as advantageous as her grasp of geo-synclines."

PARTY ONE OF YEARS OUTSTANDING EVENTS

At this party half of the girls come in regular attire and half in masculine garb. As a result of the wholesale demand for the costumes of the males, one faculty member aptly put it that most of the men in North Hall, the men's dormitory, had to spend the evening in bed.

The affair opened with a 6:00 o'clock dinner party attended by the present officers of the Governing Board of Waller Hall and of the Day Girls' Association. There was a corsage for each one in attendance.

The dance, the principal feature of the party, opened in the gymnasium at 8:00 o'clock with Phil Guinard's Orchestra furnishing a fine program of music. Some of the decorations placed by the Frosh for their dance gave the girls a decorative scheme without much effort. Women members of the board of trustees and the faculty were guests.

The grand march was a real spectacle. A quartet of judges, selected from women of the faculty, had a difficult time in the judging, finally giving the awards to the following: Most original couple, Grace Worrall and Mary Maloney; funniest couple, Marian Hinkel and Sara Lentz; best looking couple, Margaret Sandbrook and Louise Timbrell; handsomest man, Gladys Baky; best looking girl, Deborah Kohler; funniest man, Madelyn Dunkelberger; funniest girl, Miriam Erch. There was a beautiful solo by Jean Phillips and a much enjoyed musical recitation by Gladys Wenner.
