

Bloomsburg Prepares To Greet Returning Alumni

Gymnasium Nearing Completion; Dedication on Alumni Day

MODERN EQUIPMENT AND POOL READY FOR USE

Barring further delay in securing the materials needed for the lighting system, the new gymnasium will be ready for use within the next few weeks. Alumni Day, May 23, is the date for the official dedication of the building. The copper conduits, which the contractors have had difficulty in obtaining, have now been secured, and the work of installing the power line is well under way.

The new gymnasium, which is 98 feet long and 558 feet wide, is almost twice as large as the old one. The basketball court, flanked by bleachers accommodating twelve hundred people, is 88 feet long and 48 feet wide. In addition to the main basketball court, there are two smaller courts which may be used for a variety of games, including shuffleboard, badminton, basketball, handball, and volleyball. New equipment—mats, parallel bars, spring boards, and dumbbells—will further increase the facilities of the gymnasium.

The swimming pool, of white tile construction, has been completed and will be ready for use Homecoming Day, November 1. The pool is 75 feet long and 30 feet wide and varies in depth from 3 feet at one end to 10 feet at the other. There are bleacher accommodations for 300 people along the sides of the pool.

The locker and shower rooms are furnished with the latest equipment. The steel lockers are built into the side walls and are fitted with combination locks.

In addition to all these features, the gymnasium also houses two classrooms and five offices. It is in every respect one of the most modern and best equipped gymnasiums in the state and is unquestionably a great asset to the college.

Lt. McMahan Serving Year In Naval Reserve

Mr. Herbert E. McMahan is now serving as a lieutenant, senior grade, in the United States Naval Reserve. The former professor of accounting secured a sabbatical leave in order to serve his country when the national emergency arose early this summer.

Lieutenant McMahan formerly served in the Naval Reserve and is now stationed at the Philadelphia Navy Yard as assistant officer of supply.

Pilot Training Course Begins

Once again the common sight of the last two semesters is seen in the air over Bloomsburg Twenty-one college students have begun the fourth consecutive training program sponsored by the C.A.A. Following in the path of the fifty pilots who had completed the pilot training, this semester's group of boys is getting into the full swing of the program. Without exception the trainees are enthusiastic and cooperative.

Koch Coordinator

Ground school under the able direction of Dean John C. Koch, coordinator of the local program, began October 16. The work will include 24 hours in service of general aircraft by Samuel Bigony, local airport operator, and Dean Koch; Twenty-four hours of Meteorology under the instruction of Dr. H. H. Russell, and 24 hrs. of Navigation with Mr. G. C. Buchheit as instructor. Three boys, George Menarick, George Spontak, and Loren Collens are taking only this ground course.

At the local airport, Samuel R. Bigony has charge of flight instruction in the C.P.T. course and is assisted by Neil Metzong, Arwingsburg, and William Van Ness, Wilmington, Del.

Dr. D. J. Waller Succumbs at 95

Lived Through a Century of Progress at B.S.T.C.

To Dr. David J. Waller, Jr., president emeritus of the Bloomsburg State Teachers College, a pioneer and administrator, who died during the past summer vacation, the college that is Bloomsburg is forever indebted.

Dr. Waller, a graduate of the Class of 1868 of the college which was then called the "Bloomsburg Literary Institute," lived to see Bloomsburg grow from a hamlet and to see this institution on the hill become one of the best-known teachers colleges in the country.

Saw Century of Progress

So far as the history of the Bloomsburg State Teachers College and its predecessor is concerned, Dr. Waller lived through all but a few years of the century that makes the background for the educational service given to Bloomsburg.

In the fall of 1877 Dr. Waller became principal of the then State Normal School, and for 13 years the school under his guidance grew by leaps and bounds. In 1890 he was appointed State Superintendent of Public Instruction, but he returned to this school in 1916 to serve as principal until 1920, when he retired.

Loved Teaching

Throughout Dr. Waller's teaching career he was a constructionist in applied education. Because of his broad view of life and his ability to see things clearly, Dr. Waller earned the love of his students and associates. The attitude of his former students is expressed clearly in the following words which appear on a tablet presented to the school in his honor: "With culture and efficiency as educational aims, he placed character, honor, right living, and high ideals above every material success."

VARIED ARTIST COURSE PLANNED

This season's artists course promises outstanding evening entertainment judging from the variety and high calibre of the artists scheduled to appear in the college auditorium.

The Carolina Playmakers opened the series October 17, with their presentation of "The House of Connelly". The address on November 11, by United States Senator, Gerald Nye, has been cancelled because of Mr. Nye's political viewpoints. Another speaker will be engaged in place of Mr. Nye.

December 19 marks the appearance of the Master Singers, a male quartette which has thrilled schools everywhere with its presentation of songs ranging from operatic arias to negro spirituals. Robert Kitain, world renowned Russian violinist, will appear here January 8. Mr. Kitain made his American debut in Carnegie Hall and since that time has played three times before huge audiences in New York Town Hall.

The date for this year's College Spring Concert is March 20, at which time the Women's Chorus and the Men's Chorus will present a combined (Continued on Page 4)

New Gymnasium Opens For Tea and Informal Dance

Kutztown Grid Game; Dance Featuring Bruce Bell Program Highlights

Trustees, faculty, and students are working hard to make this Homecoming Day, Saturday November 1, the best we have ever had. Arriving alumni, parents, and friends will find Carver Hall beautifully decorated in the national colors. Decorations for game and for the interior of the buildings will be in the traditional maroon and gold, the common colors of both Bloomsburg and Kutztown.

Game at 2:00

Opening the day's events will be a twelve o'clock luncheon in the College dining room. The feature of the afternoon, the football game between Kutztown and Bloomsburg, will begin promptly at two o'clock on Mt. Olympus. An informal tea in the foyer of the new gymnasium will be given at 4:30 for the guests and friends of the College. At the same time they are invited to inspect the new building.

Bruce Bell to Play

At 6:30 an informal dinner will be given in the College dining room. Climaxing the day's festivities will be an informal dance in the new gymnasium at eight o'clock. The music for the occasion will be furnished by Bruce Bell and his thirteen Stylists of Rhythm. Miss Larue Ramsey will be the soloist. All guests and college students are cordially invited to attend the dance.

Old Gym Opens For Recreation

The College Council under the direction of presiding vice-president Donald Jenkins, has been very active during the past few weeks carrying out plans for the betterment of the College community.

The old gym will be available after November 3 for recreational purposes. The gym will be open from 12 to 1 P.M., 4 to 6, and 6:30 to 9:30 Monday to Friday of each week. A "juke box", coca cola machine, ping pong tables, and shuffle board equipment are to be provided. This plan will be in operation for a trial period of one month. At the end of this time a review of the situation will determine whether the program will be continued. All students are urged to cooperate. (Continued on Page 4)

Turini Killed at Naval Air Base

Was to Become Commissioned Officer Within a Few Short Weeks

Cadet Victor Turini, former student at B.S.T.C. and Editor-in-Chief of last year's Maroon and Gold was killed last Monday in an airplane accident at Lee Field, Green Cove Springs, an auxiliary to the United States Naval Air Station in Jacksonville, Florida.

According to the Naval authorities, Turini and his instructor had just landed their plane after a test flight and were walking off the field toward the hangers when a plane taxied into them from behind. Officials at the field claim that warning shouts were given to the men, but because of the noise of other plane motors around the field, they were unable to hear. Turini was hit by the whirling propeller and killed instantly. The instructor was hit by the wing and escaped with minor injuries.

Turini entered the Naval Air Corp upon graduation from B.S.T.C. last spring. With his previous C.A.A. training course at the College he advanced rapidly and received his wings two weeks ago. The young cadet was scheduled to receive his commission early in December, as an officer in the United States Naval Reserve Air Corp.

While in College, Turini was well-liked by all members of the student body and faculty. He was especially noted for his resourcefulness and initiative. He served on the College newspaper, first as Make-up Editor and during his Senior year as Editor-in-Chief. He was president of the (Continued on Page 4)

Welcome by President Andruss

Welcome to Alumni, Friends, and Students of Bloomsburg:

On Saturday, November 1, we hope to greet all of those who are interested in Bloomsburg.

May I add my word of welcome to that of our Trustees and Faculty, with the hope that the Bloomsburg way of life through binding the ties of the past will help us to meet the problems of the present.

You are all cordially invited to come for the day, which begins at noon and lasts until midnight.

Sincerely yours,

HARVEY A. ANDRUSS, President

Three New Members Added To College Teaching Staff

Together with eighty-eight new students, three new faculty members have assumed their duties at the college—Miss Betty Pauling, Mr. Wilbur J. Abell, and Mr. Robert Morgan.

Miss Betty Pauling had her early musical training at the Wyoming Seminary in Kingston, where she specialized in the violin with Mr. George Shoeder as her instructor.

In 1936, Miss Pauling was appointed to the violin faculty at the Seminary with which she is still affiliated.

In addition, Miss Pauling has had extensive vocal study under Frank La-Forge, noted New York voice teacher, who has trained such outstanding artists as Lawrence Tibbett and Lily Pons.

Mr. Wilbur J. Abell was graduated from Millikin University, Decatur, Illinois, in 1936, he received his M. S. Degree in Education and Accounting from the University of Washington. He has also done work toward his (Continued on Page 4)

Welcome, New Students, B.S.T.C. extends the right hand of friendship to you.

To a greeting, a response is due. We are looking forward to one from you. Already you have made attempts at one, but your complete response does not come until you leave the school. Even then you will still be making responses, and will continue to do so until you pass from this earth.

We, the students of B.S.T.C., hope you will absorb the Bloomsburg spirit early and be one of us.

LEST WE FORGET

Once again students, parents, alumni, and friends of this great institution of ours gather to celebrate the annual Homecoming Day. But under what altered and rapidly changing circumstances! Familiar and strange faces will pass among us, faces marked with the story of success at a price, faces marked with disappointment, with sorrow, with bewilderment. These we shall see and these we shall try to console or compliment as the case may be, but what about the familiar faces that are absent? Yes, what about them? Shall we go on in our merriment of the moment heedless of the fact that many who would have been among us, many who wanted to be with us, are not?

Lest we forget let us give heed:

For fifty-seven years our Lady of Liberty has stood in New York harbor symbolizing those high principles for which our forefathers had fought in 1776. Once again the time has come when those dearly loved principles are in danger, when the hand of the strong and the ungodly is inflicting suffering and sorrow upon a bewildered and chaotic world. And once again the call to defend our principles has been issued and answered.

Absent from our midst are the graduates and undergraduates who have answered this call. Absent to prepare to defend those ideals we all love so well! Is it not well! Is it not well that we pause somewhere in the course of this jubilant day and give our homage and respect to the men who are in the service and to the men who have died in that service? Those men who left their homes, their beloved ones, and the opportunity to live a peaceful life to answer the grim call of preparedness—preparedness for war, for hardships even for death. For them and for ourselves, let us this day pray to the God of Peace!

THREE PORTRAITS
by Emil Ludwig

Mr. Ludwig has written this book describing the three European dictators not because he is in favor of their policies, but because he is interested in their characters, since our fate today depends, in part, on them. He knows two of the dictators from personal conversations, the third by description, but he is against all three because they are all against freedom.

These three personalities are as various as their aims. Mussolini is the most interesting personality, but Stalin's aims are more interesting than those of the other two.

According to Mr. Ludwig, Mussolini, with his Caesarean head, is at first glance the Roman dictator. Even Stalin has the expression of a coherent personality. But none of the famous men of our day look so insignificant as Adolf Hitler, Max von Gruber, a Professor at the University of Munich, stated that Hitler had the "expression not of a man exercising authority in self-command, but of raving excitement. At the end of satisfied egotism."

In a comparison of the three dictators, we see first a common will to power which suffers no scruples, annihilates every enemy, knows no morality, mercy or chivalry. Hence the end of freedom for all they govern, the stifling of all virile contradiction, the contempt for the masses, the persecution of intellect.

Comparing their characters, the three men share three deep-seated traits: a small capacity for love, a great capacity for hate, and an eminent and unquenchable belief in themselves.

Other traits divide them into three groups, and we find Stalin the only man of conviction, Mussolini the only strong personality, and Hitler the only lunatic.

March of Rhyme:

I never saw a purple cow
Nor ever hope to see one,
But judging from the milk we get,
There certainly must be one.

It seems to us . . .

that the quarterback called the "hit and run" play too often. We'd hit them, and they would keep on running.

Two morons were working on a skyscraper:

Said the first: "Hey, come up here. I want you to listen to something." So the second moron climbed up to join him and listened thoughtfully for some time. Finally he said, "I don't hear anything". Said the first: "Yeh, isn't it quiet."

Signs:

In the window of a fruit market—"Fine apples. Buy now. Remember, the early bird gets the worm".
On the door of a sorority house—"Knock before you enter; I might be talking about you."

Excerpt from Fire Drill Instructions—"Be sure to leave the building completely."

Words, words, words

Omen—something to say at the end of a prayer.
Knicker—a little laugh.
Orchid—a place to raise fruit.
Millimeter—something to measure mills.
Fiddle—when you play on a violin.
Turban—last name of a girl named Deanna.

Quote of the week:

"Where are our Social Rooms"?

Puns 'n Patter

The perennial Frosh jokes are going the rounds of late, and among the better ones, we heard the following: Said one "how-green-I-am" to another, "I don't want to boast fella, but our new house is flawless."
"Yeah," retorted the other, "what do you walk on?"

Another example of that great Frosh mentality:
Prof.: Is the sun or the moon the more necessary?
Frosh Lavelle, after deep concentration: "The moon, since it shines when we need light. The sun shines in the day when it's light anyway."

We wonder how some people got out of high school. Well, somebody gotta remain, or who would be the teachers?

Prof: "It gives me great pleasure to mark you 85 on your exam."
Frosini: "Well, why not make it a 100 and give yourself a real thrill."

Bill Davies: Say Dick, what model is your car?
Matthes: It's no model—it's a horrible example.

This verse does not mean a thing, It's simply here for volume, We simply copied the goldarned thing To end this goshdarned column.

WINTER WIND

The winter wind
Is whistling 'round my Window sill.
It tosses tree limbs high,
Scatters dead leaves
In rhythmic dances,
As it races up the hill
To push the snow clouds by.

HOMECOMING

They come with smiling faces,
Bright and gay,
Chattering, calling greetings
While far away.
They come with life-scarred faces
Worn and old,
With eyes raised to brick buildings,
Sun-touched gold.
They come with loving hearts
Full, overflowing;
With their deep-felt loyalty
Warmly glowing.
They come home, year after year,
For just one day;
To walk with others who return—
They will not stay away.

THE SPIRIT

THAT IS BLOOMSBURG

Up through green valleys,
Over wooded trails,
Above the Susquehanna
Is the place where
Youthful laughing memories
Linger still.
Like rich, red wines—
They mellow with the years.
Thoughts return to clubs,
Studies, hikes, and friends—
The H & C, the Barbecue, and Hoppes, too!
The ivy-ed walls and Carver Hall
Where the tower clock strikes off the hour—
Adding each to one before
Until four years have sped—
Closing the book of college life
To students, who will retrace
Their footsteps when the spirit
That is Bloomsburg calls—
On Homecoming!

It's the Style

If we were to ask ten girls what their favorite school clothes were, nine of them would say skirts and sweaters. Wear them everyday; they are our uniforms. We transform them into new outfits by adding a piece of costume jewelry, a bright scarf, or a clean white collar.

Tweeds, soft wools and corduroy are the outstanding materials for skirts. This year the greens, reds, and browns seem to stand out as the predominating colors, but black and navy blue are always good. Many of the skirts are pleated some are circular, others are just straight.

The longer the sweaters are, the better we like them. The classic V-neck sweater is quite smart. Our sweaters in the past have been loose and baggy. There is now a trend to make them slim and fitted. We seem to be adopting this trend to be neat and well dressed. Girls must keep up with our immaculate army draftees.

A slight variation from the skirt and sweater is found in the jerkin and skirt. The change of a blouse makes the whole outfit appear different. Long-sleeved blouses seem to be our choice. Plunging necklines are good for the feminine person who doesn't wish to appear too manish. Jersey, wool, silk and cotton make up the materials for the blouses.

When you buy skirts and sweaters, choose colors that harmonize. Then you can mix them up. In this way you give the appearance of having more clothes than you really do possess.

Chapel Program Will Mark Education Week

Beginning November 9, America will celebrate Education Week. This period is recognized throughout America for special attention to school-public relations.

The schools of America are contributing much toward national defense by training students for defense jobs, and helping youth to understand and appreciate the American way of life. This week is a great opportunity for the schools and teachers throughout the nation to make people aware of these advantages.

Bloomsburg State Teachers College is doing its part in the celebration of American Education Week. The chapel program on November 14 will climax the observance of that week. Earl Harris will preside and will

PREVUE

Coming to the Capitol Theater, November 3, 4 and 5 is a real attraction, "Smilin' Through" starring Jeanette MacDonald, Gene Raymond, and Brian Aherm. The murder of his fiancée by a disappointed suitor has shadowed Englishman Brian Aherm's life for thirty years. He has raised his fiancée's niece, Jeanette MacDonald, from childhood only to have her fall in love with the murderer. At first he forbids the marriage, but finally condones to it when he realizes he has lost the love of Jeanette. He is rewarded soon after when he is reunited with his bride in Heaven.

Other coming attractions that may prove interesting are:

"Parachute Battalion", an interesting movie, reveals all sorts of boys who enter Uncle Sam's Service. The cocky recruit is Robert Preston, the boy who fears fear is Edmund O'Brien, and the girl is Nancy Kelly.

"Hold Back the Dawn" is played in a Mexican border town with suave Boyer, lovely DeHavilland, and beautiful Goddard.

"Weekend in Havana" has for its thrilling cast Alice Faye, John Payne, Carmen Miranda, Caesar Romero, and Cobina Wright, Jr.

"The Little Foxes" is an academy award contender with Bette Davis playing the leading role of Regina.

"One Foot in Heaven" is the new big hit which presents a most delightful family starring Fredric March and Martha Scott.

"The Chocolate Soldier" comes singing to the screen with Nelson Eddy and the new star, Rise Stevens. Among the songs are My Hero, Sympathy, The Chocolate Soldier and other Straus Songs of Romance.

Other movies which you have been waiting for are: "The Feminine Touch", "The Shadow of the Thin Man", "It Started With Eve", and "Hot Spot".

point out the significance of the week and the happenings in America which make its observance necessary. Other participants and their topics are: William Edmunds, Building Physical Fitness; Erma Wolfgang, Strengthening National Morale; John Betz, Improving Economic Well-being; Walter Mohr, Safeguarding School Support; Jean Lantz, Learning the Ways of Democracy.

Huskies Anxious To Snare Homecoming Day Win

A Message From the Coach

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the members of the football squad for their fine spirit and hearty cooperation which they have shown, both in practice and in the games, during this '41 season. Regardless of their record, the squad has worked very hard all year and they have shown a willingness and a determination that has impressed me greatly.

I should also like to thank the student body for their loyal support during this season.

Yours truly,
George C. Buchheit,
Coach.

Coed Sport Gossip

by Pauline Garey

The "B" Club of the college recently elected officers for the '41 year. The newly elected officers are: president, Kathryne Hess; vice-president, Edna Zehner; secretary, Florence Faust. The final election for the office of treasurer is slated for the near future. Having elected these new officers, the club enjoyed a "chile" supper last Monday evening in Science Hall.

Although the "B" club is not preparing its annual supply of corsages and "mums" the organization intends to have many varieties of flowers on hand for sale on Homecoming Day.

The women's physical education activities for 1941 have opened. The girls are once again engaging in strenuous battle, both on the open field and in the gym. The soccer and hockey teams meet each Monday and Friday afternoons. A riding club, under the supervision of Miss White-night, has been formed and many girls are availing themselves of this opportunity to enjoy this sport. Miss Lucy McCammon, director of women's physical education, has been sponsoring many hikes and other activities for members of her gym classes.

The following are items that all college women should be interested in. Upperclasswomen! If you intend to do any swimming in our new pool, you should place your order for swimming suits immediately. It requires over seven weeks for the orders to be filled. "B" club prospects! All points will be posted on the bulletin-boards in the new gym during the first part of November. Table Tennis Fans! A table tennis professional will give an exhibition match in the near future at the college and any person may challenge this talented paddle-wielder.

Huskies Finish Against Stroud

The Huskies will write finis to the '41 season next Saturday afternoon when they play hosts to East Stroudsburg. The Big Red, who are enjoying a highly-successful season, intend to fatten their record with a conquest over the Huskies, but the Buchheit-tutored club have other ideas on the subject.

John Shlanta, rugged Mayfield tackle, "Slim" Herr, versatile wingman from Shamokin, and Stan Schuyler, 207 pound guard from Berwick, will bid a fond farewell to further football at B.S.T.C. since these men will be taken via graduation.

Bonham Places In National A.A.U.

Places in Junior and Senior Divisions. Third in Discus Fifth in Javelin

During the summer months Danny Bonham, one of the best track athletes to ever don the Maroon and Gold jersey and a graduate of this institution, grabbed some more laurels by copping several noteworthy places in the discus and javelin events in competition with the most colorful and most outstanding track stars of the country when the Forty-Fort ace participated in the National A.A.U. track championships at Franklin Field in Philadelphia. The former Husky track star featured in both the Junior and Senior divisions of the gigantic track carnival.

Bonham, in the junior division, heaved the discus 140 ft. 5½ inches to place third behind Ed Beetem, representing the University of Pennsylvania. This was a remarkable feat since the cream of the nation were taking part in this event. Danny qualified in the shotput but was unable to place in that event; he failed to qualify for the javelin.

In the senior sector, Bonham, who wore the colors of Bloomsburg State Teachers College, qualified for the javelin with a toss of 186 ft. and then came back to whirl the skinny-stick a distance of 197 ft. 5 in. for a fifth spot in the final readings.

Danny was the first track athlete from this college ever to take part in this star-studded track meet. B.S.T.C. was the only teachers college listed on the results and this college through the work of its stalwart athlete, compiled a team score of six points, heading several other larger schools.

BOOTERS CLIMAX AT LOCK HAVEN

HOPE TO CLOSE WITH WIN OVER BALD EAGLES

Hoping to climax the season with a fair record, the Bloomsburg S. T. C. booters will end their campaign by meeting Lock Haven's Bald Eagles away, November 15. The Huskies were beaten by the Bald Eagles last week 3-2, but they hope to avenge that defeat with a clean-out victory. Over a period of four years, the Huskies have a decided edge over the Havenites and the setback last week was somewhat stunning. Pete Wisner has his boys in fine shape and the team will probably reach its peak for this game. One of the handicaps of the current season has been the slowness of the boys to round into form, due to the late start of the college year.

Sporting Around

by Alex Foster

WELCOME GRADS to another Homecoming Day football tussle here at Bloomsburg State Teachers College. Today's gridiron battle, featuring the BSTC "Huskies" and Kutztown, has all the earmarks of another bell-ringer. Those of you who were fortunate enough to witness the Huskies stunning 25-14 victory over Shippensburg last year can expect another dramatic scrap to unfold this P.M. on Mt. Olympus. Neither club has recorded a single touchdown and both will be primed to snare their No. 1 conquest of the '41 season. So by all means, prepare yourself for one of the most tense struggles you have yet to witness this year.

The Huskies, under the guiding hand of Coach George C. Buchheit, have failed to impress their following with those prized bundles of cherished wins, but they will be set to prove to every spectator, young and old alike, that they can produce the goods. This column calls for a victory providing the Maroon and Gold Gladiators fulfill their treasured threats against the rugged Kutztown eleven.

WORKING WITH ONE OF THE SMALLEST SQUADS in the history of the sport at BSTC, Coach Buchheit has a team that regardless of their past can light the torch of victory that will be long remembered. The student body is behind the team, win, lose, or draw, and we suggest that you grads sing the praises of the team as loud as the strength of your vocal cords will allow. An occasional handshake or word of encouragement to the team, before they take to battle, will do much to inspire the lads.

AN OPEN LETTER TO BILL JEFFRIES, the successful Penn State soccer coach. It is true, without question, that within the portals of Penn State you have one of the finest soccer records ever compiled by any eleven in the country, but we contend that to further prove your strength and supremacy on the Eastern soccer front you arrange a game or two with either East Stroudsburg or West Chester. We believe that these two teachers college teams are probably as good a team as you can find along the Atlantic seaboard.

Of course, we also realize that Penn State would hazard their fine rating by chancing a meeting with a teachers college aggregation. However, it is yet to be proven in my books that some of the so-called powerhouses in the liberal arts colleges have it all over those of us who reside in the rank of teachers colleges. They might give you the surprise of your life, Mr. Jeffries!

MAKING THE ROUNDS ... The twenty-three man football squad at BSTC has an aggregated weight which totals slightly over two tons, to be exact 110 lbs. over. The average weight per man is 178 pounds. ... Kutztown's basketball card opens up early in December with Albright, Newark University, Blue Ridge, and Ithaca among those listed. ... Take it from Mr. Nugent—Turn a deaf ear to those reports that Danny Litwhiler, our famed alumnus, will be sold before spring. . .

Hope to Repeat Last Year's Success Before Huge Throng

PEP RALLY
The F.S.T.C. booster committee, headed by James Davies and Dick Matthes, in preparation for the Homecoming Day game will sponsor a gigantic bonfire and pep rally tonight at 7:30 on Mt. Olympus, to the rear of the football field. Both the College band and the cheerleaders will be on hand to lead the cheering. Short speeches and pep talks by co-captains Maslowsky and Menarick, Dr. Nelson, Dean Koch and Coach Buchheit are planned. All students are urged to attend the rally.

Husky Booters Score 4-2 Win

Elizabethtown College Falls to Much Improved Husky Soccer Team

A much improved Bloomsburg Husky soccer team turned in its first victory of the season over Elizabethtown College at that place Saturday, 4-2. Previously, the Huskies had sustained three losses.

The first goal came as a penalty kick for the Huskies, Patterson, captain and center forward, converting. He also scored another midway in the first period. Not until the last quarter did either team score again. Then Posey booted one for Elizabethtown, but back came the Huskies with Wanich scoring from close range. Patterson scored his third goal of the game, another penalty kick shortly after. Bole, of Elizabethtown, closed the scoring by booting one through.

In addition to Patterson, star performers for the Huskies were Yeany and Niles who worked some nice passing to set up many scoring plays.

B.S.T.C. Gridiron Unit Bows to Shippensburg

Unable to stave off a powerful offensive which held the Huskies in check for four quarters, the B.S.T.C. gridiron unit felt the sting of their third straight reversal when they were felled most convincingly by Shippensburg Teachers 42-0 on foreign soil last Saturday.

The Huskies were heavily outweighed and plus the experience and strength of the Shippensburg reserves gave the winners a resounding edge through the entire contest. The Buchheit-tutored club fought stubbornly but to no avail.

B.S.T.C. Passing Attack Improved
About the only bright spot in the Huskies favor was their ability to produce an occasional pass, either to the wating arms of Schminky or Herr. The weakness of the B.S.T.C. line made it difficult for the backs to engineer any damaging gains.

Another important game will be the Ithaca-Bloomsburg tussle, here, October 31. The New York state boys are a new addition to the Husky schedule and are expected to provide strong opposition. Ithaca has met the football and basketball units of B.S.T.C., but this will be the first soccer contest between the two schools.

The Huskies have an open date on Nov. 8 and they are hoping to secure a game with a nearby college for that date.

Three Classy Musical Groups To Add Color to Event On Mt. Olympus

Those unpredictable Huskies, whose amazing 24-14 success over a highly-esteemed Shippensburg eleven last year turned the Homecoming Day into a hilarious celebration, are being counted on to turn the trick again tomorrow afternoon at 2:00 o'clock when the revitalized B.S.T.C. gridiron unit faces a desperate, last-ditch Kutztown eleven in a contest that brings together two well-matched aggregations.

Kutztown, much like the Huskies, have had little chance to smile during the present football campaign and the K-towners would like nothing better than to displease an anticipated Homecoming Day crowd of three thousand by emerging the victor.

Three classy musical organizations will be on hand to vie for the plaudits of the vast throng. The 60-piece Bloomsburg High School Band, complete with colorful girl majorettes, the B.S.T.C. band and the Kutztown College band will keep the air filled with spirited music.

K-towners Set for Huskies
James MacGovern, fiery Kutztown mentor, has been working with a 17-man squad, one of the smallest of any college in the state, but handicapped as he is, the K-towners are each week showing great improvement. The invaders will be at full strength for this afternoon's tussle.

Ed Osinski, diminutive wingman, and Captain Mike Huber, ground-gaining fullback, are the two standouts on the Kutztown eleven. Both men are veterans and perform equally well on the defense and offense. With only five backs on the squad Coach MacGovern must bank heavily on his starting quartet of Malisky, Fitzsimons, Huber and Purnell.

Purnell, left-halfback, handles the pitching chores for the Avalanche unit and his running mate and able receiver is usually Osinski. This well-knitted combination may spell trouble for the Huskies this P.M.

Huskies Anxious to Repent
Unable to forget those three straight losses, but aiming to make some amends for them by their showing today, the Huskies are ready with fire in their eyes for the engagement. Practice drills all week have been featured by overwhelming spirit and fight.

Co-Captains "Whitey" Maslowsky, smoothing-working back from Wilkes-Barre, and George Menarick, 205-pound Junior tackle, will lead the spunky B.S.T.C. eleven into the fray.

Don Schminky, varsity end from Shamokin, injured in the Shippensburg contest may not get an opening call for the Huskies but he will no doubt see plenty of action.

The forward wall for the Huskies looked weak in the last game and has been given a good polishing for the encounter. Several new faces may dot the lineup in order to field the strongest line possible.

FORMER STUDENTS WRITE ABOUT EXPERIENCES IN THE SERVICE

by IRVING T. GOTTLIEB

Writing this column is proving to be one of the most enjoyable things I have ever attempted. Letters received from B.S.T.C. students of last year are the most interesting I have ever read.

At the present time, we have heard from only a few of "our boys" in the service; but the next issue of the "Maroon and Gold" will contain a full roll-call. Let the boys speak for themselves. . . .

IN THE AIR

Aviation Cadets
Tulsa, Oklahoma

Walter Reed:

"You are probably interested about the life down here. Well, we go to bed at 9:45 p.m. and get up at the ungodly hour of 5:30 a.m. We have three classes in the morning, and fly in the afternoon one week and then the opposite the next week. We have classes to attend. Yes, and plenty of work, too! The classes consist of the study of engines, math (algebra, trigonometry, logarithm, and slide rule), and the theory of flight on aerodynamics.

"Recently, while flying, I had a thrilling experience. I was going into a spin at 5,000 feet! Somehow, I didn't manipulate the plane right and she went into a dive and wouldn't come out. When I got her straightened, I was at 2,000 feet and going 180 m.p.h. Boy! You should feel the pressure pulling out at that speed!

Anthony Yenalavage:

"You must be here to get the real feeling of a 'flying gadget.' And freshman customs at B.S.T.C., say, they're nothing compared to the hazing of a 'dodo,' the name given to a freshman in the air corp!"

From reports received, the other aviators at Tulsa, Oklahoma, cannot pronounce Yenalavage, so they nicknamed him "Kelly".

Randolf Field
Texas

John Maksimiuk:

"We have five hours of school each day and flying four hours a day. But we start at one hour of actual flying and end at three hours daily. Our flight course will include acrobatics, which we already had at Oklahoma, night flying, instrument flying, and formation flying. We fly B.T. 9's and 14's. They weigh 4,000 pounds and are wonderful ships. My training is one-third completed—two-thirds to go!

P.S.—We had a tornado down this part of the country, and it rained for nine straight days.

ON THE GROUND

Fort Meade
South Dakota

Private Frank Pettinato:

"I just came back from spending four months in the state of Kansas and was plenty glad to leave. It is not only a dust bowl, but also the hottest place in the U. S. A. We had continuous days of 110 to 120 degrees—weather that I never dreamt of being in. It was really hard on the body and miserable for one who has always lived in a moderate climate.

"But my job is easy—carrying the guidon (a troop flag) wherever we go as a body, in parades, retreats, and all over the camp.

"I've put on ten pounds and tip the scales at 154. Never in my life have I weighed over 144. I'm in the best of health. The meals and mountain air here are excellent body builders."

Medical Training Corp
Camp Lee, Va.

Theodore Harwood:

"You kids at B.S.T.C. think you're up to your ears in school work, well, get a load of this: For the past four weeks, I've attended seven classes a day! Our instructors are tops. Each one is a specialist and wizard, too, in his subject. In the morning I attend medical classes. During the afternoon, I go to business administration classes, the text being used is called "Company and Personnel Administration."

"After the completion of this course, I'll be attached to a Personnel Organization as a junior clerk. Here I'll serve a few months as an understudy to someone who knows the ropes. I should learn quite a bit because I'll be circulated from department to department until I get the hang of things. I hope I'll get a promotion from junior clerk after a few months. School ends in a few more days."

ODDS AND ENDS

The following is a list of fellows, where they are located, and what they are doing. No correspondence has been received as yet from them so it is impossible to give more than the information listed above. In the next issue of the "Maroon and Gold" though, there will be write-ups for all of them.

Jim Dorsey,
Craig Field, Selma, Ala.

Jim has finished two-thirds of his course. Ten weeks more at advanced school and he will receive his second lieutenant's commission in the Air Corp Reserve.

Charles Harmony
Fort Meade, Md.
No information.

Bill Hagenbuch
Augusta, Georgia

To be admitted for instruction at a base flying school in Augusta.

Bob Joy
Fort Benning, Ga.

Taking special courses in the army infantry school at Fort Benning.

This is all the information now available. In a short while, though, a complete list of the fellows and their addresses will be at your disposal. In the meantime, pick out some of the addresses given in this column and drop the boys a few words. (A word from home to a service man is like water in the desert to the tired traveler.)

And to you fellows in the service, "Keep the colors flying."

TURINI KILLED

Many New Improvements Made On Buildings and Grounds

B.E.C. Plans Dance For November 22

Following its first meeting the Business Education Club has launched full plans for the coming Thanksgiving Dance which is scheduled for November 22.

To handle the various details of the dance, the acting president, John Hubiak, has appointed the following Dance Committees: Peter Podwika, general chairman. Decorations: Bernard Pufnak and Vincent Husovsky, co-chairmen. Programs: Walter Maslowsky, Lewis Kohn, John Thomas. Orchestra: Theodore Jurasik, Irving Gottlieb, Emma Hutchinson. Refreshments: Ruth Ebricht and Louise Seaman. Publicity: George Piarote, David Nelson, Virginia Roberts. Miss Oxford has been selected faculty sponsor.

Since this is the first social event to be sponsored by a student organization, the committees are striving hard to prepare a pleasant evening for the student body before their Thanksgiving recess. The theme and decorations will be keeping with the spirit of the season.

VARIED ARTIST COURSE

program, assisted by several outside soloists.

Exceptionally fine assembly attractions are also in store for the student body. Russ Hoogerhyde, championship archer, will appear November 17. Burton Lynn Jackson, marimba virtuoso, will play a varied program January 19. February 27, marks the appearance of Lane K. Newberry, American artist. Sybil Shearer and Allison Choate will bring the artist series to a close March 27 with their presentation in assembly of modern interpretive dancing.

SUBSTITUTE TEACHER

Dorothy J. Savage, a graduate of the class of 1941, is now acting as a substitute commercial teacher in the high school at Berwick. Miss Savage is replacing Byron Shiner who is now serving in the United States Army.

In the past few months the buildings and campus of B.S.T.C. have benefited from an extensive improvement program directed by Mr. Nevin T. Englehart, superintendent of buildings and grounds. The most extensive improvement was the installation of a modern, underground, electric current transmission system which is expected to deliver balanced circuits of current and should also effect considerable saving in the cost of electric current.

A chain link fence, approximately 2,800 feet long has been erected around the athletic field with provisions being made for gateways from the parking area on the east side of the new gymnasium.

Improvements have also been made to the interiors of the various buildings. New venetian blinds adorn the windows of the administrative offices on the first floor of Waller Hall. New flooring of asphalt tile and new furniture adds to the attractiveness of the social rooms of Science Hall.

PILOT TRAINING COURSE

TEACHES IN CATAWISSA

Stewart Edwards, Edwardsville, former student and athlete and a graduate of the class of 1941, is now teaching in the high school at Catawissa. "Stew" is replacing Fred Houck, now in the U. S. Army. He is teaching science, mathematics, health and coaching athletic teams.

Poetry Club 'Visits' China

Two weeks ago under the direction of Miss Marguerite Murphy the Poetry Club journeyed to China. Miss Murphy emphasized the importance of poetry in the life of the Chinese. She said in part that poetry has enabled the Chinese to endure the hardships and suffering of war, that every statesman must not only be able to recite at least three hundred poems, but he must be able to write poetry.

Poetry plays so important a part in the daily life of the Chinese that most of their activities seem to move to its rhythm. For example when a person dies the family hires mourners to shout verses through the street while the body is taken to the cemetery. The richer the family, the more mourners.

Miss Murphy brought with her pictures and souvenirs to add interest.

To show us that life in China was not all poetry, Miss Bryner read a recent letter from a missionary friend whose work takes her among the lepers. This letter was twelve weeks on the way and cost eight dollars to send.

Last week the Poetry Club returned to the U.S.A. spending the hour reading Carl Sandburg's "Good-Morning, America".

This week they go a'hallowe'ning. Original verse will be in order with games appropriate to the season.

Three New Members Added to Faculty doctorate at Northwestern University.

In addition to his work at the Demonstration School of Northwestern University at Evanston, Illinois, and the high school at Decatur, Illinois, he has been employed by B. F. Goodrich Tire and Rubber Company, and assisted Professor Paul A. Carlson in the revision of the widely used bookkeeping text, "Twentieth Century Bookkeeping and Accounting."

Mr. Abell has taken the place of Mr. McMahan in the commercial department.

Mr. Robert Morgan, formerly of Nanticoke, has taken over the duties of Mrs. John Ketner Miller.

Mr. Morgan, who was graduated from Syracuse University with a Bachelor of Music degree, made many public appearances with the Syracuse symphony and Morning Musical Incorporated.

Upon graduation from Syracuse Mr. Morgan became an instructor at Elcon College, North Carolina, where he also acted as college organist.

For the past three years Mr. Morgan has been employed as organist and choir director at the First Baptist Church, Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania.

OLD GYM OPENS

In addition to this, the Council selected four students to attend the Annual Conference of the Cooperative Association of Pennsylvania State Teachers Colleges, held October 30 to Nov. 1, at Millersville. Those selected to go were John Witkoskie, John Thomas, Reba Henrie, and Joanna Fice.

The Council also approved the organization of the Camera Club with Professor George J. Keller as faculty sponsor.

DAN BONHAM AT N. COVENTRY

Danny Bonham, former Husky track and basketball ace, is now coaching basketball at the high school in North Coventry, Pennsylvania. Dan graduated with the class of 1941.
