NUMBER TEN

20-30 FRESHMEN ARE ENROLLING ON MARCH 1 Largest Number at Mid-Term

With the Trimester beginning on March 1, 1944, an entering class of 20 to 30 students are expected to enroll. While a few are former students, a great majority are Freshmen. They come from all sections of Eastern Pennsylvania and from the neighboring states of New York, North Carolina, New Jersey and Maryland. Among those expected to register are the following:

The students enrolling on March 1 will complete one trimester on or before July 1.

According to President Harvey A. Andruss, this is a larger number than is generally enrolled at the beginning of a second session during the college year.

STUDENT TEACHER SPEAKS AT BUSINESS EDUC. CLUB

Three members of the Department of Business Education, Joyce Hay, Ann Sabol and Sam Mazzeo, gave an insight into student teaching at the meeting of the Business Education Club on February 3.

The three students, who had taught in the Bloomsburg and Danville High Schools, presented interesting resumes of their experiences. They discussed such things as overcoming nervousness, action with disciplinary problems, preparation of lesson plans, and the necessity for changes in the plan to meet individual class needs.

The prospective teachers related many amusing incidents in their teaching, and concluded by advising the club members to closely observe the methods used by their teachers as an invaluable aid in their own teaching.

College Community Gains New Medico

Latest addition to the staff at Bloomsburg is Lt. J. G. Vincent C. Olshefski, M. C., who replaces Lt. J. G. M. Schiff, M. C., now in training at the Amphibious Forces Base, New River, North Carolina.

Dr. Olshefski has recently returned to this country from the Southwest Pacific area. While in the South Seas, Dr. Olshefski was medical officer in the C. B.'s (Construction Battalion).

Dr. Olshefski, whose home is in Mt. Carmel, Pa., studied Pre-medical at Bucknell University and Penn State College. In 1939, he was graduated from the Hahnemann Medical College at Hahnemann Hospital, Philadelphia, Pa.

While in college, Lt. J. G. Olshefski belonged to Phi Kappa fraternity, and during that time actively engaged in baseball, basketball and soccer.

Following the completion of his internship at Pottsville Hospital, Pottsville, Pa., Dr. Olshefski established his practice in Mt. Carmel.

In August, 1942, realizing the crying need for doctors in war zones, Dr. Vincent C. Olshefski offered his services to the Navy. The Navy did not hesitate, and shortly after, Lt. J. G. Olshefski found himself attached to the Norfolk Naval Operating Base, Norfolk, Va. It was here that he became acquainted with the heroic and gallant work of the C. B.'s. It was from here that Lt. Olshefski moved into the Southwest Pacific area with the C. B.'s.

Having served in that area for a six-month period to their complete satisfaction the Navy decided Lt. J. G. Olshefski deserved a rest. In the latter part of September, 1943, the Lieutenant found himself back on American shores once more.

Following his service in the Pacific area, Dr. Olshefski was attached to the Philadelphia Naval Hospital at Philadelphia until January 18, 1944, at which time he was transferred to the Naval unit at B. S. T. C.

Dr. Olshefski is married and both his wife and his two and a half year old daughter are nearby. So it was no surprise when asked what he thought of Bloomsburg he said simply, "Pretty Nice."

SOCIAL ROOMS OPEN

The Social Rooms of Noetling Hall are open daily from 8:00 A. M. until 9:50 P. M., except Sundays, when it is opened from 1:00 P. M. until 9:50 P. M. The committee to be in charge of the Social Rooms consists of Ann Sabol, college student; Charles Green, V-12, and Lucille Martino, college council.

As is previous policies, this one states that smoking, eating and dancing are not permitted. Every member of the campus is invited to use the Social Rooms and take his responsibility in seeing that they stay open.

Red McCarthy Orchestra of Harrisburg, Will Provide the Music

The V-12's await February 18 with impatience. This is the date of the Navy Farewell Dance, one of the top-notch events for this year for the V-12 Unit. Walter Wagenhurst is the general chairman.

To be at Elks

The dance is to be held at the Elks Club from 8:30 to 12:30. Frank Schreiber and T. P. Lee have engaged Harrisburg's outstanding band, non other than Red McCarthy and his 15-piece band.

Committees

The V-12's who are assisting Wagenhurst are: Orchestra, Frank Schreiber and Thomas P. Lee; Dance Programs, Raymond L. Dehler; Favors, Henry A. Caruso and Robert Taylor; Flowers, Letcher T. White; Decorations, Donald McGlathery; Location, Richard M. Langdon and Joseph F. Smith; Treasurer, Joseph F. Smith, and Secretary, Warren A. Reichlen.

The tapping on third deck heard rightly is not woodpeckers but hammers used by "Don" McGlathery, "Bill" Shildmacher and "Rod" Williams in preparation for the decorations guaranteed to be the best ever seen.

PRESIDENT H. A. ANDRUSS ATTENDS SENATE HEARING

On Tuesday, February 1, President Harvey A. Andruss attended the Senate Commerce Sub-Committee hearing in Washington, D. C., on C. P. T. training in colleges all over the United States.

In chapel Friday, February 4, he explained the present conditions.

Since Army Air Force casualties have been so far below expectation, and there is a super abundance of trained fliers, the War Department is cancelling certain training programs in colleges and universities having air crew training. Nearly 1000 colleges, universities, teacher colleges, normal schools and junior colleges will be effected.

The colleges and airports are not willing to have this training ended, because they have set aside their facilities and faculties to do a preliminary job for the Federal Government to further the war effort. Expenditures have been made by colleges and airports and faculties have had to accustom themselves to teach in other fields. They do not want to give up their facilities just because the Government has built their own. So the representatives urge the committee as much as they can to continue the C. P. T. program for five years after its expiration date of July 1, 1944.

Witnesses at the hearing included besides President Andruss, Dr. Everett Needham Case, president of Colgate University; Dr. T. A. Disler,

College Host to High School Girls

The administration has approved the opening of the new gym two evenings of every week for the college girls. According to this program the girls will have access to any of the facilities every Monday and Thursday evenings from 7:00 to 10:00.

Each week one of the two evenings will include the girls from the neighboring high schools. On the other evening of the week, the gym will be open exclusively to the college girls. There will be cage ball at 7:00, basketball at 8:00, ping pong and badminton tournaments until 10:00 and swimming throughout the entire evening. Miss Lucy McCammon will supervise all activities. The B Club will be helping with the promotion of this plan.

The program will provide a recreational center within the college. Best of all, however, will be the increase in B Club points and the decrease in waistline measurements.

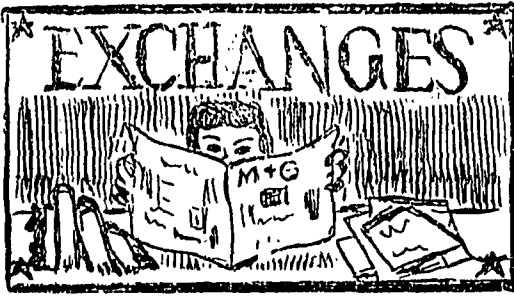

COLLEGE WOMEN GATHER FOR FUN FROLIC FEB. 11

Friday, February 11, found the day and dorm girls rushing to the old gym for the annual 4-F Party. No, this 4-F refers to Farnette Fall Fun Frolic. The postponement of the party since last November rightly changes it to a 3-F Party.

The party ran from 7:00 to 10:00 P. M. All women of the faculty and faculty wives were guests of the college girls.

Poletime Comuntzis was chairman of the games and program committees. Pauline Niles was chairman of the refreshment and advertising committees. Those helping the chairmen were: Refreshments, Helen Fehl, Kay Kurilla; Advertising, Margaret Latscha, Shirley Williams; Games, Athamontia Comuntzis, Jacqueline Shaffer, Anita Behler; Program, Eltheda Klingaman, Frances Saunders, and Evelyn George.

The program included round and square dancing, relays, races and refreshments. Costumes ranged from scarecrows to sharecroppers.

A "Peace Angelus" has been instituted on the Westminster College campus and is being observed daily in cooperation with a movement started by two young boys of the Ben Avon Presbyterian Church. Each evening at seven, the victory bell in "Old Main" tower is rung as a signal for one minute of silent prayer. Students and townspeople are asked to stop whatever they are doing when they hear the bell and offer prayer for peace.

Since the idea was started in the Pittsburgh area about November 1, it has spread rapidly to many communities where residents feel that sincere prayer will help to prepare them for the sacrifices that must come with a durable and just peace.

John Paul Jones, in his latest post-humorous communique, gives the all inclusive definition on the United States Navy—"Together we stick, divided we are stuck, all for one, one for all, and every man for himself."

"A Man's a Man For A' That— There is to be no shortage of marriageable males after the war, say three University of Chicago sociologists, who point out the fact that casualties so far have been small and that medical care for the wounded has developed to the extent that more lives are being saved than ever before. These three optimistic professors figure that, even after making a liberal allowance for casualties, there will still be a man for every girl in America. But tell us, professor, won't they be either too young or too old?"

Randall "Sheriff" Johnson is only a Freshman in the police science course at Washington State College, but he's already hard at work on his first big case.

The situation that is challenging his talents is that of a burglary at 704 Linden in which two men broke into a room and took two cartons of cigarettes, a sport coat, a suitcase, a train ticket to Seattle and $10 in cash.

Randy vows that he'll solve the case if it's humanly possible. In fact, he's quite stirred up about the case. You see, it was his room.

ATTENDS SENATE MEETING

president of Franklin and Marshall College, and representatives of the Association of American Colleges, the National Catholic Education Association, the American Association of Junior Colleges, American Association of Teachers Colleges, Association of Universities and Colleges in Aviation Training and a number of trade, civil and patriotic organizations.

B. S. T. C.

Dear Aunt Penelope:

I attended that open meeting of C. G. A. a few weeks ago and listened to a very interesting discussion on the Social Rooms of B. S. T. C. However, there were several terms used in the discussion that puzzles me. What is misconduct, Aunt Penelope, and what do they mean by necking? I want to use those social rooms intelligently, but how can I if I don't know what is frowned on by the college community.

Sincerely,

A. Dope.

Dear Dope:

Naturally you want to do the right thing, and I am just the person to help you do just that.

First, to clear up those two terms—misconduct is simply the popular indoor sport of osculation. The other term "necking," obviously means to wash the neck. Now you can see, Dear, that the social rooms are not a place for a part-bath. Well, that clears that up, doesn't it?

If you find, however, that your young man insists on a little osculation in the social rooms, you might try the following methods:

As he bends toward you to plant a kiss on your tangee dip your head suddenly to the side and bit him in the jugular vein of the neck. This will prove fatal, but it's a cinch he won't bother you any more.

I have seen some foolish girls say "no" firmly but "no" means the green light to the average male and there is no future in that. It would be much smarter to say "No, Rudolph, I only like you as a brotner." He'll love that.

I have also tried the "shove your index finger in his eye" method. Its messy but effective.

A more subtle but just as effective way is the "onion breath approach." There is a chance he may have eaten them too, so be prepared.

Well, there they are dear. Take them for what they are worth. I am fairly sure they will work, because I've used them. That's why the circulars I get in my mail are addressed to Miss Penelope Parsnip.

Affectionately,

Aunt Penelope.

P. S. Our new Social Rooms motto shall be "Osculation results in isolation."

STUDENTS VOTE IN C. G. A. ELECTION

On January 28, 1944, in chapel Bernard Kane conducted the open C. G. A. meeting for the nominations of president. The nominees for this office were as follows: Betty Hagenbuch, Harold Miller, Margaret Deem and Julian Zinzarella.

In chapel on February 4 each candidate presented his own platform speech. Promises ranged from strong student government to pledge for no fourth term.

Students and elections faculty voted for two candidates in the primary election Monday, February 7. The final voting to decide between the two will be announced later.

Presenting

Personalities

The ending of this trimester will see a handful more of our Seniors on the accelerated program graduating. Among them will be Pauline Niles, Marjory Sharretts and Stella Williams. Before they leave, let's take a farewell look at them.

Pauline Niles

During the three years since she entered B. S. T. C. as a transfer from the Penn State Center at DuBois, we have known her as Pauline Garey. A trip out to Oklahoma during the Christmas vacation changed this. There, on New Year's Day, she became Mrs. Hugh S. Niles. This is all in keeping with the best of Bloomsburg traditions as "Red" was a graduate of B. S. T. C. last January. Thus you have the explanation for Polly's walking through the halls with an "out of this world" expression on her face. Polly, majoring in languages, plans on teaching—at least, for the duration.

Marge Sharretts

Another Senior who graduates in February is Marge Sharretts. Marge has her loyalty divided between the Day Women and the Dorm Women as she has been a member of both organizations. It's been rumored that Marge's thoughts are not always centered on Bloomsburg. Her interest in historical figures is amazing—Grant in particular. This year Marge has been what is known as "one of those poor elementary student teachers." Bear up, Marge, it will soon all be a lovely memory.

Stella Williams

Even though she may be a dignified Senior now, remember the night of the Frosh Kid Party when Stella Williams, dressed in a little girl's party dress, was wearing herself out jitterbugging with Kenny Morse? And she hasn't lost any of that vivacious energy. Proof of the fact is that she served so capably as general chairman of the Senior Ball and Banquet. Don't lose that spirit, Stella, when you start in as an elementary teacher. As for here at college, Stella's younger sister, Shirley, will carry on.

The coaching staff of B. S. T. C. had vivid dreams of the prospective material that should be in a V-12 unit. When this staff realized that such a small contingent was being sent to them, their dreams collapsed. Actually there was no need for any anguish. With such athletes as Richard Bierly, Bernard Ganley and Edward Vogelsong attending the college its athletic future brightened.

Dick Bierly

The fact that Dick Bierly's name usually heads the scoring columns of Bloomsburg's papers is not at all strange. Dick began leading his track in points scored quite early. When he was in the seventh grade, Bierly scored the only point that was made by his intra-mural team. This was his first basketball game.

Bierly graduated from Kutztown High School. Later he attended the Kutztown State Teachers College, where he was coached by the present V-5 Cadet physical instructor, Lt. (S. G.) McGovern.

Bierly was outstanding at Kutztown in soccer and track as well as basketball.

Incidentally Dick leaves for advanced training in February.

Bernie Ganley

The Navy is far from new to Bernie Ganley. Before he enlisted he shipped on a Great Lakes freighter. Perhaps Bernie didn't like the water

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

Yesterday as I passed by the Maroon and Gold office, I noticed once more that the C. G. A. plaque, outside of this office, did not bear the names of our 1942-43 Presidents, Eoyd Buckingham and Joanne Fice.

In former years the additional metal strip with the engraved names would be up by the end of that year. Is this due to an oversight, indifference, or is this, too, to be blamed on shortage and priorities again?

Both Boyd and Joanna were well-liked by the entire college community not only for their amicable personalities but also for their capability in handling and execution of the responsibilities as C. G. A. Presidents.

During the past year many have noticed the absence of the names on this plaque and said nothing concerning it, but as members of the Community Government Association, it is about time we were given a satisfactory reply.

An Interested Member.

too well. If he did not, the fact that he is now a prospective V-5 candidate is quite phrasible. Ganley has already acquired a pilot's license and has twenty-five solo hours.

Ganley graduated from Indiana High School and then attended Indiana State Teachers College. He was outstanding in track, football and basketball at both high school and college.

Bernie's defensive basketball, as well as his sparkling floor game played for B. S. T. C., is well worth mentioning.

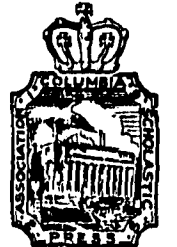

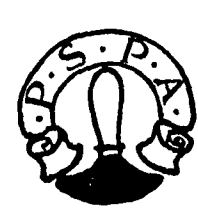

Eddie Vogelsong

The small and agile Eddie Vogelsong is indeed a credit to the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. While still a Freshman, Eddie played varsity basketball for East Stroudsburg. The unique ball handling of this black haired lad has a definite place on the college quintet. Eddie's shortness would seem to be to his disadvantage. What he lacks in height is more than compensated by his deftness.

Vogelsong is a graduate of Mechanicsburg High School. He was majoring in Physical Education at college.

Bloomsburg is glad to have Eddie play for the Huskies instead of against them as he did the previous year.

Yanks in Britain Can Purchase Favorite Magazine From G. I. Newsie

Somewhere in Britain—The ETO's first official G. I. newsie is Pfc. Oscar Spielberg of the Bronx, N. Y., who operates a stand built by Special Service at an Eighth Air Force station.

It's got plenty of class, this newsstand, a lot more than the job Pfc. Spielberg used to run back at the corner of Grand Concourse and Fordham Road. Though it sells only YANK and the Stars and Stripes, we are happy to say that the newsie reports no kicks from his customers.

Or rather, just one kick—and here is Oscar's own version of that: "Everything was going swell," he says. "The guys that didn't have the change I would trust, something I would never do at Grand Concourse and Fordham Road. Nobody asked for personal delivery and ripped copies went as easy as whole ones. Then this happens.

"A mug by the name of Paul Klinger—he's nothing more than a Pfc., either, see—comes up to my stand and says, very fancy: 'Newsboy, I should like to have a copy of the Berwick Enterprise.' I look at him, figuring Berwick's some burg around here and I tell him: 'Come back tomorrow, Bud.' Well, he comes back tomorrow—and for a week straight, even on a Sunday.

"It seems he won't take what's good enough for everybody else in this camp—our own YANK or Stars and Stripes. No, that's not good enough for him. I even offer him some British racing forms, which I'm saving to send home to my mom on Mother's Day.

"After a week of this bothering, I ask him near where is this Berwick Enterprise printed and if it is a newspaper or what.

"My good man,' he says to me 'of course it is a newspaper and I am surprised you never heard of it. For your information, it has a paid circulation of 3,465 and Berwick is in Pennsylvania, near Wapwallopen and Shickshinny.'

"I got rid of him' quick when I heard such words. I sent him to the Red Cross. That straightened him out. They let him read the Bronx Home News."

"Swish"

Cpl. H. W. Swisher.

Received two issues of the Maroon and Gold today and really was glad to get them. I hope you will continue to send them since they are a great help in knowing what is going on.

Well, here I am somewhere in Northern Ireland. It really is nice over here and the people treat us

True Course

Capt. Willard J. Davies.

The last year I have spent in Camp Stewart, Ga., in a colored anti-aircraft battalion. In training a unit, I have found that you do one of two things—teach classes or attend classes. Tried to teach about one hundred men to read and write and am quite sure now I did the right thing in taking a commercial course.

Phil Frankmore is in the Navy at Sampson, N. Y., and my old roommate, Shel Jones, is an ensign.

Officer Promotion

Wendover Field, Utah—Announcement was made here today of the promotion of Captain John Rutter Ohl, Jr., from First Lieutenant. The advancement became effective on December 13th. Captain Ohl is assistant Base Director of Supply.

A native of Bloomsburg, Pa., Captain Ohl enlisted on October 28, 1941 and received his basic training at Keesler Field. He studied teletype maintenance at Chanute Field and later was assigned to McClellan Field where he advanced to Corporal.

Captain John Rutter Ohl attended Officers' Candidate School at Miami Beach and received his commission as Second Lieutenant on August 5, 1942. Shipped to Fort George Wright at Spokane, Washington, Ohl was assigned as Adjutant of the base squadron. During his tenure there, he held several other posts, among them being: Engineer-Property Officer; Custodial Officer and Assistant Base S-4 officer.

Transferred to Fairmont Army Base in Geneva, Nebraska, as commanding officer of an airdrome squadron, Ohl became First Lieutenant on February 24, 1943. He later served there as Base S-R officer also.

On December 22, Captain Ohl was sent to Wendover Field as assistant Base Director of Supply and it was upon his arrival here that he was notified of his promotion to Captain.

Captain Ohl was graduated from Bloomsburg State Teachers College in May, 1941, majoring in English and Geography. While there he was president of the Gamma Theta Upsilon, a chapter of the National Geographic Fraternity. Captain Ohl was also president of the Intrafraternity Council; member of the wrestling team; made the Junior Varsity track team; member of the college mixed choral group and A Capella choir; staff writer of the Maroon and Gold for two years and of the 1940-41 Year Book.

Captain Ohl lived with his parents at 512 Jefferson Street in Bloomsburg prior to his entry into the service. He married Miss Valma Gilman, West 1717 8th Avenue, Spokane, Washington, ten months ago. At the present Captain and Mrs. Ohl make their home in Wendover.

Meeting the Boys

Pfc. Harry John.

Well, I suppose you are wondering where I am and what I am doing? I am working in the Engineering Office of a Bombardment Squadron in Utah. The work is easy; about all I do is type passes and call planes either "In" or "Out" of commission.

CYCLE

By JOHN GILMAN

Summer was hot and dry. Dust stifled the land. It seeped deep into the people causing their blood to dry up. It entered the soils, blasting them with heat and dryness. Finally all was dried and dusty. The rivers gave but a trickle, bodies moved little and thought was but a trickle, too. Nothing stirred in the souls except a meaningless wondering.

Autumn came. It was cooler and dryer. Both bodies and land seemed almost dead. The souls did seem completely dead. At the end cold rains came. They were useless. They made need of the rivers, need of the blood and dust in the bodies, mud of the sorrow and discord in the souls.

Winter followed and held them in its grasp. It froze the mud of the land, it froze the mud of the body and of the soul. Nature covered it all with a blanket of white, ashamed of herself.

But now it is spring, early spring. The rivers are swollen, brown, carrying off the ice cakes. The poor soil. The soul and body are in flood stage too. Illnesses break up and depart, sorrows are washed away.

The sky clears, the waters abate. The land becomes fresh, green. It promises a good year. The bodies become vibrant, the soul stir free. They too, promise abundant growth. The people unite, the souls unite in prayer. The people, souls and earth reunite. All promise of the wonders to be done.

All our crops start, all our new life, all my green bosom swell with plants. Surely by our unity we have beaten the blast that withers crops, that dries up souls that destroy the body. Surely abundance will be ours forevermore.

Then it is summer. Man forgets his promise to earth. The land grows tired and does not work. The soul shrivels, the dust and heat close in, suffocating annihilating. The cycle is complete.

Many will remember S/Sgt. Peter DeRose at the college. His brother James was president of one of the classes about six years ago. Peter attended B. S. T. C. but never did get to finish because of the war. But I am sure the faculty will remember both of them. Well, anyhow, Peter is working in our Group Headquarters which is attached to our Squadron. So we often get together and chew the fat about the college, recalling people, places, etc. It is really swell to have someone like that. Incidentally, Peter and I used to live next door to each other.

I also met Lt. Bill Davies here about three weeks ago. But he is now at March Field in California with a B-17 outfit. He looks good and is just as full of fun as he ever was. I met John Thomas about three months ago in Salt Lake City. So you see, you do meet old college friends all over the country.

WHEN I MET YOU

When I met you my life seemed young,
As though all things had just begun
Things were so different from the start,
When you placed gladness in my heart.

When I met you the sun was bright,
The flowers and trees a gorgeous sight.
The whole world danced before my eyes,
My heart gave many fluttering sighs.

When I met you I knew for me
My life was like the rolling sea,
And in my heart there was a wave,
Of thoughts and memories that you gave.

When I met you a friend I found,
Sincere and kind and very sound,
And so the years roll on their way,
I'll always dream of you each day.

ROVING REPORTER

In the halls of B. S. T. C. there are many opinions on every subject. In this column will appear the quoted opinions of members of the student body on some question of interest to the group at a whole. This week the question asked by your "Roving Reporter" of students was: "What is your opinion on Federal subsidy of Education?" Here are some of the replies:

Frank Schreiber says, "Federal subsidy of education will be just another step toward a socialistic state, although education does not need a definite boost."

Shirley Wolfe says, "Federal subsidies could give small schools many advantages not available through local school districts."

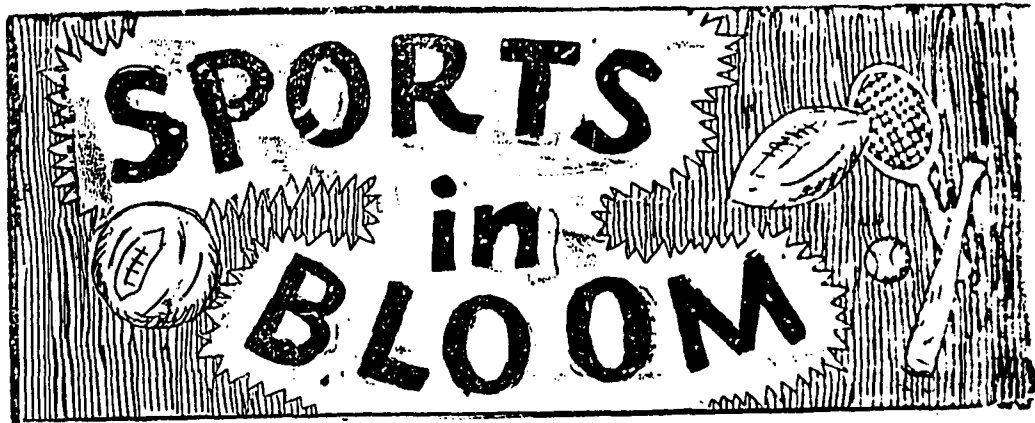

Bernard Kane says, "At the present time most of our states have sufficient funds to finance public education, using the same satisfactory methods which produced the thinking men and women who are doing so much for America on every battlefield in the world. From the point of view of state's rights, educators cannot accept Federal subsidies without running the risk of Federal control. The Federal Government controls education, they can establish a curriculum which may so shape the minds of our youths that we will lose the true Americanism we hold so precious."

Mules Set Huskies Back at Allentown; Hard Fought Game

The varsity came in second in a hard fought game last Saturday night, when they lost to Muhlenburg at Rockne Hall, Allentown, 67 to 51.

Much to the surprise of the 3,000 fans, the Huskies showed the mighty Mules that a 5 man outfit can really show them some rugged competition.

Home boys were giving Bloomsburg 40 points before the game and after the first 10 minutes it looked like a safe bet. The Mules had the combination of the Teachers' zone defense and racked up a 19 to 4 lead in no time.

Mules Are Stubborn

Hank Baietti, former Long Island U. All-American flipped them in frequently, with Dick Miller of Bethany winging long ones, and "Mel" Munson, 6 foot 3 center, laying in his share. These three boys covered the stratosphere surrounding the basket rather efficiently. If the ball wouldn't go through the first time, they merely tapped it around till it made the point. Thus, it appeared that the Huskies were in for a tough night.

Huskies Change Tactics

In the second quarter, the team used man to man defense and brought the score up to a nine point margin. Then the Mules put on their down the floor and in the basket act, and put the score to 47-34.

Bloom Narrows Margin

Coach Julian sent in subs then, thinking perhaps, that the game was on ice. In five minutes the Muhlenburg varsity was back in the play. With "Red" Graham playing a mighty hot game, the boys from Bloom had narrowed it down to a 7 point margin. The game ended with Muhlenburg leading by 16 points.

Game With Olmstead Proposed For Bloom

There are possibilities that the game last Wednesday with Bucknell did not bring down the curtain on the Huskie's basketball season as another strong foe may be added to our schedule. If this contest gets the green light, the fans will have an opportunity of observing an "honest to goodness" All-American in action against our Huskies.

Sadowski Leader

The match being considered is with the Olmstead Airbase of Middletown, Pa., and should this game be sanctioned there would be plenty of excitement in the Centennial Gymnasium for the Olmsteaders are headed by the one and only "All-American Sadowski," a 6' 7" service man who matriculated at Seton Hall. Sadowski and Seton Hall are connected with basketball as Harmon and Michigan are with football.

Win Over New Cumberland

The Olmstead Airbase quintet has been winning regularly and one of their victories was a 43-29 win over the New Cumberland outfit. The very same team which the Huskies beat by a one-point margin in a thrilling game won by Goepfert's last minute field goal.

Even in losing, the Army from Middletown looked impressive. They lost by 6 points to Sampson N. T. S., a naval five rated as one of the top

V-12 LIFE

Life among the V-12's took a rather abrupt change—for the better—this week. The installation of the new system of student officers has helped a lot in maintaining study conditions and discipline.

The announcement that restricted men could not attend the February 18th dance was really a shock. No previous mention had been made and all the men had their plans made.

One fellow on the restricted list after hearing the news said, "What am I gonna do? I just sent my girl bus fare, paid my admission fee and rented a room for her. To top it off, she just bought a new gown too." Interesting dilemma!

The patch on Stoops' head came from his attempting a swan dive from the cargo net in the pool, 6' 3" tall and he dives into 3 feet of water.

Liberty has been granted for the men to attend the Dramatic Play on February 17. Can you picture those V-12 actors in civies? They won't know how to act.

It seems one prof. here has been quoted as saying, "No one leaves the deficiency list from my class. No matter how good he does from here in." Seems hardly fair not to give a man a fighting chance to get off "the list."

Did anyone see Carter and his latest creation—black scivvies? Seems his brilliant idea of matching scivvy and jumper wasn't too well received, though.

A post-Yule note—There is nothing presumptuous about the coeds of the University of Kansas, but five sprigs of mistletoe adorned the ceiling of one of the women's dormitories during the holidays. It is sent each year, in similar quantities, by an alumna who still has the better interests of the hall at heart. —ACP.

teams in the East.

The date for the rendezvous with the Olmstead Airbase has been set, but there has been no official sanctioning of the proposed tussle. This game would afford the fans another opportunity to watch those coordinated Huskies in action against All-American Sadowski. Let's keep our fingers crossed.

Reports from all the Seniors at their ball and banquet last week indicated that those who attended enjoyed themselves immensely. Every member from the chairman down to those who rose early on Sunday morning to lay the rug in the Eastern Star Room made the two evenings highlights for members of the Class of 1944.

MISS APPLETON RESIGNS

Miss Shirley Appleton, former secretary of the Benjamin Franklin Training School, has accepted a position with the War Department in Newark, New Jersey. The vacancy caused by Miss Appleton's resignation has been filled by Miss Lois McDaniels who was an attendant of the Wilkes-Barre Business College and a recent employee of the Union Production Credit Association in Bloomsburg.

Huskies Defeat Bucknell in Fierce Contest, 54 to 40

Reverses Win of Two Weeks Ago

When they cried "54-40 or fight" just about a hundred years ago, they had the right idea. At Bloomsburg, it was "54-40 and what a fight." The Huskies downed the Bucknell Bisons by that score in a beautiful exhibition of cooperation by the home team, last Wednesday night. This was sweet revenge for Chief Jack Llewellyn's men, after a 5 point loss at Bucknell two weeks ago.

At half time, evenly matched playing brought the score to 24-22 in Bloomsburg's favor. In the third quarter Bloomsburg fell behind, 28-29, but only for a few seconds. That brief taste of victory was all the Bisons were rationed by the Huskies. From then on in, the Teachers were like a sailor headed home on "boot leave"—nothing could stop them.

Red Graham and Ed. Vogelsong were ball hawks that couldn't be denied. The towering Bisons couldn't keep up with them. Bierly was a "Flying Dutchman" to the Bucknell squad. Ganly and Goepfert balanced off the smooth working five.

Graham rang up 16 points, with Goepfert looping 15 points and Bierly 14.

Bucknell's high scorer was Lefkandinos with 15. Hoeverler, Bloom's nemesis in the last game, was held to 12 points.

The last quarter showed Bloomsburg gaining 14 points while holding the Bisons to 6 points.
