Executive Comm. In Meeting To Consider Budget

Now that the proposed community activities budget has been returned from President's Andruss' Office, Julian Zinzerella has called for an Executive Committee meeting for Monday, September 18, at 7:00 p.m. in room F of Noetling Hall. Mr. Zinzerella, the incumbent president, was given chairmanship power by the regular Community Government Association to organize a committee to represent the College students during the July Trimester.

The members of the executive committee will include all eligible incumbent and newly elected office holders who are attending the July Trimester, and five members from the V-12 Unit, who were elected last Wednesday at the Navy Organization meeting.

The more important business of the evening concerns the September and October allocation of Student Government funds, and discussion on a possible Homecoming Day date. The budget has been verified by President Andruss and will be presented to the committee for its opinion and adoption.

October 21 and November 4 are the two most favorable dates for the Annual Homecoming event. Mr. Andruss has informed the committee chairman that he would like to learn of the committee judgement regarding these two Saturdays.

In the absence of the usual social committee which is appointed by the Council, Miss Lucy McCammon has been in charge of the summer activity program. The committee may also discuss the formation of a social committee to aid Miss McCammon.

Senior Class Begins Obiter

On September sixth the Senior Class, Miss Arlene Superko, president, assembled to further the work already begun on the Obiter. The Obiter for those of you who are new here, is the College yearbook. The main purpose of the meeting was to decide whether or not the present Obiter committee should act as the customary editorial staff. After much deliberation, thought, and discussion it was agreed that it should serve in that capacity. The committee is as follows:

Rose Boyle, chairman
Shirley Wolfe
Lynn Sailer
Enso Frostini

In conjunction with this committee a business staff was also appointed.

Charles Wagner, chairman
Evelyn George
Carrie Johnson
Gloria Belcastro
Catherine Longo

The 1945 Obiter will be unique in many ways. First, this yearbook is to be the first "all-college" yearbook in the history of B.S.T.C. That is, the Obiter will have individual pictures of all the students and therefore it will be something every student, including the V-12's, will want. Of course, all other traditional features such as clubs, seniors, etc. will be included. Second, this year's Obiter is going to press four months, or a trimester earlier than usual. This means that the Obiter will be distributed in February instead of June. Third, this will be the first Obiter partially supported by funds from the new canteen, which, now by the way, seems to have its office officially transformed into a house of business.

A good Obiter should and will be supported!

President Andruss Discusses, Explains G.I. Bill of Rights

Speaking on a topic of general interest to all V-12 students, President Andruss discussed the educational provisions in the G.I. Bill of Rights, in assembly, Monday, September 11.

Mr. Andruss read parts of the bill which were of special concern to the members of the V-12 Unit. He explained that if his interpretation was correct, all men who had been interrupted in their college work by the special curricula which the Navy has prescribed for the Navy College Training Program, would be allowed further educational training after they have been discharged. This provision rests upon

Unit Happy Hour Is Good Fun

A rainy evening failed to dampen the success of the V-12 Happy Hour presented last Wednesday evening in Navy Hall auditorium. College students and guests, as well as the men, enjoyed a fine presentation.

The show opened with several popular pieces played by the band. Roger Bateman's fine trumpet playing was a surprise to all. Allen Martin seemed to be off in another world with his drums. George Umholtz's unique act, "The Grass Band," went over big. At the piano, Art Forbes charmed the audience with some hot boogie-woogie. Joe Fitzpatrick caused a riot when he stepped out in a revealing dress to introduce a rather shady skit entitled "The Hole in the Wall." All through the performance, a certain inebriated V-12 was staggering about searching for something. Mr. Greenspan finally relieved him with "the first door in the rear, Jason." The band closed the performance with a fine number featuring Roger Bateman's trumpet.

All the boys in the show deserve a fine hand for their efforts. The splendid lighting effects were the work of Ed Burn, Joe Fitzpatrick, and Jimmy Smith. That veteran producer, Howie Greenspan, deserves special praise for his fine direction of the show and also for filling in with his own grade of ham.

the necessary condition that the discharge shall have been honorable, and that all other conditions shall have been met. These include a minimum service requirement of ninety days. Men who entered the V-12 program directly from high school should have no trouble qualifying for this educational training, Mr. Andruss thought. Men who entered the program with advanced college standing, in most cases have been unable to continue the course they started in civilian life, and will also qualify under the provisions of this bill.

Maintenance Allotment

Mr. Andruss pointed out still further that the bill provides for a monthly sum of fifty dollars to be paid the individual for maintenance while he is participating in this educational program. Mr. Andruss said that the women in assembly should be especially interested in the further provision for the payment of an extra twenty-five dollars to the individual if he has a dependent. Tuition to any approved school is paid directly to the school by the government. The tuition cost cannot exceed five hundred dollars for any one year however.

Not Compulsory

The educational program is not compulsory in any way. Any returning veteran may take advantage of the opportunity with the provision that application must be made within two years after discharge. Mr. Andruss pointed out in connection with this that the type of education need not be college, but may be elementary, secondary, vocational, or professional in nature.

In pointing out the probable effects that this measure will have upon the educational institutions of the nation, Mr. Andruss said that it is the attitude of the states not to subsidize in any way to this Federal program.

Consequently, when choosing a college, one should not look solely at the tuition rates. Institutions which are aided by the States, such as various teachers colleges and state universities, may have a lower stated tuition fee than the actual cost of instruction. The Federal government would have to

Dewey Is Student's Choice In Civilian Poll on Campus

The results of a poll just completed among the civilians on campus indicate that if the elections were held today, the Republican candidate, Thomas E. Dewey, would be the civilian's choice. Regulations forbidding Navy Personnel from publicly expressing political preferences have been responsible for confining the poll to the civilian body. The results as tabulated for the Maroon and Gold by Dora Brown and Helen May Wright are:

DEWEY .....	49%
ROOSEVELT .....	40%
THOMAS .....	1%
REAMS .....	1%
UNDECIDED .....	9%

For a Republican state, Dewey does not seem to be as firmly entrenched here as might be expected. Dewey's nine percentage point lead over Roosevelt may be appreciably altered as the campaign develops. Mr. Thomas and Mr. Reams having received one percent is an indication at least two people have ideas of their own about who should be President, and these individualistic persons are not going to be influenced by the majority party's choices. Just what principles Mr. Reams is planning to base his campaign on, have not as yet been made public, but the Maroon and Gold Staff has faith that his platform should be most attractive. (By supporting Mr. Reams one could undoubtedly get an "A" in American Government.) Next week the Maroon and Gold will publish the names of those supporting Mr. Reams, so come on you apple-polishers, hop on the band wagon!

From the Offices

Dean's Office

The Teacher-in-service classes began Saturday September 9th. Registration was held from 9:00 to 12:00. The classes will last 18 Saturdays.

The grades for the half-semester have been released.

Dean of Women's Office

The new girl aviation students in Waller Hall are; Helen Pryar, South Orange, New Jersey; Mary Lane, Severta Park, Maryland; Marjorie Hansen, Belleville, New Jersey; Edna Shrelch, New York City, and Jeanette Mertin, Baldwin, New York.

Four girls, Helen Martin, Virginia Roberts, Leone Coakley, and Laura Schoener returned to B.S.T.C. on September fifth to complete student teaching.

an editorial

In the first issue of the paper this trimester, you were informed that from time to time it would be the policy of the editorial staff to report the progress that it has made, the problems that it has met, and the plans being formulated for the future. It is fitting in this fourth issue that you be informed of all the details of the paper's affairs. In a sense, this constitutes a post mortem account. At the same time it represents some aspects of an astrologers forecast.

One of the first problems confronting the staff was that of organization. From a heterogenous group with little more than interest to recommend it as a college newspaper staff, has evolved an organization which is doing its best to give the college community an accurate coverage of the news. At the same time an effort has also been made to incorporate interesting feature articles into the body of the paper. In connection with the organization of the staff, many difficulties have arisen. The fact that the paper could not have been very successfully carried on without the aid of V-12 students is very significant. The necessity of arranging staff meetings, deadlines and assignments that conform with and do not conflict with the schedule and regulations of the V-12 Unit has been much the same as trying to solve a jigsaw puzzle with several pieces missing. It is now safe to say that this problem has been solved, and from now on the paper should reach you regularly every Friday afternoon.

There is still only a meager number of civilian students on the staff. Any of you who are interested in doing any kind of writing will certainly be welcome to join the staff.

Another item that you are probably interested in is the paper's finances. As you know, in the past the paper has always been supported by an allocation made by the College Council from the Activity Fee Fund. Since no meetings of the Council have been held this term, no provision has been made by that body for the paper's maintenance. Last month when the staff was organized, President Andruss authorized the outlay of one hundred dollars to cover the cost of printing four issues. This money will be all expended when the printer has been paid for printing this issue. From advertising, the sum of forty dollars has been obtained which will be enough to pay for two more issues. The staff says a prayer every night asking that the College Council meet soon and approve a budget. One of the major reasons why the paper has not had more pictures is because of rather precarious financial standing.

For the future, plans are being made for special Fair and Homecoming issues which will feature a full five column sheet. This undertaking is much more work than that which we are doing now. If any of you are interested in doing special work on these two issues, you will be welcomed to the staff.

The staff is mindful of the responsibility that it has to every individual interested in the College. It pledges to inform all students, faculty, alumni, and parents about the state of all College activities. The staff does not propose to take a stand upon any issue until facts relative to it have been uncovered. Then both sides of the issue will be presented in a clear manner. This will be done before the staff ventures to take a stand on any issue. The outlook will in every case be liberal, but at all times an effort will be made to be constructive. At no other time in this College's history have so many of her customs been so close to obliteration. This must not happen! As long as your student press remains active and vigilant it will not happen.

"D-Day", by John Gunther, is the story of Allied landings in Sicily and Gunther's trip to the near East in the summer of 1943. Included in this book, written in diary form, are the author's impressions of General Eisenhower, Montgomery, Alexander, Tedder, and other high ranking officers and some personal experiences encountered by Gunther on this trip.

"Love at First Flight", by Spalding and Carney, contains some hilarious accounts of the training days of one Lester Dowd, a naval aviator.

In his latest book, "Gideon Plinish", Sinclair Lewis again exposes a racket. This time it is the racket of organized philanthropy.

Zofia Kossack, an historical novelist of some distinction, has written "Blessed are the Meek". The novel is based upon the children's Crusade and the life of Jean de Brienne who became King of Jerusalem.

"Dragonwyck" by Anya Seton is a startling new fiction book. Although it is actually a highly artificial novel, Dragonwyck, possesses that sense of reality and excitement which has fascinated readers since the days of the Brontes.

"Out of the Clouds" by Robert Kazmayer is a realistic approach to the problems of the post-war world. It is an attempted analysis of the present international situation. Mr. Kazmayer was a recent speaker in chapel.

Peggy Heness's bright and not so smiling face was seen wandering like a ghost around Waller Hall. Looks like she's come back to haunt you, Rod.

After 42 days, Rose Cerchiaro received a letter from her boyfriend. Not only Rosie worried, but every other girl tried to keep up her morale with the standard saying, "Don't worry, he's too busy over there to write." That V-Mail looked good to everyone.

Bill Hershberger is getting to be quite the one at swatting down bats on the wing. Only the other day he saved President Andruss and his wife from the "clutches" of one of the creatures as it flitted about the lobby of Waller Hall.

It seems as though personal feelings ran rampant at the Senior Class meeting on Wednesday. In spite of the competition, Enso held his own ground. Mr. Rygiel held his patience. And Rose Boyle held the floor.

The smoking room seems to be the meeting place since Rosie Johnson's departure. Let's hope she comes back soon. We all miss her.

One of the busiest girls in the dormitory these days is Arlene Superko. The canteen, Senior Class, and Science Club demand her time. We think the entire Senior Class owes her a vote of thanks.

Isn't it true", he points out, "that the American Army is battling to defend American womanhood?"

Litwhiler Is Re-classified I-A

Danny Litwhiler, former B.S.T.C. outfielder now with the St. Louis Cardinals, who was classified 2-A by a Philadelphia Draft Board on the grounds that "he is engaged in an activity that contributes to public welfare, health and interest," has been reclassified 1-A. The President's Appeal and Advisory Board of Selective Service System in Washington made the 1-A ruling after the Pennsylvania State Selective Board had referred the matter as a test case.

The Philadelphia board found "that Litwhiler was a top player and was contributing to national interest, and the big leagues contribute to public interest and health; under that he was given 2-A." The 2-A decision was the first of its kind for baseball in Pennsylvania, and the second in the Nation. Oscar Grimes, New York Yankees infielder, was granted a 2-A deferment in Ohio for the same reason.

A Selective Service regulation of May 12 provided that a person over 25 engaged in activities "in support of public interest or health," can be given a 2-A rating. Danny was 27 in August and has a pre-Pearl Harbor wife and child. He is now eligible for service under the Washington ruling.

During the winter Danny serves as physical education director and coach of basketball and track at near-by Ringtown High School. However, he took time out last winter to join a baseball group, headed by Manager Frank Frisch, of Pittsburgh Pirates, in a tour of the Aleutians.

Earl Davis Takes Charge of Booters

The Soccer men now have the services of a full time coach. Mr. Earl Davis, the Supervising Principal at Espy High School, has taken charge of the Maroon and Gold booters and is drilling the squad of over two-dozen men in the "dnh" fundamentals, dribbling, heading, and booting.

Now in his eighth year as principal of the Scott High School, Mr. Davis has coached three championship teams. Consequently the soccer future looks very promising even though five of the ten experienced men on the squad will not be eligible to play until the November Trimester.

Paul Hood, Gill "Rubber Arm" Sitler, Bill Bachman, Charles Muscheck, and Jim Smith, all hailing from Philadelphia High Schools, are the veterans who can be used against this semester's opponents. Paul Snyder, Robert Baker, Bill Andrews, John Hepburg, and Charles McElheny are practicing with the squad, for they will form the team's foundation during the Turkey month.

Games with Bucknell and Penn State are almost certain. Penn State is especially noted for its soccer reputation, but that doesn't worry Coach Davis. He is pleased with the progress being made by the inexperienced men on the squad. Walter Thompson, John Smith, Art Riter, Ed Bern, Larry Grass, Al Martin, Russ Huber, Timmy Bruck, "Fitz", Fitzpatrick, "Ernie" Friedli, and Bill D'Olier will complete a well balanced Huskie team.

'Rapid Improvement' - Davis

by A/S George Gordon

September 7

It behooves the Husky grid opponents to belay their grid fortifications. From the appearance of our squad during the practices this week, Bloomsburg will be tough to beat. In an interview, coach, Earl Davis, said, "For the small amount of time available for organized practice the team is comming along fast." The boys appreciate the swell job of tutoring the ex-Gettysburg "Ace" is giving them. This appreciation is showing in the cooperation of the squad.

Scrimmage Planned

In order to aid our experienced coach in selecting eleven varsity men, three teams have been chosen according to their ability and initiative. During the practice sessions the teams work as individual units perfecting the T-formation and single wing back play.

Up until the last practice, the first team lined up in this manner: Frank Jenkins and Ed Johnson at the end posts, Claude Booth and William Hershberger adding pounds at the tackle positions, Bickel and J. Davis, guarding the center, Jim Campitelli. Taking orders from Quarterback "Rochester" Bill Graham is tailback, Rod Williams; win back, Hank Gatski; fullback, Bernie Greenbery. The so-called first squad is still metamorphic and may change greatly before opening day.

An intra-squad scrimmage game was to have been held last Friday, but preparation for a white glove inspection on the same night postponed action until Tuesday.

No one can say that Bill Graham doesn't know his plays—just watch him some afternoon tearing up the Mount Olympus glebe while quarterbacking the first squad. If only Bill were as efficient with the Physics book he'd make the Dean's List.

Cheering Squad Planned

The value of a cheering squad is quite appreciated when the pressure in on the team on the field. Thanks to Mister Rygiel, Bloomsburg will

Mt. Olympus has had her face painted in the latest gridiron style for the first time in two years, excepting, of course, the one coat applied last fall for the inter-platoon battle on Homecoming Day. The football team is ready to charge against the foe, and Mt. Olympus is patiently waiting for the huskies to pin the opponent to the turf. BUT WHERE IS THE OPPONENT?

The battle cry justifiable could be: More football games, but quick! The Maroon and Gold eleven is going to be considerably handicapped unless several more contests are added to the present three game schedule. At the time of writing B.S.T.C. is carded to open its season on October 7 at Scranton. After meeting Franklin and Marshall, and Villanova on successive Saturdays in September, the Scranton Tomcat won't be troubled with the "first game jitters" as will our Huskies.

No one realizes this fact any better than does the schedule maker himself, Dr. Nelson. He has been doing everything humanly possible to arrange a six or seven game season. The "Doc" races to the Post Office every morning hoping that somewhere within his liberal allotment of fan mail lies a letter from a foreign institution which reads:

"HI DOC!

We accept your kind invitation. The Caruncle eleven will be in Bloomsburg on the afternoon of September 23."

Any Caruncles will be treated like royalty on the Bloomsburg campus. PEOPLE ARE CRAZIER THAN ANYBODY

Did you ever watch the soccer men foot-it from the Centennial Gymnasium, across the gridiron, and down the hill to the Old Athletic Field; meeting en route the football squad which travels daily from the Fieldhouse across the soccer field, up the hill to Mt. Olympus???

It is evident that Danny Litwhiler, one of Bloomsburg's favorite sons, will soon be called into the Service, but he will probably be around long enough to earn a full share of the World Series jackpot. If not, he loses approximately $5,000 and the St. Louis Cardinals lose a mighty good player.

The left fielders' batting average of .267 is below his standard. But excluding first baseman Sanders, Danny is the most opportune hitter on the Cardinal roster. Every fifth time at bat, 5.3 to be exact, he has driven in a run. Sander's record, garnered in the more favorable clean-up position, is just a tenth better. Third Baseman Kurawski leads the club in home runs with 13 such blows for 451 times at bat. Danny has belted 11 round-trippers

Science Club Weiner Roast

Thursday evening, September seventh, the members of the Science Club held a corn and weenie roast in Mrs. Hartline's yard. All the members gathered there at 7:30. By Dr. Kuster's ingenious method, corn and weenies were roasted on the open fire place. Watermelon and lemonade were also served.

Mrs. Hartline's yard which was the pride and joy of the deceased "Daddy" Hartline, proved to be an ideal spot for an affair such as this.

While the corn and hot dogs were being roasted, the members entertained themselves by telling ghost stories and jokes, under the light of lanterns.

Those present were: Arlene Superko, Mildred Dzuris, Altheda Klingamen, Betty Hess, Evelyn Doney, Francis Saunders, Bernice Gabuzda, Marporie Downing, John Hmelicky, Charles Spencer, Virginia King, Jean Dickenson, Charles Wagner, Althea Parcell, Jane Kuster, and Dr. Kuster. The affair lasted until 10:00 P. M.

Trainee Officer Shifts

A. S. "Mike" Remetz, former Company Petty Officer of Company A was appointed Battalion Commander on August 30, 1944. A. S. Tony Lisehora, is now Chief Master at Arms. Other appointments were: A. S. Alexander Dickel as Master at Arms, 3rd Deck; and A. S. Bill Graham as Platoon Leader of the 5th Platoon. Additional changes are to be made prior to November 1, 1944.

The present group of trainee officers are: M. Remetz Battalion Commander; D. Price, Battalion Adjutant; W. Schildmacher, Commander Company A; W. Copeland, Commander Company C; Larry Grass, Commander Company B; L. Jenkins, Platoon Leader of the 1st Platoon; B. Greenburg, Platoon Leader of the 2nd Platoon; R.
