Senior Takes Honor In Festival Audition At Philadelphia

Althea Parsell, a member of the college community, won the third weekly radio audition of the "Voice of Tomorrow" competition.

Miss Parsell, soprano who sang with two other contestants Sunday May 6, in the contest presented over radio station KYW, will compete May 27 in a final audition with four other weekly contest winners.

Miss Parsell has been studying music for four years and hopes to continue her musical education after graduation.

Huskies Miscue At Penn State

The Nittany Lions of Penn State scored six runs in the second inning on three hits, four bases on balls, an error and a balk and that meant the ball game as the Bloomsburg State Teachers College Huskies were bested, 12 to 2.

Strong started for the locals but was unsteady and gave way in the second to Wanich. The Scott hurler failed to get out any of the five men he faced and Zagoudis, a Brooklyn, N. Y., boy then came in to hurl well the balance of the afternoon.

Zagoudis was in control from then on except in the sixth when Tepsic homered with two pals on base. Hopkins, Lion short stop, had 11 assists while "Cork" Terhune handed 11 chances at third base for the Huskies, without a miscue.

Shirley Wolfe and Mr. Rygiel Take Over Editing of Obiter

The latest bit of information concerning the appearance of the Obiter is that it will be available the week previous to graduation.

The delay in publication was due to a slight misunderstanding which has been cleared up. Progress is being made now that Mr. Rygiel and Miss Shirley Wolfe have taken over.

Members of the student body who wish to place an order for the year-book may still do so by contacting any of these people: Bernice Gabuzda, Flora Guarna, Marian Chubb, Evelyn Whitman, and Wanda Kehler.

State Senate Fixes New Teacher Salaries

A compromise fixing increased teacher salaries and State school subsidies at $29,000,000 for the next two years was written into the Hare-Lee-Sollenberger bill by the Senate Republican majority. The vote was 30-19.

Senate and House Education Committee members worked out the compromise which they said had Governor Martin's approval. The move quelled differences among Senate Republicans over committee changes slicing the increase to $24,000,000 above budget recommendations of $103,000,000 for the biennium.

Senate approval is assured as soon as the revamped bill is printed.

Paul L. Wagner of the Senate Education Committee estimated 50,000 of the Commonwealth's 61,000 teachers will get pay boosts under the compromise legislation for which support of teacher representatives was claimed. Changes made over previous revisions by the committee:

1. Minimum teacher-pupil unit on which State subsidies are based reduced from 25 to 22 for high schools, elementary schools remaining at 30.

2. Minimum subsidy per teaching unit retained with a proviso that no district get less than at present.

The new line up on mandated teacher salaries:

First class district-elementary teachers to start at $1,400 with 13 increments of $100 instead of 10 at $120; junior high, $1,800 minimum with 10 increments of $120 as before; senior high, $2,000 minimum and eight increments of $175 as before.

Second class districts-elementary, $1,400 minimum with nine increments of $100 instead of eight; high school, $1,600 with nine increments of $100 instead of eight.

Third and fourth class districts-elementary and high school, $1,400 minimum with seven increments of $100 instead of six.

Assembly to Feature Annual Spring Concert by Chorus

Women's Choral Group of Sixty Voices Under Direction Of Miss Harriet Moore Will Sing on May 23

Aviation Lab. School To Open Again June 4

Former Instructors of Military Personnel Will Teach Civilian Students

The second annual aviation laboratory school opened to high school boys and girls above the age of fourteen, high school teachers and college students interested in aviation or teaching aeronautical subjects will be held at the Bloomsburg State Teachers College this summer. Three courses of four weeks duration each will be offered beginning June 4, July 2 and August 1 respectively.

The aviation course consists of ten hours of dual flight with experienced instructors and seventy-two hours of ground school work including civil air regulations, meteorology, navigation and general service of aircraft. The equipment and facilities used in the aviation laboratory school is the same which was used in the training of over a thousand military pilots at the Bloomsburg State Teachers College. College instructors who trained the military personnel are now available for use in the civilian aviation laboratory school.

The course, which was so successful last summer, attracted students from nine Eastern States and aroused such interest that it was the subject of a feature article in the New York Herald Tribune and "Aviation" magazine.

Detailed information concerning the course may be obtained by writing to John C. Koch, Director of Aviation at the college.

B-Club Has Annual Eaglesmere Trip

The annual B-Club trip to Eaglesmere, the main event on the girls athletic program this month, was made May 12 and 13.

The girls left Bloomsburg, Saturday at 12:30 and returned Sunday evening.

Although the lake was too rough for boating and the weather too cold for swimming, everyone enjoyed the BIG softball game Saturday, and the hikes around the Laurel path, and the Labyrinth Sunday, to say nothing of the FLUID DRIVE to and from the destination.

Wednesday morning, May 23, the Women's Chorus will present its annual spring concert as the assembly feature. The vocalists have been working hard for several months preparing for this occasion and a fine group of selections have been learned.

The program to be presented is:

- "Holy Lord God" Noble Cain
 - "Lift Thine Eyes" Mendelssohn
Women's Chorus
 - "In My Garden" Firestone
Peggy Beach
 - Catherine Coakley, Accompanist
 - "The Two Clocks" James Rogers

Newspapers in the Making

The main feature of the recent Business Ed. Club meeting was an interesting and enlightening discussion of newspaper work presented by Jacqueline Shaffer, co-editor of the Maroon and Gold.

She told of the various phases of newspaper make-up and explained types of headlines, planning the length of articles, and the newspaper dummy.

Miss Shaffer showed mats used to produce cartoons and illustrations and chalk trays and tools used to make

Buy Bigger EXTRA War Bonds In "The Mighty Seventh"

Five Years Transition, What of the Future?

by Harvey A. Andrus

An idea of the balance between the Teacher Education development and the War Programs can best be depicted by placing them in parallel columns, shown as follows:

PROGRAMS OF STUDY

Teacher Education Developments
Educational Clinic with Health, Psychological and Speech divisions approved by the State Council of Education.

Field of Speech Correction as a part of the curriculum for the education of teachers of Mentally Retarded Children.

Field of Aeronautics as a part of the curriculum for the education of Secondary Teachers.

Field of Spanish as an elective for Business Education students and later as an elective field for Secondary Students.

Experimental Laboratory School in Aviation, Summer of 1944.

War Progress

Aviation Programs — over 1,000 persons given flight instruction.

Civil Pilot Training for 100 college students.

High School Teachers of Aeronautics 100.

Naval Flight Instructors 250.

Army and Navy Aviation Cadet Program 550.

Science Hall facilities provided for 2000 enrollees in Engineering, Science and Management War Training courses.

Bloomsburg Hospital School of Nursing received Science instruction for 35 students.

Navy V-12 Unit (Officer Candidates) 500 Trainees.

original drawings from which mats can be made. The members of the club examined various copies of school papers.

There are three important and highly personal reasons why you will want to buy bigger EXTRA War Bonds during "The Mighty Seventh." Each of them can be given in a single word:

1. War
2. Inflation
3. Yourself

Re-arrange these reasons in any sequence you wish. It doesn't matter. Your purchase of War Bonds for any one of them simultaneously includes the other two.

Buy because you know that the cost of completing the job in Europe will be tremendous, and because you realize that the fabulous distances in the Pacific must be spanned by dollars as well as by men, ships, planes, and guns, and your purchase also helps to keep prices down and rewards you with the world's safest investment.

Buy because your personal post-war plan calls for money that you can acquire only by saving, and your dollars automatically help to wage the war, to allay the backwash of war, and to defeat inflation.

No matter how you look at it, in short, your investments in "The Mighty Seventh" help to safeguard your own and your country's future. So buy the bonds of "The Mighty Seventh" and hang on to the bonds you buy. Only by doing this can your investment be profitable and patriotic.

Only by doing this can "The Mighty Seventh" hold its beachhead for the nation today and for you tomorrow.

LIFE WITH UNCLE

by "Phyzz" Schrader

Lt. H. E. Miller, U.S.M.C.R.

"Taxi" writes, "As you have probably heard and surmised, I am on Okinawa. In fact I've been here since the beginning! This place is somewhat like Pennsylvania—rolling, hilly country and a cool climate. It rains a little bit more than it does in Pennsylvania, but it is a pretty good substitution—the best I've seen so far! The inhabitants of this island are a mixture of Chinese, Japanese, and I believe Korean. They are small of stature—about five feet tall, but appear to be quite muscular. At least they carry loads which make the loads carried by Marines silly! The women deftly balance huge loads on their heads—and their balance is perfect."

Conrad Stauffer E.M. 3/c

"We stopped off in Pearl Harbor, T.H. and had a few liberties, etc., but the best part of our stay there was the sight-seeing trip around the island of Oahu, sponsored by the Navy. The sights and points of interest were grand. I'm sure it would put a big dent in a fellow's finances to take that same trip in peace time. Also we are allowed to say we crossed the 180 th meridian and are now one day ahead of you folks back there. We were taken into the "Sacred Order of the Golden Dragon" and have written proof of the same. As to my whereabouts now — well it's a military secret for a lot of reasons. One consolation, it's a lot cooler where we are now and its sure a relief to get some cool breezes. It rains frequently and that helps matters. We have been sleeping under a blanket every night for the past week.

15th A.A.F. in Italy — 1st Lt. Druce W. Folk, 204 E. 14th Street, Berwick, Pa. squadron navigator in the 451st Bombardment Group has recently flown his 25th combat mission. The announcement was made by Col. Leroy L. Stefonwicz, Wildrose, N. Dak., the Group Commander.

Since arriving overseas last September Folk has charted courses against installations throughout six European countries. He wears the Air Medal with two bronze clusters "for meritorious achievement—while participating in sustained operational activity against the enemy."

A graduate of B.S.T.C. Lt. Folk was commissioned at Ellington Field, Texas in May, 1944.

With a Twelfth A.A.F. B-25 Mitchell Bomb Group in the Mediterranean Theater — Sgt. John Hubiak of Forest City, Penna., recently arrived in the Mediterranean theater and has been assigned as an engineer gunner in a 12 Air Force B-25 Mitchell bomb group.

The Forest City gunner is taking his place in a Mitchell unit now engaged in aiding the American Fifth and British Eighth Armies batter the last Nazi strongholds in Northern Italy. This bomb group has a two year combat history of close support operations for three major Allied armies in the Mediterranean theater.

T/5 George E. Horne

Has arrived safely in Germany according to the word recently received by his wife. He received his basic training at Camp Haan, California in an anti-aircraft division. In May 1944, he was transferred to the infantry and took additional training at Camp Carson, Colorado and Fort Meade, Maryland.

It's Summer!!! - - So Help Me!!

The Navy has officially declared it to be summer—come snow, sleet, or hail—it's still summer because the Navy has broken out in whites.

The first morning I saw them I thought the Milkman's Union was having a convention on our campus. I heard one say he felt like he was employed by the street cleaning department.

Mr. Englehart's crew are rushing around with mop and pail cleaning frantically. They mutter "We must preserve the PURITY of the Navy" to the tune "WE'RE IN THE ARMY NOW."

There will be a rush for Don Juan lipstick in the stores down town—It's the only safe kind unless you want to spend your odd moments bending over a washtub eradicating those cupid-bow designs from Navy Whites.

The canteen is going to do its part and stock Clorox and Fels Naptha. White birch should sell well now—doesn't spot as much!

Girls, drag out your last year's cottons. We can't let the Navy show us up. If half of B.S.T.C. is going to catch pneumonia, we might as well make it an epidemic.

What happened to the rugged little crew who still are wearing their itchies? Someone should dunk them in some white wash or else take them aside and tell them what store is selling Whites.

The instructors of Navy men have been told to dust the class-room seats just before class. After all they have to earn their money some way !!

Thus the new Navy motto — KEEP IT CLEAN!!!
