Number Five

200 In Attendance At Conference

Two hundred elementary school teachers, principals and school administrators were among those attending the annual Elementary Education Conference held at the State Teachers College Saturday and heard a frank discussion of current problems of the elementary school by Dr. Paul W. Bixby, associate professor of education, elementary division, the Pennsylvania State College, and President Harvey A. Andruss. Included in the day-long conference were series of demonstration lessons by members of the faculty of the Benjamin Franklin School, round-table discussion groups, a general conference assembly in the Carver auditorium, and a luncheon in the College dining room.

Observers stated that the Conference attracted the largest number of persons ever to attend a function of its kind "on the hill." More than three hundred persons were present at the general session of the conference held in the college auditorium, while 150 remained for the conference luncheon.

Dr. Bixby spoke on the topic, "Can Teachers Change the Curriculum?" He told of the two standard approaches to the job of curriculum making and stated that the problem is not one for a so-called "expert" but a job for the teacher. His address was well illustrated with a number of graphic experiences drawn from his personal background as a classroom teacher and school administrator, and he related his experiences to his topic in order to show his listeners that it is possible for the teacher to change the curriculum.

Dr. Bixby was introduced by Miss Edna J. Hazen, director, elementary

Christmas Dance Next Thursday

A Christmas Dance, sponsored by the Community Government Association, will be held in the Centennial Gymnasium on December 18, 1947. Dancing will be from 8:30 to 12:00. Modern dance music will be provided by the Collegians from the campus of Susquehanna University. The Collegians were voted the most popular dance orchestra at Rolling Green last summer. Earl Rhone of Sunbury, a singer of recognized talent, is the male vocalist with the orchestra.

The dance will be a semi-formal affair. The price of admission is $1.00 per couple.

Dance chairmen are Peggy Lewis and Jack O'Donnell. Al Zimmerman has charge of decorations.

SYMPATHY

The College Community extends its deepest sympathy to the Misses Midge and Madge Fuller, in the recent death of their father.

College Community Cooperates With Various Charity Projects

The Red Cross has submitted a list of fifty needy children to the college, and has requested the students to provide these children, ranging in age from one to fifteen years, live in Bloomsburg or its vicinity.

A committee has been appointed to handle the contributions from each student group. Mary Moser is the chairman of this project; Martha Teal is collecting contributions from the Day Women; La Fern Shirk, from the Dormitory Women; Phil Joseph, from the Dormitory Men; and Henry Crawford from the Day Men.

Students have been requested to give either a cash contribution or a gift. Eight dormitory women have gone together and purchased a bi-

B.S.T.C. Train Is Attracting Much Attention As It Makes Rounds in Waller Hall Lobby

The age-old question of who enjoys an electric train most—the children or the grown-ups is being answered in the Waller Hall lobby. After the laying of rails, driving of spikes, and oiling of engines, the B.S.T.C. Railroad has reached the peak of its holiday operation.

The railroad has a great backing of stockholders who are enthusiasts over their very successful investment.

The President, Vice-President, Secretary-treasurer, respectively, of this venture are Lionel Livingston, Alfred Marchetti, and Doris Gilday. Their untiring efforts have resulted in the expansion of the railroad's facilities. Among the improvements made this year is a shiny new engine. The pleasure derived from the B.S.T.C. train dates to the days of the navy trainees, who made the train installation to brighten the holiday season.

Huge Crowd See Water Follies

The novel Water Follies sponsored by the Business Education Club proved to be one of the highlights of the college social calendar. Friday evening, December 5 found the bleachers of the swimming room filled to capacity with people standing in the entrance throughout the program. The performance began promptly at 8 with a welcome by Master of Ceremonies, Joe Curilla, followed by a most graceful exhibition entitled "Autumn Serenade" by Jane Price. In contrast, the next number featured a humorous lifesaving skit by "The Champs"—Al Zimmerman and M. J. Nicholson. Mr. Nicholson made a sensational entrance as he fell out of his "bed" in the girders above the pool and plummeted into the water amid the horrified screams of spectators who were caught off guard. Removing his outer garments under water, Nicholson proceeded to "drown" as he wanted to be rescued by lifeguard Zimmerman who caught the audience eye with his unusual swimming attire. The lifeguard finally jumped in and was promptly rescued by the "victim."

The next item on the program was appropriately called "The Wayward Duck." This episode involved four yellow crepe paper ducks and the black "ugly duckling" which were effectively guided about the pool by Zita Spangler, Joanie McDonald, Gracie Smith, Marjory Smith and Marie Mack.

Bebe Reece then rendered a beautiful vocal solo, "What Are You Doing New Year's Eve?"

For "Somewhere In The Night," the pool was darkened and Marie Mack and Marjorie Smith gave an exhibition of graceful, synchronized swimming which was enhanced by the use of wrist lights.

Gracie Smith then presented several comedy vocal solos as "Mademoiselle Fi Fi" which were well received by the students.

"Black Out," a demonstration of speed and precision swimming given in the darkened pool by Bill Davis and Al Zimmerman was very impressive. The swimmers had ankle and wrist lights which made the exhibition more effective.

Bebe Reece then sang "Apple Blossom Wedding." The next number, "Remember Way-Way Back," was a fashion parade of old time bathing suits involving all the girls in the cast, with a strapless '47 model for contrast.

Graceful and difficult diving stunts were then skillfully executed by Zita Spangler, Joanne McDonald, Gracie Smith and M. J. Nicholson.

Master of Ceremonies, Joe Curilla rendered the "Anniversary Song" and as an encore, "In Love in Vain."

Fashion Flashes . . .

Men Favor Daring Dresses On Other Girls - Not Theirs

Confidential tip to the girls—men like daring dresses only on the other fellow's girl—not theirs.

That was the essence of opinion expressed by a group of collegians, including Eugene Rossides of Columbia football fame, who served on Cosmopolitan magazine's male-tested fashion jury at New York's Stork Club.

"Believe it or not they voted consistently for gowns with some covering over shoulder or upper arm or with narrow shoulder straps," Kay Wister fashion editor of the magazine declared. "The completely bare shoulder decolletage was something delightful — to them — only on the other fellow's girl."

Typical of college men throughout the country, many of them having returned from overseas service, they represented a cross-section of male opinion as to how they like their women to dress. They represented Yale, Princeton, Cornell, Amherst, Columbia, Dartmouth, the University of Missouri and the University of Nebraska.

"Generally the boys approved of dresses that had a sophisticated but not too exposed look," Mrs. Wister said. "In fact it's a look the boys pronounced 'dreamy.'"

Rossides was particularly impressed with the slit hemline of one of the winning dresses which embodied all the fashion points that had been emphasized.

"It was a royal blue crepe gown that bared the shoulders but covered the arms completely," Mrs. Wister said. "The skirt, with sophisticated hip-line drape, tapered to a narrow hemline, but the slit allowed plenty of freedom for dancing."

"Sophisticated and relaxing" was the way Paul Stessel of the University of Missouri described one of the winning dresses in the groups shown.

Bob Folan, Yale hockey player, and Bob Slocum, who pitches for the Princeton baseball team were inclined to "make haste slowly" in appraising some of the newer length dresses.

"We had better take our time and thrash this thing over," was the way Folan expressed it, while Slocum said "The length is too sudden a departure."

When a colorful group of floor-length gowns was danced into the room, Seth Baker, vice chairman of the yearbook and member of the student council at Amherst, became a bit confused in his articulation;

"These are a great improvement on gownless evening straps — I mean strapless evening gowns," he said.

Other members of the jury who decided daring gowns were for other girls—not theirs—included Dick Litaauer of Cornell, Dean Graunke, University of Nebraska and Gene Bokor of Dartmouth.

Preserve or Destroy Peace!

This is the atomic age — Science has given us a fascinating new toy which can destroy mankind. With Russian-American relations almost to the breaking point, war seems inevitable, and war is inevitable without world government. Russia and the United States cannot cooperate because they are afraid of each other. We must show Russia that although we do not like their form of government, we do not wish to interfere. Since we are trying to stop the spread of Communism in Europe, convincing Russia of our intentions will be difficult, but we must demonstrate to them that we want peace.

You may be sure that Russia keeps track of public opinion in this nation for they know its power. If we could show them that we realize the necessity for permanent peace through world organization, they would be less prone to attack us and more inclined to cooperate.

Certainly if there is any cause worthy of our whole effort it is the preservation of mankind. Can we sit idly by letting events take their course? Could not we, as students, organize to promote world federation?

Let's do what we can!

Husky Five Meet Three Tough Foes in Five Days

Elizabethtown Wins In Extra Period

Paced by one of the finest basketball players in the east, Elizabethtown College edged the Husky quintet in a five minute overtime period by a score of 64-60 before a good crowd last Saturday night in Centennial Gymnasium.

Frankie Keath, who boasted the best average per game in the state last year, cut loose with a vengeance in the last period to score ten of his team's fourteen points. Then he proceeded to take command in the overtime session and added six more to his total, which was 27 for the evening.

Boyer Has 23

Charlie "Sonny" Boyer, again paced the Husky attack by pouring 23 markers through the nets. Bob Andrews again played nice ball and aided with ten points. Ironically, Keath and Boyer were named captains for the evening.

The Huskies started off as though it would be a walk-away. Boyer got two field goals and a foul, and Nick Kalanick made a field goal as Elizabethtown called time. Hivner got a foul for the visitors. Boyer made it 9-1 with a push shot. At this point Russ Walters, who kept Elizabethtown in the ball game during the first period while Keath was under cover, scored two fouls and a field goal.

Boyer got one from the left side, and Tavalsky took a pass from Slobozien on a neat play for two points. Jordan and Walters scored field goals, and Hivner a foul to make it only 13-10. Tavalsky made a foul, and Keath got his first point. Boyer, Andrews, and Jones all got field goals, and it was 20-11 at the quarter.

Slobozien and Boyer scored successive goals, and it was 24-11. Keath racked up three points, but Scatton scored for Bloom. Keath got a foul and Troupe a field goal. Boyer racked up three successive markers. Keath and Haverstick made field goals and Waltz a foul as the half ended, 29-22, Bloomsburg.

Third Period

Boyer and Keath traded foul goals as the third quarter opened. Kreiser scored two and Jones one. Hivner made a long shot, and Walters two foul goals. Kalanick scored for Bloom, but Waltz and Keath were good on shots, and it was 35-31 with the crowd getting tense.

Kreiser got a field goal, but Jordan and Keath cut the margin two more points with field goals. Andrews sank one, but Waltz caged a foul and Walters a twin-pointer to make it 39-38. Bloom, Walters put the visitors ahead with a side shot. Boyer put the Huskies in front again as Elizabethtown called time.

Andrews got in a nice shot as the third period ended. Buch and Walters found the range to make the count 44-43. Andrews' long shot put Bloom ahead, but Keath scored from the circle. Tavalsky and Kashner gave the Huskies a 49-46 lead. Keath and Andrews scored as the mad pace continued.

Keath then started a one man show by rolling in three straight field goals in three attempts. Boyer came back in the game and revived the battle with a field goal and foul to knot the count with thirty seconds remaining. The regulation time ended the score 54-54.

Overtime

Jones got a foul goal, but the visitors soon got the lead and kept it. Troupe made a field goal, and Hivner was good from well out. Keath made three points, but Boyer got one from the side. Keath and Hivner got fouls as the Huskies tried vainly to get the ball. Boyer got a foul as did Keath.

Faced with two of the toughest foes in state basketball circles, the Huskies found the going a little tough and lost their opening games to Temple and Elizabethtown. However, the games gave the Wishermen an opportunity to smooth out the rough spots and to get primed for the opening of conference play at Kutztown tonight.

Bloomsburg split victories with the Kutztown aggregation last year, winning the first game by a 52-39 margin but later on, with several key players hampered by injuries, suffered a one point reversal. Clark Deppen, high scoring forward, is the man to watch on the Kutztown team.

The Kutztown game will be followed with a trip to West Chester the following night. This team which took the Huskies into camp twice last year, is expected to be paced by Reynolds and Leonard.

The Huskies return to home territory Tuesday evening when they play host to the Bald Eagles of Lock Haven. Though suffering heavily by the loss of Paul Coront and Andy Sember to the Williamsport professionals, you can't sell the Bald Eagles short as they still have such men as Bernie Metzler, Buzz Shaner, John McNulty, and Ted Shaeffer around. Metzler is the same fellow who scored 25 points against the Huskies in Centennial gymnasium last year.

The Huskies, despite their lack of height, show promise of providing plenty of competition this year, win or lose. Leading the offensive will be Charlie Boyer who was high scorer in the first two contests. In addition to being an extraordinarily fine shot, Boyer is a threatening defensive man and serves as an excellent inspiration to any team.

Diminutive Bobby Kashner has established himself as one of the coolest men on the Wisher squad as well as being one of the most accurate shooters and ball-handlers. The former Bloom High star hasn't yet found the range but should break loose any time.

Alternating at forward with Kashner are such able courtmen as Nick Kalanick of Berwick, Frank Lupashunski, Berwick, and Ed Tavalsky of Johnstown. Lupashunski and Kalanick starred on championship teams at Berwick and are dead shots, though, perhaps, not quite up to their usual standard as yet.

The tallest fellows on the squad are Ed Jones of Milton, who has shown that he is capable of coming through in a pinch, and several times last season helped Coach Wisher out of many tight spots, and Elmer Kreisher, just a freshman, who, however, has established himself as a regular.

Scatton, Walther, and Slobozien are players well grounded in the fundamentals of basketball and will prove to be valuable assets as the season progresses. Bob Andrews is one of the pleasant surprises of the season. He is a favorite with the fans because of his cool play.

Second Half Too Much for Huskies As Temple Owls Win 58-32

Putting on the pressure after half time, the powerful Temple Owls came through with an impressive 58-35 victory over the Husky five in the 1947 lidlifter before nearly 1300 fans in Centennial Gymnasium, Wed, Dec. 3. The Owls of John Cody displayed a fine fast break, and the Huskies were not prepared to take care of it in the second half. It was at this point that the visitors took command of the issue.

Boyer Stars

Charlie Boyer, one of the mainstays of last season's team, led the Maroon and Gold with 16 markers, eight of them from the foul line. Elmer Kreiser, first year man from Columbia, tallied ten to aid the point-getting department. Andrews played a nice game in his debut. Other boys who wore the Maroon and Gold for the first included Nick Kalanick, Berwick; and Frank Lupashunski, Berwick; Bobby Kashner, Bob Walther, Paul Slobozien, and Eddie Jones formed the nucleus of the other veterans from last year's squad.

THE SPORTS DIARY

by
MILLARD C. LUDWIG

After dropping decisions to Temple and Elizabethtown, the Husky basketballers take to the road this week-end to play Kutztown and West Chester. Following that the Wisher charges return home to entertain Lock Haven this coming Tuesday, December 16. These three games, all conference tiffs, should determine the Huskies' chances in the STCC this winter.

Temple has a high class outfit, that is certain. Sparked by Captain Dave Fox, a spark plug guard, who took only two shots at the basket all evening, making them both, the Owls look like one of the top ranking teams in the east. They have height, ball-handling ability, a smooth passing attack, and a dangerous fast break, something which the Huskies have lacked thus far.

The Elizabethtown game was a heart-breaker to lose after the Maroon and Gold had piled up a commanding lead, but so far as the fan was concerned he couldn't ask for a better game. Here was a team, apparently beaten, that came up with a rush and grabbed the lead from the bewildered Huskies just as the third period ended. From then on it was a see-saw battle. The one thing the Huskies didn't do which they knew had to be done was to stop Frankie Keath. For a while it looked as though that would be accomplished, for during the first period he was held to a single foul goal. However, he got loose in the second half and during the last period scored ten points to be followed with six in the overtime session.

Keath is one of the finest basketball players ever to perform in Centennial Gymnasium. Those who have watched the quiet Cornwall athlete operate say that he is a coach's player. He will not shoot unless he is open, and he is a dead shot under the basket. His percentage of shots made last Saturday evening was uncanny, racking up ten field goals in 21 attempts for a mark of .476. If Keath were in a large school, it is the belief of many that he would make All-America.

Husky fans have had an opportunity to see two of the east's finest players in Fox and Keath. The two play entirely different styles of ball due to the fact that they operate in different positions, Keath usually playing left forward and Fox left guard. The latter, now a senior, has been the mainstay of Josh Cody's squads for four years, and it will not be surprising if he accepts a pro offer next winter.

Reports have it that several college soccer teams in the state have received invitations to participate in all-star games and Olympic try-outs. At this writing, none had been received in the Husky mail box, though the Maroon and Gold soccer eleven ranked with the top teams of the east. It seems that the big boys still insist upon picking players from "name" schools even though the calibre of play is lower.

Gettysburg, for instance, received notices for three of its players to report for try-outs on the Olympic team. Now the Bullets didn't set the world on fire in the boot sport this fall, winning an amazing total of two games, tying three and dropping three. The teams' around the Philadelphia area seemed to do all right by themselves too.

Around Thanksgiving time, Coach Bill Jeffrey, of Penn State, selected a team to journey through the midwest playing all-star games at Chicago and St. Louis. Approximately eighteen players from about seven colleges comprised the list. How this team was picked, still remains a mystery, but apparently it was again "the little band." Those who saw the Husky eleven perform this year will agree that they possessed some talent that would make the "big boys" sit up and take notice. Had the Huskies received an invitation for even one player to report for a try out or an all-star game, it would have been much more encouraging. Some of the soccer enthusiasts are wondering what you have to do to gain recognition, but apparently the "big boys" have an answer.

We realize that comparative scores usually don't mean too much as to the outcome of an athletic event, but they are valuable in comparing the relative strength of various teams. Using that bit of information, then, we'll compare the soccer team to a few others. The Huskies defeated East Stroudsburg, 4-3, the same margin by which West Chester won over the Big Red, (the Rams had two boys named on Jeffrey's "dream team"). Army defeated both West Chester and Penn State by one goal margins, which if we figure correctly, puts the Maroon and Gold in the same class. From another angle, Temple won over West Chester, 2-1, and tied Penn State, which brings the same answer. It might also be mentioned that the Husky eleven scored two goals against the Penn State Jayvees in one period. What might they do to the varsity!!!

We have another bone to pick—the Associated Press All-State team has just come out, and on it we find Chet Wasilewski, Mans-field's "plundering tornado," and Indiana's Russ Carlson (third team). Matt Maley was not given a third team position. Those who have seen all three perform will tell you that Maley is far more consistent. Wasilewski is a good back at times, Carlson is a stellar performer on occasions, but possibly, the fact that they ranked rather high in scoring touchdowns caught the sports writers' eyes.

If you check the individual scoring on the Husky eleven during the past year, you would find that it was pretty well distributed. Many teams believe that one back should be fed the ball so he could lead the touchdown parade. It is not good football, and such statistics are meaningless. A new system should be devised so that points are given for setting up plays, tackling, blocking, passing, etc. Anyway, we checked up on articles written by other college papers about games played with the Huskies, and they didn't hesitate to herald praise for Maley, although such a thing is not pleasant for a writer from an opposing school, particularly if his play meant the ball game.

Incidentally, Maley and Frank Luchnick were picked on Shippensburg State Teacher College's all-opponent team. The Shippers named three Lock Haven men, three from East Stroudsburg, and one each from Slippery Rock, Indiana, and Millersville.

West Chester, which won the Burley Bowl from Carson-Newman College by a score of 20-6 on Thanksgiving Day at Johnson City, Tennessee, will be one of the first teams in history to play two bowl games in one year. The Rams of Glenn Killinger will participate in the Cigar Bowl at Miami, Fla. on New Year's Day with undefeated, untied Missouri Valley College as the opponent. The Missouri school has gone something like 33 games without a defeat, and this should be a thriller.

It looks as though several of the professional basketball teams in the Eastern Penna. League are drawing some of the teachers college stars. Ray Kodish, Paul Coront, and Andy Sember are a few.

Temple Wins

Captain Dave Fox, of the Owls, at center court. Temple got the center tap and almost immediately rolled up four points. Fox caged two goals and Wally Hatkevitch pushed in a two pointer. Boyer broke the ice for the Huskies with a free throw. Nelson Bobb caged a foul, and Hatkevitch notched a two-pointer to make it 7-1.

Elmer Kreiser was good on a field goal and then put the Maroon and Gold back in the game with a foul shot. However, Bobb threw one in from the left side, his pet spot all evening, and Fox whipped the cords to make it 11-4, and the Huskies called time.

Frank Martello made it 13-4 with a field goal. Boyer gave the Huskies two points, and Kreiser made a foul shot. Eddie Lerner hit from the side, but Bob Andrews made good a one-handed push shot to make it 14-9 at the first quarter mark.

Huskies Pull Up

Andrews converted a foul goal, but Ike Borsavage tapped one in with his six foot-seven inch frame. Boyer made a foul goal, Hatkevitch made two free throws good, and Johnny Ballots swished the net from the right side to make the score 20-11.

Then the Huskies got busy. Andrews made a foul, and Nick Kalanick caged a field goal. Boyer was good on a push shot, Nelson made a point for the Owls, but Boyer equaled it to cut the margin to 21-17 at half time.

Second Half

Immediately after the tap, Temple put the game on ice then and there. Fox got a foul goal, and Bobb made a lay-up shot after a fast break. Bobb continued his mad scoring spree with three foul goals and a field goal with only Boyer's foul shot cutting the rampage. The Huskies called time, score, 29-18.

Boyer made a foul goal. Ballots had a field goal, Borsavage a foul, and Bobb another two pointer. Borsavage scored to make it 36-19, and the Bloom attempts to stop the Owl onslaught seemed fruitless.

Kalanick made a field goal, but Bobb equaled the feat. Kreiser scored for the Huskies and Ballots for Temple. Boyer got a push shot in, but Ballots picked a side spot and draped the nets, making the score 42-25. Kreiser got a foul, but Lerner found the range from well out. Fox got one from the circle. Walther got a foul goal.

Martello got a field goal. Boyer made a field goal and then two foul shots. McLaughlin heaved one in from the side. Kreiser converted a foul goal. Grayboyes shoved one through from the left side. Kreiser pivoted for two points, but McLaughlin and Walsh each scored to make it 55-32.

Boyer netted a foul. Grayboyes made a field goal and Nelson a foul. Boyer caged another foul shot just before the final whistle. Final—Temple 58, Bloomsburg 35.

LITERARY CORNER

TOM JONES, A FOUNDLING

(Henry Fielding; New York; Herst's International Library Company)

Summarized by Charles Roberts

"Tom Jones, A Foundling" is the story of Tom Jones, an illegitimate child—his trials, tribulations, vices, virtues, and loves. The scene is in the county of Somersetshire, England, in the early eighteenth century.

Squire Allworthy raises Tom along with his sister's own son — Master Blifil. Although Mr. Allworthy is led to believe that one Jenny Jones is the mother of Tom, his mother is, in actuality, Miss Bridgett Allworthy, the Squire's sister. By the time Tom reaches the age of eighteen, he has grown into a handsome, well-mannered young gentleman; whereas Master Blifil has developed many vicious tendencies.

Mr. Jones, at this time, however, becomes involved in an "affair" with a certain Molly Seagrim; and when he learns that she is carrying his child, he confesses his sins to the Squire who forgives him. His attentions then turn toward the heroine of the story, the beautiful Sophia Western, who reciprocates in kind.

Squire Western, Sophia's father, decides that Sophia shall marry Blifil; but she rejects this plan. Blifil, in order to remove Tom as a stumbling block in his courtship of Sophia, by deceit, discredits Mr. Jones in the eyes of Squire Allworthy who banishes Tom from his house.

Meanwhile, Sophia learns that her father intends to maintain his idea of marrying her to Blifil so she flees from the scene. From this point, the plot concerns the flight of Sophia as she flees first from her father; and later, from Tom, because of his infidelity. Squire Western finally gives up the chase, and Tom loses track of Sophia in London.

Tom meets a Lady Bellaston, who, unknown to him, is sheltering Sophia, and an "affair" results. Lady Bellaston, inadvertently, aids Tom in once more contacting Sophia. In jealousy, Lady Bellaston plans, with the help of one Lord Fallamar, to force Miss Western to marry; thus giving Lady Bellaston an open field as far as Tom's affections are concerned. This scheme is foiled by the arrival of Sophia's father who has learned of her whereabouts.

Mr. Allworthy and Blifil now appear in London with the express purpose of Blifil's marriage to Miss Western. Sophia again rejects all thoughts along these lines.

Meanwhile, Tom has been cast into jail as a result of a duel with a Mr. Fitzpatrick over the amours of his wife. Although Tom is innocent of all charges, he is forced to wound Mr. Fitzpatrick in order to save his own life. Because of lies, told by several men hired by Lord Fallamar to discredit Mr. Jones, as to who instigated the duel, Tom is held for possible murder.

At this point, Squire Allworthy learns that Blifil has lied to him about Tom; therefore he relents in his feelings toward Jones and attempts to aid in Tom's release from prison, in which venture, he, the Squire, is successful. The Squire also learns from Jenny Jones that his sister, Mrs. Bridgett Blifil nee Allworthy, is Tom's true mother.

When Mr. Western learns that Tom is actually Squire Western's nephew, his feelings toward Mr. Jones change and he is now agreeable to Tom's courtship of his daughter, Sophia. Sophia, however, is not quite as kind; and at first, she refuses to marry him (in my opinion to test his love). At last, Sophia abandons her false attitude and marries Tom with the resultant happiness of all concerned.

education, of the college, who served as general chairman of the conference. Immediately preceding Dr. Bixby's talk, Miss Hazen presented the Women's Chorus of the College, under the direction of Miss Harriet M. Moore. The large chorus sang several Christmas carols. Miss Martha Hathaway, Danville, was the accompanist.

The general assembly followed a series of mid-morning class-room demonstrations in the Benjamin Franklin School. Regular members of the faculty of the campus laboratory school presented interesting lessons at all grade levels, including the kindergarten and the special class. Following these demonstrations, a number of visiting teachers and administrators conducted group discussions regarding the lessons taught in the various classrooms.

Following the conference luncheon held at one o'clock in the college dining room, President Harvey A. Andruss, of the College spoke on the subject, "Six Stages in Elementary Education." President Andruss outlined the general philosophy of the Benjamin Franklin School by discussing briefly the stages through which the elementary school has passed in its development from colonial times to the present.

Miss Edna J. Hazen served as chairman for the after-luncheon program which included two vocal solos by Joseph Curilla, Mt. Carmel. Mr. Curilla sang "Old Home," by Sydney Homer, and "I Think of You," by Leonard Thomas. His accompanist was Miss June Keller, Benton.

During the program Miss Hazen introduced members of the Benjamin Franklin School faculty and discussion group leaders as well as a number of members of the college administrative staff. Senior and Junior students in elementary education, as well as members of the local chapter, Future Farmers of America, were also presented by Miss Hazen.

Huge Crowd See Water Follies

The grand finale had the air of a truly professional performance. The pool was darkened except for sputtering rose-colored flares which cast a glow on the rippling water. The girls of the cast gracefully executed a synchronized swimming exhibition culminating in a closed circle. Unnoticed, swimming under water, Nicholson joined them. Kicking rapidly, the girls sent up a cascade of sparkling water and as they spread out from the center, Nicholson rose and lifted one of the girls out of the water. They held this pose as the accompanying music reached a final crescendo.

Colored lights and music were used throughout the program and added much to the striking beauty of the panorama.

Michael Nicholson was general chairman of the Follies with Mr. Donald Reese and Miss Jean Feeley in charge of equipment. Bathing suits were supplied by the Jantzen Company.

Veteran's Corner

Student-veterans who drop out of schools and colleges before completing their course were cautioned today by Veterans Administration that they will have to comply with more strict requirements to get a VA certificate to reenter training under the G-I Bill.

VA explained that veterans must have a supplemental certificate of eligibility when they change from one school or training establishment to another.

A veteran, who of his own volition interrupts his training at a time other than at the end of a term, semester or training period, will not be issued such a certificate until he establishes satisfactory evidence that:

(a) His interruption resulted from good cause, i.e., illness, economic conditions, or other circumstances beyond his control.

(b) The institution or establishment in which he was training is willing to reaccept him as a student or trainee.

Questions and Answers

Most veterans have only a vague idea about parts of the Veterans Administration's program for veterans. Here are a few questions and answers which have been frequently brought up.

Q—I received an overpayment in subsistence allowance after I left school. Will I have to refund the amount I received to the Government?

A—Yes.

Q—How and where do I apply for hospitalization for a service-connected disability?

A—See your nearest Veterans Administration contact representative or apply at a VA regional office or hospital. A letter addressed to the nearest VA office also will suffice. In case of emergency, you can telephone the nearest VA office collect.

Q—I am being rehabilitated under Public Law 16 and I would like to know what medical treatment is available to me?

A—Under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act (Public Law 16) you are entitled to any kind of medical treatment needed (hospital or out-patient) to prevent interruption of your training.

Q—Am I eligible to benefits under Public Law 16 if I was discharged for a service-connected disability before I had served 90 days in the armed forces?

A—Yes. For purposes of Public Law 16, service of 90 days in the armed forces is not required.

Q—May a veteran receiving disability compensation, receive at the same time subsistence allowance under Public Law 346?

A—Yes.

With the first on-the-campus check-up of subsistence payments ended, Veterans Administration said it will continue to send representatives to every school and college during the second week of each month of the 1947-48 school year.

Girls' Sports

by Norma Eber

Whether the male students realize it or not the girls of B.S.T.C. are also giving their talents to the world of sports. Just to prove that women are not always the weaker sex, there is a variety of activity in the Centennial Gym under the direction of Miss Lucy McCammon, director of the Girls Health Education.

There is the "B" Club, which is an organization of women who have achieved a given number of athletic points through outside activities such as hiking, badminton, tennis, bowling, horse-back riding, swimming and participation in the various athletic opportunities which are afforded us here at B.S.T.C.

In the basketball world there are ten teams consisting of eight girls on a team. The season starts after the Christmas holidays and will continue through a full round-robin tournament. Practices are now being scheduled for Thursday nights and vacant periods. There is also ample oppor-

VA said the monthly visits, which began in November, are designed to eliminate even the most isolated cases of delayed subsistence payments to veterans studying under the G-I Bill.

VA representatives making the monthly surveys are prepared to expedite action to remove the cause of any delays in payments to students. The representative reports delayed payments directly to the office in which the account is kept. Office staffs expedite the claim until the account is paid.

Only five weeks remain in which National Service Life Insurance policies that have lapsed may be reinstated without necessity of taking a physical examination, Veterans Administration said.

After the deadline date of December 31, 1947, policies that have lapsed more than three months cannot be reinstated without the veteran proving his insurability by a complete physical examination.

At the present time, and until the end of the year, a veteran may reinstate term insurance in most cases by simply signing a statement to the effect that his health is as good as it was at the time of lapse. Then, by payment of two monthly premiums, his insurance can be reinstated.

tunities for the girls to learn officiating in the games.

The captains of the various teams are Lillian Mlkvy, Louise Hess, Lois Evans, Eloise Symons, Mae Brundage, Frances Cerchiaro, Winifred Sharkey, Naomi Clark, Katherine Graham and Gay Polutis.

The girls also played cageball on Thursday nights at Open House. This tournament ended at Thanksgiving and the final standing of the teams were as follows: the teams captained by Donna Mitrani and Helen Tietzen tied for first place; and in their prospective order we find the teams of LaFerne Shirk, Rita Dixon, Mae Brundage, Katherine Graham, Pat Brace, and Marjorie Brunner.

Margie Brunner's team deserves honorable mention for they were the only team with 100 per cent attendance and each girl will receive an extra 25 points towards their letter "B".

Badminton started last Thursday night and will run till after Christmas.

On Sunday afternoon a tea will be given at Miss McCammon's home for those girls who have participated in Open House at least three times during the season and awards will be given to those who have earned them.

So "Hats off" to Miss McCammon and the wonderful job she is doing to promote girls' sports here at B.S.T.C.

Little six-year-old Harry was asked by his teacher:

"And, Harry, what are you going to give your little brother for Christmas this year?"

"I dunno," said Harry; "I gave him the measles last year."

Rexall

When we hang mistletoe during the Christmas season, we are repeating an old Druid religious ceremony. The mistletoe was a symbol of peace and brotherhood, so sacred Druid priests cut it with a golden sickle. Enemies meeting beneath a sprig of the plant cast aside their weapons and embraced. Kissing beneath the mistletoe is an adaptation of that ancient custom. The familiar Rexall trade-mark has long been the symbol of reliable pharmaceutical service. More than 10,000 selected, independent druggists from coast to coast display this sign. It stands for excellent drugs, carefully manufactured under the Rexall control system. It is the assurance of dependable pharmaceutical skill in filling prescriptions.
