George J. Keller Relates Experiences In Animal Training

A most unusual hobby and experiences that grew from it featured the assembly program, February 26, in the Auditorium as George J. Keller, art instructor of the College, presented colored motion pictures of his hobby as a wild animal trainer. Mr. Keller, whose wild animal act has been a featured attraction in numerous fairs, indoor arenas and the Canadian Garden Brothers Circus, related interesting and varied experiences he had while touring Canada and the United States.

Following a short description of his work with wild animals, Mr. Keller showed films taken during his most recent trip with his "Jungle Killers," the featured act with the Garden Brothers Circus, sponsored by the Canadian Government. During the presentation, he gave a vivid and colorful narration of the persons and events pictured in the film.

Mr. Keller was presented by President Harvey A. Andruss who presided over the assembly program.

College Tower Clock Gets "The New Look"

The large clock in the tower of Carver Hall has been ticking away for more than a half century with little or no thought as to what makes it go or strike each hour and half hour. Like the old tower clock, few persons have been aware that the driving power for the clock movement has been the presence of a small cable upon which is suspended a five-hundred pound iron weight, while the striking device is emerged by another cable of weights weighing a like amount.

The cable are wound on separate drums, and the weights travel vertically a distance of approximately 15 feet. Oddly enough in this mechanical age, the winding has been done by hand, by means of a large crank, three times a week.

All this now has been changed! Under a program of rebuilding the interior stairs at Carver Hall, a rewiring contract is also in progress which has resulted in improvements to the old tower clock. Foley and Son, Harrisburg general electrical contractors, engaged Tower Clock Service Company, Springfield, Ohio, to handle the improvements.

The work, which has been in progress for the past several days, has now been completed. Passersby, who have noted that the clock has not been running or striking as usual, will be pleased to learn that Carver Hall Tower Clock has finally gotten the "newlook." College officials are also inclined to feel a bit more on the "safe side" with the removal of a half ton of weights from above their heads.

Honored by State Appointment

Dr. North Heads New Teacher Group in Penna.

Bloomsburg State Teachers College was signally honored last week by the appointment of Dr. Thomas P. North, dean of instruction as chairman of the newly-created Commission on Teacher Education Professional Standards for Pennsylvania. The appointment, authorized by the Executive Council of the Pennsylvania State Education Association, was made by N. Eugene Shoemaker, President of the state-wide organization.

The appointment was made largely as a result of Dr. North's general knowledge of teacher education in the state and nation and his relationship to the National Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards. During the past year, Dr. North served as advisor to the national group.

For the past three years, he has been chairman of the professional standards committee of the Association of State Teachers College Faculties. In his relation to the national committee, the Bloomsburg dean was not only invited to attend the general meeting held by the commission at Lake Chautauqua in 1946 but also represented Pennsylvania at the Oxford Conference last July and the Regional conference held in Washington in December.

The work of the state commission will likely parallel that of the national commission with the same title. This group is charged with the responsibility of being the voice of the rank and file of the organized teaching profession in such matters as recruiting, selection, and preparation of teaching standards.

Other members of the new commission are: Dr. Raymond H. Amalng, Thiel College, Greenville; Cathleen M. Champlin, Past President of Pennsylvania State Education Association and elementary teacher, Philadelphia; Rosanna Eckman, Secondary teacher, Kane; Clarence G. Enterline, Secondary Teacher, Reading; Dr. Arthur W. Ferguson, District Superintendent, York; T. Russell Frank, Elementary Principal, Willow Grove; H. C. Gillespie, Secondary Principal, Erie; C. N. Hanner, Superintendent, Armonstrong Co., Schools Kittanning; Dr. Henry Klonower, Department of Public Instruction, Harrisburg; Dr. Raymond H. Koch, District Superintendent, Hershey; Mary Ann Pesognolli, Elementary Teacher, Monongahela; Dr. Carl E. Seifert, Executive Secretary, Pennsylvania Association of Colleges and Universities, Harrisburg; Dr. C. O. Williams, Pennsylvania State College, State College.

Future Teachers Told Guidance Is Vital In Education

At a meeting of the Future Teachers of America at B.S.T.C. Friday, February, 27, Reynold Paganelli guidance counsellor of Wilkes Barre Schools, told the values of child guidance in the field of education. Mr. Paganelli reviewed the fundamentals of an efficient guidance program emphasizing clearly the need for this type of activity.

Mr. Paganelli was pleased with the efforts of the F.T.A. Chapter at Bloomsburg State Teachers College for making plans to conduct a "Career Day", emphasizing the need of having young people know that others are interested in their welfare. Paganelli expressed encouragement in this endeavor.

The speaker expressed his theory about how a guidance program could be evaluated and related several interesting case studies in which the need for guidance was clearly evidenced.

Mr. Paganelli graduated from the Catholic University in Washington, D.C. He is now attending Columbia University in N.Y.

The meeting of the F.T.A. was also highlighted by having a gold seal placed upon the charter for outstanding work during the year 1947-48. J. R. Bailer, sponsor of the group this year, placed the seal on the charter.

Robert Llewelyn and Thomas Lewis arranged that program for this meeting. Miss Mary Moser, Nancy Evancho, Mary Ellen Clark, Peggy Lewis, and Marian Wilson had charge of the social part of the meeting.

Refreshments were served Carson Whitesell, Mr. and Mrs. Elroy F. Dalberg, Joseph R. Bailer, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald S. Remley, Alberta Funk, Beth Hartman, Louise Sharpless, William S. Orner, Edna J. Hazen, Millard C. Ludwig, James G. Tierney, Robert J. Blew, Mary E. Rush, Betty L. Fisher, Charlottee Reichart, Ruth Elder, Verne Cope, Anne Wright, Michael Regan, James J. ### We Believe It

What you save today, you have tomorrow. No matter how little, Americans believe in saving something regularly to protect their futures. Despite record high prices, savings in America today are also at record high levels. Which shows that folks—over the last half-dozen years—have been putting a little bit away each week or month for future use.

The question often comes up—"How can I possibly save anything when my living uses up just about every cent I make?"

You can still save a little bit, brother. Fifty cents or a dollar doesn't look like much all by itself. But, when it's put away regularly, week after week, it sure mounts up.

And, think of the protection a person has with "money in the bank." It's there to meet any emergency—and it helps to buy homes, vacations, fishing tackle, automobiles, etc.

So, let's get in the saving habit. Let's put something away regularly—no matter how little it may be. That's the American Way.

Present Radio Skit

The Bloomsburg Players presented the radio play, "Why I Am a Bachelor", in Carver Hall Auditorium, over station WCNR on February 24, at 4:30 P.M. The cast, under the direction of Miss Johnston and Horace Readler, student director, included Mary Helen Morrow, as Henrietta, Louis Pecora, as Algernon, and James G. Tierney, as the Lecturer. The play, written by Conrad Seiler, opens with the Lecturer giving a lecture on "why I am a bachelor". To stress his points the Lecturer introduces Algernon and Henrietta to re-enact four scenes from their own lives; two during their courtship adys, and two after two years of marriage.

George Menarick was the student announcer. Mr. Howard Fenstemacher was at the console, playing background music and two selections.

Students Entertain At Danville Hospital

A group of students from the Bloomsburg State Teachers College entertained patients of the Danville State Hospital on Thursday, February 26, in a program planned and directed by Miss Alice Johnston, director of dramatics, and John A. Hoch, public relations director. Included in the group were the following: Lucy Jane Baker, June Keller, Gladys Kuster, Barbara Greenely, all of Bloomsburg; Ralph Wire, Harrisburg; Jean Hooper, and June Hontz, Shick-shinny; Peggy Kearnuff, Benton; Betty Jane Annella, Hazleton; Terry Olerlitsky, Tamaqua, Elizabeth Reece, West Grove; and Dianne Snyder, Mill Hall.

The program was sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary committee under the leadership of Mrs. Francis Speer and Mrs. Harold Holter.

CAMPUS ABUSES

Say there! Keep your feet off that sofa. Where do you think you are—Grauman's Chinese Theater in Hollywood? Their lobby is reserved for footprints!

Many times I have walked into the old gym or one of the student lounges and felt impelled to shout such a statement. There they were, dozens of students, sittin' 'round just as you please with their feet propped all over the fancy furniture. Guess they kinda figured on gettin' a free shoe shine. Then there were an innumerable crowd of rowdies jumpin' like monkeys on the ping-pong tables. Never could figure out why some fellas like to show off and make fools of themselves. Reckon a big pair of blue eyes will do it every time.

That brings us to the frequent baseball sessions held in the gym each day between the hours of eight in the morning and ten at night. At least a dozen engage in a contest, the purpose of which is to throw their cigarettes from a distance of 15 feet or more into the container. Needless to say, they invariably miss. This makes an attractive sight indeed; hundreds of butts decorating the floor in the area around the ash trays. This interesting sport has been an active form of exercise for students at Bloom for many years, and there is a definite sign of its gaining in popularity.

Window breaking is rapidly becoming an increasing issue of great importance. Man, today, when I look at the number of broken panes in the men's* dorm, I declare, without a shadow of doubt, that fellas actually break windows rather than wash them. Shucks, that many windows couldn't be broken accidentally in a hundred years. Guess the boys kinda figure it's easy to merely put their fist through the window when the glass becomes dirty.

Golly sakes, why can't fellas act their age and settle down to live like normal college students instead of a crazy mountain critter?

Editor's Note—

The essay appearing above is the second in a series of essays written on Campus Abuses, a recent project in Advanced Composition. Last week's essay was written in the brutal, ironical style of Jonathan Swift.

Fashion Flashes . . .

Spring is in the air!! . . . and so are hats.

Hats will really be hats this year. Wide brims covered with miles of veiling tied under the chin will be very popular. Of course the small hat is always good but it will have a "new twist"! It will be loaded with flowers and perhaps remind you of grandmother's bonnet.

Company for the bonnet will be bright taffeta shawls that will brighten drab colors. These shawls will have companion gloves, made of the same material; strips, plaids, or prints.

These accessories are also helpful in brightening apparel that was purchased earlier in the season.

Elegance has really created a host of new-looking accessories. They include new waist pinchers, gloves and scarf sets, petticoats, and quilted jackets.

However, the shawls and bonnets are the most elaborate of soft wools, crisp taffeta or expensive furs.

PLANS FOR NEXT YEAR

Table service was talked of this year but this plan was abandoned because the cafeteria workers are now serving a hundred day men and approximately four hundred regular students. Five hundred students is too large a number to accommodate at one sitting. Table service next year may become a reality depending on the cooperation of the students who will be willing to work as waiters and waitresses.

Mr. Hoch Will Speak At Montoursville

John A. Hoch, dean of men, has accepted an invitation to speak at the annual district conference of the Tri-Hi-Y to be held in the Montoursville High School early in April. Mr. Hoch will present the topic, "The New Look in Boy and Girl Relationships." He was the founder and the first supervisor of the Milton Teen Canteen and has long been interested in boys and girls' work.

Dr. Maupin Attends Convention

Dr. Nell Maupin, counselor of the Gamma Beta Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, Bloomsburg State Teachers College, represented the local chapter at the sixteenth Biennial Convention of the Honor Society in Education held at Atlantic City. Headquarters for the convention, held February 24, 25, and 26, was in the Madison Hotel, although Hotels Jefferson and Traynor were used for several meetings of the convention delegates.

Huskies Turn in Worst Performance of Season In Losing Final Game To Kutztown Teachers

Compiling a grand percentage of .146 in the field goal department, the Huskies dropped their final tiff of the season to Kutztown State by a low score of 38-35 in Centennial Gymnasium Wednesday night.

This mark was by far the worst showing of the season as the local lads missed shot after shot, many of them peepers. Only Elmer Kreiser had anything worth while during the evening so far as a respectable record was concerned. He made three field goals in ten tries for a 30 per cent average.

Visitors Slightly Better

Because the Golden Avalanche from down Berks County way did not boast anything about which to brag in this department, the Husky showing was all the more disappointing, for they would have had to make only two more field goals to cop the game despite the fact that the percentage would have been well below 20.

Kutztown's Lee Trout, a left handed liner shot specialist, and Clarke Deppen, an all around star, led the offensive with 12 and 11 points respectively.

First Period

Kreiser passed to Paul Slobozien shortly after the tap-off, and the former Johnstown High athlete made it good on a lay-up. Deppen pushed one in from the left side, Frantz got a foul goal, and Trout lined his specialty in from the left side to put Kutztown ahead, 5-2.

Charlie Boyer and Bob Andrews got foul goals, but Harold Marks was true on an over-the-head shot. Kreiser tapped one in after a mad scramble, and Andrews put the Huskies ahead with a field goal on the fast break. Kreiser got one from the side as the first quarter ended, Bloomsburg leading, 10-7.

Kutztown Takes Lead

Frantz got a foul goal, and Coder tied things up with three minutes gone in the second canto on a field goal. Kreiser tapped another into the bucket, and Bobby Kashner draped the nets with a beautiful long shot from the right side.

Then Kutztown came back to take the lead which it seldom relinquished. Coder got a foul, but Walter Banull made a twin-pointer. Rutkowski pushed one in from the side, and Marks added two points. Deppen hit with a long one just before the half ended with Kutztown ahead, 17-16, an unusually low score.

Third Period

Kreiser made a foul goal, but Trout hit with two double deckers. Slobozien got a foul. Trout tapped one in after a fight under the hoop. Boyer got his only field goal of the

Slobozien Scores on Lay-up

Paul Slobozien, Johnstown athlete, scores a quick push-up shot just before the first half ended in the King's College-Husky fracas. Anxiously looking on are McGrain, (9), and McLaughlin, (7), of King's, and Bobby Kashner, (14), of Bloomsburg.

evening. Deppen caged a foul, but Slobozien passed to Andrews on the fast break, and the smoky lad made it good. Frantz whipped the cords from the right side.

Jones got one of his two field goals for the evening, and Andrews capitalized with a field goal after missing a foul shot, deadlocking things after three quarters of play.

Trout and Banull exchanged foul goals. Jones hit the mark with a one hander, but Deppen tied things up with a long shot. Deppen and Marks hit for field goals, and this was the turning point in the ball game. Boyer made a foul goal. Trout came through with a one handed shot, and Slobozien got a foul, making it 35-31, with two minutes remaining.

Deppen got a two pointer, but the Huskies were not through. Boyer and Jones got fouls. Trout contributed a single point and Banull two. Then, with the score 38-35, the Huskies missed no less than seven under-the-basket shots in the last 45 seconds.

THE SPORTS DIARY

by
MILLARD C. LUDWIG

"Dangerous Dan" Litwhiler, the former Husky athlete of the middle thirties, signed his contract early last week and is in the training camp of the Boston Braves. Litwhiler, who was traded by the Cardinals to the Braves in 1946, hopes to have a banner year. He divided his time with "Bama" Rowell in left field during the '47 season when Manager Billy Southworth used his strategy which brought him pennants in St. Louis.

When Litwhiler was making his tour of the banquet circuit during the fall of '46, he remarked at the time that the Braves were certain to be a contender for the National League flag in the next few years. It would seem, according to the way things are shaping up, that the former Ringtown resident is a pretty good prognosticator. The Wigwam team finished a good third last summer and gave the Dodgers and Cards a merry chase for a while. In Johnny Sain and Warren Spahn, Southworth has two of the finest pitchers in the senior loop, and with a few trades which have been made this winter, the Beantowners look like the team to beat this year.

In 1935, the Husky baseball team, of which Litwhiler was a prominent clean-up man, the Maroon and Gold ran rough shod over all opposition, running up twelve wins in a row and taking the State Teachers College title without opposition. Starting in 1934, the Huskies enrolled 21 straight diamond wins, including a 6-4 victory over the Hazleton Mountaineers, of the New York-Pennsylvania League, a Class "A" professional loop, now known as the Eastern League.

In addition to Litwhiler, members of that championship team included Charles Blackburn, left field; Frank Rompola, second base; Al Finder, third base; Woody Litwhiler, Danny's brother, right field and pitcher; "Dink" Riley, short stop; Karshner, second base; Washelewski, first base; Vistoski and Bennet Dry, catchers; and the well known "Whitey" Moleski, Tip Slavin, and Woody, pitchers.

Probably the best known at the time was Bernie (Cobb) Kafchinski, lumbering first sacker, who also took the mound on occasions and patrolled the outfield. This giant from Scranton, who receives much credit from Danny for his success in batting, was a power hitter, slamming out 22 hits in 48 appearances for a hefty .418 average. He smacked something like 10 home runs during this spree. Cobb, as he was known professionally, went on to play pro ball, and had it not been for his weak eyes, he undoubtedly would have made the big time immediately after college. Local fans expressed the fact that they were never able to remember a fellow who could hit a ball so hard as Cobb.

Despite the fact that he clouted the apple for a mark of .418, Kafchinski was not the leading hitter, surprisingly enough. Walter Washelewski pummeled the oval for a hefty .474 average to head the hitters. Following Kafchinski were: Moleski, .387; D. Litwhiler, .386; Blackburn, .384; Riley, .352; Finder, .342; Dry, .320; W. Litwhiler, .272; Rompolo, .244; Beck and Vershinski, .231; Visotski, .200; and Karshner, .067.

The 1936 "murderers row" climbed all over Susquehanna University, 18-5, and 10-5, with our own Tom Lewis doing the receiving for the Crusaders. Lewis, who we like to think was a bit smaller around the waist than now, was the A-1 backstopper for the Selinsgrove lads. During this particular year, the Huskies added several players with Kafchinski, Washelewski, Dry, and Blackburn having graduated. Sterling Banta, Andy Giermak, Feg Houck, and Chalmers Wenrich came on to fill the shoes of the other greats who received their diplomas. Woody Litwhiler, Danny's brother, was captain of this team.

Dr. E. H. Nelson coached this team, and during those years he was in his glory. In addition to Litwhiler and Cobb going into pro ball, Finder also tried his hand and would have made the grade had he not found expenses too high. Many of the others could have made the grade had they not chosen careers. Twenty-one victories in a row is quite a record, and we're sure it will be some time before another team can top it. That particular era of baseball at Bloomsburg saw undoubtedly the finest collection of college stars in the history of any school. The games weren't won by one and two runs but by lopsided margins with the reserves playing a major portion of the time.

Along about this time and for the next five or six years the Husky track and field teams were establishing their impressive string of some 23 wins in a row. In 1936, the track team won four in a row and the tennis squad copped ten of eleven matches. In fact, the headline captions all over the sports pages in those years were monotonous with victories, triumphs, etc.

During the past year we have been wondering if this is another era of sports at Bloomsburg, a repetition of the middle and late thirties. Success in sports on a won and lost basis usually runs in cycles, and this might be time for another. The soccer and football teams turned in record-breaking performances and the basketball team held its own during the winter just past. Now it will be the test of track and baseball to see whether or not there is such a possibility. Bloomsburg has always been handicapped due to the fact that this is not a physical education school, but that has not held the Husky teams back in spirit and fight. It could happen again, couldn't it?

Set Shot Artist

Pictured above is Bobby Kashner, one of the finest set shot artists and ball handlers ever to appear at Centennial Gymnasium. Kashner was used sparingly this year but gave a good account of himself while in the game. The former Bloomsburg High athlete is a favorite of the fans.

Newman Club Holds Regular Meeting

The regular meeting of the Newman Club was held recently in the basement of St. Columbia's Church. Marshall Joseph Vincent, of Ashley, opened the meeting with a prayer.

President James Marion, Harrisburg, read two pages from the life of Cardinal Newman. Ruth Doody, of Canadensis, made a very interesting report on Clarence Maker's article "A Letter From the Mercy Medics." Jean Petarra, of Camden, New Jersey, recently returned from visiting relatives in Italy, gave a colorful and informative talk about her eight-month trip. She talked on the general conditions in Italy, traveling conditions, educational facilities and their relation to our own education system, ideas and customs, class distinction, and the attitude of the Italian people toward the Americans. These two talks were followed by an open discussion period.

The regular business meeting was then adjourned, and Marshall Joseph Vincent said the closing prayer.

Huskies Defeat Kings College

Charlie Boyer, Elmer Kreiser, and Eddie Jones sank quick field goals to put the Huskies ahead, and the Maroon and Gold five went on to defeat King's College, 53-47, in a well played tilt last Thursday evening.

Although never able to catch Bloomsburg after that sudden scoring outburst, the Monarchs from up Wilkes-Barre way gave the Wishermen some anxious moments. On numerous occasions the Brock-coached quintet came within two points of the Huskies.

Clever Passing

In Tom McLaughlin, flashy center who also led the Monarchs in scoring with 15 points, King's showed local fans one of the best ball handlers seen in Centennial Gym this season. McLaughlin was the key man of a smooth passing attack that at times stumped the local cagers.

Mulvy, an excellent long shot, racked up 14 markers to run second to McLaughlin in the point-making. Alex Wawer, high scoring forward, was bottled up for three quarters but sparked the Monarchs' attack late in the game.

Boyer Is High

"Chuckin' Charley" Boyer was definitely "on" as he paced the Maroon and Gold team with 18 points, showing a percentage of .348 in the field goal department for the evening. Bobby Andrews, held to a single point for three quarters, shoved through 10 in the last quarter, eight of them coming in succession. It was due to Andrews that the Husky scoring attack did not bog down in that last period.

Jones and Kreiser both played fine games in controlling the ball off the boards, although the hard-fighting King's team out-jumped the Huskies in many instances.

The Huskies held a lopsided 16-7 lead at the end of the first period and were ahead by 27-20 at halftime. The visitors, fighting with as much spirit in the third period as the first, cut the margin to 36-40 after three quarters.

SIDELINES IN SPORTS

by Curtis L. Miller

The basketball season is completed now insofar as the varsity is concerned, and it is only fitting that we should pay our tribute to the players who made the season a highly successful one despite the fact the Huskies failed to win the crown; or even finish as high as some of the more ardent supporters predicted at the season's start. We can only hope now that our track and baseball teams come through in as fine a style as did our football and basketball squads.

The intramural leagues have proven to be quite popular with the students, thus fulfilling the main objective. The purpose of intramurals at any school is to furnish the individuals who cannot participate in varsity athletics with an outlet for physical activity; and the large number of students participating in the volley ball and basketball leagues attest to the success of the program in our school. One can't say too much about the value of such a program.

While we're on the subject of basketball, we might say a few words about one of our pet mathematical devices, the POINT SYSTEM, which is used in a number of football conferences. To our knowledge, it has never been used in basketball, but in a setup such as our State Teachers have, we see no reason why it cannot be used to great advantage. We are of the opinion that this system would be just about the fairest method of gauging the real league champion. It would eliminate a team playing only a few league foes—these often being the weakest clubs in the circuit—and coming out on top in the final standings.

Mansfield, which leads the league from a won and loss viewpoint, would be on top with a point average of 752.0 which isn't too great a margin over our Huskies' 674.4. We haven't tabulated averages of the other conference teams, but we have reason to believe that Bloomsburg would rank much better than our present seventh place standing. The reason for this, of course, would be due to the number of games won by defeated opponents. True, there are many fallacies to this system but we are of the opinion that it is much better for our conference than the won-loss percentage idea.

Before getting off the subject of basketball, we would like to name our nominations for the ten basketball teams in college circles. New York University, West Virginia, Kentucky, St. Louis, North Carolina State, Kansas State, Oklahoma A. & M., Rhode Island State, Holy Cross and Columbia make up the select list, though not necessarily in the order mentioned. Other teams that might be mentioned are Bradley, Western Kentucky State, Tulane, Baylor and Texas.

Another renovation (you might call it that) we'd like to see in our college would be the adoption of boxing and wrestling.

Husky Jayvees Complete Highly Successful Season

Tourney Winners to Get Trophies

John A. Hoch, Chairman of the Annual High School Basketball Tourney now in progress, and Robert B. Redman, who is assisting Hoch, display the attractive trophies which will be presented the winners of the three classes. Left to right, Class "B" trophy, Class "A", and Class "C".

Jayvees Record Seventh Win

The Junior Varsity won their seventh game of the season, the fourth in a row, when they outscored the Blythe Township High School Alumni last Thursday night by a score of 63-26. The Jayvees have been on the "victory wagon" ever since they defeated the Mary Lynn Dress Shop of Berwick. They have managed to eke out victories against the Pottsville State Center and Lock Haven STC Junior Varsity.

The only three games the Pups have dropped this season were to the Temple Locals, Shamokin Yellow-Jackets, and Jimmie Cain's All-Stars.

In the game with Blythe Alumni, a team from Pottsville, the home squad led from the tap-off, Don Hoar, of Harrisburg, and John Persing, of Mt. Carmel, led the Pups' attack with eleven markers each.

You Can Tour Europe This Summer

"You can go to Europe this summer — with student groups that will tour the continent from tiny town to important cultural center—on budgets as low as seven dollars a day, including travel expenses."

Typical of these is the American Youth Hostels, which sent more than 225 young men and women across the Atlantic in 1947, and expects to double that number in '48. AYH tours are bike tours—rides that cover as much as a thousand miles in as many as five countries.

They are two-part affairs: for one month, the hostellers do reconstruction work, side by side with student tourists from European countries. For the second month, they hit the back-roads of Europe, learning about the countries they visit from the inside out.

The jobs done are far from back-breaking. They include painting, plastering, gardening, and clearing rubble . . . and they are done with ease by campus queens.

Expenses for a trip of this sort are rock-bottom. One fee of about $200 covers all travel on the continent, food and lodging. A second fee, ranging from $117 for men to $137 for girls—paid for one-way transportation to Europe by student vessel last year—and will probably do so again this year.

The American Friends Service Committee, for example, sent young men and women to Finland, Italy, Belgium, Holland, and France. These students participated in projects of real value, constructing a day nursery, a hospital and a laundry.

Other groups, like the Unitarian Service Committee and the Congregational Christian Service Committee, did parall jobs in Europe. For the students who took part in these missions, expenses averaged from $500 to $650 for the summer. In all cases, they combined work with frequent tours.

Committee Plans Entertainment

The assembly committee, comprised of students and of the faculty has decided to entertain the student body at the short assembly meetings with selected, talented students from the school. In assembly on Tuesday we were honored with Terry and her accordian. Terry played the very popular numbers, "Jealousy," "Two Guitars," and "Coax Me A Little Bit." Terry is a sophomore in the business field. Miss Zita Spangler, a Junior in the secondary field, did a take-off as Beatrice Kay. Her songs were "I Don't Care" and "Oceana Roll." Both of these girls were in the Freshman Show in 1946.

A special feature of the assembly on Tuesday was an address by Mrs. Sue Clark, alumna of Texas University, who spoke about the World Student Service Fund and the World Student Relief. Mrs. Clark gave the students and faculty a very vivid account of the hardships endured by students in nineteen foreign countries and how vital immediate aid is to them.

Club Chatter

The B-Club held its monthly supper meeting at the home of Miss MacCammon on Thursday, March 4, at 5 P.M. Doris Condor, June Novak, Rose Marie Kreiser and Bertha Mae Sturman were in charge of the supper. A business meeting and entertainment followed.

Seven students from Bloomsburg State Teachers College attended the annual North Atlantic Regional Conference of the Lutheran Student Association which was held at Buck Hill Falls from February 27 to 29. About 250 students representing fifty colleges on New England, New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Washington, D. C. were guests for the weekend. The theme of the conference was "Jesus Christ Is Lord."

Several speakers, talks by foreign students, discussion groups, and moving pictures were on the agenda. Saturday afternoon was free for tobogganing, skiing, and hiking. The students attending from B.S.T.C. were: Barbara Greenly, Ruth Trimpey, Berdine Togar, Ruth Shupp, Richard Kressler, Wilbur Kemp, and Richard Schwartz.

The Trouble With Women

by Donald Butcofsky

On March 20, at 11:57 A.M., the sun will enter into Aries, the sign of the Ram, and the vernal equinox will be at hand. Dormant life will burst forth in verdant profusion; the poet will repair to pastoral scenes to write a sonnet inspired by a city-dwelling stenographer with red hair; Ran will pipe his way through vale and glen until an injunction is brought against him by Petrillo; and last, but far from least, women will emerge wearing the latest atrocities of attire, which, for want of a better name, will be collectively known as the "spring edition of the new look."

"Swirling, whirling grace," say the fashion writers, "a skirt you'll love to wear. A slim hipline and a tiny waist . . . divinely full . . . divinely fitted. Or if milady so desires, she can have a droopy-drape drag-along tailored from genuine Afghanistan cretonne. This nifty number has pink alligators outlined with green sequins and set against a mauve background that has a bold fuchsia stripe . . . so exquisite and dainty . . . so utterly feminine and charming, dainty and darling when worn with red stockings . . . priced slightly higher in New Guinea.

This frightful form of female fancy, which succeeds only in making a fancy female form look frightful, apparently has no limit to the fantastic proportions it could assume. In time to come the traditional Easter parade will pass from the American scene, and in all probability a mummer's parade will take its place. Women will vie for the comic section prize, and astronomers on the planet Mars will take one squint into their telescopes and join a temperance union, vowing never to touch another drop as long as they live.

The typical American girl of last year's toothpaste ads is a member of a vanishing race. The influence of recent fashion trends is obliterating a vital part of a native heritage. Betty Co-ed is being driven into extinction, sacrificed upon the altar of style conformity. The dream girl of yesterday has become the nightmare of today. Now when you ring the doorbell on date-night, it is answered by an apparition, the sight of which causes you to flee in nameless terror into the darkness.

The few remaining members of that vanishing race must be protected from the menace of the fashion designer. Their number decreases each time the seasons change. The American girl is having her individuality taken from her. She is being swept into oblivion by the designer's crayon. Once fashion's master, she has now become its slave.

So when the sun sweeps across the equator on March 20, spring, the season of song and romance, will be officially here. But one wonders, with it all, what form the "new look" will assume. It is a matter open only to the darkest and most apprehensive speculation. Clues gathered hither and thither give no cause for the slightest degree of optimism. Hidden away in thousands of closets is the answer to the question—and, brother, your guess is as good as mine!

NSA Advisory Council Is Organized

Madison, Wis. — (Special) Seven nationally-recognized experts in varied fields of education have accepted positions on the Advisory Council of the National Student Association (NSA), the national office revealed last week.

Persons to fill the remaining two seats are being contacted by the national NSA office.

The NSA executive committee stated that these persons had been chosen "for their general interest in the problems facing the American education community and for their work in the specific fields related to the NSA program."

Members who have accepted positions on the council include: R. O. Johnson, U.S. Office of Education; Dean Newhouse, director of student affairs, University of Washington; Father Vincent J. Flynn, president, College of St. Thomas, St. Paul, Minn.; Prof. Helen C. White, English department, University of Wisconsin; Monroe E. Deutsch, retired provost, University of California; Lawrence Duggan, director, International Institute of Education; and Homer Rainey, President, Stephens College, Columbia, Mo.

This group, as provided for in the NSA constitution, "shall advise and consult the National Student Congress (annual convention), the executive officers and the several national agencies of NSA at their request or upon its own volition."

The council is expected to provide continuity in the NSA which would not otherwise be established with the expected complete turn-over of staff personnel each year.

One member of the council may sit on the executive committee without vote.

Student Aid Exam Offers Opportunity

Applications are being accepted by the Executive Secretary, Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners for Scientific and Technical Personnel of the Potomac River Naval Command, Building 37, Naval Research Laboratory, Washington 20, D.C., for filling Student Aid positions in the fields of Engineering, Mathematics, Metallurgy, Chemistry, physics and Meteorology.

This examination offers to college juniors the opportunity of participating in special training programs at the National Bureau of Standards, the Naval Research Laboratory and the Naval Ordnance Laboratory. Satisfactory completion of the training course may lead to appointment to positions in the professional service for which the appointees are qualified.

The salary for Student Aid positions is $2,394 a year. To qualify, applicants must pass a written test and, in addition, they must have credit equivalent to at least 3 years of college study in one of the above subject-matter fields. Applications will be accepted from students who expect to complete the required study by June 30, 1948. Age limits for Students Aids, 18 to 35 years, are waived for persons entitled to veteran preference.

Detailed information about the examination is given in Announcement No. 4-34-1 (1948). Announcements and application forms may be obtained at most first- and second-class post offices, from Civil Service regional offices, from the Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D.C., or from the Executive Secretary at the above address. Applications must be received by the Executive Secretary not later than March 9, 1948.

The Campus Spotlight

by KAY CHAPIN

Pauline Clossen of Bloomsburg (yes, the pretty "Polly" in the Dean's office) has announced her engagement to H. Paul Lauderman of Hazleton. Paul graduated from here last May and is now teaching at Lititz High School. They will be married sometime during the latter part of this summer.

You probably all know that Joe Mudrock of Keiser, Pa. became engaged to Olga Forster of Lakewood during the Christmas vacation. Joe is a Sophomore and Olga attended here a little over a year.

Bob and Betty Martin had a visit from the stork Feb. 15. The new head of the household is Robert Phillips Martin, Jr. Bob graduated from here in May and Betty worked in the Dean of Instruction's office last year.

We hear that Lois Lange had a good time at Lehigh University over the weekend. She attended the annual Junior Prom.

Congratulations to Harry Reitz, Jr. who recently received an appointment as a second lieutenant in the Pennsylvania National Guard.

Mail was heavy at the library on Friday. Newly bound magazines totaling 1400 lbs. returned. They are '44, '45, and '46 editions.

Paging Sherlock Holmes! Peggy Suchy reports that her dresser became restless last week and took to roaming about the dormitory. When she finally captured the critter, it was resting quietly in the closet of the Den. Wonder how it got way over there?

Numerous students and faculty members were incapacitated with cold and grippe this week. That's the first sign of spring, ya know.

The Newman Club held their last meeting for the Lenten season on Monday night. They will convene again at a social gathering on April 5. Plans will then be discussed for a banquet to be held at the end of the school year.

Sparks were flying, literally and figuratively, last Mon. when the much talked of fire was discovered in the girls dormitory. Timely discovery and quick action averted a possible tragedy. Moral—wastebaskets do not make the best ashtrays!

"Fools" Triumph in Mock Cage Game

The spectators at the Millersville-Bloomsburg game on Thursday night, February 26, had an unusual treat when Johnny Lydon and Company invaded the Centennial Gymnasium where they met the "Bloomsburg Burlesques" in a between-the-halves fracas.

Lydon's team, the "Flyin' Fools," found no easy pickings when they tangled with the Bloomsburg lads who were coached by George Pater-noster. The game developed into a closely contested affair, and it wasn't until the closing seconds that the "Fools" were assured of victory.

J. Czerniakowski, referee, had a rough time officiating at this all important game. The two teams were very spirited and made certain that the official was on his toes all the time. (When he wasn't on his head.)

Although the 'Fool's' player-coach, Lydon, was the star of the evening, he had a very capable competitor in the person of Zeke Abraham. Zeke proved that he has all the qualities of a fine basketball player. His long shots from center court brought the crowd to its feet on more than one occasion.

Both teams wore their recently purchased uniforms and presented a striking picture. The official was also attired in the very latest in regulation P.I.A.A. outfits and looked extremely snappy.

The two teams used the new play—"basket a la ladder" for the first time and gave the crowd plenty to cheer about. Until the present time, this play was illegal in organized basketball, and for that matter, it still is illegal in organized basketball. However, the basketball played that night could hardly be called organized.

February 26th was the first time this year that B.S.T.C. was honored by a real professional team, and the game will undoubtedly be remembered for a long time.

Veteran's Corner

Need a Lawyer?

Veterans requiring the services of a lawyer to represent them in a monetary claim against the VA, need not pay the lawyer's fee. The agency will pay the fee's and deduct the amount from whatever monetary gains the veteran receives.

However, the fees are fixed by the V.A. at $19 for an original claim and $2 for a claim to receive increased benefits. If a lawyer attempts to charge a veteran for this service he is subject to penal penalties as well as the loss accreditation.

January 1, 1948 found that a total of 18,624,000 veterans had served their country in time of war, yet all but 3,879,000 served in World War II.

OVERSEAS EMPLOYMENT

There is a wide range of employment open to qualified personnel under the War Dept's program for return and burial of World War II dead.

Positions to be filled are many and varied. They include Cooks and Bakers $2800-$4000, typists and stenographer $2700-$3000, and all types of Repairmen, Mechanics, Construction workers, and so forth, at an hourly rate ranging from $1.15 to $1.81. All of these positions are to be filled for duty in the Pacific Area.

More complete information for those interested may be obtained by writing to:

Employee Utilization Section,
Personal Branch of Phila. Quartermaster Depot,
2800 South 20th Street
Philadelphia, 45, Pa.

For information concerning all types of foreign government employment write to:

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—May my private physician be called in as a consultant while I am hospitalized in a V.A. hospital?

A—No, except in the event your physician happens to be a regular consultant on the hospital staff and the staff agrees to call him in to study your case.

Q—I am now drawing 10 percent compensation for a service-connected knee condition. Will V.A. pay for a knee-brace which my doctor advises me to wear?

A—V.A. will pay for the knee brace if V.A. doctors approve the recommendation of your physician.

The V.A. has now entered the field of prognostication by claiming the year 2000 will find more than 3,400,000 veterans of World War II still alive. The average of these venerable gentlemen and women will be nearly 78.

Borrowed Banter . .

After attending a tea at a sorority a bored male said it was like a women's meeting; gabble, giggle, gobble and git.

These new fangled inventions really go places. A friend of mine stepped into one of these rockets, settled himself at the controls and pressed a button. He shot way up in the air. Then he pressed a second button and went higher yet and he exclaimed, "Holy Moses"!

And a deep voice said, "Yes"?

The reason that women live longer than men is that paint is such a great preservative.

One of the local wolves was walking on a rug with his date in Willard Hall and said, "I've got an awful lot of electricity in my hair".

"No wonder", replied his date "You have such shocking things on your mind".

Cold weather brings out the frivolity even in a senior, who casually remarked, "Everytime I see a girl in slacks I feel like asking her if the end justifies the jeans".

Optimist—Aman who come home from a business trip, finds the house littered with old cigar butts, and says "Thank heaven my wife has given up cigarettes."

What is executive ability, father?" asked a serious lad.

"Executive ability, my son, is the art of getting credit for all the hard work that someone else does!"

Newman Club Discusses Plans

The Newman Club met on Monday night, March 1, and discussed the club's activity for the remainder of the semester. This includes the initiation of the new club members, the forming of the initiating team, the choir, the baccalaureate mass, and dinner for the students of the club who graduate in May.

Miss Ruth Doody, Sophomore, gave a report on "Mercy Killings", a topic of discussion at one of the meetings. Miss Jean Peterra, Sophomore from Camden, New Jersey, then related her experiences of her voyage to Italy and her eight months stay in Italy with her grandparents. This talk proved interesting and Miss Peterra answered numerous questions asked from the floor.

The next meeting of the club will be on April 5, after the Easter vacation.

Science Club News

The Science Club held its regular meeting last Thursday, February 26, under the direction of faculty sponsor, Dr. Kuster. The yearly project of the club was the main subject of discussion. Opinions were offered by everyone on the question of what to do. A field trip or a visit to some industry, such as the mushroom-growing industry at Milton, were among notable ideas presented by those present. However, the question was not settled and any further opinions on the project will be gladly accepted.

THE GRANGE MEETING

About one hundred men and three hundred women will invade the college on March 22, 23, 24, to attend the Grange Meetings and Lecturers. This will be made possible by the cooperation of the students of the college whose rooms will be used to house these visitors. The financial procedures will be returned over to the Student Activities Fund.
