Choral and Solo Selections Featured By Women's Chorus in May 5 Assembly

Large Group Presents Many Beautiful Numbers Under Direction of Miss Moore

The Women's Chorus of the College, under the direction of Miss Harriet M. Moore, was featured in a concert of choral and solo selections in the May 5 assembly in Carver Hall.

The first group of numbers included "Bless the Lord, O My Soul," "So's I Can Write My Name," "Hear Us, O Saviour," and the "Sandman's Song," and "Children's Prayer" from "Hansel and Gretel." Jane Kenvin handled the solo in the "Sandman's Song."

Marian Lake, Aleki Comuntzis, and Anna Belle Russell next presented an out of the ordinary arrangement of "Three Little Maids From School," from the "Mikado."

The Chorus followed with "Red River Valley," and "There Are Such Things." Eleanor McClintock provided the solo embellishment in the latter number, thereby helping to make the presentation one of the most beautiful and outstanding ever presented on the Carver Hall stage.

The final group of numbers sung by the Chorus was composed of "Amaryllis," and a colorfully interpretive arrangement of the Irish air, "The Galway Piper."

Margaret Rose Roberts, Anita Webb, Gloria Dawn Long, and Martha Rapp served as accompanists for the group and soloists.

Jean Stein presided over the brief devotional exercises which preceded the program.

Secondary Education Conference To Be Held Here on June 24 and 25

On June 24 and 25, one of the twelve regional group discussion conferences for the improvement of secondary education will be held at the College. These meetings are sponsored by the Pennsylvania Branch of the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

Harry F. Garner, director of secondary education at the College and coordinator of the local conference, announced recently that the group will be under the leadership of J. Frank Dennis, principal of Myers High School in Wilkes-Barre. Composed of several principals of area high schools, the steering committee is now working on plans for the 1949 conference, which is an annual project of the Pennsylvania Secondary School Principals' Association.

The area to be served by this year's conference includes the following counties: Columbia, Luzerne, Lackawanna, Susquehanna, and Wyoming.

College Dames Club Enjoys Covered Dish Supper and Hat Social

The newly-formed College Dames Club enjoyed a covered dish supper and hat social last Tuesday evening in Noelling Hall. The club is composed of the wives of students at the college.

Prizes were awarded for the most unique, the funniest, and the prettiest hat by Mrs. Richard Hummel, of Northumberland.

First prize for the most unique hat went to Mrs. Lewis with Mrs. John Brown as runner-up. Prizes for the funniest hat went to Mrs. Glenn Von Stetten and Mrs. Frank Pringle. Prizes for the prettiest hat were awarded Mrs. Robert Wingate and Mr. Dick Jarman.

Judges for the contest were Dr. Kehr, Miss Ranson, Miss Waldron, and Miss Elder, who were guests at the meeting.

Educators Discuss Elementary Course In Conference Here

Teachers and Administrators Develop New Course of Study

Morning and afternoon sessions in an elementary conference for the purpose of discussing, reviewing, and distribution of the new elementary course were attended by the largest group of area educators ever to assemble at the College for this type of conference. Miss Edna J. Hazen, local chairman in charge, stated that, in an unofficial estimate, there were about three hundred in attendance. Dr. Leversia L. Powers, chief, elementary education, Department of Public Instruction, Harrisburg, directed the meeting. The session was one of sixteen similar meetings held throughout the Commonwealth. Dr. Powers began the project in 1946 and has piloted it to its successful completion this year.

The building of the new elementary curriculum was a cooperative effort and will be continued over a period of five years devoted to further development of the program.

Six experts from the Department of Public Instruction assisted Dr. Powers.

Large Attendance Expected At Alumni Day Celebration To Be Held Next Saturday

Business Educ. Club Holds Annual Banquet; New Officers Installed

Members of the College's Business Education Club and their guests held their annual banquet May 4 at the local Moose Home. The tables were beautifully decorated and contributed immensely in helping to enjoy the delicious turkey dinner which was served. Each lady guest was presented with a corsage.

Grace was offered by Mr. Walter Rygiel, sponsor of the club. Phil Joseph led group singing, with the accompaniment of Lois Datesman.

Wilmer Nester served as master of ceremonies, welcoming the banqueters and introducing faculty members and their wives to the group.

Officers of the club for the next year were installed in an impressive ceremony. The new officers are: Edward Messa, president; Emory Rarig, vice president; Laura Philo, secretary; William Romig, treasurer; Richard Hollis, historian. Flowers were presented to the incoming officers.

Historian Paul Plevyak summarized the club's activities for the past year.

Members and guests were presented with the club annual, edited by Charles Roberts. Roberts read the dedication of the annual and presented the first copy to Mr. Rygiel, to whom it was dedicated.

Brief talks were made by Dr. Harvey A. Andruss, President of the College; Richard Hallisy, director of the Business Education Department; and Dr. Thomas P. North, Dean of Instruction of the College.

Retiring officers of the club are: Wilmer Nester, president; Richard Grimes, vice president; Ruth Doody, secretary; Edward Messa, treasurer; and Paul Plevyak, historian.

Chairmen of the committees planning the event were: Romeo Danni, general chairman; Louis Pecora, program; Rita Dixon, flowers and decoration; Dorothy Lovett, invitation; Richard Swartz, ticket.

Next Year's Class Officers Selected in Recent Election

The election of officers and advisers for next year's Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes were held last week. The results are as follows:

The election of the Senior class president will be held in September.

Participating in the event were the following schools: Berwick, sixteen; Benton, five; Bloomsburg, fourteen; Catawissa, three; Conyngham, three; Millville, four; and Scott, seven.

Numerous Activities Planned for Annual Return of Graduates

President Harvey A. Andruss and Dr. E. H. Nelson, of the Alumni Association, last week announced the complete plans for this year's Alumni Day celebration to be held at the College Saturday, May 21. A larger crowd of graduates than has ever before attended is expected to be on hand.

Activities will begin with the annual Alumni meeting to be held in Carver Hall Auditorium at 11:00 A.M. (DST). An unusual program is being planned for this part of the day's events.

The fifty year reunion class, in accordance with the custom of a number of years, will be especially honored by Alumni officials, and other classes are planning special features for the meeting.

Luncheon will be served to all Alumni and guests of the College in the College dining room at 1:00 P.M.

The afternoon will be taken up with class reunions, beginning at 3:00, and from the various reports from classes indicate that this year's get-together will attract a large attendance.

Another feature of the day will be the baseball game between King's College and Coach R. B. Redman's Huskies on the Mt. Olympus diamond. The game will get under way at 5:00 P.M., with the home team attempting to finish the season undefeated.

The final event on the day's program will be the annual Alumni dance in the Waller Hall Lounge, beginning at 8:30 P.M. and continuing until 11:30. Music will be provided by Eddie Karpee and his orchestra.

Thousands of Alumni of the College throughout the country have received invitations, and early replies have indicated that the 1949 Alumni Day will be one of the most successful, if not the most successful, ever staged at the College.

Many of the classes returning will open the event with their own meetings and dinner on Friday evening. Others will participate in events on Saturday, in addition to participating in the features arranged for all graduates and their guests.

Dr. J. Almus Russell Publishes Article in New England Magazine

An article, "Cordwood for Locomotives," by J. Almus Russell, of the College English Department, was published in the overdue January, 1949, issue of "Old Time New England," a quarterly magazine specializing in ancient buildings, household furnishings, domestic arts, manners and customs, and minor antiquities of the New England people.

This publication is one of a series of "Forgotten Home Industries," which deals with early New England customs and crafts as Dr. Russell knew them in his youth, or heard of them from elderly friends and relatives.

About 1850, the author writes, many farmers discovered a profitable home industry—supplying cordwood for wood-burning locomotives. Providing such wood for the new railway engines rapidly became an important business, with men, oxen, and horses hired all year round to cut and haul fuel, for a period of twenty-five years, until coal finally took the place of wood, and consequently did away with the industry.

Senior Ball & Banquet Scheduled for May 19 At Wilkes-Barre Hotel

Completed plans for the annual, tradition-honored Senior Ball and Banquet, the culminating social affair for the graduating seniors, were recently announced by the committee in charge. The Ball and Banquet will be held this year in the Admiral Stark Ballroom of Hotel Sterling, Wilkes-Barre, at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, May 19. Music for dancing and listening pleasurer will be provided by Al Anderson and his orchestra from 9 to midnight.

Arrangements for the Ball and Banquet are under the general supervision of Phil Joseph, assisted by Charles Boyer, acting chairman for the Ball, and Ernest Olson, acting chairman of the Banquet. Additional committees and their chairmen follow: Angelo Albano, Investigation and arrangement; Pauline Kokolias, Dance Programs; James Hantjts, Transportation; George Paternoster, Orchestra; Richard Grimes, Decorations; Zita Spangler Cortright, Refreshments; and Lois Datesman, Tickets.

Forty-Eight Contestants
Guess the Identity of Black-Masked Crooner

A crowd estimated at nearly 300 persons thronged into a gaily decorated Centennial Gymnasium for the annual Junior Prom on Friday evening, May 6. Music for the occasion was provided by Al Anderson and his orchestra. Dancing was from 8:30 until 12.

The originality of the decorations attracted wide attention. Hanging streamers were covered with paper flowers, and large black masks were hung overhead in keeping with the theme.

52 H.S. Seniors Take Examinations Here

Scholarship examinations, given annually by the Commonwealth, were given to fifty-two seniors from seven of the Columbia County high schools during the morning of May 6.

The scholarship of $400 in any accredited institution of state, stimulated much competition among members of county graduating classes interested in continuing their education.

The examination was given in Centennial Gymnasium, under the direction of superintendent of county schools, Ray M. Cole.

A Little Reminiscing . . . .

The crowning of the twin May Queens once again heralded the end of another college year. Exams, sultry weather, and banquets also seem to signify that graduation is rapidly approaching for senior students. This seems the appropriate time to look back over the closing term and do a little reminiscing.

September brings to mind the opening of another College year, and the successful, undefeated, untied season of the Huskies, which sent the year plunging successfully ahead. Excellent assembly programs, such as the Ebonaires and the hypnotic artist, marked this entire period and proved to be one of the most interesting and entertaining years in this respect.

September rolled into October, and thence into November, until B.S.T.C. students soon found themselves enjoying their Christmas holidays, only to return to face exams and the beginning of a new semester. Basketball, meanwhile, was occupying a sizeable portion of our time, and we found that we had a team that played five hundred ball, which wasn't bad considering the caliber of basketball played in our loop. Pictures and subscriptions to "The Obiter" next birdied into view and remained with us for quite a while. "Doghouse" Don and his column soon proved themselves worthy of attention with many of their zany sidelights on life in these corridors; while "Borrowed Banter" went around raising eyebrows with its humor.

Diane Snyder and Charley Boyer, reigning as King and Queen of Hearts at the Sophomore Cotillion, next earned themselves niches in the College Year, 1948-1949; and Boston, beans, and "The Late George Apley" scored the hit that everyone expected it would. The appearance of the first issue of "The Olympian", and the huge success of Mr. Mystery and the Junior Prom gave the students a chance to rave twice.

Spring, about this time, stretched its lazy arms, and we soon found models cavorting all over Carver Hall Auditorium, anticipating the annual Fashion Show and the Business Education Contest. Spring also brought slightly warm weather and, along with it, mixed sun bathing, which gave Dean Hoch an opportunity to use a little picturesque speech in putting a halt to "fraternization."

An undefeated Husky baseball team thus far, and the thin-clads of B.S.T.C. are currently rounding out a banner year in the annuals of "The Friendly College on The Hill." (em)

Universal Struggle . . . .

For a long time now the extreme radicals of Realism have been propagating their principles in a forceful effort to demolish the powers of Idealism. As civilization becomes more complex, this struggle will become more serious.

Idealism is the basis of all creative thought; it is the root of all genius and inventiveness. When man has discovered every contrivable thing and when he has exposed every thing that is discoverable, then and only then, has Idealism reached its consummation.

Has this acme been attained? Is man's store of inventiveness spent? Or are there yet within him untouched hoards of genius waiting to be revealed? (mm)

The Important Thing . . . .

This year approximately 315,000 students will graduate from the colleges and universities throughout the United States. Upon graduation, the prime objective of most of this vast number of students will be to secure employment in those fields and professions for which they have been educated and trained, and which seem to offer the best opportunities for advancement.

Just what are their chances for obtaining these positions they so earnestly desire? A few years back, this could emphatically answered in the affirmative. At that time, a college degree was regarded as, "The golden key that would open all doors of opportunity." Today, this situation has undergone vast changes. The number of people holding college degrees has increased tremendously, and it is not inconceivable that within the not-too-distant future a college degree will be the minimum requirement for most positions.

Competition will be keen in all fields and occupations in the next few years. The teaching profession is at the present time slowly beginning to realize a period of adequacy in personnel in many areas. Thus, it is highly important that each student absorb as much information and material relating to his particular field as possible.

It will probably be only after graduation that each student will come to realize the appropriateness of the following statement: "The important thing is not that the student has gone through college, but has the college gone through the student?" (qj)

A THOUGHT

by Max Kaplan

It's rough!
The path of life is a long, uphill climb,
Marked by detours and tempting turns.

One would like to relax in the inviting Rests by the side of the road;
But if he does, he soon will see
The race of man pass by him in its Unrelenting pursuit of time.
And so, if he wishes to keep pace
With his fellow travellers,
His pause must be short,
Just time enough to refuel
His energy-using frame with the Turgor of renewed vigor; then out again
Into the everlasting struggle.
Onward, ever onward!
Looking back at times to
Reconstruct his course, but not too long,
Lest Lot's wife curse o'ertake him,
and he
Turn into a pillar of salt.

The path is stony, the road
Has many turns; but what the heck—
Happiness has never been an easy victory.
What you put into it, that's what you'll get out of it—
That goes for anything.
The more the sweat, the greater the joy; of course
It ain't necessarily so, but it's good fuel for the tank.

So though the road be rough,
Keep chin and heart up high.
Here's to the guy that keeps plugging
Though he meets defeat at every turn,
And with each failure makes a new start
To prove that life is worth the living.
It may be rough, but it's worth it.
At least that's the concensus of opinion.

"Mr. Mystery" contest which had played a large part in the dance publicity. A number of large G clef and F clef symbols were also scattered among the wall decorations to symbolize the musical aspect of the affair.

Highlight of the evening came at intermission when "Mr. Mystery's" identity was revealed. Harold White, general chairman of the dance committee, introduced Frank Johnson who then took over as master of ceremonies and called "Mr. Mystery" to the bandstand. The "Anonymous Academician" then appeared and again sang his theme song, "I Couldn't Sleep a Wink Last Night." Following this repetition of the contest's main clue, "Mr. Mystery" was revealed as Tom Anthony, a member of the freshman class who had played the title role in the Dramatic Club production of "The Late George Apley."

Forty-eight contestants had either

Powers. They were Orren Wagner, advisor, elementary education, Lester N. Myers, chief, special education, Miss Gladys Fish, advisor, special education, Claude Rosenberry, chief, music education, and Dr. Frederick L. Pond, advisor, secondary curriculum.

The educators, in the morning sessions, discussed the course of study, giving the background of the effort involved in its production. Special committees selected units of study and materials to include in the 500-page bulletin from over one thousand manuscripts submitted by hundreds of elementary teachers throughout the state.

After a luncheon served in the College dining room, the afternoon was taken up with group conferences in each of the elementary subject fields.

Serving as chairmen of the groups were teachers in the various schools of the College service area. State Department officials aided in a discussion of the subject included in the study and answered questions as to how teachers might be better able to carry out the suggested program. The course of study, it is hoped, will go into use at the opening of the next school year.

FASHION FLASHES

by Aleki Comuntzls

What is it about yellow that makes people so gay? Maybe it's because the sun is that color and people just feel sunny. Whatever it is, yellow is THE keynote in summer fashions.

Nearly every skin coloring is flattered by some member of the yellow family, be it sunburned or bleached.

However, if you feel that yellow just isn't your color, try spicing your favorite hue by adding a bright yellow straw bag. If straw is not quite to your liking, how about a little wooden bag of corn-yellow, trimmed with leather, that looks exactly like "Ye Olde Oaken Bucket," and will set off a cool, crisp cotton sport dress.

It may be that you have a weakness for gay shoes. Well, yellow can easily come to your rescue in an extremely interesting laced sandal or a thonged ballet slipper. Why not dye your favorite linen pumps a tone of yellow that will add the final touch to an almost completely perfect costume.

Wear the high and mighty yellows boldly, wear its many tones and textures to capture the smile of the summer sun—and the smile of that certain man!

correctly deduced or guessed the identity of "Mr. Mystery", and it became necessary to award the prizes on the basis of a drawing from a box containing the names of the winners. In the order in which their names were drawn, the 14 final winners were as follows: Charles Edwards, Priscilla Arnold, Walt Banull, Nancy Powell, Leon Herb, Betty Cole, Joe Gleda, Luther Roth, Lorraine Wilcox, Bill Kuster, Jean Wilson, Jo Ann Vanderslice, Bill Kelly, and Lucy Jane Baker.

Husky Sluggers Boast High Batting Averages For First Nine Games

With nine straight wins under their belts, the Husky diamondmen have demonstrated their unexcelled defensive play and pitching at its best. Now the spotlight shines on the batting abilities of the club.

A team batting average of .289, combined with an average of better than one homer per game, have strengthened the Huskies to a championship team the college can be proud of.

Four of the Huskies have hit better than .300 in the games played to date. They are Czerniakowski, Slobozien, Lambrinos, and Thomas with Ed Piestrak falling a little short with a .297.

The following are the averages of the squad for the first nine games:

LAFETIME . . . .

A sweet old lady, always eager to help the needy, spied a particularly sad looking old man standing on a street corner. She walked over to him, pressed a dollar bill into his hand and said, "Chin up."

The next day, on the same corner, the sad old man shuffled up to the lady and slipped ten dollars into her hand.

"Nice picking," he said in a low voice, "paid nine to one."

It was high noon in the Mosque. The priest was intoning, "There is no God but Allah, and Mohamet is his prophet."

It had been a busy day for mother and to make matters worse her small son came running into the house with his pants torn.

"You go right to your room and mend those pants yourself," she ordered, "and don't let me see you out here until the job is done."

A little later she went in to see how the job was coming along. The pants lay on a chair and the door to the cellar, usually closed, was open. The mother called down, sternly: "Are you running around down there without your pants on?" A deep voice answered, "No ma'am, I'm reading the gas meter."

Husky Diamondmen Strive To Equal Gridders' Perfect Record

SIDELINES IN SPORTS . . .

by Wayne Von Stetten

Nine in the bag and three to go. That's the impressive record the boys of Coach Bob Redman have compiled at this writing. Notwithstanding any unforeseen events, our Husky Nine should nail that remaining trio of contests. We are well aware of the fact that all the breaks must fall one hundred per cent in order to complete a perfect season, and thus far they have come in the direction of our diamond men. The weather has been high perfect for early spring baseball, injuries have been negligible, the hitting has been extremely timely, and a constant sore spot in previous years—fielding, has been consistent.

The wonderful success of our team thus far has caused many of us to scurry to the books to delve into their contents in order to discover when we have had an undefeated nine on the hill. If our eyesight was correct, we found that the great team molded by the genial "Doc" Nelson in 1935, and led by the Litwhiler boys Danny and Woody, went through a twelve-game schedule without bungling. Let's match it anyway.

One of the highspots of the ball club has been the terrific amount of long-ball clubbing the boys have been demonstrating. They can claim no less than six men who have belted the apple out of the park thus far. Paul Slobozien, Johnnie Czerniakowski, Greek Lambrinos, Mike Evans, Buck Byham, and Don Butler have all crashed one or more four-masters. In addition, the team has had its share of two-baggers, and the prettiest of all hits—the triple.

The remaining three contests on the schedule are carded for aly Mount Olympus. You fans who as yet haven't seen the boys in action should make a concerted effort to do so. It is our hope, however, that the opposition will be a bit stronger than that furnished the Huskies in their other two previous home encounters. We took in that contest with the Second Army last week and were thoroughly bored with the whole affair. It was a little too one-sided to prove entertaining for the average baseball fan. And then too, those twelve boots committed by the "doggies" didn't add to the interest of the game. Far be it from us to detract from the brilliant victories turned in by our boys, but we would like to see less sloppy baseball than that displayed last Friday.

NOTES FROM HERE AND THERE . . . Eddie Allegar has been released by Erie of the Middle Atlantic League and sent to Bristol of the Appalachian (Class D) League. Eddie's playing third base nowadays and hitting well above the three hundred mark. In a recent contest, the Benton boy smashed out a triple, double, and single . . . Additional compliments to Frank Womer, who broke the State Teachers mark for the pole vault last Saturday at Shippensburg . . . Nelson Bobb, the ex-Temple basketball star who performed on our Centennial Boards in 1947 in the Owl-Husky contest, has recently signed with the Philadelphia Warriors of the B.A.A. Bobb, who is 24, was one of the draft choices of the Warriors . . . See you next week, Sports Fans!

A baccalaureate service for the graduating seniors of the Newman Club will be held Sunday, May 15, at the 10:30 a.m. Mass. Members are asked to assemble in the Sunday School rooms of the Church Hall Sunday, May 15, at 10:00 a.m.

Bloomsburg Batsmen Defeat 2nd Army Soldiers for Second Time This Season

Diamondmen Down Soldiers In Top-Heavy Contest, 14-1; Record Three Round-Trippers

The Second Army baseball squad bowed to the Huskies on May 6 to the tune of a 14 to 1 score as the home team slugged three homers and Mike Evans allowed only five hits and gave only one free ticket.

Butler led off in the first inning with a circuit clout that set the pace that was continued by Slobozien and Czerniakowski as they each polled four-baggers.

Evans' brilliant pitching pulled the Huskies out of the fire in the second frame when he set three doughboys down with the bases loaded. Evans lost a shutout in the ninth when he gave up a single and a double which gave the soldiers their only run. The Fort Meade squad collected just five hits, three in the second inning and two in the ninth.

Dean Hoch Is Speaker

John A. Hoch, dean of men at the College, was the featured speaker at the annual banquet of the Millville American Legion last week at the Char-Mund in the Country. The affair was attended by Legionnaires and their ladies.

A professor who comes in late is rare; in fact, he is in a class by himself.

Then there was the near-sighted Scotchman who was nearly pummeled to death because he thought the sign on the door read "Laddies."

Huskies Rally To Edge Out Wilkes College in 7-5 Thriller Up-River

The yet undefeated Husky baseball team brought home its sixth win in a row May 3, after taking the Wilkes College club, 7-5.

The Huskies were trailing 5-4 going into the ninth when Mike Evans hit his second home run of the season while pinch-hitting for Bob Hummel. Butler drew a walk, stole second, and went to third when Eddie Piestrak was safe on a fielder's choice. Piestrak stole second, and Butler scored the winning run on a long fly to center by Czerniakowski. Then Catcher Lambrinos knocked out his second hit of the game and brought Piestrak home.

Byham, pitching for the Huskies, gave up six hits, and let out fifteen on strikeouts. Lambrinos was the only Husky to get two hits.

Freshman Trackster Clears Twelve Feet To Break School Record in Only Husky Event

The powerful Bald Eagles from Lock Haven took thirteen of the fourteen track and field events in a dual meet on Mt. Olympus on May 3. This was the Huskies' last home appearance.

"Fancy Frank" Womer did it again and broke the College's pole vault record that he had previously tied in a meet with Shippensburg. He slipped over the bar at twelve feet. It was (Continued on page 4)

WHAT'S YOUR SPORTS I.Q.?

Here's a quiz designed to give you a close-up of Tommy Donan, our great Little All-American tackle, who will be playing his football next fall for the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National League. If you score 200 or better (each question is worth 25 points), you've scored a touchdown, while anything over 150 is a first down. Less than that and you've fumbled miserably with the pigskin. The answers are on page 4 of this issue.

- This coming June, he will be:
  - (a) 23
  - (b) 28
  - (c) 25
- He first enrolled at B.S.T.C. in the fall of:

Redman Squad Takes Ninth Straight Victory As Three Huskies Slam Out Homers

It was eight out of eight as the as yet undefeated Huskies came home with a decisive 13-2 victory over Mansfield on May 7.

Portsider Buck Byham went the distance and allowed nine safeties. It was evident that he had his mates behind him as they banged out fourteen hits, a triple, and three homers included. George Lambrinos got a four-bagger and Slobozien and Czerniakowski got their second circuit clout in two days.

IN THE DOGHOUSE

by Don Butcofsky

This is it . . .

Back on October 16 the Doghouse made its debut, and in the very beginning stated that it would be a column "where the chaff would be run through with the oats." Now, in looking back, it seems that there has been a heck of a lot of chaff and very little oats. In the course of getting this column out every week, the English language has been booted around to the tune of some 22,000 words, and what all of them have amounted to, if anything, would be hard to tell. At any rate, comes now the time to take a hasty backward look at campus life as it was seen through the Doghouse door during the past two semesters. With no attempt toward final authority, this listing of persons and events stack up somewhat as follows:

- Biggest success—The informal dances in the old gym. Let's have more of the same next year.
- Biggest failure—The drinking fountain campaign. No inconvenience as long as the canteen was open.
- Biggest surprise—The new improved women's chorus. The sweetest singing on this side of heaven, aided and abetted by the Nightingale from Nescopeck.
- Biggest disappointment—The basketball season. No offense meant, fellows. The breaks just weren't in your favor.
- Best professional assembly entertainment—George Johnson and his "Bach to Boogie." A totally unexpected gem by a master showman.
- Best student entertainment—For laughs: Franky and Johnny. For novelty: The Andy Mack Trio. For cultural value: The Von Bergen-Wagner piano duo. In general, a student body filled to the brim with talented performers.
- Best faculty entertainment—Mrs. Beeman's lecture on spinning. A gifted sense of humor combined with an authoritative talk.
- Best master of ceremonies—Ben Burness with his masterpiece in the Frosh Follies. The plumber with philosophy in his humor.
- Best Entertainment (period)—Watching the Husky gridiron juggernaut slaughter its opposition. Things won't be the same without Donan and Luchnick, however.
- Best growler—Though we didn't hear much from him on the campus, George Kearney still pulled through with his laurels intact. Some might take Mr. Mystery.
- Academy Award motion picture—The epic "Night School in Merry Olde England." Now we know what Churchill meant when he referred to dark days.
- Most unreliable—The school time system. There is a very beautiful legend telling why the bells only ring once every hundred years.
- Most hit or miss—The Doghouse predictions. But don't worry about it. This is the last edition.
- Most sorely missed—The pin-up pictures in the Waller Hall dorm. Maybe mother will let us put our Esquire clippings on the walls at home.
- Most popular pastime—Sleeping in class. Didn't get in until 3 a.m.
- Most popular fad—Horn-rimmed glasses. The first step toward acquiring professional dignity.
- Most overworked—The Maroon and Gold staff. They began weekly and ended weakly.
- Most popular statement—"I'm really going to bear down next year." A noble sentiment, but isn't that what we said last year?

They Call Me the Dreamer . . .

Here is an intimate peek into the inner sanctum of the kennel where a kettle of strange thoughts has been boiling all year. Into the kettle was thrown a deficiency slip with the number "13" written on the back, also a business office memorandum concerning payment of activity fees, a shirgle from the roof of Science Hall, the bladder of an old volley ball, a salmon croquette from the dining hall, three cigaret butts swept up during a full moon, a spade flush from a pinochle deck, and the neck from a broken Budweiser bottle. This was brought to a slow boil while the constitution of the C.G.A. was recited backwards with care not to establish any dangerous precedents. Out of the vapor came the following visions: A new, larger college canteen with fountain service—Scholarships for the Dionne quintuplets so that we might have five identical May Queens in 1956—A cow tethered to one of the legs of each dining hall table, with all optional accessories included so that a flagon of cold, homogenized, grade A, pasteurized milk could be drawn with little or no effort—Cigaret vending machines that would issue free weeds plus a movie ticket—A corps of State employees to do term papers and book reports—Assembly entertainment direct from Broadway, with definite partiality shown the Maids from Minsky's—A minimum quality point average of .0001.

This is Where I Came in . . .

And so concludes the 25th and final edition of the Doghouse. As was previously noted, what it has all amounted to is hard to say. I have thoroughly enjoyed writing this column, and it is my sincere hope that those who read it found it worth the time and effort. It is also my hope that no one ever found cause to take personal affront at anything which appeared in this column. However, a spade is a spade, and to call it anything else would be a misrepresentation of truth, and truth is often a painful topic for discussion. But my main purpose here is to say a few final words of parting, but such few and final words often grow into lengthy digressions. Heaven forbid! May I say again in declaring the Doghouse in permanent adjournment that it has been a lot of fun being with you. Happy vacationing and good luck always, everywhere.

The one ring circus was visiting a town in the hills. The folks there recognized all the instruments of the band except the slide trombone.

One old settler watched the player for quite some time, then, turning to his son, said, "Don't let on that you're watching him. There's a trick to it; he ain't really swallerin' it."

also time for your Kitten to bid farewell to the word-worn Yarn. We will tie the knot with a final purr of thanks — to the faculty, for taking a lot of good-natured ribbing as such; to the rest of the M&G staff, especially my assistant, Audrey Terrel, for much needed confidence and encouragement; to the many people who volunteered bits of news each week; and last but not least, to all of you readers who were kind enough to stick by the Kitten, even when the Yarn was pretty weak in spots! A sad so-long to the graduating seniors. Sunny vacation to the rest of you!

Susquehanna U. Nine Trampled 5 to 1 in Husky Victory March

The Huskies won their fifth straight on May 2 by defeating Susquehanna University at Selinsgrove, 5-1, although the Suskies out hit the Huskies 8-5.

Henry Brunn pitched the whole game for the Bloomsburg team, scattering the eight hits, and allowing the only run to cross in the fourth. He fanned four and walked none.

The Husky batsmen made doubles of three of their five hits, two of them coming successively in the sixth to put across the Huskies' third run.

A single by Slobozien and a double by Hummel in the seventh ran in the fourth run, Hummel scoring later on an error.
