Student Production of "Barretts, Wimpole St." Receives Wide Acclaim

The Bloomsburg Players presented their interpretation of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" on March 30, 1950, in Carver Auditorium under the direction of Miss Alice Johnston. This production was acclaimed as one of the greatest successes ever presented by the college group.

"The Barretts of Wimpole Street," by Rudolf Beiser, is one of the best-known dramas of the American stage. It tells the immortal love story of Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning, hampered by the struggle of Elizabeth and the rest of the Barrett family to escape the tyranny of their father, Edward Barrett. A helpless invalid for many years, Elizabeth, through her literary work and her correspondence with literary people, came to know and to love Robert Browning. Through her love and determination, she gained the physical and moral strength to defy her father's opposition to her marriage. She finally left his house, pointing the way for her brothers and sisters to follow her in rebellion.

The role of Elizabeth Barrett was excellently portrayed by Nancy Powell; the part of Robert Browning was capably performed by Thomas Anthony. The force of the domineering personality of Edward Barrett was vividly presented to the audience by Robert Sickinger. Henrietta Barrett was played by Audrey Terrell. Excellent comedy performances were given by Aleki Comuntzis as Wilson, the maid, and by freshman Joanne Cuff, as Bella Hedley. Charles Roberts, James Ciavaglia, George Smith, James Creasy, Frank Dean, Richard Gloeckler, Richard Powell, Calvin Kanyuck, and "Smudge" Reams.

The scene was laid in 1845 in the sitting room of the Barrett home at 50 Wimpole Street, in London.

The production staff was as follows: Business Managers — Dick Kressler, Frank Dean; Stage Committee — Paul Keener, Dave North, Harry Brooks, Katherine Graham, Eleanor Poust, Janet Price, Priscilla Abbott, Barbara Sherman, Hank Marini, Phil Weinstein; Publicity—Marilyn Greenly, Mary Anna Wright, Kay Chapin, Lila Savage; Property Committee — Lucy Jane Baker, Robert Jewell, James Whimbley; Holders of the Book — Russell Davis, Eleanor Poust, Jean Ruckle, Diane Snyder. Musical numbers before curtain time and between acts was furnished on the organ by Mr. Howard Fenstermacher.

Waller Hall Women Choose New Governing Board at Dorm Party

The Waller Hall women held a Dorm Party April twenty-ninth at which time the new officers and members of the Waller Hall Governing Board were announced. In a customary ceremony the old members of the Governing Board presented the newly-elected members with flowers, after which refreshments were served in the second floor lobby.

A pet show, of the girls' favorite stuffed animals, was displayed in the third floor lobby. Prizes were awarded on the basis of size, humor, cuteness and originality. After the girls had seen the display they went to the fourth floor where the entertainment was held. Each floor was represented in the program which was interspersed with group singing. Hearty congratulations go to the refreshment and entertainment committees for the marvelous job they did to make the evening an enjoyable one for all.

'Lil Abners Display Corsages . . .

Survey Studies Reveal Teacher Placement Records at Bloomsburg

Earl N. Rhodes, former Director of Teacher Training and Placement, began a study about eight years ago of the placement of Bloomsburg State Teachers College graduates. This study has been continued by President Harvey A. Andruss, who has made a five-year survey covering 518 graduates from 1941 to 1945, a three-year survey covering 275 graduates from 1946 to 1948, and now has completed an additional survey of 225 graduates for the year 1949. Mr. Rhodes' study concerned the placement of 1025 degree graduates and together with Dr. Andruss' survey constitute a total of 2040 graduates of B.S.T.C. who have been followed up in terms of employment.

The survey of the 1949 class shows that 91% of those available for positions have been placed — 76% in teaching and 15% in other occupations. Twenty-two of the 225 graduating were not available for placement having enrolled in graduate schools for the Master's Degree, or in curriculums other than those in which they had recently graduated for extended certification.

For the four years since the war, beginning in 1946 and including 1949, the over-all placement picture shows a placement of 94% with 84% in teaching, and 11% in other occupations. Married women who had not taught or had other employment, students enrolled in graduate schools at the time of the survey, the small number of unemployed, and those from whom no information could be secured, amount to less than 10%. This is an excellent placement record.

L.S.A. Students Plan Roller Skating Party And Picnic May 1

A roller-skating party at Spring Brook Park was planned for the next meeting of the Lutheran Students on Monday, May 1. If the weather permits, a picnic lunch will be held first in the park. At the final meeting on May 15, officers for the coming year will be elected.

Dick Kressler presided at the business meeting following the supper on Monday night. It was decided to contribute five dollars more to the contribution of twenty-five dollars for regional expenses. Marilyn Greenly led group singing and Emory Rarig, the worship service. Robert Maza, Marianna Wright, and Jane Konvin also contributed to the worship. After dish-washing, part of the group went to the movies.

Duo-Pianists Featured In Last Civic Music Association Concert

This concert, as the last of the Civic Music Association series for the season, was undoubtedly one of the best ever presented. The most heavily-booked duo-piano team in the world today, Luboshutz and Nemenoff have achieved a record unparalleled by any other duo-pianists. They are the only team who appear frequently under the baton of Toscanini and with such orchestras as the Boston Symphony, the Philadelphia Orchestra and New York Philharmonic Symphony Society every year. In addition to their contribution as performers, these two fine artists have greatly enriched two piano literatures by the rediscovery of many works long neglected by duo-pianists and by the many beautiful arrangements by Laboshutz for two pianos.

A capacity crowd in the Bloomsburg High School Auditorium Tuesday night, March 28th was thrilled by the brilliant performance of Pierre Luboshutz and Genia Nemenoff, duo-pianists.

"Now Comes the Gentle Savior" by Bach and arranged for two pianos by Mr. Luboshutz was the first number on the program. Following this, the piano team played Mozart's brilliant "Sonata in D Minor." Other selections were "Roudo" by Chopin, "Suite Champetre" by Rieti, and a bit of the modern, "Scaramouche Suite" by Darius Milhaud. The audience called the pianists back for three encores, the last of which was the familiar "Firefly."

"American Business Education" Features Article by Dr. Andruss

The leading article in the current issue of AMERICAN BUSINESS EDUCATION, "Appraising Achievement in Bookkeeping and Accounting" was written by Dr. Harvey A. Andruss, college president.

This particular issue was distributed to members of the National Business Teachers Association and the Eastern Business Teachers Association at the annual convention in Boston.

"If we are to improve the book-keeping ability of students," writes Dr. Andruss, "We would do well to consider these things:

- (1) What does business want?
- (2) Can fairly valid prognostic procedures be developed to determine who will be able to keep books?
- (3)

Tonight's Annual Junior Prom Ushers In Spring Activities at B.S.T.C.

High School Students Here Tomorrow for F.T.A. Open House

An Open-House for high school students of the Bloomsburg Service Area will be held tomorrow, April 22nd, sponsored by the Future Teachers of America. One hundred twenty students, almost equally representing the secondary, elementary and business curriculums, have indicated their desire to attend.

The program will include: Registration at 9:30, Welcome by President Andruss at 10:00 followed by a preview of the Obiter Show and a movie on Future Teachers of America; from 11:00 to 12:00 Campus tours will be conducted. Lunch will be served in the college dining room. The afternoon schedule will include the movie on life at Bloomsburg, and the track meet or baseball game.

Each member of F.T.A. has been given three or four guests, whom he will personally guide around campus and take to lunch. The whole program has been planned to make each student feel at home and to give him a taste of college life at Bloomsburg.

Jane Kevlin is general chairman of the Open House with Mildred Wagner and Doyle Johnson assisting her. Other members of the F.T.A. who have worked on this project are John Czerniakowski, Nerrine Middlesworth, and Jim Boyle. The registrars will be Beverly Cole and Audrey Terrel. Go-betweens, who help the visitors find their hosts or hostesses, will be Madelyn Schalles, Kit Graham, Paul Plevyak, and Jim Boyle. The Hospitality Committee headed by Dick Kressler will serve as guides. Several freshmen who have consented to help are Lena Ann Cacia, Marie Miller, Madge Felker, Rosella Danilo, and Janet Mosier.

B-Club Holds Card Party for Faculty Members and Students

A card party for faculty and students was held by the B-Club at Miss MacCammon's house on Monday, April 17. White Elephants were used for prizes. Over fifty guests attended to play canasta, bridge, and pinocle. Muriel Wagner and Agnes Valimont were in charge of tickets and Frances Carchair was hostess. Card tables were contributed by Purcells and Mr. Nelson. Miss Mettler and Mrs. Mulford also helped to make the party a success.

The bake sale held by members of the B-Club on Thursday, April 13 in the College lounge was also very successful. Two cakes were chanced off. Miss MacDonald, assistant dean of women, won the first prize and Terry Cierlitsky second. Eloise Symons and Betty Ann Walters were co-chairmen of the event.

These two projects were held for the benefit of the B-Club trip to Eagles Mere and other club projects. The weekend at Eagles Mere, May 12, 13, and 14 will be for B-Club members or any girl who has earned a total of 800 points this year; excursion trips are being planned to High Knob, Kuptons Observatory and Phipps State. Alumni members of the B-Club are being asked for contributions for the trip or to take the trip if possible.

At present baseball and volley ball teams are being organized for tournament play. Team points may be earned by students who are interested in going to Eagles Mere.

Campus Males To Steal Spotlight as Joe College Reigns Tonight on "The Hill"

This evening the Junior class will sponsor the annual Junior Prom in Centennial Gymnasium. The dance will be a unique affair in that it will be held in honor of a male member of the college community.

In the B.S.T.C. annals are recorded events honoring Queens of the Ball, Campus Queens, Campus Coeds and such feminine personalities. Last year, the Sophomores chose a Queen and King of Hearts at their Sophomore Cotillion. But no one recalls any affair at which a student of the male sex has reigned. Tonight that tradition will be broken.

Two weeks ago, a nominating committee, composed of two coeds from each of the Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, and Senior Classes, chose nine outstanding masculine personalities from B.S.T.C. as candidates for Joe College. These nine include James Klemen, a senior from Ashland; Dick Wagner, a senior from Nescopeck; Walt Zorn, a junior, Lansdowne; Romeo Danni, a junior, Allentown; Robert LePard, a junior, Lansdowne; John Stonik, sophomore, Baltimore; John Pepper, sophomore, Kulpmont; Robert Miller, sophomore, Sunbury; Robert Bruchs, sophomore, Hazleton; James Creasy, freshman, Bloomsburg; and Charles Brennan, freshman, Towanda.

In assembly on Thursday, April 20, the student body were given ballots to vote and elected Joe College. His identity has been held in extreme secrecy, and is known only to Russell Davis, chairman of the theme committee, and Dr. Kimber Kuster, the class sponsor.

At this evening's dance, the long-awaited for announcement will be made and Nancy Unger, Forty Fort, will officially designate the winner of the title of Joe College. Earlier this year, Miss Unger was selected Coed of the Year by John Robert Powers.

Music for the Prom will be provided by Lee Vincent and his orchestra, with dancing from nine to midnight. Under the general supervision of Walter Zorn, junior class president, the following juniors acted as committee chairmen in planning the event: Dance, Robert Wire; Orchestra, Robert Le Pard; Decorations, Rita Dixon and Richard Kressler; Refreshments, Mary Ann Alarcon; Invitations, Jane Sheetz; Tickets, George Reck; Theme, Russell Davis; and Publicity, Marie Mattis.

Annual College Fashion Show To Feature Early Century Styles

A review of the fashions of the beginning of the century will be the feature of the Annual Spring Fashion Show staged by the Bloomsburg State Teachers College Friday evening, May fifth as the opening feature of the annual High School Commercial Contest which will be held the following day, Saturday, May sixth.

Spring and summer fashions will be paraded before anticipated capacity audiences at 3:00 P.M. and 8:15 P.M. The matinee performance will be held for a special audience of high school students from area schools and women guests who attend the Spring Reunion of the Caldwell Consistory. The evening performance will be for college students and the general public.

Twelve cooperating merchants include Arcus Women's Shop, the Dixie Shops, W. T. Grant Company, Davis-on Furniture Store, Dorothy Kashner

Retardation Vs. Wholesale Promotion

What shall it be? Shall we give our millions of school children an easy passport to promotion and pay, or shall we make them sweat their time out, with the sword of failure over their heads?

I believe that there is too much punishment in the schools. It is a known fact that reward is much more effective than punishment as a stimulant for learning; yet we continue to stunt educational growth by resorting to the widespread use of an inferior stimulant.

"Failure is a salted wound that burns, and burns again." Not only does retardation stunt educational growth, but it has very unfavorable psychological repercussions on the personality of the individual involved. A person is the sum total of everything he has done, and everything that has happened to him in the past. Sam Jones isn't just Sam Jones; he is Sam Jones who passed the sixth grade with honors, or Sam Jones who failed the sixth grade. Failure carries with it a stigma, and this stigma is perceived not only by others, but also by the one who has failed. Others look upon him as a "failure"; he looks upon himself as a "failure." At this point the batter goes up to the plate with two strikes against him.

I am not suggesting the elimination of retardation in all situations; nor am I suggesting the initiation of wholesale promotion—promotion regardless of effort or achievement. Let the action fit the situation. Balance the account and come to a decision. If the pupil has failed to meet the requirements of a certain class so utterly that permitting him to advance to the next class would be more detrimental to him than beneficial, then retard him. If he has met the requirements generally, but has failed to measure up in one or two subjects, promote him, but with this reservation: If the subject in which he has failed to meet the standard is considered important for his future well being; and/or if success in his next class depends on his meeting this standard, then extra work and extra effort, on this subject, must be expended. This can be accomplished in the following ways:

1. The parents can be called in for consultation. Too many parents shift the total responsibility of education on to the schools. Familiarize the parents with the situation. Make them see its importance. Orient them on how they can help their child over this obstacle in his path. Let them take the teacher's place during the summer vacation in guiding and supervising their child's studies. Show them where he is weak, and where he needs improvement. Individual instruction from cooperative and intelligent parents can be more beneficial than mass instruction from a disinterested public-school-teacher.

2. If there is a summer-session in effect, the child can attend this. The class should consist of others in like-situation. Marks should be dispensed with, to contribute to a relaxed learning situation. Individual difficulties can be investigated and solved.

3. If the subject is not one in which standards have to be met in order to go on to advanced study in the next grade, the child can attend a special class for extra help while he is pursuing his regular course of studies in the next semester. There should be year-round classes in operation especially for this purpose. They should not take up too much of the student's time, since he will have enough work on his hands as it is; and should meet at a time which will not conflict with his other class meetings. Perhaps one evening a week for the year would serve the purpose. Here again, I believe marks should be dispensed with.

It is agreed that the curriculum should be adapted to the capacities, interests and needs of the pupil; that we should not stretch the pupil here, and chop him off there to fit the curriculum. In this respect, wouldn't it be advantageous to have different levels of instruction for the same subject-course? Group A, group B, and group C — to accommodate the bright, average, and slow students, respectively.

Life is a process of adjustment. Education is a process of adjustment. The successful person is the happy person; and the happy person is the successful person. If we can foster this happy-successful adjustment through reward rather than punishment, and if this can be effected through promotion as opposed to retardation, then I say, "Put the accent on promotion." If we must use retardation, let us use it wisely, and economically. (mk)

Hope

As we draw aside the curtains on Life's turbulent sea,
There's a light in the window flashing out for you and me.

Softly by the Reefs and in his Loving care
We'll reach the golden Shore bedecked with Jewels rare.

Memory flashes back across the way
The clouds lurid dark without a single ray.

Dreams of the mystic future and what is to be Dreams of Sunken Ships on Life's rocking sea.

The tempest and kiss of rain upon the twig and leaf
Joy is watered by the tears of pain
How beautiful the sunshine after the rain. (em)

Humphrey Doulens in Assembly Program

From Nob Hill, San Francisco, and 57th Street, New York City to BSTC came Humphrey Doulens—"The Rich Man's Salmaggi."

During Thursday's assembly, Mr. Doulens kept his audience amused by recounting a great variety of experiences. Indeed, it is hard to believe that one personality can shape itself to fit into so many roles.

Not only has Mr. Doulens been tour manager for Lily Pons and Grace Moore, but he has contributed to "Variety" and "Newsweek" as well as many nationally-read newspapers. He is as much at home in fashionable Washington as he is in a circus train.

Combining curiosity and discretion, Mr. Doulens has a cheerful and refreshing outlook upon life.

Waller Girls Capture Pinochle Championship

The Pinochle Tournament has finally come to a close after several weeks of matching wits and counting on Fate. Two women outplayed every one of the players in the tournament which consisted of both men and women of the College Community. Two West Hazleton students, both residents of Waller Hall, Rita Dixon and Patricia Kringe copped the 1950 Pinochle Championship. The contest was held in the Waller Hall Lounge during the past several weeks. The women showed nearly 100 men and women players the way to snare championships in such a tourney.

Science Conference To Be Held at Barnard College April 28, 29

Presentation of papers on original scientific research by undergraduate students will be a unique feature of the Eastern College Science Conference to be held at Barnard College on Friday and Saturday, April 28 and 29. The Conference, which will be attended by delegates from over 100 Eastern colleges and universities, is designed to promote a free exchange of scientific research and thought among undergraduates.

Plans have been made for delegates to make trips to such scientific points of interest as the New York museums, Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center, the nutritional laboratories at Teachers Colleges, and the Columbia University laboratories and cyclotron. Demonstrations and exhibits in botany, chemistry, geology, psychology, physics, and zoology have also been arranged.

Guest speakers at the Conference will include Dr. Louis Feiser of Harvard University, Professor Aubrey Grbman of Barnard College, Dr. Norbert Weiner of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Dr. Paul Smith of Columbia University, and Dr. Edward N. Condon, director of the National Bureau of Standards, U. S. Department of Commerce.

After registering on Friday morning, the delegates will meet at one o'clock for the opening session in Barnard Hall where they will receive orientation instructions and hear a welcoming address by Barnard's Dean Millicent C. McIntosh. Field trips to various points of scientific interest will follow. On Friday evening Dr. Feiser of Harvard will discuss "Malaria," and Professor Gorbman of Barnard will speak on "Effects of Radioactivity on the Thyroid Gland."

On Saturday morning student papers in the fields of biology, physics, and organic and inorganic chemistry will be read. In the afternoon, delegates may observe demonstrations and exhibits in Barnard College laboratories, listen to addresses on "Cybernetics" and "Where is Math Going?" by Dr. Weiner of M.I.T. and Dr. Smith of Columbia University respectively, view a film on psychology, or watch a glass blowing demonstration by Mr. Karl Schumann. A faculty reception, a business meeting, and a banquet will follow.

On Saturday night at 9 P.M. Dr. Edward N. Condon of the National Bureau of Standards will discuss "A Physicist's Impressions of Science in India."

Have You Heard?

by Marie Mattis

Back to B.S.T.C. By the time this column is published, very few people will remember the recent Easter vacation. Nevertheless, there was such a vacation . . . Welcome back!

A number of students were grateful to Doctor North for withholding grades until everyone was safely back on campus. As a result, unhappy Easter vacations were eliminated and "B.S.T.C.ers" were saved a lot of hare tearing . . . oops, hair tearing.

The day of the dance has finally arrived tonight, in the Centennial Gymnasium, the juniors will hold their Junior Prom. The highlight of the evening will occur when the identity of Joe College is revealed. If the sale of tickets proves anything, the affair promises to be the most well-attended dance of the year. Don't miss it . . . it's also the last dance of the year.

Fashion Forecaster of the M&G staff, Dot Cedor, was recently engaged to Francis McNamee, a senior here at B.S.T.C. We predict a happy future! Are you a stranger? A pre-vacation issue of the M&G contained an article telling how to get to know yourself. Recently a self-evaluation test was prepared by Lloyd Derrickson. Mr. Derrickson says that unless you are able to answer the following twelve questions without hesitating, you'd better start getting acquainted with yourself.

1. How many teeth do you have?
2. How many letters in your name?
3. What are the Christian names of your grandparents?
4. Which side of your face do you powder or shave first?
5. What size glove do you wear?
6. What is your social security number?
7. How tall are you in stocking feet?
8. What color are your eyes?
9. What size hat do you take?
10. What was your first grade teacher's name?
11. What was the surname of your first sweetheart?
12. Exactly how much money do you have in your pocket?"

Daffynition. A columnist is a writer who has big I's, jeers, No's, and mouth.

Dean Hoch Attends Career Conference

Recently John A. Hoch, dean of men, represented Bloomsburg State Teachers College at the Career Conference of the Shamokin High School sponsored by the Shamokin Rotary Club. Dean Hoch served as counselor to two groups of students interested in the teaching profession. Walter S. Rygiel, of the Department of Business Education, also attended the conference and served as consultant to the group interested in the various occupations in the field of Secretarial Science. General chairman in charge of the Shamokin affair was Kenneth R. Kinney, Guidance Director, of the Shamokin High School.

Scranton University Here for Track Meet Tomorrow Afternoon

Tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Husky thinclads will make their second appearance of the season on the home track, this time with the powerful University of Scranton as the opposition. The meet promises to be a thriller, so let's have a big turnout.

At two-thirty o'clock, the Maroon and Gold nine will take on the Mansfield diamond squad. Seeking their third successive victory of the campaign, the Huskies will have to display plenty of fight to down the visiting tutors. The battle will be staged on Mount Olympus.

"That's a beautiful watch your wearing. Does it tell time, too?"
"No, you have to look at it."

by Harry Brooks

BASEBALL . . . By walloping the Kings College Monarchs last Saturday afternoon in Kingston by a 6-0 count, the Husky swatters gained another notch in their present win streak. Last year the Maroon and Gold nine pounded out thirteen successive decisions. Saturday's victory marked the fourteenth straight win . . . Last week's battle was one of those on and off affairs for several days because of the weather. Kings wanted to cancel the battle contending that they were unprepared to open the season. We all know how it turned out though . . . Several of the teams listed on B.S.T.C.'s schedule are reported to be stronger than in previous years, so plenty of action will be seen on Mt. Olympus this next month and a half . . . Last Saturday's battle was played in real football weather, but it didn't appear to mar the pitching or batting of the locals. Incidentally, the new faces on the squad show great promise for this season and the coming years on College Hill . . . Major league clubs also opened the curtain on the baseball season early this week. Should the performers that are on the sick list during the early part of this campaign continue to ail throughout part of the season early this week. Should the performers that are on the sick list Watch Luke Easter, Indian outfielder, Erv Noren, Washington star, and Dale Coogan, nineteen year old Pittsburgh first sacker for Rookie of the Year awards . . .

Track . . . Cheney State Teachers College track squad is reported to have its best entry in ten years . . . The only thing the Huskies will lack is experience. Most observers feel that the local thinclads will cop their share of meets despite the tough schedule during the coming five weeks . . . If the warm weather continues, the track should soon be in fine running condition. With a good track, there is a definite possibility that new records will be set with some of the top runners coming to B.S.T.C. . . .

Around the circuit . . . Congratulations to the stellar Husky football ace, Steve Kriss who inked a Pittsburgh Steeler contract several days ago. Steve, the Bloomsburg flash, will report to the professional pigskin squad when they prepare to train late in the summer . . . The final basketball contest of the season was played last week. The two teams pitted against each other were the Maroon and the Gold league winners . . . Intramural volleyball started its month-long grind last Tuesday to determine the best on the court and over the net. Several teams are entered into the circuit . . . Also softball under the direction of Dr. Satterfield will take one of the spring spotlights within the next few days . . .

As the regular college year winds into its last five weeks of activity, a look into the coaching records thus far indicates that the group now directing athletics on College Hill have turned out better squads accumulatively than ever before in B.S.T.C. history. The rebuilding process after the war has now taken form, and results to this point are probably much better than it was anticipated. Let's hope the present spree of victories in all sports continues, and with the fine coaching staff and type of player talent, there is no reason why it shouldn't.

Raiders Beat Packers To Capture Men's Intramural Crown

The Raiders of the Gold League, who were undefeated in regular league competition, laced the Packers titlists in the Maroon circuit — 38 to 27 on Thursday, April 13, to become the Men's Intramural Basketball Champions for 1950. Persing, Williams and Kzanznak each garnered 9 points for the winners where Gallo with 9 counters and Bob Wamer with 8 were high point-getters for the losing Packers.

Wednesday, April 12, the final regular league game of the season was played. This game — between the Packers and the Red Raiders — was won by the Red Raiders 24-20. Pedrick with 8 markers and Morrison with 6 were high for the victors where both Lundy and Bob Warner got 6 points for the losers. These two teams ended up the regular season as leaders in their loop, with the packers in the first position by one game over the Red Raiders.

Women's Intramural Basketball Final Thursday Night

The final play-off of the Women's Intra-Mural Basketball Tournament will be held Thursday night at Open House. Teams slated to play for the championship are Dorsey vs. Young, both teams having a 6 win 1 loss standing. The game will be refereed by a town resident.

Present standings of teams are:

	W	L	T
Dorsey	6	1
Young	6	1
Arnold	5	2
Dixon	5	2
Kistler	1	5	1
Petraltis	1	5	1
Brace	1	6
Plliscott	1	6

Final champs will be announced next week. Also, high scorers for the year!

It was a sleepy spring day in English class. The professor was calling roll and to each name someone answered, "Here" until the name of Johnson was called. The professor called the name again. Silence. Then the professor raised his eyes and spoke: "My word, hasn't Mr. Johnson any friends here?"

Steve Kriss Signs Contract To Play with Pittsburgh Steelers

It's Pittsburgh bound for Steve Kriss, senior, who was recently signed by the professional football Steelers. He will report to the Steelers training quarters at Cambridge Springs, Pa. during the latter part of July.

Kriss, who hails from Berwick, played two years of varsity football at Berwick High School and four seasons at the college. Throughout his high school and college career, Steve played right half back.

The title of triple-threat could often be applied to Kriss, because of his versatility in being able to run, pass, or kick in an excellent manner. During the season he frequently demonstrated his shiftiness by neat sidestepping of opponent tacklers.

The outstanding incident which gave Steve his greatest pleasure on the gridiron took place in a game with Shippensburg during the 1948 season. The Huskies were behind 7-6 with 3 minutes to play. With the ball in Bloom's possession, Kriss hit Geo. Paternoster, end, with a spot pass

Hurler's 1-Hit Colonels In 6-0 Season's Opener

Bob Redman's Husky baseball team opened the 1950 season successfully Saturday by blanking King's, 6-0, at Wilkes-Barre behind the one hit pitching of four hurlers.

Mike Evans, Bill Byham, Henry Brunn and Bill Savage combined to twirl the victory that extended the college win streak to 14 games over a period of two years.

Byham, who pitched the fifth, sixth and seventh innings, gave up the only hit, a clean single between third and short by Herman Brunn, brother of the Husky pitcher.

and George went all the way for the score. The final score was 13-7 and helped the Huskies complete an undefeated season.

The 5 ft. 11 inch, 180 pounder appreciates the fine assistance given him by Coach Redman and assistants Hoch, Satterfield and Maley. The entire College Community takes pride in wishing Steve Kriss luck and success in his new adventure in professional football.

The 1950 version of the Bloomsburg baseball machine raised the curtain on the new diamond season with a brilliant shutout victory over Kings College at Wyoming Seminary Field last Saturday afternoon. Four Husky hurlers yielded but one hit to the opposition while the locals were collecting six big runs on seven hits, including Dick Hummel's triple. Continuing their winning ways, the Huskies made a successful home debut at the expense of the Lock Haven Teachers. The big bat of Don Butler spoke loud and often as Husky stickmen battered three Lock Haven pitchers for eleven runs with as many hits. Scrappy Don Butler picked out a first inning three-two pitch and blasted it to very deep right field for a home run with two mates aboard. Mike Evans, the next batter, was not to be outdone, however. He lifted a mighty blow to deep left center good for four bases. The Huskies mustered four runs in the first frame and were never headed.

Capt. Paul Buskey, Middlebury, '38 Air Intelligence, U.S. Air Force

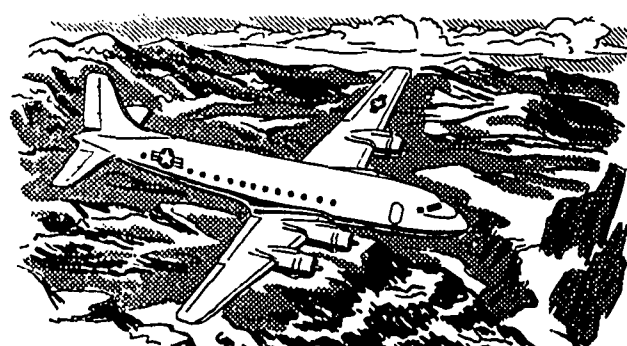

An excellent student at Middlebury College, Vermont, Paul found time to win the coveted All Sports Trophy in his senior year. He graduated in June, 1938.

He then joined a coated paper mill firm as research and control man. Pearl Harbor changed all that—Paul went to Maxwell Field to begin Aviation Cadet training.

An outstanding Cadet, 2nd Lt. Paul Buskey was held over as an instructor after graduation. Then he was assigned as a pilot in the Air Transport Command.

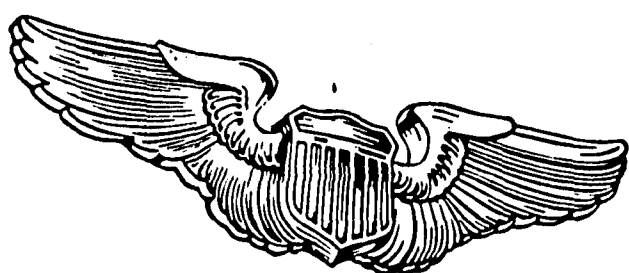

His big plane education was topped with 23 missions over the far-famed "Hump," flying C-54 transports. After V-J Day, he stayed on in the Far East until March of 1948—specializing in Air Intelligence.

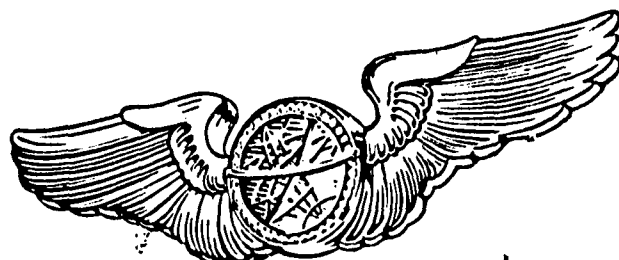

Back home, after accepting a Regular Air Force Commission, Captain Buskey went to Air Tactical school, was there rated an outstanding student, and won assignment to Command and Staff school.

Today, Captain Buskey is an Air Intelligence Officer on MATS Headquarters Staff at Andrews Air Force Base near Washington, D. C. He looks forward to a rewarding future in the U. S. Air Force.

If you are single, between the ages of 20 and 26½, with at least two years of college, consider the many career opportunities as a pilot or navigator in the U. S. Air Force. Procurement Teams are visiting many colleges and universities to explain these career opportunities. Watch for them. You may also get full details at your nearest Air Force Base or U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station, or by writing to the Chief of Staff, U. S. Air Force, Att: Aviation Cadet Branch, Washington 25, D. C.

Speaking of the virus that's been flooring us all.
"I was in bed with 102 — Boy, was it crowded."

If I had 2 books, I'd give you one.
If I had 2 cars, I'd give you —
If I had two blondes —
Yes.
How would you like another book.

"Why do you close your eyes when you kiss me? she whispered tenderly in his ear."
"What'd you want me to do, laugh my head off?"

Reading is good for me
When I read health books, I feel healthy
When I read adventure books, I feel adventurous
Last night I read a love book
"How do you feel?"
Exhausted.

"Darling, will you answer now? I must know — will you marry me?"

"No, Freddie, but while you're down there, be a sweet thing and straighten the strap on my slipper, will you?"

Ray: "I knew those damned scientists would do it if they kept fooling around."

Gracie: "Now what have they done?"

Ray: "They've discovered something besides liquor to take for a cold."

The stage setting for the show promises to be unique and will be based on the design of a room in the girls' dormitory.

The twenty-three Bloomsburg coeds selected to serve as models are Mary Lou Todd, Annabelle Brobst, Susan Dreibelbis, Joanne Vanderslice, Laura Philo, and Annetta Deussen, all from Bloomsburg; Joyce Mac Dougall, Dorothy Cedor, Helyn Burlingame, all from Berwick; Joan Grazel, Shenandoah; Barbara Sherman, Benton; Elvira Thompson, Wilkes-Barre; Elizabeth Patton, Wyalusing; Mildred Pliscott, Exeter; Kathleen Mitchell, Mahanoy City; Kathleen Buss, Watstown; Olive Mowery, Mt. Carmel; Vivian Carey, Carbondale; Joan Enama, Nuremburg; Ann Conwell, Wilkes-Barre; Mildred Mervine, Ashland; and Lois Dzuris, Nanticoke.

Nancy Wesenyak, Duryea, will again serve as fashion coordinators, while Nancy Swartz, Forty Fort, will be the assistant fashion coordinator. Betty Ridall, Town Hill, has been named chairman of the group of store coordinators.

The Doctor was warning Riley that if he did not have his tonsils out he was likely to suffer all manner of diseases. Then, he listed the possibilities, winding up with quinsy.
"Oh, not that," shuddered Riley, "I've read the Quinsy Report."

This is dumb animal week! Every dollar I earn this week I'm giving to the horses.
