Business Ed. Club Elects New Officers For 1950-51 Term

The Business Education Club elections of its 1950-51 officers were held on Thursday, May 4, 1950 in Navy Hall Auditorium at the regular biweekly meeting. Ed Messa, President of the Club, presided over the meeting. He credited the nominating committee, composed of Sue Dreibiibis, Chairman, Gerald Bacon, Harry Coleman, and Wilma Jones, for the ballot submitted. After opportunity was given to make nominations from the floor, the election was held. Nominees for the offices were: President, Robert Merrifield, John Ryan, Charles Woll; Vice-President, Gerald Bacon, Laura Philo, Homer Ziegler; Secretary, Ruth Glidden, Barbara Harman, Agnes Valimont; Treasurer, Dale Bennett, Richard Knause, Charles Pease: Historian, Nancy Swartz, Barbara Frederick, Richard Powell. Plans to install the elected officers at the Business Education Banquet were announced.

Banquet plans and ticket sales announcements were made by Richard Powell and President Messa. The 20th Anniversary Banquet of Business Education Department to be held by the club was announced as planned to be held at the Bloomsburg Elks Club on Wednesday, May 10.

Club advisor, Mr. Rygiel, urged attendance at the banquet to take part in the worthwhile program planned by the committee. He also stated that the club annals will be distributed at this banquet.

Capacity Audiences Witness Staging of Annual Fashion Show

The Fourth Annual Fashion Show on Friday, May 5, in Carver Auditorium, marked another outstanding success for the Business Department of B.S.T.C. The fashion show was staged as a feature of the Eighteenth Annual Commercial Contest, which was held on Saturday, May 6.

Under the direction of Charles H. Henrie, instructor of retail selling, the show was presented by the classes in retail selling in a matinee performance at 3 p.m. to high school students and women guests and in an evening performance at 8:15 p.m. to the college community and guests. Both showings were made to capacity audiences.

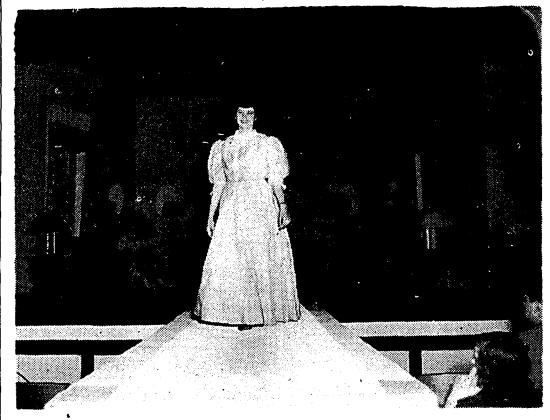

B.S.T.C.'s most graceful and charming lassies modeled dresses, gowns, hats, bathing suits, and sport togs from Bloomsburg's leading stores. The models were: Barbara Sherman, Nancy Swartz, Kathleen Mitchell, Joyce Macdougall, Madelyn Schalles, Dorothy Cedor, Mary Lou Todd, Annabelle Brobst, Elvira Thomsen, Vivian Carey, Joan Enama, Ann Conwell, Lois Dzuris, Helyn Burlingame, Susan Dreibelbis, Delphine Buss, Joanne Vanderslice, Joan Grazell, Mildred Pliscott, Olive Anetta Deussen, Elizabeth Patton, Laura Philo, Mildred Mervine, and Anetta Deussen. Children's clothing was modeled by Mary Jo Steinhart, Charles Swank. Maryanne Thomas, Linda Macneal, Jill McDowell, Charles Robbins, Naomi Eble, Christin Katerman, Sally Keller, Barbara Gehrig.

Nancy Wesenyak acted as fashion coordinator. She was assisted by Nancy Swartz.

The setting for the fashion show was the lounge ot a women's dormitory. Stage furniture was from Davison's Furniture Store, and the stage decorating was by the Mackay Home Decorators.

A special feature of the mid-century show was a review of fashions from the turn of the century, showing what the well-dressed coed wore in 1900. Customs and rules of the (Continued on page 3)

Women's Chorus In Outstanding College Assembly Program

The Women's Chorus presented an outstanding program in last Tuesday's assembly period. This program was a welcome change from the preceding assembly entertainment which had humorous themes.

The Women's Chorus has proven itself to be an asset to the college community in that it has made sizable cultural and social contributions during the past year. The fine Christmas program given by the Men's Glee Club and the Women's Chorus is remembered as one of the highlights of the year's entertainment.

College Council Makes Proposed Revisions In C. Ĝ. A. Constitution

As an organization grows, so must its Constitution, and for this reason provision is made for amending such a document. Feeling that our Community Government Association has at least stretched at its seams a bit during this year, a committee of the College Council met to discuss possible revisions in the present Constitution of the Association. And so, the following changes are presented for the careful consideration of the entire college community before the matter is decided by ballot.

Consequently, one of the major mela Tarole, Elizabeth Reece, all changes was that of the rearrangement of the order of the various and carrying beautiful sprays of articles. A careful comparison of the revised text with that of the present form, as printed in "The Pilot," is urged.

Article VI has now fallen into the place of Article IV. Sections 1 and 2 of Article V have been placed as a new Article V. Article IX has now been proposed as Article VI. Thus, the first six articles of the proposed revision pertain entirely to matters of the Association.

Following this grouping fall the articles relating to the College Council organization and functiions. Article VII, as proposed, includes the present Article IV in its entirety as well as the latter section of Article

Article VIII, with slight revision, has been lifted from the present Ar1 ticle IX. Article IX, Elecetion, has also undergone a change in text, but is basically that of Article VIII of the present Constitution, Article X of the proposed revision is identical in text with present Article VII. Father Time Turns Back The Clock To Take Look At the Past Fifty Years

Members of the college community and town residents spent a joyous afternoon watching the colorful and entertaining Mid-Century May Day Event. American life, from 1900 to 1950, was the theme chosen for this outstanding event under the direction of Mrs. Robert B. Redman who was assisted by Miss Lucy McCammon, Benjamin Franklin School Staff, and Student Teachers.

The entrance of the Queen, Jane L. Keller, looking very cool and lovely in her white gown, and her Attendants-Susan Dreibelbis, Jane Kep-An orderly organization should ping, Lucy Jane Baker, Betty Ridall, Jeanne Kelder, Terry Cierlitsky, Carwearing stylish pastel-colored gowns spring flowers—set the keynote for the afternoon. The Triumphal March from "Aida" was played by the Maroon and Gold Band, Mr. Howard T. Fenstemaker conducting, as the lovely Queen and her Attendants entered escorted by flower bearers and pages, members of the Second Grade from the Benjamin Franklin Training School. Carol and Harold Shelly, both children fo Coach and Mrs. Shelly, presented the Queen's crown to Richard Wagner, our capable CGA President, who then proceeded to crown Miss Keller, the Queen; immediately after, the court seated themselves to enjoy the ensueing program.

Father Time turned back the hands of the Grandfather clock which denoted the span of the past fifty years. The year 1900 featured Horses by the Kindergarten; Floradora Girls by the fifth graders who wore pastel dresses and ostrich-feathered hats; and Folk Dancing by the third grade; all members of the Benjamin Franklin Training School.

The year 1910 depicted the Merry Oldsmobile by the sixth grade dressed in linen dusters and old-fashioned hats, Gypsies by the fifth grade who carried tambourines, and Tom Jones, a Sophomore at BSTC who played a selection entitled "Gloworm."

The year 1920 had two events—The Circus Glowns by the third grade wearing white costumes offset by red buttons and a selection by Andy Macieko entitled "The Man on the

Job Outlook For 1950 Graduates

With about 500,000 college students graduating this year—the largest number in our country's history—the job outlook for the new college graduates is generally good. It is not, however as good as in 1947 and

The outlook is clouded by three factors: the large number of graduates who will be seeking jobs; a moderate increase in the total number of unemployed persons; and the filling of war-created shortages of college graduates in some specified fields by the large graduating classes of 1948 and 1949.

Basically, the economy of the country is strong and there is a generaal concensus that production and employment will remain high during 1950. However, the big problem facing the economy is that of constantly providing more goods and services and utilizing fully a labor force that is growing at the rate of 600,000 to 700,000 workers a year. Even if employment continues during 1950 at about the same level as last year, as it is expected to do, unemployment will increase and jobs will be harder to find.

Graduates seeking information on expanding industries or sections of the country need to remember this basic fact: most of the jobs taken by this year's college graduates will be, as usual, those which have been vacated by other workers. Deaths and retirements at the top of the occupation ladder create the largest number of openings at the bottom. It follows that most of the openings will occur in the large industries and the areas where there are now the heaviest concentrations of employment.

To emphasize that most job opportunities occur as a result of turnover is not to belittle the number that arise through expansion. Growing markets, technological improvements, and the developments of new industries and additional services all create job openings for inexperienced workers with the proper training.

Employment in certain parts of the country is growing more rapidly than in others in the long-run. This is true on the West Coast, the South Atlantic region and Texas. However, the supply of workers in some of these areas — the West Coast for example — has increased more rapidly than job opportunities. Moreover, in rural areas of the country generally the need for workers in some of the professional fields is greater than in cities.

For many college graduates of the class of 1950, the fact that American industry is in a period of intense competition for markets will be the major reason for success in finding employment. Industry responds to competition by pushing advertising and sales efforts and by cutting production costs, streamlining operations, replacing obsolete equipment, and redesigning products and plants. These activities provide opportunities for professionally trained workers and for young and vigorous people with sales ability or imagination in the advertising field.

General observations about conditions in the job market tend to hide widely varying situations, Prospects are excellent in some occupations, industries, and areas. In others, where wartime and postwar shortages have now been filled, many graduates will find it difficult to get jobs.

In teaching, for example, there is at once an acute shortage of personnel in the elementary schools and a growing oversupply at the high school level. For the current school year, only one elementary teacher was trained for every three who were needed. On the other hand, four times as many students completed training for high school teaching as were required.

Other professional fields in which stiff competition for jobs is expected in the next few years include: law, journalism, and personnel work. In engineering, the number of graduates will exceed the number of openings in the early 1950's; after the next 4 or 5 years, the employment situation for new graduates is likely to improve in this rapidly growing profession. In chemistry, competition will be keen during the next few years among persons without graduate training; the outlook is better for those with graduate degrees.

There will probably also be an oversupply of business administration graduates. A surplus of new graduates has already developed in the field of accounting.

Liberal arts graduates with work experience or specialized training will find it easier to get jobs than those having only a general undergraduate education. Prospects for new entrants are good in health service occupations. There is a current shortage of nurses, and demand for nursing service will probably continue to rise. In medicine and dentistry those able to enter and complete training will have good opportunities; however, occupational therapists, and dietitians.

conditions as a whole are continuing good. In spite of this high level | ized skills. of business activity, the growing labor force and growing productivity Later articles in this series will give more information on the outlook may well result in high levels of unemployment. The picture for job in a number of these fields.

Babbling Brooks

by Harry Brooks

Seldom is an editorial written in this paper concerning the college itself, and even more seldom are they read by the college community, but with the closing of another year, it seems that one is necessary. Since little is known by this reporter as to who is responsible for our auditorium programs, this will be addressed, to whom it may concern:

Recently two sparkling talent shows presented by the Obiter and the Men's Glee Club have been presented in the auditorium for assembly programs. And looking back the week before that, we can all remember Humphrey Doulens, a professional speaker who rambled for over a half an hour about the life of someone little of us knew anything about, not because of ignorance, but because of age. On other days during the first and second semester, similar such programs were presented much to the dismay of most of the audience. Similiar programs like those given by the Obiter and the Men's Glee Club were also given.

A survey was taken by this reporter concerning the type of shows the students desired to witness. Here are See Broadway Shows the brief results: Student shows-16 votes, Professional shows-4 votes. If this be conclusive proof, why then, don't the many campus groups and organizations plan more such shows for the year, and then with the money saved which would ordinarily be spent on so-called professional shows, have a big-name orchestra for one dance of the year, or have some really big name entertainer in assembly. Is this out of the reach of Bloomsburg State Teachers College?

Don't forget the big dance tonight in the lounge. The entire college community is invited to the affair.

A quick glance at the calendar finds that not including those Saturday classes, there are only nine more school days for B.S.T.C. students.

And speaking of that editorial a few lines back, let's, just for a change have some student reaction concerning the idea if it is college-wide desired. How about it?

Professors Do Things—

Some people think that college teachers are "schmoos", to say the least. They believe that the extent of a professor's interests are occasional chairmanships of local cancer drives and the like. However, here at BSTC we are somewhat fortunate in having on our faculty some people with very versatile and interesting extra-curricular activities. They offer ample proof that college professors do do things.

Take for example the George Keller legend. (And it might well be called just that.) Mr. Keller started at the very bottom of show business and gradually worked himself up until he made a name for himself that is known throughout most of the United States and Canada. His animal act is really terrific, and draws hundreds of spectators at every exhibition. His stories about his personal experiences make Keller's classes much more interesting and practical than the ordinary "run of the mill" college class.

Then we have our well known photographer, Mr. De Voe. Besides an experienced linotype operator. He worked for Grit before accepting his position at the college. In his classes, as in Mr. Keller's, personal experiences enrich regular classroom material and make the work more digestible.

Who has not seen Brad Sterling buzzing about in his Aerocoupe at 2500 feet up? Mr. Sterling is one of the better liked instructors at the ing Broadway productions. > There is no particular moral to this feature. It is not intended to sing the praises of a few instructors. However, in this and succeeding similar articles, we will endeavor to give a cross-section of our faculty's hobbies and interests in the hope that you will be able to supplement your teacher's salary with the profits from your hobby, whatever it may be.

John Ursprung Here To Conduct Class On Yearbook Production

John Ursprung, of the Campus Publishing Company, will give a presentation of yearbook production in Room L, Waller Hall at 7:00 p.m., Wednesday, May 17, according to Joe Curilla, editor of Obiter 1950.

Mr. Ursprung will give details on proper yearbook planning, including the making of a dummy, preparation of pictures and copy, and making cover designs. He will also discuss types of printing and their relative merits in college and high school yearbook making.

Everyone is invited to attend Mr. Ursprung's address.

first-Lundy. Time-38.2.

The B.S.T.C. Huskies were forced to settle for a 1 to 1 tie in a game played at Mansfield on Thursday, May 4. The game was called officially at the end of eight innings.

However, the Huskies had scored two runs in the top of the ninth. In fact, Mansfield was a bat with one out in the last half of the ninth frame when the downpour came which brought about the calling of the game. This meant that the ninth inning was canceled and the score reverted to the eighth inning when the game was tied up 1 to 1.

This result was heart-breaking, especially, for Huskie pitcher Bill Byham who was working on a three hitter.

The Mansfield Mountaineers scored first in the second inning when two singles, a walk, and a long fly produced a run. Baseball....Since losing for the first time in nearly two years to Shippensburg two weeks ago, the Huskies batsmen have humbled two more opponents and tied another. During the past week, including May first to the sixth ,the Maroon and Gold swatters squeeked out a 5-4 victory over Kutztown on the local diamond, then traveld to Mansfield a week ago on Thursday only to be tied before rains came, 1-1. Last Saturday, hapless Lycom- • ing College of Williamsport came to Mount Olympus and were slaughtered by the B.S.T.C. boys by a 15-0 count. This score marked the highest Huskie run total in over two years. During the Lycoming tilt, a parade of Huskie pitchers took the mound and held the enemy in check for the nine innings. Brunn started for the locals. For the first few innings, the game looked as if it might be a close battle, but with the Maroon and Gold batting power coupled with several Warrior miscues, the battle turned into a rout before the sixth inning.

During this past week, the College Hill athetes trekked to Lock Haven and Wilkes College for their initial battles with those two schoos for the year. Details of the games can be found elsewhere on this page.

Next weekend, the test to end all tests will confront the Bloomsburg nine when they journey to Philadelphia for the weekend to meet West Chester Teachers and Temple University on successive days. Last Saturday afternoon the Temple Owls dropped a 4-1 decision to Princeton University. That is all that is known about the foe for this time.

Track....The Huskie thinclads now sport a one and three record for the current track campaign after being humbled by Lock Haven and West Chester recently. Both enemies walloped the Maroon and Gold runners in an easy fashion.

Battling without the aid of some of their outstanding tracksters, the Bald eagles of Lock Haven hammered out an easy win on their home track. Then on Saturday May sixth, the West Chester tutors walked away with a 100 1/3 - 24 2/3 win. Many of the B.S.T.C. boys experienced an "off" day, and this, to the power of the down state boys, totaled the rout.

On the Intramural Scene....With the first round of the Horse Shoe Elimination Tournament over, the lists of prospective champions hase been narrowed down to a mere handful for the finals of that sport.

A newly formed intramural tennis league will begin playing next week. Already may tennis aspirants have taken advantage of the fine weather to get a few sets in during the days.

Volleyball activity has come to a close up in Centenial gymnasium and the champion is ready to be crowned. The race for the title was close all the way this year.

On the Navy Hall field, softball is still grinding out action throughout the week in order to determine the college victor in that sport. As of this writing, there were only two undefeated teams left in the league.

A Glance At The Majors....finds that the Dodgers and Detroit Tigers are now leading the two leagues in the tight penannt race. The Boston Bosox are now coming up fast after a slow start and are in the thick of the early fight.

Huskies Romp Over Lycoming With Easy 16-0 Win Behind Two-hit Pitching

Kearns, Fitzpatrick, and Brunn Turn In Stellar Mound Performances

The Teachers College baseball team coasted to its easiest victory of the season last Saturday afternoon, trouncing Lycoming College 16-0, behind the combined two-hit pitching of Henry Brunn, Don Kearns and Fitzpatrick.

Brunn went the first seven innings, Kearns pitched the eight, and Fitzpatrick took care of the Lycoming matters in the last inning.

The deciding run was scored in the Mensinger, rf ... 3 2 2 1 0 the bases loaded via a double by Ed Piestrak, a walk by Dick Hummel and an infield single by speedy Don Butler. Mike Evans then hit a slow grounder to short stop which sent Piestrak across the plate.

Bellak held the Huskies in check until the fourth inning when the Teachers exploded for five big runs. The big blow of this inning was a homer by Claire Mensinger with a Husky aboard. Five walks and a couple of errors added to the barrage of runs. The college scored three more runs

University of Oslo Offers Summer Session For American Students

Applications are being received for the fourth annual session of the Summer School for American Students at the University of Olso in Norway. June 26th to August 5th have been selected as the dates for the term. As in the past years, some 250 America students will be admitted. Applications for entrance should be secured at once from the Olso Summer School Admissions Office at St. Olaf College, in Northfield, Minnesota.

The courses, to be taught in the English language, are open to all American students who have completed at least two college years by June of this year. The main emphasis this summer will be on courses pertaining to Norwegian culture—courses in geography, history, language, literature, music, and art. A total of six semester credits may be earned during the six-week's course.

A number of scholarships are available to American and Canadian students. Full details concerning these grants may be obtained from the Admissions office. The session has been approved by the United States Veterans' Administration, and so all veterans are eligible for the usual benefits.

Charges for this session have been reduced following the devaluation of the Norwegian crown. The tuition for the six weeks term is $80; the student fee, which includes health insurance, is $10; and the excursion fee, $20. The round trip fare, tourist class, on the Norwegian American Line's SS Stravangerfjord is $360.

Application blanks should be requested without delay by all those interested. They may be obtained from the Oslo Summer School Admissions Office, St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minnesota.

Science Club Takes Annual Field Trip

The Science Club's annual field trip and outing was held on Thursday, May 4, at Rickett's Glen State Park, with approximately sixty-five members in attendance. Students were excused from classes for the day to make the all-day trip.

The group left from in front of Science Hall at 8:30 a.m. Upon arrival at Rickett's Glen, a hike and field trip were made around the falls. Arriving back at the picnic grounds some four-and-a-half hours later, the tired, hungry, thirsty, and foot-sore nature lovers enjoyed a picnic lunch and wienie roast. After the lunch, a short business meeting was held to nominate officers for 1950-51. The club returned to the college at about 5:30.

College Council Makes Proposed Revisions In C. G. A. Constitution

form, the following changes in text have been presented. These, as well as the changes in arrangement previously set forth, have been approved by the College Council.

In the Preamble, the order of the four objects therein stated has been altered.

In Article V, Meetings of the Association, the change in phrasing is primarly stylistic in purpose. The former statement seemed to imply that a minimum of three meetings of the Association was sufficient to fulfill the requirement set forth in the Constitution. The committee felt that this should not be allowed to exist in this manner.

Section 1 of Article VII, The College Council, has been included not for the purpose of making this body an omnipoten group, but rather to provide the Council with the assurance that is may perform any of the three functions stated if called upon to do so. This arrangement is controlled by the statement of Section 2, Article VIII, the control factor being deemed wise by the committee.

Section 3, Article VII, has been added merely as a point of clarifica-

The slight change in text of Article VIII, Section 1, item 2, is felt to be a more accurate description of this function of the Council. Section 1, item 5, provides for a referendum by members of the Association when the need for such arises. A change in the order of phrasing has been effected in item 6 of this same section. In the absence of by-laws, item 7 has been revised from former item 6 into a form that is felt to describe the existing situation more accurate-

The use of petition in C. G. A. elections has been mentioned under part (b) of this section as being be the officers of the College Coun-"left to the discretion of the College Council."

A sentence has been added to part (c) of the same section to eliminate the necessity of conducting a primary election for any office of the Association for which only two candidates are nominated.

Section 3, Article IX, has been added in order that the new officers may be chosen at a time which will allow them to work closely with the outgoing officers through a period of two months prior to the end of the regular school term, thereby affordthem a better opportunity for orientation into their new positions.

visions in the present Constitution of the Community Government Association. They merit careful study and consideration, for either the proposed or the present form, or parts of both, will form the laws which will help to guide the operations of the Association through the year to come.

Council members, and particularly members of the revision committee, stand ready to discuss the matter with anyone. The Council members are known to everyone. From the fective. Council, the committee members are: James Kleman, chairman; Madelyn Schalles, Anthony Grabowski, Richard Wagner and Dr. Marguerite

From the proposed form of the Constitution, the following articles contain changes in text. For convenience, these changes are printed
