Dinner Held For Members of College Fashion Show Cast

A dinner was held on Monday evening at the Pine Barn Inn, Danville for the students who produced the Fashion Show at the College recently. The dinner was sponsored by the merchants who participated in the show. Mr. Max Arcus served as toastmaster, and President Harvey A. Andruss and Mr. Charles H. Henrie were called upon for remarks. Gifts were presented to Miss Nancy Wesenyak, fashion coordinator and Miss Betty Ridall, chairman of the store coordinators. A film entitled, "Junior Prom" was shown.

Those in attendance were: Nancy Wesenyak, Barbara Sherman, Nancy Swartz, Kathleen Mitchell, Joyce MacDougall, Dorothy Cedor, Annabelle Brobst, Vivian Carey, Joan Enama, Ann Conwell, Lois Dzuris, Helyn Burlingame, Susan Dreibelbis, Delphine Buss, Mildred Pliscott, Olive Mouery, Elizabeth Patton, Laura Philo, Mildred Mervine, Annetta Deussen, Betty Ridall, Mary Ann Alarcon, Olive Hunter, Shirley Ashner, Betty Cole, Lillian Milkvy, Robert Merrifield, Aleki Communzis, Mary Grace Almers, Dr. and Mrs. Harvey A. Andruss, Mr. Richard G. Hallisy, Mr. Charles H. Henrie, Mr. and Mrs. Max Arcus, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sloan, Mrs. Paul Staments, Mrs. Dorothy Kashner, Mrs. Erla Creasy, Mrs. Moser, and Mrs. Ritchie.

F.T.A. Members Hold Final Meeting in Navy Hall Auditorium

The Future Teachers of America held their last meeting of the year on Wednesday evening, May 10, at seven o'clock in Navy Hall Auditorium. Nerine Middleswarth presided.

During the meeting Marie Mattis gave a report on the recent Pennsylvania Future Teachers of America convention that was held in Harrisburg. Miss Mattis stated that one of the most significant achievements of the convention was the formulation of a resolution to have an F.T.A. representative on the executive committee of each of the nine convention districts of the Pennsylvania State Education Association.

After a brief discussion concerning organization of the club for the coming year, Dr. Ernest H. Engelhardt, sponsor, made several remarks. The meeting was then adjourned and refreshments were served.

Bell Telephone Co. Gives Demonstration In Assembly Program

Mr. Howard Davenport of the Bell Telephone System spoke to the College Community in last Tuesday's assembly period on "The Development of the Communications Art." Mr. Davenport gave an interesting account of the development of the sending of sound over wires by means of lecture and demonstration.

The basis for his discussion was the gadgets developed by Bell to give us the kind of telephone service and radio programs we have today. "We receive this service by means of scientific principles and not magic. Things really began in the communications art in June, 1875 when Alexander Graham Bell, a teacher of speech in Boston, first discovered the possibility of sending sound waves over wires. This was discovered when he and Watson were trying to overcome an obstacle of the telegraph company which was that of sending more than one message over the same wire and have only those persons who were intended to hear the message hear it. Bell's theory was to

Seniors Honored at Final Meeting of Lutheran Students

In honor of the senior members of L.S.A., the final meeting was held at St. Matthew Church on Monday, May 15th. Following the banquet, diplomas with appropriate verses were given to each senior present and personal best wishes were extended by Pastor Ziegler. The program in charge of Dr. I.Q. with Calvin Kanuyck presiding featured prizes for the graduates.

Jack Williams, president; Elvira Thompson, vice-president; Pat Kistler, secretary; and David Newberry, treasurer are the newly-elected officers for the coming year. Richard Kressler was chosen as the area representative of the Political and Social Action Committee of the North Atlantic Region.

B-Club Highlights Year's Activities with Trip to Eagles Mere

A galaxy of sports events highlighted the B-Club weekend at Eagles Mere, May 12, 13, and 14. A group of twenty-five college students and alumni carried through a fun-packed program with headquarters at Hotel Allegheny.

Saturday's schedule included a softball game with the college students losing a heartbreaker to the alumni. Excursion trips were also taken around the lake, to High Knob and World's End. Group singing and marshmallow toasting around a campfire climaxed the day's events. Tennis matches, rowing, and canasta games were also engaged in.

Sunday's activities included swimming, fishing and sunbathing, a more relaxing program. Perfect weather

1950 Seniors Anxiously Await Mid-Century Ball, Banquet

Spectacular Water Pageant Presented In Centennial Gym Pool

A beautiful and unusual performance was given in the swimming pool of Centennial Gymnasium on May 11. Sponsored by the Women's Athletic Program and directed by Marilyn Evans; a water pageant entitled "Minerva's Pearl" was presented to B.S.T.C. students and guests. The pageant centered around Minerva, queen of the undersea kingdom, who held a contest for her court. She proclaimed that she would give a pearl for the most beautiful water performance. Her heralds, Gloria Dawn Long and Joyce MacDougall, entered and made this announcement, followed by the grand entrance of Minerva. Members of her court were Shirley Ashner, Beverly Cole, Ellen Gibbons, Cassie Gilbert, Leonora Macgill, Jean Mier, Joanne Vanderslice, Marie Yozviak, Joyce Sluyter, and Janet Price.

The first event of the show was a swimming chariot race, then a front-and-back-crawl tandem race, followed by a race with lighted candles. A Pirates' Invasion Dance was next on the program; pirates were Lola Jean Deibert, Joan Enema, Barbara Hesser, Jeanne Krzywicki, Nancy Powell, Barbara Sherman, Carolyn Verroy, Eleanor Young, and Joyce MacDougall. Then the swimmers formed formations of two's, four's, diamonds, and stars. An aqua waltz rondo was performed to the music of a portion of the Emperor Waltz. A graceful swan dive was executed by Shirley Ashner and a handstand and dive was performed by Joyce Sluyter. Leonora Magill also did some diving. Next was a Mermaid's Waltz by the entire group. A beautiful solo number by Shirley Ashner was featured next. The climax of the show came with

Irem Temple Country Club To Be Scene of Outstanding Affair

The College social year will be climaxed on Thursday evening, May 25, when the Class of 1950 celebrates its graduation with the Mid-Century Ball and Banquet. The long-awaited affair, which will be held at the scenic Irem Temple Country Club near Dallas, is expected to be the largest in the history of the College.

According to a statement by general chairman Paul Plevyak, more than three hundred persons, including many returning January graduates, will attend the dinner and dance. The distribution of tickets and programs was completed earlier in the week, and a final check is now being made on available transportation.

Commencement rehearsal has been shifted from Thursday afternoon, as previously planned, to seven o'clock on Wednesday evening to allow the seniors plenty of time to travel to the Country Club. The banquet will begin promptly at six-thirty, and dancing to the music of Al Anderson and his orchestra will continue from nine o'clock to midnight. An interesting and varied program is also being planned for the occasion.

The general chairman of the affair is Paul Plevyak, Aleki Comuntzis is banquet chairman, and Elmer Wyant is in charge of the ball.

The appointed committees are as follows:

Dance Programs and Distribution: Jay Cortright, chairman; Paul Ulrich; and Frank Johnson.

Decorations: Marjorie Fanzo, chairman; Jack Buynak; and Eleanor Poust.

Invitations: Lucy Jane Baker, chairman; and Jane Keller.

Orchestra: Harold White, chairman; Joseph Kurey; and Thomas Metzko.

Two Retiring College Administrative Officers Honored at Faculty Banquet

Mr. C. M. Hausknecht and Mr. Nevin T. Englehart Leave College Service

Dr. and Mrs. Andruss, their guests, members of the Bloomsburg Branch of Pennsylvania State Education Association and their guests enjoyed themselves at the Annual Faculty Banquet held Wednesday evening, May 17, at the Pine Barn Inn in Danville. Also attending of interest were Dr. and Mrs. Haas, State Superintendent of Education, Mr. and Mrs. George Shanno of Hazleton, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Jones of Wilkes-Barre.

After Dean Hoch gave the Invocation, Mr. W. B. Sterling, president of the local PSEA Branch called upon Dr. Andruss to give his address. Following, Mr. C. M. Hausknecht, retiring Business Manager, and Mr. Nevin T. Englehart, retiring Superintendent of Grounds and Buildings, were each presented with a consistory ring for their outstanding service to the college by Dr. K. Kuster and Mr. H. Fenstermaker respectively.

After enjoying a delicious turkey dinner, the group retired to play Bridge and Canasta.

Employment Opportunities For Graduates of Collegiate Schools of Business

The largest single career field open to college graduates is in the management and operation of business firms according to a study by the U. S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics. The number of graduates from university business courses has risen very rapidly in the past 30 years. In 1920, 1,500 students were granted bachelor's and first professional degrees in business administration and commerce. By 1940, there were 19,000 graduates. During the war, enrollment and graduations fell substantially, but after the war, the tremendous flow of veterans into business courses was reflected in the record figures of 38,000 graduates in 1948, and more than 60,000 in 1949. Even more will graduate this June. The great rise in training in business has made collegiate business education the second largest field after teacher training, placing it ahead of engineering, agriculture, law, and medicine. What are the employment prospects for these graduates?

Several factors affect the long range employment outlook for students in this field: the growth of business administration employment, heavy replacements needs expected over the coming years, and increasing use of business administration graduates to fill these jobs.

It is likely that total business employment will continue to grow over the long run, causing a moderate increase in the number of executive jobs. There also will be a continuation of the trend toward greater specialization and increased complexity in business. This has led to the wider use of such specialized workers as accountants, personnel workers, market research analysts, and sales executives. However, a large part of this development has already taken place and it is not likely that it will have as much effect in creating openings for managerial workers as in the past.

Although the demands for graduates of collegiate business courses are expected to increase in future years, there will continue to be severe competition for the better jobs which lead to executive positions. During 1947 and 1948, there was a strong demand for business graduates by business firms making up their wartime deficit of administrative and professional trainees. In 1949, a decline in business activity caused many companies to curtail their recruitment programs. As a result there was keen competition for available jobs among the record crop of more than 60,000 business graduates, and many were not immediately able to find jobs which matched their qualifications. It is too soon to tell definitely whether this situation means that the number trained has only temporarily outrun the long-run demand and immediate replacement needs, or whether business cannot normally absorb this many graduates in executive trainee jobs or in beginning jobs in specialized fields such as accounting and advertising.

The main source of new job opportunities for graduates of business schools will be in the replacement of executives now employed as they die or retire from business. New graduates will not, of course, obtain top jobs, but the dropping out of those holding responsible jobs results in promotions within the organizations and vacancies in beginning jobs. A large proportion of the executives in the higher-ranking administrative and technical jobs in industry are in the upper-age brackets where many leave each year because of death or retirement. This means that a higher percentage than usual must be replaced during the next 10 to 15 years. Many companies are seriously concerned about this problem.

Will graduates of university business courses be hired for executive positions in preference to those without degrees, other qualifications being equal? Present indications are that a growing proportion of both top level jobs and specialized operating jobs will go to these business graduates. Educational requirements for business executive positions are being increased, in line with the trend toward higher educational requirements in many other fields of employment. Eventually, college graduation may be required for most jobs at the administrative level. Not all of these jobs will go to graduates of business courses, however, since engineers, lawyers, and other professional workers will be competing strongly in many industrial fields.

William A. Stimeling

Most people are aware of the fact that Benjamin Franklin founded the "Saturday Evening Post" and that Horace Greeley was editor of the "New York Tribune." But do you know who is known as the "Father of the OLYMPIAN?"

The OLYMPIAN is a relatively recent production, having made its debut only last year. It appeared again in February of this year; and a third issue is already in the making.

The gentleman responsible for this first magazine published for the students of the Bloomsburg State Teachers College is William A. Stimeling. "Al" is a senior in the Secondary curriculum. His choice of courses . . . a major in English and a minor in Speech . . . confirm the fact that he is, by no means, anti-semantic.

Al, a resident of Berwick, spent

Alpha Psi Members Attend Theater and Tour New York City

Eleven members of the Alpha Omicron Chapter of Alpha Psi Omega, Honorary Dramatic Fraternity, left Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock for New York City where they attended two Broadway productions. Saturday afternoon the group divided; half went to see "The Detective Story" starring Ralph Bellamy, the other half attending "Mr. Roberts," a celebrated naval story featuring Henry Fonda.

Saturday evening, the group once again merged for dinner at the Taft, dancing to the music of Vincent Lopez and his orchestra. Hurrying off (Continued on page 3) three years in the Navy. After leaving the service, he enrolled at BSTC where he began his journalistic career. From a minor position as a reporter on the staff of the Maroon and Gold newspaper, Al took over the editorship of the OLYMPIAN. After graduation he intends to continue the same type of work by pursuing a career in journalism.

With the aid of Robert C. Canouse and Jounior L. Eddinger, associate editors; Dr. J. Almus Russell, faculty adviser; plus a staff of B.S.T.C. literary laureates, Al Stimeling has completed the third issue of the OLYMPIAN. The magazine will be available before May 25. Next year, the magazine . . . which already has permanently established itself among B.S.T.C. publications . . . will be edited by David Newbury of Watstown, while its original founder goes on to further journalistic heights.

" . . . and, I think, I may now speak without fear of contradiction . . ."

Have You Heard?

by Marie Mattis

Apologies to those readers who noted the two week absence of HAVE YOU HEARD from the Maroon and Gold. Twice, in journalistic benevolence, your author yielded space to last minute news articles.

Queen of the May, Jane Keller, will become Frank Molinera's queen, when they wed on June 3. Jane is a senior in the Elementary department.

Wedding Bells will soon ring for Lorraine Weaver and Kenny Borst who have set the date for May 30. Lorraine, a junior, from Northumberland, is enrolled in the Elementary curriculum. Kenny, from Equinunk, is a senior in the Secondary department.

A belle who was recently ringed is Vernamae Compton, a junior, from Bethlehem. Vernamae's husband-to-be is Bob Kiefer, a student at Moravian college. No date has been set for the wedding.

Culinary capers. Is it a psychological attempt to produce mental conflict or merely a method of adding variety to the dining room? Just why do the boys insist on rearranging the containers for dishes, silverware, etc.?

Many thanks are extended to all my super-sleuths who have risked lives and fortunes in obtaining inside information for this column during the past year. May they appreciate the verbal crowns of glory which the author sincerely bestows upon them. Next week will mark the final issue of the Maroon and Gold.

Working on a publication is fun, but getting the paper out on time each week is not always a picnic. If we print nothing but jokes, people say we're silly. If we don't print jokes, people say we're too serious. If we stick close to the office, we ought to be out hunting copy. If we go out and try to hustle, we ought to be in the office. If we don't print every contribution received, we're accused of not appreciating genius. But, if we do print all of them, some readers call it "junk." If we clip things from other publications, we're lazy. If we don't, we're stuck with our own brand of corn. Most likely, some readers will accuse me of stealing this whole thing from some other paper. (Well, frankly, I did.)

Dramatic Club Meets

The Dramatic Club held its final meeting on Tuesday evening, May 16. Members of the dramatic fraternity, Alpha Psi Omega, who spent last weekend in New York, told about their trip and about the Broadway productions which they saw while there. The techniques of the professional stage in acting, sound effects, and stage effects were the main discussion of interest to the dramatic club. The trip proved both entertaining and educational to those who went, as it was also to those who heard the comments made about the professional theatre.

After this, election of officers for the first semester of 1950-51 was held. The officers are: President—Robert Jewell; Vice President—Nancy Powell; Secretary—Mary Joan Williams; and Treasurer—James Creasy.

A party followed the election of officers.

S.C.A. Installation

Installation of the newly elected officers was held at the final meeting of the Student Christian Association on Wednesday.

The officers, who were elected at the Picnic meeting two weeks ago, are Elwood Earle, president; Mary Effilen Dean, vice president; Alice Jacques, secretary; and Homer Ziegler, treasurer. A report was also given by the altar committee who have chosen candle holders and altar cloth for use at the club.

Errors Cost Huskies 7-6 Defeat at Hands of Lock Haven Teacher

A pop fly that dropped in the center of the infield and another infield error gave Lock Haven S. T. C. two runs which were enough to defeat the Huskies 7 to 6 at Lock Haven last Friday.

Bill Byham who relieved Mike Evans in the eighth frame after the first Bald Eagle batter singled was charged with the loss of the shortened contest.

Byham struck out the first two batters that he faced. The next batter lifted the pop that Ed Piestrak missed for an error. The next batter rolled to Riley who threw into the dirt at first for the error that meant the game.

It was loss number two of the season for the Huskies.

Senior Class Election Results

The newly elected officers of the Senior Class of 1950-1951 are: President, Richard Kressler; Vice President, Carl Persing; Secretary, Barbara Fredericks; Treasurer, Jack Reese; Man Representative, Frank Dean; and Woman Representative, Nancy Powell. Miss Marjorie Keller of the Business Department, was selected to be the class faculty advisor.

Taking the Hurdles!

by Harry Brooks

BASEBALL The Husky batsmen dropped their second battle of the current campaign at Lock Haven last Friday 7-6. An error in the last of the ninth allowed the Bald Eagles to eke out the victory while the Maroon and Gold chalked up their second setback in this year's ten starts. Big Buck Byham lost the toughie for his initial pitching defeat in two years.

This weekend, today and tomorrow, the B.S.T.C. swatters travel to Philadelphia for successive games with West Chester tutors and Temple University. West Chester sports an impressive 8 and two record on the diamond at this writing. Their most recent effort was a 7-0 win over rival Kutztown. Temple University has also been winning constantly, so both games should be real tussles and toughies for the Huskies.

TRACK The Husky thinclads received a harsh jolt last week when they again bowed in another meet. With the season almost over, the Shellymen can point to next year and hope that experience and ability will combine to create better track squads for the College on the Hill. The record now shows one success against four setbacks.

COME NEXT FALL A brief peek at the next football season indicates that the Maroon and Gold will have their strongest assignment in years on the gridiron. Meeting West Chester State Teachers on the foreign field will create probably the biggest problem for the B.S.T.C. boys, and none of the other seven foes will be pushovers. We can see many anxious moments for the fans and coaches next fall.

Currently the rumor making the rounds on the campus is that Xavier, Metropolitan Cincinnati college powerhouse is attempting to schedule Bloomsburg for a game this fall. This could be a real step toward nationally-known publicity for the College on the Hill. Xavier annually battles University of Kentucky, last year's Orange Bowl loser, University of Cincinnati, and several other formidable foes.

Finally many dreams have been realized with the purchase of a real Husky dog by the Alumni Association. This dog will serve as a mascot for all B.S.T.C. athletic teams.

The intramural horseshoe tourney is now narrowed down to the semifinals in that sport. The champion will be decided by the end of this week or early next week.

Softball ends early this week with many of the teams now in a tie for the league leadership. As an added note, every team in the circuit has lost at least one battle this spring.

The major loops show Detroit heading the American League and in the Junior Circuit the Philadelphia Phillies have copped the lead as of May 16th.

Next week's issue, the Alumni issue, will feature a brief look of all B.S.T.C. athletic teams and records for the scholastic year 1949-50. Be sure to get your copy.

Congratulations to the Obiter for their fine book and particularly on the sports section. To many, the athletic pages are the best for coverage and pictures in years.

Horseshoe Tournament Goes Into Sem-Finals

The Men's Intramural Horseshoe tournament has moved into the semifinals this week with these players still remaining in the running for the B.S.T.C. pitching champion; Bennett, Raabe, Gallo, Kocur, Laubcher, Edwards, and Andrews.

The winner of the Gallo-Kocur affair will battle Raabe, who in turn will meet Bennett. The Laubcher-Edwards victor will tangle with Smokey Andrews.

After the Bennett, Raabe, Kocur, Gallo finalist is determined, the winner will meet the Laubcher, Edwards, Andrews victor for the final tilt of that Intramural sport.

Other points of interest visited by the fraternity were Radio City Music Hall, the Empire State Building, Greenwich Village, Lindy's Restaurant, St. Patrick's Cathedral and many well-known shopping centers.

Those making the trip were Miss Alice Johnston, faculty chaperon and sponsor of the Alpha Omicron Chapter, Aleki Comuntzis, Nancy Brunstetter, Nancy Powell, Audrey Terrel, Kay E. Chapin, Frank Dean, Charley Roberts, Dick Gloeckler, Tom Anthony, George Dotzel, a graduate of Bloomsburg and a member of Alpha Psi, met the group in New York and provided a tour of the city.

Tennis Tourney . . .

In the Waller Hall Men's Intramural Tennis playoffs, only one set has been played thus far. In this meeting, Dave North topped Dave Heckman by a 6-3, 6-3 count in both sets.

Heavy activity on the courts will take place this week so as to widdle down the number of prospective champs to the semi-finals at least since only a few days remain on the school calendar.

Mr. Davenport went on to discuss the beginning of our network system, means to regulate the dial, the part quartz crystals play in communication, copper as the fundamental carrier, magnetism as the twin of electricity, and the constitution of radio tubes. The newest thing in communication is the transmitter which may easily replace the tube.

This lecture proved to be worthwhile for a better understanding of our Communication Arts and how they work.

Womer Sets New Pole Vault Record at State Teachers' Meet

Led by Frank Womer, the College trackmen finished fifth in an eight-team field at the State Teachers College Track and Field championship at Shippensburg, Saturday.

West Chester Teachers nipped Shippensburg 70 5-8 to 68 1-2 for the title. East Stroudsburg was third, Lock Haven fourth, and the College, with 7 1-2 points, was fifth.

Womer tied for first in the pole vault with Steve Hatfield, of Shippensburg, the two athletes setting a new state mark of 12-foot six. Both went over on the first try at that height. Womer nearly cleared the bar three times at thirteen feet.

Tommy Goodwin, tiny blond sprinter, finished fifth in the 220 behind Bob Hillman of East Stroudsburg whose time was 22.1. Hillman also won the 100.

Al Eremich picked up a fourth place in the discus with a heave of 118 feet. The winning toss was 125 feet.

Those were the Husky point winners. Joe Feifer, Mt. Carmel frosh ran a good 2.03 in the 880 but finished sixth behind a winning time of 1:58, a fraction of a second off the record time of Bloomsburg's Don Hippensteel.

Don Evans, of West Chester, was the only double winner besides Hillman. Evans set a new record in the two-mile with a 9:50.9 performance and also grabbed the mile.

From hundreds of you came sincere compliments which is more than enough remuneration for a tired editor. Countless hours of labor by the entire staff would have been wasted if the members of this student body did not appreciate OBITER 1950 in its final form. First I say thanks to the students of Bloomsburg. Without you the book would not have been a reality. OBITER 1950 was of you, for you, and by you. I also wish to publicly acknowledge the tremendous amount of help received from Mr. Edward T. DeVoe, faculty adviser to the book. My sincere thanks go to every member of the efficient staff. I refer you to page one hundred seventy two of this year's OBITER for further acknowledgements. With these words, I remain a grateful editor. I sincerely say

Thank you,

JOSEPH CURILLA
Editor, OBITER 1950

Dinner Guest: "Will you pass the nuts, professor?"

Prof: "Yes, I suppose so, but I really should slunk them."

Prof: "Who was Talleyrand?"

Stude: "A fan dancer, and cut the baby talk."

Prof: "Why are you late?"

Stude: "Class started before I got here."

Friend: "What is the Board of Student Publications?"

Humor Editor: "Any group of people who can see three meanings in a college joke that has only two meanings."

Cholly: "What did you do with my shirt?"

Roommate: "Why, I sent it to the laundry for you."

Cholly: "Ye gods! The whole history of England was on the cuffs."

George: "Let's cut history class today."

Al: "Can't. I need the sleep."

Father: "My boy, I never kissed a girl until I met your mother. Will you be able to say the same thing to your son?"

Son: "Yes, but not with such a straight face."

The dear old lady, wandering about hazily at a very costly society wedding reception, came upon a young man in faultless morning dress.

"Oh," she chirped. "Dear me, you're the bridegroom, of course!"

"No," he answered glumly, "I was eliminated in the quarter-finals."

Liz: "Say something soft and sweet to me."

Al: "Custard pie."

"You, down there!" shouted Father from the head of the stairs. "It's two-thirty! Do you think you can stay all night?"

"Er, thank you," said the callow lover. "But I'll have to phone home first."

"John!" "Oh, John," called his wife. "John wake up."

"Uh . . . mfp . . . wassamatter?"

"John, I'm certain I heard a mouse squeak!"

"What do you want me to do? Get up and oil it?"

Proud father: "Have you heard my daughter sing?"

Suitor: "Oh, yes, indeed I have. But it really doesn't matter, I still want to marry her."

An elderly lady, making her way across the lobby of a hotel, stopped abruptly before a young woman who was smoking. "Smoking in public," she exclaimed, her voice brimming with disgust. "Revolting behavior! Why, I'd just as soon be drunk."

"So would I, madam, so would I," was the weary response.

Sample Ballot, Proposed Amendments to C.G.A. Constitution

All items in the left-hand column are taken from the present form of the Constitution. Proposed changes are presented in the second column opposite the present form. To indicate a desire to have the item remain in the Constitution in its present form, place an X in the box in front of the item under the column headed Present Form; to indicate approval of the proposed amendment, place an X in the box next to the item under the column, Proposed Form.

The ballot is divided into two main sections, the first listing the changes only in the order number of the Articles concerned, the second containing those articles which have an actual change in the wording of the text.
