Sales Conference Held in Carver Hall Is Huge Success

Hundreds of area businessmen and members of their sales forces, school administrators, and teachers of retail selling and distributive education attended the Fifth Annual Retail Training Conference held in Carver Auditorium last evening. Addresses by two of America's outstanding figures in the field of business and merchandising, H. Bruce Palmer and "Sunshine Gene" Flack, highlighted the program. Mr. Frederick Deisroth, of Deisroth's Department Store, Hazleton, introduced the speakers.

Mr. Palmer's business life has been spent in association with the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co. of Newark, New Jersey. On the basis of his personal sales record, Mr. Palmer, in 1946 won personal membership in the Mutual Benefit's National Associates, the company's top club of leading producers.

Mr. Flack, a dynamic personality, is a member of the National Council of the U. S. Department of Commerce, the Advisory Council of the U. S. Treasury, and U. S. Associates of International Chamber of Commerce.

Last evening the Bloomsburg and Berwick Rotary Clubs and invited conference guests attended a dinner in the college dining hall. Toastmaster for the dinner was Fred W. Diehl, Superintendent of Montour schools, member of the college Board of Trustees, and past district governor of the Rotary Club.

Student chairman for the afternoon program was Lillian Milkvy; Carl Persing was in charge of the evening program. Members of the conference advisory committee were: John Quigg, president of the Retail Merchants Association, Danville; Frederick Deisroth, Deisroth's Department Store, Hazleton; L. C. Hartzel, Penney's Store, Mt. Carmel; Jack Sloan, Dixie Shops, Bloomsburg; and L. P. Worcester, Montgomery and Ward Store, Berwick.

Mr. Charles H. Henrie, of the college faculty was general supervisor of the annual affair.

L.S.A. Students Spend Week End At Buckhill Falls

The North Atlantic Region of the Lutheran Student Association of America held its 31st annual conference at Buckhill Falls, Pennsylvania, on March 2, 3, and 4. The theme for this year's conference was "The Living Word."

The keynote address was delivered on Friday night by Rev. Wallace Fisher, of Gettysburg, Pennsylvania. Rev. Fisher emphasized the great need for understanding more fully the meaning of the "living word."

The major portion of Saturday morning was given to Bible study. Selected scriptural passages were discussed in small groups of fifteen to twenty-five persons. By use of the small groups, it was possible to reflect on these passages with considerable deliberation and application. Everyone was urged to express himself in

C.G.A. Candidates Give Speeches in Assembly Program

Campaign speeches by candidates for C.G.A. offices highlighted the March 6 assembly.

Tony Grabowski, present president of the C.G.A., first introduced the nominees for the position of secretary, Mary Ellen Dean, Clare Davis, and Elaine Gunther; then the nominees for treasurer, Henry Hurtt, Dick Knause, and Warren Raker. Next, the candidates for assistant treasurer were presented. They were Rose Mary Korba, Alfred Cyganowski, Herbert Kerchner, and James Ferdinand.

Charles Brennan, vice presidential candidate, promised if elected, to select the best chairmen for committees and to serve the student body proficiently. In ending, his final words were, "If I'm elected, you'll find me just the same and I'll wear the same size hat."

Hailed by a fanfare of trumpets, vice presidential candidate Hank Marini was presented. He specified his qualifications and promised to be aware of the wants and desires of the student body. He indicated that he would also give his wholehearted support to the president selected.

Thomas Anthony, present CGA vice president and candidate for the presidency, announced in his address that he would work with the administration in order to achieve the desires of the students. Tom denied that he was a "Harvey Boy" and cited several

Bloomsburg Players Hold Poster Contest

"Our Town," this year's production to be staged by members of the Bloomsburg Players, will be presented in Carver Hall Auditorium on April 17.

An unusual feature characterizes the staging of the play this year. The publicity committee, headed by Dave Newbury and Dick Kressler, with the cooperation of Mrs. Beeman, is conducting a poster contest. The posters are to advertise the dramatic production. Members of Mrs. Beeman's art class have entered the contest, and any other member of the college community is eligible to serve as a contestant. Contest posters should be submitted to Mrs. Beeman who will act as judge in awarding the prizes. First prize winner will be forwarded three dollars; a two dollar second prize will also be given.

Members of the cast of "Our Town" have been working diligently for the past several weeks. The cast includes Tom Anthony, Nancy Unger, Bob Von Drock, George Smith, Jeanne Miller, Bob Jewell, Laura Philo, and Jeanne Ruckle. "Our Town" promises to be one of the most successful plays staged by the Bloomsburg Players.

107 Students and Faculty Members Donate Blood

On March 1, the Red Cross Bloodmobile, traveling from the regional center in Wilkes-Barre, made its first visit to the B.S.T.C. Campus. Dr. Tyler from Geisinger Hospital, was head physician. Mrs. Wilbur Adams, executive secretary of the local Red Cross chapter, was in charge of the program. Assisting in the collecting of blood were Red Cross nurses aides from Bloomsburg.

Dr. Paul Wagner was chairman of the college program. Student chairmen who cooperated in obtaining pledges for donations of blood were Peggy Bourdette, Judith Fry, Jack Peffer, Sam Yeager, and Richard Evans. Although some of the blood was collected from residents of Bloomsburg, the greater portion was donated by members of the faculty and student body of B.S.T.C. In all, 107 members of the college community contributed.

The old gym was converted into an "infirmary" from 10 A.M. until 4 P.M. The gym was divided into several sections. There was a waiting room in which questionnaires were filled out and examinations were made. Wards were set up with beds lined side by side, with all the best equipment ready in case of emergency. A canteen with food and drink was on hand to strengthen the donors before they went on their way.

Although two persons fainted when the sudden realization of lack of blood hit them, there were no serious casualties. On the whole, most of those who contributed said that they felt fine and would be willing to do it over again if the occasion should arise.

Each donor received a pin and a small pamphlet explaining what would be done with the blood which he gave. Statistics show that on this campus, almost three and one-half times as many men as women gave blood; this is a complete upset of expected results. Next year a bigger turnout is expected in order to help still further the Red Cross cause.

Members of the college community who contributed blood are: Shirley Wismer, Mary Ellen Dean, Martha Steiner, Joan Havard, Marjorie Ayre, Vivian Burness, Ruth Montague, Ellen Gibbons, Bessmarie Williams, Pat Boyle, Helen Hartline, Katherine Gilbert, Dolores Doyle, Judith Fry, Helen DeCamp, Joyce Sluyter, Fay Roberts, Martha Bronson, Muriel Wagner.

Speaking of . . . OPERATIONS

by Calvin Kanyuck and
Max Kaplan

He was indisposed . . .

No reflection on C.G.A. intended by last week's Silent Suzy operation. Great effort was made to have Suzy put them into serviceable condition. Tony Grabowski, President, made bi-weekly visits to Shamokin, at an expense (to himself) of about $2. per trip. Mr. Vumbico was usually not at home. Tony phoned him at least four times weekly (at his own expense). Mr. Vumbico was usually indisposed. By the time last week's column went to press, the C.G.A. had notified Mr. Vumbico that he had breached the contract and would be paid no more for the services of silent Suzy. It was he who hi-jacked the defunct juke-box two Saturdays ago. The C.G.A. is now attempting to convince Mr. V. to reimburse us to the tune of $35. or suffer legal repercussions. The latest contestant for the juke box parade is rather boxy but not too jukey. When installed it was supposed to be fool proof, but some fool found proof that it wasn't. It has gone down for the count twice already and Mr. Kimmel, of Bloomsburg, who has our new juke-box contract, (poor man) says that if the wooden box doesn't discourage tinkers, he's going to install a steel vault.

Campaign Quots . . .

Charles Brennan: "A campaign speech is like a steer; a point here, a point there, and a lot of bull in between."

Henry Marini: "Help!"

Thomas Anthony: "I know what you're thinking—"

Russell Looker: "There are two obstacles in my life—Anthony and Sheehan."

Francis Sheehan: "Co-eds will be inspected, the undesirable will be re-arranged."

The views expressed herein are not necessarily those of this paper or of your columnists.

B.S.T.C. Loses a Friend . . .

The students of B.S.T.C. learned recently that William E. Trump, night watchman at this college for the past twenty-seven years had succumbed to a heart attack suffered Wednesday February 21, following an illness of several weeks. To all of us here at B.S.T.C., Bill, as he was known to his many student and faculty friends, was always a real friend with a warm smile and cheerful word, no matter where or when he met you. Consequently, we feel that in Bill's passing, we have lost a truly fine friend.

Twenty-seven years is a long time and Bill shared a great part of those twenty-seven years with the students of this college, for Bill was a very important part of student life. He never failed to be on guard at any type of athletic contest, and on the evening before the games took place, Bill's smile of confidence was never absent from the pep rallies and parades. No matter what the event, whether a social affair or an athletic contest, we could count on Bill's presence. The first person we went in search of when the lights suddenly went out or a similar emergency occurred was our friend Bill. In short, whatever involved the students of B.S.T.C. also involved Bill Trump.

The Waller Hall girls will never forget the many things that Bill did for them during the years that he was with us. In addition to his regular duties, he found time to chase away an occasional bat that had become annoying and to get rid of a few rats and mice that had established a reign of terror in Waller Hall. Perhaps one of the nicest things Bill found time to do for the girls in the dorm was to collect their letters during the night. He realized how much those letters meant to the girls and his hand placed thousands of them in the mailbox for them. These were all little things, but they were the things that made him beloved to the students.

As a small token of their appreciation for the things that Bill had done for them, the Waller Hall girls sent a beautiful basket of red snapdragons and yellow daffodils to the funeral home. The Community Government Association also paid tribute to their friends with a handsome spray of red and yellow gladioli, which was sent on behalf of the student body. On Friday evening a group of students called at the funeral home.

Bill's friends cannot be listed in numbers, for it is impossible to count them, but we know that wherever there is a man or woman who was a student at B.S.T.C. during the past twenty-seven years, there also is a friend of Bill Trump. (AB)

Why Are You at Bloomsburg?

Why did you come to Bloomsburg? For some of us, that may be a difficult question to answer. To get an education, is that your answer? Well yes, by coming to Bloom a person can get a fine education if he puts effort and a conscientious attitude behind all his work. Our teachers help us to a great extent, but education depends mostly on our own personal interest and participation in class.

"Are you getting the kind of education that you want?" is another question to be asked of students. If the answer is no, whose fault is it? It may be that the school is in error, but nine out of ten times the fault is our own negligence.

Our education should include many subjects, some of which appeal to us while others may seem boresome and a waste of time. Although they seem tiresome, those particular courses may be the ones which will build up our cultural background. Our fine arts, such as music, art, dramatics, and literature help in the developing of well-liked personalities. To be successful in later life, we must have knowledge in many fields.

Here at Bloom, there are many opportunities to broaden and enhance our cultural background. We are given the wonderful privilege of attending concerts without cost to us. Yes, we are paying for the concerts through our activities fees, but how many of us really take advantage of this opportunity to have an enjoyable evening? Much of the world was built on music, and an increasing interest in it will enable you to lead a richer and more satisfying life.

Have you passed up some of the assembly programs? The topic may be deceiving, as many realized after having missed the chance of hearing a speaker or enjoying a well-planned performance.

Build up your cultural background; it makes up a large part of your education. Books and schooling don't cover all of it. By taking the opportunities presented to you, you will leave Bloomsburg with an increased knowledge. With such an education and knowledge, you will not have far to go to get that coveted position in the world of today. (A.G.)

Election Cancelled

In order that the most capable candidates may be chosen for the offices of the C.G.A., President Andruss has declared that the faculty alone will choose those persons who will represent the student body at the group's meetings.

Of course you know that the above paragraph which you have just read is NOT TRUE, but what if it were? What would you as a member of the student body do?

Every girl and boy at B.S.T.C. would be up in arms because they had lost their privilege as voters. They would shout that they had lost their place in the democratic government of their school. Rallies would be started, signs constructed, meetings held, and speeches offered in defense. All these actions would combine to create a minor rebellion.

Everyone will agree that these reactions are only normal, but must they occur only in defense of a wrong? Let's have rallies started, signs constructed, meetings held, and speeches offered, not for the right to vote; but to create support for your candidate!

Think, for just a moment, of the wonderful opportunity each person has to elect his chosen representative to office. Yet there are those who do not use this privilege. To be sure, they are the ones who would cry loudest about the injustice done them if their privilege to vote were taken away.

This C.G.A. election is expected to be one of the biggest and most successful ever held here. Every student is urged to come out and support his favorite candidates and to witness the actual use of a voting machine contributed by Luzerne County, Pennsylvania.

Let's have the choice of the students elected to the offices of C.G.A. Get out and vote for your candidates on March 13. (D.D.)

William Kline Wins Chemical Rubber Co. Award in Chemistry

Last year Mr. Lanterman was sent a letter regarding the possibility of handling the program of awards on the part of the Chemical Rubber Company of Cleveland, Ohio. This concern is the sole publisher of the very important and useful "Handbook of Chemistry and Physics." The handbook is often referred to as "the engineer's bible" because it contains so much information concerning the scientific field. It consists of almost 2,000 pages and sells for $7.50. It is issued yearly.

Each year a copy of this publication is awarded to the person making the highest grade in Chemistry I. The leather cover is engraved with gilt letters reading: Complimentary award—Sponsored by the Chemical Rubber Company of Cleveland, Ohio — to B.S.T.C. for the year 1950-1951.

Last year this handbook was won by Hugh Elliot of Shick-shinny. This year it was awarded to William Kline, a sophomore. Since both of these students are science majors, the handbook will undoubtedly prove most valuable to them.

examples to the audience that by working with the administration more could be accomplished than by working in opposition to it. In conclusion, he stated "If there is anything that the college hasn't received, it is the students' fault, not the administration's. The voting today will decide whether this statement will hold true."

Russ Looker was next introduced as a candidate for the presidency of C.G.A. His speech was precise; he ended by stating, "You are the judges. I now leave the matter in your hands." His speech was followed by the playing of a campaign song.

The final candidate for the office of president was Francis Sheehan. The candidate promised to be conscious of the needs and desires of the students. In addition, he promised to publicize the minutes of C.G.A. meetings where everyone might see them. Two cheerleaders led the singing of a unique Sheehan campaign song.

Final C.G.A. elections will be held next Tuesday.

Husky Athletes Attend Bloomsburg Boosters' Banquet

On Thursday evening, March 7, the ninth annual Booster's Club banquet was held in the spacious Caldwell Consistory in Bloomsburg, with over five hundred eager athletes and sports fans and guests attending.

After the dinner, which started at six thirty, group singing was held, with background music furnished by Hartzell's orchestra. The high school coaches and B.S.T.C. coaching staff, consisting of Robert Redman and Mr. Harold Shelly, introduced the members of their respective squads after brief talks on the season.

The two guest speakers were then introduced. They were Dr. Carlson, head basketball mentor at the University of Pittsburgh, and the inimitable "Bo" McMillan, former grid coach at the University of Indiana and recent coach of the professional Washington Redskins.

Carlson spoke on fatigue, emphasizing the importance of good health and health habits in the athletic program. Carlson is well-qualified in this field, since he was formerly employed as head surgeon at the Carnegie-Illinois Corporation in the steel city of Pittsburgh.

McMillan was the next speaker on the agenda. "Bo" talked on the necessity of the love of sports, emphasizing the fact that the mere ability to play in an athletic contest is not enough; rather, a true love and interest in the game are the prime essentials for successful sports competition. An ardent desire to win, to compete fairly, and to battle right down to the final wire is the most important trait in an athlete.

The thanks of all who attended from B.S.T.C. goes out to those who helped to make this banquet a success and a worthy tribute to district high school and college athletes.

Mitchell Leads in Girls' Intramural Basketball League

The four games played Thursday night, March 1, were the best games so far during this 1951 tournament, and they made a big difference in team standings.

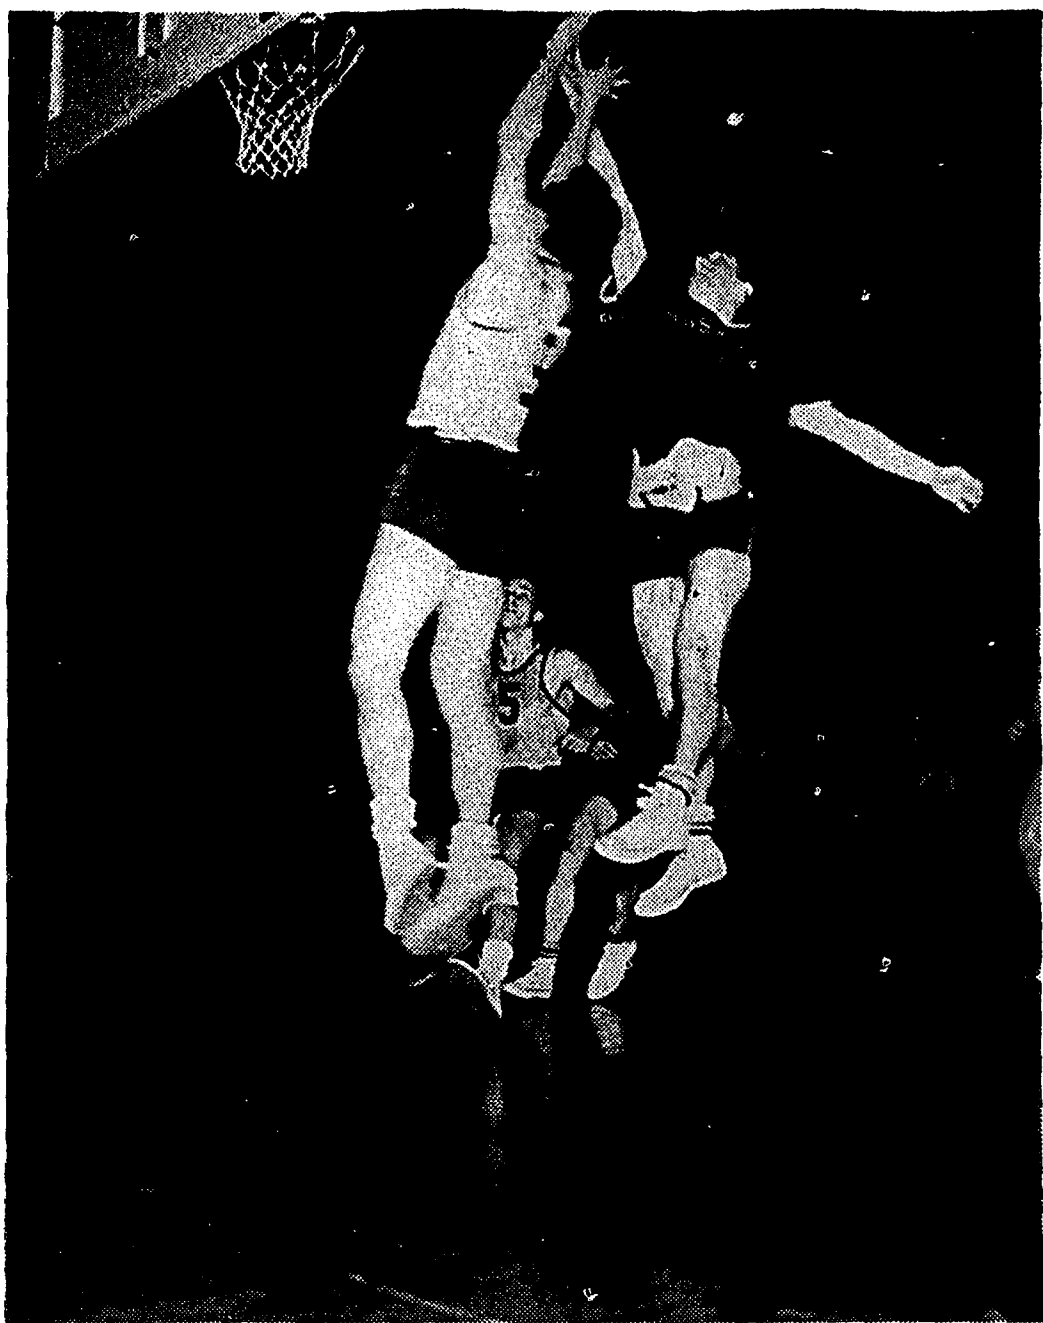

The first game of the evening was between the two top teams, those of Kitty Mitchell and Janet Price, both of whom had won three out of three and were battling for the number one spot. From the first toss, the game was full of action. This game was undoubtedly the fastest game of the tournament. At the half the score stood at 5-3, in favor of Mitchell. The second half opened with its usual speed, and when the third quarter had rolled past, the score had edged ahead to give Mitchell a 5-point lead. The next quarter found both teams very tired. Price's forwards displayed almost none of the kind of basketball which had put them in a first-place tie, and the beautiful dribbling of Winnie Sharkey was finding the weak spots in the zone defense of Price's guards. The end of the game found Mitchell with a 16-8 win, putting them at the top of the tournament ladder. Captain Kitty Mitchell was high scorer, and Walters was high for Price.

The second game of the evening was between Young, who was in second place, and Baer, in last place. Young's forwards handled the ball during the first half, scoring 20 points to Baer's 2. Laura Philo played excellent ball, making 18 out of the 20 points. During the second half, Young's team again took full possession of the ball, with the final score of 46-2. Philo, undoubtedly one of the finest ball players of the tournament, made 33 of the 46 points.

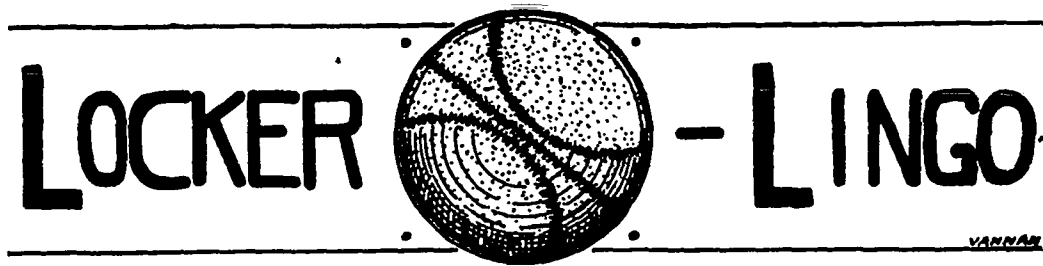

The third game was between Stec and Felker. Both teams played good ball throughout the game. During the first half, Stec's forwards handled the ball most of the time. Felker's guards played close contact to the men they were guarding; all of them played good ball. A good little freshman guard to keep your eye on is Mar Wetzal; she's a good ball player. The game ended with a score of 24 to 19, in favor of Felker. High scorer on the winning team was Korba, also one of the outstanding forwards of the tournament, with 15 points out of the 24.

The last game of the evening was between Thompson and Meier. Judy Fry, who played on a championship basketball team in high school, opened the game with a lay-up shot. The first half of the game was played fast, as both teams needed this win to keep them in the standings. Thompson's

Basketball Ballet . . .

Maroon & Gold photographer, Keith Smith, got an excellent shot of Dave Linkhorst, of the Huskies, as he leaped high to break up another attempt for a field goal in the Kutztown play at Centennial Gym. The Huskies emerged as victors in the season's finale 68-57.

The high school basketball tournament is now in full swing up in Centennial Gymnasium. Over ten games have now been played in the initial round of playoffs. Mr. Hoch reports that he has had trouble in rounding up a fine selection of class A and B teams, but the tournament will not lack the color and thrills that have so marked the event in the last several years. The finals of the tournament will be held a week from tomorrow night.

Does anyone know whatever happened to that wrestling team we were supposed to have this winter?

The hit song of some years back, "There'll Be Some Changes Made," will certainly apply to many of this year's major league baseball teams. For example, the Pittsburgh Pirates are attempting to make a first baseman out of left fielder Ralph Kiner; the Cards plan to shift Musial to center field for good; there's a chance that Clint Hartung may play the outer pastures for the Giants instead of pitching. The season really looks as if it will be mighty interesting. And since everyone likes to pick the race just as it will end up in October, how about putting the teams on paper the way you think they will end up? The accumulative results will be decided in this way: if you rank a team first, they will be given eight points, and so on down the line. The total points of each team will be added up, then published in the next issue. Put your selections in box 254 before Tuesday noon or give them to me. Thanks.

The Husky Basketeers ended their 1950-51 campaign with a bright 68-57 victory over Kutztown's Golden Avalanche. The final season record was nine wins against seven setbacks. Sophomore Chuck Daly was high point-maker for the evening, with 23 markers; he ended the season as the Maroon and Gold scoring ace. Next year's Husky schedule will have most of the same foes on it, with two possible exceptions. The powerful West Chester squad will visit the Husky den, and the Shelly-men will trek out to Indiana for their third battle with that school.

Last Thursday night's huge banquet at the Caldwell Consistory was one of the best in the history of the nine year old affair. Over five hundred eager sports fans attended the fete to hear "Doc" Carlson and "Bo" McMillan. Each of the Husky gridders and courtmen were introduced by coaches Redman and Shelly.

On the intramural scene, the Barons won a thriller a week ago Wednesday, after a double overtime period. Thus far that team had won two games as of last Tuesday. Another team to watch is the Harry E. Coalers, who have also chalked up two victories.

Mr. Shelly's call for track aspirants has brought him a fine turnout of interested boys. This year's track team should make a better showing than did the squad last year. An almost identical schedule is planned this year. Formal practice began last Monday, with more extensive drills to take place after the ground dries.

Bob Redman, head basketball coach, has had a fine reply to his desire for pitching and catching talent. He has amassed over fifteen prospects in the Benjamin School gym for preliminary practice.

Note of Thanks . . .

The administration would like to take this medium of communication to express their sincere "thanks" for the fine cooperation exemplified by the operators of motor vehicles by compliance with the newly issued parking restrictions. Mr. Sharretts, head of buildings and grounds, said that forwards, Fry, Search, and Todd, handled the ball with professional skill. Jean Meier, captain, and Pat Kistler played against a great handicap, since their other forward was unable to make the game. The final score was 15 to 5, in favor of Thompson.

there has been but one violation of parking restrictions opposite North Hall since the "No Parking" signs have been erected. This response on the part of students and faculty to this project will not go unnoticed. The college will in the near future begin construction of a parking lot across the street from Noetling Hall. The lot will facilitate approximately 40 automobiles. Another project will be the hard surfacing of the parking lot at Centennial Gymnasium.

These projects will beyond doubt alleviate the trying parking situation which is present at this time. However, until these projects are completed, the administration hopes that the fine cooperation of the student body will continue in the future as it has in the past.

College Baseball Aspirants Start Workouts in Gym

With the coming of Spring a young man's fancy turns to love and young athletes' fancies to baseball.

Upon College Hill, Coach Bob Redman has been working with his aspiring candidates for the past two weeks in the Benjamin Franklin Training School Gym. He has been concentrating solely on the battery men thus far, working the team into shape by the assembly line method. Mr. Redman has stated that he is very pleased with the progress of the team so far, and he is especially pleased with the eagerness of the Freshmen try outs.

Coach Redman hopes to start work with the infielders and outfielders soon after March 1.

Here are a list of the candidates who are working as pitchers and catchers:

Major Leaguers Start Training for Coming Campaign

On Thursday, March 1, the majors moved their spring training program into high gear. Heretofore, the players have been working out voluntarily, but now they'll really be getting serious.

Thus far, the major league managers have been working strictly with pitchers and catchers, trying to work them into condition slowly in order to prevent sore arms which they were plagued with so much last year.

So here's the highlights of the training camps:

BROOKLYN: Everybody has been signed. Chuck Dressen has been concentrating on Rex Barney, trying to expose his potentialities.

PHILLIES: Their spark plug, Jim Konstanty, has reported to camp in good condition. Bubba Church has been having contract troubles.

BRVES: Influenza an epidemic.

GIANTS: Jim Hearn discussing contracts. Training camp full of confidence that they will win pennant.

CARDINALS: Marty has a big rebuild job. Concentration on pitching. Of course there is always laughter and music to lighten his burden.

CUBS: Lots of confidence. Trying for first division.

REDS: Warren Giles says "We can finish ahead of the Cardinals, and with a few good breaks could be in there." 'Nuff said.

PIRATES: Complete Rebuilding. Watch Rickey.

YANKEES: The team to beat for the Pennant.

RED SOX: Once again its pitching. This time they say Ray Scarborough will be the difference.

INDIANS: Excellent infield and with a few reserves will make the fight interesting.

TIGERS: Good Pitching. Need reserves. Watch out they're good.

WHITE SOX: Rebuilding.

BROWNS: They need pitching to go with some good batting power.

WASHINGTON: They need a new team.

A's: The Macks haven't gotten completely out yet.

"Do you think paper can be used to keep people warm?"

"Yes — the last report card I brought home made things hot for me for a week!"

Class "C" Teams Start Elimination Process as Top-seeded Teams Win

With the tap-off the St. Joseph's-Monroe Township game in Centennial Gym on March 5, the annual basketball tournament sponsored by the Bloomsburg State Teachers College began. The St. Joseph's team, from Williamsport lost no time in getting started, and rolled to an easy 68-35 victory over Monroe Township. Smith led the scorers with 21 points.

Another Williamsport parochial team, St. Mary's, led by Myer, trounced the team from Falls-Overfield by a 69-39 score.

The third game of the evening presented a local team, Ringtown, of the County league, and Du-shore, Ringtown, led by Horne and O'Lair, stepped off to a 16-point lead in the first quarter and finally emerged as the victor by a 74-28 score. Yonkin tallied 17 of the loser's 28 points.

Treverton High School, fresh from Class A Susquehanna League competition, easily tamed Scott Township in the evening's finale by a 72-45 score. The sharp shooting by Davis, of the losers, could not compete with the well-balanced attack of the Treverton Red Devils, and the Columbia County team was swamped.

The second night of Class C elimination began with Hughesville, of the West Branch League, eliminating Huntington-Mills of the County League, by a score of 49-39.

Riley of Fairview Township and Pettit of Nescopeck each hooped 18 points in the second game; but Riley's teammates gave him more support in the scoring column, and Fairview reaped a 55-45 victory.

Beaver Township, of the County League, was no match for the Freeland M. and M.I. team, as Freeland easily trounced the Beavers by a score of 54-37.

The last game of the evening had the only even-matched teams so far in the tourney. The West Wyoming Cowboys came from behind in the closing minutes and emerged the victors over Tremont, 46-44 points.

Led by O'Lair and Horne with 18 points each, the Ringtown team of the County League scored the first upset of the tourney by downing the Treverton Red Devils by a 49-42 score.

Coach Shelly Calls Candidates for Track and Field

With the coming of spring, it's outside sports in the limelight again. Coach Harold Shelly officially opened track and field practice last Tuesday, with several holdovers and many newcomers reporting for action in the speed and heft games. Among the familiar faces are those of pole vaulter Frankie "Cornelius" Womer, of Pottsville, current co-holder of the State Teachers College record of a leap of 12 ft., 6 in., and Joe Feifer, distance speed boy from Mt. Carmel.

Other veterans loosening winter-cramped muscles are John Swartz, middle-distance runner, Billy Gilbert, trim speedster of the 220-yard dash, and Tommy Koodwin, Kane sprinter, who enters in the speedy 100-yard event. Long-legged Charlie Brennan flashes around the cinder tracing practicing his mile run.

In the field events, hurling the iron ball again this spring will be Charlie Baron, Ben Burness, Dave Evans, and Guy Germana.

The newcomers to the Husky squad are going to be really welcome. Tom Spack and Larry Bernhart are the new javelin throwers, and both claim enviable distances. Alec Boychuck and Jack Long, Shamokin products, along with Edgar "Skip" Berry, will be at the starting blocks of the dash events, while hefty John Nemitz will lend aid in the weight class.

The Shelly thinclads face a possible eight-meet schedule, including the famous Penn Relays, which will be held in Philadelphia on April 27 and 28.

The Field and Track schedule follows:
 April 18—Scranton U. . . . Away
 April 27, 28—Penn Relays . . . Away
 May 1—Lock Haven . . . Home
 5—West Chester . . . Away
 8—Shippensburg . . . Home
 12—State Meet at

West Chester . . . Away
 There are two meets on the pending level, one with Cheyney State Teachers College and the other with Trenton (N.J.) State Teachers College.

order to draw a composite conclusion.

Rev. James Robinson of the Church of the Master, New York City, was the principle speaker at a banquet held on Saturday night. Rev. Robinson pointed out in his speech, entitled "Does God Have Anything to Say to Us in These Chaotic Days?" that there is today, as never before, a greater need for Christian living. As he put it, people now are Christians in name only. They fail to practice all for which Christianity stands.

Rev. Robinson used America's racial problem to illustrate his point. He stated that there are over six million Negroes in America who are affiliated with no church whatsoever, and the general attitude extended toward the Negro is anything but Christ-like.

Rev. Fisher presented the second of his two addresses on "The Living Word" on Sunday morning. In this address, he elaborated more fully on the address he had given on Friday.

Saturday afternoon, while most of the students enjoyed the tobogganing and sleighing facilities of Buck Hill, representatives from the various areas of the North Atlantic Region held a business meeting and election of regional officers for the coming year. Elected to the various offices were: President—Harry Emet, Jr., from Princeton; Vice-President—Norman Hjelm, from Princeton; Financial Secretary—Shirley Swanson, from Hartwick College; Secretary—Eleanor Johnson, from Bloomsburg State Teachers College.

Colleges from Maine to Washington, D. C., and from Pittsburgh to the Atlantic Seaboard are represented in the North Atlantic Region of the L.S.A. Miss Johnson's election to secretary of this organization should help to establish Bloomsburg's reputation among Eastern colleges.

Representatives from several foreign countries were also present at the conference. These countries included Sumatra, British Guiana, Latvia, Germany, and Czechoslovakia.

Those attending from Bloomsburg were: Gloria Benner, Clifton Clarridge, Clayton Hinkle, Gerald Houseknecht, Eleanor Johnson, Calvin Kanyuck, Patricia Kistler, Marilyn Kuschel, Florence Mertz, Joanne Vanderslice. Also attending were two former Bloomsburg students, Marilyn Greenly and Ruth Shupp.

Marine Procurement Officer Coming to BSTC Campus Soon

PHILADELPHIA, PA., MAR. 9—Marine Corps officer procurement shifted into high gear today, as the Platoon Leaders Class procurement program was initiated.

The Platoon Leaders Class, the Marine Corps' richest source of regular and reserve officers, is open to freshmen, sophomore and junior students at accredited colleges and universities throughout the nation.

This year, institutions in the Philadelphia District, encompassing eastern half of Pennsylvania and southern half of New Jersey, will be canvassed, to fill the local quota of the nation-wide, 2300 man training program.

Platoon Leaders Class procurement, in the Philadelphia District will be under the supervision of Capt. C. H. Davis. The captain, graduate of Ohio University, has insight into problems of college undergraduates, as well as familiarity with personnel procurement procedures.

Bloomsburg State Teachers College will be visited by Captain Davis in the near future, and interested students will have the prerequisites for, and advantages of the program explained.

Unlike Army and Navy Reserve Officers Training Corps programs, Platoon Leaders Class does not throw added burden on students during the academic year. All training is conducted in two, six-week summer training programs at Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va.

The quality of instruction in the program is unsurpassed; crack officers from all posts and stations of the Corps being assembled at Quantico during summer months to give classmen specialized, intensive instruction in subjects necessary to Marine Corps officers.

The junior course, offered to first-year students, emphasizes basic subjects, military and naval indoctrination. Students are appointed corporals in the Marine Corps Reserve and are paid $95.55 a month during this first, six-week period.

The senior course for second-year students stresses tactics and problems confronting the junior officer, qualifying graduates as infantry troop leaders. Students in this second, six-week period are appointed sergeants in the Marine Corps Reserve and receive $117.60 a month during training. All trainees are housed and fed, receive medical care and transportation to and from their homes, and other privileges while attached to the program.

Officers Training

Graduates of the senior course receive commissions as second lieutenants in the Marine Corps Reserve upon college graduation, and honor students are tendered regular enlistments when vacancies exist.

Opportunities for Women Students

Placed in the same program as the Platoon Leaders Class is the Women Officers Training. Women Students of all classes at accredited colleges are eligible for this course. The scope of their training will parallel the Platoon Leader Class and will be held at the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va.

O. C. C. Open to College Seniors

In addition to the above program, Captain Davis will procure applicants for the Officer Candidate Course established for the first time since World War II. This course enables college graduates with no military experience to become officers.

Qualified graduates, or seniors in accredited colleges who will receive a baccalaureate degree this spring, other than in medicine, dentistry or theology, and who will be less than 27 years old on July 14, 1951, are eligible for this course.

Those individuals who desire information on these programs are urged to contact Capt. Davis at Waller Hall corridor on March 29 and 30, 1951.

What Do You Think?

by Robert Price

One advantage about being a teacher is the vast working areas from which one can choose to teach. The question this week is, "Where in the United States would you like to teach, and why?"

James Lesser — In New York City because they pay considerably more money, and I like the city better than the country.

Edward Gallagher—In Pennsylvania because I like the tenure act, and the salary schedule isn't bad. The educational facilities are fairly good, too.

Clem Makowski — Out West! California. When school is over, summer jobs are easier to get, and teachers are paid better. The climate is better and travel more interesting.

Harry Brooks—In New Jersey or New York because the pay is higher, and these places are more centrally located. Their educational facilities are better.

William Radzwich—I would like to teach in the Hazleton area because of the fine climatic environment. I'd like to be able to conduct a business outside of school.

John Kennedy—I would like to teach around the Towanda area in Northeastern Penna. because of its small friendly towns.

Myrtle Megargel — I'd like to teach in New York City because it's a nice place to live. You have a great opportunity for cultural advancement.

CLUB NEWS . .

James Ferdinand, the program chairman of the Athenaeum Club, arranged a very entertaining program which was presented on March 1 in Carver Hall Auditorium. Included in the program were Mary Lou Todd, who sang "Felice" by Leland Landis and "My Hero" from Student Prince. Mary Ann Fink presented her interpretation of "Pale Hands" and "Lilac Tree." John Bogdan gave a violin solo entitled "La Canguantaine." Mary Grace Aimers accompanied the group on the piano and also rendered a solo, Beethoven's "Sonata Pathetique."

A roast chicken supper for the members of Knox Fellowship is planned after vesper services on March 11 from 5:00 to 5:30 P.M. Afterwards a radio broadcast will also be presented. Samuel Gregory Warr, minister of the First Presbyterian Church in Williamsport, will give an informal talk. Pastor Warr was a navy chaplain in World War II and is now director of young people's work in this Presbytery.

No regular meeting will be held on Monday, March 12. Instead, members and others interested are invited to attend the District Two Young Peoples Meeting. This is a combined meeting of student groups from all faiths. The motion picture "One God" will be shown. The Rev. Father Burke of St. Columbo's parish and a rabbi from a near-by Jewish congregation will also be present.

On Sunday, April 1, at 2:00 P.M., the Glee Club of the Kingston V.F.W. Post will sing at the Presbyterian Church. They will present a varied program of hymns and spirituals. The public is invited to attend.

The Wesley Fellowship held its bi-weekly meeting on Monday, February 26. This was a supper meeting with meatpie being the menu.

After the supper, a short business meeting was conducted, at which time it was decided to challenge the Knox Fellowship in a bowling and basketball tournament. Participation and competition is expected to be high, and the outcome is eagerly awaited.

Janice Johnson and Geraldine Funk were in charge of devotions, after which Lola Deibert introduced the speaker of the evening, Victor Meredith. Mr. Meredith gave the group a very interesting, first-hand view of the United Nations. He explained to the group some of the operations and functions of the United Nations and how some of the committees are operated.

The next meeting will be at 7:30 P.M., Monday evening, March 12. All members are urged to attend and participate in a discussion which will be led by Marilyn Evans.

Waller Hall News

All that noise in Waller Hall on Monday night was a result of a Dorm Party the girls were having. Refreshments, a Hobby Show, and entertainment were the order of the evening. At 9:30 the girls congregated on the second floor for food—sandwiches, ice cream, and root beer on draft.

On third floor the First Annual Hobby Show was the center of interest. Among the hobbies represented in the display were sketches, collections of soap, records, stamps, coins, rugs, embroidery, stuffed animals, paper napkins, tiny trinkets, lapel pins, guppies, crocheting, smocking, paintings, portrait tinting, knitting of all sorts and varieties, and a Chinese collection.

Prizes were awarded to various outstanding displays. Special awards were won by Marjorie Ayre for her extensive soap collection, and by Hazel Thompson for her excellent portrait tinting. First prizes were awarded to Marilyn Evans for her interesting coin and stamp collections and to Eloise Symons for sweaters knitted in very intricate designs.

Second prize went to Phyllis Paige for a very large and attractive paper napkin display. Third prizes were copped by Marilyn Kuschel for sweaters done in cable-stitch design, and Jane Seeley for her hand-made shell jewelry.

Honorable Mention awards were presented to Lola Deibert (oil painting), Barbara Brace (rug), Jackie Reinhart (rug), and Joyce Sluyter (crocheting).

After viewing and commenting on the hobby displays, the girls proceeded to fourth floor, where student talent held the spotlight. Entertainment consisted of tap-dancing, musical selections, elocutions, and group singing.

A vote of thanks from all the feminine Waller Hall residents goes to the members of the various committees that worked to make the party a success. Serving on the refreshments committee, with Barbara Sherman and Lois Dzuris as co-chairmen, were Dolores Wachowski, Jo Anne Davis, Carolyn Vernoy, Eleanor Johnson, Doris Bowman. Responsible for collecting and judging the hobbies were Mary Liz Patton, Mildred Mervine, Barbara Hessert, Jeanne Krzywicki, Florence Mertz, and Antoinette Czerwinski. The girls who arranged for the entertainment were Clare Davis, Joyce Sluyter, and Rosemary Snierski.
