New Ruling Defers Many Students from Present Draft Law

On Saturday, March 31, President Truman issued a new proclamation, temporarily deferring many college students from the present draft law. As the order now stands, draft boards have been ordered to pass over students who rank high in their respective classes or who pass a special aptitude test to be given in a thousand testing centers throughout the country.

To be deferred, a sophomore must have been in the upper half of his class during his freshman year; a junior in the upper two thirds during his sophomore year; a senior in the upper three-fourths of his junior year. If these qualifications are not met, the student will have to pass the test which will be given free of charge onward from May 26.

At present, in computing the male student's standing in his class, women students are counted. However, it is expected that eventually this plan will change, thus allowing a chance for larger deferments for the male students.

It is expected that the new policy will have little effect on college enrollments. The number unable to pass the test will probably balance the regular number of students who normally drop out of college every year.

The qualification tests will be given by the Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N. J. The organization has conducted entrance examinations for many colleges and is of non profit nature.

Seniors Engage in Spirited Argument Over Class Memorial

During a meeting held in Carver Auditorium on March 28, members of the class of 1951 decided to hold their Senior Ball and Banquet at the Irem Temple Country Club in Dallas. Dick Kressler, president of the class, presided over the meeting.

Russell Davis, class treasurer, notified seniors that dues must be paid by April 7.

A lively argument arose in the class meeting concerning the selection of a class memorial. Due to the governmental restriction of the use of bronze, the memorial committee reported that the original class choice to have a bronze husky dog could not be realized but that a husky dog might be made of marble and placed in Centennial Gym. One faction of the class objected and asked that the class money be donated toward a college lodge. A vote was taken but was disregarded in favor of a written ballot. Ballots will be sent to January seniors so that the tabulation will be valid.

Although the class has determined the site of the ball, the orchestra has not been chosen. Lee Vincent will be invited to provide the music at the affair; should he refuse, Jack Melton will be invited.

The 1951 graduates voted that the manner of dress for men be optional, either light or dark coats with tuxedos.

After reports by class committees, the meeting was adjourned.

Lavelle Wins State Oratorical Contest

Thomas Lavelle of Scranton, who was named winner of the eastern Pennsylvania finals of the American Legion oratorical contest held at B.S.T.C. last month, recently won the state-wide contest at Indiana State Teachers College.

The young orator, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lavelle, of Scranton, is a student at St. Patrick's High School in Scranton.

Competing with Lavelle for the state crown were Charles Wells, McKeesport, and James Kesler, North Hills, Montgomery County. As an award for his victory, the Scranton student will receive a four year scholarship from Governor John S. Fine. He will represent the state of Pennsylvania in the American Legion's national eliminations at Martinsburg, West Virginia. Here he will compete for the national crown with winners from Maryland, West Virginia and Washington, D.C.

Famed Westminster Choir Presents Concert in Carver Hall Auditorium

Receives Wide Acclaim In Final Program of Entertainment Series

On Monday, April 2, an ensemble from the famed Westminster Choir College of Princeton, N. J. presented a varied concert in Carver Hall Auditorium as a conclusion to this season's evening entertainment series.

The Choir began the program with a group of four religious selections ranging back to the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. The songs expressed the great formality and classicism of that period of history. During the last selection, Psalm 100, the Choir broke up and sang against each other by forming three separate smaller contrasting choruses.

Following these numbers, three violin selections were played by Nicholas Harsanyi, head instructor of instrumental music at Westminster Choir College. He also served as violin accompanist for the group further in the program.

Following Mr. Harsanyi, the Choir sang a group of four varied songs. Among them were "The Wassail Song," an English folk tune, and "Haste Thee Nymph," by Handel, the tune and lyrics of which proved greatly entertaining to the audience.

Following the intermission, the Choir presented several unusual numbers, among them being three folk songs which were arranged for the Choir by the famous ballad singer, Tom Jones. The mood of "Go Down Death," a traditional death chant, was set by a tom-tom beating in the distance. "The Creation," a spoken narrative accompanied by song, met with the appreciative applause of the audience.

Concluding the section on American folk music, the Choir rendered four better known selections, among them "Skip to my Lou," an early American square dance, and "Great Day." The entire program was vastly enjoyed by the audience.

This year marks the 30th season that the Westminster Choir has appeared before the concert public. The founder and present conductor of the Choir is John Finley Williamson. He is also the founder and president of the college. Mr. Williamson first organized the Choir to serve as a volunteer chorus for the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Dayton, Ohio. Although the Choir is no longer church affiliated, it has maintained the name as identification through the years.

The first members of the Choir were business men and women and housewives who devoted their spare hours to singing.

Today, Mr. Williamson has built a highly trained group of singers, selected from the college student body of four hundred. The Choir has sung throughout the United States, Cuba, and Canada. During two tours it sang in over fifteen European countries, stretching from England to Russia. It has made over one hundred orchestral appearances in the last ten years. These included appearances with the New York Philharmonic, NBC Symphony, Philadelphia Orchestra, Rochester Philharmonic, and Baltimore Symphony.

Mayor Donald V. Hock

Mayor of Allentown To Be Principal Conference Speaker

Mr. Donald V. Hock, mayor of Allentown, will be the principal speaker at the annual Spring Conference on Education to be held at B.S.T.C. on Saturday, April 21. Mr. Hock will present his address at the general session which will be held in Carver Hall Auditorium immediately following the scheduled sectional meetings.

In all, two sectional meetings will be held, one for administrators, and one for teachers-in-service. The theme of this year's conference will be "Growth In Service." Dr. Ernest H. Engelhardt, Director of Secondary Education at the college, is in general charge of the affair. The conference will last all of the morning and several hundred teachers and administrators from the Bloomsburg service area are expected to attend.

The meeting of the section for teachers-in-service will feature an address by Miss Clara Cockerille, Associate Superintendent of the Altoona Schools. Miss Cockerille is at present on a year's leave of absence for graduate study. Included also in this section will be a panel composed of outstanding laymen from the area who will contribute to the general theme of the conference.

Junior Historians To Meet at B.S.T.C.

B.S.T.C. will be the site of the second annual conference of Junior Historians in the central northeastern region to be held on Saturday, April 14. Junior Historians from Columbia, Montour, Snyder, Northumberland, Sullivan and Schuylkill counties will meet here to discuss "Abandoned Local Industries in Our Counties."

After being served a luncheon in the college dining room, the group will be conducted through the Magee Museum.

Plans for the conference were drawn up by the Central Northeastern Junior Historian Advisory Council. Members of the council from B.S.T.C. are Dr. Harvey A. Andrus, Dr. Ralph S. Horv, Dr. Nell Maupin, and Edward Reams.

Large Crowd Expected To Fill Centennial Gym For Tonight's Gala Junior Prom

Musical Program by Operatic Artists Concludes Series

On Thursday, March 29, the Bloomsburg Civic Music Association presented the last of a series of concerts to be held this season. Featured on the program were Francis Greer and Mario Berini, soprano and tenor members of the Metropolitan Opera Company.

Performing to a capacity audience in the Bloomsburg High School auditorium, Miss Greer and Mr. Berini presented a variety of musical selections, singing separately and in duets. Royal Hinman was accompanist for the pair. Unfortunately, Mr. Berini had contracted a difficult case of laryngitis and, wishing to fulfill his engagement, was forced to sing at times in a falsetto voice. This, however, detracted little from the performance as a whole, and Mr. Berini was able to finish the program.

Miss Greer has long been included among the top ranking singers on the American concert and operatic stage. She has appeared regularly on radio, in summer opera, and in music festivals. She is also a popular recording artist and has appeared as soloist with our great symphony orchestras.

Mario Berini has travelled well over a million miles in the course of his concert and operatic career. He too has had many engagements on radio, with symphony orchestras, and as a recording artist. He has starred in both the San Francisco and Metropolitan Opera Companies and has given many concerts in Carnegie Hall.

Lee Vincent and Orchestra to Play For Senior Ball

Lee Vincent and his orchestra will provide the music for the Senior Ball which is to be held at the Irem Temple Country Club, Dallas, Pennsylvania, on the night of May 24. The Lee Vincent Orchestra's bid received a unanimous vote from class members at the Senior Class meeting on March 28.

The orchestra is well known in this region and has had engagements at the Steel Pier in Atlantic City.

Dancing will be from 9:00 to 12:00, D.S.T. The Orchestra committee consisted of John Swartz, Montoursville; Lewis Ballantine, Shamokin; and Donald Murphy, Wilkes-Barre. The Investigation Committee was composed of Barbara Brace, Dallas; Robert Jewell, Dallas; Frank Perry, Shamokin; Jack Rodeback, West Chester; and Ukasin Vukceovich, Hazleton.

Dr. Thomas P. North To Act as Chairman Of F.T.A. Division

Dr. Thomas P. North, dean of instruction, will serve as chairman of the division on Future Teachers of America for the School Men's Week of the University of Pennsylvania.

In conjunction with his program, the Southeastern convention district of the Pennsylvania State Education Association will hold its annual meeting.

The division of which Dr. North is chairman will meet on April 13 in the Asbury Church auditorium, Philadelphia, where discussion will center on the topic "Future Teachers Look to Teacher Education." Panel leader for the discussion will be Dr. Donald G. McGarey, Associate Professor of Education at the Pennsylvania State College. Composing the panel will be national and state presidents of the Future Teachers of America, and students from Albright College, Ursinus College, and Cheyney, West Chester, and Millersville State Teachers Colleges.

Oriental Theme and Floor Show Promise Unique Prom

The last all-college dance of the school year will be staged this evening in Centennial Gymnasium, when members of the Junior Class will hold their Junior Prom. Dancing will be from nine to twelve, with music provided by Al Anderson and his orchestra.

The affair will have an Oriental theme with the setting in an oriental garden, complete with pagodas, willows, lanterns, and dragons. Tables and chairs will be situated in various parts of the gym so that guests can comfortably rest while not dancing to the pleasing strains of the orchestra. An air of romance will be secured by having a candlelight atmosphere.

A floor show that promises all the glamour of an Oriental night club is planned for the intermission. The show, directed by Dick Powell, will feature a chorus of B.S.T.C. beauties.

The intent of the Junior classmen is to present an affair which will linger long in the memories of students of the "Friendly College on the Hill." With this idea in mind, the various committees have been working for some time in preparation for the event. General chairman for the dance is Joyce MacDougall. Clifton Claridge headed the orchestra committee. The refreshment committee was composed of Marie Yozviak, Richard Laux, Nancy Williams, Gloria Mazzetti, and Constance Stanko. Decorating committee members were Marilyn Evans, Lois Newman, Barbara Hessert, Jeanne Krzywicki, Geraldine Funk, Janice Rider, Mary Anna Wright, Delores Wachowski, George Smith, Russell Looker, (Continued on page 2)

Ruch, and Miss Elsie Bower, Berwick School librarian, was general chairman.

Mr. Charles Henrie led the group in singing the Alma Mater, after which Mr. Earl Gehrig pronounced the invocation. During the dinner, violin music was played by John Bogdan, who was accompanied by Mary Grace Almers.

Speaking of . . . OPERATIONS

by Calvin Kanyuck and Max Kaplan

Operation Fireworks!

Selecting a senior class memorial has turned into a project. The class had voted for a Husky pup to adorn the campus. At the last meeting, surprised members discovered a stipulation written into the record—the pup had to be made of bronze. Since no one is building bronze pups these days, a "college-lodge bug" hurriedly proposed that the class give the money for the building of a college lodge.

Anthony Stanziola, who had proposed the Husky pup memorial, was indignant, and we think rightly so. The class had already voted for a pup. Now, because of a stipulation which no one remembered having been made, the college lodge advocates were ready to scrap the vote of the previous meeting in favor of their adopted brain-child. When the stipulation was questioned, President Kressler stated that the stipulation was in the minutes, the minutes had been read, approved, and unquestioned, and that was that. Stanziola felt that since the class had voted for a pup, we should have a pup, whether it be made of bronze, or something else. He said he had contacted various companies, and that a marble Husky statue could be on the campus in 60 days.

At this point, some impatient sideliners commented among themselves that if we had stipulated that the pup be made of chocolate, we could have had it on the campus Easter.

By this time, the validity of the previous business meeting, together with its vote for a class memorial, was questioned since that meeting was conducted without a majority of the class being present. The question was, did the minority present constitute a quorum, and if it did not, was the business conducted legal and binding. It seems that there was nothing in the senior class constitution which pertained to this predicament, and it was decided, therefore, to revert to parliamentary procedure. This decision made the previous meeting illegal, and the class memorial free-for-all was free to begin all over again.

A few more rounds of snafued procedure followed, during which a new vote was taken, questioned, and scrapped; a motion to adjourn was made before the necessary business had been settled; and a gallant attempt to have adequate wording concerning the Husky pup placed on the printed ballots to be sent to the January graduates was then booted down by the impatient seniors. The members present finally decided to have a written vote at the next meeting. And so the senior class marches on.

It appears to some that the persistent college-lodge lobby is determined to have its way no matter how many meetings it takes. All that wrangling about the Husky pup seems to have been wasted woofs. We think the novelty has worn off.

One note of hope sounded before the class meeting was finally adjourned. This was the strong, but as it turned out, unofficial vote for a scholarship fund. It remains to be seen whether the reawakened class of '51 will choose a living memorial or an empty symbol in a glass case.

In a few words . . . The Duke of Wellington, it's now revealed, was never introduced to Napoleon. They did meet, though rather informally, at a place called Waterloo . . . President Truman says that he'd like to try a parachute jump. So he can get a better over-all view of things? . . . Pipe organ manufacturers are soon to begin building pontoons for the army. On a big scale, we suppose. . . The famous band leader Xavier Cugat has been challenged to a duel by a Columbia journalist. We know that

Dr. Harrison Russell

"Behind the News with Harrison Russell"

... and now, a view behind the news, with Harrison Russell. Being a popular instructor with the student body here at B.S.T.C., the name of Dr. Harrison Russell is quickly recognized as it is flashed over the air waves.

Among wires, microphones, and blinking lights, a daily fifteen minute commentary called "Datelines" is presented at 4:15 over WCNR. Playing a vital part in this program is Dr. Harrison Russell's commentary on the world news. "Views Behind the News" consists of his personal opinions and comments on pressing events in the turmoil of today's world.

Dr. Russell is head of the geography department here at B.S.T.C. Doing an excellent job on campus, he definitely feels his radio work is merely a side line and not another profession. Although this work takes up a considerable amount of time, approximately five to six hours weekly, Dr. Russell truly enjoys it.

Dr. Russell has been "on the air" now for three years. He first started broadcasting when two of his students were at WCNR and happened to comment on the keen ability which Dr. Russell showed while speaking on world affairs in his classroom. Exactly one day later Dr. Russell received a call from the studio's manager. He was asked if he would consider working a commentator at the station. The opportunity to express his views interested him greatly, but at the time Dr. Russell had a very bad cold and felt that by waiting for approximately a week, his try-out would be much more successful. This premonition of waiting truly paid off in the end, for Dr. Russell began working a week later.

During his first broadcast Dr. Russell maintains that he had no fear whatsoever, but he does admit that he had to ask just how far to stand from the microphone. Experience taught him how to speak and what tones to use. Certain types of news such as the military goings-on in Korea must have an entirely different tone from that used in talking about a party.

Oratorical work in college brought much experience and confidence to Dr. Russell, and he strongly suggests that those interested in radio work should practice through public speaking and debate. He also stresses the necessity of a college education and very definitely the need for courses in speech. "A good radio man is interested in the social, economic, and political problems and affairs of this country as well as those of the world."

Dr. Russell urges those interested in commentary work, straight news, announcing, or sports not to become discouraged if at first they don't succeed. The opportunities for good men are excellent and afford a very interesting life.

the pen is mightier than the sword—but can it over-come the baton.

... A woman from Ontario, Canada won a recent hog-calling contest says that she practiced by calling her husband from the fields for meals. This only proves what we have always thought—it's the pop who brings home the bacon.

Kefauver highlight . . .
On the brighter side of the Kefauver hearings was this statement by Senator Tobey: "I am poor and always will be. But there is one thing I can say. I am a free man. And I am willing that anything I ever did or said or wrote should stand in the light of day to friend and foe alike." . . . It's too bad that we don't have more high political officials who feel the same way.

It happened in New York . . .
From the New York Times comes this timely tidbit: "A pupil at Public School 147, Queens, when asked a question in class answered: 'I refuse to answer on the grounds it might incriminate or degrade me.'"

Small talk from the big shots . . .
Out of the recent crime quiz came these grammatical gems: "I stand on my constitution." . . . "It might intend to criminate and confuse me." . . . "I didn't sell no liquor then." . . . "So I come here to tell the truth." . . . "That don't make no sense." . . . "I would not of stood in that hotel so long." . . . It's been good to know you . . .

On the way out of the American scene are these age old quotations: "Here's a dollar; it will cover the prescription." . . . "No law-abiding citizen would give any recognition to a crook." . . . "Can you carry home all these groceries?" . . . "We can really have a time for ourselves on two bucks."

Wife: The Second National Bank is failing.

Husband: What? How do you know?

Wife: They sent one of my checks back today marked "No funds."

"I can get it for you with a discount."

"Here's a quarter; get me a couple packs of cigarettes." Ah . . . Ah . . . Acheoo . . .

We're a bit late with this information, but maybe it will be of some value to you next winter. After a thorough study of the common cold, a group of researchers from Harvard medical school have found that the untreated cold will last about seven days whereas the treated cold will usually be with you about a week.

Witch Hunt, 1951 Style

On Wednesday, March 28, the State Senate passed the Pechan Bill by a vote of 42-7.

For those who do not know what the Pechan Bill is, let us explain. Under the provisions of this bill, the faculty members of all state supported colleges and universities would be required to swear loyalty oaths.

"Shades of Salem!" We have a witch hunt, 1951 version, with us again! Do those people, whom we have sent to Harrisburg to represent us, honestly think that they will "uncover" a single Communist by these means? Are they infected by the germ which has spread into so many legislative bodies here in the United States and has blinded their eyes and common sense?

From a political standpoint, the passage of a bill of this sort places its initiator in the forefront as a savior of American ideals. But, does it? Let us look back to the recent passage of a similar bill in California. This type of action resulted in a great deal of trouble in the University of California when the oath was made mandatory for its faculty. The result was that many professors quit their jobs. California suffered. Education suffered by losing many capable teachers. Were these people Communists? Some people would quickly say "Yes." But do they know why these professors resigned? Let us answer that question. They resigned because they believed that the principles of freedom, upon which our country was founded and upon which many countless thousands throughout our country's history have died, are being violated!

Do the framers of these bills aim to use totalitarian methods to combat totalitarianism? If so, we are no better than those we fight. Common American horse sense can accomplish more than a few hysterical, politically fortunate, bills such as this.

No college, especially here in the United States, is really a college if its faculty is not allowed to hold diverse views and to present those views for consideration by the students. Under such an oath, the teacher would be afraid to teach the truth as he saw it for fear of being held suspect. He would be hedged about with fear and his course of study would become patterned into a sterile mould of conformity—devoid of searching inquiry.

Senator George M. Leader, of York, was one man who opposed this bill. He remarked, when asked his opinion of this bit of legislation, "It is a sad state of affairs when we must persecute the idealist in order to be practical politicians."

Senator Leader realized the absurdity of this type of legislation, for he knows what will be the effect upon those in education who place the principle of freedom in what they believe above their position as a state employee.

Freedom is a very valuable possession; it is always in a precarious position and it can be toppled by a few unseeing men . . . but it takes the blood and toil of many thousands to place it back upon its rightful pedestal. We sincerely hope that the members of the House and the governor of our state show more intelligence and common sense than did the members of the State Senate and reject this blow to academic freedom.

Better Late Than Never

One of the sorriest symbols of our times is America's automobile accident record.

The summing up for 1950 has just reached us from The Travelers Insurance Companies who each year publish an almanac of crash data. Of all the facts about auto accidents in their booklet, the most significant, it seems to us is this:

Almost 500,000 casualties in 1950 were the direct result of speeding. One out of every three Americans who lost their lives in last year's wrecks met death because someone was driving too fast.

Speed has been causing a greater percentage of accidents year after year. In 1950, speed was a greater factor in traffic casualties than at any time in history.

Traffic laws and law enforcement are part of the answer. Engineering will help some. But with perfect roads and perfect police work, the man behind the wheel can continue to exceed the speed limit if he wants to or if he isn't thinking.

Keep this in mind when you drive. Stay within speed limits and you'll be doing your full part in a crusade to reduce automobile accidents by one third.

35 Track Candidates Report to Coach Shelly for Workouts

Approximately thirty-five candidates have reported to Coach Harold Shelly to begin training for the 1951 track campaign. A preliminary forecast reveals that the following men will probably be used in the various events. It is much too early, however, to make any definite statement; practice has been hampered severely by bad weather. Rain has made the practice field too soggy and muddy for practice much of the time, and the squad has been forced to remain inside. ### Husky Trackmen To Face Bucknell

Coach Harold Shelly recently announced that the track team will travel to Lewisburg on May 14 to engage the Bison thin clads. This will be the first scheduled varsity athletic action with a Bucknell University team.

Athletic relations between the two schools have been regularly scheduled basketball games between the Husky Jayvees and the Bison Frosh; and practice scrimmages between the varsities of the two schools in baseball and football.

FINAL STANDINGS

Final standings in the two divisions of the men's intramural basketball loop were as follows:

American Division
Team	Won	Lost
Rambling Wrecks	4	0
Globe Trotters	2	2
Eightballs	2	2
Commuters	2	2
Comets	0	4

A complete Won-Lost record in the National Division is unavailable; the following includes the top three teams only:

Team	Won	Lost

Barons	3	2

Dr. Harvey A. Andrus has announced that B.S.T.C. has abandoned plans to conduct a nine week summer session and will continue to offer the twelve week session. As in former years, the summer schedule will be composed of a pre-session of three weeks, a regular session lasting six weeks and a post session of three weeks.

Monday, June 4, will mark the opening of the pre-session. Three weeks later, on June 25, registration for the regular session will be held. The post session will begin on August 6.

Seniors graduating from high school in June will be admitted to the summer session in order that they may begin their higher education as soon as possible and reduce their overall training period. This new policy will be especially beneficial to those students who will be eligible for entry into the armed forces.

Flying High!

As another track season rolls around, Husky fans look forward to seeing more thrilling exhibitions from B.S.T.C.'s high flying pole vaulting champion, Frankie Womer. Womer set a Teachers College record last year as he sailed over the bar at the 12 ft. 6 inch mark. Frank is looking forward to another banner season.

For the first time in many a year, or for the first time in B.S.T.C. history, the Maroon and Gold baseball and track squads will compete with several powerful teams from all over the state. For example, Temple, formidable power of the eastern sector of Pennsylvania will battle Bob Redman's nine in the middle of the forthcoming campaign. St. Francis, tiptop small power of Loretto, Pennsylvania, will send its track and diamond team to the Hill this year for battles with both B.S.T.C. teams. A new addition in the form of Trenton Teachers will also appear on the Hill for the first time. Perhaps this is the first step of many of the state liberal arts colleges to drop their old policy of playing only other liberal arts schools and show their willingness to battle state schools. We hope so, anyway. This move would certainly make for more attractive schedules here at Bloomsburg and at other state teachers colleges.

Since everyone else seems to begin just about this time of the year to predict how the major league races will end up come next October, this crystal ball will make a stab at the final league standings. Here they are, my guess is as good as yours.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

- Boston—the Redsox again look like the best team on paper, all around that is, but in the last three years, this has been the case. This year, they can't fail, it's against the law of averages.
- New York—the Yankees will still be the team to beat, but weaker pitching than last year might well put a damper on their pennant dreams.
- Detroit—the Tigers also have felt the draft blow away some of their hurling power in the form of Art Houtteman. With little changes since last fall, they should play just about the same type of good ball.
- Cleveland—the Indians will be tough and probably give everybody in the league trouble as usual. However, how far can you get with a Lemon?
- Chicago—constant improvement where improvement is necessary will make the Whitesox a formidable foe, not pennant material, but a tough team.
- Washington—where can you go without pitching . . . to sixth place of course!
- St. Louis—the Browns are improving from year to year with the net result that they keep coming closer to the first division. This is not their year to make the big hop.
- Philadelphia—even some of the changes in the front office won't net the Athletics much breathing room from last year's cellar position. About the highest they could hope to climb is to sixth place, and the Senators and the Browns will have something to say about that.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

- Brooklyn—the Dodgers late drive last season which scared the Phils out of six year's growth and almost scared them right out of the pennant will be enough along with the terrific team to shove them to the top spot.
- New York—the Giants were a powerful club late last season and should take over where they left off. If they get added pitching strength, they could grab the top bill.
- Philadelphia—the uncertainty of Ken Heintzelman and the loss of Curt Simmons via the draft has made the Phils much weaker. Also the great standby, Jim Konstanty has had trouble during the Spring. This could be cause enough to worry.
- Boston—Warren Spahn and Johnny Sain. How long will they last?
- St. Louis—the Cards have pitching but it is aging like the rest of the team. With a few bad breaks they could easily end up in the bottom of the second division, but they have enough veterans to keep them close to the money boys.
- Pittsburgh—they have added little in the way of pitching and the catching is a shaky situation. The only thing the Pirates have in their favor is their frequent outbursts of hitting. This may be troublesome for many of the topflighters, but it's doubtful.
- Chicago—the Cubs will still cause the Dodgers trouble, but they have little more to offer than last year.
- Cincinnati—there's little reason for the Reds to look forward to the 1951 campaign. A few new additions here and there have not made them much of a contender.

THE WARD FUND

The Ward Fund was established in memory of Miss Irma R. Ward by alumni who had worked in the dining room while she was college dietitian (1924-1939). Miss Ward had been in the habit of making small temporary loans to students and the dining room alumni decided that a fund to make such loans would be an appropriate memorial to her.

Any student needing a small loan to meet an emergency may make application to Dean Kehr who is acting as treasurer for the alumni committee. The Ward Fund loans sums up to $25.00 for a period of time less than a semester.

H. E. Coalers Win National Division; Dietz Scores

The H. E. Coalers defeated the College Clowns in a knock-down, drag-out affair in Centennial Gymnasium on Monday, April 2 to win the National Division and the right to meet the Rambling Wrecks, winner of the American Division, in a play-off game to decide the men's intramural basketball championship.

The game was a tight battle until nearly the very end, when "Big John" Dietz was inserted into the game. With seconds to go, Dietz received the ball and by using a series of contortions and gyrations, he threw the Clowns off balance. The effect was startling to all the players on the floor, including Dietz. The result was that "Big John" sprawled flat on his face; but before doing so, he let go the basketball with a wild back handed heave which plopped thru the cords and scored the winning field (?) goal.

Rambling Wrecks Dump H. E. Coalers In Title Match

The Rambling Wrecks, American Division titlists, put their undefeated string on the line yesterday into their loop title tilt with the Harry E. Coalers, National Section winners, and came out on top to the tune of 39 to 31. The Wrecks slowly built up a first half lead, widened it in the third stanza, and held on to it to come out on top and gain the loop crown.

After Reed of the Coalers five scored the first bucket early in the initial frame, the Wrecks came back with one of their own by Walt Montz to tie the game up and a few seconds later took the lead on a foul conversion by Mike Durso. They never relinquished the lead from then on, despite the fact the Coalers only trailed by one point, 7 to 6, as the first period ended.

Scoring picked up in the second quarter for the Wrecks. Led by the fine shooting of Johnny Johnson and Gene Morrison who each hooped two field goals, they boasted their half-time advantage to six points, 18 to 12.

It was in the third period that the Wrecks built up their lead until it was too much for the Coalers to overcome, for, headed by Walt Montz who hooped three field goals and Johnny Dipico who got two, they looped 14 markers while holding the Coalers to 9, five of which were coined by forward Floyd Williams.

The Coalers may have been down but not out; for on field goals by McLaughlin, Brennan, Williams, and Reed they came back to outscore the victors 10 to 7 in the final frame and cut down part of the eleven point margin filed up in the first three periods by the Wrecks.

Walt Montz for the winners ran up the best individual total with 14 counters on 6 field goals and two fouls while Charlie Brennan with 11 and Floyd Williams with 8 were the mainstays for the Coalers.

Mound Staff Plagued With Sore Arms With Season's Opener Only 2 Weeks Off

"Tweet" Reed aided Dietz and the Coalers by scoring 17 points. Mother Nature

Mother Nature continues to be a thorn in Coach Bob Redman's side as she ravages Mount Olympus with heavy winds and April snows, forcing the Husky diamond aspirants into the confines of Ben Franklin Gym.

The main worry of the diamond mentor is the condition of his mound staff. Two of his most-counted-on pitchers have reported sore arms. Seniors Mike Evans and Don Kearns, veterans of the squad, are having shoulder muscle trouble. Redman hopes that both performers can discard their ailments before the opener at Wilkes College on April 19.

So far the starting positions can be only predictions on paper, but unless there are startling changes, the crystal ball sees the veterans from last year holding their spots, with very promising newcomers moving into the gaps left by graduation. We predict the lineup this way: lanky Dick Ledyard will hold down the initial sack, with Dick Rummel at second base and Jimmy Thompson at shortstop. Opening at third will be Dave Linkhorst, versatile Husky athlete. The outer gardens prove more difficult to predict; Don Butler, veteran of three seasons, is sure of the center field job. He will be flanked by two newcomers to the Husky diamond: Joe Glosick, a hard-nitting, strong-armed left-fielder from Coal Township, and "Mousey" Babs, lefty rightfielder from Bloomsburg. Opening day will probably find stellar "Greek" Lambrinos behind the plate receiving the slants of a probable four-man pitching staff composed of Mike Evans, Don Kearns, Danny Fitzpatrick, and Bill Byham. These men are all being pushed for their positions by other aspirants who are anxious to wear the Husky togs. Danny Boychuck, a first baseman, Stan LeVan, veteran catcher, Clem Makowski, Russ Hons, and "Chub" Sanders, all pitchers, and Joe Barkley, an outfielder, show great promise and will keep the starters on their toes throughout the 15-game schedule.

Kane Basketeers Lose to Cerula's In Y.M.C.A. Tourney

Gildenberg's, an alias of the Kane members of the B.S.T.C. basketball squad, was eliminated in the semi-finals from the Edwards Memorial Basketball Tournament at the Freeland Y.M.C.A. on Monday night. They were defeated by Cerula's, 84-79.

Gildenberg's was led by Doug Ericson, who tallied 27 points and controlled the backboards. Chuck Daly displayed his usual deadly set shooting and scored 17 points, while little Jimmy Thompson tossed in 10 points for the losers.

Two honorary citizens of Kane, Dave Linkhorst and Al Williams, also played. Linkhorst hooped 13 tallies, while the remainder were scored by Williams and Bill Byham.

THE SERVICE MEN'S CORNER

In keeping with the policy of the C.G.A., copies of the Maroon and Gold are being sent to those former students who have left for the armed services.

The response from the G.I.'s has been heartening. We have been receiving letters from all theatres of operations. We feel that by sending the M. & G. to the servicemen, we are in keeping with the spirit of "The Friendly College on the Hill," and renewing old friendships.

This column is to be a regular feature in the M. & G. We are asking those who have addresses of servicemen to give the addresses to Jeanne Ruckle or Marie Mattis so that we can send the M. & G. to these men and women.

We also would like to hear from those in the service, for we feel sure that what they have to write will be of interest to the entire college community.

Hi Gang,

I sure enjoyed my issues of the M. & G. After reading them it kind of made me homesick for B.S.T.C. I sure miss all the guys and girls there. . . I am in a cadre company. In other words, I'm training the new recruits when they first come into the army. I'm getting a lot of experience teaching. . .

Dear Jean,

Thanks for sending me the M. & G. I really appreciate it very much. . . When I was in college, I never realized how much I would miss my friends in my Alma Mater. . . Since I've been here I've seen Jack Raebuck, George Viti, and Pucky. . .

Dear Jeanne,

. . . We have been very busy with honor guard details. The Secretary of the Navy has just left and tomorrow President Truman will be here. We provide the Presidential guard and wear our dress blues. . . My regular duties here are that of a "prisoner chaser" and assistant brig warden. It's certainly rough handling prisoners, believe me. . . I have a beautiful dark tan. . . give my regards, especially to the 1950 football team and coaching staff. . .

Dear Marie and Merlin,

Received your most welcome copy of the Maroon and Gold of Friday, February 23, 1951. It brought me a great deal of joy and pleasure to receive up to date news on school activities. I appreciate this gesture very much and will be eagerly waiting for following editions.

I am counting days until the time comes for this mess to end so that myself and other people can once again return to our homes, loved ones, school, jobs or whatever we may have been doing, and revert back to our normal ways of life and happiness.

Again I wish to thank you for the copy and let you know I will appreciate them very much.

Borrowed Banter . . .

Of course I want to marry early — So I can enjoy my alimony while I'm still young!

I don't mind the streaks of silver in his hair—as long as he has some in the bank, too!

I believe her when she says she just turned 34. That would make her 43!

A woman needs a man to share her sorrows, her joys, and her friends' secrets.

Jane: Did you sell your car yet?
June: No, after I read the ad the agent put in the paper for me, I decided not to. It seemed to be just the car I was looking for.

Sal: Gee, I wish I could decide whether or not to marry Albert. Did I tell you he said that if I married him, he'd grant my smallest wish?
Sue: What's so good about that? It's the big wishes you should be interested in getting granted.

They had just decided to get married.
He: I know I'm not at all good looking.
She: That's true, but you'll be away at the office all day.

Sue: This darn engagement ring Ralph gave me!
Sal: What's the matter with it?
Sue: It's too tight. I have the most awful time getting it off when other fellows come over.

He: What would I have to give you for one little kiss?
She: Ether.

Sal: Would you put yourself out for me?
Hal: Of course.
Sal: Well, then shut the hall light off as you pass it.

Judy: What are his intentions towards You?
Trudy: I don't know. He's been keeping me pretty much in the dark.

Man: Where can I find the book called, "Man, Woman's Master"?
Librarian: Over in the Fantastic Literature department.

Wife: What is the big strike all about?
Husband: The men are striking for shorter hours.

Wife: Why, I think sixty minutes to an hour is just fine.

Pal: Look, the best thing for you to do is to go home to your wife.
Hal: Yeah? What's the next best thing?
